

Spider So I'm a So What?

OKINA BABA

Illustration by
TSUKASA KIRYU

1

Spider So I'm a So What?

OKINA BABA
Illustration by
TSUKASA KIRYU

1

Chapter 001

Prologue

This is a world where the Hero and the Demon Lord have fought countless battles since time immemorial.

There has always been, and shall always be, a Demon Lord, a being of such power that its foul reign is used to mark an age. Even if one is struck down, another powerful demon will invariably rise to take its place, the demonic ruler of a new era. This is the immutable rule of this world: although the demons' onslaught can be stopped temporarily, they can never be truly defeated.

There have been many such Demon Lords, and each has been different from the last. One had such strength that it could split the earth with its mighty fists, leaving new valleys in its wake. Another had complete mastery over the darkest of magics, capable weaving over a thousand spells in concert. What does not differ between Demon Lords, however, is their insurmountable strength and their unrelenting aggression towards the tribes of man.

The Hero is mankind's only hope in the fight against the demons. So as there is always another Demon Lord, a new Hero is anointed as well when the previous one is slain. As such, the battle between humanity and the demons shifts back and forth, unceasing, even to this day. Such is the fate of this world.

An especially powerful Hero and Demon Lord fought each other, once, and were so evenly matched that they were forced to bring their full abilities to bear. They were both masters of the rare and powerful Dimensional Magic, which could warp space and time with godly power. Their great spells crashed against each other, causing the world to scream under the stress, until it erupted in a blast that obliterated both the Hero and the Demon Lord.

The aftershock tore its way through space and time until it reached another dimension. In this dimension, on a planet called Earth, in a nation named Japan, it wreaked havoc on a particular high school classroom. All twenty-six students and their teacher were killed instantly by the violent detonation. The media called it the “mystery explosion”, and it was investigated thoroughly, but none of the dead would ever find out what happened.

Even after they had been reborn into their next life, they wouldn't ever find out what happened.

After all, their spirits had been torn from their own world by the dimensional riptide and drawn back into the world where the Hero and Demon King had fought. They were scattered across the land, and reborn into this new world.

This is the story of one of those souls.

---

Aaargh!

I try to let out a scream, but nothing comes out. What's wrong with my voice? Did I get hurt so badly that I can't even scream?!

...Okay, okay, calm down, get a grip, think. What happened? I remember that I was in the middle of Japanese Lit, then suddenly everything went white with agony. Sure, I felt like I was going to die back then, but strangely enough I'm not hurting at all right now. All I can see is pitch blackness though, so I have no idea where I am.

...Come to think of it, I can't really feel anything either. It's almost like my body is wrapped in something that's making it impossible for me to move.

Is... is this what it's like to be in a coma? Oh my god. I don't want to believe it, but it seems very, very much like this is the case. I don't really know what happened, but now I'm in a coma.

No waaay. I can think, I'm conscious, but I can't move my body, can't see, can't hear, and can't even smell anything. Am I stuck like this? I'm going to go crazy if I'm stuck like this. No way, no waaay.

Wait. What's that? I think I can hear something rustling. Okay, my ears work, good, good. That's a relief... except not, because I still can't move! If hearing is all that I can do then it's almost worse! I'm still trapped inside my own head!

Whack!

Ow! What? What?! Did something hit me? Wait! Pain! If I can feel pain, my sense of touch must be working! Okay, okay, calm down, get a grip. Breathe in, breathe out, listen to my body, figure out what else I've got. Maybe I jumped to the wrong conclusion with the "coma" thing.

I know I was just thinking that it felt like I was wrapped in something, so maybe I really am? Ha! I am! I'm all tied up! Ahaha!

This isn't really a laughing matter, though. I still have no idea what is happening. Have I been stuffed in a sack? Am I being kidnapped?

Wait, who the hell would want to kidnap a shut-in loser like me?

Anyhow. I should try to escape. I brace myself as best as I can and push hard against my bonds.

Crack!

Ah! Something broke! This doesn't really feel like a sack. What the hell is it? It's got this strange texture, kind of like it's both soft and brittle at the same time. Well, anyhow, I broke it, so I can clearly make it out just fine! Onward, to my escape!

Snap!

It's open, it's open! I crawl out, headfirst, into the open air... and come face to face with a swarm of giant spiders.

Ah. Aaah. AAAAAH?! What's with this army of giant spiders?! Every single one of them is as big as me! They're crawling out of some sort of egg-like things, one by one! This explains the noise! This explains that rustling noise!

I take a step back, involuntarily. My foot hits something and I turn to look at it. Is this... another egg? Isn't this where I just came from, though? Did I just crawl out of one of these eggs? It's not my imagination, right? This is the same kind of egg as the other ones that are spewing out that spider army, right? It certainly looks like it!

I try to look down at myself, just to see what I look like, but I can't turn my head for some reason. I try to turn my whole body, and my leg comes into view.

...It's a spider's leg.

AAAAAAAAAAAH! CALM DOWN! CALM DOWN! CALM DOWN! Is this really... is this really what I think it is? Is this one of those reincarnated-as-an-RPG-monster stories that are currently in vogue on the internet? So! Show yourself, O godlike being who has whisked me to this strange world! Bestow upon me your favor so that I may right what has been wronged!

...Okay, no god appeared, maybe this isn't a novel. Not good, not good. Well, I guess I've read novels where there isn't some sort of god or fairy waiting for the hero upon her awakening, but then again in those it's usually the boy that gets to be the hero and the girl winds up as a haughty princess-type and that doesn't look like it's the case either. Great!

I take another quick look at myself. Arranged around me, I can see thin, wiry spider legs. I try to lift one up, and it moves exactly as I will it. These are my legs, all right.

Umf.

Well, this was fun, but I guess I should face reality: this is not a dream.

Somehow, I've been reborn as a spider.

---

Chapter 002

Looks like I'm somewhat monstrous

Well! It seems like I've been reincarnated as a spider. This sucks, but they do say that the first step towards solving a problem is admitting that problem exists. Step two: figure out what to do about it.

Crunch!

Disturbing noises snap me out of my thoughts. Ah, that's right, I'm still in trouble; better not lose track of reality. I'm still surrounded by an army of spiders (my siblings, I guess?), and now they're making strange sounds that I can't quite identify. I slowly turn back around to face them.

Crunch! Munch!

Wha?! What are they doing?! They're eating? They're eating each other?! Cannibalism! Before my eyes, my spider siblings engage in a gruesome battle for survival! This is bad! This is very bad! Brothers, sisters, why do you fight?

Ah, but it's food. It's food, and I'm hungry. To be quite honest, I'm probably about as hungry as these guys, and food is food...

Wait, no! I mustn't lose sight of reality again. I am but a pure, innocent young maiden! If I were to throw myself into that battle, surely I would be instantly ravaged by those men's evil intentions! ...Well, it's a metaphor, but the meaning is clear.

Fight

Items

Escape ←

It's times like these when one must withdraw. Me? Fight? Impossible. I've always been the quiet type who goes straight home after school, so thinking about diving in to such a violent crowd is insane! Even if I'm a spider just like those guys, I'm not going to jump in there. Yeah, if I've got time to think about such impossible things, I've got time to start running away.

Thud.

A tremor from behind me ripples through the ground. Now what?! I turn around to see what new trouble I'm in. Towering over us all is an enormous spider. Is this Mother? (Or is it Father?) Mother, why are you so enormous? Aren't you far too large to exist? If spiders that were as large as you existed anywhere on Earth, wouldn't I have heard about it?

With a crunch, the giant spider spears one of my siblings with the mighty claw on her foreleg, then pops it into her mouth like a potato chip. Mother, no! Must you do such cruel things to us as well?

I have to get out of here. The time for thought is over, the time for action is now. Escape, find shelter, survive. GO!

---

I fled as fast as I could, not stopping until my legs gave out and I could no longer hear the sounds of carnage behind me. Now, looking around, it doesn't seem like anyone from the spider army followed me. Good. I seriously thought I was going to die back there. Dying immediately after being born, what a joke.

Now then! I'm not in immediate danger, so let's sit down and sort out everything I've got so far.

I'm a spider now, there's no doubt about it. I didn't take my physical fitness very seriously when I was still a human, so there's no way I could have jumped like I did back there, let alone run along the walls. I definitely wouldn't have been able to push my way straight through that many spiders.

Seriously, there were way too many spiders. That was like trying to fight my way through a crowd of crazed grandmothers, trying to get the last carton of eggs on discount day at the supermarket. Well, not like I'd ever have done something so reckless to begin with...

Anyhow, while I was escaping from the spider mosh pit, I found myself running along the walls and jumping like a ninja! It was very strange at the time, but despite having eight unfamiliar legs I had no trouble moving exactly the way I wanted to. It looks like my new body has some good basic instincts, which is great. The first good news I've had so far!

So, seriously, what was with that super-enormous spider? Was that really one of my parents? I don't really know much about the ecology of spiders, so maybe there are some spiders that eat their young. Regardless, if that's my parent, am I going to get that big someday?

...Now that I've had a chance to think about it, this might not be so bad after all. Spiders are useful little bugs, right? I could definitely be way more helpful to people now compared to when I was still a human. Wait, isn't that a sad thought? Shouldn't that make me sad? Maybe I'm thinking about this too much. Not good, not good...

I guess I might be misrepresenting the huge spider's true size. After all, it's only "huge" relative to me, and I don't really have any way to figure out how small I am. If I'm as tiny as a fingertip, then the big one's a much more reasonable size than I was originally thinking, probably about the size of a tarantula. On the other hand, if I'm tarantula-sized, then... that spider is bigger than anything that's ever been discovered on Earth. Come to think of it, it's not too far-fetched to think that it could be a strange new species; after all, reincarnation is already a pretty fantastical thing so there could definitely be other fantastical things around me. I should probably avoid being too optimistic...

I should verify this. First, let's try to figure out how small I really am. Is there something around here I could use as a comparison?

I survey my surroundings. It looks like I'm in a pretty big cave. There isn't very much light at all, but the murky gloom of the cave feels just about right to me. I look around cautiously.

Ah... aha! I've found bootprints! An unmistakable trail of bootprints, marked clearly in the earth! Even better: because there are bootprints, there are travelers, and because there are travelers, there are human beings living in this world! This realization brings up such emotions within me that I can hardly contain myself.

...Although, of course, now that I've found the bootprints, the... ah, uncomfortable truth is quite plain to see. This discovery is, um, not a very comforting one.

I'm definitely bigger than a footprint.

Yeah.

If I guess that the people who left these tracks were about 170 centimeters tall, then... I'm probably about one meter long, aren't I.

Ah, yeah. I've had this sneaking suspicion ever since I saw that giant spider. No matter how I look at it, I'm definitely not any kind of spider that's been seen on Earth before. In other words, even in this world that is quite clearly different from Earth, even if the lighting were good, if someone were to look at me, they'd be right to call me a monster!!

Ah, yeah. I've had this sneaking suspicion ever since I saw that giant spider, and this confirms it. No matter how I look at it, I can't be any sort of normal spider that I would have seen on Earth. That means that, even on this world that is quite clearly not Earth, even if one were to put it nicely, it would be very reasonable to call me a MONSTER, THANK YOU VERY MUCH!

---

Chapter 003

I used to think that Appraisal was OP

“I am a spider. As yet, I have no name.”<sup>1</sup>

What, did that sound like it came out of nowhere? Don't be surprised! I just wanted to see how it sounded out loud. After all, it seems like I really don't have a name. What's that? Why don't I have a name? Ahhh, oops, I think I skipped ahead too much. Let's rewind a little bit so that I can explain.

---

I am dumbfounded by how unbelievably large I am. That's a normal reaction, right? I was already in shock from realizing that I had been reborn as a spider, and then I had to discover I'm a monster as well. This is overwhelming! Anyone would be in despair! Anyone would be driven to suicide!

Haha, well, it's not like I've actually been thinking about my own death.

Well, I don't really have time to be overwhelmed. After all, I don't know where I am! This world is very different from the Earth I know, so I have no idea what sort of danger I could be in. Couldn't there be other monsters out there that are just as scary as that enormous spider?

That spider, though. If I'm about one meter long, then that thing has to be around... thirty meters? Can a human even handle a spider that big? I really hope the people who left these bootprints don't have to fight it. Ah, no, wait! Perhaps if they had heavy weapons they could have a chance! This is a fantasy setting, right? Maybe they've got some sort of high-powered attack magic! That would work, right?

Hmmm, I don't know. I should definitely think of that spider as a boss monster, though. If I don't, I probably won't live very long.

I was just thinking that it wouldn't be so bad if those people fought that giant spider... but isn't that kind of wrong? After all, it seems like, you know, that monster is my mother. I'm her widdle monster baby!

Ahhh, yeah, this is no laughing matter. I'm a spider monster! If those people found me, wouldn't they try to kill me?

Yeahhh, probably. Definitely. What should I do? I want to know more about those people, but I know that if they find me I'm definitely toast.

Yeah, this is bad. I have way too little information about, well, everything. What kind of world is this? What are the people like? What kind of treatment do monsters like me tend to get? I want to know so many things but have no way to find them out.

Ugh! If this were anything like a novel, this is where the protagonist would start looking around using his Appraisal skill! That would be so conveni—

“You currently possess 100 skill points. The skill [Appraisal (LV 1)] can be acquired for 100 skill points. Would you like to acquire it now?”

What.

A mechanical voice suddenly started talking to me in my head. Ah, yeah, that makes sense. Complete sense.

Ahahaha! Of course! Of course this parallel world that I've been reincarnated into has such things! System messages! An Appraisal skill! This is great! I'm hype! I'm maximum hype! Yes! Yes! My answer is YES!

“You have acquired the skill [Appraisal (LV 1)]. You have 0 skill points remaining.”

I just spent all of my skill points in one go without any hesitation whatsoever. After all, I'll get more when I level up, right? This is fine. This is fine!

Because! Right! Now! I shall use my precious Appraisal skill to pull back the curtain on the mysteries of this world! ...

Ah, ahem, hold on. How do I use this thing? Let's, uh, let's try the standard method. I face a suitably interesting rock, concentrate, and think to myself, “Appraise”.

Mmm! It feels like it's working! Information is streaming into my head!

Rock

.....Uh. Huh? Is that it? No, no, no, that can't be right. I must have screwed it up somehow, it was my first try, after all. I clear my mind and try again.

Rock

.....No. It can't be. That's it? That's really it? No, no, no, no! There has to be a better explanation. Perhaps this is merely an ordinary rock! Perhaps there is nothing useful to know about this rock at all! Let's try appraising the wall next. Perhaps doing so will tell me more about the place that I'm in! Even if it only says something like "The Cave of _____" or whatever, even that would be a relief!

Wall

.....I have no words.

Perhaps I should have thought this through more. It's right in the name, isn't it? "Appraisal, level one." It explicitly states, level one. What did I think was going to happen? I have just witnessed, first-hand, how useless a level one skill is. This might be useful if I managed to level it up... but, of course, I've spent all my skill points.

Aaaaagh! I'm an idiot! I'm a wasteful idiot! I blew all of my skill points on Appraisal without even bothering to check if there were any other skills! What if there's one that's actually usable at level one?

Wait, no, let's not beat myself up here. If Appraisal is this weak at level one, then none of the other skills should be any better. I'm going to assume that this is the case and move on. Yes, I'm moving on.

Ahhhh. No waaay. Almost as an afterthought, I use Appraisal on myself.

Spider — (no name)

Huh? It says "spider" like I expected, but "no name"...?

---

And, that brings us back to the top. So, that's the gist of it. I don't have a name. Well, I have a name from my previous life, but the spider that I am now was never given a name.

For now, let's put aside this worthless Appraisal skill. Well, it's not quite worthless; it has revealed a bunch of new mysteries.

"Skill Points". These are probably points that I can save up to buy new skills. However, I have no clue how to earn them. Do creatures have levels in this world? Maybe if I raise my own level, I'll earn more skill points. This is just a theory, though.

Levels, skills, points... this world is just like a game, isn't it? Isn't it?

Regardless, I'm now a monstrous spider. Living a normal life is going to be completely impossible. Well, maybe I shouldn't think of a "normal life" in human terms, since I'm in such an unbelievable situation.<sup>2</sup> I've been reborn, as a spider, into a video game world! I'm a gamer, right? This will be fun! I'm going to enjoy this.

...First things first, though, I really do need to eat.

---

Translator's notes for this chapter:

1. These lines are referencing the opening lines of I Am a Cat, a famous Japanese novel. "I am a cat. As yet, I have no name."
  2. There's joke here that's difficult to translate directly: the protagonist says "I can't live a normal life", then remarks that "life" (人生) contains the kanji for "person" (人), and that it would be more accurate to swap that out for "spider" (蜘蛛) to make "spider-life" (蜘蛛生).
-

Chapter 004

For the first time in my (very short) life, I'm exploring a dungeon (that I was born in)

Well then! None of my problems will be solved if I just sit here forever, so I should get going.

I shouldn't follow these bootprints. Running into the people who made them would be a huge pain in the ass, so I really should go in the opposite direction.

...But, seriously, this cave is too big.

The ceiling towers over a hundred meters above me, and the section I'm in is probably about that wide as well. The craggy rocks scattered throughout the cave sometimes disguise its size, but as far as caves go, this one is enormous.<sup>1</sup>

Currently, I'm at a sort of crossroad, where three wide tunnels join together in a Y. Behind me stretches the path I came from. The path where those footsteps lead goes off to one side, leaving me with only one path, which travels straight into the distance and out of sight. I climb on top of an especially large rock and survey the road ahead.

...What are THOOOSE?!

Scattered throughout the cave before me are countless monstrous creatures. Appraisal goes off accidentally.

Deer; Deer; Deer; Deer; Deer; Deer; Deer; Deer; Deer; Deer; Deer; Deer;
Deer; Deer; Deer; Deer; Deer; Deer; Deer; Deer; Deer; Deer; Deer; Deer;
Deer; Bat; Bat; Bat; Bat; Bat; Bat; Bat; Bat; Bat; Bat; Bat; Bat; Bat;
Bat; Bat; Bat; Bat; Bat; Bat; Bat; Bat; Bat; Bat; Bat; Bat; Wolf; Wolf; Wolf; Wolf; Wolf; Wolf; Dinosaur...

...Well, uh, now that you mention it, I guess those do look kind of like deer... but the deer I'm familiar with definitely don't have horns that shine like swords. "Bat" could be used to describe those creatures flapping around, but they look less like actual bats and more like extremely ugly rats that grew demonic wings. Looking at the wolves, you'd think they were almost normal by comparison, but then you see that they've got six legs. Even the dinosaur lying against the far wall looks weird: it's like a tyrannosaur, but with horns and scales. That's not a dinosaur, that's a dragon!

Should I try to push my way through? It's doable, right? Haha, nooo, I'm just a tiny spider that was born just a little while ago, so I really shouldn't do anything rash. The difficulty here is definitely set to Lunatic.

Stealthily, I creep down from my rock. What should I dooo? There's a huge pile of monsters in front of me, a spider-filled hell on one side, and potentially-hostile people on the other. Am I stuck here?

Ah, wait, hold up, please, no cause for alarm. Even though all three of these paths are blocked, I've already devised a grand strategy to advance! ...Ahaha, although I say "grand strategy", I really mean that I saw another passage while I was up on top of that rock. In addition to these hugely obvious passages that make up this Y-intersection, it looks like there's a much smaller side path through a fissure in the wall. It looks like it's about three meters high and three meters wide, and there's no problem getting there from here. No, the problem with this particular path is that this is where those bootprints come from. If those people came from this direction, then wouldn't that lead to this cave's (or, rather, this dungeon's) exit?

Umf. The exit, huuuh... should I really try to get out of here? If I were human, it would be obvious; I'd get out without a second thought. I mean, this dungeon is way too high-level for me! I don't really know how strong I am compared to other monsters, but that quick glance I got earlier told me that getting into combat would be a seriously bad idea.

Wellll, if this were really just a game I'd be all like "dying's not a big deal lol" but this is reality! I probably won't come back if I die, so there's no way I'd put my life on the line and charge madly into battle, not without any sort of fallback plan.

If I keep that in mind, getting out of here is a pretty attractive option. Well, it's comparatively attractive, but I really don't know if it's actually that good of an idea. After all, I'm a monster. Since people travel through this part of the dungeon, there must be some sort of human settlement nearby. If a big spider like me were to show up, they'd totally hunt me down. So, yeah, there's definitely risks going outside.

On the other hand, I might find a nice, quiet place to settle down somewhere out there. Staying out of sight of the people out there would be very luck-dependent, though... and, well, now that I say that, I should really also say that survival in here would be equally up to luck. Hmm...

Ah! Got it! For now, I'll set my sights on the dungeon's exit. Once I get there, I'll check out the state of affairs, see if there's anything dangerous like a base camp for the humans, and figure out if leaving is a good idea.

We have a plan, so, LET'S! GOOO!!

---

...I got lost, lol. :P

Well,ahaha, how should I put it... This cave is freaking huge! What is up with these labyrinthine paths? The road has been forking crazily all over the place ever since I started. How many branches, you ask? I lost count after 10!

I also encountered a ton of monsters! Every time, I ran away as fast as I could, but I think I got turned around and I have no idea where I am anymore. What happened to the footprints, you ask? I lost track of them a while ago!

Aaaaaahh, no waaaay. I'm lost in a maze and have no map. There's no way I'll find the exit!

Plus, I'm so hungry I can barely stand it. Someone, anyone, can you spare any food?

---

Translator's notes for this chapter:

1. This is probably the hardest line I've ever tried to translate in my (very short) translation career. The Japanese language relies a lot on contextual cues to indicate what a sentence is referring to, and sometimes it's really damn hard for a non-native speaker to figure out what's going on. Literally, the line translates to “thanks to the rough rocks scattered haphazardly about, [I] feel things that are somewhat varied; but even so, for a cave, this is huge.” What about the rocks mixes up your feelings? What’s varied about your feelings? What are your feelings even of, the cave? Its width? Tell me, spider girl! Tell meeeeeee

---

Chapter 005

Weaving a new home

I gave up on trying to get out of this dungeon. I half-heartedly thought about wandering around for a while, but with everything in this dungeon, I'm worried that an unexpected encounter would put the "dead" back in "dead end". It doesn't matter if it's a human or a monster, they're both seriously formidable foes. Oh, um, please don't misinterpret me; when I say "formidable foe" I don't mean in the sense of, hm, "a rival I want to beat", but more in the sense of "an extremely serious threat to my life".

Fortunately (or whatever if "fortunate" isn't a good word to describe my current situation), there aren't any monsters here that are faster than me, so dodging unpleasant encounters is quite easy. My spider body has agility in spaces! I'm far, far faster than I was as a human.

Ah, sorry, I'm getting too full of myself. While it's true that I am quite fast, it is really all of my physical capabilities that are far, far greater than those in my previous life. Heh.

Well, before I was reincarnated, I really was more of the indoors-y type. "Exercise? What's that?", etc., etc. It's obvious that a wild spider would have better stats than I did before. The only parts of my body that I had bothered to hone were my thumbs, made strong by countless hours of gaming.

Let's set aside the topic of my former unathleticism. What matters now is that, in my current body, I'm pretty good at running away. Of course, running away all the time is not a really solid survival strategy. If I'm caught from both sides in a pincer attack I'm done for, and if I run into anything faster than me I'd be screwed, although I haven't seen anything like that yet.

Plus, I've been steadily growing hungrier and hungrier, and you can't fight on an empty stomach. Well, not being able to fight isn't really the problem, since I'd really rather I didn't have to. It's the "empty stomach" part that's the issue. I'd rather not starve to death.

Well, then, let's think about this for a bit. Q: What do spiders eat? A: Other bugs.

Oof... that's right, isn't it... if I'm going to sate my appetite that's what I'm looking at, isn't it... and since I'm so big, that's going to reduce my options for prey, isn't it... Specifically, my options are other monsters and, although I don't really want to think about it, humans.

I mean, my siblings got into cannibalism immediately after being born, didn't they, and that giant spider that seemed like our parent was also calmly eating its own children. It seems like the average member of my species thinks that everything on the planet apart from itself is prey. It's not like there's many other options, though, in this cave.

What do those deer-like monsters in that big passage eat? Are they carnivores, disguised as herbivores? ...man, I can't stop thinking about food. I am seriously worried about where I'm going to find my next meal.

It's time to face the facts. At this rate, I will starve to death. That's a bad thing, so I'm going to have to put up with eating whatever junk I can scrounge up. Ugh. I need to prepare myself.

It's all well and good to prepare myself, though, but step one is really figuring out what it is I'm going to be eating. Of course, there's nothing edible on hand, which means I need to go acquire myself some provisions. Now, how will I do that?

To be frank, my odds of winning in a fight are basically zero. Sure, the passages in this maze I'm in now are smaller than the huge ones from before. Sure, there's no monsters that seem absolutely unbeatable, like that giant spider or whatever that dragon-like thing was. The monsters here are only about person-sized!

Even still, it's probably not possible for me to win a fight. Why, do you ask? I have no idea how! I've never fought anything IRL before! If this was a game, I'd probably win, but pressing buttons is way different from actually moving my body. Plus, 2D and 3D are way different.

I shouldn't really be concerned about not being able to fight, though. I'm really hungry, but not to the point where I might keel over at any moment. So, since I've got a little time to prepare, let's come up with a properly spider-like way to secure me some food.

When you're talking about spiders, you have to talk about webs! Weaving a web out of sticky spider silk and ensnaring prey is totally spider-like, and a cave is a perfect place to do it, since I can stick my threads everywhere.

I have decided! Here, I shall build my new home!

First, I have to make some thread. That comes out of my butt (or whatever you call it now), right? Let's try making some.

...now that I'm paying attention, it looks like I've already got some thread. Huh?! How'd that get there? Wouldn't I remember spewing that stuff out?

Hmm. This stuff stretches all the way back the way I came. Have... have I been laying thread the entire time I've been walking around?! Aaah, this is embarrassing!! It looks like I have to focus on turning it off.

Yeeeeeeah. What should I do about all this thread? I might find a use for it in the future but for now let's cut it off and get back to work.

Let's try this again... here, I shall build my new home! I've got the basics down on making thread. Now, I need to stick my thread all around the cave. I like to think I'm pretty handy, but can I pull this off?

...before I was even finished thinking that, I'd already done it. In the blink of an eye, I'd built quite a satisfactory web. This tunnel is now quite magnificently covered with an enormous spiderweb. Whoa, is this my body's instinct? As soon as I started, my body started moving like it knew exactly what it needed to do as I watched dumbfounded.

I've made my web in two parts. The top and bottom halves are separated from each other by a one-meter gap. Why, you ask? I definitely wouldn't want to cut off my own escape route, would I?

My new home is at a T-intersection, so I've built a web in each of the tunnels.

I've made sure to leave a hole in each of them so that I can escape, since if I were to block them off completely I'd be trapped. I don't think there's anyone around here strong enough to break spider's silk, so I feel fine leaving these little holes.

The stupid monsters that crawl on the ground will get stuck in my lower web. The ones that try to jump or fly over it will get caught in my upper one. I've closed off all entrances, so I'm perfectly safe in here, and just in case something does break in I've left myself escape routes. Isn't this the perfect kind of place for a shut-in like me? This wonderful place I'll call my home.

---

Chapter 006

I munched and I crunched and I have no regrets.

Note: The following chapter contains a scene depicting predation. Reader discretion is advised.<sup>1</sup>

---

My new home feels so safe and secure that I dozed off before I knew it, but when the threads I had connected to my leg started to vibrate, I woke up with a start. I was kind of hoping that when I woke up I'd find that all this had been a dream, but, nope, I'm still a spider in a cave. Oh well, there goes that.

I stretch out all eight my legs as I stand up, and they rustle as they move. This is kind of gross, if I do say so myself.

Now that I'm awake, I turn my attention towards the vibrating thread. This one is attached to the lower web on the passageway to my left. It looks like, somehow, something's gotten stuck in it!

My first prey.

I carefully approach until I can see what I've caught. Tangled in the net is something whose skin is a crazy pattern of rainbow-colored dots.

Frog

Yeah, this definitely looks like a frog. Sure, it's about as big as I am, and it glitters like a rainbow, but it's a frog. This is the first time I've agreed with what Appraisal has told me about a monster. ...Well, excepting me, since it said I'm a spider.

A frog, huh... for my first catch, wasn't this a bit too easy? We don't eat anything like this in Japan, but I know there's parts of the world where people eat strange stuff like this all the time. I even remember hearing that spiders taste like chicken. I was thinking just a little while ago that I'd have to eat really disgusting food to survive, but this isn't actually so bad! If I can't bring myself to eat this, I'm probably never going to be able to eat anything else in this dungeon.

There's a slight problem, though. This frog is probably poisonous, hmm... well, no, with this vibrant color pattern, it's almost certainly poisonous. What should I do...

As I casually sit here and ponder, the frog who has been so desperately struggling against my webs launches its counterattack! It vomits up a stream of brightly-colored, poisonous-looking liquid, directly at me! Ahhh! I was too busy thinking about how to kill it that I didn't notice! It's far too late to dodge! I get covered by the noxious fluid.

Aaaargh!

Wh, what is this?! Ouch! Ouch! Is this venom? It's venom! I'm covered in venom!

Oh no, it's shooting again! Wait, wait, I'm not read— OW! I'm hit again! This pain is no joke! Retreat! Retreeeeat! I run out of the frog's range, almost tripping over my own legs.

Whoa. This really hurts. Is this what it feels like to get splashed by acid? It's melting my body, isn't it? I don't have a mirror, so I can't see for certain, but this is making me pretty nervous.

Shit. I messed that up. I forgot that the thing I had caught was a monster, and I got careless. "A rat is the most dangerous when it's cornered," isn't it? A frog being hunted by a snake isn't going to just let itself be eaten.

Ahhh, well, this really hurts, but it doesn't feel like I'm going to die. The venom mostly just hit my left side. My left eye got hit and doesn't seem to be working that well anymore, so there's a chunk missing from my field of view. ... huh? My left eye got hit, but there's only a little bit missing from my field of view...? Ah, I know! Since I'm a spider, I've got eight eyes, right? Yeah, probably. This is good to know.

Well, it doesn't matter for now. This pain isn't really going away.

“Proficiency requirements met. You have gained the skill [Acid Resistance (LV 1)].”

Whuh? The pain suddenly lessens a bit. The voice said “skill”... does this mean that I can gain skills without spending points? Why the hell did I spend a hundred points on Appraisal?! ...ugh, let's not think about this too hard.

Anyhow, it looks like I've acquired a skill that reduces acid damage. If I had to guess, I'd say I got it from taking that frog's attack. The requirements must be a bit higher than that, though, because I didn't get it immediately after getting hit. The likely answer is that, since the acid stuck to me, I kept taking damage until I met the “proficiency requirements” that voice mentioned. Right?

Let's think about this later. I've picked up some resistance, and the pain has gone down a bit. I think I'm about ready to go face that frog again. After all, it's really pissing me off. It's only food! How dare it attack me! Unforgivable! I have decided. I don't care if it's poisonous or not, I am going to eat that thing!

With that, it's time to charge in! If I don't get careless, this will be easy: it's already my prey, caught helplessly in my trap!

The frog fires a third shot at me. Heh, don't be so predictable, you're making this too easy! I dodge past the stream of acid as I approach, and let loose my own attack. Take this, frog, my special technique!

CRUNCH!

How do you like my bite, frog? Ohohoho, don't think this is any ordinary bite! I am a spider! My fangs are covered in deadly venom! (I figured this out when I realized I could make silk.) Ohohohooo, feel my venom coursing through your veins and dieeee!

Splash!

HAAAARGH!

You spit acid at me as I'm biting you?! Ow! Ow! Even with the resistance, this still really hurts! Ow!

My fangs open accidentally as I reel back.

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Poison Resistance (LV 1)], has been raised to level 2.”

Ahhh, is that so?

Wait, not now, announcer lady! This frog has, not once, not twice, but THREE times covered me with its filthy venom! This is unforgivable! Even though I had no intention of sparing you in the first place, this is absolutely unforgivable!

I attack once again, empowered by my own fury. The frog writhes in agony. Ahaha! Suffer! Suffeeeeeer! I bite it, gleefully, again and again. The frog thrashes about in pain, but in time its movements grow weak and feeble, then finally stop.

Heh. I finally defeated you. If this was my first hunt, I can tell things are only going to get tougher from here. But, for now, I did it! Yes! Time to eat!

Munch, munch, slurp, slurp. Umf, this is bitter. Painful, too. Is this bitterness from the poison? The pain’s from the acid, right? Well, I’ve got some resistance now, so this isn’t going to kill me. I can bear with it, but, ugh, this isn’t tasty at all.

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Acid Resistance (LV 1)], has been raised to level 2.”

This meat may be disgusting, but this skill rank sure is sweet.

---

Translator’s notes for this chapter:

1. This warning was indeed part of the original text.
-

Chapter 007

24/7 Vacation!

Ahh, I'm stuffed. Maybe it's because I was so hungry, or maybe it's because I need nutrients to recover from all this damage I took, but I somehow managed to eat the entirety of a frog that was almost as big as my entire body. What, that sounds like it's physically impossible? Hah hah hah, what are you saying? In this world where such mysterious phenomena as "skills" exist, you can't say that!

In fact, eating all that has caused me to swell up like a balloon. Ahhh, if I were still a human, I'd be thinking of going on a diet, wouldn't I... Come to think of it, though, when I was a human, I never really got fat even with my messed-up eating habits, so dieting isn't really in my vocabulary anyway.

First things first, let's repair the part of the net that the frog got tangled up in. Ugh, this is going to suck with my belly so heavy and swollen...

It was a struggle, but I've mended my web. No other monsters showed up while I was working, which is good! Hmm, wasn't I also way too unprotected while I was eating the frog, too? There definitely might have been some monsters nearby that would have been lured by the smell of blood. I haven't seen them in these smaller tunnels, but what about those six-legged wolves from before? Their sense of smell is probably great. I'm going to have to make sure to bring my prey back into my home before I start eating, next time.

Ahhh, I've finally taken care of the basic necessities of life: food and shelter.<sup>1</sup> Hm? What about clothing? You're telling a spider to put on clothing? Ha. I don't think that's really necessary, since the temperature in here is really kind of pleasant, and I'm covered in short hairs that keep me comfortable. Plus, I don't even have anything to wear! I mean, I guess I could weave something out of my silk, but I don't think that's a very good use of my time. Even if I were to make something, how would I even put it on?

For the time being, can't I just ignore clothing? Ohh, if I do that, I've got everything on lockdown without having to work for it at all! Well, no, I guess I did have to build my home in the first place, and fighting the frog was a ton of effort, so I guess you could say that I had to work for it, huh...

...Well, as long as nothing big happens, this environment seems pretty safe. There's only really a couple things that could mess this up: someone coming through and busting down my webs, and a lack of prey coming through here and getting caught. The first one isn't so bad, since if some brave warrior comes through here knocking down my webs I can just run away and rebuild elsewhere. The second one, hm... if prey keep coming around regularly, I'll definitely be able to live my perfect shut-in lifestyle.

This is wonderful! I was definitely a huge shut-in in my previous life. When I had to go to school, I'd sit in the back of the class and avoid talking to anyone, and when the bell rang I went straight home and spent the rest of the day surfing the net and playing games. Dinner was either the kind you added hot water to and let sit for three minutes or the kind you threw in the microwave. Occasionally I'd grab something prepackaged from the convenience store, just for variety.

My parents both worked, and they came home super late, so we never really saw each other, let alone had any sort of conversation. I did the minimum amount of housework necessary to keep them off my back. To be frank, they were really just complete strangers that happened to live in the same house as me.

Thanks to that isolated lifestyle, I've always found communicating with other people to be fairly troublesome. ...Well, maybe it wasn't just my lifestyle, maybe I was just born with that kind of personality. But, thanks to all that, I didn't have any friends. Even when I played MMOs, I rarely bothered chatting with other players.

As a result, my MMO characters tended to be the distant, silent type. I usually played a middle-aged bald dude, the kind of nice guy who wouldn't say much and let his actions do the talking. Stats and skills all seemed useless, so I poured everything into raising my physical attack damage and my speed, ignoring everything else. Combat was always hit-and-run; “just try and lay a finger on me,” you know, that kind of thing. I dodged every attack that came at me, since my complete lack of defense meant that I would absolutely die if I got hit.

Umf. I don’t care that I might not ever see my parents or my classmates again, but I’m going to miss that old bald dude. In free-to-play MMOs, a free character able to beat the paid players is a pretty spectacular sight, and it’s a shame he’s just going to quietly disappear.

I had more attachment to my game characters than I did to my parents. I was a terrible human being, wasn’t I? Well, it’s the truth. Are those people even going to be sad that I died? Ah, whatever, it doesn’t matter either way. If I were in their shoes I don’t think I’d mourn. I’d probably think that putting together the funeral would be a pain!

If I were to say this to anybody else they’d probably get pissed, but, really, so what? I wasn’t bothering anyone, so it’s really none of your business. I was bothering my parents? Hah, no, I played the stock market in my free time, which gave me enough money to live off of. Once you get a feel for it and get used to taking the risks, you can make a pretty decent living off of it. So, I definitely wasn’t bothering my parents. I wasn’t bothering anyone, so I didn’t need to talk to anyone.

Ah, well, listen to me ramble on about things that don’t matter anymore. Let me summarize in a grand declaration:

Shut-in losers are the best!

---

Author’s note: Please do not attempt this at home. This is a work of fiction, and the opinions of the characters are not those held by the author.

---

Translator’s notes for this chapter:

1. The Japanese word that translates to “the necessities of life” (衣食住) contains the kanji for clothing (衣), food (食), and shelter (住). The protagonist’s entire rant about clothes is prompted by the fact that this word implies the need for clothing when all she needs is food and shelter. It is the opinion of this translator that the protagonist is a bit of a blowhard.

---

Chapter 008

A spider without intelligence is just a normal spider.

Zzzzz. Yaaaaawn! Ahhh, I slept a ton! Did I oversleep? I'm feeling a little sluggish. Ahh, well, sleeping without a care in the world is the best!

How long did I sleep? Well, in my previous life I tended to sleep for about four hours a day. This, though, feels more like the time where I passed out from lack of sleep and slept through an entire day. It's hard to tell, though... humans and spiders are very different creatures, so I don't really have any way to figure out how long I was actually asleep. Yeahhh, I want a clock.

How long has it even been since I was born? I've got a vague sense that it's been two, maybe three days, but since I'm in a dungeon it's not like I can use daylight to tell.

I don't even know what kind of calendar this world uses! Maybe one day isn't actually twenty-four hours. On Earth, a year is the length of time it takes the planet to go around the sun, and a day is the time it takes for it to spin around its axis. Does this planet have exactly the same size and mass of Earth, and does it spin around its star at the same rate? It's pretty unlikely. Ah, well, that's just the explanation according to science, but in this magical parallel world, it's not entirely impossible that we're operating under entirely different laws of physics.

It's not like I can really verify it either way, though. If I ever leave this place some day I might look into it, but for now I'll just enjoy this lackadaisical lifestyle to the fullest. ...Well, maybe instead of lazing about, I should try thinking about some of the unanswered questions I've collected until now.

First off, how did I die? Ah, hm, now that I think about it, I've basically just been assuming that I'm dead. I've been working under the assumption that I suddenly died and was reincarnated as a spider, but I don't actually remember dying.

Hm?

The last thing I remember was being in Japanese Lit. Our teacher, Oka<sup>1</sup>, was in the middle of reading something aloud, right? I was drowsily nodding off, then suddenly there was a blast of blinding pain, then I don't remember anything after that. If I did die, it was most likely because of all of that pain, but I don't know what could have hurt so bad to begin with.

Well, the most likely theory is that I died from that mysterious pain, then I was reincarnated as a spider. If I didn't die, I could... merely be possessing this spider while my real body is comatose in a hospital bed? Oh, and this one's even crazier, but it could be that I'm a completely different person with a copy of my old memories, and my original self is still stuck in literature class.

Hmmm, I'm sure that if I kept thinking I could come up with even crazier ideas. If I wasn't really me, how would I prove it? I could try saying incomprehensible things like "I am me, therefore I am me," or whatever... It's hard to believe, but reincarnation is the simplest explanation I've come up with, so I'm going to stick with that for now. "I think, therefore I am," right? Let's just assume that I'm me.

Next up, this body that I'm in. A spider's body is surprisingly convenient! I'm not having any trouble moving around on my eight legs, and it's actually way easier for me to move around as a spider than as a human. I can run along walls, and, absurdly, can even walk along the ceiling. I've got a few weaknesses, though. I don't have hands, and I can't look behind me without turning around.

Not having hands is a real pity. I could use my front legs to grip things, but it's really a poor substitute. I won't have anywhere near the same precision or finesse that I did with my human hands. Plus, my legs each end in a single sharp claw, and there's no way something so dangerous could be used in place of a finger. It's a shame, but I'll be able to manage somehow.

There's only one really big problem: I can't see what's behind me.

This is extremely dangerous. Spiders don't have necks, so my head is attached directly to the rest of my body and can't turn independently. I've got plenty of eyes, so my field of view is actually quite large even if I can't turn my head, but I've got no way to see what's behind me at all. I'm incredibly vulnerable to a surprise attack.

I might try using my threads as a countermeasure. Since I can't see behind me, I'll need to rely on some other sense, and if I can keep threads spread out behind me, I could use my sense of touch to tell if there's something behind me. Ahh, well, easier said than done. I need more practice with my threads. I'm safely hiding in my home, so I don't really need an early-warning system, but better safe than sorry.

Lastly, skills. There's a million little things I want cleared up, but for now let's just focus on the big one: what the heck is a "skill"?

If I'm using game logic, a skill is some kind of ability or technique. The kinds of actions you can perform are based on the skills you have, so as you acquire more skills you can do more things. However, I don't know if this world treats skills the same way, so I shouldn't make any assumptions.

My first priority is figuring out what skills I have, and what skills I can acquire.

I have three skills that I know about: [Appraisal (LV 1)], [Acid Resistance (LV 2)], and [Poison Resistance (LV 2)]. I bought Appraisal with skill points. Those are a mystery too, huh. I spent all of my points on Appraisal, but I have no idea how to get more. If this were a game, I'd get more when I leveled up, but I don't know if this world even has things like levels. It could be that I'll get more as time passes.

Worst-case scenario? Never getting any more. Skill points may just be something an individual is born with, and you only get to spend them once. Ahh, that would be shockingly awful.

I hope that's not true!

---

Translator's notes for this chapter:

1. A nickname.

---

Chapter 009

Skill Inspection

Umf. Let's forget about skill points for now, since there's really no point in me worrying if I can get more of them.

Acid Resistance, huh. I got that through an entirely different method than when I picked up Appraisal. "Acid Resistance" does what it says: it makes me more resilient to acid. I got it when that annoying frog shot his acid spit all over me.

That saliva attack was probably both acid-type and poison-type. When I got hit by it, I took acid damage, which led to automatically acquiring the Acid Resistance skill. Was it because I took damage in general, or was it because it had an "acid" attribute? I also can't tell if it's because I took a certain amount of damage, or because I kept taking acid damage, or even if it was just a certain amount of time after I took the first attack.

Well, what's important here is that once I take damage of a particular type, I start to gain resistance to it. It might sting for a bit, but if I can endure it, I'll get a new skill out of it. If I took a fire attack, I'd get fire resistance, right? When I'm thinking about my defense strategies, I should make sure I think about acquiring new resistances. If I see a new attack that doesn't look like it will straight-up kill me, should I let myself get hit by it? Hmm, no, getting hurt sucks, and there's no guarantee I'll gain a new resistance after just one attack. Ah, it's not just because I don't like pain: it's always better not to take any unnecessary risks.

I got Acid Resistance when I got hit by that frog's attack, but my Poison Resistance leveled up as well. If what the, uh, "Voice of Heaven" said was true, then I had Poison Resistance from the start. Well, that makes sense: I'm a spider, and I use poison, so of course I should have resistance. Do I have any other natural skills like that? I don't think I have any way to check! If the "Voice of Heaven" hadn't mentioned it, I wouldn't even know that I have Poison Resistance to begin with! There's probably loads of other spider skills that I don't know that I have.

Ahh, this is a mystery... what else could I have? I might have some sort of "Poison Strike" skill. It would be great if I could know for sure, but, y'know, I have no way to check.

Just to test, I whisper "Character Statistics" to myself, but there's no response. Maybe if Appraisal's level were higher, I could check. ...Wait. Appraisal's level... level as in... proficiency, maybe? Ah, is this a way for me to level Appraisal up?

Proficiency means the degree to which someone has mastered a skill, right? If Appraisal uses the same system as my resistance skills, then becoming more proficient at it will cause it to level up. Thus, if I use it a bunch, I should get better at it, and it will level up, right? Haha! I thought that since I bought it with skill points I'd have to spend more skill points to level it up, but I might have jumped to conclusions!

I immediately start spamming Appraisal on everything I can see. Tons of useless information like "wall" and "floor" starts pouring into my brain. Ah, this is a pretty terrible feeling, like I'm getting drunk on this deluge of information.

"Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Appraisal (LV 1)], has been raised to level 2."

WORTH IT! Woohoo! It's just one level, but it worked! This is a huge step forward. Trembling a little bit, I Appraise myself.

Small Lesser Taratekt — (no name)

Ohhh! Now it's even displaying my species! As before there's not very much information at all, but it's way better than the generic "spider" label I got out of it before.

But, hm. I'm not just "small", but also "lesser", huh... it's like I'm inferior, or something. What a downer! I was so happy after I got Appraisal to finally level up, but, seriously, “lesser”? I didn’t have any high hopes or anything, but I certainly wasn’t expecting to be lesser! Ugh, well, since I was such a loser in my previous life, I guess it’s only natural that this would carry forward.

...Well then, time to Appraise everything else and get its level up even higher!

---

It’s not leveling up. I’ve used it on every single wall and crag and rock I can see, and its level hasn’t even gone up once. On top of that, where Appraisal had said “wall” before, now it says “labyrinth wall”, which is... not particularly helpful. That’s not the important part though: why isn’t this leveling up at all?!

Hmmmm. Well, the first thing that comes to mind is that maybe Appraising something multiple times doesn’t cause me to gain any proficiency. That’s probably the case, otherwise it would be way too easy for me to grind it out in the safety of my home. Just to be sure, I Appraise everything around me again, but, sure enough, the level doesn’t go up, almost like I’m not actually getting more proficient.

If that’s true, then in order to level Appraisal, I’m going to need to Appraise things that are outside my home, huh... Didn’t I Appraise a bunch of monsters back when it was still level one? I must have gotten a bunch of proficiency back then.

Going outside, though... what a pain. I have such a nice home here, why should I force myself to go out? It’s way better to just stay here, living safely in my little web, although I guess I’m not going to get any skill ranks like this. I guess there’s pros and cons, but all of the danger that I might face outside is a pretty serious con.

Yeah. I’ve decided. Let’s stay here for a little bit longer and enjoy this lazy lifestyle until I’m sick of it. It’s not like the hand of God will come down upon me if I slack off a little, right?

---

Chapter 010

Level Up!!

While I was lazing about in my home<sup>1</sup>, my threads started to vibrate. It looks like I've caught my second victim! Good timing, too, I was just starting to get hungry. I approach my prey with a skip in my step. ...Honestly, though, a skipping spider is a little bit too surreal.

Last time, I was a little too careless and walked straight into my opponent's counterattack. This time, I approach much more cautiously. Now then, what do we have here?

Elro Frog

Oh, my stars and garters! Ain't this another frog? How in the heck'd this happen?! Ain't there a right pile of other monsters in this here dungeon?! Why'd I get the lousy luck of seeing this sucker twice?!

Haah, haah, hah. I dropped into my fake Southern accent, didn't I. Seriously, why'd th...

Splash!

NOOOOOOOOOOO!

While I was busy doing my one-man standup routine the frog spewed acid on me. I can't believe it took me two lives to figure this out: I am a huge idiot!

Ahh, yeah, the pain helped me calm down a little bit. This time, my Acid Resistance level didn't go up, so I guess my skill proficiency wasn't raised enough. Well, that's okay for now.

I wrap the helpless frog up in my silk until it can't move an inch, and bite it.

Crunch. Just like last time, this frog doesn't die from one bite; perhaps they have poison resistance. Even still, the frog grows weaker as it struggles against its bonds. I quickly drag it into my home, then spend some time fixing my broken webs.

All right, all done here. I turn my attention back to the frog as it rolls around helplessly on the floor. Looks like one bite isn't going to cut it.

Crunch!

I bite it again. Last time I wound up biting the frog over and over, but if you think about it that's probably not necessary. My fangs are coated in venom, so biting it a couple times and letting my venom do the work is just fine.

"Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Poison Fang (LV 1)], has been raised to level 2."

Oh! A skill leveled up! And it's one I've never seen before, too. The frog stopped moving almost immediately after my skill leveled, which was a little bit surprising. Ah, but this makes sense: if my Poison Fang skill increased, then my poison must have gotten stronger as well. That's very nice!

"Experience requirements met. Small Lesser Taratekt, you have grown from level 1 to level 2."

Hm?

Hmmmmmm?

Ah! Something feels weird!

Uh?! What's this?! My skin is peeling off! Am I molting? I'm molting!

"Every ability score has been increased. Acquired bonus skill proficiencies from leveling up: your skill [Poison Resistance (LV 2)] skill has been raised to level 3 and your skill [Spider Silk (LV 3)] has been raised to level 4. You have acquired additional skill points."

Mmmm! No! W, wait up! That sounded really important! I was busy, and you were mumbling at me when I wasn't paying attention! Please, say it again! One more time!

Silence.

Oof. Seriously? Ah, no, no, let's keep calm and try to remember. She said "level up," right? I wasn't hearing things? Aaah, I really wasn't paying attention, since I was unexpectedly shedding all of my skin at the time! No, wait, now that I think about it, isn't spontaneously molting kind of unusual to begin with? I wonder if this is an effect of leveling up. Did my body change at all?

For now, let's get the rest of this dead skin off of me. Whoa, check out this huge wound that was on my back! That must be from when I got hit by that frog's acid earlier. I couldn't see it at the time, but this looks really serious. Hm? Now that I'm thinking about being able to see things, it looks like that hole in my field of vision got repaired! Ohhh! I must get fully healed when I level up!

Yep. This is, without a doubt, leveling up. I feel so light and refreshed, like everything is in perfect harmony. This must have been caused by gaining experience after killing the frog, yeah? Ah, right, the frog, I should be eating. Multitasking, right.

Okay, so, let's try to remember everything, in order. The first line was definitely about my level going up. I started to molt immediately after that, so I really wasn't paying that much attention while the "Voice of Heaven" kept mumbling. Remember, remember... ah! Skills! There was something about my skills going up, right? Not just once, but two at a time right? ...what's up with that?

Oh! Right! There was something right before the skills. Something about... bonus proficiencies? Ah! Right! Bonus proficiencies from leveling up, or basically bonus points that I get for free whenever I level! That would explain why two skills leveled up simultaneously.

The skills that went up were, hm... Poison Resistance and... Spider Silk? Hmm, even my silk is from a skill, huh...? I only really found out about it when I leveled, though. Hmm, if I just keep spinning thread, this is going to be super easy to level up. This is great information!

Also, when I leveled, I was fully healed. It feels kind of like my stats have gone up too. But the most important thing is that I get bonus skill proficiency when I level! I don't know how much I get, but since I got ranks in two different skills at the same time, it's probably a pretty decent amount, right? Looks like getting levels is a pretty efficient way of getting skill ranks as well.

Levels, though. I was kind of hoping that they existed since I found out about skills, but they seriously exist! This world really is like a game, though I try not to treat it as such. Living my life as if I were in a game is kind of a scary concept, you know? It might be a bit too late, though. I can't help but already be a little bit excited about all of this. After all, I'm a gamer down to my core.

---

Translator's notes for this chapter:

1. The actual line here is more literally translated as "while I was drunk off my ass in my home..." but that doesn't make any sense in-context. The author uses the onomatopoetic expression グテグテ (dead drunk) here, but last chapter he used グダグダ (exhausted, tired). I'm assuming this is a typo, or a pun that I'm not catching, and have translated it as such.
-

Chapter S01

The final day of our ordinary lives

It had been an extremely ordinary day. All I expected to do was go to school, hang out with my friends, go home, play some games, take a bath, and go to sleep. That, at least, was how it was supposed to go.

---

I walked to school, rubbing sleep out of my eyes. I stayed up way too late last night playing an MMO, and I was paying the price this morning. I had somehow managed to get into a party with Baldy, and I completely lost track of time as we farmed dungeon after dungeon.

Baldy, by the way, was a kind of famous character in the MMO that I played. He was a quiet, older gentleman with a bald head who pushed the limits of what can be accomplished as a free-to-play character. He completely ignored status and romance, focusing instead on raising his physical ability to its extreme. He was a ridiculously amazing player, too, able to dance around the front lines of a battle without breaking a sweat. On top of that, he barely ever said a word in chat. His quiet, almost manly playstyle made him very popular with other players. I finally managed to get into a party with him, so it was only natural that I got a little too excited stayed up way too late.

I arrive at school, stifling a yawn as I enter the classroom.

“Hey,” says my classmate Kyouya as I get to my desk.

“Oh, hey,” I reply.

“Yo!” says Kanata, “Whoa, what’s up? You look awful.”

Kyouya Sasajima and Kanata Ooshima were two of my classmates. We played a bunch of the same MMOs, so we were pretty good friends.

“Oh, yeah, check this out. Last night I got into a party with Baldy.”

“Whoa, seriously?”

“Yeah, seriously,” I reply. “I stayed up waaay too late playing with him.”

“Wow, I’m jealous. That was after I quit?” asked Kanata. We’d been playing together, but he had to go to bed and logged out well before I did. “Fuck, if I knew that was going to happen I would have stayed on a little longer.”

Kanata seemed really upset with himself, but in truth we never would have seen Baldy without him. We needed another person to fill the slot Kanata had left, and Baldy answered our messages in LFG.

“So, you really saw Baldy, huh? What’s he like?” asked Kyouya.

Memories of Baldy’s gallant figure flashed through my mind. “That man cannot be human,” I said. “Can you believe that he was able to advance while completely dodging the Bezebel Witch’s spells?”

The Bezebel Witch was a particularly nasty boss found in high-level dungeons. She was known for firing out a ludicrous barrage of magic attacks. The forums keep calling it a bullet hell. The worst part about this boss is that she never stopped firing. Attackers would be hit by wave after unceasing wave of magic blasts. Ordinarily, what you would try to do is either massively buff your magic resistance and try to whittle her down via suicide attacks, or set up a super-defensive front-line and fire equally large swarms of magic back at her.

Baldy, on the other hand, dodged every blast, got close, and killed her with melee damage. This was completely and utterly unexpected. My mouth actually hung open as I watched him go.

“Wow, that’s Baldy for you. I guess that’s why people call him Kartikeya<sup>1</sup>,” said Kyouya.

“Man, you have to have serious skill to pull off a crazy stunt like that,” said Kanata, tapping his arm. Certainly, I know that if I had the same stats and gear that Baldy had, I wouldn’t be able to do anything like that. “Man, I want to get better!”

“Want to grind out a few more levels after school?” I ask.

“Yeah, definitely!”

“Me too. Let’s find a particularly nasty place and train a bunch.”

---

“Hm?” I said as I rummaged around in my bag, trying to find my pencil case. I realized, a bit too late, that I had taken it out so that I could write down a few notes as I was playing last night and never put it back. “Ah, crap...”

“What’s wrong?” asked Yuika Hasebe, who was sitting next to me in class.

“I forgot my pencil!”

“Oh no, sorry to hear that. Would you like to borrow mine?” she asked, holding up a spare mechanical pencil.

I took it, gladly. “You’re a lifesaver.”

“You owe me one!”

“Haha, okay,” I said, smiling wryly.

That promise was not one I would be able to keep.

It happened in the middle of literature class, while I was fighting valiantly against falling asleep. Our very short teacher, who we affectionately called Oka-chan, was standing at the front of the class, textbook in one hand, reciting some sort of classical poem. Most of the class was reading along in their own textbooks.

In an effort to stay awake, I forced myself to look up. In the row in front of me, I saw Spooky, another one of my classmates. Spooky wasn’t her real name, but she looked like she belonged in a haunted house so we called her that. She was extremely gaunt, deathly pale, always wore a gloomy expression, and was generally a creepy sort of girl. I felt bad thinking about her like that, but there wasn’t really any polite way to put it. As if she was mocking my efforts to stay awake, Spooky was fast asleep at her desk. I made myself look away.

That’s when it happened.

It was kind of like a fissure, floating in the empty air in the middle of the classroom, that nobody seemed to have noticed but me. It was hard to describe it as anything else but a crack in space. It was growing, too, and looked like it was going to split open at any moment. I saw it spreading through the air above me, but couldn't do anything but stare blankly at it. Even if I had reacted differently, I don't think there's anything I could have done about what happened next.

In an instant, the space around us shattered in a blast of glorious light, and I was enveloped by blinding pain. That's when I — no, we — died.

---

Translator's notes for this chapter

1. Kartikeya is the Hindu god of war, known, among other things, for his speed. His Japanese name is Idaten (韋駄天).
-

Chapter 011

Spinnin' some threeeead, spinnin' some threeeead! ♪

I've got some thread wound around my forelegs. It stretches when I pull them apart, and snaps back together when I relax. Awesome. It's stretchy like rubber, just as I was hoping.

What am I doing? Glad you asked. Ever since I found out that my spider silk has a skill associated with it, I've been trying various experiments to raise my proficiency. Until now, I haven't really been trying to use my threads for anything but building webs and tying up my prey, so I truly had no idea what these were capable of.

Hm? What happened to going outside and leveling up, you say? Haha, as if. I may have gotten a little bit excited immediately after I leveled up, but after I calmed down I realized how foolish it was. Think about it: I'm a girl who's only good at video games. Do you seriously think I'd be good in a real fight? As if. I might have a monster's body, but I still barely know how to move it.

There's a world of difference between playing a game and actually moving my body. For starters, a game character doesn't get tired, while a real body runs out of stamina if you move too much. Back on Earth, for instance, I was a very frail girl who got tired just walking to and from school. If I had to fight a monster with real, natural-born monster instincts, I think it would be very difficult for me to win, wouldn't it?

Therefore, my current plan of letting prey get stuck in my webs has a much higher chance of success. Compared to aimlessly wandering around the dungeon, this is not only safer but far more efficient as well. I'm sure there may come a time where I have to leave my home, but I first want to get my level up a bit until I have a much bigger margin of error. I may have played an absurdly specialized character in that MMO, but in other RPGs, I usually prefer to do a bunch of early grinding to get my levels up. That way, I can just steamroll every boss in my way while I whistle a jaunty tune. Now that it's my own, precious life, I'd much rather play it safe until I think I'm strong enough to beat everything easily.

So, as part of my plan to safely get my level up, I'm trying to raise the level of my spider silk skill. My silk is my lifeline, right? If I hadn't made my home, I'd still be lost wandering around the dungeon. The thought sends shivers down my spine. I wouldn't have been able to survive like that, would I? I wouldn't have any safe place to rest, nor would I be able to catch any prey. I owe this pleasant lifestyle entirely to my wonderful silk.

Thus, I think leveling up my silk is my best course of action. I don't know how it might change as I gain more levels, but I can't think of any downsides. Just spinning more thread didn't seem to raise my skill at all, so I've been trying various experiments to see what its properties are. I've tried to see if I have any control over its various properties, like its thickness, adhesiveness, strength, and elasticity.

Controlling the thickness was extremely simple: if I think about spinning thin thread, thin thread comes out. I can't make it so fine you can't see it, but I can make it about the thickness of a human hair. In the dim light of the dungeon, such a thin thread should be almost impossible to see. I did a little test on its strength, and as expected it gets a lot less resilient as it gets thinner. Ah, well, it can't be helped. It's only natural that a thin thread would be more fragile than a thick one. Hopefully, when my skill level goes up, the threads will get stronger.

Conversely, making the thread thicker makes it way stronger. The thickest thread I can produce is nearly two centimeters in diameter. It's almost like a rope, isn't it? Well, two centimeters is about all I can produce under normal circumstances, but if I braid a bunch of it together I can get a much thicker cord. That takes time, though.

My adhesion experiments went... poorly. It's true that there are both sticky and non-sticky kinds of spider thread, but the real reason why spiders don't get stuck in it is because they know what they're doing. I can move around my webs just fine on instinct, but when I tried to figure things out manually, I somehow managed to tie my entire body up. Ahhhhh, yeah. It's only natural that things would get tangled up when trying to learn how to use different kinds of thread, but it's my own stupidity that got me tied up.

Ahh, I was too impatient. I hadn't yet noticed that I could reduce the stickiness of my threads after I spun them, and I almost died thanks to getting caught in my own trap. That would have been way, way, way too dumb of a way to go out. Thanks to a stroke of divine inspiration, I realized that, as long as the thread's still attached to my butt, I can change its properties. After I disentangled myself, I tested to see if I could change the properties of a thread after I'd cut it, but it doesn't look like that's the case.

After I pulled myself together, I experimented with the silk's strength. While I did confirm that thin threads are weak and thick threads are strong, I have no idea what the maximum strength of these threads actually are. How could this be, you ask? When I crank the strength up to the max, I'm completely and utterly incapable of breaking it with my own strength. Even scarier, I can't slice or bite through it. Anything that gets caught up in this thread will probably be stuck there forever. Ah, well, there might be monsters that are strong enough to tear through it, so I shouldn't be too overconfident.

Last but not least, the results of my elasticity test: this stretchy, bouncy thread that I've got wrapped around my forelegs. Yeah. This rubbery silk is going to be super useful. If I could find suitable rocks to attach to it, I could make a simple slingshot, and I'm sure I'll come up with many other uses for it.

I'm quite satisfied with my experimental results. However, even after all that, my skill level didn't go up at all. Plus, I found out about a huge issue with my silk-spinning that I can't ignore: making these threads consumes my energy like mad. As a result, even though it's been barely any time since I killed that frog, I'm already exceedingly hungry. It's not like my fuel efficiency is terrible, but if I'm going to be spinning such large quantities of thread in the future, I'm definitely going to need to eat a bigger lunch first.

---

Chapter 012

A tearful reunion (lol)

Aaaaahh, I'm hungryyyyy, but nothing's gotten caught in my web so I can't eat! I've got no other way to fix this, so I'm just going to lie down and try to conserve my energy. Hey! This is definitely not just me being lazy again.

---

I thought I was going to be able to sleep as much as I wanted, but I'm rather rudely woken up when one of the threads I had attached to my webs started to vibrate. Did I catch something?! My fleeting joy turns to impatience in an instant. Since I'm connected to my webs, I can tell what's happening to them just by feeling their vibrations, but this is a kind of vibration I've never felt before.

Something is touching my web, that's for certain, but it's definitely not caught in it. It's almost... like... something's walking on it?

Impossible. Sure, I was prepared for the possibility that there might be some strong creatures that could break right through my webs, but I hadn't even thought to imagine that something could just casually walk around on them like it was nothing!

I freeze up under these unexpected circumstances, and fail to react in time. Something has already slipped through my webs and is encroaching upon my territory. This is bad. I already decided that I was going to run away if something broke through my webs, but now I find myself face to face with this guy. I was too careless. I wasn't 100% awake yet and got thrown way off-kilter by this unexpected thing happening. For the first time since I built my home, I feel danger.

The thing before me is another spider monster, just like me. It looks like, since we're the same species, it can move through my webs easily.

Hello, Brother. Well, rather, you're probably my sibling, but I don't really know if you're my brother or sister or whatever. This is the tearful reunion of two siblings separated at birth! Except a little more life-threatening.

Wait, wait, wait, wait, slow down. I just met this guy, there's no guarantee that he's actually my enemy! Sure, the other spiders may have been eating each other as soon as we were all born, but maybe now our familial bond will kick in.

Rustle, rustle. Hissss!

Ah, yeah, this guy's an enemy. He's just posturing though, not attacking yet. It seems like he's looking back and forth, taking in the layout of the place.

What should I do? I don't think running away will work. We're the same species, after all, and probably thus have the same sort of physical abilities. I've stayed alive thus far thanks to my speed at running away, but if this guy is as fast as I am then there's no way that's going to work. Even if I do manage to run away, I won't even be safe then! There are countless monsters lurking around out there, outside of the safety of my home. I'm already super hungry, so if I exhausted myself by running away at top speed I would be in serious danger outside. Even if I managed to get away safely, and even if I still had barely enough energy to build a new home, I'd still have to find a good place to put it, and wandering around exhaustedly is straight-up suicidal. Running away is a terrible idea.

Well then! It looks like my only option is to beat this guy. How should I do that? Can I even win? It feels like I'm at a bit of a disadvantage here. We're the same species, so our physical ability should be roughly the same... that is, if our levels are the same.

This guy was born at about the same time I was, so I'm guessing that there can't be that much of a difference between us. We're probably no more than one level apart, tops. This guy, though, has probably been wandering around outside while I've been staying in my home, so he's probably got at least one level on me.

Worst-case scenario, this guy might not actually be my sibling, and is instead a grizzled veteran born long ago. If that's the case, his level is absolutely going to be way higher than mine. If he's been alive long enough to reach the point where he can walk around unhindered, then I have zero chance at all.

Whatever the case, this is going to be a life-or-death battle. I shouldn't worry much about this guy's level at this point, all I can do is try my best. If that's not good enough, well, it's been fun, but that's the end of my short little spider life. Dying would suck, but I know first-hand that reincarnation exists, so I've got hope that there's another world after this one.

All right, I've prepared myself. Time to focus on this battle. Clear my thoughts, focus only on my enemy. My foe seems to have finished his preparations as well. He shifts his weight backwards a little bit, as if preparing to leap.

Exactly as I predicted, he jumps high into the air. As he plunges down at me, holding the claws on his forelegs high, I give him a pitying look. I step back quickly, firing threads at my mid-air opponent. This guy has made a serious mistake. Not only is he flying through the air, unable to dodge, but he chose to attack with his claws instead of his much more powerful venomous fangs. Don't get me wrong, our claw attacks aren't that bad. Their main use, though, should really be to restrain a foe, and not a primary weapon. As spiders, our chief weapons are our venom and our silk. Against a scrub like this who doesn't even understand that, there's no way I can lose.

I snare my brother easily with my threads as he soars over me. Entangled, he crashes to the ground. I waste no time in running up to him.

Chomp!

I bite him again and again with my envenomed fangs. It seems like he's got Poison Resistance like I do, but it doesn't really matter. I've got him all tied up, so my victory is assured. I've got all the time in the world to pump him so full of toxin that it exceeds his resistance.

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Poison Fang (LV 2)], has been raised to level 3.”

Thanks to all of the venom I've injected into this guy, my skill leveled up. At about the same time, my brother's life finally faded away. Brother, I will never forget you! You were the first fool to break into my home.

---

Chapter 013

I've earned an extremely disgraceful title

Somehow, I managed to get through my brother's unexpected invasion. Oh my god. I am so glad that he was such an idiot. A serious fight would have been seriously dangerous.

I'm starting to get a feel for my own strengths. If this were actually a game, I could pull up my stats, but instead I'm fumbling around, trying to figure things out objectively. I've already determined that my best weapons are my silk and my venomous fangs: I tangle up my foe in my silk, and then put an end to them with my fangs. Unfortunately, my invincible secret combo technique might not actually work on some foes. I'm pretty screwed if that's the case.

This applies not just to me, but to every other spider monster: silk and poison are our most important weapons. That idiot I just fought didn't understand it at all. In a battle between spiders, whoever immobilizes their opponent wins, so the core of my strategy was to stick a thread to them and get them all tangled up. The result is this train wreck. Why the hell did you throw yourself at me without any sort of plan? You're stupid! You're an idiot! You're going to get yourself killed! Heh, well, that already happened.

I'm actually kind of impressed that a guy this stupid survived for so long. I've been thinking that it's far too dangerous for me to venture too far out from my home, so how the hell did this guy manage to survive for so long with all those monsters out there? Ah, well, thinking about it too hard won't get me anywhere, because this guy is already dead, heh heh.

Hmm, what fate shall befall this jerk, whose corpse litters my territory? You should know this already. I'm hungry. The thought of eating a spider might be kind of gross, but I already put that kind of thinking aside when I had to eat that first frog. Hmm? He's my brother? So what? It's already been well established that my species is cannibalistic.

That said, let's dig in.

---

Phew, I'm full. This might sound weird, but that was definitely a bit tastier than the frogs. Hmm, is it really that after all? The frog's meat was both poisonous and acidic, was that why it was so bitter? Well, spider meat is still poisonous, so it was still pretty gross, but at the least it wasn't quite as bad as a frog.

As I came to this conclusion, the mechanical voice of the "Voice of Heaven" resounded in my head.

"You have earned the title [Filth Eater<sup>1</sup>], and have been awarded the skills [Poison Resistance (LV 1)] and [Decay Resistance (LV 1)]. Your new skill, [Poison Resistance (LV 1)], has been integrated with your existing skill, [Poison Resistance (LV 3)]."

"You have earned the title [Kin Eater], and have been awarded the skills [Taboo (LV 1)] and [Corruption Magic<sup>2</sup> (LV 1)]."

What?! What the hell is this? I'm usually surprised whenever I hear the "Voice of Heaven", but this time I'm not just surprised, I'm dumbfounded. Ah, let's take some time and calm myself down. Lately, I've taken to spinning thread into little white balls to soothe my nerves. Ahh, that's better.

Alright, hm, she said "title". Those are like bonuses you get when you meet some special requirements and earn an achievement, right? That's probably it, but, uh, these are pretty gross. Disgraceful, even. "Filth Eater"? That's insulting! "Kin Eater"? That's straight-up awful! Can other people see these? Maybe someone with high Appraisal skill can. Wow. Man, if anyone saw these I'd be done in an instant. Well, I'm a monster, so I'd probably be attacked long before anyone bothered looking at my titles.

Putting aside how awful these titles are, aren't they kind of unbelievable? In a single moment I got four skills! Four! I already had poison resistance, but the "Voice of Heaven" made it sound like the new skill got rolled into my previous skill's proficiency rating. Ahhh, I really wish I had an easy way to check, not knowing for sure is super inconvenient! I need to get Appraisal's level up.

I'm way more interested in the other three skills. Decay Resistance is pretty understandable, I think. I'd probably raise its level by eating decaying or rotting things, although I can't ever see myself wanting to. The other two skills are the problematic ones.

"Taboo"? That's certainly the name of the skill, but I have literally zero clue what it does. I can't even make a wild guess! Hello? GMs? Can I get an explanation, please? If I don't know what this does, I can't use it!

Corruption Magic is the same problem. I have no idea how to use this! What should I do, chant some sort of dark incantation? I'm a spider! I can't speak! All I can do is make this raspy sort of noise by grinding my teeth together. Man, even if I could talk I have no idea what the incantation even is, so it's not like that would fix any of my problems.

Just to test it out, I clear my mind and concentrate on the words "Corruption Magic". .....yep, nothing's happening. I can't use this!

Ugh! I thought that getting all of these skills and titles was going to be great, but the only useful thing I got out of it was Decay Resistance! Well, I guess my Poison Resistance may have gotten a proficiency boost, even if it didn't go up in level. ...now that I think about it, those were both from Filth Eater, weren't they? Kin Eater, what good are you?!

Ah, I just realized, if you earn Kin Eater by eating a family member, all of my siblings who survived that battle back when we were born probably have that title too. Hmm, but if that's the case then that idiot I just killed should have had that title too. I guess the Kin Eater title doesn't really have much effect on combat ability, then, so it wouldn't matter that I can't figure out how to use it. Ahh, I see! This must be because it was so easy to acquire. If it's easy to get, its effect will be low.

Still, finding about this title system is pretty huge! Earning a bunch of titles might be a very efficient way to pick up a bunch of skills. I don't really know what new titles I can acquire, or how I might go about earning them, but let's try a bunch of different things to check!

---

Translator's Notes for this chapter:

1. More literally, "Eater of Bad Things" (悪食).
  2. 外道魔法 is more directly translated as "heretical magic" or "demonic magic", but Corruption Magic more accurately captures the tone.
-

Chapter 014

Weaving a better home

Some time has passed since my brother's attack.

"Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Spider Silk (LV 5)] has been raised to level 6."

Thanks to how much I've been playing... ahem, practicing with my threads, the skill has leveled up a few times. Ahhh, but it's been really slow-going, though. Thanks to all that, my home is now completely covered in pure white silk.

My home is completely different from how it was when I first made it. Firstly, there are far more webs now than there were before. When I first built it, I only built webs immediately around this T-junction I'm in now, and they were mostly just composed of nets placed high and low. Now, I've got webs stretching all the way out along each passage until the next intersection, and I've changed up the composition a bunch. I figured that there must be other creatures out there able to slip past my webs as easily as my dear, departed brother did, I might as well put a ton of them in their way so that they'll be slowed down a bit. Just that alone makes my home a much safer place.

Doing all that wasn't enough to raise my skill level, so next I freshened up the walls a bit. I've covered them in enough silk to paint them absolutely white. Don't think this is just ordinary wallpaper, though! They're attached to the rest of my webs, so if anything gets caught in a web the wallpaper will come free and wrap up my prey. After many, many failed experiments, I have finally perfected these stupendous traps!

Shortly after I started putting up my wallpaper, my skill level went up by one. After I finished covering the walls, it was time for the finishing touch: carefully stringing invisibly fine threads around the entirety of my home. These threads weren't the slightest bit sticky, but they snap at the slightest touch. They're so weak that they'll snap on their own after a while, just from slight changes in the air currents, and will then eventually stick harmlessly to the wallpaper. I wasn't able to make a thread this fine before, but it looks like I gained even more control after my Spider Silk skill leveled up to five.

The main purpose of these threads is to alert me to any incoming enemies. I've attached myself to them, so I'll feel the vibration is anything even brushes against them. These enemy-detecting threads are my solution to the extremely inconvenient problem of not being able to see behind me, and I've strung them up everywhere so that I don't have to worry in the slightest about surprise attacks from the rear. Eventually, I'd like to figure out how to operate these remotely so that I can start feeling out areas outside my home.

Of course, after I finished all of this, I had completely run out of things to do. I turned to spinning a bunch of silk with no particular goal in mind, which thankfully pushed my skill proficiency over the edge to level six. This now lets me produce silk of unbelievably high quality, which I've been using my free time to turn into little balls of silk for later use. If I sold these to humans, I could make a ton of money, you know? Haha, well, I have no idea what their textile industry is even like.

Incidentally, spinning all of this silk did, of course, make me hungry, so I ate all of the pitiful little creatures that wandered helplessly into my webs. They were all, unfortunately, poisonous, which made finishing them off a huge pain thanks to their built-in resistance to my venomous fangs. Once they were caught in my web, though, my victory was all but assured. I'm pretty sure, though, that I wouldn't be able to win against these guys at all if I didn't have my webs. I have to bite things over and over to have any effect, and an unrestrained foe would have plenty of time to counterattack while I was busy.

Thanks to all of that poison, though, my Poison Resistance skill leveled up to five, and my Poison Fang leveled up to four. I don't know if it's thanks to Poison Resistance, but I'm starting to get used to the bitter taste of this meat.

Let's see, so far I've caught three "Elro Randanel", one "Elro Pekatot", one "Elro Basilisk", and one, uh, "Finjegoat". All of them got caught in my web, and I dispatched them all with my poison fangs. The three Randanel showed up at the same time, which caught me a little off guard, but thanks to my amazing web-weaving skills I caught and killed them all quite easily. The Pekatot looked kind of like a penguin and a pelican had a baby, and that baby had weird monkey-like arms. The Finjagoat looked kind of like a bee, but it was super huge, nearly three meters long! It nearly filled up the entire hallway. Of course, thanks to that, it got tangled up in even more of my webs.

The most dangerous of them all was the Basilisk. It was a huge, lizard-like monster that, true to its name, had a petrification attack. Just like in the fairy tale, it hit me with its petrifying gaze and turned one of my front legs to stone. Luckily, the rate at which the petrification spread was very low, so I was able to kill it off before it became too much of a problem, but that was still the most formidable prey I've caught so far. Until I leveled up and shed my skin, I had to live with a petrified leg. Sure, picking up the Petrification Resistance skill may have made this a net plus, but this was even more dangerous than the frog was!

Ah, I may have perhaps glossed over it just now, but I did, in fact, level up. I did so three times, in fact! I am now level five. The skills that I know I have are Poison Fang at level four, Spider Silk at level six, Appraisal at level two, Taboo at level one, Corruption Magic at level one, Poison Resistance at level five, Acid Resistance at level two, Decay Resistance at level one, and Petrification Resistance at level one. Even though I went up three levels, my skills have barely gone up! Appraisal hasn't even budged from level two. It looks like I might have overestimated how many bonus proficiency points I got on level up.

I missed this when I first leveled up, but it looks like I gain skill points whenever I gain a level, although it doesn't look like I get very many. I got really excited when the "Voice of Heaven" said I got skill points, but I was left seriously disappointed when I tried to actually spend them. I racked my brain, trying every convenient RPG skill I could think of like "Item Box" or "Automatic Regeneration", but I couldn't pick up any of them. I couldn't even find out if they truly existed! Every time I asked, the only response I got back from the "Voice of Heaven" was "Insufficient skill points."

Looks like plan "buy every skill and become undefeatable" is a no-go: picking up skills might be a little harder than I thought.

---

Chapter 015

Forced from Paradise

Today is another blissfully lazy day. Ahhh, my home is so luxurious! Food just wanders right into my lap and my webs keep the riffraff out, so I can sleep peacefully even in this dangerous dungeon. I've covered the hard stone floor with a fluffy bed of threads, so sleeping is super comfortable. My daily routine basically just consists of lazing around and spinning thread. Ahh, bliss.

Thinking about it, my previous life was quite hectic! I didn't think much about it at the time, but, seriously, only four hours of sleep? I woke up super early to go to school, and stayed up playing video games until I could barely stay up at all. That was my life, huh... I really loved playing games, but now that I look back on it, I wonder if maybe I was doing it because I felt like I had to.

I was one of the top players in that MMO, even though I was only a free player! I might have felt like I needed to live up to my reputation, and that might have pushed me past my capacity. Living up to other people's expectations, though? What a joke! That's just raw self-conceit. I don't really give a shit about other people. I mean, well, that's what I thought, but maybe even I had some faint traces of human emotion, even if I'm only finding out about it in hindsight.

But, now, in my new life, I have nothing meaningful to do at all! I feel like I've finally thrown off my shackles. When I started out, I was a little worried that I'd go crazy from all the free time, but it looks like I was just overthinking things. Sure, I might not have MMOs to occupy my free time, but it's not like I'm bored out of my skull.

Somehow, it looks like my standards of happiness are a little bit lower compared to other people's. Seriously, just being alive is great! I don't have to worry about food or shelter, which is extremely great! I would be perfectly content living my entire life like this. I don't really know how long spiders live, though.

Unfortunately, as much as I would hope otherwise, it's basically guaranteed that something is going to force me out of my home. It could be some unexpected event, a change in the environment, or something awful breaking through my nest. I don't know just what it will be, but I know it's got to be coming. It's inevitable. I should make sure I'm ready.

---

Yeah, okay! I said it! I said I would get myself ready! But this is way! Too! Soon!

Before my panicked eyes, one of the entrances to my home is catching fire. I had been gradually drifting off to sleep, but suddenly I saw flames start to rise. The home I had put so much effort into building was slowly being consumed by a sea of flame. Is my much-vaunted invincible thread weak to fire?!

What started the fire, though? That's easy: a human. Standing before the flames is a human man. A man, holding a torch. A torch that almost certainly was used to set my web ablaze.

This is bad. I can't really see it through the flames, but behind that man I can make out the forms of even more people. This fire can't have been an accident. They were totally on a lookout for spiderwebs. If that's the case, then they must be on the lookout for the spider monster inside it. Me.

If I stay here, I've got only two options: be swallowed by the flames or be cornered by the humans. Either way, I wind up dead. Luckily, the flames haven't reached where I am yet, so I can leave through one of the other entrances. I don't think the humans would be able to catch up to me if I did that.

I look around my home one last time. I've spent most of my life here, since I was reincarnated. I poured my sweat and tears into building it. I discovered so many things here, both good and bad. It had kept me safe for so long! I've spent so much time in it that I might even love it even more than I did my room in my previous life.

I take off, running away from the fire, skillfully slipping through my complicated network of spiderwebs. This is it, the last web. Once I pass this, there's no turning back. Once I pass this, there's nowhere safe to run to anymore.

Even so, without hesitating, I dive under my final web. I suppress the urge to turn around and look. For now, I must get as far away from here as I can.

And thus, I was driven from my home.

---

This might be a bit of a digression, but the adventurers that chased me away didn't burn down my entire nest. The center was left largely unscathed, and in it they found the stockpile of fine silk balls I had been spinning. The adventurers retrieved it from the dungeon, and the clothes made from my silk fetched an absurdly high price. The king of a fairly major country even purchased some of it, which made the news.

I only found out about this much later, of course.

---

Chapter 016

Leaving the nest!

Trudge, trudge.

My footsteps are heavy. I ran as fast as I could until my legs gave out, but I'm still in serious shock. My precious home is gone! I thought nothing could shake me anymore, since not even becoming a spider and having to eat terrible food could disturb my iron heart, but now I feel like my soul's been ripped out.

Aahhhh, I knew the day was going to come when I would have to leave my home, and I was planning on preparing myself for it, but now that it's actually happened the shock is way worse than I had thought. I thought that I was going to have a little more time, so this is a really serious blow. I had wanted to stay put at least until I hit level 10!

Mmmngh. Mmmmmnnnghhhh. MmmmmmMMMMMMNNNNN... GAH!

Right!! The time for hesitation is over, the time for action is now. Let's shift gears.

First things first: figure out my next step. I have three options:

1. Find another place in the dungeon to build a new web
2. Wander around the dungeon like I'm doing now
3. Look for the exit

That's all I can come up with on such short notice. Option 1 is probably the best in terms of safety, but I think I'm going to rule it out.

My home was amazing, almost like a dream. All of my basic necessities were completely taken care of, and I barely had to work for it. It was a perfect paradise, wasn't it? But maybe keeping myself sitting idly in there was making me weak, both physically and emotionally.

Since my home made hunting so easy, I was slowly turning into a good-for-nothing idiot who didn't know how to deal with unexpected situations. This time, though, I'm going to be mindful of that. As I am now, if anything comes crashing through my next web, I'm just going to have to run away again.

That absolutely won't do. If all I can do is run, then I'm going to have to deal with moments of frustration and sadness like this forever. When those people burned down my home, they lit a smoldering feeling in my heart. I am not going to be the kind of person that runs away from things. Yeah, that's unforgivable.

All I could think about while my home was burning around me was how there was nothing I could do but flee. Yeah, that's right, I had always been thinking that I would run away if something dangerous came. But now, now that I've run away? I'm so full of regret and shame that I want to tear myself apart. Could I do something like this again? Absolutely not, I wouldn't be able to bear it.

What's really making my blood boil is that my home wasn't just some convenient place for me to live. It was near and dear to my heart. It might sound a little cliché, but I really felt like I belonged there.

Back on Earth, I really didn't feel like I belonged anywhere. My home was falling apart, and I never really fit in at school. Games were great, but ultimately they were just fiction. I didn't really have anywhere to belong, so I adopted a rebellious, "fuck you, who needs to belong anyway" sort of attitude.

My home was something that I made, for my own sake, without worrying about what anyone else might think. It was a place just for me.

It was taken from me, and it felt like they were plundering my very existence. If I were to surrender here, I'd never be able to be proud of myself again. Why the hell was I thinking that just being able to live was bliss? That's the philosophy of a naive idiot who grew up in a peaceful Japan. Living without pride isn't living at all! I'm going to carve this deep into my soul.

My home was stolen from me. My pride has been wounded. I will become stronger, and I will redeem myself. Secluding myself in a new home and sticking to the safe hunting methods is no longer good enough. I need to get some real combat experience.

The two options I have left are either wandering around the dungeon or searching for the exit. It's not like it's much of a choice though, those two things aren't very different. After all, I have no idea where the exit actually is, so I'd be wandering around the dungeon anyway.

First off, I know way too little about this dungeon. I may have been born and raised in here, but I don't even know its name. I don't know how big it is, don't know the difficulty level, and don't even have a vague idea of its layout. There are way too many things I don't know.

Hm? Weren't there other things I was complaining I didn't know about...? Ah! Right, right, back when I picked up Appraisal! I couldn't raise Appraisal's level any further while I was still in my home, but now that I'm outside I might be able to! If I can get its level up, it might start being a little more useful, so I'm going to start appraising everything I come across. Let's begin!

Labyrinth Wall

Labyrinth Wall

Labyrinth Ceiling

Ah, as useless as ever. Hmm, well, if I keep this up and appraise everything I come across, I should be accumulating proficiency points. Ugh, having all of this information pouring into my brain is a pretty bad feeling, though. I'm just going to have to suffer until I get used to it, huh...

Back when I appraised that huge crowd of monsters, did I get hit by this same kind of bad feeling? Hmm, I don't think so... Maybe the raw shock of seeing so many monsters overwhelmed the weird feelings that Appraisal caused. Well, whatever. For now, I'll be wandering around the dungeon and appraising everything I can see.

---

Chapter 017

Underhanded tactics in a face-to-face battle

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Appraisal (LV 2)], has been raised to level 3.”

Aha, that leveled up pretty quickly! Not very much time has passed since I started spamming Appraisal everywhere. This got way easier once I stopped being such a shut-in... Man, I’ve got some serious mixed feelings about this.

Well, regardless, it leveled! This is the best thing I could have hoped for. Now then, now then, what shall level three reveal? I immediately try to appraise myself.

Small Lesser Taratekt — LV 5 — (no name)

It’s showing my level! Yaaaay... ...hahhh. Well, a plus is a plus, but... at what point is this skill going to actually be useful?

Mmm. Really, I have no idea how strong my species is supposed to be. Compared to everything else in this dungeon, how strong is a Small Lesser Taratekt?

As soon as I finished that thought, new information popped into my brain.

Small Lesser Taratekt: A Taratekt hatchling of an inferior breed.

What... was that? Did... did I just appraise the name of my species, which I got from Appraisal? Did I just double-appraise?! Oooh. Did I just discover a really important little trick to this skill? Let’s test it, let’s test it! I activate Appraisal once again.

Taratekt: A species of spider-like monster.

It worked! This is amazing! If Appraisal spits out some new word that I don't know yet, I can appraise it! Ahaa!! Sure, the explanation is pretty short, and it's definitely not giving me all of the information, but if I keep leveling this up, it's going to be crazy good, isn't it?! Just appraising one thing will let me pull up fact after fact! Ha-HA! Mister Appraisal, I'm sorry for saying you were useless! I will put my full efforts into leveling you up!

---

Now then, once my Appraisal-driven high wore off, I eventually became aware of two fairly important problems. Specifically: I'm hungry! And tired! That's basically it. It makes sense though; I fled my home at top speed and have been wandering the dungeon ever since, so it's only natural that I could use a snack and some sleep.

It's not like I can't deal with it for a little while longer, but eventually I will need to eat something and find someplace to sleep. Both of these tasks share the same stumbling block though: other monsters. If I want to eat, I need to find a monster, kill it, and eat it. Conversely, if I want to sleep, I need to find a place where monsters can't find me. This is a real catch-22. Mmm.

Ah! There might be a solution to both of these problems: when it's time for me to go to sleep, I'll put together a much simpler home and sleep in that. That will kill two birds with one stone: I'll be able to sleep in relative safety, and if a monster blunders in and gets stuck, I'll get breakfast for free.

It's just that... a little while ago, I said that I wanted to do as much hunting for my food as I could manage. Building a simple home to sleep in is basically mandatory, but while I'm awake I really should try to find a battle. Ultimately, my temporary home shouldn't be for the purposes of hunting. It should pretty much just be a safe place to get some sleep. Ah, well, if something gets caught in my web, I'm not going to refuse to eat it, haha.

Until then, let's keep wandering around the dungeon in search of a monster!

---

Found one!

It seems that I'm destined to find nothing but frogs: at the end of the hallway I've been sneaking through, I can see yet another one of the things. It's got its back turned to me, at the moment, and it doesn't look like it's noticed me yet. Could I maybe kill it with a sneak attack?

Of course, as soon as I think that, it spots me. Tch.

Hisssssss!

I start off with intimidation.

Ptoo!

Wha-!? Hey, you, don't just suddenly shoot your acid at me! I was barely able to dodge that!

Ptoo! Ptoo! Ptoo!

Don't keep shooting!! Ahh, aaah, ooof! I can't dodge all of these! Ow! Oww! I've got some resistance now, so this doesn't hurt nearly as much as it did the first time, but this! Still! Hurtsss! You jerk, how was I supposed to know you were this aggressive when you weren't stuck in a web?!

Ptoo! Ptoo! Ptoo!

Wait, wait! Gaaah! Another one got through to me! This is bad! The way things are going, this is going to be extremely one-sided! I've got only one option: suicide rush!!

Ptoo! Ptoo! Ptoo!

Hah, as if you can hit me again with the same attack! I've seen through your moves: your limit is three shots at a time! Don't take me too lightly, frog! I possess the analytic eye of a true gamer, and was once compared to the great Kartikeya! I dodge the poison spit as I rush in, then swing my claws down at the frog!

Grr, as I expected, it manages to dodge, but as it jumps out of the way it lashes out at me with its tongue!

Splat!

OWW! The tongue strikes me with crushing force. And, of course! It's covered in acid too! Not only was this a heavy blow, I'm feeling a sizzling pain! Ohhhh, this is a serious wound. If I had a health bar, it would be flashing bright red right now. If I take one more hit like that, I'm done for.

Heh, it's not like that's going to happen, though.

I've already won.

After all, before the frog jumped away, I'd laced the surroundings with my webs.

It's quite simple, really. As I was dodging the acid spit attacks, I was trailing threads out onto the ground behind me. Usually, if I'm not careful, I wind up unconsciously dropping thread onto the ground behind me as I walk. This time, though, I made use of it. I made the silk that I was spewing out very sticky, and forced the frog to jump onto it. My claw attack was specifically aimed to force it to dodge towards my trap. I didn't expect it to counter-attack in midair, though.

The frog lands and immediately gets stuck. Mercilessly, I wrap it up tightly with more and more thread, until there was only one thing left to do.

Chomp!

I have just won (albeit by a very slim margin) my first actual fight.

---

Chapter 018

Recovering your HP at inns only happens in games

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Acid Resistance (LV 2)] has been raised to level 3.”

My skill leveled. With this, it'll be a little bit easier to take down the next frog I come across. To be quite honest, if I didn't already have resistance, I think I would have gone over my maximum HP.

That was close! My body is practically in tatters. I got hit by that frog's spit twice and his tongue once, and just like that I'm on the brink of death. That tongue attack, though. Way too dangerous. A good chunk of my abdomen was straight-up caved in by the impact, and the sheer force of it rendered a few of my legs useless.

It's not like I walked into this unprepared or anything. I already knew that a straight-up fight against another monster was going to be way less likely to work than luring them into my webs. Even still, somewhere, in a hopelessly naive corner of my heart, I had thought that I'd be able to win it anyway. I'm way too exhausted, now.

Well, I don't think I'm going to be able to get very far with my body in this state. I should build a very basic home here, and focus on letting my wounds heal.

I leave the slain frog where it is, and start to weave my webs. Ow. Just moving around causes pain to stab through my body.

“Proficiency requirements met. You have gained the skill [Pain Resistance (LV 1)].”

Oh? A new skill? Ahh, it feels like the pain is lessening just a little bit. It's still extremely painful, though. This is a pretty useful skill, though, you know? If I somehow manage to keep on living, even in this state, I'll keep getting proficiency. Small favors, huh.

Hoooof. At any rate, my basic home's done. Now I can finally rest. If I were any other kind of monster, I'd be wiped out if something happened to come along.

Ahhhh, well, I've still got my hard-won prey here to eat. Let's dig in.

I just barely scraped through my first real fight. Eh? What about that fight with my brother? I can't really call that a fight, you know. Doesn't count. Getting some real combat experience has made one thing pretty freaking obvious, though.

I'm WEEEEEEAK!

Yeah. It's not just that I as an individual am weak, but I think the entire species of Small Lesser Taratekts are weak. Well, we are an inferior breed, after all. Our attacks are weak, and our defenses fragile. Our one good quality seems to be our speed, but even that isn't good enough for me to be able to dodge all of that frog's saliva attacks. Looks like my base stats aren't even close to a low-level frog's.

I hadn't really had any problems killing enemies until now, thanks to my spiderweb traps. This straight-up fight, though, was a mess. I'm really starting to understand just how much I was using my home as a crutch.

Even so, one thing is very clear. Frontal assaults are impossible. If I have to fight head-on, everything hinges on my ability to snare my foe with my silk. My only other real option is trying to get in close and bite them with my poison fangs, but my low stats make that impossible. I'd be cut down before I could get in a single attack.

With my speed, I can dance around my foe and strike when they slip up. I could also lay traps as I dodge and bait them into it, like I did just now. These will be the foundation of my strategy. Ooh, if I have enough forewarning, I could set traps in advance and lure them in.

Now that I think about it, I'm not at all suited to go against these frogs. With all of those ranged attacks, they're like a machine gun emplacement. There's no real need for them to move, so they're not going to jump into a trap of their own accord. Ugh, it really sucks not having a long-ranged attack. I could theoretically throw my threads at them, but the range is short and, worse, it might make them more mindful of my threads. I'll just keep that one in reserve. I should really come up with a good countermeasure for long-ranged attacks before I have to face them again.

Haaagh. I've got way too many problems. I've come face to face with my weaknesses... my enormous pile of weaknesses. Well, I can't really give up here, now, can I. If I just wanted to live, I could build a new home and hide there. But that won't do at all. I've decided that I will live proudly! I'm not going to take the easy way out like that.

But, for now, I should take it easy. How long will it take for these injuries to heal? ...Rather, are they even going to heal on their own? Maaaan, I wish I actually was a game character. Then I could heal all of my injuries with one night's rest.

Regardless, time to sleep. Today was exhausting, and I need to get plenty of rest if I want to have any chance of getting better. So, with that, good night.

---

Zzzzz. Hmmm? Aaahhhhhhh, I slept well! ...I say that, but it really feels less like I slept and more like I just passed out. Ergh, everything's still sore. I guess injuries this severe aren't going to heal themselves overnight.

Yaaaaaw— OWOWOWOW! I tried to stretch as I usually do, but moving my legs sent spears of pain running through them. Uuugh, my middle two right legs have it the worst. If I'm not careful, are they going to break off? Man, I'm really starting to get worried about my prospects for recovery.

Tap, tap.

Hm? My webs are vibrating... wait. Whoa! Even this basic web managed to catch something overnight! Man, the vibrations along my web usually wake me up as soon as something gets caught, but it looks like I was out absolutely cold. Maybe it's because of how beat up I am.

Whoa, if it isn't the petrifying lizard. Looks like I've caught yet another dangerous creature. What should I do... That thing has a petrifying gaze, so even though I've got it immobilized, it can still turn me to stone if our eyes meet. With such awful injuries, wouldn't petrification be extra-awful? ...Well, it's not like I'm going to set my all-important prey free.

Blink.

Ah, shoot, it opened its eyes! Nnngh! The ends of my legs are turning to stone! Aaaagh, fine! If it's come to this, I have no choice!

Chomp!

Thanks to Petrification Resistance, the rate of petrification is slow, but losing my one good foreleg is extremely bad. If I can't stop it before that happens, walking is going to be next to impossible. Please, I beg of you, die! While my leg can still move!

Slump.

As if in response to my prayers, strength leaves the basilisk's body while my leg is only half-fossilized. Ummmmf, walking on this isn't going to be impossible, but damn, it's going to be tough.

"Experience requirements met. Small Lesser Taratekt, you have grown from level 5 to level 6."

Oh? Ohhh?! What godly timing!!

"Every ability score has been increased. Acquired bonus skill proficiencies from leveling up: your skill [Poison Fang (LV 4)] has been raised to level 5 and your skill [Petrification Resistance (LV 1)] has been raised to level 2. You have acquired additional skill points."

Okay, okay! Two skills leveled up, which is great. But that's not why I'm happy...!

The skin starts to peel off my body. I'm molting. Thanks to this miraculous level-up, I'm literally shedding my injuries away! Even the huge dent in my abdomen that I was worried about has been completely fixed! Ya-HAAA! Basilisk, thank you! Thank you! Now, time to eat!

Even if I can't just sleep at an inn to get my hit points back, leveling up is almost as good.

---

Chapter 019

If I don't get hit, there's no problem!

Ahh, it feels good to be back up to full. Oh man, I had completely forgotten that leveling up comes with a full heal attached.

Well, I don't think I'll be able to rely on levelups all the time. I just leveled, so it's probably going to be a while before I do so again. If I let myself get as injured as I just did every time I fight, it's pretty obvious that my wounds are just going to keep piling up. Hmm, if I hide away in a simple home like this every time I get wounded, maybe...

Yeah, no, that's not happening. That would just be reverting back to old habits.

...I say that, but I really need to figure out how I'm solving this problem. I just leveled up, but it's not like I suddenly got way stronger. I'm fully aware of my own weaknesses as a fighter, so I really think that I can find a way to win if I just put my mind to it. Suicidally diving straight into combat without a plan would be like diving straight into the Sanzu River<sup>1</sup>. ...Hm, now that I think about it, I died, and was reincarnated, but I don't recall crossing that river...

Well, in the end, do I have any other options? Ideally, I'd like to never take get wounded ever, but I am, alas, not afforded that luxury. Not only that, but I can't guarantee that I'm even going to win my next battle!

That frog fight was one bad move away from being extremely awful. What would I have done if the frog hadn't jumped into my web? I really don't want to think about it. It's hard enough to just barely survive a life-or-death struggle like that, let alone trying to do so without taking any damage at all. That's a hurdle I don't think I'd be able to clear.

Hmm, well, wait. That might not be a good line of thinking. Isn't getting hit extremely dangerous? I don't think my paper-thin defenses are going to be able to stand up to anything in a real fight. Yeah, this is seriously bad.

Compared to all the other monsters I've encountered so far, these frogs don't seem to even be particularly dangerous.

Yeah, I'm well aware that they are extremely dangerous to me; I fought one just now! If you just look at them, though, they don't look dangerous at all. If you ignored all of the bright "hey I'm poisonous don't eat me" markings, these things wouldn't be even the slightest bit threatening. Heck, if it didn't have the poison going for it, there's a ton of things out there that could just straight-up crush it through raw, superior strength. Yet, with one single hit from that tongue, I was brought to the brink of death.

If I ran into anything stronger, would I be able to take any of their attacks without dying at all?

No way. If I got hit by anything that strong, I'd be lucky if an injury is all I got.

What should I do? I don't have a single countermeasure. My defenses are all but useless! I should absolutely be working under the assumption that I am going to die if I get hit at all. So, shouldn't I just dodge everything that comes at me? It's so simple! Ah! Ha! Ha! Ha! Just like one of my impossible games!

In my previous life, my dodging skills in video games were straight-up godly. I only got to that point, though, because of the many, many hours of practice I put in. Let me be perfectly clear, though: I learned through failure. I died a ton before I finally figured out what I was doing wrong. I would charge in and survive as long as I could, just so that I could memorize a little more of the enemy's attack patterns. Once I had eventually gotten it down, though, then I could pull off my dodge-focused gimmick character with my eyes closed. Conversely, though: if it's an enemy I hadn't seen before, I had to start back at square one.

You really could compare the way I am now to my MMO playstyle. Just like back then, I've effectively got almost all of my stat points dumped into speed, a few into damage, and the rest left at their starting values. With paper-thin defenses and no way to deal with a threat at range, it really isn't a very practical way to build a non-gimmick character. Now, of course, I have to put up with this ridiculously disadvantageous build in real life.

First off, there's tons of ways that reality doesn't quite match up with a game. Let's take moving, for instance. In a game, all I needed to do was move my fingers a little bit to push a button, but in reality I have to move my entire body! My field of view is also way more constrained in reality than what I could see on my monitor. Most importantly, though: unlike in a game, I'm constantly terrified that a fight might end in my painful death.

Hm? It doesn't seem like I've been terrified, you say? Don't be ridicul... oh, hm, have I really not...? Hmmm? Let's, uh, let's forget about that last bit.

Yeah. In any event, this reality is very different than a game. I'm not going to be able to play the same kind of dodge gimmick character, since there's no way I'm going to be able to die over and over to make it work. Of course, I say there's no way I can make it work, but, really, I don't have any other ideas.

Ummf. Really, I have too few cards in my hand of skills. I've got Spider Silk, which is very versatile, but Poison Fang has basically just one way to use it. Appraisal... well, I continue to hold out hope that Appraisal will be useful once I get its level up! My Resistances are certainly useful, but that's mostly because my basic defenses are so weak. All that's left are the two skills I don't have any idea how to use: Corruption Magic and Taboo.

The "Magic" part of Corruption Magic brings to mind images of long-ranged spell attacks, but I have no idea how to use it. Aaaagh, I seriously need a tutorial! Seriously, if you're going to give me a skill, at least tell me how to use it! In a lot of fantasy settings, isn't just focusing on a spell enough to cast it? Man, it would be great if it were that easy. Ahhhhh... ha. Well, it's not like complaining is going to make an explanation appear.

---

I peek out from behind a crag.

Small Rock Turtle — LV 2

Yeah. It's a turtle with a rock on its back. It's certainly quite large, but I don't think it's any much larger than a Galapagos tortoise. Really, compared to the other things I've seen so far, this really doesn't make a strong impression. Oh, wait, didn't its name say "Small"? Is this a... baby?

Small Rock Turtle: The juvenile form of a Rock Turtle.

Ah, is that that the case? I see! This is a child, you say? I definitely do not want to meet its mother.

Well, then, shall we get started? It doesn't seem like my opponent's noticed me just yet... so! Let's get right in with a sneak attack!

I leap out from behind my crag and charge in at full speed. I leap onto the turtle's rocky shell, and stick it with my silk!

Nwhooa! It threw me off! My threads still managed to get attached quite firmly, though. The turtle's stuck in plac— aaaaAAAAAAAH!

The turtle snapped my threads and is charging straight at me!

Wha?! Retreat! Retreat! I jump to the side right before it hits.

Crash!!

The turtle charges forward until it hits the wall with a spectacular impact. Whoooooah. If I had gotten hit by that, I'd have gotten pancaked, right? Really, this is the first time I've seen a foe that can tear through my webs. This is bad, right?!

The turtle spins around to face me. Another charge! I dodge it! Crash! Another! I dodge! Crash!! Another!! Agh! That's enough!!

As I dodge the latest charge, I leave a thread behind to catch the turtle's leg. It trips and falls, but the momentum from its charge sends it tumbling. It lands on its back! Like this, you're going to have a hard time getting back up, aren't you, turtle? Heh, as if I would even let you try.

Chomp!

Sure, if I had gotten hit, I'd have died... but if I don't get hit, there's no problem!

---

Translator's notes for this chapter:

1. The reference here is a Japanese Buddhist one, to the mythical River of Three Crossings (Sanzu-no-kawa). It's very similar to the River Styx: it is an extremely dangerous river that the dead must cross to enter the afterlife.
-

Chapter 020

I'm a spider, I'm right behind ya~!

Beating that turtle was tough! Even after I managed to flip it over, I tried to bite it to death, but that jerk retreated into its shell! I almost got my fangs pinched off when it sucked its head in. Of course, with my pathetic strength, I had no way to yank it back out, so I had to kind of just let poison dribble from my fangs into the head hole. That certainly got its attention! It shot its head back out of its shell, thrashing wildly, and I sunk my fangs into its helpless neck.

Then, I got to see what turtle tastes like. It was the first time ever since I was reborn that I'd gotten to taste meat that wasn't poisonous! It was chewy, and didn't taste very good.

Umf. I didn't get hurt this time! I was able to dodge every single one of my opponent's attacks. Of course, that turtle just kept charging me over and over like an idiot, and it's not like it was very fast at all, so I had all the time in the world to get out of the way. It's not like I'm some grand master at evasion, I just faced an opponent that was perfect for me.

Hmmmm. Although, I kind of feel like I'm a definitely faster than I was before. I know that all of my stats go up when I level, but I really don't feel much of an effect on most of them. My speed, though, has definitely and notably increased. Compared to when I was fighting the frog, I'm way faster. Looks like us Taratekts are extremely specialized in speed! Nevertheless, fighting purely via evasion is impossible.

Yeah! My speed and my threads are my greatest weapons. With these two, there's one strategy that's exactly tailored to me: sneak attacks!

Hm? That's cowardly? Cowardice means jack shit in a life-or-death fight! Think of this like a preemptive strike. That's not cowardice at all! Well, a preemptive strike does tend to decide the course of a battle.

What? I'm not going to get any useful combat experience? This is most certainly combat! You upon your lofty throne could not possibly understand it!

Well, I say that I'm going to try sneak attacks, but there's only like a fifty-fifty chance I can actually pull it off, right? We're in a danger zone! The other monsters aren't just blithely wandering through, they're going to be on the lookout for danger. If I can actually pull off a sneak attack, I stand to gain a lot... probably. If it fails, though, then I'm going to have to make a lot of really snappy decisions based on how the situation unfolds.

The big problem is any other monsters that could rip off my threads like the turtle did. Seriously, the threads I had thought were impervious to all but flame can be torn off? My Spider Silk skill is level six. It's the highest skill I have! Tearing through my silk basically equals defeating me. I'm really glad that turtle was such a good match with the rest of my abilities. Other monsters, though. Just the thought of other silk-ripping monsters is terrible. Granted, I may have been over-relying on my threads a little bit. I'm going to keep this idea at the edge of my thoughts from now on.

---

After that, I wandered through the labyrinth for a bit, but didn't find any other monsters. I'm getting sleepy, so I'm calling it for today. Time to retire to my simple home.

---

Ah, the breaking of the dawn! ...Well, uh, I don't actually know if it's morning or not, but, uh, I'm awake now. Resuming my explorations. Seriously, though, this dungeon really is extremely huge. I've been wandering around ever since I got myself lost in this labyrinthine section, and there's no sign of escape. Whenever I hit an intersection, I always take the rightmost fork. I remember hearing that keeping your right hand on the dungeon's wall is a great way to keep yourself from getting lost. It's easier to retrace your steps if you're following a rule, anyway. Plus, I can always follow the trail of silk that I keep unconsciously leaving behind me as I walk.

I continue to steadily step through these labyrinthine corridors, but there's no sign of the exit. I keep Appraisal running in the background, but all it's saying is the usual: labyrinth wall and labyrinth floor. I don't really have any accurate way to measure my distance, but if I were to low-ball an estimate, I'd say I've walked several dozen kilometers so far. Ugh, now that I'm thinking about it, that really is seriously far! If I were still a human, walking this kind of distance would just straight-up kill me.

Ah, here comes today's first prey. Oooh, and it's a kind I've never seen before! It looks kind of like a centipede, with its many rustling legs. First off: Appraisal.

Elro Ferekt — (failed to appraise statistics)

Hm? Failed? Ahhh, the level is missing! Huh, looks like Appraisal can fail! It's my first time seeing this happen. Well, it's not like it failing gave me any less information than what I usually get, so it doesn't really matter for now.

Ah, wait, hold on, hold on. Could it maybe have failed because our levels are too different? If that's the case, this centipede would have to be way stronger than me. Hmmm? I'm not really getting that kind of feeling off of it, though... maybe level differences don't have any effect on Appraisal at all? That's all well and good, but if it's really just a case where it's hiding its true skill...?

...Man, even if I keep waffling, there isn't really any excuse. Being a woman is all about courage, right? Are we going to do this?!

Without making a noise, I quietly creep behind my foe. Slide, slide, slide. Greetings! Die!

---

My sneak attack was a complete success. It was such a complete success that it was almost an anticlimax. All of that worrying I had been doing about the centipede being crazy tough was all in my head. It wasn't able to rip apart my webs like the turtle could, so I was able to tie it up without any problems. Then I bit it with my poison fangs until it stopped moving.

You'd think you know how disgusting centipedes would taste just from looking at them, but this is seriously gross. On top of that, it's got some weird poison, so after eating it I feel kind of weird. My entire body feels kind of... stiff.

Argh! Ever since I was reborn as a spider, I haven't gotten to eat a single delicious thing! This is seriously a first-world problem, but I want tastier food.

Aaaaah, someone, anyone, even a cup noodle will do!

---

Chapter S02

The Fourth Prince

I feel warm, almost like I'm submerged in pleasant water. I drift, wrapped in this warm embrace, and feel at peace. After a while, this comes to an end, and I'm pushed through a tiny hole into the outside world. I feel uneasy about being pushed out of that warm, safe place, but once I'm out, the world seems to open up before me.

This is my oldest memory.

---

"Your Highness, please come down from there! You'll catch a cold."

As I sit at the window, gazing outside, a maid calls out to me. Just as she says, it is quite cold out there. Everything outside is covered in a thick blanket of snow. Watching the snow fall is quite a pleasant way to pass the time, but it seems like I've been sitting here for quite some time. Recently, I seem to lose track of time easily when I'm concentrating.

"Alright, there, up we go!"

The maid picks me up and sets me down on the bed. The bed is huge, almost too big for just one person, but there's already another person here: a very young baby, sleeping pleasantly and soundly. This crib seems to have been custom-made so the two of us could sleep comfortably next to each other.

By now, it should be quite obvious: I am a baby.

It may seem strange for a baby to be able to think so clearly, but I possess all of the faculties that I had in my previous life. I had been a perfectly ordinary, unassuming high school student, but something happened and before I knew it I was suddenly a baby.

It looks like this is reincarnation: the thing where a dead person is reborn as another. This, of course, means that my previous life is over. The last thing I remember was sitting in Japanese Literature. I watched a hole open up in the empty air of the classroom, and then my memories abruptly cut off.

Holes in spacetime do not generally tend to appear on Earth. That's probably what killed me. Then, for some reason, I was reincarnated with my memories from my previous life.

If you were to ask me if I had any regrets, I really couldn't say that I didn't. Far from it, really. I was still in the height of my youth. I wanted to hang out some more with my friends, and I never got the chance to try dating a girl my age. My parents, my grandparents, I died before any of them. I've left them with such a heavy burden. I get depressed whenever I think about how I'm never going to see them again.

I'm worried about what happened to everyone else at school after I died. I remember a huge explosion when that crack opened up in the air. It certainly killed me, but what about everyone else? Kyouya and Kanata... my neighbor Hasebe... did everyone die along with me? If I think about it, that's really scary. That morning, I greeted them like it was no big deal, but now I'll never be able to see them again.

---

Ever since I was reincarnated, I've been fighting my way through the uneasiness that has been gripping me. Of course I would be uneasy: I was suddenly reborn as a baby, with no knowledge of how I had gotten here. Furthermore, I wasn't reborn in Japan. I wasn't even reborn on Earth. This is another world entirely.

This took me a little while to figure out. I didn't understand anything they were saying, and I haven't been outside this nursery very much, so there's many things that it's taken me a while to learn. At first, I thought that I was in some European country. Then, however, I saw someone use magic, and it was immediately obvious that I had thought wrong.

This world has magic. The first time I saw it was when a high-ranking priest came to bestow a blessing on me. My body was wrapped in a sparkling light, and an overflowing strength welled up within me. You might think that it was a trick, or my imagination, but this was of a level that couldn't be covered by such a trivial explanation. It would be way too hard to fake what I felt then.

I was excited about the existence of magic as soon as I found out about it. Even still, after the initial excitement faded, I was back to being uneasy. Am I going to be able to make it in a world of magic? I was an extremely ordinary guy in my previous life. Back in Japan, this didn't cause me any problems, but this world might not tolerate such an ordinary person. Am I going to be able to live up to what's expected of me? I don't know, and it's making me nervous.

I desperately set to learning the local language. Not being able to understand anyone around me was even worse than I had ever imagined. I had no idea what anyone was saying. I never thought I could ever feel so helpless and alone. I felt so isolated, like I was the only person in the world.

The uneasiness from being reborn into another world, from not knowing the language, from not knowing if I'd be able to survive, all of these compounding fears weighed heavily on me. I was saved, though, by the baby girl peacefully sleeping next to me. My sister, born of a different mother. She has no worries at all, sleeping peacefully as if nothing in the world could possibly go wrong. Well, it's only natural for a baby. Babies can't do anything without help, and must rely on others to take care of them. A real baby is such a fragile existence. The only reason why I'm so worried is because of all of the memories I've brought with me from my previous life.

That's when I realized. I have all of this experience from before, so I should undoubtedly be stronger, mentally, than my sister. Yet why was she sleeping so peacefully, when I was so burdened by worry? I'm this kid's big brother, and an older brother shouldn't make his little sister worry. I need to be an awesome big brother that she can look up to.

I may have just been putting on a brave face for my sister, but I found myself worrying less and less. My troubles haven't all gone away, but now I have something to hold on to: I want to protect my helpless little sister.

I've focused on learning the language and, little by little, have come to understand what people are saying around me. I wanted to be able to move around as soon as I could, so I flailed my little baby limbs around to gain strength. Thanks to that, I learned to crawl far earlier than most babies. I kept my motivation up by remembering that I was going to be the kind of older brother that my sister was going to want to brag about.

Thus begins the story of the fourth prince of the Analeicht Kingdom, Slaine Zagan Analeicht.

---

Chapter 021

HP/MP/SP

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Appraisal (LV 3)] has been raised to level 4.”

Oh, finally! Appraisal’s level went up! The information barrage hasn’t really been making me woozy lately, so this is great timing. Now, what will you show me this time, Appraisal? > Small Lesser Taratekt — LV 6 — (no name)

Huh? There’s... no change? No, wait, underneath my species name, there’s a few horizontal colored lines. What are these...?

HP Gauge

I unintentionally Appraised the green line on top, so now it’s quite obvious what it represents. “HP” is an abstraction that show up in so many video games, after all. It stands for “hit points”, but what’s important is that it’s a representation of my physical health. When I take damage, they’re depleted, and when I run out, well, game over. This new meter has appeared in my Appraisal results!

This is a pleasant surprise! Until now, I’ve had to estimate how much damage I’d taken in my head, and didn’t really have any other good way to check. Now, I’ve got an health bar, so I can tell at a glance what my condition is like!

Right now, my health bar is just about full. It looks like it might be a little bit decreased: at the very right of the bar, there’s a short little black section. Ummmm... I really would like to figure out how to get actual numbers out of this, but even still, this is a real luxury.

Now, under my health bar are three more bars. Let’s start by checking out this blue one, immediately below my HP.

MP Gauge

Ah, that's to be expected. If there's HP, there's got to be MP. This must be showing how much magic power I have available! Of course, since I have no idea how to cast any of my magic, it's not like I really care... It probably only goes down when you cast a spell, and since I have no spells to cast, this is probably never going to drop.

The real puzzle is the identity of these last two bars. One's yellow and the other's red, and they're arranged so closely together that they almost look like one bar. I have no clue what these could possibly represent! Welp... Appraise.

SP Gauge

Hm? SP? Skill Points? Hmmm? Why would I need a bar for those? Wait, I'm jumping to conclusions again. This probably isn't for skill points. SP is an abbreviation, but I have no good ideas of what it could stand for. Well, let's go ahead and Appraise "SP".

SP: Stamina points.

Oh? Aaaah! It really isn't skill points, but a different word with the same first letter! That's way too confusing.

Hoofh. Even so, "stamina", huh. Is this the physical equivalent of my mana bar? Is it going to go down when I exercise? Hmmm? Wait, why are there two meters for it, and why is the yellow bar on top full up while the red one on bottom already has a third of it missing? What's the difference? Let's try running "stamina points" through Appraisal.

Stamina points: points that are consumed through exercise.

Ah, yep. I still don't get it. Ohh, well, if I keep an eye on it, I'll be able to figure it out eventually, right? If I can, I should try to figure out how to keep this Appraisal notification open so that I can always see my health bar. Maybe I can set Appraisal to continuously cast on myself... like... this? Ah, yeah! Not bad, if I do say so myself. Now I can always look to see how much health I have, unless I take it down voluntarily. This is seriously convenient!

Although... it really is convenient to see my own meters... but isn't seeing my enemy's HP and MP going to give me a ridiculous advantage? I can look at its health to figure out how many more hits it's got left in it, and if it's a magic user I can keep an eye on its MP so that I can figure out when it's my turn to strike. It's not like I've found any magic-specialized monsters so far, though. Regardless, being able to know even a tiny bit of the opponent's stats is a huge advantage in combat! Ah, Appraisal, how could I have doubted how god-tier OP you were? Heheheh. I saw this coming! I deliberately picked up such a useless skill because I knew it was going to grow into something wonderful. Of course I knew it was going to be useless from the start! You can't prove otherwise!

Well now, eyes forward, marching, marching. Oh! Found a monster.

Elro Ferekt — LV 3 — (failed to appraise statistics)

I would like to retract my previous statement. This is useless after all! How did I make such a serious mistake...? Ugh, I'm such an idiot for getting my hopes up.

Regardless, here's another centipede. What to do? Hmm. A sneak attack might not really work. It hasn't spotted me yet, but it's facing this way, so I'm not going to be able to get behind it.

Wait, I just had a brilliant idea!

I stealthily creep up the wall and make my way towards the ceiling. Having a spider's body sure is convenient sometimes! Oop, hanging upside down on a ceiling is actually pretty tricky. It's not that bad, though, if I brace myself well I'm in no danger of falling.

Like this, I slowly creep along the ceiling. You can do it, legs! ...Hm? Oh, my stamina bar is going down! No time for that now, though, I have a plan to concentrate on.

I arrive over the unsuspecting centipede. All right! I'm so close, yet he doesn't see me. I stick a thread to the ceiling, and slowly descend until I'm right behind him.

Then I leap! The centipede tenses up in fear, but it's far too late! I spin it around and around, rolling it up in my silk, and then I go in for the kill! Chomp! Ahahaha! How do you like my new strategy, codenamed "look out, I'm right above you"?! I'd say it's a pretty overwhelming success!

Well, once again, time to eat.

Umf. As I eat, I go back to contemplating my stamina bar. While I was clinging to the ceiling, the yellow bar was steadily decreasing. When I braced myself, the rate of change went down a little bit. Now, though, it's completely back up to full. Hm?

"Proficiency requirements met. You have gained the skill [Paralysis Resistance (LV 1)]."

Oh... oh!! Centipede, you were hiding a paralysis attack from me?! Man, if my sneak attacks hadn't worked, these fights would have been way tougher. I'm going to have to be more careful next time.

Hm? Hmmmm? Doesn't it look like the lower red part of my stamina bar is increasing? I remember it being about a third of the way empty, but it's slowly been creeping back up. It's only a quarter empty, now. Why, I wonder? Why would my stamina start increasing...?

...Oh, yeah, I ate something. Aha! That's it! I see, I see! I think I understand a little bit.

To summarize, it looks like the red bottom bar represents how much overall energy I can muster in the long term. That means the yellow one on top represents my short-term stamina?

To test it out, I took off running at full speed, causing the yellow bar to start draining very quickly. It soon ran out completely, perfectly coinciding with me exhausting my last bit of strength.

Wheeze, wheeze.

Ugh, going for a run immediately after eating, I must be some kind of idiot. My stomach really hurts. Seriously.

This clinches it, though. The yellow bar is my instantaneous energy reserves. If that runs out, I'll be left here trying to catch my breath. It seems to recover just as quickly as it's depleted, though. After I got my breathing under control, it started filling right back up.

So, the red bar on the bottom must be my overall endurance. After all that running, it went down just a little bit. Man, I don't know what would happen if my endurance meter hit zero, but it can't be good. Maybe I won't be able to move at all, and that's one of the least punishing things that come to mind. It looks like it's recovered via eating, but I'm definitely going to need to keep an eye on this.

---

Chapter 022

The Spider Silk Experiments

My explorations of this labyrinth are going fairly well. In fact, everything's going so well that I'd be laughing out loud if I had lungs. This part of the labyrinth seems to be the territory of the centipedes, so there's a lot of them here. They've been super accommodating in helping me gather XP! Their reaction times are extremely slow, so I've had no problems at all catching them with my sneak attacks. Whether it's from behind or above, my victory is almost always assured. Thanks to that, defeating them is easy!

I've killed a ton of these so far, and my level has gone all the way up to seven. Unfortunately I didn't receive any level-up bonuses to my skills, but constantly eating this paralytic meat has brought my Paralysis Resistance up to 2. This place is great! I can farm up XP, and I can even work on leveling my ever-useful Paralysis Resistance. What an excellent hunting ground.

Of course, it hasn't been 100% perfectly easy. I'm still diligently trying to gain more practical combat experience, so I've been experimenting with variations on my sneak attack.

The biggest weakness of my threads is that I can only release it from my bottom. As such, if I want to stick any silk onto my opponents, I have to point my butt at them. I have to pose propped up on my two hind legs and stick my butt way out, or otherwise face directly away from my opponent. This is, of course, is a very vulnerable position to be in, so in order to compensate I've been either attaching my silk while I'm already on top of my enemy, or I bombard them with it while I jump overhead.

Even still, those are still pretty dangerous methods. Sure, if my threads hit, then my victory is basically set in stone. However, if I miss... there's a huge chance it will seriously backfire. If I'm on top of my opponent, dodging their counterattacks is extremely difficult; likewise, if I'm soaring through the air, I'm at serious risk of being shot down like my idiot brother did back then. It's not quite what you'd call a "high-risk, high-reward" strategy.

Well, once I'd acknowledged the problem, the next step was to come up with some new strategies to keep myself safe against enemies I can't get my threads attached. The solution is this, my new weapon: the portable web! Basically, I've got a tiny little web stretched between my forelegs. It gets rid of the vulnerable-pose problem, since I can easily hit with it while charging forward. Now that I no longer need to stick my butt out in that unbelievable stance to get my opponent stuck, this is going to be way easier.

Of course, there are drawbacks. While I've got one of these webs on standby, my forelegs are otherwise useless. Yeah, I've still got six more legs, but it's still pretty inconvenient. The other problem is that I have to make these well in advance. Well, luckily for me, I'm a pro at building nets, so it wouldn't be that bad.

This is quite a magnificent low-risk, high-reward tactic!

I tried a bunch of other things, but all of them ended in failure.

I wanted to come up with a strategy to protect me against the sneak attacks of others, so I dug up my old idea of an enemy-detecting thread. The basic idea is to have a whole bunch of invisibly-fine threads floating in the air. If they were to catch on something, like, say, an enemy, I'd feel the vibration and be able to react. This is a similar idea to how I had a bunch of fine threads strung up in and around my home, but, in practice... there's a few differences between stringing something up and letting it float around.

My unattended seeker-threads had the unfortunate tendency to bump into to either themselves or the wall. Of course, this caused them to constantly vibrate, one after another, which wound up being a huge distraction. I could probably sort it out in my head if I were to concentrate hard enough, but then I wouldn't be paying attention to anything else, which is really putting the cart before the horse. For now, I have to put my plans for an enemy-seeking thread aside.

Next, I wanted to try making myself some silken armor to try to shore up my terrible defenses. The results, I have to say, were awful. It's not like I can't make any clothing, but wearing it is basically impossible. I'm a spider, you know? I don't have useable hands like I did when I was a human, and my body's got a really weird shape to it, so no matter how hard I tried I couldn't figure out how to get anything on.

How about just wrapping myself in thread, you ask? That's also no good. I can certainly get a bunch of thread wrapped around me, but unless I do it perfectly, it's probably just going to wind up getting tangled around me and restricting my movements. My speed is my greatest asset, you know? If I were to do it, I'd have to wrap myself up super carefully... which doesn't work for the same reasons that make it impossible to wear normal clothes in the first place.

Even still, if I somehow managed to get some sort of armor on, it's useless if it's not something I can take off easily. When I eat, for instance, my body tends to inflate. If I'm wearing any sort of restrictive clothing when I start swelling up like a ball, wouldn't that be extremely painful?

Things might be a little bit different if I could borrow someone's time to help me get in and out of my armor, but without human hands or even the ability to see most of my body, I'm going to have to abandon this idea.

Ummf. Now that I'm thinking about it, being a spider has its pluses and minuses. I can leap through the air and cling to the walls, but not having hands seriously puts a huge damper on my abilities. Human hands are superbly useful. I now understand this from the bottom of my heart.

Incidentally, all of this experimentation didn't get my Spider Silk skill level up at all. Yeah, as I thought, a high-level skill has much higher proficiency requirements for advancement. Well, it's not like I can really spend a bunch of time meaninglessly spewing out thread, like I was doing back in my home. Running around outside is way more dangerous than the safety of my home, so I want to make sure I'm in top form at all times. I could only really experiment as much as I did because there's plenty of food around here in the form of centipedes.

This round of experiments was fraught with failure, but quite a few valuable things. In the future, I'll keep an eye out for even more opportunities to try some new things out.

---

Chapter 023

I got carried away! I'm sorry! Forgive me!

Today, like every other day, I'm hunting centipedes. Maaan. It's Centipede Heaven, here! They look pretty gross, but they're really pretty awesome prey if you don't look at them too closely. Well, my sensibilities really aren't so delicate. I think their rusty little legs are actually kind of charming. Centipedes are the best!

My Paralysis Resistance skill is up to level three, and I'm going to hit level eight soon, right? Seriously, thank you, little buddies.

Just now, I tried to see if I could take two of them on at once, and I did remarkably well, considering. The first one I did in with a sneak attack, but the second I had a pretty tense battle with. In a straight-up fight, centipedes seem to be remarkably quick! Hah, well, not as quick as me. It looks like their attacks are largely limited to biting. Their paralytic venom would probably do me in if I were to get bitten... but, y'know, if I don't get hit, there's no problem at all. As long as I'm wary of the bite, everything else is easy. I've finally found an entire race of beings weaker than me!

It looks it's not just sneak attacks that are effective against these guys. I can hit them straight-on too! MwahahaHA! I'm so STROOOONG! I almost can't stop laughing.

They're also super-easy to eat, which is awesome. They may look huge when they're still rustling around, but the actual volume of meat inside is surprisingly small. One of them is enough to sate my appetite in the short term, but is nowhere near enough to fill me up entirely. Thus, I've been eating every scrap of every centipede I've encountered, leaving nothing behind. Waste not, want not. I'm a pretty frugal person, so I well understand that waste is the greatest of sins. These centipedes are great, though, since I can eat the entire thing and not need to worry about wasting anything.

It's really quite nice of the centipedes, to be born solely for the purpose of filling my belly! Ehehehehhh. I've been living my life super-cautiously until now, so it really can't hurt me to have some fun once in a while?

---

Humming and exploring, humming and exploring~! Well, I don't really have any way to hum for real, so I was just humming in my head. ...Vocal cords aside, do I even have a nose to begin with? Ah, well, doesn't matter.

Oh? Looks like the path forks here. Neither of them look much like a dead end though.

It's a little weird. This labyrinth is enormous, and I haven't seen a single dead end! While I've been exploring the labyrinth, I haven't hit any parts of a path where I needed to think about turning around. It's great to know that I'm not going to run out of corridor if I'm being chased by something, but thinking about how huge this dungeon must be just makes me sigh.

What if this world, this entire world, is just one big underground dungeon? I don't think that's the case, but I've certainly not been able to find an exit, much less leave and take a look at the outside myself. It really could be true.

I'm sure that the outside world exists, but even so, there's a chance that my ineptitude could wind up making me live out my entire life in this dungeon. If that's the case, I'd really like to die of old age while searching for the exit, but it's way more likely that I'll end up dying prematurely. Hm, I was just thinking about old age, but I have no idea what my natural lifespan actually is. Just based solely on size, might I live only about as long as a large dog? At the very least, I'd like to live longer than I did in my previous life.

Well, let's put these useless thoughts aside.

The path forks at the top of a huge cliff. Before me, an enormous cavern yawns. Has my journey through these maze-like tunnels finally come to an end? I wonder what's next! I really hope it's not a super-dangerous zone like the one I was born in, with all of the cannibalism and the giant spiders and the huge crowds of monsters. It doesn't matter how long my lifespan is, it's not enough to deal with all of that.

Ah, anyhow, what should I do now? I quickly glance down into the pit.

Elro Ferekt — LV 2 — (failed to appraise statistics)

Elro Ferekt — LV 2 — (failed to appraise statistics)

Elro Ferekt — LV 2 — (failed to appraise statistics)

Elro Ferekt — LV 2 — (failed to appraise statistics)

Elro Ferekt — LV 2 — (failed to appraise statistics)

Elro Ferekt — LV 2 — (failed to appraise statistics) and so on, and so on.

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Appraisal (LV 4)] has been raised to level 5.”

Grrk! My... head... HURTS! Information from Appraisal blasts into my brain like a punch to the face. Whoa, I almost passed out. That was bad, that was bad. If I overdo it with Appraisal, I'll get too much information for my brain to handle, leaving me with a monstrous headache. Well this is useful information to have, now isn't it! Fainting would have only been natural.

.....Hang on, I was too busy not passing out, what did Appraisal tell me?

I deliberately look over the edge of the cliff. Yeah, it's a cliff, but it really only looks like it's one meter deep. The cavern before me is pretty huge, but it really doesn't feel like a vast, empty space. After all, it's completely covered in centipedes.

Whaa?!

What what what what what what?!?! Centipedes! Centipedes!!!! All I see are centipeeeeeeeedes!!!! This is disgusting! This goes beyond just gross, this is straight-up disgusting.

Hmm? Centipedes, might I ask what you are looking at? Me? I can't imagine why you'd all be looking at...

I need to get out of here. I must become the wind! Quickly, from whence I came!

Rumblerrumblerrumblerrumblerrumble!!

Eeeeeeeek! They're chasing me! They're chasing me! I'm sorry! I'm sorry!! I got carried away!!! Forgive me! Seriously, please!! Forgive meee!

My yellow stamina meter is empty. Ugh, it hurts to keep going, but if I stop, I die!! I don't care if it hurts as bad as dying, I must! Keep! Going!! In place of my yellow meter, the red one starts to slowly decrease.

In the end, although it cost me about half of my red stamina bar, I escaped the army of centipedes.

Man, I seriously thought I was going to die.

---

Chapter 024

Weak.

Haaah. Centipedes are scary. Seriously, what just happened? Man, that swarming mass of violence struck fear into my heart. Ugh. I'm beat. My yellow stamina meter, which shows my short-term energy, ran out, but I kept running and running. My legs are trembling! I should really call it quits for today.

I turn around one more time, just to see if the centipede brigade has caught up to me. Good, all clear, all clear. I string up my threads, and put together another simple home. As soon as I feel like I'm safe within my webs, all of the strength leaves my body.

Ahh, well, that was pretty traumatic. They're pretty weak one-on-one, but if there's that many of them? Seriously dangerous. Plus, those things can paralyze me! If one of them managed to bite me just once, I'd fall prey to their paralytic venom. All that's left after that would be to drag my immobile body back to their nest and slowly devour me. Even just thinking about it is awful.

I really should have been asking myself why there were so many centipedes around here. I mean, not just that, but, why wasn't I wondering where the other monsters were? Centipedes are weak as hell. These guys make such good prey! Why didn't I think it was odd that there weren't any other predators feeding on these guys? Maybe they didn't want to eat centipedes because of the paralytic poison, but, seriously, this is a dungeon filled with poison-attribute monsters. That's a pretty flimsy excuse.

So, either all of the other monsters around here know to steer clear of the centipedes, or the centipedes used their numbers to sweep in and murder any intruders. My speed's at the level where I was just barely able to escape, but that might be way trickier for the other monsters. Getting bit while running away, and then getting set upon by uncountable centipedes? Way. Too. Scary. to think about.

Us weak monsters need to come up with ways to work around our weaknesses, if we want to survive. I, for instance, really suck in a straight-up fight, but I can kill things way stronger than me once I've got them trapped in my webs. It's because I'm so weak that I can't afford to slip up. I think I've learned my lesson, this time.

I've somehow been able to live pretty securely as of late, and, really, these centipedes are tasty. Thanks to all that, grinding up my level has been remarkably easy.

Oh, that reminds me! When I accidentally appraised the entire centipede brigade at once, Appraisal's level went up! Talk about a lucky strike, seriously. Well, first off, I should take a closer look at the Appraisal results that I'm constantly pulling up on myself. I didn't really have time to do that while I was being chased by that centipede swarm.

Small Lesser Taratekt — LV 7 — (no name) Statistics: Weak

Are you kidd... "Statistics: Weak"?! That's way too harsh! I mean, I know I'm weak, but still... could you maybe try being a little less blunt! Man, if Appraisal is calling me weak, then I guess that really does mean that I'm weak in the eyes of the world. Haaaaaah. I slump defeatedly.

Wait, no, wasn't I just thinking that I couldn't let myself get careless, even around weak enemies? I have my silk! Sure, I might be physically weak, but my silk is strong! Defeat isn't in my vocabulary, if I've got my silk. So, seriously, why are you calling me weak? I might be a bit biased, but I'm pretty strong if I can gain an advantage! Whether I lure them into a silken trap or sneak up on them from above, immobilizing my opponent and finishing it off with my poison fangs is painless. Yeah. I fight really dirty. It's interesting, though, to see just how quickly I go back to being weak once I'm confronted face-to-face.

Really, the problem is figuring out how to keep everyone playing on my terms. If I let my opponents set the pace of the fight, all of my advantages are worthless. Ah, well, it's not a big problem if I can manage to keep control of things every time, you know.

Well, I'm tired, I'm going to get some sleep.

---

I've woken up. I'm still weighed down by fatigue, but I've woken up nonetheless. What is this... sensation? I don't really know, but I've got a bad feeling about it.

I hurriedly get up and run over to start adding additional threads to my simple home. There, the source of my troubles is revealed.

Elro Baldarad — LV 9 — (failed to appraise statistics)

It's a colossal snake, big enough around to swallow a person whole, and at least ten meters long. By looks alone, it's strong. Plus, it's level nine. This is the first time I've seen a monster that's higher level than me. Actually, this is the first time I've seen a monster that's this high-leveled at all! The highest so far has been level four, and in one jump that number's gone up to nine.

It's obviously higher up on the food chain than I am, and its level is higher too. I've got no chance at all if it comes to a fight. I'm seriously breaking out in a cold sweat.

I'm frozen like a deer in the headlights. Er, like a spider in the headlights.<sup>1</sup> My body is rigid with fear, but I somehow make myself move. I slowly back up, putting some distance between myself and the snake.

The snake doesn't just let that happen.

Paying no heed to my webs, it thrusts itself forward! It, of course, gets stuck, but it writhes around, tearing my webs from the walls! I turn around and start running as fast as I can. I slip through the gaps in my simple home to the outside, but in an instant the snake is right behind me, tearing at the webs I just passed through.

My instincts are screaming at me to flee. I don't think I will, though. I saw it. The snake is getting tangled in my webs. It may be able to break them down, but it can't get them off of it completely. Now, it's got the remnants of the first set of webs clinging to it, in addition to being caught in my second set.

I can do this! This fight is on my terms.

I leap onto the snake as it writhes. I immediately start biting at it, while simultaneously spewing more silk from my rear. I somehow pierce through its thick scales, and hit it with my Poison Fang!

The snake starts thrashing as the poison courses through its body. Even though I've bound it with so much silk, it's able to fling itself about with a ton of force! I'm flung against the walls and the ceiling over and over, but I pull through and keep fighting with raw grit and will!

My yellow stamina meter is draining, and my green health meter goes down every time I'm flung against the wall. My red stamina meter also seems to be decreasing with every thread I release. If that runs out, I probably won't be able to release any more threads. It's only a matter of time, then, before the snake will be able to tear itself free. I have to beat it before that happens.

I keep biting and spraying threads with reckless abandon. Gradually, gradually, the snake's struggles grow weak. I've long since exhausted my yellow meter, and my red meter is down to about ten percent, but the snake finally stops moving entirely.

Just because I'm weak, doesn't mean you can take me lightly!

---

Translator's notes for this chapter:

1. More idioms! The original phrase is something like "A frog caught in a snake's glare" (蛇に睨まれた蛙), which basically just means that the speaker is frozen, paralyzed in shock. Unfortunately we don't have an idiom in English that simultaneously mentions snakes and captures the feel of a creature frozen in fear, so I had to go with "deer in the headlights" so that I could more accurately preserve the joke. ("I'm like a frog, no wait, a spider, caught in a snake's glare" would be more literal.)
-

Chapter 025

Tasty, tasty snake.

“Experience requirements met. Small Lesser Taratekt, you have grown from level 7 to level 8. Every ability score has been increased. Acquired bonus skill proficiencies from leveling up: your skill [Pain Resistance (LV 1)] has been raised to level 2. You have acquired additional skill points.”

“Experience requirements met. Small Lesser Taratekt, you have grown from level 8 to level 9. Every ability score has been increased. Acquired bonus skill proficiencies from leveling up: your skill [Poison Fang (LV 5)] has been raised to level 6 and your skill [Night Vision (LV 9)] has been raised to level 10. Your [Night Vision] skill has reached its maximum level, and a new skill, [Visible Range Expansion (LV 1)] has been unlocked. You have acquired additional skill points.”

Whoa, that’s a huge amount of growth. Looks like beating a foe much stronger than you gives a ton of experience, no matter what world you’re in. In the blink of an eye, my level went up by two.

That snake was certainly quite a formidable opponent. If it had been a full-on fight, there’s not even a sliver of a chance that I would have won. A powerful body. A hide covered in extremely tough scales. Speed that might even eclipse mine, if the few times it lunged at me were any indication. To top it all off, venom. As a snake, there is no doubt that its bite carries a powerful venom.

Even after restraining it, I think my odds were still only about 50/50. Leveling up may have fully healed all of my wounds, but I had taken a tremendous amount of damage before then. My stamina is only just barely still positive. That was seriously dangerous.

But to go with that huge risk, the return was equally huge, you know! When I was tirelessly overhunting those centipedes, I felt like I was on a nice, steady path to eventually becoming level eight. I never thought that jumping all the way up to level nine in one go was even possible!

I'm definitely excited about leveling up, but the skill increases I got were also huge! Pain Resistance going up is nice on its own, but Poison Fang went up as well! It's one of my biggest trump cards, second only to Spider Silk. As Poison Fang grows, so does my offensive capacity. Well, hm, it's definitely worth remembering that Poison Fang is basically my only offensive options, so it would be really awful to face something with a high tolerance for poison.

Next up is probably the most interesting one from this level-up: Night Vision. Yeah. Now that it was brought up, it's really not strange at all that I should have it. The light of the sun doesn't, of course, reach this deep into the dungeon. In fact, there's no light at all! Yet I can still see clearly in this inky blackness. I'm actually a little surprised that this is because of a skill, I had honestly thought that it was part of the whole spider package.

So, when Night Vision leveled up, my vision seemed to sharpen. What once was murky is now clear and bright. I can clearly and distinctly make out the scenery around me. Skills must max out at level ten. If that weren't the case, then this could level up even more, and I have no idea how my night vision could possibly get any better. Ah, well, maybe it's just Night Vision that has only ten levels.

So, when Night Vision leveled up to ten, as a bonus, I acquired the related skill "Visible Range Expansion" out of nowhere. That's great and all, but I have no idea what it could possibly do! Judging by the name, I thought that it might increase the physical range of my vision, but it really doesn't seem like that's the case. Well, I guess I'll throw this one onto the piles of skills I know nothing about but their name.

At times like these, I really wish I had the ability to appraise my skills. Unfortunately, the only valid targets for Appraisal are things that I can see, and I only know the skill names because the "Voice of Heaven" said them out loud. If it's not a thing that's in front of me, I can't appraise it. The Appraisal results, though, feel like they're being written out in my brain. I can see them with my mind's eye, which I guess counts enough.

If I can get Appraisal's level up high enough, maybe my skills will start being displayed as part of the results. Then I'd be able to appraise them directly. Well, until that time, I don't really have much choice but to set these unknown and unusable skills aside.

---

Well then, let's take this huge thing that I just barely managed to kill... and eat it! To start, I put up a new simple home so that other monsters wouldn't want to barge in on me and steal a piece. This thing is absolutely huge, so huge that I probably won't be able to eat it all in one go. I should stick around here, then, until I've finished it all up. I'll put extra care into making this simple home perfect.

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Spider Silk (LV 6)] has been raised to level 7.”

Oh, here's another good thing! The Spider Thread skill, which almost never seemed to acquire any experience, finally leveled up. What have I been doing differently? Did this happen because I was using my threads so heavily while fighting the snake? My two primary offensive skills are Poison Fang and Spider Silk, so if I keep fighting, they will of course be going up as well. Seriously, the stat points I get on level-up don't seem to have anywhere near as strong of an effect on my combat effectiveness as my skills do.

Humming to myself, I get back to eating my lunch. Before that, though, I need to peel all of these scales off. These things are seriously way too damn hard! There's no way I can eat them. I really have to do this, otherwise I won't be able to eat at all.

I got them all offffff! Ugggh, I'm beat. That was way more tedious work than I thought. The scales are very tough, and they don't peel off easily, so it took a very long time. It took off nearly a quarter of the red overall-stamina meter, even after leveling up had raised it back up to full! This was definitely heavy labor.

But now, thanks to that, I can eat as freely as I want! So, let's dig in.

Ewwh, bitter! Way too bitter! Is this the poison? If it's this bitter, then this guy must have had a ridiculously powerful venom. Man, it would have been awful if I had gotten bit!

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Poison Resistance (LV 5)] has been raised to level 6.”

Yep. The meat may be bitter, but the skill rank sure is sweet.

---

Chapter 026

Anti-shut-inification

It's been a while since I defeated the snake. There's no real way for me to measure time here in the dungeon, so I don't really know how long it's been. In the meantime, all I've really been doing is eating and sleeping. I'm still not done eating the snake, and new food keeps getting itself caught up in my webs, so I can't really leave. I started out by thinking this was a nice little vacation, but I'm starting to get a little worried. If this keeps up, I'm going to become a shut-in again!

I've accidentally amassed quite a mound of monster corpses. Seriously, yeah, a mound of bodies. ...heh, Yamada's body.<sup>1</sup> Y'know, Yamada, a dude from my class? Back in my previous life? Ah, nah, well, it's not like that matters anymore.

What's important is that this pile of meat just won't stop getting taller. I have been diligently killing every single thing that gets stuck in my webs, then onto the pile it goes. Back when I was still living in my real home, I'd eat everything as soon as I caught it. Now, though, I've got this snake to go through, and I don't want to start anything else until I'm done with that, so... yeah, I'm building up quite a pile.

There haven't been any ridiculous bodybuilders who can rip through my webs like that snake did, so for the most part killing everything has been super easy. At some point, a level six monster showed up, and it certainly was strong! ...It's in the pile now, though. Well, just because you've got a high level doesn't mean you're actually strong.

I'm level nine. Going by level alone, I'm on even footing with where that snake was. But the difference in raw battle power is straight-up overwhelming. I wouldn't even trust myself to fight some of these lower-level monsters outside of my webs!

I really think that there's some kind of species factor that weighs much more heavily into strength than level. If I fought against a foe of a superior species, I'd be at a serious disadvantage, even if we were the same level. You'd think that the difference in level would be a good indicator of relative strength, but it really looks like it only works like that when it's two members of the same species. To give a really extreme example, imagine if that enormous spider from back then was only level one. There's absolutely no way I could win that fight. No matter how hard I tried, a fight against something that huge would end in a flash. I really should be thinking of the difference in level as more of a suggestion.

Now that I think about it, though, when I was fighting that snake, it might have even had a level advantage! Through sheer chance, I only encountered it after I'd put together this simple home to rest in, which is basically the only reason I was able to win. If I were to have come across it unprepared, that would have been it.

So far, three quarters of this snake have vanished into my belly. Man, should I be thinking that I got through three quarters of that enormous thing, or that I still have one more quarter to go? Hm, with the flow of monsters steadily accumulating on top of my pile, I should probably think of it as still having a quarter left.

With this much stored up, there's a serious risk that this stuff is going to start rotting before I can get to it. I mean, I have Decay Resistance, so eating spoiled food might not be the worst thing I could do to my stomach. Even better, if it's just a little bit rotten, I might be able to grind up Decay Resistance's level while I eat! The taste? Man, I've been forcing myself to choke down all this disgustingly bitter poisonous food, I'm sure I can handle a little bit of rot.

Umf. Really, I can't leave until I've gone through all of this food. I think that, if I can somehow finally finish off the rest of this snake, I'll be able to get through the rest of my stores faster than they can accumulate. Assuming, of course, that another huge monster doesn't show up before then. Seriously, if I don't finish this up soon, I'm going to revert back into a crazy shut-in. I may have designed this home as a temporary one, but I've been stuck here long enough that it's been getting built-up almost as my previous full-scale home.

Hm? Wait, you say? Why would I strengthen my home when all that's going to do is make it catch more monsters, you ask? Hmmmmm?

Nah. Any monster who dares lay eyes upon this fortress will almost certainly flee. My previous home had been designed to lure and catch prey, so my webs had been built out of extremely fine silk, almost impossible to see. This home, though, is built out of thick, tough threads.

Oh, what a coincidence, my webs are vibrating again. Seems like yet another thing has blundered into them. Oof. My food supplies are still increasing, aren't they. I really didn't think gluttony would be so troublesome.

To start with, I walk over to where my prey have been ensnared. It sure seems to be struggling a ton; have I caught another huge monster? If that's the case then there's no way I'm going to be finishing up my food stores anytime soon, which will lead me even further down the path of the shut-in. I was really hoping for a small one! Ugh, too much food. First world problems.

Elro Randanel — LV 3 — (failed to appraise statistics)

Elro Randanel — LV 3 — (failed to appraise statistics)

Elro Randanel — LV 4 — (failed to appraise statistics)

I caught three things this time, in one go. Ahhhhh, are these the same three that I dealt with back at my original home? Don't tell me these all come as a set. Getting three things at the same time is definitely way more than one big thing. ...In terms of meat, that is.

I tie them all up more securely, pull them out of my web, then wrap all three of them together. This kind of releasable web is a new technique I came up with over the last few days. It's super convenient, I don't have to painstakingly cut through each thread to get things out.

I fix up the hole real quick, then make my way back inside while dragging my bundle. Ugh, this is seriously heavy, dragging all three of them. It would have been a huge pain, but I really should have carried these things in one by one.

HrrrrRRRAGH! Whew, that was heavy to the point where I'm seriously hurting. Did I strain something? My HP certainly went down. Damn it. I'm going to take it out on these jerks! Sure, this might be extremely unfair, but they're in no position to complain!

So, then, chomp! Chomp! Chomp!

“Experience requirements met. Small Lesser Taratekt, you have grown from level 9 to level 10. Every ability score has been increased. Acquired bonus skill proficiencies from leveling up. You have acquired additional skill points.”

“Level requirement met. Small Lesser Taratekt, you are eligible for evolution.”

Uh, what?

---

Translator's Notes for this chapter:

1. There is an extremely stupid language-locked pun here that I struggled for literally half an hour coming up with a translation to. More literally, it's “The prey that I've killed these past few days are stacked high as a mountain. A mountain... yes, a mountain. (‘yama... sou, yama da.’) It's not Yamada, though.” I have done my very best to localize it, at the cost of somewhat altering the meaning. Please enjoy the bloody, mangled corpse of what was already a stupid pun.
-

Chapter 027

I'm evolving!!!

As I leveled up, I was informed of something completely unexpected. "Evolution", was it? Is that... what I think it is...? Like in that one game, where you catch and raise, uh, pocket monsters, right?

"You have a choice in evolutionary forms. Please choose between [Lesser Taratekt] and [Small Taratekt]."

Oh... oh! Ummm, hang on, one sec. Uno momento, por favor.

Okay, let's think this through. This kind of thing is a huge turning point in a person's life. I'm not a person, though, I'm a spider. There's no way I'm going to just pick one randomly.

I'm going to evolve. Well, that's okay. This world's basically a game, right? It's totally not unthinkable for video game evolution to be a thing here. Man, once we start digging, there's no end to the similarities, is there.

Well, when you say "evolution", it really makes me think of a powerup. I'm given the option to evolve, but I really don't have a choice, right? Right. Although... I do remember that there were some games where not evolving was advantageous sometimes. Eh, but those were seriously in the minority of games, so I think evolving is a pretty safe choice.

The problem is, there are two different forms that I have to choose between. "Lesser Taratekt" and "Small Taratekt". Going by the names alone, there's really not that much difference. I'm getting rid of either "Lesser" or "Small" from my species. Aaaaargh, why can't I use Appraisal on what the "Voice of Heaven" says?! I'd be able to find out these differences immediately!

Hmmmmmm. Well, let's just take a stab at it. A Lesser Taratekt is... probably the adult form of my current species, since I'm just dropping "small" from the name. A Small Taratekt, though, is dropping "lesser". Does that mean that I'd no longer be an "inferior breed" of Taratekt? I'd still be small, though, so I'd still be just a hatchling.

If I'm thinking along the right lines here, and I think I am, my choice is obvious.

It's gotta be Small Taratekt.

I really don't think staying as an "inferior breed" is a good idea. Think about it. If I pick Small Taratekt, I'm guaranteed to have at least one more evolution, from Small Taratekt to a regular Taratekt. I don't know what exactly will change when I evolve, but I know that it's going to be a good power boost, so I should really pick the option that seems like it will give me the most options down the road. Sure, you might want to think that a Lesser Taratekt might also have evolution options, but there's no way I'm going to make such an important decision off of such an unfounded hope.

On top of that, if I become a Lesser Taratekt, I'm probably going to grow larger. This is, quite frankly, terrifying. Adults are, of course, bigger than children, but usually a creature gets bigger gradually. In this ridiculous fantasy world, though, growing up via evolution may work in a "POOF! You're big now!!" kind of fashion. And, really, since I can't guarantee that isn't actually the case, I really, really shouldn't pick that option. I don't think I'd get quite as large as that enormous spider from earlier, but there's a definite possibility that I'd grow too big to fit through these tunnels.

I remember seeing a huge monster, a Finjagoat, a while ago. It was so big that it had trouble fitting down these passageways, even if they're three meters wide. Trying to move around while being that large would seriously suck. Finjagoats probably normally live in a much more spacious part of the cave so, I'd bet that one had gotten lost and wound up in these smaller tunnels.

Since getting big would make it hard for me to move, I'd really rather remain the size I'm at now. So, that's another point in the Small Taratekt's favor.

Right. I've decided. I shall evolve... into a Small Taratekt!!

"Small Lesser Taratekt, you are now evolving into a Small Taratekt."

Ah, yep. This started really quickly. The Voice of Heaven(???) blasted its way into my head as unceremoniously as usual, even though this is such a momentous occasion! Please, be a little more respectful! I'm trying very hard to ev...o...l.....v.....e.....

---

“Evolution has completed. You have become a Small Taratekt. Every ability score has been increased. Acquired bonus skill proficiencies from evolving: your skill [Taboo (LV 1)] has been raised to level 2, your skill [Corruption Magic (LV 1)] has been raised to level 2, your skill [Decay Resistance (LV 1)] has been raised to level 2, and your skill [Kartikeya (LV 1)] has been increased to level 2. You have acquired additional skill points.”

Whoa!? Eh? Heh? Did... did I fall asleep?! Wait, no, that really felt more like my consciousness was shattered apart, with how quickly it faded. Did evolving cause this? Hey! Voice of Heaven!! It would have been just a tiny little bit nice to know that evolution causes sudden unconsciousness!!

Hmm? Wait, am I done evolving? I can't really see any differences, physically... ah! Appraisal got turned off. Let me turn it back on real quick, so that I can confirm things for myself...

Small Taratekt — LV 1 — (no name) Statistics: Weak

Oh! Ohhh... ohh? Hmmmmmm? The species name changed! Does that mean evolution was successful? ...Level one, though? Like, does evolving decrease my level? ...Oh no, does it reduce my stats as well?! I have no way to compare! Appraisal still only says I'm weak! ...Ugh, it still only says I'm weak...

Ah, but, now that I'm looking, I can see that my red general-stamina meter has somehow completely emptied itself. Plus, the sluggishness I was feeling from overeating is gone. ...I'm really hungry now. Did evolving seriously burn through all of the food that I had eaten? Well, uh, it's a good thing that I'd been stockpiling so much.

You know, I'm actually really glad this evolution happened safely, because it's risky as hell. I lose consciousness and wake up starving. Next time this happens, I'm going to need to make sure I'm well-prepared.

---

Chapter 028

Eating, eating, eating.

In order to restore the stamina that nearly ran out while I was evolving, I've been doing nothing but eating. First to go was the rest of the snake. All of that meat that I was having so much trouble eating before now rests within my belly.

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Poison Resistance (LV 6)] has been raised to level 7.”

Just as I finished eating the snake, Poison Resistance's level went up. I got two skill levels out of that thing. Tasty, tasty!

Man, before I evolved, eating this much would have caused my stomach to swell up like a balloon. It's not really doing that anymore, though... where is it going, some kind of pocket dimension? It's like whatever I'm eating is disappearing. While my food stocks are diminishing, though, my red stamina meter is steadily refilling. Hmmmm. I've seen a ton of really strange phenomena since I came to this world, but I think my stomach is the strangest of them all. What the heck is up with this thing?

Well, I shouldn't put too much effort into thinking about this. “It's just that kind of world” is a good enough explanation. I'll leave explaining the rest of these phenomena to the academics.

Anyhow, even after finishing off that snake, my stomach isn't even swelling a little bit, and if it's not swollen, there's no way it's full yet. Plus, my red stamina meter isn't full yet.

Luckily, I've got this huge mound of monster corpses stacked up in my home, stacked tall enough that, before I evolved, I had no idea how I could possibly get through all of it. I should be able to get even this enormous pile inside my new pocket-dimension belly, hmm...

Well, let's dig in. I eat, and eat, and eat, I do nothing but eating. Umf, in my past life I had such a tiny appetite, but I've become a pretty serious gourmand! I could dominate the competitive eating scene like this.

Ahh, maaan, what is up with my stomach?! I have clearly shoved more food down my throat than the entire volume of my body, yet I can still eat more! It totally, seriously looks like my stomach is connected to a pocket dimension. I know I just said that I was going to leave the thinking to the academics but seriously this is my own body! I have a right to be curious! No matter how curious I am, though, it's not like I can get an answer, so maybe I'm just being impatient... Stop! No thinking! Without thinking about anything, eat in stoic silence!

I eat, and eat, and eat, and... oh? I'm out. ...Whuh? Did I seriously eat all of that food? ...I did. Nothing's left. Seriouslyyy? I'm not even full yet! My stamina meter's not full yet either. Even after all of this food, I'm still not full? Maaan.

Please don't tell me it's going to be like this forever. Please tell me I'm only extra-hungry because I used up all of my energy evolving! I'm going to starve to death otherwise, there's no way I can find that much food. That would suck. That would reeeeeeally suck. Seriously, you know, that's... impossible, right? Seriously, it's impossible, right? If it's true then I just stepped on a really big evolutionary land mine.

Ahh! Now that I'm thinking about it, evolution really is a land mine, isn't it? I passed out, lost all of my energy, and was left defenseless for who knows how long. I was okay because I was in my home, but how do other monsters manage it? Man, I got really, really lucky with this one.

Even though I managed to get through evolving in one piece, running out of energy is a serious problem! Anything that didn't have piles of food stored up like I did would have to drag themselves around, with no energy, hoping to find prey. They'd totally be at a huge disadvantage in a fight, right? Maaaaan, I got lucky. Is this the bonus I get for being the main character, or was it just coincidence? Eh, well, it's not like they'd ever make a spider the protagonist, anyway. My life has been sufficiently awful so far that I can't really say I've been lucky overall.

There's a definite chance that this is going to happen again when I hit level ten, so I need to make sure that I'm prepared for it, starting from when I hit level nine. I happened to stumble on the perfect combination of circumstances for a flawless evolution, but if I'm not set up for it next time, then there's no chance it's going to go anywhere near as smoothly as this. Ahh, seriously, bringing down that snake was the best thing that could have happened! If I hadn't been forced to sit still and eat through its corpse, I wouldn't have made a home, and wouldn't have accidentally stockpiled all of this food. Sir Snake, I thank you, from the bottom of my heart!

Now then! While I've certainly recovered a bit, my belly is still not full. And, since I've cleaned out my larder, there's no need for me to stick around here any more. Let's anti-shut-in-ify! And so, as I set off on my aimless journey, I bid farewell to the home that has taken care of me.

Thank you, my second home! Though I may have arrived thinking that my stay would be brief, you kept me safe for as long as I needed to stay. Farewell!

I depart triumphantly. My first order of business is to fill up my stomach, which means finding prey to hunt. Once that's done... I guess I'm going back to wandering the dungeon, looking for the exit if I can.

My next evolution is probably going to require me to get bigger. My size didn't change as a result of this evolution, so the possibility is still out there that evolving will make me get way bigger all at once. I'm a little bit uneasy with how small these passages are, then. I'd really like to try to find someplace bigger, if at all possible. Really, my best option is to go outside. Worst case scenario is that I get really big while in the dungeon, only to find that the only exit is really tiny, making it impossible to leave. Yeahhhh, and I don't think I could take it if I had to live out the rest of my life here...

Yeah. Well, for now, let's find something to eat. We'll worry about what comes next once we get there.

---

Chapter 029

I evolved, but nothing's changed.

I found my first target.

Elro Ferekt — LV 5 — (failed to appraise statistics)

Another one of these frogs that I've kept running into. Its level's way higher than the other ones, though.

Hmmmm. I have no idea how my stats changed after evolving, and I'm kinda wanting to test them out. I'm betting that evolving made them stronger, though.

Though... my level did get set back down to one. Until now, whenever it went up, my stats were increased. If they got dropped back down when my level got reset, that would be seriously dangerous. Well, I don't quite think that's the case, but there are definitely games with leveling systems like that, where you get weak immediately after you evolve but then get way stronger after you recover from that. Kind of like a "New Game +" sort of thing, but if that were to happen in reality the results might be disastrous.

Yeah. I'm probably worrying about nothing, but, still, let's proceed with caution. Since I'm still a little bit concerned, I'm not going to charge in and do anything reckless. My life is on the line, after all, and discretion is the better part of valor.

I stealthily creep up the wall, take my position on the ceiling, and start to creep forward, upside-down. When I arrive just above the frog, I string one line between me and the ceiling, then use a separate thread to weave a mini-web around my forelegs. Preparations complete! I get ready to lower myself down.

Three... two... one... GO!!

I plunge from above, mini-web stretched out before me. Before the frog can even flinch, it's been wrapped in my web, and I cling to its back as I continue to spray more silk. When it's tied too tightly to struggle, I bite at it through my webs! CHOMP!

Hmm! Not bad, if I do say so myself. Perhaps I should start calling myself Assassin? Ehehehe. Who could possibly win against my silk and my fangs?!

Ahh, well, first off, I've got a frog to eat.

Hmm, but seriously, though. I evolved, but I'm still doing basically the same things. I originally set out with the goal of gaining some more practical combat experience, but lately I think I've not really been keeping up with that. The monsters here are way stronger than me, you know? If it's a straight up fight, my life will be on the line, you know? I'm seriously not finding any monsters of a suitable level for me to practice against. I'm getting really good at my sneak attack assassination combo, though, but I'm not always guaranteed a sneak attack. If I've built a nest, then there's no way I'll have the element of surprise against anything that tries to break through it! And wasn't the entire reason why I set out on this quest to get strong enough to defend my home?

No, no! I've evolved! My level's gone up! Even my base stats have gone up, and that alone is huge! My actions until now have not at all been for naught! Think of it like that!

Hooooohf. I nearly wrote off all of my progress as meaningless. That's bad, that's bad.

Ummmf. Still, out here in reality, relying one hundred percent on sneak attacks is actually really dangerous. When I lost my home, that was because I was relying too heavily on the power of my webs. What I need is to come up with a new weapon, any weapon! ...Hah, if I could just come up with one that easily though, life would be great...

Just off the top of my head what about my currently-unusable Corruption Magic? If I could figure out how to use this thing, a whole new world of tactics would open up to me. Of course, I don't have the manual. Grr.

If I was a human, I'd be able to learn how to use this from another human, right? Ah well, even if I wonder about that it's not like it's going to make a difference. Being forced to do everything myself is both kind of nice and a huge pain. It's nice because I don't have to subject myself to the rest of humanity, but having to tackle every problem on my own is a ton of effort! Either way, it's not like I could get any information out of humans. I can't talk.

Hmm, I could do it if I was telepathic, couldn't I? Oh, right, haven't I been earning more skill points? If I've been getting ten points per level, by the time I hit level ten I should have saved up a hundred. It cost me a hundred points to learn Appraisal, so I should be able to pick up a new skill with what I've got now.

Hey, Ms. "Voice of Heaven"! What do you think, can I get it?

"You currently possess 200 skill points. The skill [Telepathy (LV 1)] can be acquired for 100 skill points. Would you like to acquire it now?"

Ohhhh! I can!

Hmmmm. Is telepathy even useful to me at the moment, though, with nobody around? Nah, bzzt, rejected.

Although, I have two hundred points! Maybe I've been gaining twenty points per level. Ah! That means that by the time I've hit level six, I'll be able to afford another skill! I bought Appraisal right when I started, and although it was pretty useless when I got it, I've been able to slowly grind it up into something useful. I still think I might have done something wasteful.

Hmm? Ah, wait, wait. Let's think back a little harder. Didn't I try, back when I was level six, to buy another skill, and... fail, because I didn't have enough skill points, right? Hmmmm?

Well, it could be that skill points are increased both by leveling up and evolving. I have no real way to determine what it really is, though! Let's put aside the problem of skill point increases for now.

---

Chapter 030

Let's pick up a new skill!

Well then, I've got a bunch of skill points, so I'd really like to pick up a new skill. I can't really do so carelessly, though. I picked up Appraisal on a whim and basically immediately regretted it.

While I've got my safety secured, let's spend some time thinking about this. I throw together a temporary home, ignoring the bones of the frog that I've finished eating. Man, I'm getting pretty good at putting basic homes like these together.

All right. Time to focus.

What skills shouldn't I take? Corruption Magic has taught me that I should, well, just straight-up avoid anything that has to do with magic. I have no idea how to actually use it! Really, I should steer clear of any skills that I can't figure out how to use from the name alone.

I should also really avoid buying any skills that I might earn myself. From what I've seen so far, each skill has some sort of skill proficiency associated with it. When I've accumulated enough proficiency in the skill, the level of the skill goes up. Even if I don't have a single level in the skill, though, it looks like proficiency still accumulates, and when I finally get enough proficiency, I get the skill. Granted, the only skills I've acquired this way were resistances, so maybe that sort of thing is unique to resistance skills. Still, if there's a chance that I might be able to learn it by myself, I shouldn't be spending any skill points on it.

When I look at it that way, maybe spending skill points on Appraisal wasn't actually a terrible idea. How could I have possibly worked to acquire Appraisal if I were starting from scratch? It's also ridiculously fortunate that I figured out how to use Appraisal immediately, unlike magic. Man, I've been complaining about how worthless and unusable this skill is, but this might be one of the rare few skills that are actually usable out of the box.

Okay, so, if I pick a skill, it not only has to be a skill that I can figure out how to use, but also needs to be one that I wouldn't pick up on my own. That's actually a pretty harsh restriction, you know! Seriously, all I have to go on is a skill's name, with no clue about what it actually does, which is, quite frankly, terrifying. On top of that, I have to keep checking with the, uh, "Voice of Heaven" to see if there's even a skill that matches the name I'm looking for.

From what I've seen so far, if I want to spend skill points to acquire a skill, I need to tell the "Voice of Heaven" that I'd like to purchase it. If I ask her about a skill that exists, she responds; if it doesn't exist, though, she remains silent. So, in order to find out what skills exist, I've been constantly spamming the "Voice of Heaven" with requests.

Since I've been sending enquiries whenever I've got any downtime, I've started to put together a list of skills that I might want to pick up. Of those skills, there's five that meet my criteria: Poison Claw, Thread Manipulation, Automatic HP Recovery, SP Cost Reduction, and Detection.

Poison Claw and Thread Manipulation are skills that will, hopefully, make me stronger. Poison Claw is, well, Poison Fang, but in claw form, and Thread Manipulation is a support skill to help me use my threads more effectively. There's a couple of problems, though: if I pick up Poison Claw, it's probably going to be way weaker than Poison Fang at the beginning, and I'm not one hundred percent certain that I'll be able to figure out how to use Thread Manipulation.

Automatic HP Recovery and SP Cost Reduction are totally background support skills. If they work just like their names imply, they're going to be extremely handy to have around.

Last but not least is the riskiest choice: Detection. In this dungeon, I have a serious need for a way to detect surprise attacks. I think Detection is the right skill for the job, but I'm not really sure what its effect will be... or, again, how to even use it. If I pick this skill, it's a serious gamble.

I've found plenty of other skills, but this is the lineup that I'm really interested in. My life is on the line here, so I can't really afford to be too sentimental here. There's definitely other skills that I wanted, but didn't have enough skill points to obtain. Like, you know, Immortality. I'm probably off by an entire order of magnitude, on that one.

Hmmmm. I'm torn. I mean, with these skills, I'm not really working to come up with any new strategies, I'm just figuring out how to strengthen my existing ones. Well, this is really what I'm reduced to if I'm trying to avoid picking up any more awful skills. For now, I guess I should pull HP Recovery from the list. If my HP hits zero, I'm probably going to die, right? If I'm an assassin, I should be avoiding any sort of situation where my HP could go down to begin with.

Four more to pick from, hmm... what should I dooooo? I mean, there's SP Cost Reduction, which doesn't really have any downsides I can think of. It's my safest choice. Picking up Poison Claw would probably let me broaden my combat tactics, but getting its level up to a usable point is going to be super slow! If I can figure out how to use Thread Manipulation, it'll be a serious boost to my combat ability... but, of course, if I can't figure it out, then it's yet another useless skill I'm hobbled with. Detection, as I mentioned earlier, is a gamble.

Mmmmmmm.

Umf. Alright, I've decided.

“You currently possess 200 skill points. The skill [Thread Manipulation (LV 1)] can be acquired for 100 skill points. Would you like to acquire it now?”

Yes.

“You have acquired the skill [Thread Manipulation (LV 1)]. You have 100 skill points remaining. The skill [Detection (LV 1)] can be acquired for 100 skill points. Would you like to acquire it now?”

Yes!

“You have acquired the skill [Detection (LV 1)]. You have 0 skill points remaining.”

I've picked up Thread Manipulation and Detection. I know I was just saying things about putting my life on the line, but I've seriously just picked up the two biggest gambles from my list. Ahahaaaa... I'm really not cut out for gambling.

Well, it's not like there's any going back now. I've picked up these two skills, and if I can't use them, I'll cry.

...I don't know if spiders can cry, though.

---

Chapter S03

Fantasy

Spread across my lap is a picture book. In it are amazingly realistic pictures of strange and fantastic creatures, the likes of which were never seen on Earth. It seems that, in this world, monsters are real.

“This is a goblin! Goblins are monsters that have green skin, and they’re about as large as a human child. They look kind of like a human, but they’re not very smart at all. They don’t have very many skills, and their stats are very low. You shouldn’t take them lightly, though! When it levels up and learns a few skills, one can pick up a weapon and be quite dangerous if you don’t expect it.”

Anna, my nanny, is sitting next to me, describing the monsters in the book out loud for me. Anna looks like she’s in her twenties, but in reality she’s nearly twice that age. Apparently, she used to be a magician who fought against the monsters, and now she’s explaining to me the things that the picture book leaves out.

On my other side, my little sister Sue is imitating me by staring at the book. Recently, she’s taken to copying me a lot. Unlike me, though, she can’t yet speak very well, and I don’t think she can understand Anna’s words very well. I’m paying very close attention to what Anna is saying, though. One of us should, at least.

I pat my adorable sister on the head, ruffling her light-blue hair. It feels smooth to the touch. Sue looks quite pleased, and lets out a happy giggle.

Anna and Clevea, our other servant who’s standing by the door, look at us smilingly. I used to think that the attention was a little bit embarrassing, but I’m pretty used to it by now.

“My prince, you and the princess seem quite close,” says Anna. “Yeh!” exclaims Sue. “Yes!” I say, almost simultaneously. Anna’s smile grows broader. It looks like I’m getting pretty good at playing the part of an adorable toddler.

I go back to looking at the picture book. Anna doesn’t know it yet, but I’ve already learned to read this country’s language, so I’ve been reading the descriptions of each monster while pretending to enjoy looking at the pictures. This really is a picture book, though, so the illustrations fill each page with only a small amount of space left over for a short description. I’m glad that Anna is explaining things more clearly.

The more I listen to Anna talk, though, the more I realize how fucking crazy this world is. These people are seriously talking, with a straight face, about skills, stats, and levels. These are video game terms!

This world seems to be very much like a game. Well, I’m living in it, so I don’t really think of it as a game itself, but that doesn’t change the fact that it’s full of all of these game-like systems.

Skills seem to be pre-defined abilities, drawn out of your soul once you’ve had enough practice. Stats are discrete measures of our raw abilities. Levels seem to be a numerical representation of the power you amass as you go through life.

This was all explained to me, but from a gamer’s perspective, these are some extremely flimsy explanations. Everyone seems to take them at face value, not even bothering to ask why things are this way. I’m really not comfortable with this, but I don’t have much of a choice but to play along.

I turn the page on my book, revealing a picture of an enormous wolf. To show how large it is, there’s a person lying at its feet. I thought for a moment that the scale had been exaggerated, but Anna’s explanation proved otherwise.

“This is called a Fenrir. It’s a Mythic-ranked monster, said to be as large as a mountain and capable of destroying a fortress with one bite. I’m lucky to have never seen one myself.”

This certainly seems to be true. This giant wolf is far too big to be called a monster, though. It’s a kaiju<sup>1</sup>. How can the world be this unbelievable, allowing such an enormous creature to exist? How does it keep up its enormous bulk?

“Umm, how does this stand up?” I ask. Anna stares at me blankly. Perhaps I need to clarify. “It’s so big, isn’t it heavy?”

Comprehension flashes across Anna’s face. “Ah,” she says, “it might be better for me to show you than to tell you. Clevea?”

Clevea comes closer. Like Anna, Clevea used to serve this country as a knight, and is now working as both a nanny and a bodyguard. Unlike Anna the magician, whose frame is very slender, Clevea has a powerful, almost masculine body that she built through years of training.

Anna and Clevea quietly discuss something, then take up positions a few paces from each other. Clevea extends an open hand out towards Anna.

“Here it comes. Fireball,” chants Anna, casting a spell at Clevea.

Fireball is a low rank fire spell that, exactly as its name implies, creates a small ball of fire and launches it at your opponent. The flaming sphere, which was cast with low power, streaks forward and hits Clevea in her outstretched hand. Sue stiffens in surprise. I was a little surprised as well, suddenly seeing magic for the first time.

Anna and Clevea exchange smirks over our reaction, like they’d just pulled off a successful prank. I feel a little offended.

“Your hand... hurt?” asks Sue, looking at Clevea’s hand.

“Only a little bit, Princess. It was very hot for a moment, but it’s fine now!” says Clevea, in a powerful voice that’s unusually deep for a woman. “As you have just seen, if your stats are high, you can become quite strong. That’s how such large monsters can move without being crushed by their own weight.”

I’m curious, so I reach out to feel the palm of Clevea’s hand. Her hands are tough and calloused, as expected of someone who fights with a sword. But it’s still ordinary skin. It’s nowhere near tough enough to be able to take a fireball head-on without even getting singed.

“My prince, when you raise your defensive attributes, your skin does not necessarily become tough,” says Clevea. “Really?” I ask. “Yes, my prince. High defense does not make your body physically tougher, it makes you harder to injure. While I’m nowhere near this powerful myself, I’ve heard that the Heroes of previous generations could withstand direct sword blows without taking a scratch,” says Clevea, answering my question politely.

However, to become hard to hurt like that, wouldn’t the intercellular binding forces have to be somehow increased? Well, in this fantastical world, trying to reconcile things I see with my knowledge from Earth is a waste of my time. For now, I’ll set aside these troubled thoughts.

---

Translator’s notes for this chapter:

1. I’m leaving this as “kaiju” because I feel like the word (meaning giant monster, like Godzilla) has been sufficiently exposed to Western audiences through pop culture, like Pacific Rim, and Shun does not strike me as the kind of guy who would namedrop Godzilla. If there’s a better English word that I’m blanking on, please let me know in the comments!
-

Chapter 031

I've picked up new... skills.....

Hoooof. Right! Let's test out these new skills.

First up is Thread Manipulation. Based on its name, it should be a skill that makes my spider silk much more useful. My already-unstoppable webs are going to become even more powerful! This is the best. Let's start by spinning some silk.

The next step is the problem. If I can't figure out how to actually manipulate my threads, picking up this skill was pretty worthless. I'm really, really hoping that this isn't the same thing as what happened with Appraisal.

Move... moooooove...! Wait, my threads feel a little funny. ...Hm? What the heck? There's a weird feeling that's kind of hard to put into words... almost like there's something... in... my threads? It almost feels like there's nerves in my threads, like they're... alive? I focus on whatever is in my threads, and will it to move.

Wiggle, wiggle, wiggle.

With a wiggly sound that I'm pretty sure is all in my head, my threads start to sluggishly move a little.

Yep! I made it move. I don't really have the kind of control I need to use it in combat, though...

Ugghhhhh, okay, fine! I knew this was going to happen! I was aware of this possibility! I'm happy I got it to move at all! I had no hopes, no expectations for anything better!

Haaaaah. Hm? My mana went down a bit? I've never seen that happen before, is this from using Thread Manipulation? Ahhhh, Thread Manipulation consumes mana, hmm... Well, I haven't been using mana at all until now so this is fine. I should work on leveling this when I can, since I'll have mana to spare. I'm choosing to believe that this is going to be useful in the long-term.

I take a moment to compose myself, and turn to the next thing: Detection. Okay! I have zero expectations. This was an even bigger gamble than Thread Manipulation was. I have no idea if I can even use it! To be perfectly honest, I don't even know if it has the enemy-detecting functionality that I'm hoping for. I can't even rule out the possibility that you're a completely unrelated skill, Detection! On top of that, it's level one, so I should be prepared for something as worthless as Thread Manipulation or even how Appraisal was when I first got it. If I can figure out what it does and how to use it, that's already cause for celebration.

Well, let's try it like I do with Appraisal: clear my mind, concentrate, and think, "Detect." Ah! I'd kind of had a sort of image in my head that it would be like meditating, and it looks like I was pretty close: through senses that were previously dark, I can suddenly see so many things...

W... wait, what?

Each little wisp of information is so insubstantial that I have no idea what it could mean. And... there's so much of it! My brain is drowning under a deluge of information from all sides!

Erk!!

Just like when I overused Appraisal, the violent wave of information crashes into me like a punch to the head. I frantically cut Detection off immediately.

"Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Detection (LV 1)] has been raised to level 2."

What? Wasn't that too fast? Did you seriously just level up?! I mean, that certainly was a ton of information, but, uh, seriously?

Aha, ha, no, wait. First off, what the hell was that?! Whatever that was is completely and utterly unlike what I was thinking of when I asked for detection! I want to scream! Get me the manager! Hey! "Voice of Heaven"! I demand an explanation! This is completely! Utterly! Inconceivably unacceptable!!

Ughhhh. Settle down, me... ..Okay. Let's just double-check to make sure that was, in fact, the result of Detection. This might be a little risky, so I should make sure I'm prepared. Inhale... Exhale. Right! Commence Detection.

Just like before, I'm assaulted by a wave of unintelligible information.

"Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Detection (LV 2)] has been raised to level 3."

I said... that's too... fast! Errgk, that's enough. I cut it off again. Blahhhhhh. Ugh, I'm exhausted already.

I've learned one thing, though. Yeah. "Detection". The skill's name is just "Detection". There's nothing that says what it actually detects! It does exactly what I thought it does, but way better than I thought could possibly happen! In fact, it works so well that I can't use it at all!

I think this skill gathers information about literally everything around me, and blasts it at me full-force.

That quantity of information just immediately overwhelms my brain's ability to process it. It is extremely likely that it's got enough information in there to let me detect enemies sneaking up on me, somewhere in that enormous flood, but the information is coming at me far too fast for my tiny brain to pick up on it. For that, I'd need more processing power than a supercomputer.

Maaaaan, seriously! I had not even begun to consider the possibility that there could be a skill that was too powerful for me to use. What a trap I just fell into. Seriously, who thought this one up? Do you get off on leaving traps for your players?

Ahhhh. Well, I can't use Detection. I can practice willing my threads to get Thread Manipulation's level up... but if I do that with Detection, won't my head explode? I guess I've got no choice but to shut this away forever. No waaaaay.

Hey, can I get a refund on skills? ...Yeah, not a chance. Uuuugh, I seriously have no luck at gambling. What have I done? This sucks.

Dejectedly, I slump.

---

Chapter 032

Growth spurt

Sneaking, sneeeaking...

Fwap!

Roooolling, roooolling...

CHOMP!

Time to eat!

“Experience requirements met. Small Taratekt, you have grown from level 1 to level 2. Every ability score has been increased. Acquired bonus skill proficiencies from leveling up. You have acquired additional skill points.”

Diiiiing. I’m a bit upset I didn’t get any skills, but that’s really alright. Oh, more prey.

Sneeeeeeaking, sneeeeeeeeaking...

“Proficiency requirements met. You have gained the skill [Stealth (LV 1)].”

Fwap!

Roooolling, roooolling...

CHOMP!

Time to eat.

Hm? Something happened during all that? Oh yeah, the “Voice of Heaven” (heh) said something. Hmmm... a skill, right? Stealth, right? That’ll make it harder for enemies to notice me, hmm? It’s not like anyone’s been noticing me anyway, so, I don’t really need this... Well, it’s not like I’m going to refuse it if they’re going to give it to me anyway.

Oh, more prey.

Sneeeeeeeaking, sneeeeeeeeeaking...

Fwap!

Roooolling, rooooolling...

CHOMP!

“You have earned the title [Assassin], and have been awarded the skills [Stealth (LV 1)] and [Shadow Magic (LV 1)]. Your new skill, [Stealth (LV 1)], has been integrated with your existing skill, [Stealth (LV 1)].”

Eatin’ time.

Oh? I heard something again. A title? This is the first title I’ve gotten since I picked up Filth Eater and Kin Eater way back when, huh... I tried a bunch of different things to get some titles a while ago, but nothing worked. Assassin, huuuuh... I’m seriously turning into a ninja, here.

Whoa, even more prey.

Sneeeeeeeaking, sneeeeeeeeeaking...

Fwap!

Roooolling, rooooolling...

CHOMP!

“You have earned the title [Monster Slayer], and have been awarded the skills [Strength (LV 1)] and [Toughness (LV 1)].”

Time to eat.

Oh? Yet another announcement, huh. Monster Slayer? Maaaan, but basically all of my time in this dungeon has been spent killing monsters! Why now? Hmm, maybe... maybe this is a title earned for crushing countless monsters. Yeaaaah...

Wha?! Another prey!

Sneaking, sneeeaking...

Fwap!

Roooling, roooling...

CHOMP!

Time to eat...

“Proficiency requirements met. You have gained the skill [Overeating (LV 1)].”

Seriously, again? This is a great day for gains. But, seriously, “Overeating”. I mean, what kind of name for a skill is that? That sure sounds pretty negative, doesn’t it?

Man, but have I been eating or what? My stomach had completely emptied itself after I evolved, but it’s finally starting to swell back up again. Maybe that mysterious food-vanishing stomach was a one-time thing, from right after I evolved. Phewwww. If I’d had to keep filling up my pocket-dimension stomach forever, I’d hit a really bad point on my Engel curve... although, I don’t have any money, so I’m not sure if I even fall on an Engel curve to begin with.<sup>1</sup> I’m brooooooke.

...Wait up a bit, hm? I was a bit hungry, so I was just kind of gliding along wherever, but... today’s been really good for whatevering my whatevers? I whateverly whatevered my whatevers, so whatever, you know.

Yeah. Let’s calm down first, shall we.

My level went up. This is good! This happens a bunch when I hunt, so this isn’t really surprising.

Next is my Stealth skill. That’s also good! I can’t really say it’s useful, right now, but it’s better than nothing, so I will take it if I can get it.

I got some titles, too! That was a little strange, right? Well, getting titles is good, right? It’s seriously great, right? Getting two of them in a row is seriously... well, you know, right?

Let me see... “Assassin” and “Monster Slayer”. What dangerous-sounding titles! Ugh, none of my titles are respectable at all. Even after all this time...

So, Assassin is a pretty ninjaesque title. It got me Stealth and Shadow Magic, so of course it’s got that kind of feel. With Shadow Magic, can I literally dive into the shadows? If I can strike from the shadows themselves, this will become a seriously useful skill. Of course, y'all are aware I can't use a lick of magic, right? Tell me the gosh-darned instructions, already! Ugghh. The manual, please...

I understand even less about Monster Hunter. What's this? Strength? Toughness? I have no idea what these ridiculously vague skills are supposed to do. Hmmmm? Well, if I take these skills exactly at face value, then might these be just straight-up stat bonuses to offense and defense? Maybe it's a support skill that can boost them temporarily? Well, if it's permanent, it would be way better; I have no idea how I'd activate it if it were temporary. Well, either way, I should leave them alone for now.

But then what's with this Overeating skill I got at the end? This seriously has a negative effect, doesn't it? Don't even joke about things like that to a girl, "Voice of Heaven"! I'll beat you up! You callin' me fat?! Wrong! Absolutely wrong!! I just ate a little while ago, that's all this is! I'll be back to my slender self again overnight! Check out this leg, this long and slender leg! A beautiful leg, so thin that it might break at any moment! No human can possibly match the slenderness of my stick-like legs! So who're you callin' fat?! If I hadn't just eaten, you'd be callin' me thin!

Haaah... haaaaaaaah. Man, that was pointless. Nobody ever called me fat in my previous life, so I might have overreacted a little just now. No, people tended to call me skinny or even bony before.

Well, although, today was a pretty spectacular day for progress, wasn't it? This was the first time I've gotten so much stuff all at once. It would be great if I could keep up this pace for eeeeever. Hm? Optimistic? Me? Yyyyyyep!

---

Translator's notes for this chapter:

1. Engel's Law observes that, as income rises, the total percentage of income spent on food falls, even if actual expenditure rises. I'm not entirely sure why she's bringing this up, but Kumoko certainly is spending a large percentage of her time hunting.
-

Chapter 033

The true face of Ms. Appraisal

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Appraisal (LV 5)] has been raised to level 6.”

Oh hey there, Appraisal! This is great! I’m pretty sure that level ten is the max level, so right about now is about when you should start getting a little bit more useful, probably! With my heart pounding, I look up at my own Appraisal results.

Small Taratekt — LV 2 — (no name)

Statistics:

HP: 36/36 (green)

MP: 36/36 (blue)

SP: 36/36 (yellow), 34/36 (red)

Avg. Offense: 19

Avg. Defense: 19

Avg. Magic Power: 18

Avg. Resistance: 18

Avg. Speed: 348

What... did... you... say...?!

What? Whaat?!? Whaaaaaat?!?! Who the hell are you, and what have you done with the real Ms. Appraisal? The Appraisal I know is a disagreeable little brat that never fails to disappoint me! She’s certainly not a cool, competent beauty with a can-do attitude like you!! Where have you taken the real Appraisal?! I had a speech lined up and everything! “Ugh, useless...” That’s what I was going to say! Time after time after time I got my hopes up whenever you leveled up, “oh, maybe there will be some new little bit of functionality that will make this useful!”, but no, every single time, “ugh, useless...” and so on! Why do you tear apart my expectations every! Single! Time!! Tell me why! Tell me whyy!!!

Hhah! Hhahh! Haaahhhhh! I... haahhh... got carried away for a bit there, heh. Time to take a deep breath and calm the heck down. Inhale, inhale... exhaaaaaale. Yay, I’m back to my usual self again!!

Aaaaaaaaahh. It’s like Appraisal evolved, or something. This level gave me way more stuff than any previous level did. Seriously, this is one of the things I was hoping I could get out of Appraisal from the beginning! What’s with this sudden change? It’s like, I don’t know, a loser like me suddenly getting super hot in high school and becoming super popular. Ah, that’s a roundabout one, even for me.

In any event, this Appraisal enhancement is awesome. My previously-unknown strengths have been spelled out quite plainly. Plus, since so many of these things have been broken down for me, I’ve got some concrete things I can Appraise now.

Now, just to make sure I’m not missing anything, I’ll double-Appraise all of the vocab words.

Small Taratekt: A hatchling of the spider-like monster species known as the Taratekt. It is carnivorous, and its fangs drip with poison.

Avg. Offense: A measure of an individual’s average physical offensive power. As this is an average, the power of each specific body part may be different.

Avg. Defense: A measure of an individual’s average physical defensive ability. As this is an average, the defense of each specific body part may be different.

Avg. Magic Power: A measure of the average effectiveness of an individual’s magic. As this is an average, the power of a specific type of magic may be different.

Avg. Resistance: A measure of an individual’s average magical defensive ability. As this is an average, the defense may be different depending on the context.

Avg. Speed: A measure of an individual's average aptitude for speed. As this is an average, the quickness of each specific body part may be different.

Wooow, this is amazing. These explanation texts are getting pretty long, huuuh. Ms. Appraisal, becoming this awesome, huh...

Umf. When it says “each specific body part may be different”, it’s probably talking about something like how a human’s hands and feet are different. Their offensive abilities are different, for instance. If my guess is right, then this stat basically lumps everything together and gives the average of that.

But, uh... why are my stats so low? I don’t really have anything to compare it to, so I don’t quite know just how low they actually are, but I did, briefly, hit level ten; even after evolving, my stats are like this. Lumped in there, though, is my speed stat, which is glowing a strange color. This is weird, right? It’s over ten times the value of the rest of my stats. I am seriously Speed-specced.

Ummmf. Well, now that I’ve got this, I really want to measure myself up against other monsters. Extrapolating from my previous results, it’s pretty likely that checking another monster’s stats will end in failure. I say “likely”, but, really, I have never actually succeeded in getting anything more than my opponent’s level. I’m pretty sure this is still going to be the case, even after my Appraisal level went up, but it never hurts to try...

So, let’s go look for some prey. Where, oh where, might I find something good...

...Aha, there! Alright then: Appraise!

Elro Greim — LV 2 — (failed to appraise statistics)

Ah, yep, appraising another monster’s stats is still difficult, huuuuh. Oh well.

Well, it’s the first time I’ve seen one of these things before, so I’ll look up its species.

Elro Greim: A mouse-like monster species that is native to the Great Elro Labyrinth. It is omnivorous, and its bite is poisonous.

Hm? Wait up. There was a vocabulary word in that description that I can't just ignore.

Great Elro Labyrinth: The world's largest labyrinth, it contains the underground passages that tie together Daztordia and Kasanagara continents.

Well, this was unexpected, but now I know where I am. It seems this dungeon is called the Great Elro Labyrinth. Yeah, I'd noticed that a lot of these monsters were named Elro something-or-others, but to think that's this dungeon's name. World's largest labyrinth, though? No wonder it's so huge. The underground ties between two continents, though? Is this place under the ocean? Whoaa, no waaaay. That's huge! Uh, am I even capable of escaping from a dungeon this big? Aaaah, I'm not going to think about this.

I check out the other two names I picked up.

Daztordia: The peaceful continent of the tribes of Man. Contains many different human nations.

Kasanagara: The continent at the center of the world. Has the largest surface area of all the continents.

Hmmmmmm, okay. I don't really have anything else to say, here. I mean, if I can get out of here I guess I might want to try to avoid the human-populated Daztordia, but it's not like I have any way to pick.

Well, I managed to figure out more things about my current situation, and I did indeed pick up some useful trivia.

---

Chapter 034

Growth Spurt: The Sequel

Well, let's leave Appraisal alone for now and take care of this mouse-thing.

Sneaking, sneeeaking...

Fwap!

Rooooolling, rooooolling...

CHOMP!

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Poison Fang (LV 6)] has been raised to level 7.”

Ooh! My combo's still going! Magnificent. I've been thinking about my awful stats, now that I know them for sure, and I've realized that I've basically got no offensive capabilities whatsoever aside from Poison Fang. It is the first, last, and only weapon in my arsenal, so its level is extremely important.

Hmm, let's call it quits for today. My red total-stamina meter still has a bit of a surplus, and doing useless things is the height of sin.

I put together a new simple home on the spot. Now, since I'm safe, let's dig in... nah. As you'd expect, after eating all of that stuff earlier, I'm not really all that hungry. I mean, it's not like I'm so full I can't eat another bite, but instead of forcing myself to eat it now I think I'd much rather save it until after I wake up.

I say that, but it's not like I'm going to go straight to bed. I've got a thing I'd like to do first...

Wiggle, slither, stretch...

...Uh, what's with that look? I'm not doing anything obscene back here. I'm just practicing Thread Manipulation. I've figured out so far that I can control just one thread at a time. If I want to move it, I need to make it inch along like an earthworm, and it's very slow going. As long as it's still attached to my body, though, the range is pretty large. On the plus side, it barely costs me any mana to keep going. That's all I've got so far.

Really, a weapon of this poor quality can't be used in combat at all. So, before I go to sleep, I'm going to burn through all of my mana practicing with it, so that I can get its level up. Once I get its level up, this poor-quality skill should start getting considerably better. If Appraisal could shape herself up into a can-do kind of girl, I'm sure that Thread Manipulation will also start being useful at about level six. The road to usefulness might be a long one, though.

Once I can get its level up, there's a billion things I want to try out. Silk armor might not be out of the question anymore, and I might be able to come up with a new way to attack. I also want to try out that enemy-detecting thread idea I had from a while ago! Ahh, I can only dream.

"Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Thread Manipulation (LV 1)] has been raised to level 2."

Ahaha right when I said it you did it!! Level uppp!!

Wiggly wiggle, sliiiiither, stretchy stretch.

Oh ho! These movements aren't bad at all! Truly outrageous, how the level went up and it immediately started moving faster. It's still not yet ready for combat use, but if it gets this much better every time it levels, I might be able to put it into action sooner than expected!

Well, I've still got plenty of mana, so let's keep plugging away at this skill proficiency...

---

Yaaaawn! Ah, I slept great! In the end, I stuck with it until my mana was nearly exhausted, and got Thread Manipulation up to level three. I had originally been planning on completely exhausting all of my mana, but once it got pretty low, I got cold feet. I don't know exactly what might go wrong, but I had this kind of instinctive reaction that running completely out would be dangerous, so I cut it off at the last minute.

One night's rest completely recovered my mana! Yeah. Grinding out Thread Manipulation before I go to bed won't be a problem at all, in the future.

No, wait a sec. If I gain it back that quickly, shouldn't I spend it all right when I wake up as well? I don't use any mana at all, normally, so if it recovers naturally over time then it will refill itself while I'm out hunting. Yeah, this is way more efficient. If it turns out that there's some unforeseen problem with doing things this way, then tomorrow I'll just stick to practicing right before I go to sleep. Well, I'll never find out if I don't try!

So, I went back to practicing Thread Manipulation, and right before my mana was about to run out...

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Thread Manipulation (LV 3)] has been raised to level 4.”

...said the “Voice of Heaven”.

Yessss. Good, good. My mana's nearly completely gone, so I can't really test to see how much better it's moving, but since it's level four, it's probably getting pretty good. It's probably not good enough to use in combat, but I should try making myself some armor in the safety of my own home. Tonight's going to be awesome!

Now, let us have some breakfast. The main course for today is yesterday's mouse. Time to eat.

Umf, not good. Eating didn't refill any of my mana, so looks like I won't be able to recover by eating any old thing. There's most likely some sort of equivalent to a mana potion, so there's probably ingredients that will recover your mana if you just eat them raw. I'd bet that the flesh of a strongly-magical monster would work great for recovery! Of course, I haven't seen any magic-wielding magical monsters at all, yet.

Man, after evolving, I've really hit a groove. My skills are steadily leveling up, I got a couple new titles... looks like it's the year of the spider! It's like the whole world is telling me it's my time to shine. Heheheh. Just try and stop me! Heheheee! I'm going to take this groove and ride it all the way through this dungeon. Sure, I know it's freaking enormous, but there's nothing left to do but keep an eye out for the exit. Now then, world, brace yourself, for today I shine!

Hee hee heeee.

---

Chapter 035

That's why I said not to get too full of yours—

Ooh hoo hoo hoo. With high spirits, I search the dungeon. Maaan, when I've hit a groove like this, I don't think I can really call any of the monsters around here "opponents". As long as I spot my target before they spot me, I can always finish it with an easy sneak attack. Even if I can't, isn't it possible that, after all this time, I might be able to win in a proper head-to-head fight? I'm pretty sure I got way stronger when I evolved, and my skill levels have climbed up to match. There's no way I'd put on such a pathetic show as when I was fighting that frog way back when. I can't say that I'm guaranteed to win, so I'm the tiniest bit uncertain, but I'm positive I can make it happen.

All this is thanks to the crazy level-up combo I've been carrying since I evolved: my skill levels went up a ton, and I got a bunch of new titles! Aside from my bit of bad luck with respect to Detection, everything recently has been nothing but positive.

Hmm, now that I think about it, this run of good luck started even before I evolved... it was when I defeated that snake, right? My level went up immediately after killing it. Its huge corpse let me stock up a huge pile of food too, which was good, since that let me evolve safely without starving afterwards. My combo just kept on going after that. Oh, yeah. It must have all started with that snake. It was a right pleasure meetin' ya, Mister Snake, thank ya, thank ya.

Oh, the path splits. Left or right, huh? Well, I'll stick to my usual plan and stay to the right as I always do... hm? Somehow, I've got a terrible feeling, the kind of feeling that makes me want to get as far away from here as possible.

I glance over to the left entrance.

Elro Baldarad — LV 5 — failed to appraise statistics

Oh, nooo. It's Mister Snaaaake.

Argh, am I an idiot? Sure, this snake is a lower level than the one I killed earlier, but this time I don't have a web set up that it can get stuck in. Uh oh, and it's noticed me! And it looks like it's locked on!!

I flee! I run straight away down the right passageway! Like I could do anything to that kind of monster! Who's the idiot that was just saying there were no real opponents anymore? Me!! No no no no no! It's extremely clear that this thing is on an entirely different level from the other monsters! It's a boss monster! Why are you spawning here like any old normal-type monsters? Are you stupid?!

Aaaa, AAAA! What's this terrifying noise chasing behind me? It's too fast! Holy crap, it can keep up with my speed?! It's 348! I thought I had every other monster beat in the speed department! How is it you're keeping up with me!!

Grk! More monsters, dead ahead?!

Elro Randanel — LV 5 — failed to appraise statistics

Elro Randanel — LV 4 — failed to appraise statistics

Elro Randanel — LV 4 — failed to appraise statistics

Whaaaaat?! Really? A pack of three, right now?! If it was one of them I could just dodge around it as I ran past but all three of them have me blocked off completely!

Wh... what should I do?! What should I doooo?! Aaaaah, I'm running out of time!

OKAY! It's do or die! I'm going to stay at full speed, and run along the walls! WhoooOOOAAAAAAA! Hah! I did it! I did it! Wall run: successful!

Eat my dust, three-pack! There's a terrible noise behind me but there's no way I'm going to turn around to check! I have no idea how long those three can hold out, but now's the time for fleeing, not thinking! Sorry, you three! Survival of the fittest, you know; sacrifice yourselves for me!

Aahhaha! I'm going to survive, thanks to those noble sacrifices! Rest in p...

hm? Where's the... path...?

W, w, w, wait, no, this, like back with the centipedes?! AaaaAAA! This is bad, this is bad! I'm going too fast, I can't stop, ah, aahhh, n, no, aaaaAAA!

I dive forward to find nothing below me but empty air.

Eh? Ahhh, this is quite an enormous hole. If I were to, perchance, fall straight down it, I would surely perish.

I'm faaallllllling!! Nooooo!! Don't joke about bungee jumping without a cord! A cord? A CORD!! Spider silk might save me! I shoot a line at the wall, and it sticks! And, like this...!!

Whoof!

Aaah, that... really hurts. Sure, I stopped my fall, but the whiplash slammed me into the wall at maximum speed. Aaaaah... I thought I was going to die.

I got chased by a giant snake, then when running away flung myself off of a giant cliff. This is what I get for getting too full of myself. I understand now. I shall reflect on this. ...Now that I'm reflecting, I wonder what that buzzing noise I've been hearing for a while is...?

Finjgoat — LV 4 — (failed to appraise statistics)

Finjgoat — LV 3 — (failed to appraise statistics)

Finjgoat — LV 5 — (failed to appraise statistics)

Finjgoat — LV 4 — (failed to appraise statistics)

Ahh, it was wasps. Giant wasp monsters, of a species I've only seen once before. Countless wasps, buzzing past each other in this shaft.

Umm... hello? I'm sorry! Please don't get mad! Seriously, please don't look over this way!!

If they all swoop on me, I've got basically only one option, if I want to dodge it!

Yeah! Another dive! This time, it's going to be different. I've got a thread connecting me to the wall already, so I could make it stretchy and bungee jump off of it. After two or three bounces, I can stick another cord to the wall... and another bungee! Doing all this, I make it to the bottom of this shaft fairly easily.

Alright, back on solid ground again! The sky above me is swarming with wasps. I force my worn-out body to move, running as far away as I can.

---

Chapter S04

Magic

I focus my will, feeling the mana that fills my body. By practicing this technique, I was able to gain the “Mana Perception” skill. Thanks to my continued study, I’ve been able to feel the circulation of mana as it flows within me, almost like the rushing of my blood. With my “Mana Manipulation” skill, I increase the rate of circulation. Steadily, the mana begins to move faster and faster. I concentrate a part of it in my palm. I focus on amplifying the rotation of the mana in my hand more and more, until enough energy accumulates that it transmutes itself into a high-energy form. To complete it, all I need to do is shape it into “magic”.

However, I won’t do it; or, rather, I can’t do it. I slowly return the accumulated mana to the rest of my body, and let it slow to its natural state.

When the mana inside me has calmed, I open the eyes that I had squeezed shut in concentration. Before me, I see Anna, looking at me nervously. Standing next to her is Clevea, but it doesn’t look like she’s noticed anything strange.

“This is dreadful,” says Anna. “Don’t you mean amazing?” asks Clevea. “‘Amazing’ doesn’t even begin to scratch the surface of this. Looking at their raw practical skills alone, the princess is already as skilled as any beginning mage, and his Highness’s skills are surely intermediate-level! Both of their mana capacities exceed what mine were at that age.”

They may be whispering, but many months of straining my ears to try to learn the language of this world gave me the “Enhanced Hearing” skill, so I can hear it just fine.

“That’s what you’d call genius, right?” asks Clevea. Anna nods, gravely.

Genius, huh. I'm really not a genius at all. Granted, I was born with an above-average mana capacity, but it's really thanks to my consciousness from my previous life. Thanks to that, I've been able to practice ever since I was born.

I may be a very young child on the outside, but I've got the mind of a high school student. The life of a baby is extremely simple, so I wound up with a lot of free time on my hands. Whenever I started to get bored, I worked on training my magic. Anna, ever the excellent teacher, had given a thorough explanation at one point. It was far too difficult for a child to understand, but a high school student like me had no trouble at all.

Thanks to that, I earned the skills Mana Perception and Mana Manipulation very quickly, and by now I've leveled them each up to level five. This is the results of my constant diligence.

Ordinarily it would take a person a very long time to accrue this much skill. I, however, am a baby, and since having magic has always been a dream of mine, I was able to devote all of my free time to practice. Now, I possess a magical talent that far surpasses any other child my age.

Say what you will about me, though, the true genius here is my little sister Sue.

I look over at Sue, sitting next to me. Just by copying what I was doing, Sue figured out how to manipulate magic just like I did. Compared to me, her manipulation is weak and her circulation is slow, but even still, she can move and mold mana quite well.

Manipulating mana is no easy task. Until I acquired the skill, it was practically impossible. To start with, I come from a world where magic does not exist! I had to suppress all of my instincts that were telling me that magic wasn't real.

I hear that, in general, magical talent manifests itself only as early as five years old. (By the way, a year here is 411 days.) Nobody's ever heard of people able to manipulate magic since birth, apart from me and Sue.

I'm a reincarnated soul who kept the memories and faculties of an adult, which let me practice as much as I wanted. Sue, however, is different. Sue was merely mimicking me. Just from that, just from watching me and following along, she achieved an unheard-of level of control over her magic. Now that is something worthy of calling genius.

To be perfectly honest, I've been uneasy about the future ever since I was born. With Sue's raw natural talent, it's obvious that she's destined to become someone great. I, however, was a perfectly ordinary high school student in my former life, with no special talents to speak of. I may have a lead now thanks to being reincarnated, but once Sue really starts to sprint, she's going to catch up and even overtake me immediately, and my pride as an older brother... no. That's not yet set in stone, and it's still a long ways away. I'm going to do all that I can to keep blazing ahead to widen my lead by as much as I can.

"Umm, why is doin' magic bad?" I say.

Anna has prohibited me from doing magic. All she's letting me do is practice Mana Manipulation. Apparently, if you're good at manipulation, when you acquire a magic skill for a given elemental attribute you can start doing real magic immediately. Knowing that doesn't do me any good, though, since I don't have any attribute skills and have no idea how to acquire them.

"My prince," says Anna, "there are several reasons, but the most important is how dangerous it is. Magic is a very powerful force! Because it is so dangerous, it's long been decided to not teach magic to anyone until they reach the proper age."

I understand what she's saying, but I can't agree with her. I may look like a child, but on the inside I'm well above the proper age! The only one who knows this is me, though. There's nothing I can really do about it, but I'm still impatient.

"Next, we would want to use the Gem of Appraisal to determine your elemental affinity. Learning magics you are not suited to can be a very difficult process."

Gems of Appraisal seem to be magic items capable of showing you the specifics of your stats. Simple ones can apparently be purchased cheaply, but a much more advanced one is required to show elemental affinities. Only the upper echelons of society can acquire a Gem of Appraisal of that caliber. Of course, the Royal Family has one, but I have yet to be appraised.

"My prince, I am sure that you will become a world-class magician, even if you don't hurry. So, let's not get too full of ourselves, right?" "Okay!" I reply.

There's no way I could possibly get too full of myself. After all, I'm still terrified that my younger sister is going to race right past me. It's still not a good idea to be too reckless, though. Now's the time to build a solid foundation, to perfect my basic magical abilities. So, I shall continue practicing my manipulation skills.

---

Chapter 036

Driven into a corner

An enormous swarm of wasps buzzes above me. Well! If I don't get out of here quickly, I'm going to have problems.

Of course, by the time I thought that, it was just a little bit too late.

A wasp lands on my back, and suddenly, a blinding pain shoots through me.

!!!!????

Aaargh!! I've been stabbed! And it feels like something got pumped into me when it happened, too! It's poison?!

It's latched onto my back, where I've got no way to protect myself. Wait... I've got one thing! Now is not the time for me to worry about my last few points of mana!

I grab hold of my silk with Thread Manipulation and stick it to the wasp on my back, immobilizing it.

Off... we... GO!!

Seizing the line, I fling the wasp off of me as if I were doing a shoulder throw!

I really want to finish it off, but now's my chance to escape! I find a craggy spot in the walls to hide in. Hopefully, these rocks will make it hard for those giant wasps to maneuver.

Just as I thought, a few wasps chased after me, but after flying around for a while they figured out the deal and buzzed off.

Ahhh, that was close. I definitely didn't come through unscathed, though. I can't see it for myself, but there's a gaping hole in my back. I've got six health left. One single attack dealt me thirty damage.

This is no surprise. I've been more than well aware that my defense is terrible. Really, I'm grateful that spiders are resilient enough that I can keep going, even with this extremely serious wound.

I'm so glad my Poison Resistance is so high. Whatever that wasp pumped into me was almost certainly some kind of poison. I don't know whether it negated it entirely or not, and I don't know how much of this damage was from the wasp's poison or its stinger, but if I didn't have Poison Resistance I would surely be dead by now.

With wounds like these, I probably shouldn't be moving around. I don't know if it's going to heal on its own, so what I really want to aim for is the full-heal I get out of leveling up. So, since I need experience points, and since I need to get myself some food, I should sneak out and retrieve that wasp I threw off of me a little while ago.

Leaving these crags is no sound plan at all, though. I reach out with Thread Manipulation and start to slowly inch the wasp back towards me.

Suddenly, a chill runs through me.

I peek out from behind the crags. Over there, I see the shape of the wasp I tied up. And, over there, I see yet another monster, slowly approaching.

Elro Baldarad — LV 5 — (failed to appraise statistics)

It's the snake. This jerk, did he follow me all the way down here?! No, probably not. It's the same level as the other one, but it's probably not the same individual. Yiiikes. Is this the habitat of these super-strong boss-class monsters? With my body as wounded as it is, I am definitely not looking for a fight.

The snake slowly approaches the fallen wasp. Please, I beg of you, take the wasp and leave me alone!! The snake, however, didn't do anything to the wasp. Rather, it couldn't do anything.

With blinding speed, something tears the snake apart.

Uh? Are my eyes working okay? That snake, unless I'm completely mistaken, was shredded into scrap as if it were made of paper. That snake, which was supposed to be protected by its impenetrable scales. That snake, whose speed rivals even my own, was erased before it even had time to react.

Alaba, the Earth Dragon — LV 31 — (failed to appraise statistics)

It stands, proudly and calmly. Its name might be “dragon”, but its form is really closer to that of a wolf. It walks on four legs. Its tail is long. It has no wings. Even still, with its majestic bearing, it’s impossible not to see it as a dragon.

Not good. My instincts as a spider, my reason as a person, everything is screaming at me in unison: this thing is absolutely terrible news. I have zero chance against it. Forget winning or losing, this thing is so out of my league that I shouldn’t even bother. If it looks at me, I don’t think it would see me as anything but fodder. I’m not even prey. If it sees me, I will become food. That’s how far above me that thing is.

Oh, it might have a high level, but that’s the least of my problems. No matter how you look at it, that thing is extremely terrible news.

The Earth Dragon, Alaba, starts to slowly devour the scattered pieces of the snake. Panicking, I try to still my breath.

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Stealth (LV 1)] has been raised to level 2.”

Ah!! Shut up! Please! Shh!! What are you going to do if it spots me?!

Alaba, the Earth Dragon, finishes devouring the snake and leaves, not even sparing a glance for my wasp.

Ph... phew. I don’t know if it completely overlooked me, or if it just decided I wasn’t even worth the effort, but, phew, I’m safe for now.

I’m no stranger to life-and-death situations by now, but this is the most terrifyingly close to death I have ever come. I’m still trembling just thinking about it.

This isn’t good. If there’s something that powerful lurking in this area, I should be doing everything I can to get far away from here.

I check my surroundings. Right now, I'm at the bottom of the huge shaft I fell down a little while ago. I'd estimate that the shaft is about a hundred meters in diameter, and its depth... is probably way more than that, huh. I really have no way to tell; the huge swarm of wasps buzzing overhead is like an impenetrable wall.

I'm glad that Appraisal didn't activate at this range. If it did, the headache from the sheer number of Appraisal results would knock me straight out. If I want to go back the way I came, I'm going to need to get through that swarm. And, on top of that, climb up the cliff.

That's impossible. If I'm clinging to the wall, I can't fight. I won't be able to move quickly, and I won't be able to aim my thread. That's a zone where all of my most reliable strengths are sealed away. The wasps certainly will have no trouble with their mobility, flying through the air. There's no way for me to win.

Even still, with a monster like that lurking around, exploration is basically suicide. There are a bunch of passageways connected to the base of this pit... if it really came down to it, could I maybe try going down a different one? Nope. With a wound like this, even if I didn't encounter another ludicrous monster like that, I'd still be toast even if I found just a regular monster.

This is bad. This might be checkmate.

---

Chapter 037

Struggling

I waited a good, long while after the Earth Dragon left, constantly keeping an over-watchful eye on my surroundings. There's no way I can relax, just with that. If I don't do something, though, it's no use.

I turn towards the wasp that I left tied up over there and extend a thread towards it with Thread Manipulation. Agh, that hurt my back. It doesn't look like I have any problems spinning thread, though. I carefully maneuver the thread out there, and tie it to the wasp.

The wasp is still struggling, but it really doesn't matter. What does matter is that I need to get this thing pulled in before it attracts the attention of another monster. Every time I pull on the thread, my wound aches. The pain is serious, but my health isn't going down at all, so I'm telling myself that this is fine.

Finally, I've retrieved the wasp. I quickly seize it in my Poison Fangs, and clamp down tightly until it stops moving. Hmm, when I think about how effective Poison Fang is on other poison-using monsters, I wonder if I've overleveled both it and Poison Resistance, compared to other monsters? Eh, for now, whatever works is good.

The real problem is what to do next. Frankly, I think exploring this area is basically suicide. If there's anything else out there that's as strong as that Earth Dragon, there is literally zero way that I will survive.

This is real bad. I've crossed many dangerous bridges before, but nothing like this.

You know, maybe I've been a little bit conceited about my combat abilities. Sure, I've been successful with my various sneak-attack strategies as I've been loitering around this dungeon, but my real strength is fighting defensively from within my nest. Even one of my simple homes was able to take down one of those snakes, so if I were to actually put my full efforts into it, I don't think there's a single monster out there that could get through to me. ...Probably.

...well, THAT thing can probably break through. While whistling a jaunty tune, even. It is, at the very least, that powerful.

Silk, poison fangs, sneak attacks, and speed. All of my specialties are nothing more than clever tricks in front of that thing, tricks that are kicked aside by its overwhelming power. This is the second completely undefeatable monster that I've encountered in my brief life as a spider. The first, by the way, was my mother (father?), the giant spider.

Not being able to win is definitely a problem, but way, way worse is the fact that its speed vastly outpaces mine. Usually, if something can break through my nest, I can run away while it's doing so. I may seethe with rage, but I will make it out with my life, thanks to my speed. That thing, however, could catch me.

I can't win if I fight it, and I can't escape if I run away. If I catch its eye, it's all over.

Man, what an unreasonable monster. If I'd known about this, I would have tried facing that other snake's charge instead. At least I'd have a chance then. On top of that, I don't even know if that thing is the only one of its kind down here!

I'm scared. This is the closest I've ever been to death. I'm almost a little surprised that I'm feeling so afraid. I've been through so much ridiculous stuff so far, and I never really felt much fear or nervousness. I thought that maybe I'd mastered those feelings already. Now, though, I know. All the dangers so far have merely not been dangerous enough to make me scared. It's not that I can't feel fear, it's that I didn't need to.

Ha, ha. It's way too late for me to be realizing this. I wish I'd figured this out sooner. If I had, maybe I'd have been a little more aware of how dangerous things could be.

Okay, I think that's enough regretting. Let's figure out how I might survive this.

Step one is securing my safety. It's not going to be much help against the Earth Dragon, but for now I should set up a nest in these crags. Right now, I don't think I'm in any condition to move anywhere else. You could even say I just don't want to leave. So, I'm going to build my home, number three, right here.

Then, if I can, I'm going to lure wasps and other strong monsters in here so that I can kill them. My goal is to level up and get that full heal. Until I fix this wound in my back, there's not much I can do. If any monster, even a weak one, so much as sneezes on me, I'm dead. I really don't want to bank on recovering on my own. Man, I wish I'd picked up Automatic HP Recovery back when I had the chance. Regrets won't fix anything, though; I need to accept my mistakes and move on.

For now, let's focus on getting my base set up. Honestly, this isn't a very good place for a base. It's going to stand out a ton and, of course, if I'm noticed by a monster like that Earth Dragon, I'm toast. With these wounds, though, I don't have much choice. This really comes down to luck. Bad luck.

Okay, my plan is to level up. Once I've fixed this wound, I think I'll be able to get out of this danger zone.

Hmm, do I go up and try to break through the wasp army, or do I stay down here and explore this extremely dangerous area? Either way, it's hell. Man, now that I've fallen down here, I've got the ultimate life-or-death choice in front of me. If I'm lucky, I live, if I'm unlucky, I die. The scales are tipped pretty far towards "die" right now, though. Is it going to keep tipping this way, or can I make it recover?

I need to take action to swing the scales my way. Luckily, I've got enough stamina left to weave a decent nest. This wasp is pretty big, so it'll be a solid meal. Let's extract all the stamina I can from this thing and turn it all into an awesome nest. Everything after that is down to luck and skill.

---

Chapter 038

Spider vs. Wasp (1)

On the first day, I made the simplest workable nest and went to sleep. I can't really say I slept well, thanks to this backache, but the important part is that I didn't get attacked overnight, which is a huge relief. Even better, I didn't die from my injuries overnight! I breathed a huge sigh of relief when I woke up. After checking my health level, it looked like nothing changed; I was still at six HP. I'm kind of disappointed that it's not recovering on its own, but I'm still happy it didn't go down, either... well, could be better, could be worse.

On the second day, I devoted basically the entire day to expanding and fortifying my nest. My back was still hurting, but I focused on my task and fought through it. Wasps were buzzing around me a ton, but whenever they came close, I stopped working and kept a watchful eye on them. I'm not used to working under these conditions; constantly being vigilant while I work is really nerve-wracking.

I took whatever spare moments I had to work on nibbling away at that wasp from earlier, so I can keep my stamina up. In this situation, if I run out of stamina, the scales will absolutely tip further towards my defeat. I am extremely dependent on my stamina. Weaving threads relies heavily on my stamina, not to mention my other day-to-day activities. On top of that, I need to make sure I save enough stamina for at least one battle. I don't know how easily I'll be able to secure more food after I finish this wasp, so since I've committed to this siege-defense strategy, I need to take extra special care of my stamina.

Also on day two, I realized that the level of Pain Resistance had gone way up. If I'm remembering correctly, the last time it leveled up it hit level two, but while I was working on building the nest the "Voice of Heaven" chimed in,

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Pain Resistance (LV 6)] has been raised to level 7.”

So, it jumped straight to level seven. I don't have any solid idea why, but if I had to take a guess, I'd say it probably happened while I was asleep. If proficiency in that goes up when you're in pain, then it makes a ton of sense that it would have gained a bunch of levels while I was sleeping, what with how miserable I was last night and all. If I think back, maybe I did hear the "Voice of Heaven" say something while I was half-asleep.

Well, now that I know it's level seven, it seems pretty obvious that Pain Resistance isn't actually a skill that alleviates pain; if it was, it would be really strange if I was still hurting this bad at level seven. If I had to take a guess, I'd probably say... it lets me endure pain well enough to keep moving. Honestly, could be better, could be worse. This still hurts a ton, and there still is a limit to how much I can move with these wounds. When I first got this skill, I remember feeling like my pain had immediately gotten better, but maybe that was all in my head.

Before the day was out, Pain Resistance made it up to level eight.

---

Day three. I've completely consumed the wasp I dragged in a few days ago. My nest is about as good as it's going to get, in these conditions, so it's time to move onto stage two: namely, hunting until I level up.

There's a problem, though... how am I going to catch anything? These wasps keep coming close, and I know they know I'm here, but none of them are swooping in to attack. I was really expecting them to throw themselves at me without a plan, but I guess I'm not that lucky.

Well, for now, I should keep an eye on the wasps and wait for a good chance to strike. I tried provoking a few of the ones that came near, but nobody took the bait.

From my observations, I've learned a few things about these wasps. It looks like they mostly fly around in groups of about five or six, acting independently of each other. Each group has a leader:

A “High” Finjagoat, huh. Its name implies some sort of superiority, so maybe these are individuals that have evolved. Since they’re level one, that seems pretty likely to me. I also see wasps flying around that are levels eight or nine, right on the verge of evolving; when they do, they’ll probably become leaders as well.

The boss wasps are slightly darker-colored than the regular wasps. That’s basically the only difference; their size and shape are basically the same. Appraisal can’t seem to manage to get the stats on these things, but I’d bet that they’re stronger than the ordinary wasps.

Well, I don’t think that even those guys can break through my nest. I think they know it too, which might explain why they’re not attacking me when I’m provoking them. Man, if that’s true, these guys are way smart.

Every so often, an entire group will disappear down one of the corridors at the bottom of the pit; after a while, they’ll come back, bearing fresh prey. Man, those squads look like super-efficient. They really are intelligent! There are a few that wander around aimlessly by themselves, though.

You know what’s great, though? There’s monsters down here that these wasps are able to hunt. Every thing down here is not, after all, as tough as that Earth Dragon! Things are really starting to look up for me, now that I know that.

There are, however, groups that don’t make it back, so I shouldn’t get too careless. After all, a group that doesn’t come back is almost undoubtedly a group that got wiped out before it could make it back. Even some of the successful groups come back bearing their fellow soldiers’ corpses, so I definitely shouldn’t stop thinking of this as a dangerous kind of area.

Unblinkingly, I continue observing the wasps.

---

Chapter 039

Spider vs. Wasp (2)

At the end of the third day, just as I was starting to think about going to sleep, the “Voice of Heaven” came down from above.

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Pain Resistance (LV 9)] has become [Ignore Pain], and a new skill, [Pain Tolerance (LV 1)] has been unlocked.”

Pain Resistance went up again, huh... and it had already leveled from eight to nine without me noticing, probably when I was sleeping again. The level number disappeared, and the name changed to “Ignore Pain”. Feels like it capped out. That gives me two max-level skills, next to Night Vision. I think I started out with a high level in Night Vision already, though, thanks to my natural-born abilities, so Ignore Pain is the first skill I’ve raised all the way up from zero to ten by myself! I don’t really feel like celebrating, though, because grinding that out was literally suffering.

Well, it looks like the skill I just unlocked is the actual “pain hurts less” skill. Ah, no, I’m not saying that Pain Resistance was a rip-off or anything, just that it wasn’t what I was expecting. The new skill is only level one right now, so I’m not feeling much of an effect. As always, my back is rather rudely reminding me how badly it’s still wounded. I’m hoping it’ll be a little more polite about it once I get a few levels of Pain Tolerance, and I’m really hoping that it’ll level up overnight.

Well then, good night!

---

Day Four. My stamina has started to steadily fall, so it’s time to take action. My target are the lone wasps that drift away from the swarm. Trying to get an entire squad of wasps is too risky. I think I could beat them, sure, but I need to be cautious: since there's a bunch of wasps in a squad, it's not impossible that they'll do something completely unexpected.

So, snagging one of the loners is probably my best bet. It looks like they're not quite as smart when they're not being ordered around by a commander. While I was observing them yesterday, I saw a lone wasp fly through a tiny tunnel that a squad definitely couldn't fit through. I'd bet that the wasp I caught a while ago had done something similar, going down a strange passage, getting lost, and eventually winding up in my webs. Hmm, that was a long time ago, though, and really far away; it's really unlikely that the wasp from back then came from this swarm. Maybe there's another hive somewhere else?

From what I've been seeing so far, the ones that wander off are already not very bright. Maybe that's why they never joined a squad and were content with wandering off? Ah, regardless, the point is, if I provoke one of the strays, it might be dumb enough to come and attack.

I'd never rely on such an uncertain strategy, though... not when I have the new secret weapon I developed yesterday!

It's a hardened sphere of sticky silk at the end of a long cord. I call it: the Silken Smasher<sup>1</sup>! Eheheh. With my raw physical strength plus the power of Thread Manipulation, I'll be able to strike those wasps out of the sky! ... Probably. It's, uh, worth noting that I'm probably going to miss with this, nine times out of ten. But that's okay! All I'm really trying to do is get these things to realize that I'm an enemy, and come charging at me of its own accord. If I get super lucky and hit it directly, then my target will be immediately trapped, which is my victory anyway.

Now, I just have to wait for the perfect chance, for one of the loner wasps to come close enough to my nest. If today is anything like yesterday, a bunch of them will be buzzing by to get a closer look at my web, so everything should go as planned.

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Pain Tolerance (LV 2)] has been raised to level 3.”

As I waited, Pain Tolerance leveled up again. Huh? Compared to Pain

Resistance, this is leveling up super slowly! I was really expecting it to go up to about level five while I was asleep, but it only went up to two... hmm? I wonder if the way I accumulate proficiency is different? Or maybe, is the amount of proficiency I need to accumulate different? Ahhh, I don't know.

Although, that level up made this extremely obvious: Pain Tolerance is, in fact, a skill that dulls pain. Thanks to my new skill level, my back is feeling much better.

The wound on my back is a severe one. I did my best to bandage it up with Thread Manipulation, but this is seriously a gaping hole. If I was a human, this would absolutely have killed me. I wonder, am I still alive because I'm a spider, or because I'm a monster? Regardless, it is a miracle that I'm alive with a wound this bad. I wanted to make sure no more poison was left in the wound, so I tried cleaning it out with Thread Manipulation. This hurt so bad I thought I was going to die.

I have to level up as quickly as I can, to fix this wound. If I leave it as it is, it's only going to get worse from here. It could fester, it could get necrotic, it could get infected... I cleaned it out with silk, but it's nowhere near as good as washing it with clean water, let alone actually disinfecting it. I really need to do something before my symptoms get worse.

And, just like that, a chance appears.

A single loner wasp makes its way over here. There's no other wasps nearby! If there were, they'd probably come rushing to protect their comrade once he got into trouble. This situation is perfect: I don't have to worry about that at all.

I ready the Silken Smasher. Focus... focus... aaaaaaim... THERE!

“Proficiency requirements met. You have gained the skill [Concentration (LV 1)].”

Oh, it hit. And it seems like I got a skill at the same time.

Oh, man, I did not think that would hit at all. The Silken Smasher hit it dead on! Using Thread Manipulation, I unravel it and use the thread to wrap up the captured wasp. I drag the violently struggling bundle back into my nest, and it falls prey to my poison fangs.

Whoa. A perfect success on my very first try. This is a great omen! Ah, no, no, I am not going to let myself get cocky again. We all know what happened last time I did. Now, I walk with humility. Well then, let's celebrate this important first step with this long-awaited meal. Let's dig in!

---

Translator's notes for this chapter:

1. This is yet another un-translatable bit that I've mangled into place. The Japanese word for spider is "kumo", so the author used the portmanteau "kumorningstar". Alas, I could not come up with a way to smash the word "spider" (or "silk" or "thread") into "morningstar" without making the base word, morningstar, unrecognizable. So, in the grand tradition of manga translators coming up with unnecessarily cool names for special attacks, I'm calling it a "Silken Smasher".
-

Chapter 040

Spider vs. Wasp (3)

For now, I've secured a source of food. This wasp is big enough that I'll be able to stave off starvation for another few days, so I don't need to worry about my stamina at all. I have way more options available to me now.

Most realistically, I should keep doing the same thing, doing this small-scale hunting thing until my level goes up. I can eke out a safe, honest living that way, not taking any unnecessary risks.

I had another idea, though: work on expanding my nest. Upward.

Exploring this floor warrants a big fat "nope". It's not a question can or can't. Nnnnooooope! That dragon's too scary. Noooo can do.

So, if that's my plan, creeping my way up this wall will let me get back to the tunnels from before. In order to do that, I'm going to need some way to avoid all of those wasps. If I were to just climb up as-is, those wasps would eat me alive! I need some sort of countermeasure.

I've thought about it somewhat, and my best plan so far is somehow extending my nest vertically. It's less a plan and more of an application of brute force... ah, and what a blatant use of force it is. Really, though, it's all I've been able to come up with so far.

There are, of course, problems. First of all, weaving a nest like that is going to burn through all of my stamina. I've never tried to build a nest up a wall before! I have no idea how much more stamina it'll take than usual. This is a seriously huge project, and the stamina from the single wasp I've caught so far isn't going to last me very long at all. I'm going to have to replenish it, somehow.

On top of that, there is an excellent chance that I'm going to have to fight a bunch of wasps. Down here, they're overlooking me, but if I start to encroach on their domain up above, they're going to have problems with that. A violation of sovereign airspace. I wonder if they'll be able to overlook that... The absolute worst case scenario is that hundreds, no, thousands of wasps will all swarm in and attack me at once. This would be a straight-up nightmare; there's no way my nest could withstand an attack of that magnitude.

I shouldn't just be worried about the wasps, either. There haven't been many other monsters that have come wandering into this pit, other than the snake and the Earth Dragon from before. If that dragon were to wander in here, though... Last time, I escaped by hiding in these crags, but if I start extending my nest it is going to stick out like a sore thumb, and if the dragon takes notice... I'm dead. Even after all this time, I'm terrified that the Earth Dragon is going to appear at any second.

So, if this works, I can finally get out of this mega-danger zone, but there are some serious risks involved. I really don't have a better plan, either. There could be one, but I certainly haven't thought of it.

So, then. Commence the preparations for nest extension!

First up is the foundation. When building a house, you must start with a sturdy foundation, after all; it's not a stretch at all to say that the quality of a house is decided by the quality of its foundation. And, here's a good, sturdy rock!

It's the first rock that I took shelter behind. It is seriously huge, about seven meters high and five meters wide, sitting slightly away from the wall. I'll use that one as the foundation, so I'll start expanding my nest over that way.

What I've got so far is a web connecting one side of the rock to the wall, with a little horizontal bit jutting out. First, I need to link the other side of the rock to the wall and web that up. Next up is a diagonal thread that connects the top of the rock to the wall... then, using that as a base, connect it to my other walls. With this, my foundation is complete!

Now, it's time to try to expand things up a little bit. I snack on the wasp to get my stamina back up, then get back to work. While I'm working, I notice a few wasps silently watching me, but, as expected, they don't approach. Looks like

I'm still far enough down that they'll keep overlooking me.

I wrap up my work for the day, finish eating up the wasp, and call it a night.

Day Five. It feels like my back is a little less sore than before. My health is, of course, still six. Since the wound hasn't gotten any better, I guess my Pain Tolerance skill leveled up again while I was sleeping. Probably.

It's really great that the pain's going away. I've still been able to move around without any trouble thanks to Ignore Pain, but there's a night-and-day difference in my mood now that I'm not hurting any more. Ah, no, the pain hasn't gone away completely, and the wound still isn't cured, but this is way nicer. I never had a wound nearly this bad when I was a human. The worst pain I can remember was stubbing my pinky toe on the doorframe. That really hurt, but it doesn't even begin to compare to having a huge, gaping wound opened up in my back.

Thanks to my elevated spirits, work goes great!

As I'm working, one of the loner wasps buzzes over. There's a full squad nearby, though. Umf...

Now's a pretty good opportunity to run a little experiment, so I think I'll provoke this loner wasp. If I threaten the loner, will the squad react? If they do, I can immediately escape deep into my nest. If they don't, I can do it like I did before

I ready a Silken Smasher. Oh, yeah, didn't I pick up a Concentration skill last time I did this? What does that do, just increase my ability to focus? ...Eh, it's level one, so the effects aren't going to be huge, so I'll just leave it be for now.

Wait, no, concentrate, concentrate. Heh, thinking about Concentration ruined my concentration. Aim caaaaarefully... there!!

Ah, it hit.

Wha, what?! I'm awesome, aren't I? I was thinking "oh man there's no way this is gonna hit, heh" and then I got a direct hit two out of two times! Me, who consistently ranked lowest in the class for physical strength; me, who could barely even throw a softball...

Uh, whoops, in my surprise I completely forgot to keep track of that squad. They are... oh, there they are! Umf, no reaction at all. Man, can I really attack these loners without facing a counterattack? That's really heartless, you know, guys? Or maybe this is just how severe life in the wild is. Well, regardless, either way this is great for me. I can pick off the loners at my leisure.

Chuckling happily to myself, I bring the captured wasp back into my lair, and finish it off with Poison Fang.

---

Chapter S05

Gem of Appraisal

Today is the long-awaited day where I finally get my stats checked with the Gem of Appraisal. There are stats in this world. I can't say that I haven't wondered why that is, since this is reality and not a game, but I've given up on looking for the answer. The explanation is pretty simple: that's just how this world is.

Yes, a simple explanation. This world really is very much like a game. If you work hard enough, you'll earn a reward, just like that. Sure, there seem to be differences in raw talent, but if I compare it to Earth, this really does seem to be a world where your efforts are acknowledged far more easily. At any rate, these rewards come in the form of things called "skills".

To earn a skill, you must perform actions that match what that skill does. As you do so, you accumulate a number of "proficiency points", and when you've earned enough of those, you earn the skill. Once you've earned it, you can start using it immediately. On top of that, if you keep using the skill, you keep earning more proficiency points, until you pass a certain threshold and the skill's level increases. The harder you work on it, the better it gets. There's no such thing as an effort gone to waste! Truly, this is a magnificent world.

Ever since I was born, Anna and Clevea have been tutoring me, so by now I've picked up quite a few skills. The more I did, the more I got out of it, and I got swept away by the thrill of greedily acquiring skill after skill. Sue has always been by my side, mimicking me, and has picked up a lot of skills herself. Sometimes, we overdo it, and Anna and Clevea get angry, but they do it out of love.

In a game, more strength equals more fun. There are other players that like to pace themselves, but I always try to get as strong as I can as fast as I can. This is doubly true now that I'm not just leveling a game character, I'm working on strengthening my own self.

It's all well and good to work on getting stronger, but there's one inconvenient thing about this world: I have no way to check my stats. This world definitely has the concept of an individual's statistics, but trying to see them is extremely difficult.

To do so, you need a skill called "Appraisal". If you have that skill, you can use it to see someone's statistics, but there are few humans in the world who can use it. In order to start building proficiency points, you must first build a deep understanding of what makes something valuable and a sense of what materials things are made of, much like an appraiser does back on Earth. The level of technical skill required is far beyond what a novice can muster. Even if you can somehow acquire the skill, raising its level is an extremely difficult task, so there are very few humans out there who can truly use it.

It's not impossible, though, if you just want to easily acquire the skill. If you have any of these things called "skill points", you can spend them in order to acquire a skill directly. Even a skill as difficult as Appraisal can be acquired, as long as you have enough skill points to spend. Even if you do so, though, you can't really go very much further.

To level Appraisal, you have to use it. Using it grants you proficiency points, and, once you've accumulated enough, the level goes up. However, activating Appraisal is actually pretty hard on your mind.

Appraisal requires neither magic nor willpower to activate. It's definitely wrong to say, though, that you can activate it as much as you want. If you fall into that trap, you'll be assaulted by severe headaches and a sort of intoxicated feeling. The limit varies from person to person, but apparently there are people who can't even use it once without falling ill. Even if you're talented, trying to appraise two things at a time will leave you ill, with a crippling headache.

Since just activating it once could cause such serious effects, activating it over and over again in order to grind out your skill proficiency would carry a terrible cost. And, on top of all that, if you don't get it up to a high enough level, it's effectively useless. Thanks to that, there aren't very many people alive who can use Appraisal effectively. Apparently, it's a profession that's passed down from parent to child.

So, to solve the problem of people still needing to be able to check their stats, this thing called a Gem of Appraisal was introduced. If you can acquire one of these rare, specially-crafted magic items, you can temporarily use Appraisal as if you had the skill yourself. The skill level varies depending on the quality of the Gem, and the one owned by the royal family is, naturally, beyond compare: it's level ten, a level that no other stone in the world can match. Of course, its use requires special permission, so it's really only the royal family and their most valued friends amongst the high-ranking nobility.

Since I'm a member of the royal family, using it will be no problem. However, even though I'm a prince, I can't just use it whenever I want. No matter how many tantrums I threw to try to convince Anna, she was very insistent: you can't get permission until you're old enough. Of course, once you're old enough to appraise your statistics the first time, it's treated as a special event. Even if you're merely a noble, there are still rites to be held, a majestic ceremony for a child's first Appraisal. I, of course, still have to go through with this ceremony.

These ceremonies are not just for Appraisal: they also serve as the child's first appearance before the nobility. The Appraisal results are displayed such that all of the gathered adults can see them as well. I don't think it will be a problem that my skills are atypical for someone my age, but I'm a little terrified that my stats will be so low that my family will abandon me.

In any event, Sue and I are making our grand debut here. We've been dressed in our ceremonial children's clothes, and have been drilled endlessly on the ceremonial rites. In attendance will be the current King; that is, our father. Even more, it looks like there's someone especially important in attendance, so it is extremely crucial that we don't mess up at all. Even if we're children, we are members of the royal family. We are the stars of this occasion, so we must present ourselves all of the dignity and grace that is expected of the royal family. This is a lot to ask of me; I used to be a lowly commoner in my previous life. However, when I saw how magnificently my little sister was standing beside me, I was filled with determination. I must do this.

“Are you ready, my Prince?” asks Anna, solemnly. I silently nod. “Then, after you.”

Anna pushes lightly at our backs, and Sue and I enter, side by side, into the assembly hall.

---

Author's note: This is turned out somewhat longer than I was expecting, so I'm cutting it off here. It will continue in chapter S06.

---

Chapter 041

Finally, the level up I've been praying for!

After killing a few more lone wasps, I finally heard that voice.

“Experience requirements met. Small Taratekt, you have grown from level 2 to level 3. Every ability score has been increased. Acquired bonus skill proficiencies from leveling up: your skill [Strength (LV 1)] skill has been raised to level 2, your skill [Toughness (LV 1)] skill has been raised to level 2, and your skill [Overeating (LV 1)] has been raised to level 2. You have acquired additional skill points.”

The level up that I've been waiting for all this time comes at me in an instant! My skin rustles as it peels away from my body. Somehow, although I can't really describe how, I can feel that the wound on my back has closed completely.

“Proficiency requirements met. You have gained the skill [Automatic HP Recovery (LV 1)].”

...Huh? Really? Ohh! Now this is a surprise. So, uh, does this mean that my full-heal on level up is a kind of automatic recovery? I am extremely, unbelievably happy about this, but, man, I really could have used this earlier... My life wouldn't have been nearly this hard if I'd had such luxuries available to me.

No, I shouldn't be complaining. This really is luxurious! My anxieties about if I would ever level up have vanished. This is when I should be smiling thankfully.

Seriously, though, things had gotten pretty dangerous. My health, which had been stuck at six for a while, went down to five on its own, so I got seriously worried about my continued existence. It kept going down, too, and by the time I leveled up it was all the way down to three. Seriously dangerous. I clamped down on my anxious heart, and threw everything I had into hunting stray wasps.

Hunting the loners was remarkably easy, though! Unlike what I'd expected at first, my accuracy with the Silken Smasher has been one hundred percent. This was a serious surprise, you knooow! Is this another thing that spiders can just do naturally? Regardless, on top of that, I picked up my first level in both [Throw] and [Aiming]! Both of these are probably skills that give me a passive bonus, I think.

And on top of all that, I got three bonus skill levels when I leveled this time! I don't know what any of them actually do, but since I've somehow accumulated some skill proficiency, I've probably been benefiting from them unconsciously. I don't... think... there's any downsides to this... probably. I'm a little bit concerned about Overeating, though...

Thanks to all the web-weaving and wasp-hunting I've been doing, my silk-related skills hav gone up quite a bit, too! My Spider Silk is now at level eight, and Thread Manipulation is up to level five. Thread Manipulation is way more useful than I thought it was gonna be. Now that it's level five, its accuracy and speed have gone up quite a bit. Picking this up was absolutely the right choice.

Pain Tolerance also hit level five, so my back was actually pretty comfortable. This skill is pretty awesome; it alleviates pain, but it leaves enough feeling that you have a sense of how bad your injuries are. Pain is a great indicator of danger, so feeling it is actually pretty important. If it disappears entirely, you'll have no idea of how dangerous any of your injuries are. This skill, though, still gives me that sense of danger, despite taking the pain away. It's hard to describe... wounds have a sense of... uneasiness about them, I guess, that is distinctly different from actual pain. So, taking away the pain isn't a problem at all. Ah, well, it's only level five, so it's not like it gets rid of it completely.

Well then! I leveled up after all this time, so let's check out my new stats!

Small Taratekt — LV 3 — (no name)

Statistics:

HP: 38/38 (green)

MP: 38/38 (blue)

SP: 38/38 (yellow), 38/38 (red)

Avg. Offense: 21

Avg. Defense: 21

Avg. Magic Power: 19

Avg. Resistance: 19

Avg. Speed: 369

Oh ho! All three meters went up by two, as did Offense and Defense, and Magic Power and Resistance went up by one. But uh, hey, Speed, what are you doing? I remember you being 348 before, and then you gained... twenty one points...? Isn't that a little weird? The other stats were a little more reserved about it... aren't you trying a little too hard? ...Offense, Defense, why did you go up the same amount? You're leaving Magic Power and Resistance in the dust, you know... Uuuunbelievable...

Ah, well, I'm going to have to ignore my unbalanced stats for now. Gotta focus on the present.

At long last, I've leveled up and regained all of my health, so now I can focus my full efforts on getting out of here. With my injuries as bad as they were, my work was slower than I would have liked; plus, I had to be extra cautious. From now, on, though, I'm going to keep hunting the loner wasps for stamina while extending my nest higher and higher.

By now, I've made it about one quarter of the way to my goal at the top. I've still got a loooong ways to go. So far the wasps haven't been aggressive or even just intimidating. I have no idea how long that's going to last, though, so I need to make sure I'm still building this strong enough to withstand attack. This is crucial... but man, it's way hard. Unlike building a regular nest at ground level, this climbing nest is super challenging! The higher I go, the harder it gets. I keep having to run a thick support thread from the foundation rock to the wall above me, and then I have to bind it tightly to the rest of the structure. I'm only a quarter of the way there, and this work is getting harder and harder as I climb.

I've got no choice, though, I have to do it. I have no idea if or when that Earth Dragon is going to show back up here. What I do know is that I want to be far, far away from here when it does happen. Worst case scenario, I have to abandon my nest halfway through and just charge straight up as fast as I can and hope for the best. This is, of course, extremely dangerous... but if I stay down here, my death is inevitable. So, until then, I'm going to keep building this web higher and higher. I absolutely do not want to stay down here.

---

Chapter 042

Spider vs. Wasp (4)

Ah, is it finally happening?

Finjagoat — LV 6 — (failed to appraise statistics)

Finjagoat — LV 4 — (failed to appraise statistics)

Finjagoat — LV 5 — (failed to appraise statistics)

Finjagoat — LV 5 — (failed to appraise statistics)

High Finjagoat — LV 1 — (failed to appraise statistics)

Hovering in the sky before my eyes is a squadron of wasps, and they sure don't look like they're just here to watch. They're giving off an atmosphere of hostility, like they've finally seen me as a threat and are here to settle things.

My nest stretches up about halfway to my goal. As I've been building higher and higher, the wasp's attitudes have been changing bit by bit, but it looks like I finally hit a point where they just can't leave me alone anymore.

But still, they just sent one squadron. Are they not taking me seriously, or are they just testing the waters? Regardless, in my nest I can totally win against just one squad.

I ready my Silken Smasher. I've been building the walls of this nest out of a fine mesh, but I've left cracks for me to throw my weapons out of. Of course, even though there's cracks, it's not like they're big enough for those two-meter-long wasps are going to be able to get through them. My foes have no way to get through to me, but I can attack outside as much as I want. Well, they can always run away, though, so it's really more of a tie.

The two level fives rush in to assault my nest. Heh. Even when there's two of them attacking simultaneously, my nest doesn't even budge. My Spider Silk skill is level eight! Even when it was low-leveled, my silk was something I was proud of, and now that it's this high-level, it's only gotten better. Just like that, it was able to withstand two of those wasps directly charging into it, without moving an inch! Even though they came at me with their impressive bulk and their great speed, there was literally no damage at all. It literally didn't even shudder from the impact.

The threads I've surrounded my nest with are maximally strong, with just enough rubbery elasticity to be excellent shock absorbers. I designed it so that the threads can expand and contract somewhat, in order to absorb a certain amount of shock. Two wasps ramming into it head-on did nothing! It can absorb at least that amount. If it couldn't, then I'd have to rely solely on the raw strength of the threads to keep things together.

It's not like those wasps' attacks are particularly weak, or anything. From my observations, these wasps are, hm, how do I say it... strong. They drag all sorts of prey back here, including those huge snakes!

They can attack unopposed from the air, with their poisoned stingers and powerful physiques. Under any normal circumstances, they would be a huge threat! No ordinary attacks can reach them when they're in the air, so they can attack without fear of reprisal. Ah, hm, this might be why they seem so weak to my anti-air attacks. My perfect accuracy with the Silken Smasher may be because they just simply aren't expecting anything to hit them!

Thanks to all that, an ordinary battle with these wasps would be extremely difficult. Yes, an ordinary battle. My home, my trump card, is not, however, ordinary. It possesses extraordinary resilience, extraordinary binding power, and extraordinary siege potential! I'll bet these wasps haven't ever seen any tactics like these. This is, after all, what happens when a spider's strongest trump card is wielded by a human's powerful intellect.

For now, I'll ignore the two wasps that got stuck in my nest after they body-checked it. I turn to the remaining three wasps, who still haven't grasped the severity of their situation, and hurl my Silken Smasher! Their leader is completely unable to avoid it, and takes it full on. This was my goal all along. I crack my thread like a whip, and the centrifugal force slams my foe down into my nest. The leader has been neutralized.

The remaining two wasps panic, not knowing what to do now that their leader's been taken out. Perfect targets. I fling out the Silken Smasher yet again and dispatch the higher-level one. After that, the remaining wasp gets its head together, but its next move is awful. I don't know if it was expecting a turnabout, but it charges straight at me! Didn't you learn anything from the other two that tried that? Well, unfortunately, that desperate attack completely fails to reach me, and there's one more wasp stuck in my webs.

It was over too quickly. The wasps I thought were so dreadful and terrible when I first fell down here have no strategy to deal with me once I've built a nest! If it can withstand a straight-on charge without even shuddering, then no matter how many wasps may attack, they'll never reach me! This alone is proof of the ridiculous defensive strength of my nest.

In a video game, if your defense stats are high enough, attacks from weaker characters won't deal you any damage at all. It looks like that's holding true for my nest against those wasps. I had imagined that the wasps wouldn't be able to break through, but I was figuring that they'd at least do enough damage that I'd have to do some maintenance every once in a while.

There are still hundreds of pathetic little wasps buzzing around above me. I remember the terror I felt when I first realized how many there were... but, now that I have my indestructible nest, it's an entirely different story. It doesn't matter if you bring hundreds, or even thousands, if you cannot break through my webs, your stingers shall never reach me!

My chances of escape are looking better and better. In an excellent mood, I finish off these captured wasps and get back to work.

---

Chapter 043

Spider vs. Earth Dragon.....eh?

After my successful defeat of the first squadron, the wasps started attacking continuously. I wiped out the second squad they sent at me without any trouble, but after that, things started getting a little hairy. They started sending multiple squads at once. No waaaaay! I mean, this is the right thing for the wasps to be doing, but, please look at it from my perspective! I don't want this many wasps to come! I'm still totally safe in my nest, but there's this constant feeling of pressure, you know! What am I supposed to do about all of these wasps constantly buzzing around me, day and night?

I sigh a little and look around me. Everywhere I look is wasps, wasps, wasps. Seriously, guys, what's up with you? With this many of you this close, your buzzing is no joke! You're seriously annoying! You're so loud I can't sleep!

On top of that, if I do manage to shoot all of you down, I can't eat that much! Sure, my Overeating skill might let me eat more than I could before, but even that is nearing its limit! I was complaining that one of these things was too huge, and then I got five more. Eating all that brought Overeating all the way up to level three, didn't it?

The worst part of this is that, while I'm being harassed by these wasps, work on my nest has stopped completely! My absolute top priority is escaping. Not dealing with wasps. But now, thanks to this unrelenting onslaught, my construction work can't continue. I'd really prefer if they stopped attacking and left me alone... I already have more than enough food. Well, it's not like they could understand that, anyway.

I really have no choice but to thread a little more work in between each attack. With the wasps being as vigilant as they are, leaving my nest is straight-up suicidal. The “charge straight to the top” plan I was thinking about before is definitely impossible. My speed may be 369, but I won’t get anywhere close to that amount when I’m charging straight up a wall. If I run into any wasps on my way up, it’s plain to see that I’ll be stabbed straight to death.

Ahhhhh, son of a bitch! I really don’t want to get slowed down like this! What happens if that Earth Dragon suddenly shows up? ...If that Earth Dragon... suddenly...

A tremendous chill runs down my spine.

Wh... what? Oh no, oh no, oh no no no no no no no no no no no no no no!!!! This isn’t happening. This is not happening!! Ahhh, but it really is!!!

Alaba, the Earth Dragon — LV 31 — (failed to appraise statistics)

The last guy I ever wanted to see has arrived. What’s worse, it looks like he is quite interested in my nest.

Wh... what do I do?! Wait, no, what can I do? Nothing. I can’t do anything. Not against an opponent like that. I have, basically, one option: pray with all of my heart that he is going to pass me by.

My prayers, however, are ripped to shreds.

The Earth Dragon opens its mouth. A dragon’s greatest weapon is, without a doubt, its breath weapon.

A thunderous roar splits the air. A blast of pressure rips forth. A terrible vortex of destruction swallows everything in front of it.

What happened next, I’m not so sure about. It’s pretty easy to put the pieces together, though. The big, sturdy rock I had used as the foundation for my nest simply vanishes, along with a huge chunk of the wall behind it. An enormous crack runs up the wall above the blast site. Chunks of the wall start to rapidly break off; a literal cave-in. In a single blow, the bottom half of my nest was destroyed. The remaining top half was soon swallowed within the collapsing wall.

I was in the top half, spared from the direct effects of that breath weapon. I fell, surrounded by my broken webs, unable to do anything. I helplessly fall to the ground below. Oof. My health meter empties in an instant, but I'm still alive somehow. I'm alive, but I don't know for how long. Everything is up to the dragon, now.

I'm covered in layers of my own silk webbing. I'll get stuck it in if I touch the sticky parts, even though it's my own thread. That's really not a problem, though, not now. This might actually be lucky. If I'm covered in a pile of silk, the dragon might not be able to see me amongst the wreckage. He might even think I'm a rock, if I had to take a guess! If I just lie perfectly still, maybe he'll miss me entirely?

Seizing this faint hope, I hold my breath, and clamp down on the fear that trembles through my body.

“Proficiency requirements met. You have gained the skill [Fear Resistance (LV 1)].”

My trembling lessens by just a fraction, but I'm still scared. I am still quivering in abject terror! I'm scared i'm scared i'm scared i'm scared i'm scared i'm scared i'm scaaaared!!

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Stealth (LV 2)] has been raised to level 3.”

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Fear Resistance (LV 1)] has been raised to level 2.”

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Stealth (LV 3)] has been raised to level 4.”

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Fear Resistance (LV 2)] has been raised to level 3.”

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Automatic HP Recovery (LV 1)] has been raised to level 2.”

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Fear Resistance (LV 3)] has been raised to level 4.”

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Stealth (LV 4)] has been raised to level 5.”

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Fear Resistance (LV 4)] has been raised to level 5.”

---

The, ahah, “Voice of Heaven” pulls me back together. Or, maybe, it’s the five levels of Fear Resistance that I earned while lying here trembling. I have no idea how long I’ve been hiding here. From the number of skill levels I got, it feels like forever. I check my stamina meter to see if I can tell how long it’s been by how much it’s gone down, but for whatever reason it’s still at max.

I use Thread Manipulation to rip off the threads stuck to my body. From my earlier experimentation, I learned that I can use Thread Manipulation to change the properties of my silk somewhat, even after I’ve detached it from myself. Now, I decrease the adhesiveness and peel it back, slowly crawling out from under the pile of silk. The Earth Dragon is gone.

Oh man, I’m lucky.

---

Chapter 044

Escape from Despair

I survived. I am grateful beyond belief. I'm alive. What an amazing thing to be.

As I think that, though, I can't stop faint feelings of despair from creeping in. What on earth am I going to do now?

My nest is gone. Completely, utterly, gone. I caught a fleeting glimpse on my way out of the destruction wreaked by that breath-like weapon.

There's an enormous crater in the wall where it once stood.

Ha ha. A crater in the wall, that's kinda weird! How did that even happen? Isn't a crater supposed to be something that happens when a meteorite or whatever crashes into the ground? What on earth could put a crater in a vertical surface? On top of that, didn't it have to blow through that huge rock too? Yeah, kinda weird.

Even when I was dazed and defenseless, the wasps didn't attack. Those guys are probably just as terrified of the Earth Dragon as I am. It's just that powerful of a being. Anyone would be terrified. Even I'm terrified.

Seriously, what do I do now? Breaking through the wasps and returning to my original tunnels is... possible. That's only if I disregard the Earth Dragon, though. This time, I survived through pure luck. Next time, though, I don't think I'll be anywhere near as lucky. Based on that thing's actions, it's clear that it recognized my nest as a particularly troublesome thing to deal with. Otherwise, there's no way it would let loose such a ridiculous attack. From here on out, whenever I build a nest, I need to acknowledge the high chance that the Earth Dragon is going to take offense.

So, I can't make a nest. Or, rather, I'm terrified, so I'm not going to. My spirit has been broken. I absolutely do not want to anger my superior, the Earth Dragon.

Maybe I'm wrong, maybe the Earth Dragon destroyed my nest on a whim, but I can't say that a creature that powerful would attack like it did without some level of thought behind it. It really doesn't matter either way, though, since I'm too weak to do anything about it. If I meet it, I will die. That's it.

Twice so far, I've been able to escape. Both of those times have been extremely lucky. I don't think it was entirely luck though. Even though that thing is monstrously powerful, it wasn't able to see me while I was hiding... right?

Yeah, I think so. I really want to think so. If I don't, I'll lose that last thin thread of hope I've been hanging on.

My single way to survive. If I keep myself absolutely hidden, I'll somehow be able to make it out of the Earth Dragon's territory. I've got no other options.

I'll need to rely on my Stealth skill. When I first got it, I didn't think it would help me all that much, but now it's my only lifeline. Its level is five, which is, quite honestly, not great, but I've got no other choice.

I focus my thoughts. First off, I have to figure out which direction the Earth Dragon went. I survey the ground around me, and notice that it's left splendidly clear footprints. They lead off away from me... in that direction, it looks like there's just one big tunnel. Back there, it seems, is where the Earth Dragon lurks. Just realizing that makes me nervous.

I should go down the path that points as far away from the Earth Dragon's as possible. That much is obvious. Who'd be so stupid as to aimlessly meander towards it? To be honest, though, I have no idea where this path may lead. Putting my fears aside, the best way to get out of here would be to try climbing again. Putting my feelings aside, I think it would really be my best chance for survival. Seriously, though, that's still impossible. I don't need to think about this one, I can feel it in my gut.

If I proceed slowly and keep myself hidden, I'll be able to move forward. Staying hidden will be hard... where's a cardboard box when you need one? Heh... Looks like my mood's recovering a little bit, huh?

Speaking of recovering, it looks like that huge pile of damage I took when I fell has already been healed, thanks to Automatic HP Recovery! Man, I really should have spent all of those skill points on this, instead of that worthless Detection skill. It's fantastic that I was able to acquire it on my own, though. I wonder how quickly I regenerate? I didn't really have the luxury of being able to watch my meters fill back up back then. It's still low-level, so I can't rely on it for rapid recovery, but I shouldn't need to be overly concerned about a few scrapes every now and then.

Ahhhh, I didn't really think about it much back then, but I did notice that my red Stamina bar wasn't going down at all! I wonder why that is? I've never noticed anything like this before... Maybe there's some sort of condition that stops it from decreasing, but I really have no idea what it could possibly be. ...I don't think this is the case, but... is this a bug? Is my stamina going down without the meter being updated? Ah, that would suuuck! I couldn't do anything if I suddenly ran out of stamina. Hey, Ms. Appraisal, I can believe in you, right? You're a can-do kinda girl, right? I trust you, but... with things like this... can I really believe in you?

I think Appraisal might level up soon. It's been a while since it last leveled, and I've been using it constantly since then. Since getting it up to level six made it a billion times more useful, I have really high hopes for level seven. I will be grateful beyond belief if it gives me a skill readout or anything like that. Having all of these skills I know nothing about is seriously inconvenient, you know! I might even have some skill hidden away that will turn this entire situation around! Even if I'm expecting too much of it, maybe there's something that will make things even just a little bit better.

Even the tiniest little advantage I can scrape together in order to get out of here would be amazing. What about a skill that gives me the location of all of the nearby enemies? If I had that, I could constantly be checking to make sure the Earth Dragon wasn't anywhere near me as I move forward. It would be great if I could use Detection like that, huh... I've given up hope on that by now, though.

I could really use a map, too! I don't know if this tunnel is going to lead me to a safe place or not. There's actually a pretty decent chance that this links directly up with another danger zone! If that happens, I'll probably die... right?

Well, for now, all I can really rely on is my own terrible luck. Please, if I may be so bold, let this passage bring me to somewhere safe!

---

Chapter 045

The Depths of the Great Elro Labyrinth

This path I've been following is pretty big.

Well, it's got to be pretty big if those two-and-a-half meter wasps can fly about freely. Even that five-meter praying mantis can move freely, too!

Elro Greshgard — LV 3 — (failed to appraise statistics)

A swarm of wasps are swarming around a giant praying mantis, who is slashing back at them with the giant sickles on its forelegs. Unlike an ordinary praying mantis, though, this guy has six. Like an Asura. The wasps want to strike from the air, but they don't want to get in range of those sickles... what a stalemate.

As for me, I'm sneakily observing these proceedings from behind a rock. It looks like neither party has noticed me just yet. It looks like my Stealth skill is far more effective than I was giving it credit for! I sneak a peep over my rock in order to activate Appraisal.

Elro Greshgard: A praying mantis-like monster that inhabits the Lower Depths of the Great Elro Labryinth. The attacks it makes with its sickles are extremely powerful.

Oh! One of the wasps just got bisected by a sickle. Whooooa, those things must be crazy sharp to cut a wasp in half with a single blow! Man, if those things are that ridiculously sharp, they might even be able to cut through my silk! Well, since they haven't noticed me, I have the great privilege of just being able to sneakily scuttle by as I please.

Oh yeah, before I forget, I should look up these new vocabulary words I got from Appraisal.

The Lower Depths of the Great Elro Labyrinth: The area between the middle and lowest strata of the Great Elro Labyrinth. Many powerful monsters inhabit this level.

Ahhh, I see! These are the lower depths, huh... And there's even more below me, huhhh... And there's tons of strong monsters down here, huuhhhhh...

I didn't want to know any of that.

By the way, I did in fact try looking up the "middle stratum" and the "lowest stratum", but all I got was "the stratum in the middle" and "the stratum which, out of all of the strata, is the deepest." Why do I bother, Appraisal?

Although, it seems like this is not actually the deepest layer like I thought it was; there's even more below. I can't help but imagine that the bottom-most layer is packed to the gills with absurdly powerful monsters. Ugh, this is, of course, the world's largest dungeon, and when I think of a dungeon, I think of a place where the monsters get stronger and stronger the deeper in you go. If my current stratum really is filled with powerful monsters, then it's totally not unreasonable to think that the lowest layer could be crawling with Earth Dragon-class monsters. Just thinking about it gives me the chills.

That's far away, though. Hmm, if I had to guess, I'd say I probably was in the upper strata before. If humans were able to get in and out, those tunnels must have been connected to the surface somehow. Aaaargh, why didn't I follow after those footsteps instead of running away! Although, really, even if I did manage to follow them out, I still look like this... Just because I'm a spider, I'd still have to live out my life hunting like a monster.

But yeah, that really has nothing to do with things right now, right? I've got to figure out how to escape these lower depths, after all... which would put me in the middle layers, huh. Really, though, I don't even know if this tunnel connects to the middle layers at all! Maaaan, I really want to avoid that lowest level.

Oh, another wasp died! It's not looking good for the wasps. Mantis, you're way strong! Hmm, isn't that thing way stronger than a snake? This is weird, I've been ranking the snakes as boss monsters... they don't even compare to that Earth Dragon, though, and if this praying mantis is so much stronger... The snake is plummeting down my rankings. This is pretty obvious, but... those snakes are nowhere near the toughest things on this level, are they?

Well, it's far too early to tell. It could be that the praying mantis is just way too strong.

...That is also a thought that needs correcting. Immediately after the third wasp was slain, something entirely unexpected happened to the praying mantis. In the blink of an eye, it was crushed between the mandibles of a giant spider.

Uh? Wait, wait... Seriously?

Greater Taratekt — LV 18 — (failed to appraise statistics)

Whoa. Is this what my Mega Evolution looks like? Really?

Greater Taratekt: The evolved form of the spider-type monsters known as Taratekt. Their powerful, carnivorous fangs drip with deadly venom.

Ohhhh! If I keep evolving, it that what I'll become!? It's still really small compared to "My Mother", that super-huge spider I saw way back when, but this thing is seriously over ten meters long! That praying mantis looks tiny now. ...Wait, was that thing taken down without the use of silk at all? Just with a bite? Wouldn't that require a stupidly high offense stat? Mine's still only 21! How many times am I going to have to evolve to turn into that thing...

Well, I should probably sneak away before I get spotted. Noooo way I can win against something like that.

Alright, I've learned one thing today: these lower depths are seriously bad news!! Why do I say that, you ask? It's pretty obvious!! All these monsters around me are so powerful that I don't even know if making a nest will be enough to beat them. Like I said before, Stealth is the last thread I'm clinging to. Was I too quick to flee, huh? Should I have seriously tried blasting through that swarm of wasps to get out of here, huh? Maaaaan, though, I'm not really feeling that sense of overwhelming doom like I was when that Earth Dragon was nearby, huh...

Although, I do know that there's monsters down here that the bees actually can kill, so maybe this isn't completely hopeless after all. Praying mantises and giant spiders are one thing, but the other monsters down here can't all be that strong, right? If I find a monster that I think I can take, I'll make a meal out of it, otherwise I'll just keep using Stealth to sneak by. By the way, my red status gauge hasn't dropped at all! If I can trust this display, I don't need to worry too much about food for the time being. I should be able to pick my targets freely, acting with the utmost caution. I don't want to blunder across anything else like the Earth Dragon, after all.

---

Chapter S06

Stats

The vast assembly hall stretches before me as I pass through the door. At the end of a long, red carpet, a man waits behind a pedestal, while a crowd of people watches us quietly from their rows of seats along the walls. Everyone in the audience is a high-ranking member of the nobility.

Sue and I proceed forth along the red carpet, walking majestically like we had been taught for this occasion. I can feel the pressure of every eye in the audience as they watch us, but I ignore it as best as I can.

After what feels like a lifetime, we stop before the pedestal, then kneel. The man behind the pedestal, who is in reality our father, the King Majus Delua Analeicht, turns to face us.

“Let us commence the rite of Appraisal,” intones the King, his majestic voice reverberating through the hall.

This man may be my father, but I haven’t met him more than a few times, so he does not feel very much like a family member. Instead, he gives off an air of a powerful ruler. It would be a serious understatement to say I’m nervous right now. The King has been continuing to speak, but I’ve barely heard a word he’s said.

“...Slaine Zagan Analeicht, rise.” “Yes, my Lord,” I reply, rising to my feet. “Begin the Appraisal.”

I step up onto the small stool in front of the pedestal. With my height, I wouldn’t have been able to reach the top without the stool to help. Set within the pedestal is a flawless black gem. This seems to be the Gem of Appraisal, but it’s smaller than I thought it was going to be, small enough to fit in an adult’s palm. I shake off my unexpected thoughts and place my hand on the gem. I concentrate on the word “Appraise”, just like I had been taught. In an instant, my stats are revealed.

Human — LV 1 — Slaine Zagan Analeicht

Statistics:

HP: 35/35 (green)

MP: 348/348 (blue)

SP: 35/35 (yellow), 35/35 (red)

Avg. Offense: 20

Avg. Defense: 20

Avg. Magic Power: 314

Avg. Resistance: 299

Avg. Speed: 20

Skills:

[Mana Perception (LV 8)] • [Mana Manipulation (LV 8)] • [Battle Magic (LV 6)] • [Mana Allocation (LV 5)] • [Offensive Magic (LV 3)] • [Accelerated MP Recovery (LV 7)] • [MP Consumption Reduction (LV 2)] • [Sword Skill (LV 3)] • [Destruction Enhancement (LV 2)] • [Battle Spirit (LV 2)] • [Willpower Allocation (LV 1)] • [Concentration (LV 5)] • [Aiming (LV 1)] • [Evasion (LV 1)] • [Enhanced Vision (LV 4)] • [Enhanced Hearing (LV 7)] • [Enhanced Smell (LV 2)] • [Enhanced Taste (LV 1)] • [Enhanced Touch (LV 1)] • [Life (LV 5)] • [Mana Pool (LV 8)] • [Alacrity (LV 5)] • [Endurance (LV 5)] • [Strength (LV 5)] • [Toughness (LV 5)] • [Magic Power (LV 8)] • [Resistance (LV 7)] • [Speed (LV 5)] • [Aegis of the Heavens] • [n%I=W]

Skill points available: 100,000

My stats appear in my mind’s eye. Simultaneously, they are also projected high on the wall, like a screen, for the entire room to see. This screen is linked together with the Gem of Appraisal, so results can be displayed easily.

The crowd behind me begins to murmur. The King commands everyone to be silent, but the talking still continues. Based on that reaction alone, it looks like my stats are outside the norm. Quite honestly, this is the reaction I had been expecting.

My magic-related stats are, of course, quite high, as Anna could attest. In contrast, though, my physical stats are about where they should be for a child my age. Well, that's not quite accurate; they're definitely on the high side compared to my peers, but nowhere near the same extent as my magic stats. Hmm, my stats have become really unbalanced.

As for my skills, though, I know that there's some sort of Voice of God. If I understand it correctly, alerts you whenever your level rises or you gain a new skill. However, I have two skills that I wasn't told of at all: "Aegis of the Heavens" and one whose name looks garbled. I'm a little curious about both of those, so I try Appraising them.

Aegis of the Heavens: Blessed by the protection of Heaven. Any outcome you desire is made easier to obtain.

n%I=W: Impossible to appraise.

What the hell? Aegis of the Heavens is amazing. It's OP! Although, it does only say "easier to obtain", so it's not like the world will move exactly as I wish. This is an amazing skill, but I shouldn't lean on it too heavily.

The other skill, though, is much stranger. Not only is its name cryptic, the appraisal result is even worse! I have no idea what this skill could possibly be. Even a Gem of Appraisal of the highest quality can't glean any insight as to what this might be and, if Appraisal can't tell me anything, I have no idea how to explore it any further. I know nothing about this at all.

"Oh, that looks just like the one the Duke's daughter has!" says someone in the crowd. "That amazing prodigy, right?" asks someone else. "Yes," adds a third, "but it would appear that the Prince is just as talented... maybe even moreso!"

I've been catching snippets of conversation from the murmuring nobles behind me, usually comparing me to the daughter of a Duke. Is there seriously another child out there who is as gifted as I am? I thought Sue was the only one...

“Silence!!” thunders the King. The room quiets down immediately. The King presents me with a sheet of paper, on which my stats have been recorded by the magical writing device linked with the Gem of Appraisal. I respectfully accept it, bow deeply, and step back. My part of this ceremony is complete.

Next, Sue steps forward. Her results are roughly the same as mine, which causes the crowd to erupt into noise once more. The important difference, though, is that Sue lacks both the Aegis of the Heavens and that mystery skill.

---

Chapter 046

The Law of the Jungle, or so I thought...

I stealthily move along. If I kept watching these guys fight, after all, I'd definitely have gotten dragged into it, so getting out of there immediately was the best idea. Maaaaan, these lower levels... That praying mantis... I thought it was ridiculously strong, but it's really just kind of average down here. There's not only the spider that devoured the mantis, but also winged lions and even a giant serpent that is probably the evolved form of one of those snakes from earlier. Truly, a peerless collection of monsters. No waaaaay.

I've been sneaking along, trying to avoid drawing attention to myself, and so far I've been able to slip past everything without being detected. Well, if I had been detected, it would have been all over, anyway.

For a while, I forced myself to keep moving constantly, not even stopping for sleep. After a while, my red stamina meter finally started to decrease again. I still have no idea what was keeping it maxed out before, but it seems like there's some kind of time limit on whatever it was. Before these thirty-eight points disappear, I'm definitely going to need find myself some food.

I couldn't find a target that I could actually defeat, though, so I tried to force myself to sleep. Let's be clear. I couldn't sleep at all. Obviously. Before, I could guarantee my safety while sleeping by building a basic home and sleeping in there. In a monster lair like this, though, I'd need more than just a basic home to guarantee my safety and, of course, anything more sturdily built would be way more conspicuous. I don't want to stand out at all.

If you have to ask me why, it's that the Earth Dragon is terrifying. If I build a decent nest, the Earth Dragon is probably going to come straight for me. What's that? I have a persecution complex? I don't know... The Earth Dragon is terrifying. Absolutely terrifying. Nope, nuh uh, no can do.

And, so, for the first time in my life, I slept without the comfort of a home. This was waaay too stressful! Until I tried it, I never could have imagined sleeping in the open was going to be so terrifying. Every time I started to nod off, the slightest sound would shock me awake, and then I'd start to nod off again. I got basically no decent sleep like that. Next time, I'm going to make a simple home, just for the peace of mind. It's not bad now, but if I wind up super sleep-deprived, something bad might happen. Ah, well, in my previous life I only really got four hours of sleep a day, so this might be okay after all.

Well, that's just my sleep problems. The real issue is food. I need to find a way to secure some food in this monster lair. This might be me being overly enthusiastic, but I think there's a simple enough way to make this happen. After all, there's a kind of food that I can obtain without breaking a sweat.

I thought it was a little odd, earlier. The strength of the monsters here is ridiculous! But, mixed in with those are some monsters that are way weaker, comparatively, the kinds that I saw back in the upper levels. Take the snake, for example. Ahaha, I never thought I'd be calling the snake weak!

Well, if there's weaker monsters, what do they eat? After all, the weak don't eat, they get eaten. That's the law of the jungle, and this dungeon follows it to the letter. But there's a tiny stream of weak things down here, the kinds of things that the wasps focus on as their main target.

So, after spending some time observing these weaker monsters, I've realized the common thread between all of them.

They're all extremely poisonous.

It's so obvious once you realize it. I was born with a little bit of Poison Resistance skill, so I didn't mind eating poisonous meat very much, but an ordinary person wouldn't want to eat poison! These guys might be weak, but any stronger monsters that don't have poison resistance would avoid eating them. This might even work in my favor; if I get spotted, they might leave me alone because of my poison! Well, I say that, but it's really better not to be spotted to begin with, so I really should keep sneaking around.

So, what do these weak monsters eat? There's two kinds of food, as far as I can tell. The first is, of course, other weak monsters. This is the big one. The weak monsters have to compete with other weak monsters. If I stumble across one, and I know there's no weak monsters nearby, I can easily finish one off with a sneak attack.

The other one... well, it's what the weak monsters eat when there's literally no other choice.

Elro Gelraish — LV3 — (failed to appraise status)

These things look like flat, black bugs that somehow remind me of snails. They cling to the dungeon walls and slowly creep along them, exactly like a snail. Let's call them... snail-bugs. These snail-bugs are abundant down here. No matter where you look, you'll see at least one, stuck to a wall. That's how many there are. After learning about these things, I foolishly wondered why none of the other monsters were eating snail-bug when they were so omnipresent.

This was before I actually ate one.

Yep, that was foolish. My mind was made up, fighting this thing was inevitable and, well, this isn't the kind of thing I can take back. It was only after I ate it that I realized why the other monsters used it as an absolute last resort.

Yep, I ate one. I really ate one. Killing it was easy; I yanked it off the wall with a thread and finished it off immediately with Poison Fang. I had yet to uncover its true horror, however. "Time to dig in," I blithely thought. Ugh, why did I do that?

Snail-bugs are un-freaking-believably disgusting.

So, yeah! That taste was not of this mortal world! Sure, I've eaten a ton of rather gross things since I was reincarnated as a spider, but those flavors pale in comparison. It was so disgusting that I lost a few points of health! That was not food. My Decay Resistance skill went up! Under any sane criteria this is not a good thing for your food to do! If "waste not, want not" wasn't such a deeply-held personal belief, I wouldn't have taken another bite.

So, as you can see, there is food that I can easily obtain without breaking a sweat... but it comes bundled with such extreme pain. Well, if I had to pick between starving to death and eating food that merely makes me wish I was dead, I'd have to pick the option that doesn't involve actually dying. So, if I am out of literally every other option, I've got snail-bugs to eat. Let's pray it does not come down to that.

---

Chapter 047

Torrents of Toxin

Another day after another day of sneakily, sneakily scuttling along. The labyrinthine zone from the upper area had a billion twisty little passages, but this has just been one long, unbroken passage. I mean, it's great that I can't get lost, but... if this passage happens to connect to the lowest levels, I'd be stuck, right...? Aaagh, let's not start imagining the worst. This road leads to the middle layers! Yes! I believe this completely!

Well then, my red meter's about to run out. I... did eat one of those snail-bugs earlier, but that is really, really an absolute last resort. Even now, I can see a few of them crawling around on the walls, but I can't really imagine myself willingly eating any of them. That's right! These things are that atrociously awful to eat.

So, while I've still got a few points left in this meter, I should try to find a more normal meal. ...Let's not worry about whether highly poisonous monsters are "normal" or not. Ah, well, it's not like I haven't eaten a bunch of them alreadyyy... Ugh, and now there's these guyyys... Why can't I find something tasty for ooonce! I really miss instant ramen.

Right, right! Front: clear! Rear: clear! Perimeter is clear of external threat! Perfect, perfect.

Elro Randanel — LV 8 — (failed to appraise statistics)

Elro Randanel — LV 7 — (failed to appraise statistics)

Elro Randanel — LV 7 — (failed to appraise statistics)

Look at that, they're in a group of three, just like last time! What a friendly bunch. Their levels are way higher than the last group, though, as expected for things down in these lower levels. That level eight one might even level up soon, if level ten's their evolution threshold. Ah, what a bright future... that they will never see, heh.

I circle around behind them, hidden in the gloom. And then I deploy my brand-new weapon: a throwing net!! ...Huh? The name's kind of boring? Haha, it's fine, it's fine. Sometimes nothing really clever comes to mind, you know! "Silken Smasher" made me grin as soon as I thought of it, but coming up with names of that caliber every single time would be a huge pain!

So, without further ado, throwing net: GO!

Please do not be mistaken: this is no ordinary throwing net. This new weapon... argh, this really does need a name, hm... oh, what? An explanation? Right, right! This net collapses into a ball as I throw it, then springs open wide as soon as it reaches its target! This is my amazing new combination attack, mixing the precise craftsmanship of my Spider Silk and the dextrous control of my Thread Manipulation.

All three of them are wrapped up tightly in an instant! Ha ha hah! A great catch, a great catch! Now, as usual, let's end things with a little Poison Fang... chomp!

"You have earned the title [Poison User], and have been awarded the skills [Poison Synthesis (LV 1)] and [Poison Magic (LV 1)]."

Oh? Ohhhh?! I got another tiiiiitlllllle!! It's a poison one? It's a poison one!! Man, I have been using nothing but poison since I was born, and this is only finally showing up? These must be some strict requirements! Hm, now that I think about it, though, all of my titles have had some pretty harsh entry conditions... maybe they're just hard to earn in general? Ah, well, I've got this one now so it's not a problem.

Now, the skills, "Poison Synthesis" and "Poison Magic", huh... Well, I'm going to just ignore Poison Magic because I still have absolutely no idea how to use it at all. Throw it on the magical garbage heap I'm accumulating. Poison Synthesis, hmm, might share the same fate. How do I use this thing? "Synthesis" huh, so, do I use this to make poison? I'm a spider, though, I can make my own poison already.

Ah, no, no, let's not waste time messing with my skills. I still have work to do! There are still two more of these things that need to be disposed of. So, with my Poison Fangs... chomp!

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Poison Fang (LV 7)] has been raised to level 8.”

Oh? Ohhh?! OHHHHH?! What's today's forecast, poison with a chance of more poison? This is great, this is great! If level ten is the maximum skill level, my poison should be getting way stronger now that it's at level eight. It already could take down those wasps, who I assume were venomous themselves. This is way easier than getting titles, hah.

Right. Let's take these three dead things and hide amongst the crags. Ergh, man, with my terrible physical stats, carrying three of these at once is extremely difficult! Man, if I'd carried these things one at a time, I might have had an easier time but... huh? Didn't I complain about this exact same problem a while ago, you ask? Didn't I come up with exactly the same solution the last time, you ask? Hmmmmmm? I know nothing about anything like that! I don't remember that at all, and my memory is nowhere close to bad, so it can't have happened. You got that? Good.

Well, while I'm stuck here eating, I might as well play around with Poison Synthesis some. Of course, I have no real clues about how to begin, so, uh... I'm basically just going to take a wild guess. So, deep in my heart, I silently whisper, “Poison Synthesis.”

Huh, and something actually popped into my head. Just like with Appraisal, I can see a status window floating in my mind's eye.

Poison Synthesis Menu:

Weak Poison

Spider Venom (LV 8)

What the heck? Oh, well, if it's displayed like this, let's try using Appraisal to read up on it...

Poison Synthesis Menu: From here, you may synthesize poison.

Weak poison: An extremely weak poison.

Spider Venom (LV 8): A lethal venom secreted by spiders. At level 8, it is extremely potent.

Umf. “Spider Venom” is undoubtedly my own poison. This “Weak Poison”, is it what a level one Poison Synthesis can normally make? To try it out, I select Weak Poison. As I watch, a ball of liquid bubbles into being in mid-air, then suddenly drops to the ground with a splash. Whoops. I really should find a container for this, shouldn’t I? Just to be sure, I appraise the puddle.

Puddle of weak poison

Yeah, that’s weak poison, all right. I see... it looks like Poison Synthesis is a skill that can conjure up poison without needing any materials at all. If I was a human, this would be super useful, but I’m a spider, you know. Well, I might be able to come up with a use for it anyway. Yeah, a no-cost way of generating poison is pretty awesome, after all.

Ah, no, wait, my mana’s gone down a bit. Looks like it’s not completely free, after all. That’s another big strike against it. I guess that if I keep leveling it up I might gain access to a larger variety of poisons, but I’ve already got my super-powerful spider venom! This isn’t very appealing at all. I’m glad that I figured out how to use it, though. This is, at the very least, way more useful than the completely incomprehensible magic system.

---

Chapter 048

A fork in the... path?

After all this time following this long, dangerous tunnel through the lower depths, I've finally, finally, found it! A fork in the path! ...uh, the path?

Yeah. An impossibly large cavern stretches out into the distance before me. Here, the path forks... er, here, the path opens wide... uh, here, the path disappears...? If you asked me to tell you how big it is, I couldn't; even with my ultra-powerful night vision cutting effortlessly through the darkness, I can't see the other side.

Uhhhh... which way should I go now? I couldn't get lost while I was following a single straight line, but in this enormous, empty space, I'm kinda worried. It's kinda like... suddenly finding yourself in a desert with no path or landmarks to guide you. I don't even know which way I should be facing! This is dreadful.

I heard that if you keep constantly walking forward in a place where the scenery doesn't change, you'll subconsciously wander in a huge arc and eventually wind up back where you started. Of course, I'm a spider, not a human, so I actually have no idea how true that is for me. There's not really much around here that I could use as a landmark, just crags and pillars scattered here and there. I can't really find anything unique about any of them, so using them as landmarks isn't really possible. There's snail-bugs around here, so even in the worst case scenario I'm not going to die of hunger, but there's going to be no way for me to notice if I'm getting lost.

Well, it's time once to break out the most basic maze-solving skill: follow the wall. I'll keep the wall on my right side as I advance.

But, man, this place is huge. It's not just extremely broad, horizontally, but it's ridiculously tall as well! The pillars holding up the ceiling have to be over a hundred meters tall. What spectacular height. Even though I'm still stuck in this dungeon, I don't feel like I'm cooped up anymore. How do I say this... even though there's nothing here but rock, this cavern exemplifies the glory of Mother Nature. In here, I am reminded of how small I truly am.

In my previous life, I saw a TV show that talked about the unexplored parts of the world. Honestly, I can't say that I felt moved at all when I was watching it back then. No matter how beautiful the images on the screen were, in the end they were just figments of a distant world that had absolutely nothing to do with me. I felt no excitement, no wonder; just indifference. I honestly don't even know why I was watching it.

But now, I'm here. This is the world I'm living in. This isn't irrelevant. I can't be indifferent! Being this moved by my surroundings is something I had never experienced when I was a human. I probably wouldn't have ever been able to come here, too, if I had kept myself cooped up in the nest I called my home. I really should thank that pyromaniac human for forcing me out into the outside world.

...Ah, but even just thinking about it still makes me mad. Yeah, right. Like there's any way I could be grateful to a jerk like that. Next time I meet him, I'll roll him up nice and tight in my silk, drag him around the dungeon for a while, and then finish him off with a Poison Fang.

Hoooof. That's an unpleasant memory to drag up. Let's put that aside, gaze once more at the grandeur of nature, and be calmed.

Bagrgrach — LV 14 — (failed to appraise statistics)

A giant monster lumbers into view. From its build and attitude, it looks kinda slow and lazy, and a little bit stupid too... but that mouth shatters that impression immediately. That giant, crocodile-like mouth, bursting with countless jagged teeth. The monkey-like body attached to that terrible maw looks kind of unbalanced, but brutal.

This isn't calming at aaaaall...

Yeah, that's right. This is a dungeon. This isn't nature; this is danger. Comprende? Yeah.

And, so, I slip away into the murk and make my escape.

---

Somehow, I made it out without being seen. You know, I just had a really terrible thought, that I really wish I didn't have. Could this enormous cavern be, uh, could it maybe be the bottom-most layer?

I don't really know how far apart layers are supposed to be, but it's not unthinkable that I could have gone down a level while following that extremely long road. With such a long, straight tunnel, if it had just a tiny little slope to it, I could easily have gone up or down a fair way without noticing anything at all. It's a possibility, right...?

No, no, no. It can't be, right? That's just an ordinary huge cavern. Yeah. Or maybe it's part of the middle layers! Aha, let's go with that! These are definitely the middle layers! Haha, oh man, it was way easier to get out of the lower levels than I had expected!

Bagragrach — LV 8 — (failed to appraise statistics)

Bagragrach — LV 4 — (failed to appraise statistics)

Bagragrach — LV 11 — (failed to appraise statistics)

Man, what are these guys doing in the middle layer? I make like the Invisible Man... wait, no, the Invisible Spid... ah, forget it. I sink into the shadows and sneakily scuttle away.

After I put a bunch of distance between me and them, I remember that I haven't actually gotten around to appraising their species yet.

Bagragrach: A monster with a giant, deformed jaw. They work together, bringing down their pray as a pack.

Uh-huh... so they're not just strong, they hunt in packs, huh... I've really got no chance, huh...

Yyyeah. It's starting to look like this isn't the middle layer after all. How could it be, with this kind of difficulty level? Ugh. I really, really hope this isn't the bottom layer.

---

Chapter 049

Hey, Appraisal, I guess you're OP after all.

I move stealthily, keeping close to the wall. So, ever since I ate those three monsters a little while ago, my red stamina meter has once again gotten stuck at its maximum value. Hmmm? Sure, it was a lot of food; eating just one of those things was almost enough to max me out, but... Now that I think about it, could this maybe be the result of my Overeating skill? If I eat more than I need, does the excess get stockpiled somewhere? This effect did start happening after I acquired that skill, after all... Hmm, this doesn't seem like such a wild guess.

"Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Appraisal (LV 6)] has been raised to level 7."

Oh? OH?! OHHHH?!?! Appraisal!! Miss Appraisal, you came!! What a glorious day!

Is it okay if I get my hopes up a bit, since you got way more awesome last time? It's okay, right? You wouldn't let me down, right? We've cleared that hurdle already, getting this high, right? You're not going to crash into it, right? Now, the results are...?!

Small Taratekt — LV 3 — (no name)

Statistics:

HP: 38/38 (green)

MP: 38/38 (blue)

SP: 38/38 (yellow), 38/38 (red)

Avg. Offense: 21

Avg. Defense: 21

Avg. Magic Power: 19

Avg. Resistance: 19

Avg. Speed: 369

Skills:

[Automatic HP Recovery (LV 2)] • [Poison Fang (LV 8)] • [Poison Synthesis (LV 1)] • [Spider Silk (LV 8)] • [Thread Manipulation (LV 5)] • [Throw (LV 1)] • [Concentration (LV 1)] • [Aiming (LV 1)] • [Appraisal (LV 7)] • [Detection (LV 3)] • [Stealth (LV 5)] • [Corruption Magic (LV 2)] • [Shadow Magic (LV 1)] • [Poison Magic (LV 1)] • [Overeating (LV 3)] • [Night Vision (LV 10)] • [Visible Spectrum Expansion (LV 1)] • [Poison Resistance (LV 7)] • [Paralysis Resistance (LV 3)] • [Petrification Resistance (LV 2)] • [Acid Resistance (LV 3)] • [Decay Resistance (LV 3)] • [Fear Resistance (LV 5)] • [Ignore Pain] • [Pain Tolerance (LV 5)] • [Strength (LV 2)] • [Toughness (LV 2)] • [Kartikeya (LV 2)] • [Taboo (LV 2)] • [n%I=W]

Eh? Really? Seriously?! I'm not seeing things, right?! Oh. Oh! Ohh! WHOOOOOAAHHHHHH?! Skills!! My skills showed up!! Miss Appraisal, you do excellent work! You cleared that hurdle splendidly! Yahoo! You're really making something of yourself!

Appraisal, you're seriously amazing! Thank you so much. Seriously, thank you! With this... with this, I can finally double-Appraise all of the skills I know nothing about and get a description! So... whoooo's... FIRST?!

Right, first up is Overeating, since I was just thinking about it.

Overeating: A skill which makes it possible to eat beyond one's normal capacity. The stamina that would have been gained from the extra food is stockpiled for future use; however, this causes the user to become fat. As the level increases, the amount that may be stockpiled increases.

Ah, aaaah... Oh ho! It's just as I thought! In other words, it's a skill that, after I eat a ton, stops my Stamina from going down for a while. I'll get fat, though, huh? Am... am I fat?! I don't know how I feel about that. I mean, I'm a spider, so is it really that bad? If I were human, of course, it would be a huge drawback.

Next is... this, I guess!

Strength: A skill which applies an increase to your physical offensive capabilities, proportionate to its level.

Huh. Is that what that is? Just a basic stat-boosting skill. Oh that's right, after I leveled up, this skill leveled up too. When I leveled up my offensive power went up by 2 instead of 1 like some of my other stats did; maybe that's thanks to this skill. So that must mean...

Toughness: A skill which applies an increase to your physical defensive capabilities, proportionate to its level.

Aha, just as I thought, this skill's the defensive version of Strength. Umf, the effect might be a little weak, but since my stats are such garbage, I'll take every tiny little boost I can get.

Let's keep going! Next is... this one, that I've never seen before. It's level two, so it must have leveled up at some point... did I miss something the "Voice of Heaven" said?

Kartikeya: A skill which applies an increase to your speed, proportionate to one hundred times its level. In addition, when leveling up, this skill increases your base Speed statistic by ten times the level of this skill.

Huh? Ahh... uh... huh? Ah... is that why my speed was so ridiculously fast, huh... right... right... WHAAAAAAT?!

Wh... what the heck is this ridiculous skill? I thought for sure that my entire species was this fast, but it was this?! Whoa. Kartikeya... is this the special privilege of a transmigrated soul?! Oh! Is that it?! Thank the gods! An amazing rare skill, bestowed upon me at birth? Transmigration privilege is awesome! I didn't earn the nickname Kartikeya in that MMO for nothing! Hee! I'm getting pretty hype!

Now... what's this other skill I haven't seen before?

n%I=W: Impossible to appraise.

Uh? “Impossible to appraise”? What the heck? ...Huh. After all that, a fumble. Well... just from the name, this kinda looks like a bug. I don’t really like not knowing what it is, but if I can’t Appraise it I guess it can’t really be helped. I just hope it doesn’t have a detrimental effect, that’s all.

I take a moment to collect my thoughts, then check the next skill.

Taboo: A skill earned by breaking taboos. You must not raise this skill.

Whoa. This is a profoundly mysterious description. It seems kinda obvious, though, that this is some kind of penalty, like a curse. Ugh, I don’t want this. “You must not raise this skill,” it says, but it’s already level 2... Seriously? Maaaan... that killed my hype.

---

Chapter 050

Mahou Shoujo Magical Kumoko ☆

Automatic HP Recovery: Gradually restores lost HP. Allows for recovery of injuries that would not heal naturally.

Poison Fang: Grants the Poison attribute to the user's bite attack.

Poison Synthesis: Consumes MP to customize and purify poisons. The kinds of poison that may be synthesized are dependent on skill level.

Available poisons: Weak Poison (LV 1)

Spider Silk: A unique skill possessed only by spiders and spider-like organisms. Produces customizable silk threads. Attributes available to customize: adhesion, elasticity, resilience, texture, strength, and size.

Thread Manipulation: Allows the user to freely manipulate thread.

Throw: When throwing something, increases the strength and accuracy of the throw.

Concentration: Increases the ability to concentrate.

Aiming: Increases the user's accuracy rate, in every circumstance.

Appraisal: Displays information about various things.

Detection: A composite skill that encompasses every perception skill in the system. Skills included: Mana Perception, Spell Pattern Perception, Material Perception, Presence Detection, Danger Sense, Motion Detection, Thermal Perception, Reaction Detection, and Spatial Perception.

Stealth: Conceals the user's presence.

Night Vision: Provides a sense of sight even when no light sources exist.

Visible Spectrum Expansion: Widens the band of frequencies that the user is capable of perceiving.

Poison Resistance: Increases the user's defense against the Poison attribute.

Paralysis Resistance: Increases the user's defense against the Paralysis attribute.

Petrification Resistance: Increases the user's defense against the Petrification attribute.

Acid Resistance: Increases the user's defense against the Acid attribute.

Decay Resistance: Increases the user's defense against the Decay attribute.

Fear Resistance: Stifles feelings of terror.

Ignore Pain: Completely negates the restrictive effects of pain on the user's mind and body.

Pain Tolerance: Lessens the sense of pain, while preserving the sense of danger pain would ordinarily provide.

I appraise the remaining skills in one go. Generally, everything's as I thought it was going to be, but there was a bit of new information in there as well.

The "Visible Spectrum Expansion" skill, for instance, has finally been explained. This will let me see infrared and ultraviolet radiation... right? I can't really see anything, though... Oh, I guess I only have one level in it, so it's not going to do all that much. It's also totally possible that there isn't much infrared or ultraviolet radiation bouncing around inside a dungeon. Well, it hasn't been bothering me so far, so I guess I don't really care!

I also analyzed the various attributes in the resistance system, and, uh, found something kinda terrible. Most of the attributes are pretty much exactly what they say on the box, but... one of them doesn't really quite match up.

Decay Attribute: Encompasses the breakdown and collapse of matter, such as that associated with death.

What the heck? Scary. I thought it was just a skill that made it okay for me to eat meat that was a little rotten, but this is a really weird attribute. My Decay Resistance went up when I ate one of those snail-bugs... do they have this attribute? Whoa. That... explains that terrible, unearthly taste. Ugh. Eating those things is absolutely the last resort.

The next thing that I got curious about was Detection. It's way, way more high-power than I had originally thought. "Every perception skill in the system"? Shouldn't I have had to spend more than just 100 points on that? Can I use them one at a time? Nooooope. Man, seriously, I want to figure out what each one of these things does individually, but it looks like I have to activate everything simultaneously. My options are "on" and "off", nothing for the individual skills. I really want to use "Presence Detection" and "Danger Sense", but when everything is activated simultaneously I can't tell the bits of information I want from all the rest of the information that's coming in.

There's no way my tiny little brain can process all of that; if I try, a headache will be the least of my worries. On top of that, when I turned it on just to test it for a little while, the level went up again! Now it assaults me with even more useless information! Until I find a skill that makes my brain work better, I can't use this at all. This skill is awesome because it's so high-power... but it's also basically impossible to use.

'Twas caviar to the general, pearls cast before swine, Detection for a spider. Ugh.

Well, onto the last thing, the skills that have the highest chance of having their true potential unlocked through Appraisal: my three magic skills. The skills that I've had to leave aside all this time because I had no idea how to use them. The skills that would be infinitely more useful if I knew how they worked. If I knew that, I'd be able to truly call myself a magician. Yeah! Appraisal, if you would?!

Corruption Magic: Magic that directly affects the soul. The spells that may be cast are dependent on skill level. Available spells: Disquiet (LV 1), Phantom Pain (LV 2)

Shadow Magic: A low-rank Darkness magic that manipulates shadows. The spells that may be cast are dependent on skill level. Available spells: Deep Shadow (LV 1)

Poison Magic: Magic that manipulates poison. The spells that may be cast are dependent on skill level. Available spells: Poison Touch (LV 1)

Oh? Ohh? Hmm... Questionable. Well, don't get me wrong, compared to when I knew absolutely nothing this is a night-and-day difference... but I still have no idea how to use it. Corruption Magic... these are mind-affecting spells, right? Shadow and Poison... well, they're pretty obvious. Some of these even look like they might be useful even at level one! They might be useful... but how the heck do I activate them? Should I just try doing it like I did with Appraisal, just kinda chanting the name to myself.

Right. Now then... Disquiet!

...

Nothing happened. Ah, well, maybe it was a misfire because I didn't aim it at a target. Let's try a different spell. Deep Shadow!

...

Nothing there either. Poison Touch!

...

Nothing's happening! My mana isn't even being drained. Forget misfiring or targeting errors, I don't think I'm even firing anything to begin with. Seriouslyyyyyyy. I got my hopes up a little, but I guess it was useless after all. Ah, wait up a bit? Maybe if I try appraising "magic" by itself, it'll give me a little hint...?

Magic: A phenomenon where a user may channel mana through a skill, producing an effect."

Yeeep, no good after all. Uuughhh, I still can't use any magic!! Well, shit. My magical-girl debut as "Mahou Shoujo Magical Kumoko"<sup>1</sup> is still a long ways away, isn't it. Fuck.

---

Translator's notes for this chapter:

1. Literally, "Magical Girl: Magical Spider-Girl". I left this relatively untranslated because a lot of anime titles like that have been left untranslated.

---

Chapter S07

The Duke's Daughter

The Appraisal ceremony finished without a hitch, apart from that little commotion. It seems that what had everyone talking wasn't just the fact that Sue's stats and mine were both abnormally high. Thanks to my enhanced sense of hearing, I was able to eavesdrop a little on the nobles' discussions. It seems that skill points are normally only supposed to be granted when you level up, so starting with a hundred thousand at level one isn't normal at all. Sue, now that I think about it, has zero. I'd bet that this is because I've reincarnated, but what's interesting is that I keep overhearing that "the duke's daughter" also was born with skill points.

From what these nobles are saying, it sounds like the duke's daughter was Appraised a few days ago. They found that not only did she have phenomenally high stats, she also had skill points she wasn't supposed to. On top of that, they're saying that she also has the same skill with the strange, glitchy name that I do.

I come to a sudden realization: if what I'm hearing is correct, I absolutely must meet this daughter of a duke. My chance, luckily, arrived quickly.

After the Appraisal ceremony, we were led to a different assembly hall, where a small party was being held. Accompanied by the king, we went to meet a group of young nobles that had lined up in the center of the room. These children are generally around my age or slightly older; it seems that this is a way for the younger generation of the nobility to introduce themselves to each other. There, I got a chance to meet the duke's daughter.

"It is a great pleasure to meet you, my lord. I am the daughter of the Duke of Anabald, Carnatia Seli Anabald," she says.

She is beautiful, with bright red hair like a raging flame and a fierce face that reveals her strong-willed disposition. Her presence captivates the attention with just a single glance. Not only that, I can see through my Mana Perception the huge mass of magical energy that billows around her. She has as much as Sue and I do.

The Duke of Anabald, incidentally, is among the country's most renowned members of the aristocracy. House Anabald has served the country for many generations, and their proud lineage has produced royalty and heroes. Every child born to the House of Anabald is supremely gifted, and their talents are finely honed by rigorous education so that they may be raised as the finest servants of their country.

Even so, the girl before me is abnormal. She seems to have already surpassed her father, the red-haired man who stands next to her.

"Greetings," I reply, "I am Slaine Zagan Analeicht. Nice to meet you."

To test my realization from earlier, I said the last part in Japanese. For an instant, her eyes went wide, and I knew at once that I had been completely right.

"Father, may I speak with this girl?" I ask. "Eh?" replies the king.

He seems a little puzzled by my actions. The duke and his daughter, after all, were at the head of a long line of other children, brought in to meet me. However, I couldn't let this chance slip past me.

"Should I not?" "Hmm..."

The king glances at me, then at the duke, then at the other nobles still waiting in line, contemplating his options. Finally, he opens his mouth to speak.

"I don't mind. Don't be gone for too long. Come back in a little while." "Yes, Father. Thank you."

I grab the duke's daughter's hand and run off, like a little kid. Behind me, Sue started sulking incredibly, but I paid it no mind.

We left the assembly hall and found a private chamber off of the waiting room. Rooms such as these were set up near the assembly halls so that any nobles who needed to slip away to conduct private transactions could do so. This room is tightly soundproofed, and a guard stationed at the door outside adds additional security. “Ahh, this’ll do,” I say, talking in Japanese now that I have nothing to hide.

“I would have never guessed that the prince would seriously be another reincarnated person!” says the duke’s daughter, also speaking in Japanese. “Oh maaan, it’s been so long since I heard Japanese coming out of another person’s mouth! I’m getting a little emotional here.” She still looks as strong-willed as ever, but her tone is light.

“So, I’d like to know... do you remember Heishin High?” I ask, referring to my old school.

“Holy crap, yeah! We’re seriously both from the same school and reincarnated in this world, huh?”

As I feared, this young woman was, just like me, caught up in that mysterious mid-air crack in the classroom and transported here; a former classmate.

“My old name was Shunsuke Yamada,” I say. “What was yours?” “Bwha?!” As soon as I say my old name, her eyes practically fly out of their sockets. “Ahahahahaha! H... hahaha! Y... you’re... Shun! Shun, a prince, haha, as fucking iiiif!”

The young woman lets out an enormous roar of laughter. What’s with this déjà vu? The girl in front of me looks nothing like anyone I know, but this style of speech, these mannerisms, I remember them.

“Are you... no way, are you Kanata?” I ask, incredulously. “Yeah!”

Now it’s my turn to laugh. Kanata, the guy I used to play games with all the time, my best friend, is now a young woman. I don’t know if it would have been possible for him to have been reincarnated as anything less like his old self.

“Man, don’t laugh! I was seriously depressed about this for a while after I was reborn, you know?” “Ahaaa, my bad. You were laughing at me just now though! Let’s call it even.” “Yeah. I’m so glad I met you again, though! It’s been rough so far, dealing with this all on my own.” “Ahh, yeah, I totally understand. I’m glad we met too.”

Kanata and I bump fists.

Immediately, an ear-splitting sound roars through the soundproofed door. “What the?!” yells Kanata, panicking. I also panic for an instant, but as soon as I realize who was on the other side, I calm down. Or, rather, I started panicking for a different reason.

With another roar, the door flies off its hinges and crashes into the room. On the other side, I see Sue, her body strengthened with Battle Magic and mana gathering in her fist for another strike. She peers at the two of us, then locks on to Kanata.

“Sue, no! Stop! Stop!!” I dive between them, just barely before Sue was going to blow Kanata to pieces.

Sue runs forward and clings to me tightly. “I won’t let anyone else have you,” she mumbles.

“Your sister’s scaaaary...” says Kanata, in Japanese.

On that day, I met my first classmate.

---

Chapter 051

Knowing your opponent's strengths, isn't that wonderful?

Invisibly, I lurk behind the rocks.

Elro Daznatch — LV 23

Statistics:

HP: 786/818 (green)

MP: 335/335 (blue)

SP: 779/779 (yellow), 723/781 (red)

Failed to appraise statistics.

A little ways away from the crags I'm currently hiding behind, this guy slowly creeps along. What... is... this thing? If I had to describe it, I'd say it's like... a really huge fish that grew arms and legs? Naaah, that's not quite it. I can't really pin down what I'm getting off of this mysterious life-form.

Well, I don't actually care about this strange and mysterious creature. Ah, no, I can't really say that I don't care. If it spots me, that would suck.

But before that, I have some extremely important news! Yes, the lovely Miss Appraisal has outdone herself once again: I can see my enemies' stats!! Sure, it might just be their health, mana, and stamina, but just that is amazing, right? The success rate isn't very good, though, since it hits maybe once for every three or four tries, but knowing even just a part of an opponents' stats is still huge!

Even with just a rough idea of my opponents' HP, MP, and SP values, I can still get a pretty decent grasp on how strong they are. So, if I see a huge difference in these values, I absolutely should not fight them. My strategy is self-preservation.

So, in the immediate future, fighting this mysterious life-form is out of the question. These stats are ridiculous, you know! 818 hit points? What the heck? If you hit that guy hard enough to kill me twenty times over, wouldn't it still have health left? This is inflation, right? Oh man, if this weird-looking thing with the stupid-looking face has stats like this, that Earth Dragon has to have 4-digit HP, doesn't it?

No waaaaay.

From what I've gathered so far in the last few days, monsters with levels higher than ten are all powerful. These things are what you'd call advanced monsters, I think, that don't have any evolution past level ten. So, if I see a monster of a species that can have levels greater than ten, I shouldn't engage it, even if its own level is less than ten. On the other hand, if I haven't seen a level ten-plus monster in a given species, then it's probably weak.

What was really shocking, though, was that even some of the small fry I've been hunting had crazy-high stats. Some of them even had triple-digit health! Seriouslyyy, I didn't know you guys were so strooong, and so on. For sure, fighting these things head-on would have been suicide. I've been betting everything on my surprise attacks: an entire battle decided in an instant.

Man, now that I think about it, these things I've been calling "small fry" are, uh, higher-rank than I am. Wow, my Spider Silk must be a really good skill, if it can immobilize these powerful foes without trouble at all. If it wasn't the case, then, well, I'd probably be dead by now, haha. Stats may be important, but skills are just as important too!

I really want to know what my opponent's skills are now... if I knew that, I'd have such a great edge in a fight. When it comes down to it, if you took my skills away from me I'd be left with only my speed. If you bring along fire to burn my webs and an antidote to nullify my poison fangs, my odds of winning drop to basically zero. Oh maaan, skill countermeasures suuuck. If I fight someone with that level of preparation, I'm basically just straight-up dead!

Well, I don't really think the monsters down here are bright enough for that. That's why a weak little monster like me can survive down here. Intelligence is supreme! It's humanity's greatest strength.

Hmmm... humanity, though... I wonder how much of this dungeon humans have explored? The only time I've seen humans so far is when they showed up to burn down my nest. I've seen footprints, of course, but ever since I wound up in those labyrinthine tunnels, I haven't seen any. Hmm, if this is indeed the world's largest dungeon, maybe their exploration isn't making very much progress?

Now that I'm thinking about it, I'm able to eat the monsters down here while humans would have to bring in their own food. If you wanted to explore a huge dungeon like this, you'd need to carry around a huge pile of food. That's already a huge amount of physical labor required, and on top of that you'd need to fight off all of the monsters down here too. If you had a skill or spell that gave you, say, an inventory screen where you could store all of your stuff in a pocket dimension, that would be a little different, but food is still a pretty big limitation.

Based on this, I think human exploration efforts have probably been limited to the upper strata; and, on top of that, probably just a small section of it. If that's true, then it makes a lot of sense as to why I haven't seen very many footprints. If there's no footprints, it's out of the explorable range, right?

Hm? Wait a sec... the first set of footprints I found was... back where that huge spider was, in that area with those huge groups of strong-looking monsters? Whoa, that's in their exploration zone? Even though my mother's there? ...No way, can they defeat that thing?! No way!! If my guess is right, that thing's got to be about as strong as that Earth Dragon, right? They can defeat that thing?! It's not impossible? And if it's not impossible, then wouldn't that make humans crazy strong?

...I just had a really nasty thought. If humans are strong enough to take out my mother, then I should just avoid the outside world completely. No matter how hard I struggled, I wouldn't be able to survive. Living down here in the dungeon would be way easier.

Well, for now, let's just keep on struggling forward, trying to get back to the upper strata. Once I finally manage to get back there, I can find a place where humans won't go. Wait, no, even if it's kinda dangerous shouldn't I go find a human and Appraise his stats, just to be sure? Ah well, it's not like I'm in a huge hurry. I still have zero clue how to get back up there.

---

Chapter 052

Tie them up and cut them down

Sneak, sneak.

Left? Clear! Right? Clear! Target acquired, dead ahead!

Elro Kohokolo — LV 23

Statistics:

HP: 67/89 (green)

MP: 21/21 (blue)

SP: 79/79 (yellow), 54/85 (red)

Failed to appraise statistics.

Ahead of me is a monster that's kind of like a giant pillbug. Well, it's got the body of a pillbug, but its head looks more like a rat's. Is it an insect or a mammal? I want to know. Since it's pillbug-like, it's really likely that it curls up into an armored ball when it needs to defend itself. I fought a turtle monster before, and when it retreated into its shell I had a stupidly tough time with it. Well, if I get that pillbug wrapped up in my silk, it won't be able to curl itself into a ball.

Regardless: Set throwing nets on standby... take this!! Direct hit! Thread Manipulation will take care of the rest.

"You have earned the title [Silk User], and have been awarded the skills [Thread Manipulation (LV 1)] and [Severing Thread (LV 1)]. Your new skill, [Thread Manipulation (LV 1)], has been integrated with your existing skill, [Thread Manipulation (LV 5)], which has grown to level 6."

Oh? Ohh?! I got another title!! “Silk User”, huh? This titillates my inner special snowflake.

Hey, pillbug, listen, something’s come up, should we just wrap this up now? Does that sound like a plan? ...No? Too bad. So; Poison Fang, Poison Fang, drag you back behind a rock. Yep!

Now, let’s get straight to figuring out what this new title does. For a title like Silk User, the requirements must be... using silk, right? Hm? Wellll, If that’s the case, it’s kinda weird that it’s taken me this long to actually earn it. There’s got to be some other requirement.

Well, I’ve got it already, so it actually really doesn’t matter what the acquisition requirements are. I’ve got a better question: is this usable? This time, I’m confident: this title will be very useful. Ah, well, I mean, it bumped my Thread Manipulation level up, which is already huge! Day after day I’ve been focusing on grinding this thing out, so having it finally level up makes me so, so happy. Just from that alone, this title is worth something.

What’s really caught my eye, though, is this other skill. “Severing Thread.” Seriously, doesn’t that sound like something a kid that’s way into anime would come up with? But, is this it? A skill that lets me slash at my enemies with my threads?

It... it can’t be!! Cut down by something I did not see... how?! What could have done this?! Urk... is... is this... thread?!

I can make a scene like that happen, right? Hehe. Yeaah. This is greeeeat!

Well, special snowflake delusions aside, this is obviously a pretty decent boost to my combat abilities. The only real offensive attack I’ve had up until now was Poison Fang, but now, at long last, my number of usable attacks has increased to two. Furthermore, this is my silk, my main weapon!

Whoops, haha, I haven’t even Appraised this or done any experimentation yet, I need to avoid getting ahead of myself here. First things first: Appraise.

Severing Thread: Applies the slashing attribute to threads.

Umf. It does what its name implies. I was seriously a little worried about what I would have done if it was something completely ridiculous instead.

Well, that's one worry down. The remaining questions are: can I apply this to my spider silk, can I actually figure out how to activate this skill, and how effective is this at level one...

You know what will come in handy right about now? That monster I just brought down. Come, pillbug, be my lab rat!

Step one, spin some silk. Crank the strength all the way up to maximum, drop the stickiness to zero. I swing it at the corpse of the pillbug while concentrating on the words "Severing Thread". Oh! I definitely feel like it activated.

The thread glanced off of the pillbug's body. Mmm. It's level one, alright, I guess it can't put out very much power? Ah, wait, it cut in a little bit! Isn't this great for a level one skill? The other skills so far have been pretty terrible at level one, so the fact that this can take a piece out of the pillbug's tough shell makes it a really amazing skill.

Which reminds me, what does this cost? Did it consume any mana? Hmm... my mana hasn't gone down at all. My stamina... well, thanks to Overeating, my stamina isn't going down at all so I can't really tell if this had any impact. Keeping in mind Poison Synthesis, I don't think that it's possible for there to be anything that doesn't consume something. So maybe if the actual red stamina gauge didn't go down by a full point, something internally must have ticked down a little bit. But while I don't know exactly how much this costs, the actual cost/performance ratio doesn't seem that bad. On top of that, I've got Overeating keeping my red stamina gauge filled up, which makes this pretty convenient!

Next step is to see if I can use this with a sticky thread as well. Once again, I swing a thread at the pillbug. Hm? Hmmm. I'm sure I activated it correctly, but it didn't even leave a mark.

Well, that's basically what I expected to have happen. From all of the experimentation I've done on my silk, I know that there are some limits on how far I can customize each strand. For instance, if I want to max out a thread's stickiness, it's really difficult to keep its elasticity. It's not that it's impossible, though; it's just not really effective. It's like a thread has a number of points that I can assign to its attributes, and I have to distribute them based on what I want the thread to do. So, when I increased the adhesion attribute, I wasn't able to max out the slashing attribute anymore. Compatibility-wise, mixing those two attributes isn't impossible, it's just not a very realistic goal to have.

Seriously, though, Severing Thread is a pretty substantial skill. It's basically perfect for me. I need to get its level up as quickly as I can.

So, Mr. Pillbug, that's what's happening. You died before your time, and now I'm whipping your corpse, but please help me raise my skill level!

And, so, I continued slashing away at the pillbug's remains with my Severing Thread.

---

Translator's notes for this chapter:

1. The Japanese chapter title is a kanji pun wrapped in a pop culture reference. The theme song for the Street Fighter II anime movie was called “恋しさと せつなさと 心強さと” (Love, Sadness, and a Strong Heart). The first part of the first word is “ito”, which is usually written with the kanji for love (恋) but can also be written with the kanji for thread (糸), which shares the same pronunciation. If that wasn't enough, the second word was written as 切なさ instead of せつなさ. This actually doesn't change the meaning at all, since that's the correct kanji to use in this situation, but it's deliberately written using kanji (instead of spelling it out in hiragana like in the song title) because the kanji 切 means “cut”.

Honestly, I gave up on this one and put in whatever. The proper thing to do would be to come up with an equally niche American song reference that has equally good punning capacity but, well, fuck it. I'll fix it if I suddenly think of something (or if someone's got a really good suggestion!)

---

Chapter 053

Bit by bit, I'm getting stronger!

After bullying my friend the pillbug for a while, I've gotten Severing Thread up to level three. To be honest, I want to keep leveling it a little more, but the pillbug's remains are at this point entirely unfit for daytime TV, so I can't really keep going. Severing Thread still isn't inflicting serious injuries, even at level three, but the garbage still keeps piling up. Pillbug, I will probably, surely, absolutely never, ever forget you. Oh, of course, once I was done I ate it and, of course, it was disgusting as always.

Hmm, now that I think about it, there really wasn't any reason for me to use the pillbug for target practice! Hitting that rock over there would probably been good enough. Oh crap, did I hurt its feelings? Nah, nah, I bet that its soul is weeping tears of joy, since it was so useful to me. Hm? "Brute"? I have no idea what you're talking about!

So, after I finished up with bullying the pillbug, a new monster showed up, drawn by the sound or something like that.

Anograch — LV 8 — Failed to appraise statistics.

First time I've seen one of these. It's a monkey-looking monster, about two meters tall. Since I couldn't appraise its statistics, I wanted to just slip past it, but, nope, it spotted me.

Well, somehow it turned out splendidly. It looked like the type that used speed to its advantage, and, guess what, I'm faster. I just dodged around its flailing arms and then, in an instant, snagged it with my silk and tied it up.

That was really scary! No, seriously. It's been a super long time since I've had to fight head-on like that! And this monkey was really strong, too! That terrible whooshing noise its arm made while it was flailing around made it abundantly clear that this guy wasn't a joke. If it hit me, I was absolutely dead. I dodged every swing as if it were life or death. If I had a mouth, I would have been screaming. Like, "Eeeeeek!!"? Yeah, of course like "Eeeeeek!!".

Thanks to my frantic scrambling around, I earned the Evasion skill. Appraising it gave predictable results: it's a skill that raises my ability to evade. Finally, the king of speed-specialization skills! On top of that, as soon as I defeated the monkey, I leveled up.

"Experience requirements met. Small Taratekt, you have grown from level 3 to level 4. Every ability score has been increased. Acquired bonus skill proficiencies from leveling up: your skill [Concentration (LV 1)] has been raised to level 2, your skill [Throw (LV 1)] has been raised to level 2, and your skill [Aiming (LV 1)] has been raised to level 2. You have acquired additional skill points."

Three skills leveled up in one go. Sure, they're the plain, utilitarian skills, but I'm still really happy! After leveling up, my stats now look like this:

Small Taratekt — LV 4 — (no name)

Statistics:

HP: 40/40 (green)

MP: 40/40 (blue)

SP: 40/40 (yellow), 40/40 (red)

Avg. Offense: 22

Avg. Defense: 22

Avg. Magic Power: 20

Avg. Resistance: 20

Avg. Speed: 390

Skills:

[Automatic HP Recovery (LV 2)] • [Poison Fang (LV 8)] • [Poison Synthesis (LV 1)] • [Spider Silk (LV 8)] • [Severing Thread (LV 3)] • [Thread Manipulation (LV 6)] • [Throw (LV 2)] • [Concentration (LV 2)]

• [Aiming (LV 2)] • [Appraisal (LV 7)] • [Detection (LV 4)] • [Stealth (LV 5)] • [Corruption Magic (LV 2)] • [Shadow Magic (LV 1)] • [Poison Magic (LV 1)] • [Overeating (LV 3)] • [Night Vision (LV 10)] • [Visible Spectrum Expansion (LV 1)] • [Poison Resistance (LV 7)] • [Paralysis Resistance (LV 3)] • [Petrification Resistance (LV 2)] • [Acid Resistance (LV 3)] • [Decay Resistance (LV 3)] • [Fear Resistance (LV 5)] • [Ignore Pain] • [Pain Tolerance (LV 5)] • [Strength (LV 2)] • [Toughness (LV 2)] • [Kartikeya (LV 2)] • [Taboo (LV 2)] • [n%I=W]

Just as before, everything but my speed stat is terrible. If I didn't have Kartikeya, my speed would be terrible as well, and then all I'd have going for me is my silk. Praise be to Kartikeya, and all that.

I may be happy that I got a bunch of stuff just now, but now's not the time to get careless. I could have attracted more monsters here than just the monkey. So, first things first, time to eat.

Mmm. This guy isn't poisonous! It's not bitter at all. It's got a really peculiar stink to it, though, so it's still not in the slightest bit tasty. Man, I really miss cows. And pigs. They were the best.

My stamina might be full up, but thanks to my Overeating skill nothing went to waste. Overeating... when I first got it, I was really cautious about it thanks to its negative-sounding name, but now that I know more it's really quite a useful skill.

I've mentioned this before, but I am extremely dependent on my stamina. Spinning webs and running around both drain it considerably, so a skill that lets me store up an extra pile of stamina is super useful for me. If I could use any of my magic, I might wind up spending less stamina, but there's no point in dwelling on things I can't do anything about.

Oh, on the subject of magic, I got around to appraising each of the spells I know.

Disquiet: Manipulates the target's soul to directly induce discomfort.

Phantom Pain: Manipulates the target's soul to induce illusory feelings of pain.

Deep Shadow: Darkens target shadow.

Poison Touch: Inflicts poison damage on target touched.

Disquiet is, just like it's name, a mind attack. Phantom Pain is pretty similar, too. Poison Touch seems to be pretty powerful, but it's a level one spell, so there's probably some sort of downside. Deep Shadow... does exactly what it says it does, but how useful it this? Hmmmm. Do I maybe link this up with higher level Shadow Magic spells? It looks like there's not really a good basic use for this.

Well, of course, it's not like I can use any of it anyway! Now then, I've finished eating up this monkey, so let's get back on the road.

---

Chapter 054

The struggle for sleep!

Ugggh, I'm sleepy. I'm getting pretty dangerously drowsy here. Camping out without even a simple home is really starting to get to me. I thought I'd be able to stick with it, but at this rate I'm going to be in serious trouble if I can't find a way to get a decent night's rest.

Really, though, if it was that easy to just get a good night's sleep, I wouldn't be forcing myself forward to the point of exhaustion like this. Although it does look like the Earth Dragon isn't going to chase me here, this place is still swarming with other strong monsters. A simple home is probably not enough protection.

On the other hand, making a proper home is completely out of the question! I am absolutely not going to settle down here. I need to get out of here as quickly as I can. Taking a ton of time to make a more durable home is a huge mistake.

So, the only option I really have is making a simple home, although I don't know how effective it's going to be against the monsters that lurk around here... and so on and so on.

What should I dooo? I think, as I shake my sleepy head. Even if I'm just making a simple home, can't I make it better by doing things a little differently? Like, I don't want to build it just anywhere; I need to find a place where it'll be less likely to be found. Easier said than done, though: the rocks here are really craggy, so there's not really any places to hide among them. Ugh.

Wait, hang on. Do I really have to hide? All I really need is a home that other monsters won't mess with, right? If that's the case, I've got a great idea.

Immediately, I start to move. My destination? The top of these tall, tall cavern walls: the ceiling.

Whooooaaaa. So hiiiiigh. I'm scaaaaaared. Can I really sleep up here? Well, I don't see any monsters around here that could either fly or climb the walls to get me. Oh, well, there's the snail-bugs, but that doesn't matter. I haven't seen any wasps flying around in this wide-open cavern, so if I make a simple home in the corner between the wall and the ceiling, I should be able to sleep safely in there.

All right then, shall we start building? Whoa, I'm seriously high up. I've got to be about a hundred meters off the ground... how many stories is that? If I fall from here, I'm definitely dead. Well, I guess I can fasten a lifeline so that I won't fall far if I do slip, but working with zero safety gear other than that is pretty terrifying. Fear Resistance, work harder please!

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Fear Resistance (LV 5)] has been raised to level 6.”

I'm sorry! I didn't mean it. There was no need for that perfectly-timed rebuttal. Man, you startled me!

S... so anyway, I've finished the basic frame. It's pretty simple, just some basic sticky webbing stretched between the wall and the ceiling. I think that next I'm going to hang up some kind of hammock-like web to sleep in.

Hmmm. Although, wouldn't I then be completely exposed? If something had a long-ranged attack like that Earth Dragon's breath weapon, I'd be helpless against it. So, how should I hide this... I wonder if I could surround it with loose rocks?

I descend from the ceiling, and find a rock. Hmmm. This one's pretty big. How can I make this work? Can I chop it up with my silk? I wrap a thread around the rock, and activate Severing Thread. Pull! Hmm, it cut in a little bit, but this isn't going to work. Maybe if I run it back and forth like a saw...? Oh! It's working, little by little.

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Severing Thread (LV 3)] has been raised to level 4.”

The skill level went up partway through, so my work got a little more efficient.

Alright! The rock slices are complete. Now, if I can get these attached to the outside of my nest, I'll have some camouflage!

I firmly attach threads to each of the rocks, then ascend the hundred meters up to where my nest is. Right, now all that's left is to start pulling on these threads! Yyyaaaargh! H... heavy! Rgggggggh! Ugh, maybe if I use my body weight... And... pull!!

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Strength (LV 2)] has been raised to level 3.”

At some point my Strength skill leveled up. It leveled up, but man this is still heavy! I'm burning through all of my stamina! This... is... hard!!

“Proficiency requirements met. You have gained the skill [Alacrity (LV 1)].”
“Proficiency requirements met. You have gained the skill [Endurance (LV 1)].”

I picked up some skills! It's not like I have time to figure out what they do, though! Now... PULL!!

Hah, hah, haaaaaaah. I finally have them all up. Whoa, now that I look, I actually burned through all of my Overeating stockpile and cut into my actual stamina. Maaan, this was way too hard.

Hmm? That's weird, I thought this was supposed to be a quick-and-easy way to get some sleep... why did I put so much effort into this? Hmmm... no matter how I think about it, this is my own defeat. Yyyep.

Alright, after all of that effort, it looks like the rocks I've got hung up around my nest are doing a great job of hiding me from view. Now all that's left is making a bed... and... done!

Ahhhhh. Ab, so, lute, bliss. You just can't beat the comfort of a nest! Now I can finally, finally get some sleep in safety and comfort.

Oh! Let's check my new skills real quick before I sleep.

Alacrity: Increases the amount of instantaneous Stamina available.

Endurance: Increases the amount of long-term Stamina available.

Oh! The stamina versions of Strength! It looks like my stamina went up from 40 to 41. Stamina is super important, so this is absolutely delightful.

Alright, skills have been checked, and since I'm super exhausted from all that heavy labor, sleep time! After so long, I can finally, finally sleep soundly, so I'm going to rest to my heart's content.

And, so, good night.

---

Chapter 055

The Hundred-Meter High Onslaught (1)

Ahhh, sleep. Yeah. Sleep is good. Although... that's odd. I was planning on sleeping way longer than this, so why did I wake up like this? Hmm? All the hairs on my body feel like they're standing on end... This is probably bad.

I peek my head out juuuuust a little bit from around the rocks and look down.

Anograch — LV 6 — Failed to appraise statistics.

Anograch — LV 3 — Failed to appraise statistics.

Anograch — LV 8

Statistics:

HP: 165/168 (green)

MP: 38/38 (blue)

SP: 127/127 (yellow), 109/118 (red)

Failed to appraise statistics.

Anograch — LV 5 — Failed to appraise statistics.

.....

An army of monkeys, about fifty members strong, has assembled beneath me.

Eh? This is a joke, right? They're looking up right at me. How?! My rock camouflage is perfect! I checked it myself earlier, and when you glance at it, it just looks like a little chunk of rock sticking out of the wall. What the heck?!

Whoa, this is bad! Those monkeys are climbing. Their progress is slow and they're having a tough time of it, but they're still coming up. It looks like I've still got a few minutes until they reach me, so now I really need to come up with some kind of plan.

From here, it looks like running away along the ceiling is probably my best bet. Attempting to fight that many monkeys is, how should I put it, impossible. So! Now that that's settled, let's get out of here immediately.

Huh? The ceiling seems to be a different color... What?! It's ridiculously slippery! My threads can barely even stick to it! What the heck...

The ceiling, after about one or two meters, transitions to a different kind of rock. It's so smooth that my feet can't get a grip, and even maximally adhesive silk doesn't stick very well to it at all. Looks like running away across the ceiling isn't going to work.

So I've got no choice but to run away along the wall. They'll probably try to chase after me, but that'll be a battle of perseverance. Alright, let's go!

Wha?! What the heck! A rock? Whoa, these jerks are throwing rocks at me! Wait, they can reach me all the way up here? Whoa, here comes another!

Quickly, I duck behind an outcropping, and the rock hits the wall where I was moments ago. It doesn't seem to have very much force behind it, as you'd expect of a rock thrown a hundred meters straight up, but if it hits me while I'm clinging to a vertical surface, there's a good chance I'll get knocked off. To be able to both aim at me from down there and also actually make that throw... they probably have the Throw and Aiming skills, huh.

An awful chill runs through me. I can't run away like this. What am I going to do!

Wait, I've still got one more thing I can try: counterattack.

Luckily, I've build a home here, even if it is simple. Before those monkeys get here, I need to fortify this place as much as possible so that I can meet them head-on. This is going to be like that battle with the wasps, where I was clinging to the wall, but this time it's not my enemies that have the terrain advantage. Rather, my simple home provides me both fortifications and footholds that I can use to seize the advantage for myself.

This is my only shot.

First, I scatter strands of silk, using Thread Manipulation to stick them to the walls around me. It's crude, but at least this'll make it a little bit harder to climb up to get me. It takes me longer than I would like, since I have to keep dodging the rocks they're still throwing at me. By the time I'm finished, the first wave of monkeys is about halfway up the wall.

Not good. These monkeys are moving faster than I had thought. There's no way that silk I've spread out so far is going to be able to stop all of them. What now? Aaah, do I have any way that I can attack them from here? I've got Throw and Aiming too, but what am I going to throw...

Ah! I might not have anything to throw, but I certainly have something to drop!

I poke my head out from behind my rocks and invoke Poison Synthesis. Of course, what I synthesize isn't that Weak Poison. No, I synthesize the venom that I've spent my entire life as a spider perfecting: my deadly Spider Poison.

A ball of poison materializes before me and hovers briefly in the air before gravity pulls it down. The monkeys climbing on the wall have no way to dodge. The poison hits the lead monkey square in the face, and it falls, screaming in agony. This... works!!

I quickly glance over at my mana bar. I only spent a single point! Or, in other words, my maximum is forty shots. With everything I spent on Thread Manipulation, though, I've only got about twenty-five. If every one of those hits, though, I'll be able to take out over half of those things!

I immediately fire off a second one. It finds its mark, and another monkey falls. I keep firing, steadily; if it works, it works.

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Poison Synthesis (LV 1)] has been raised to level 2.”

My skill level went up, but I've got no time to check it. Besides, there's no way the new poison would beat out my Spider Poison.

I've taken down quite a few monkeys, but they've started to adapt. They're no longer climbing up directly below me, and have started moving to the side. I drop the rest of my poison on the stragglers.

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Aiming (LV 2)] has been raised to level 3.”

Good, good. The last few monkeys beneath me fall comedically. The rest have moved out of range; I won't be able to hit them with poison anymore. The timing's pretty good, though, I was starting to get a little worried about my mana reserves.

I scatter a few threads in the monkeys' way. This fight has only just begun.

---

Chapter S08

Skill Encyclopedia

My eyes are rooted to the tome in front of me.

“What do you think? It’s amazing, right?” asks Kanata (er, I mean, Katia, the duke’s daughter), with an eager expression on her face.

Ever since the Appraisal ceremony, Katia’s been coming over to hang out frequently. At first, I wanted to call her Kanata, but that felt kind of unnatural, so I decided to go with her current name: Carnatia, or Katia for short.

Katia, though, has continued to insist on calling me “Shun” like she did before. It’s a stretch, but you can take the “sh” sound from the start of Slaine and the “n” from the end and sort of turn it into “Shun”, so it’s been rather forcefully decided that that’s my nickname. I don’t mind much that we’re using nicknames for each other, but to everyone around us, it looks like we’ve got a very close relationship. This is absolutely true; Katia and I are great friends. Katia, however, is now a girl, and there are those who are thinking of our relationship as the other kind of close.

Top on the list of these people is my younger sister Sue, who is sitting between me and Katia. Whenever Katia comes over, Sue always gives her the most withering glare, then firmly insists on being between us at all times. Katia always smiles wryly when this happens. I tried so hard to be a good older brother, why did this have to happen...

“This is the Skill Encyclopedia from the Duke’s manor,” says Katia. “This one is, of course, far more detailed than the ones you can find in the markets.”

This book contains thorough descriptions of every skill known to humankind, down to the most minute details. Not only does it list what each skill does and how it can be used, but it also lists the steps you need to take to acquire it. Basically, it's a strategy guide.

Incidentally, when Katia speaks the language of this world, she sounds completely different compared to when she speaks Japanese. Her Japanese is very rough and masculine, but this world's language comes out with the eloquence and grace expected of the nobility. The gap between what she sounds like and what I know is in her head used to seem enormous, but I've gotten used to it.

"Wow, this is great. Now that we have this, we can get any skill we want, right?" I ask.

"Oh, not at all. Time, after all, is limited. One must first decide which skills they truly want, and then devote their limited time to their acquisition."

Excitedly, I flip through the book. There are plenty of skills that I recognize, and even more that I've never seen before. Whenever I saw a new skill with a particularly powerful effect, I'd pause for a little bit.

"If I am not mistaken, you and Sue have already acquired the basic stat-raising skills, correct? If you have yet to acquire them, you should do so soon."

The stat-raising skills Katia is referring to are the ones that simply boost your stats, like Vitality, Mana Pool, Strength, and so on.

"When these stat-raising skills reach level ten," says Katia, "they undergo an evolution. The upgraded skills not only have greatly superior effects, but they also grant a permanent bonus to your stats whenever you level up. We have yet to be allowed into battle with a monster, so our levels are still, of course, one. As such, I feel that it would be most wise for us to acquire these bonus-granting skills before we begin to raise our levels."

Our levels are still one. They're raised by killing any sort of creature, not just monsters. We've not been granted permission to go outside, let alone fight monsters, so we haven't been able to level up yet.

Even so, our stats are still gradually increasing thanks to our constant training. Rapid growth, however, seems limited to level-ups.

"If at all possible," Katia continues, "I would like to evolve each of our stat-raising skills twice, but I fear that may be somewhat out of our reach.”

When you grind up a skill to level ten and it evolves, you gain a number of new benefits. However, earning each level requires acquiring even more skill proficiency points than the last, so actually reaching level ten tends to be extremely difficult.

“Our stats will get dramatically better once we acquire the high-level skills like Fortitude, Fortress, and Kartikeya. I will be most satisfied if we could reach this goal, but it is essential that we at the very least acquire their precursors.”

“Definitely,” I say. “I’m really surprised, though; I don’t see any skills to boost XP or skill proficiency.”

Skills that boost your experience gains are invaluable in RPGs, yet there’s nothing anything like that here.

Katia nods. “Correct. Also, have you noticed?”
“Yeah.”

Now that I’ve finished skimming through the entire encyclopedia, I see what Katia’s hinting at. Sue, who was reading over my shoulder, doesn’t seem to have picked up on it. She looks disgruntled at how easily Katia and I are understanding it.

“There’s no crafting skills,” I say.
“It is worse than that. Every single skill listed in this book is intended for use in combat.”

That’s right, even though there are enough skills to fill this entire book, there are no crafting skills, and no skills whatsoever that are strictly non-combat. There are skills that can be put to use as crafting skills, but all of them are combat skills that happen to have a useful side effect. For there to be this many skills, and for them to all be dedicated towards one purpose... I have a bad feeling about this.

It could just be that Katia and I are only noticing this because of our experience playing games back in Japan. It could be that everyone who grew up in the world simply thinks of this just as the way skills work.

“It’s like...” I whisper, “...like this world was built for combat.”

As the words leave my mouth, a chill runs down my spine. This is a world where the only way to level up is to kill something, a world where every skill is made for combat. This really does seem to be a world that heavily encourages combat.

“This is not widely known yet,” says Katia, “but I hear that the Demon Lord is rapidly massing its troops.”

“That’s...”

“Someday, we will be forced into battle. Until then, we should concentrate on becoming as strong as we can.”

I nod, silently.

---

Chapter 056

The Hundred-Meter High Onslaught (2)

The monkeys climb the walls towards me. I send out sticky strands of silk using Thread Manipulation, and adhere them to the wall in their path. This isn't good. My mana reserves are almost dry. I think I might have overdone it with the Poison Synthesis. If it's come to this, I'm going to have to string those threads up manually.

I quickly duck into the shadow of a crag as another rock sails towards me. The monkeys still left on the ground are still throwing rock after rock at me. I don't think I'm in any danger of taking a fatal wound if I get hit by one of those, but this isn't doing anything to help my outlook.

The first of the monkeys rushes into the zone I've filled with my sticky threads. Of course, it immediately gets tangled up and can't move any further. Now that the vanguard is tied up, they'll be forced to go around. I've bought myself a little bit of t... time?!

These guys, they're using their captured compatriot as a ladder!! They've still got a ways to go before they get out of my sticky-thread zone, but they're going to be here way quicker than I thought.

...Fuck!

I can't afford to keep anything in reserve. I cast my first throwing net down at where the monkeys are most closely bunched up. Anything that gets caught in that I can ignore for now. They can struggle and struggle, but all they'll do is get tangled up even further in my sticky webbing. They won't be able to move very much. If they get stuck in the path, they'll make for a great obstacle.

I can also ignore the monkeys that are already stuck to the walls. Based on the few stats I saw earlier, I don't think any of these things are strong enough to pull themselves free. I won't fight with Severing Thread this time. My proven strategy so far is to use my maximally-adhesive threads and arrest their movements. Once I've done that, I can kill these things off at my leisure.

I throw my second net. Once again, a ton of monkeys are caught up in it. Right as I launch my third net, though, a rock comes sailing up from below, and I dodge it reflexively. Shit, these guys have good timing.

On top of that, those monkeys had been getting wise to my throwing nets and had started scattering to either side. They're spread out thinly enough that I won't be able to capture more than one or two at a time. These guys are probably the smartest monsters I've had to face so far!

If they're so smart, surely they realize this isn't worth it! What do they stand to gain from killing a tiny little spider like me? Yet these monkeys keep single-mindedly coming at me, no matter the cost. Leave me alooone! I'll forgive you for your passionate pursuit. Why don't you turn that passion to a better cause? Something like, I don't know, ██████████ing? (That was a voluntary bleep.)

Even while thinking such frivolous thoughts, I've been scattering more silk. Since the monkeys have dispersed to either side, I have to throw my silk everywhere to try to catch them all. I'm using Thread Manipulation the barest minimum in order to accomplish what I want to do. In a situation like this, running out of mana would be extremely dangerous.

Somehow barricading myself in my simple home is not an option, because I am one hundred meters from the ground. My silk may be strong, but it's not at all invincible. It's weak to fire, and the earth dragon was able to blast it away effortlessly. It's amazingly resilient, but if something comes at it with enough force, they can break through.

I don't think these monkeys are anywhere near strong enough to tear through it. If we were on the ground, I'd absolutely hide myself away and turn this into a siege. But we are not on the ground. Let's say they were all to start attacking my home. They'd all get stuck, of course, but then my home would have to support all of their bodyweight. I don't know how many it would take, but eventually my simple home wouldn't be able to bear it anymore, and when that happens...

My home has no foundation. It's strung between the wall and the ceiling, and held up solely by adhesion. It can support at least my weight and the weight of those rocks, but I don't know how much more it can actually hold up. I had thought about expanding and fortifying it before, but I chose to work on trying to tie these things down instead. If I had expanded it, I would have been able to greatly multiply its maximum load. Considering how many monkeys there are down there now, that might have actually been the best idea. Wish I'd gone with that one.

Why, do you ask? Because there aren't any fewer monkeys down there than when I started! I thought there might have been a chance that I didn't actually kill the ones I knocked off the wall with my poison, but, no, there is indeed a pile of corpses accumulating at the base of the wall. It doesn't look like any of them are somehow being revived.

The only explanation is that there are somehow more monkeys down there than there were when we started. They're receiving so-called reinforcements! Ha ha... these guys just keep pouring out of somewhere. When we started, I think there were about fifty, but now there's easily twice that number. And on top of that, more are still on their way! This is terrifying; I'm in for a marathon, and there's no finish line in sight.

What do I do? Seriously, what do I do? I'm not just worried about my mana; my red stamina is also super low! I've been spinning silk more-or-less constantly since this fight began. If I run out of stamina, this is over. I won't be able to spin any more thread, and that alone is reason enough for me to avoid that happening at all costs.

I get ready to let loose the Silken Smasher. My target: the closest monkey to me. I launch it, it hits. Good! I start hauling it up, bringing with it the creature stuck to it.

It thrashes about violently, but I tie it up with my silk, then stab it through with my Poison Fang. As I do so, one of the rock-throwing monkeys scores a direct hit.

Ow!! My health only went down by five, though. As I thought, each rock doesn't have very much force behind it by the time it gets up to me, since it's thrown all the way up from the ground. It hurts, but thanks to Ignore Pain and Pain Tolerance, I push through it with force of will.

My poison drains the life from the monkey. Then, I start eating!

This is a race against time. I need to finish this thing off as quickly as I can so that I can return to battle. The monkeys down there are still struggling against my sticky webs. Many of them have been caught up permanently in my threads, but at the same time, they're building a bridge of bodies that's almost complete. Bit by bit, they're closing the gap. If I get my stamina back, I can go another round, but I really need to think of this as my only chance to do so. So, I must now finish eating this thing as quickly as I can, not wasting a single scrap!

NnngHAAA!

Finished! I can somehow feel the killing intent from these monkeys grow stronger, but now's my turn! I am the one who eats! I'm not going to let myself be devoured by the likes of you!

---

Chapter 057

The Hundred-Meter High Onslaught (3)

I scatter silk as quickly as I can.

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Concentration (LV 2)] has been raised to level 3.”

Thanks to all of this concentrating I’ve been doing, Concentration’s level has gone up. That’s not really important right now, though. I’ve really got no attention to spare.

Below me, the monkeys are piling up on the silk that I’ve been smearing around. Still, their numbers aren’t decreasing at all. Instead, they just keep coming. Even as I keep tying more and more of them down, even more reinforcements are approaching. It’s like every single monkey in the area is making an appearance.

I have two mana remaining. I have no idea what bad things might happen to me when it goes down to zero, and that’s enough reason for me to stop myself from using those last few points. I can’t use Thread Manipulation at all.

I spin my silk. Another monkey gets tangled up. But then, it does something I could not believe.

It jumped.

It strikes the earth below with a wet thud. At this height, even a monster can’t survive. It seems like these things would rather die than serve as further roadblocks to their compatriots.

Unbelievable. I never would have thought I’d see anything like this, and it sends shivers through me. I’d held out hope that if I continued ensnaring these things as they came, they’d eventually give up, but that fragile hope has been thoroughly shattered. These monkeys will stop at nothing to destroy me. There's only two endings to this fight: either I kill all of these monkeys, or they kill me.

Another rock sails at me, but I can't avoid it. I don't have that kind of free time. It hits me square on, and my health decreases. Even still, I push through it with Pain Tolerance and Ignore Pain. I'm entrusting my health to Automatic HP Recovery. I must continue scattering my silk, despite the rocks. If I don't, weathering this battle will be completely impossible.

I was making fun of these monkeys just a little while ago. After all, they're no big deal next to that Earth Dragon. Really, nothing is really a big deal compared to the Earth Dragon. That was a huge mistake, though. I'm a huge idiot. How could I forget how weak I am? Literally everything in the area is a formidable opponent when you compare them against me. How could I have started thinking of these guys as small fry?

On top of that, despite how much stronger these monkeys are than I am, these monkeys are suicidally bent on crushing me into the ground. When a more powerful monster stakes its life on my destruction, I can't just carelessly waltz through it. I need to make every preparation and tackle the situation head-on.

I'm hit by another rock, and for an instant, for a single instant, I flinch. In that gap, a monkey finally breaks through and seizes my leg. Half of its body has been tangled in my webs, but it's reached out with its long, unhindered right arm.

My leg makes a horrible grating sound in its clenched fist. I force myself to push away the pain as my foot is crushed, and lunge forward to stab the monkey's arm with my Poison Fang.

The monkey uses the last of its strength to tear half of my leg off.

Pain. Mind-searing pain. Pain beyond the limits of what Pain Tolerance can protect me from. Can Automatic HP Recovery fix a missing body part? Do I have to wait for a level-up?

No. Now is not the time for me to worry about a missing leg. I'm wasting time, and the monkeys are seizing the opportunity to climb even higher. I spin my silk. I spin all of my silk. I spin my silk until I once again am down to just a sliver of stamina.

The monkeys that get caught up in it fling themselves to the ground below. I can't even spare a glance as I spin more silk.

“Experience requirements met. Small Taratekt, you have grown from level 4 to level 5. Every ability score has been increased. Acquired bonus skill proficiencies from leveling up: your skill [Concentration (LV 3)] skill has been raised to level 4, your skill [Aiming (LV 3)] has been raised to level 4, and your skill [Toughness (LV 2)] has been raised to level 3. You have acquired additional skill points.”

The instant I hear that voice, I dive into the safety of my home. This couldn't come at a better time... or a worse one. I'm molting. I impatiently struggle out of my old skin as quickly as I can. My missing leg is, of course, perfectly healed. I fling off the last of my old skin, and immediately return to battle.

As expected, the monkeys are clinging to the outside of my simple home. Finally, the monkeys have reached my final line of defense.

Leveling up has completely recovered my mana and stamina, but it might have come too late for me to be able to use it...

No. There's still a way. I reach my legs out of my simple home.

Of course the monkeys latch on to them immediately, but does it look like I care?! I reach out and touch the enormous tangle of silk that I've been constantly spewing out. I focus all of my will, and activate Thread Manipulation. Little by little, I feel my power spreading out through the mass of threads. Since I'd spent all that time raising my skill level, the total amount of thread that I can control has considerably increased. It's still impossible for me to control this entire thing, but that's okay.

My mana depletes at an enormous rate as I force my will into my silk. My captured legs are making that same awful grinding noise again, and I am being slowly dragged out of my home. The monkeys' outstretched arms grab at me. I somehow manage to avoid the ones reaching for my head, but the rest of my body is seized. The monkeys crush me mercilessly with all their strength, and my health starts to rapidly decrease as pain shoots through me.

“Proficiency requirements met. You have gained the skill [Vitality (LV 1)].”
“Proficiency requirements met. You have gained the skill [Mana Pool (LV 1)].”

The so-called “Voice of Heaven” calls out just as I finish my preparations. With all of my remaining power, I manipulate my threads.

At my command, all of the threads I had stuck to the walls come unglued. Of course, this means that all of the monkeys stuck to them start to plummet. With an enormous crash, a veritable wall of silk and captured monkeys smashes down on the throng still below.

“Experience requirements met. Small Taratekt, you have grown from level 5 to level 6. Every ability score has been increased. Acquired bonus skill proficiencies from leveling up: your skill [Thread Manipulation (LV 6)] skill has been raised to level 7, and your skill [Overeating (LV 3)] has been raised to level 4. You have acquired additional skill points.”

“Experience requirements met. Small Taratekt, you have grown from level 6 to level 7. Every ability score has been increased. Acquired bonus skill proficiencies from leveling up: your skill [Pain Tolerance (LV 5)] skill has been raised to level 6, your skill [Stealth (LV 5)] has been raised to level 6, and your skill [Evasion (LV 1)] has been raised to level 2. You have acquired additional skill points.”

In a single instant, I massacre them.

---

Chapter 058

The Hundred-Meter High Onslaught (4)

Thanks to my level-up molting, I've freed myself from the monkeys' grasp. They're still clinging on to the two layers' worth of old skin. I was able to knock off the vast majority of those monkeys after I brought that entire wall of silk down, but the ones who were clinging to my simple home are still completely intact. Well, except for the fact that they're still stuck in my web. I layer some more silk on top of them to make absolutely sure they can't move, then use Poison Fang to make them stop moving for good.

After I finish off the very last monkey, I breathe the tiniest sigh of relief. This is not even close to over with, but at the very least I have cleared the first wave.

I whip myself back into shape. There's no time to relax. This is not even close to over with! These monkeys have yet to be exterminated. I cannot relax until every single one of them is dead.

I immediately leave my home and look beneath me. A grisly scene spreads across the ground below.

All of the monkeys that had been unable to free themselves from my webs now lie smashed to pieces amidst the corpses of those that had fallen off before. Yet even still, even amongst this horrifying carnage, the monkeys' fighting spirit still shines forth.

I immediately start spreading new webs along the wall. These guys aren't giving up. When they've finished regrouping, they'll renew their assault. Before that happens, I need to make sure that I'm done regrouping as well.

The monkeys' reinforcements still keep coming. Seriously, they're still coming... Give me a break!

On top of that, amongst those reinforcements were monsters that should not have been there.

Bagrgrach — LV 3 — Failed to appraise statistics.

Bagrgrach — LV 4 — Failed to appraise statistics.

Bagrgrach — LV 6 — Failed to appraise statistics.

Mouths like those of a giant crocodile. Brutal teeth, like saws, within those mouths. Thick, heavy bodies that tower twice as tall over the other monkeys. Those deformed apes have arrived.

Those things were the first monsters I saw when I arrived in this area. The other monkeys' species name is "Anograch". I really should have noticed the similarity. These giants must be the monkeys' evolved form. So, monsters that should never have arrived have shown up as part of the reinforcements.

Three of those things have lumbered into view. These things are pretty low-leveled compared to the other things I've seen, but this is an evolved form. I can't rely on the level. To start with, the monkeys are formidable opponents in a fair fight, and their evolved forms are definitely not going to be any weaker. When I factor in its fiendishly brutal appearance, it's probably best for me to think of these things as on a level incomparable to that of the monkeys. They're nowhere near as terrifying as the Earth Dragon, but there are three of them. This fight just got harder, again.

I pause, dumbfounded, for a moment, but I'm yanked back to reality as the surviving monkeys start to advance. They take a wide route to either side of my pile of fallen silk to avoid getting caught, and start to climb back up the walls. From that, I know that they're now being extra-careful about my silk. Man, these are seriously difficult opponents.

I lay down additional layers of silk, keeping an eye on the giant monkeys. They haven't moved since they arrived. Maybe they aren't super proactive about cooperating with the regular ones? That would be great, but I can't afford any optimism. I absolutely must keep an eye out for any movement from them.

It seems like the monkeys have stopped throwing rocks at me. It wasn't very effective, and it might be even harder to reach me now that there's a huge pile of silk in the way. It looks like they're committing entirely to climbing the wall to come at me instead. I'm actually really thankful for that. Those rocks were able to shave away my health and stop me from moving freely; simple, but effective. If they're not doing that, then it's all for the better.

Oh, a big monkey has started to move. It slowly reaches down and picks up a rock. ...Wait, a rock!? That rock, which it is lifting up as if it weighs nothing at all, is the same kind of boulder that I chopped up to cover my home with! That should have been stuck firmly into the ground, yet that monkey is picking it up like it weighs nothing at all! Even lifting individual slices up one at a time was ridiculously heavy!! Huh? What are you doing with that...? W... wait, why are you holding it up like that... don't tell me?!?!

I evacuate my simple home as fast as my legs can take me. Just after I get clear, the boulder smashes into my home with all the force of an artillery shot. When the cloud of dust starts to clear, I can see that my simple home has been completely pulverized.

You're kidding, right? What unbelievable power. A single hit from one of those would end me. Oh, lucky me, there aren't any more boulders in arms' reach of the big monkeys. There won't be any more ridiculous artillery strikes for now.

Though... my simple home, my last line of defense, was just obliterated. I'm going to have to fight without a home to fall back to.

This is bad. It's bad enough that I've lost my fortifications, but I was using that structure to secure my footing. I've been able to focus all of my efforts so far on attacking because I was so confident in my footing. Now that it's gone, though, there's a chance that I might slip and fall at an inopportune moment. I'm not going to actually plummet to my death if that happens, thanks to the thread I've got attaching me to the ceiling, but I'd still be left completely defenseless. If this weakness gets out, the monkeys are absolutely going to capitalize on it.

I come to a very quick decision. I need to build a scaffold to grab on to, even if it's hastily made. Sure, I won't be able to work on spreading silk elsewhere, but whenever the monkeys finally get here, I won't have time to build anything then. If I don't do it now, I'm going to deeply regret it.

Right! I've completed a structure just big enough for me to cling to! This is where I'll fight my foes.

The second round of this siege begins now.

---

Chapter 059

The Hundred-Meter High Onslaught (5)

The monkeys keep advancing, and I keep spreading my webs in their path. So far, everything's going like it did the first time around. There are, however, a few important differences.

The monkeys have figured out what my silk can do to them. If they get caught, they can't escape. So, they've arranged their formation such that the largest monkeys are out in front. The vanguard charges forward as far as it can into the areas where I've stuck my silk, pulling as many strands with it as it can, clearing the path a little bit more for the monkeys behind it.

So, now there are countless monkeys stuck, spread-eagled, to the wall. Not only that, but in order to stop me from flinging them all off at once again, they're clinging tightly to the wall itself as well. Thus, the monkeys are advancing on a highway built from their compatriots' backs. When each monkey gets stuck to a thread, it throws itself against the wall with no concern for its own escape. This is a completely suicidal strategy, but I'm amazed that these monkeys have come up with such an effective way to avoid getting all captured. This fight is seriously difficult.

This strategy, though, requires constantly sacrificing troops as long as they keep employing it. They may be advancing, but their number is steadily decreasing. Since the giant monkeys appeared, I haven't seen any new reinforcements, and at the rate they're going, the monkeys' force will be annihilated well before they can reach me. If the giant monkeys don't do anything, that is.

I've been constantly keeping an eye on the giant monkeys. Even while I'm busy fighting the other monkeys, I have to be constantly vigilant. This is brain-bendingly exhausting work, and my Concentration skill has leveled up as a result.

Now, one of the giant monkeys are finally making a move, the one with the lowest level. It turns away and starts to move back a few steps. I'd like to say that it was leaving, but, alas, the world isn't that kind. It spins around to face me, then starts charging straight forward towards the wall.

Seriously?! Sirens scream in my brain as I realize what might be going on. I frantically start to make plans for a counterattack.

The monkey does exactly what I feared it was going to. It charges forward to just before the pile of fallen threads, then jump straight over it. Worse, its stupendously powerful leap carries it straight through the air to me in an instant.

I fling my barely-completed throwing net at the flying monkey. I catch it by surprise, with no way to dodge the net in mid-air. The monkey's trajectory is deflected slightly downward by the net, and it crashes into the wall right below me with a dull thud. It sticks to the wall, tangled up in my net and stunned.

It recovers in an instant and starts struggling with all its might to escape my net. I waste no time in layering more silk on top of it, pinning it in place, and using Poison Synthesis to make more Spider Venom and drop it in its enormous mouth. The monkey thrashes against both my threads and my poison. It didn't die after one dose of poison, so I impatiently synthesize another. The glob of poison drops cleanly into its enormous, waiting mouth.

“Experience requirements met. Small Taratekt, you have grown from level 7 to level 8. Every ability score has been increased. Acquired bonus skill proficiencies from leveling up: your skill [Visible Spectrum Expansion (LV 1)] skill has been raised to level 2 and your skill [Acid Resistance (LV 3)] has been raised to level 4. You have acquired additional skill points.”

I gained a level, so it seems like the giant monkey's used up the last of its strength. I fling my molting skin off of me as quickly as I possibly can. I still don't have the luxury of letting my guard down.

I look back at the invading monkeys crawling up the wall, and see that another of the giant monkeys is there with them.

It looks like this one took advantage of the distraction of the flying monkey and climbed up the wall along the same route the other monkeys were taking. So fast! It was down on the ground just moments ago, and now it's already far up the wall. It mercilessly crushes the monkeys along its path, using them to fling himself higher. With the incredible strength of its powerful legs and arms, it covers the distance to me in an instant.

In a panic, I fire off strands of silk towards the oncoming giant. Despite the fact that it was flying straight up a vertical wall, it quickly dodged to one side. Unfortunately for it, the direction it dodged hadn't yet been covered by the road of monkeys. The wall in that direction is covered thickly in my webbing.

The giant monkey sticks to the wall. It immediately starts struggling to rip itself free, but it looks like even a giant monkey's strength isn't enough to break free of my silk. Instead, the wall itself starts to make a disturbing sound.

Of course, there's no way I'd allow anything like that to continue. I immediately lay down more silk, covering its entire body. For now, I should be able to leave this one be.

I immediately start looking around again. Two of the giants have already moved, the third must be close behind. My guess is correct, and I locate the third giant monkey immediately.

It's right next to me, with its enormous mouth yawning open, about to snap shut on me.

!?! Now is not the time for me to be concerned about falling, or anything like that. Or, rather, I moved purely on reflex, with no time at all to think. I leap from my scaffolding, diving into empty space.

Avoiding it entirely is impossible. The monkey crunches down on all of the legs on my right side, as well as a chunk of my body itself. My health meter empties in an instant. Blinding pain rips through me, and my consciousness flickers. If I pass out now, though, I'm never going to wake up again.

Mid-air, I frantically fire off my silk. A line of it sticks to the wall and saves me from plummeting. The whiplash, however, slams me straight into the wall, and my awareness dims once more. I grit my fangs and rein in my fleeing consciousness.

“Proficiency requirements met. You have gained the skill [Fainting Resistance (LV 1)].”

I somehow manage to stay conscious, although I have no idea if it’s because of my new skill. I reorient myself and look up at where my scaffolding had been.

The third giant monkey has ripped apart my structure, but in doing so has gotten tangled up in the ruined silk. It’s only natural. There’s no way I’d just make an ordinary scaffold. I would, of course, build scaffolding that would turn into a trap when I needed it. I didn’t expect that it would be torn apart in one blow, though.

I make my way back up the wall. Half of my legs are gone, so I have to use Thread Manipulation to drag myself up. I haul myself above the thrashing monkey, then use Thread Manipulation to bind it firmly in place. I synthesize some Spider Venom, and force the monkey to gulp it down.

“Experience requirements met. Small Taratekt, you have grown from level 8 to level 9. Every ability score has been increased. Acquired bonus skill proficiencies from leveling up: your skill [Automatic HP Recovery (LV 2)] skill has been raised to level 3, your skill [Vitality (LV 1)] has been raised to level 2, your skill [Alacrity (LV 1)] has been raised to level 2, and your skill [Endurance (LV 1)] has been raised to level 2. You have acquired additional skill points.”

I molt again, after I level up. Whooof. I seriously thought I was going to die. That was seriously dangerous, just now! If I hadn’t been able to level up just now, I might have legit died for real!

But, this is it. It looks like number two is slowly starting to struggle free, so I pile some more silk on top of it. The rest of the monkeys haven’t gotten anywhere near as close as I thought they would, since the safe path they’d worked so hard to build had been crushed by the giant. I should be able to make up for the time I lost when the giant monkeys attacked. They might still have yet another piece in reserve, but I can’t see a way for them to swing this in their favor again.

I say that, but I’m not going to get careless here. My carelessness has led to so much pain for me so far, so it’s only natural. I’m not going to lose focus here, not until this battle’s finished.

---

---

Chapter 060

The Conclusion of the Hundred-Meter High Onslaught

I watch as the remaining monkeys tangle themselves in my webs. No matter how hard they strain, I am just barely out of the reach of their outstretched hands. I bind those hands in silk, and stop each monkey from moving entirely.

I look around my surroundings. Everywhere I look, I see monkeys, captured in my webs. There aren't any left who can still move around. Just to be safe, I look down at the ground below, but it seems like no more reinforcements are coming. It doesn't sound like it either, when I listen closely.

I have finally taken out every single one of these monkeys.

This is an amazing thing, but I can't yet let thoughts like that slacken my focus. I may have taken them all out of the fight, but I have yet to actually kill them all. Below me, so many monkeys have been caught in my webs that it's actually a huge pain to try to count them all. Bundled up in there with them is the conspicuous form of the one surviving giant monkey.

That last giant monkey is still trying to rip itself free. Realistically, it can apply more force than my silk can handle. It's not going to give way immediately, but if I leave it alone for a while it'll eventually break out. For now, whenever it's looked like it was getting close, I've added more silk to make sure that it stays put.

I had to keep the giant monkey still while I was intercepting the other monkeys. This turned out to be way harder than I had expected. I'm glad I didn't let myself relax after I had defeated the first two giant monkeys. Keeping this thing restrained took way more of my strength than I could have imagined, and now my mana and stamina have both been exhausted.

I haven't finished it off yet. Ultimately, it's still alive because I haven't yet had enough spare time to actually kill it. With the rest of the monkeys still coming, I didn't really have any time to devote to it. On top of that, it's stuck on the route the rest of the monkeys were using to get to me. If I wanted to slay the giant monkey, I'd have to get closer to the rest of them, and that kind of suicidal action is something I simply cannot do.

My biggest fear was that the regular monkeys would try to help the giant monkey escape from its bindings. It's definitely possible that the giant monkey could break its way out of my webs if it had assistance from the other monkeys, so I was really concerned. Unexpectedly, they didn't do it. These monkeys, who have been suicidally ruthless in pursuing whatever path it took to come and kill me, somehow decided not to free the giant monkey, even though it would have been the most effective strategy. I'm super relieved, but I have no idea why they act like they do.

Well, I say that, but really, I have no idea why they were even attacking me in the first place. I don't think they thought of me as food, so I really have no idea why they'd attack me like that. The only thing I can think of is that maybe they showed up to avenge the one monkey I'd killed a little while ago, but to go this far to do that... naaah.

Umf. Even if I keep thinking about it, it's no use. I just can't understand how a monster thinks.

First things first, I finish off the giant monkey. As you might expect, I'm not nearly brave enough to approach such a dangerous creature so that I can attack it with my fangs. Instead, I did what I'd done with the other two: got above it and used Poison Synthesis to pour Spider Venom down its throat. The monkey, after swallowing two shots' worth, goes limp and lifeless.

Now that the biggest threat has been dealt with, I go and finish off the rest of the monkeys one by one with my Poison Fang. Poison Fang does cost a little stamina with every use, but I'm not really worried at the moment. The cost is extremely low, and I don't think I've ever managed to run completely out of stamina before.

But seriously, there are too many monkeys. Even Poison Fang is going to run out before all of those monkeys can die. I didn't really have a choice, so I stopped for a moment halfway through to eat one of the monkeys and regain a little stamina.

Even though they can't move at all, the monkeys still try to intimidate me whenever I approach. Their shrieks seem to have a little bit of fear mixed in there, but I don't really care. Hey, you guys, you were the ones who picked a fight with me! At least be prepared to die for it. Don't start crying when it's your time to die.

So, paying them no mind, I finish the rest of them off.

"Requirements have been met. You have earned the title [Merciless], and have been awarded the skills [Corruption Magic (LV 1)] and [Corruption Resistance (LV 1)]. Your new skill, [Corruption Magic (LV 1)], has been integrated with your existing skill, [Corruption Magic (LV 2)]."

Oh, looks like I got a title. Another dangerous-sounding one, at that. This is the second one that's given me Corruption Magic, huh. I can't help but express my dissatisfaction here. I'm not evil! I swear!

Well, for now, let's wait to look at these new skills. I leveled up a ton during that fight, and I wasn't able to take the time to check my new skills then either. Once I have some free time, I'll sit down and examine them all.

"Experience requirements met. Small Taratekt, you have grown from level 9 to level 10. Every ability score has been increased. Acquired bonus skill proficiencies from leveling up: your skill [Poison Synthesis (LV 2)] skill has been raised to level 3, your skill [Throwing (LV 2)] has been raised to level 3, and your skill [Mana Pool (LV 1)] has been raised to level 2. You have acquired additional skill points."

"Level requirement met. Small Taratekt, you are eligible for evolution."

My level goes up in the middle of grinding my way through getting rid of these monkeys. Ah, is that so? I'm level ten already, huh? ...Whoa!

Sure, I leveled up a ton while I was battling, but is it seriously already time to evolve?!

“You have a choice in evolutionary forms. Please choose between [Taratekt] and [Small Poison Taratekt].”

Hm? I expected that I’d get an option to drop “small” from my species and become just a regular Taratekt, but “Small Poison Taratekt”? Does the “poison” part mean that it’s a more venomous species?

Well, I’ll put one off too, for a little bit. There’s no way that I can evolve out here, exposed like this, in such an unsafe space. I’ve got to hurry up and finish cleaning these guys up.

“Requirements have been met. You have earned the title [Monster Slaughterer], and have been awarded the skills [Greater Strength (LV 1)] and [Greater Toughness (LV 1)]. Your existing skill, [Strength (LV 3)], has been integrated with your new skill, [Greater Strength (LV 1)], and your existing skill, [Toughness (LV 3)], has been integrated with your new skill, [Greater Toughness (LV 1)].”

Hmm? Another title? And yet another dangerous-sounding one, too. Is this the one that comes after Monster Slayer? My Strength and Toughness skills got integrated with different skills? I absolutely cannot forget to figure out what that all means when I’m done with this task.

So, after that, I went back to the boring, boring work of disposing of the rest of these monkeys. Poison Fang, then Poison Fang, and then, occasionally, taking a break to have a snack and reinforce my webs.

And, so, just like that, every living thing besides me wound up dead.

---

Chapter S09

Skill Points

Katia and I are lazing around. A little while ago, the two of us had been doing a bunch of exercise in the castle's sporting ground to work on leveling up our skills. We're finished with that for now, so we're taking some time to just relax.

"Maaan, I'm wiped," says Katia. "My magic skills are really getting up there, but my physical stats are nowhere near that level."

Since Sue is, for once, not here with us, Katia is speaking in Japanese. When it's just the two of us alone, we usually talk in Japanese like this.

"Tell me about it," I reply. "Still, though, our reflexes are way better than they were in our previous world. The more we train, the better we get."

"Yeah, I know, I know. I always used to wonder what we were supposed to get out of the track and field days that our school kept doing, but here, the more I run, the more my stamina grows."

In this world, the more you train, the more your stats increase, thanks to stat-affecting skills. Since we're not able to level up right now, the only thing that we can do if we want to improve our stats is train more and more. If we keep steadily training, though, we will definitely get stronger. All this training may be difficult, but if I keep reminding myself that it's for my own benefit, I can keep pulling through.

"So? What are you up to?" asks Katia.

"Alacrity, Endurance, Strength, Toughness, and Speed are all up to level eight," I say, Appraising myself with a Gem of Appraisal.

This Gem of Appraisal is the ninth-level one belonging to the Duke's household, Katia's family. A gem like this is so valuable that some countries might even call it a national treasure, yet Katia just blithely brought it with her when she came over. I have to wonder if the Duke's household is really okay with this, but since it's here, I might as well use it.

"Seriously, dude, you're climbing the ranks way too quickly. Is this just raw talent...?" Katia mutters, bitterly.

Although we've honestly been following the same training regimen, my skills have been leveling up faster than Katia's. In this world, anyone who wants to put the effort in can become strong, but the rate of growth varies from person to person. This is the result of individual talent.

"Ever since I was reborn into the Duke's family, people have been calling me a prodigy! And, still, there's this huge difference in our growth rates. You cheater."

Katia looks away, resentment in her eyes. Even if you say that, what am I supposed to do about it?

"Oh, by the way," she says, "have you used any of your skill points?"
"Nah, I never got around to it, so I still have all of them."

Skill points are a kind of currency that you can use to purchase new skills without first having to train up your proficiency. Normally, you're not supposed to be born with any, but since Katia and I were reincarnated from another world, we started out with quite a few.

"Stockpiling a hundred thousand points... you bourgeoisie, cheating bastard."
"Whoa, you're getting mean."

I mean, I really have never gotten around to spending them. A while ago, I was thinking about spending them on a few magic skills, but Anna told me not to use any magic. There was no way that Anna knew that I had skill points to spend, of course, but I still felt that going behind her back to learn magic anyway was some kind of betrayal. Since then, I really haven't had any desire to spend any of my points.

"Then, Katia, did you spend yours?"
"...Only a thousand."

If I remember correctly, Katia had fifty thousand points. From the way she asked the question, I thought she might have used them all up, but she's barely touched them.

"What did you get?" I ask.

"...Keep it a secret."

"What? Haha, okay, just tell me."

"...You're absolutely not going to laugh at me?"

"I won't! Tell me!"

"...Appraisal."

I managed not to laugh, but I probably made a really strange face in the process. Appraisal is the textbook example of a skill that you should never deliberately obtain. I'm suddenly curious as to why she'd do such a thing.

"Why would you do that?"

"Well, so, it's the way the reincarnation trope works in light novels. Look, you're in an alternate universe, so it's hard to gather any information, right? So, the trope says that an appraisal skill is top-tier OP, and I thought that I should only be so lucky..."

"Wait, wait. If someone were to write up a list of all the skills that you should absolutely never take, Appraisal would be at the top. Why, after all of the warnings, would you take it anyway?"

"Like. I'm. Trying. To. Say, I picked Appraisal up when I was a baby, before I'd heard any of that! Right when I had just been reincarnated, before I even knew left from right, I desperately wanted to know anything about what was going on. So, I started thinking about appraisal skills, and then all of a sudden I heard Divine Words in my head! You can't seriously blame me for acquiring it on an impulse, after all that."

I understood her immediately. I definitely remember how terrified I was when I was still a baby and had no idea what was going on. I couldn't understand anything that anyone was saying around me, which only made it worse. I completely understand how hearing the Divine Words speaking in perfect Japanese would make you want to cling to them.

"So, is Appraisal really as shitty as they say?"

"Yeaah. Massively shitty. Since it's low-level, it's basically useless, and it makes my head hurt. On top of that, if you don't put in the time, your proficiency will never increase, and it'll never gain any levels. I have been patiently grinding it out with every moment of my free time, but I've only ever managed to get it up to level four. My heart is going to break!"

I'm getting tired of just hearing about it. Using the Gem of Appraisal, I Appraise my own list of skills. The list that then gets displayed shows all of the skills that I'm able to acquire, as well as how many points it would cost me to purchase them. I search through the list, looking for Appraisal.

"Ah, it looks like it'll cost me a hundred points to buy it."

"Wait, seriously?"

A hundred points is the smallest number you can spend on a skill. Hundred-point skills are either skills with very little effect or skills that you would have a high affinity with. Since Katia spend a thousand points on it, I'm not sure that Appraisal is a skill with little effect after all. It may be fairly worthless when its level is low, but it would definitely be really useful at higher levels. So, it seems likely that I simply have a high affinity for Appraisal.

I thought about it for a minute, then acquired Appraisal. I now only have ninety-nine thousand, nine hundred skill points remaining.

"Kay, bought Appraisal," I say.

"Wait, seriously?" Katia says, exactly as she did just a moment ago. "Don't cry about it later."

For now, I'll save the rest of my skill points until I really need them.

---

Chapter 061

I'm evolving!!! (part 2)

Alright, annihilating those monkeys was great and all, but... now what? Everything around me is pretty quiet. Even though we were being so noisy just a little while ago, none of the other monsters have decided to drop by. Maybe it's the opposite; maybe since we were being so noisy, everything else has decided to stay clear.

Well, whatever, I can put off figuring that out for a bit. For now, I'm going to build another simple home up near the ceiling. I can't really say that it's perfectly safe, buuut it will probably be able to keep the weaker monsters from approaching.

Honestly, I really think I should evolve immediately. I don't really know how long I black out for while I'm evolving, but last time I felt like it wasn't a super huge duration. This is just my intuition, though; I can't rely on it for sure.

Regardless, either way, evolving leaves the door wide open for danger to follow. So, a time like this seems absolutely terrible for evolution... if you disregard the huge pile of food I've managed to collect. To evolve, or not to evolve... definitely evolve.

On top of that, if I don't evolve, I might be stuck at a max level of ten. I did put an end to a considerable number of monkeys after I leveled, but I still haven't leveled any further. This would be alright if I merely haven't earned enough experience points to level, but there's the distinct possibility that I just might not be able to grow any more if I don't level.

The problem, you know, is picking what thing I should evolve into: Taratekt or Poison Taratekt.

Hmmmmmm. I can't decide! Last time, the choice between being "Lesser" or normal was pretty obvious, but now, things are nowhere near as clear. A Taratekt is probably the adult version of what I am now. I don't know what kinds of changes that would involve, though... Poison, I also have no clue about. If it lives up to its name, it'll make all of my venom-based skills stronger, but then what about everything else?

I'm stuuuumped. Maaaaan, it would be great if I could just use Appraisal at a time like this...

Wait, could I?

Hm? What's that alert message-looking thing underneath my stat bars? Huhhh? "Evolution possible"? What the heck? The words "evolution possible" are blinking. Hmmmm?

Just in case, I drop another Appraisal on it.

Evolution available: Taratekt or Small Poison Taratekt.

What... the heck?! Miss Appraisal, are you seriously...?! You're the best! Woohoo! Now I can appraise things before I choose to evolve!

Maaan, Appraisal has been really outdoing herself lately. Now then, Appraisal says:

Taratekt: A standard adult specimen of the species of spider monsters known as the Taratekt. Its carnivorous fangs drip with venom.

Small Poison Taratekt: A young specimen of a rare subspecies of the species of spider monsters known as the Taratekt. It carries an extremely powerful venom.

Well, that decides it. It's got to be poison.

Why? It's a "rare subspecies", you know? Rare. Capital-R Rare. If I'm given a choice between something ordinary and something rare, there's no question that I'm going to pick rare, riiiiight? I'm Japanese! I'm weak to words like "rare" or "limited".

Well, now that that's decided, I've got to finish making this simple home. Ah, but I don't have very much stamina left... I'll eat this conveniently-located monkey, and refill it.

...Whoof, done. Now then, let's give this another try.

Whooooa, what could that be, up there on that otherwise barren wall?! What a splendidly prominent spiderweb!

This time, I'm not using any rocks. Even if I wanted to, all of the dead monkeys glued to the wall around here makes camouflage basically worthless.

But, man, I'm tired, physically and mentally. I fought such a ridiculously tough battle, so of course I'm exhausted. Blacking out from evolving is probably different from sleeping, but it still feels like resting.

“Small Taratekt, you are now evolving into a Small Poison Taratekt.”

Right. So, with that, good night.

**“Evolution has completed. You have become a Small Poison Taratekt. Every ability score has been increased. Acquired bonus skill proficiencies from evolving: your skill [Poison Fang (LV 8)] has been raised to level 9, your skill [Spider Thread (LV 8)] has been raised to level 9, your skill [Thread Manipulation (LV 7)] has been raised to level 8, your skill [Concentration (LV 4)] has been raised to level 5, your skill [Appraisal (LV 7)] has been raised to level 8, your skill [Corruption Magic (LV 2)] has been raised to level 3, your skill [Shadow Magic (LV 1)] has been raised to level 2, your skill [Poison Magic (LV 1)] has been raised to level 2, your skill [Poison Resistance (LV 7)] has been raised to level 8, your skill [Petrification Resistance (LV 2)] has been raised to level 3, your skill [Fainting Resistance (LV 1)] has been raised to level 2, and your skill [Corruption Resistance (LV 1)] has been raised to level 2. From evolving, you have earned the skill [Poison Attack (LV 5)]. [Poison Fang (LV 9)] has been integrated into [Poison Attack (LV 5)], raising its level to 9. You have acquired additional skill points.””

---

Chapter 062

Poisonous Spider

Good morning. I was able to sleep peacefully. So, I guess I must have evolved successfully, huh. Mrgh. Just like last time, I'm ridiculously hungry, to the point where I'm feeling sluggish. As I planned, it's time for me to eat the monkeys I'd stocked away as food.

I pop my head out of my simple home and glance around. Right, right! Nothing's out there. Safety confirmed!! Well then, let's get out there and eat every last bite, huh? Time to dig in.

Now then, while I'm eating, let's check up on my stats or whatever. While I was in combat, my skills kept grinding their way up, and I think I even got some new ones. I also think I'll have gotten a lot of things from evolving. So, the survey says...:

Small Poison Taratekt — LV 1 — (no name)

Statistics:

HP: 56/56 (green)

MP: 1/56 (blue)

SP: 54/56 (yellow), 1/56 (red)

Avg. Offense: 38

Avg. Defense: 38

Avg. Magic Power: 27

Avg. Resistance: 27

Avg. Speed: 537

Skills:

[Automatic HP Recovery (LV 3)] • [Poison Attack (LV 9)] • [Poison Synthesis (LV 3)] • [Spider Silk (LV 9)] • [Severing Thread (LV 4)] • [Thread Manipulation (LV 8)] • [Throw (LV 3)] • [Concentration (LV 5)] • [Aiming (LV 4)] • [Evasion (LV 2)] • [Appraisal (LV 8)] • [Detection (LV 4)] • [Stealth (LV 6)] • [Corruption Magic (LV 3)] • [Shadow Magic (LV 2)] • [Poison Magic (LV 2)] • [Overeating (LV 4)] • [Night Vision (LV 10)] • [Visible Spectrum Expansion (LV 2)] • [Poison Resistance (LV 8)] • [Paralysis Resistance (LV 3)] • [Petrification Resistance (LV 3)] • [Acid Resistance (LV 4)] • [Decay Resistance (LV 3)] • [Fainting Resistance (LV 2)] • [Fear Resistance (LV 6)] • [Corruption Resistance (LV 2)] • [Ignore Pain] • [Pain Tolerance (LV 6)] • [Vitality (LV 2)] • [Mana Pool (LV 2)] • [Alacrity (LV 2)] • [Endurance (LV 2)] • [Greater Strength (LV 1)] • [Greater Toughness (LV 1)] • [Kartikeya (LV 2)] • [Taboo (LV 2)] • [n%I=W]

Skill points available: 200

Oh? Ohh!!!

My stats went up... yeah, there's definitely an increase. I was expecting a much more dramatic change, seeing as how I just evolved, buuuuuut, as usual, it looks like only my speed has really increased. It's just my speed that's this unbelievably high, huhhh... Hmm, I wonder how fast I can go, if I charge forward at full throttle? It looks like I'll just be able to run away from fights, assuming I'm against a normal enemy.

My skills have also leveled... ..Hm? What's actually changed from before evolution? Hmmm, making me fall asleep and miss everything that happens while I'm out is really unfair. There isn't a system log somewhere, is there?

I expected my stamina to go down like it did, but my mana emptied out too. I didn't notice that last time... Well, I'm using my mana way more now than I did back then. I've been pouring a lot into Thread Manipulation, and now I've also got Poison Synthesis, which was really useful in that last fight.

No, seriously, Poison Synthesis was extremely useful back there. I thought it was a little bit iffy when I first got it, but it's come in handy waaay more often than I expected. I'm going to have to try finding some other creative uses for it.

Oh, that reminds me; I think its skill level went up, so maybe it can synthesize new kinds of poison now.

Poison Synthesis Menu:

Weak Poison

Spider Venom (LV 9)

Damage adjustment, duration adjustment

Hm? There aren't any new kinds of poison, but there's new stuff under it. "Damage adjustment" and "duration adjustment" ...?

Damage adjustment: Modifies the strength of the poison-type damage.

Duration adjustment: Modifies the duration over which the poison's effect is applied.

Hmmf. So, now I can control both the strength of the poison as well as how long it continues to apply damage after it's in my target's system?

To test this out, I'll try modifying my Weak Poison. The damage and duration numbers are listed now, with a plus/minus column for adjustments. Right now, both stats are at plus zero. I try increasing the damage until I cap it out, at a maximum of plus three.

Okay, I think I get it. I should be able to customize my poisons freely now. When I want to make someone suffer for a long time, I can extend the duration, and when I want to deal a lot of damage at once, I can increase the strength. I'll be able to make whatever poison I want.

It does, however, look like there's a limit to how much I can customize it, probably based on the skill's level. Just to confirm, I try modifying my Spider Venom, but I can't raise its damage any higher than its default of nine.

I think that I'm going to get more and more ways to customize my poisons as my skill level starts to go up, which means I'll be able to use exactly the right poison for any particular situation. Oh man! Poison Synthesis's stock prices are skyrocketing!

Let's move on to the rest of my poison-related skills. Poison Fang has disappeared, and seems to have become Poison Attack instead.

Poison Attack: Applies poison-type damage to an attack.

Ummm? Huh? Does this... mean I can apply poison to literally all of my attacks? Eh? Isn't that terrifyingly good? If it's like that, well, that means I can apply poison to my threads, right? Huh? Isn't this way too absurdly powerful? I've already been cheating my way through fights using Spider Silk, but making it this much more powerful? Is this okay? Is this really okay?

...I'm going to have to run some experiments as soon as I have my Stamina back.

Oh, Poison Magic's level went up, too! It's poison-related, so let's check this out.

Poison Magic: Magic that manipulates poison. The spells that may be cast are dependent on skill level. Available spells: Poison Touch (LV 1), Poison Bolt (LV 2)

Poison Bolt: Fires a projectile at the target, dealing poison-type damage.

Ah, a ranged attack! A very standard ranged attack. I want to use iiiit... but I caaaaaan't..... Seriously, how do I use magic?

Right. Next, we have Poison Resistance. This is the last poison-related one, right? Wow, as expected of a rare poison-type species, all of my poison skills went up significantly. Especially Poison Attack! I am going to have to start messing around with that as soon as I get my stamina back. If it really is as terrifying as I think it is, my combat ability just exploded.

My stats may not have gone up very much, but my skills definitely made up for it. Since I'm so heavily reliant on my skills, maybe I should focus on raising those instead of trying to boost up my stats.

---

Chapter 063

Miss... no, wait, M'lady Appraisal!!

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Overeating (LV 4)] has been raised to level 5.”

Oh! While I’ve been gorging myself on these monkeys, Overeating’s level went up. Well! If I’m eating this much, yeah, it’ll go up. I’m up to the triple digits in monkey consumption by now, right? Yet still, my belly has yet to start swelling. This is all thanks to both the effects of Overeating and the strange phenomena that happens right after I evolve, but, seriously, where is all of this food going?

On top of that, even though I’ve already eaten so much, I feel like I can still eat even more! Long story short, I’ve been tearing into these monkeys with gusto.

While I’ve been eating, I checked up on all of my other, non-poison-related skills as well. I got a ton of new skill levels! Thread Manipulation and Spider Silk nearly doubled in level. Couple that with my new Poison Attack skill, and these are turning into some really powerful skills that I can absolutely rely on.

Getting Spider Silk to level up was already difficult, but once it started getting up there, it was seriously impossible to get it to rise any further. I am waaaay too excited that it finally leveled up!

And Concentration leveled up too! I’m pretty sure it was way lower-leveled than this before I battled those monkeys. That fight was extremely chaotic and required intense concentration, so of course I earned a good amount of skill proficiency. The more practical experience I have putting something to use, the more my proficiencies go up, it seems. Aiming seems to keep going up a lot, so that’s probably the case.

Now that I think about it, when I was hiding from the Earth Dragon, my Stealth and Fear Resistance skills shot up at a ridiculous rate. I was literally on the brink of death there.

Next is... oh, two of my other magic skills besides Poison Magic went up. Let's see!

Corruption Magic: Magic that directly affects the soul. The spells that may be cast are dependent on skill level. Available spells: Disquiet (LV 1), Phantom Pain (LV 2), Phantom Insanity (LV 3)

Shadow Magic: A low-rank Darkness magic that manipulates shadows. The spells that may be cast are dependent on skill level. Available spells: Deepen Shadow (LV 1), Widen Shadow (LV 2)

Phantom Insanity: Implants madness directly into the soul of the target.

Widen Shadow: Manipulate the size of a shadow.

How should I put this... Corruption Magic sounds, uh, really evil. What's this? Implant madness? Like, force someone to go insane? That's waaaay too nasty.

I want to use iiiit...

But, Shadow Magic, on the other hand, is, ah... questionable. This new spell and the first-level Deepen Shadow spell feel like they're completely useless unless I combine them with higher-level spells. It's not like I can use it right now anyway, but this seems super difficult to level up. I mean, how could you possibly use it in combat like this? It's not like I can use it right now anyway! This is so important that I have to say it twice!

My various resistances went up as well. Let's take a look at my new Fainting Resistance and Corruption Resistance skills, though. There's a decent chance that the name and the actual ability are going to be a little different, like Decay Resistance was. Actually, when I just look at the name "Corruption Resistance", there's no way that I wouldn't have to ask what the heck it actually is.

Fainting Resistance: Makes it more difficult to faint.

Corruption Resistance: Increases defenses against effects that directly target the soul.

Well, that's about as expected. Yeah... Corruption Resistance seems straightforward, but Fainting Resistance... would that apply to, say, sleep-inducing attacks? Ah, well, I don't even know if sleep attacks are even a thing. If they did exist, wouldn't there be a Sleep Resistance? What exactly is Fainting Resistance useful for? Eh... well, if I do encounter any sleep-inducing attacks, I'll just have to avoid relying on Fainting Resistance.

Hmf. Next is Vitality and Mana Pool, then Greater Strength and Greater Toughness. I'm pretty sure I can guess what they are, though...

Vitality: Increases HP based on skill level.

Mana Pool: Increases MP based on skill level.

Greater Strength: Increases physical attack power based on ten times the skill level. In addition, when leveling up, provides an additional increase to physical attack power based on the skill level.

Greater Toughness: Increases physical resistance based on ten times the skill level. In addition, when leveling up, provides an additional increase to physical resistance based on the skill level.

Yep, just as I thought: stat-raising skills. I'm really happy about Greater Strength and Greater Toughness, though. I figured that they'd increase my stats, since they integrated Strength and Toughness into them when I got it, but I didn't expect to see extra increases on level up like what Kartikeya gives me. Yeah, the Monster Slaughterer title really does seem like the upgrade to Monster Slayer; since Monster Slayer got me Strength and Toughness to start with.

This might be a little selfish, but I kinda wish that Strength and Toughness hadn't gotten integrated. With my stats as weak as they are, every tiny little boost helps. Defense, especially. I was soooo close to dying during that monkey battle. Hmmmm. Well, the skill proficiency got integration too, so it'll level up more quickly, right? When I think about it that way, I guess integration was probably for the best...? Well, not like I can do anything about it either way.

Now then. The last thing. Yep, the last thing. I put this one off. Yeah, it's only natural. After all, when I just started out with it, it just betrayed my expectations over and over. Lately, though, it seemed like it was actually starting to turn around, but... when it had finally, finally started to live up to my expectations, this happens. You can understand that I'd be disappointed, right?

Right, Miss Appraisal?

Your level went up, you know? Why didn't you get any better? Well, I guess it's maybe alright? After all, I can see skill points in my status, I guess... it's convenient? But you've been rocketing forward so quickly lately, so this kinda seems like a ripoff? Did you maybe get a little carried away? Hey, what's the deal?

Haaaah. No waaaaay. It's been a while, I can say it again, right?

Uuuuuseless.

Aaaaaargh. Well, being able to see my skill points it convenient, so I guess I can put up with this. While I'm at it, I guess I'll appraise my skill points. I've been using them without really knowing what they are, so getting the executive summary would be nice. So, click?

Huh, a ton of rows of text just popped up. What the heck? Well, let's take a look at these...

.....

Miss... no, wait, M'lady Appraisal! Please forgive my impertinent words just now! I realize now your greatness! I was such a fool to not have comprehended this earlier! I beg of you, forgive me!!

On the display that popped up is a list of all the skills that I can acquire with my current skill points.

---

Chapter 064

M'lady Appraisal, you really are quite brilliant.

Appraisal really is amazing. This new display is a catalog of all of the skills I can acquire, each labeled with their point cost. Right now, I have two hundred points. Since skills cost a minimum of one hundred points, I can either buy two one hundred point skills or one two hundred point skill.

Well, whatever! What's really important is that now I have a list of skills that I haven't yet acquired. And, since it's a display, I can double-appraise them all. In other words, without having to first acquire a skill, I can look its effects up in advance! Magnificent!

With this, I can look around for useful skills. No longer do I need to worry over whether or not the skill I'm about to buy will be useless. On top of that, I might be able to find skills that I could start trying to earn by gaining proficiency, rather than spending skill points on them directly. The possibilities here are endless.

Now then, for now let's go down the list and Appraise every single one of these skills, shall we?

"Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Overeating (LV 5)] has been raised to level 6."

I've been continuing to eat as I appraise, and Overeating's level just went up again. There are still a ton of monkeys left to eat, but my stomach's still not anywhere close to its limit. This stomach's amazing. Is there a "Extradimensional Belly" title or something?

Hoo. This is magnificent. This display is basically an illustrated reference guide to skills. If I save up three hundred points, the list will get bigger, right? Yeah, definitely. But I'd need to raise my level a ton, huh... My level went up a ton while I was having that idiotic fight to the death against those monkeys, but normally it goes up waaay more slowly than that.

Hmm, if I do wind up spending these points, the skills on display here now will probably disappear. That would be a pain. If there's a really good skill, though, I want to get it... what a dilemma.

What to do... should I buy a new skill, or should I hold on to my points? Guh, how troubling.

I've already finished going through all of the skills in the list. There were a few in particular among them that caught my eye.

Mana Perception: Allows for the perception of mana.

Mana Manipulation: Allows for the manipulation of mana.

Are these two skills, just maybe, required in order to use magic? It seriously looks like that. I mean, the two of them are even displayed right next to each other! These skills are probably really effective when they're used together as a set. I can acquire them both for just two hundred points!

However, there's a big problem. I actually already have Mana Perception. It's baked into Detection. Yeah, my Detection skill already contains Mana Perception. So that means that if I do wind up buying Mana Perception after all, it'll probably just get integrated straight into Detection.

That's completely unacceptable. Or, rather, if that were to happen, I wouldn't have any hope of using magic for the rest of my life. Since it's impossible for me to activate Detection, it's thus impossible for me to activate Mana Perception. If, as I fear, both of those skills are required to use magic, this might be the end of that.

What the heck is this game-breaking bug? Ah, no, no, this isn't actually set in stone. I'm sure that, at some point, I'll be able to use magic. So, until then, I'll put this aside.

It is entirely possible that there's a skill out there that will make Detection usable. However, I don't really know how useful it might wind up being, so I don't really want to throw any more of my valuable skill points away to try to make a bad skill good. Right now, what I want are skills that have clear and obvious effects.

I had thought about getting Poison Claw a while ago, but that's no longer necessary thanks to earning its upgrade skill, Poison Attack. There's SP Consumption Reduction, but since I have Overeating, it's not a very high priority. Rather, there's a chance that I might just earn it automatically, like how I got Automatic HP Recovery by accumulating skill proficiency.

Well, I've been putting on this big show about being troubled about this, but in reality I already have my sights set on a particular skill. The only question remaining here is if I should buy it or save my points. This skill is just that much of an obvious cut above the others... in many ways.

Pride (100): The power of n%, a strength almost rivaling that of the gods. Drastically increases the rate of experience gain and skill proficiency gain, and greatly increases the rate of stat growth. Furthermore, allows for interference in the MA domain, surpassing the W system.

I have no clue what any of that means. The description is unintelligible, and I have no idea why a skill like this would be available for just a hundred measly points. I tried Appraising the weird vocab words like "n%", "MA domain", and "W system", but the results were all the same: "Impossible to Appraise". What I did manage to understand is that this skill would crank up my experience and proficiency gain, as well as amplify my normal stat growth. That alone makes it well worth the points.

I seriously have no idea what to do here. A skill that's as incomprehensible as this one is seriously dangerous. I have no idea what downsides this could possible have. Even still, the benefits are tremendous. I looked, and I could not find a single other skill to increase either experience or proficiency gain. I have no idea how large the effect on stat growth is, but from the phrasing it sounds pretty big...

Seriously, I have no idea what to do.

---

Chapter 065

Pride

Pride. The most grave of the seven deadly sins, a title reserved for the highest Demon Lord of Hell. Whenever it appears in a game, it's the name of a final boss or a powerful cursed item.

Just from the sound of its name, I imagine that taking this skill isn't going to do me any good. However, figuring out what it does is extremely tempting. It's so tempting that I really want to jump on it, even if I know it's a trap! Truly, a devil's snare.

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Overeating (LV 6)] has been raised to level 7.”

I suddenly notice that I've finished off the last of the monkeys. Wooow, I'm amazing. I ate all of that. My stamina, of course, is full. Coupled with the Overeating stockpile, I have a tremendous amount of energy saved up.

Come to think of it, didn't Overeating's description say something about getting fatter when I'm using it? Am I really fatter?

Hmmm. I can't say anything for sure because I can't see my entire body, but... I don't really look that fat. Oh! Now that I'm thinking about it, it really doesn't look like evolving did anything to my appearance either. Nothing really happened last time either. The Taratekt species must just not change very much, huh.

Or, maybe the changes happen gradually? Hmm, that really doesn't seem like evolution, huh... The regular and the giant monkeys were very clearly different species, huh... I really don't think that's the result of a gradual change, huh...

Well! That's enough of letting my thoughts drift off, there's more important matters to consider. The description of this Pride skill seems to overlap a lot with the mysterious  $n\%I=V$  skill I have. That alone makes me think that these two things couldn't possibly be unrelated. At the moment, I have no idea what this mysterious skill does. It doesn't seem to be either a positive or a negative thing... probably. Come to think of it, is there even any downside?

...It's never a good idea to just leap to a decision, but, I've made up my mind. No... my mind had already been made up from the beginning. I have a premonition, you see. This skill, I absolutely must take it. It's a very vague premonition. I must set aside my worries about the pros and cons, and get this skill. I can't shake this feeling.

“You currently possess 200 skill points. The skill [Pride] can be acquired for 100 skill points. Would you like to acquire it now?”

Yes.

“You have acquired the skill [Pride]. You have 100 skill points remaining.”

Alright. I really did it!

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Taboo (LV 2)] has been raised to level 4.”

Now I've really done it!

“Requirements have been met. You have earned the title [Lord of Pride], and have been awarded the skills [Abyssal Magic (LV 10)] and [Hell].”

Now they've really done it!

O... oh. How did that happen...? Wait, no, no, isn't that completely unbelievable?!

What the heck? What the heck?! I'm going to say it again! What the heck?!!

Taboo's level went up. Twice! I did that!

And I got a really powerful title, too. Yaaay? You know, this “Abyssal Magic” thing really looks like an absolute top-tier magic, doesn't it? At level ten, too! That's weird, right?

...Well, for now, let's look up the descriptions of Abyssal Magic and Hell.

Small Poison Taratekt — LV 1 — (no name)

Statistics:

HP: 56/56 (green)

MP: 14/156 (blue)

SP: 54/56 (yellow), 1/56 (red)

Avg. Offense: 38

Avg. Defense: 38

Avg. Magic Power: 127

Avg. Resistance: 127

Avg. Speed: 537

Skills:

[Automatic HP Recovery (LV 3)] • [Poison Attack (LV 9)] • [Poison Synthesis (LV 3)] • [Spider Silk (LV 9)] • [Severing Thread (LV 4)] • [Thread Manipulation (LV 8)] • [Throw (LV 3)] • [Concentration (LV 5)] • [Aiming (LV 4)] • [Evasion (LV 2)] • [Appraisal (LV 8)] • [Detection (LV 4)] • [Stealth (LV 6)] • [Hell] • [Corruption Magic (LV 3)] • [Shadow Magic (LV 2)] • [Poison Magic (LV 2)] • [Abyssal Magic (LV 10)] • [Pride] • [Overeating (LV 7)] • [Night Vision (LV 10)] • [Visible Spectrum Expansion (LV 2)] • [Poison Resistance (LV 8)] • [Paralysis Resistance (LV 3)] • [Petrification Resistance (LV 3)] • [Acid Resistance (LV 4)] • [Decay Resistance (LV 3)] • [Fainting Resistance (LV 2)] • [Fear Resistance (LV 6)] • [Corruption Resistance (LV 2)] • [Ignore Pain] • [Pain Tolerance (LV 6)] • [Vitality (LV 2)] • [Mana Pool (LV 2)] • [Alacrity (LV 2)] • [Endurance (LV 2)] • [Greater Strength (LV 1)] • [Greater Toughness (LV 1)] • [Kartikeya (LV 2)] • [Taboo (LV 4)] • [n%I =W]

Skill points available: 100

...Wait. Wait just a second.

That's weird. My stats are... weird. When did my mana, magic power, and resistance get so high...? They're a hundred points higher than they were just a second ago. How...?

...Is this also one of Pride's effects?

Well, you know, it's not like a stat increase is ever a bad thing. Yeah. Best not to dwell on it. Right! Appraise, appraise...

Abyssal Magic: The most powerful of dark magics, able to manipulate the darkness of the Abyss itself. The spells that may be cast are dependent on skill level. Available spells: Gates of Hell (LV 1), The Hell of Nonbelievers (LV 2), The Hell of the Lustful (LV 3), The Hell of the Gluttonous (LV 4), The Hell of the Avaricious (LV 5), The Hell of the Wrathful (LV 6), The Hell of the Heretics (LV 7), The Hell of the Violent (LV 8), The Hell of the Fraudulent (LV 9), The Hell of the Traitors (LV 10)

Hell: Allows for the manifestation of Hell.

A... ah...

How should I put this? This looks waaaaay too dangerous. What's with all the hell stuff? The "manifestation of Hell" in particular sounds extremely awful...

Gates of Hell: The first gate.

The Hell of Nonbelievers: The hell for those innocents who did not believe.

The Hell of the Lustful: The hell for those who were stained with lust.

The Hell of the Gluttonous: The hell for those who were consumed by their appetites.

The Hell of the Avaricious: The hell for those who chased their greed above all else.

The Hell of the Wrathful: The hell for those who were controlled by their anger.

The Hell of the Heretics: The hell for those who spread their heresy.

The Hell of the Violent: The hell for those who gave themselves to violence.

The Hell of the Fraudulent: The hell for those who whispered lies.

The Hell of the Traitors: The hell for those who betrayed those who trusted them.

And what's with this Appraisal result? It doesn't actually tell me anything about this magic. Who the hell wrote this?

...First thing I did was to test to see what Hell did, but there wasn't even a hint of a reaction. I was torn between feeling disappointed and relieved.

---

Chapter S10

The Second Prince

I watch as Sue and Clevea square off against each other, wielding practice swords. Sue strikes up at Clevea from below, making use of her small build, but Clevea parries the attack with ease. Sue continues resolutely attacking, but Clevea avoids every attack with her precise defense.

Sue's fighting style is straight-forward and powerful, despite her smaller build, while the muscular Clevea fights with fluidity and grace. Both of them move exactly the opposite of how you think they would from the impressions they give off. Sue is by no means a weak fighter, but she looks extremely unskilled next to Clevea's superior fighting experience. It's to be expected, though: Clevea possesses the upgraded version of the Sword Talent skill, Sword Genius, and has it up to level seven. Sue only has Sword Talent, and it's at level six. This is a gap that cannot be bridged.

This, however, is not a battle that could be decided in an instant, despite the large difference in stats. Sue has activated both Battle Magic and Battle Spirit. These are skills that consume mana and stamina to boost your stats. In the hands of Sue, who has a tremendous amount of mana to throw around, the stat increase isn't small at all. Sue's physical-type stats have all been considerably boosted, to the point where she might even have an advantage, stat-wise.

Clevea's operating under a handicap, not using Battle Spirit herself. If she did, she'd win in a heartbeat.

Even without using Battle Spirit, Clevea looks like she'll probably still win. Sue might have a stat advantage, but it's very slight, and that alone isn't enough to make up for the fundamental difference in skill between them. Sue has no way to turn this around.

As expected, as soon as Sue's attacks faltered, Clevea counterattacks. It strikes her squarely in the side, and she falls to the ground.

Anna, who had been waiting on the sidelines, immediately runs in and heals Sue with recovery magic. She stands up, brushing the dirt off of her clothing with a resentful look on her face.

"I lost," she says.

"Princess, if you are able to move that well at your age," says Clevea, "you will soon be able to pass me. You have incredible talent."

"I don't need your flattery."

From the sidelines, applause rings out. "It's not just flattery!" calls a voice. "It's really true, your movements are incredible."

Everyone present, myself included, looks over in surprise. None of us, not even Clevea and Anna, had noticed anyone arrive. He's been standing right next to me, and I completely failed to realize it.

"Julius!" I exclaim.

"Hey! Did I startle you?"

This man, is my older brother from the same mother, the second prince of the kingdom, Julius. He laughs merrily at his own successful prank.

"When did you get back home?" I ask. "Just yesterday," he says. "I wanted to stop by and see you, but after I met with Father and our older brother, I didn't have any more time."

Julius is fairly older than I am, and he's usually off on various missions outside the country. It's rare for him to return home like this.

"Sue, you've become even more amazing since the last time I saw you!" says Julius, warmth in his eyes. "I'm always surprised by how much you grow each time."

Sue, however, doesn't say anything at all. For whatever reason, she doesn't seem to like him very much. From my perspective, Julius is way nicer than my other two older brothers, and I like him better. I respect him above all else. Seeing my respected older brother and my beloved younger sister at such odds makes me seriously upset.

“Sue, it’s not nice to treat your older brother like that,” I say. “Ha ha,” laughs Julius, “it’s okay! Sue’s just in a difficult stage of her life right now.”

Julius seems to be sensing something. If I factor in my age from my previous life, I’m older than Julius, but I don’t think I can possibly match up to his level of maturity.

“Hey, Shun, how about you? It’s been a while, want to train?”
“Really?!” I say. “Definitely, thanks!”

Training with Julius... I’d want nothing more.

“I’m going to borrow this,” says Julius, taking the practice sword from Clevea. “Y... yes,” she says, looking very small. It’s very unusual to see her this tense. Well, she’s dealing with Julius, so it’s very understandable.

“Right! Ready whenever you are. Come at me whatever way you want!”
“Okay!”

Immediately, I activate Battle Magic and Battle Spirit. I can’t afford to be stingy with my skill usage against Julius. I’m going to go all out.

I step forward sharply, swinging diagonally upward. Julius parries it easily, holding his sword with only one hand. I threw all of my power behind that attack, yet he blocked it easily with just a one-handed grip.

I, however, expected this. There’s no way Julius would possibly get hit by a strike like that. I immediately draw my sword back and unleash my next swing. That gets parried too.

This is fun. Even at my full power, I can’t even touch him. No matter how quick my strikes, no matter how much force I put behind them, no matter how deft my skills, I’ll never lay a single blow on him. I can’t even imagine how I could possibly manage to slip past his sword. Being able to fight against a foe so vastly superior... this is extremely fun.

No matter how much I want to continue, though, it eventually comes to an end. My Battle Magic and Battle Spirit run out. Breathing heavily, I fall to my knees.

“Hm! Shun, your attacks are straight and true, just like your endlessly stretching talent.”

“Thanks... Ju... li... us...” I gasp, bit by bit.

Even though I’m this exhausted, Julius hasn’t even broken a sweat. As expected of the Hero, the strongest man in the world.

Someday, will I be able to stand next to this man? One of my greatest dreams in this world is to someday be his equal. I can’t even come close to him now, but one day, I will definitely be strong enough that I can watch his back for him.

This is my guiding light.

---

Chapter 066

Skill Rush

Aaahh... I can't help think I've really screwed uuup... What kinds of traps lurk within this ridiculous skill... No matter how I look at it, it's weird that I'd get a new title just for learning a skill, right? And an obviously bad one, at that. Taboo leveled up, too, which is also bad...

Hmmmm. The fact that I can't immediately tell what the downsides are is pretty terrifying. Taboo doesn't seem to have any effect, and Pride isn't doing anything right now... I just really don't want to blindly stumble off the edge of a cliff.<sup>1</sup>

Well, on the other hand, worrying about it isn't going to make anything actually happen. There's nothing I can really do now; I'll worry about it when the time comes. If, of course, I actually have time to worry...

For now, I'll save my remaining skill points. I just learned some amazing new magic that I'd really, really like to try out, but before I can do that I think I need to do something about Detection. I think I'm going to need the Mana Manipulation skill too. If that's true, then I'll need both that and some sort of skill to do something about Detection. With only a hundred points left, I can't get both.

For the time being, instead of spending anything else, I'm just going to wait until I have two hundred.

Well then, I've finished eating all of these monkeys, so I don't have anything to do here anymore. Let's get out of here. I'll start exploring along the wall again. It's really quiet, though! I can usually hear the cries of other monsters echo in the distance, but right now I can barely hear anything. There's no monsters to be seen nearby either... this is a rare moment of peace.

This is the monkeys' doing, right? Yeah, a huge crowd of them all moved in at once, so of course the other monsters would flee. That's probably it.

“Proficiency requirements met. You have gained the skill [Prediction (LV 1)].”

Hm? A skill? Show me, show me.

Prediction: Increases analytical ability when making predictions.

Hfmmmm. Well, it's not a bother or anything, but this isn't a particularly useful skill. It's got an effect that isn't really noticeable. It just lets me turn things over in my head faster, and only in specific circumstances. It's something I could have bought for a hundred points.

...Pride cost that much, too, though. Yeaaaah, this really is weeeird...

But, man, there's seriously not a single other monster here. I've got no sense of impending danger right now, and there's nothing awful staggering around, so it really looks like there's nobody here. Even if I focus really hard as I look around, there's nothing.

“Proficiency requirements met. You have gained the skill [Enhanced Vision (LV 1)].”

Oh? Another skill? Show me, show me.

Enhanced Vision: Enhances the sense of sight.

Well, ain't that straightforward! But this here's another one that I don't really need... My spider's eyes are already really good! In my previous life, I was so nearsighted that I couldn't live without my glasses, but now I can already see waaay further than I could back then. Or, rather, I should say that this is another hundred-point skill.

Now that I think about it, there were similar skills for my other five senses, right? If I earned this sight-enhancing skill by staring really hard at something, will the other skills come if I focus really hard on my other senses?

So, let's try this out immediately. First off are my ears. What are a spider's ears like, anyway? There's so many things I don't know about myself.

Proficiency requirements met. You have gained the skill [Enhanced Hearing (LV 1)].

Ah, just as I'd hoped, I got a skill. So, let's work on the other ones.

"Proficiency requirements met. You have gained the skill [Enhanced Smell (LV 1)]."

"Proficiency requirements met. You have gained the skill [Enhanced Touch (LV 1)]."

I'll handle my sense of taste the next time I eat something. Still, these skills were super easy to get, huh... Well, my spider senses are so good that I really didn't need to put any thought into them. If I don't actually focus on them, I won't get any skill proficiency, right? Otherwise, I would have earned these long ago.

"Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Prediction (LV 1)] has been raised to level 2."

Already?! I literally just got this skill, right?! Why the heck did I just get another level? Ah, well, that's okay. I'm not going to turn away a free level-up.

"Proficiency requirements met. You have gained the skill [Multitasking (LV 1)]."

Another one?! And, on top of that, one that might be useful for Detection, huh?!

Multitasking: Allows the user to think about multiple things at once.

I've been thinking that the big reason as to why I haven't been able to use Detection is that the sheer volume of incoming data overwhelms my ability to process it. So, I've been looking at skills that might bolster my processing power, and Multitasking is one of them.

Woohoo! ...How did I get this, though? I wasn't really trying to think about two things at once just now...

Ah, is it madame Appraisal? I've always been keeping her turned on. I've got a constant stream of information about my surroundings trickling into my head. I usually let it all pass through me because I don't usually care very much, but I guess you could describe that as thinking multiple things at once. I can't think of anything else that would have done that, so that must be it.

Nn... well, all of this... isn't this a little weird? I'm gaining way too many skills. No matter what the circumstances might be, getting skills one right after the other like this is definitely strange, right?

Well, I probably know what's causing this, though.

Pride.

"Drastically increases the rate of experience gain and skill proficiency gain." Yep. That's it. I mean, this is totally a massive multiplier on my proficiency points, right? I can't say anything for sure because I can't actually see the numbers, but this definitely looks like a multiplier.

"Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Prediction (LV 2)] has been raised to level 3."

See?

---

Translator's notes for this chapter:

1. The original line involved metaphorical silk being gradually wrapped around a metaphorical head, unnoticed. I've swapped out the analogy.

---

Chapter 067

A new foe has appeared! His name: Detection!

Well then! At long last, I've finally acquired a new skill that might let me actually make use of Detection. Shall we try it out right away?

Inhale, exhale.

Alright.

Detection: on.

Groaaaah!

Too much! Too much!

Off! Offfff!

"Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Multitasking (LV 1)] has been raised to level 2."

"Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Detection (LV 4)] has been raised to level 5."

Inhaaaale... exhale. My head huuuurts. Ah, right. Multitasking is at level one. Based on all of my other skills so far, I really shouldn't have expected much from a level one skill. I didn't have any reason to think that this one would be different.

Multitasking's level did go up just now, but, well, so did Detection's. Nothing really matters if Detection's level goes up toooo... If it goes up, it's just going to throw even more information at me, so it's no goood... If Multitasking and Detection keep leveling up at the same rate, I'm just going to get stuck in a loop.

Detection levels up so ridiculously quickly that I gain a new skill level every time I turn it on. I'm not even getting stuck in a loop, I'm getting left in the dust.

And Pride is making it level even faster, too.

Man, seriously, this Detection guy. What a monster. I can't do anything at all about him. To think, I've had an enemy as formidable as the Earth Dragon lurking right beside me this whole time. I don't think I can win at aaaall...

Anyhow, for now, I'm going to have wait until Multitasking levels up, huh. I don't think I'm quite able to actually think about two things at once yet, but I might be able to grind up my proficiency by thinking something while simultaneously reading Appraisal results. I could, of course, grind it up using Detection, but doing it like that would be, well, backwards.

Grrr. Well, I don't think that my basic theory is wrong. I'm still pretty sure that if I were to somehow increase my mental capabilities, I'd then be able to use Detection. Although, out of all of the skills on the list, Multitasking really was the most likely candidate, huh...

Hmmmm. Let's check the list again. I've got fewer skill points than before, so there's fewer skills listed here. Even still, there's a lot to look through. I guess... most skills can probably be bought with only a hundred skill points, right? Excluding the really effective ones and the straight-up crazy ones, of course. Hmm, well, Pride is straight-up crazy and that somehow only cost me a hundred.

If I wanted to make Detection worthwhile, then the possible skills are...

Computation: Increases the computational power of the user's brain.

Memory: Strengthen's the user's memory.

That's about it, huh? Fewer than I thought. On top of that, Memory seems like it might not actually apply very well. I guess that just leaves me with Computation, but am I really sure that I'd be able to use Detection with it?

Mmmm. Multitasking is in this sorry state, despite being the skill I thought best for the job, huh... Computation probably isn't going to be any better at low level, so buying it is pointless...

Ah, hang on. Computation is just math, right? Can't I just do a bunch of mental arithmetic and earn it that way?

Right. Well, it's not like I have anything more pressing to think about while I'm walking, so it doesn't hurt to give this a shot. Now then, shall we work out the powers of two?

Two, four, eight, sixteen, thirty-two, sixty-four...

...eight thousand, one hundred and ninety-two; sixteen thousand, three hundred and eighty-four; umm... thirty-two thousand, seven hundred and sixty-eight, right...? Man, this is getting tough. The next one is, ummmm...

“Proficiency requirements met. You have gained the skill [Computation (LV 1)].”

Oh! Good, good. Mission complete.

Hmmm. Should I give it a shot? It's probably not going to work, but if it does it'll be amazing, so... let's try it.

Inhale, exhale.

Alright.

Detection: on.

Grrabblaaagh!!

Too much! Too much!!

Off! Offfff!

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Computation (LV 1)] has been raised to level 2.”

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Multitasking (LV 2)] has been raised to level 3.”*“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Detection (LV 5)] has been raised to level 6.”

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Corruption Resistance (LV 2)] has been raised to level 3.”

Inhaaaale... exhale. My head huuuurts. This is impossible. No can do. My head's splitting. Pain's bad.

Aaargh, no waaaaay... Hey, where the heck is Pain Tolerance? I thought I was going to die! Why'd you let me feel such unbearable pain?! Rather, why the heck did Corruption Resistance go up?! Could it be? Is the Dark Lord Detection literally attacking my very soul? “Attack” is the right word here, right? My resistance wouldn’t have gone up if it wasn’t.

Let’s be serious here. If Corruption Resistance went up, then Detection doesn’t just affect my thoughts, it’s also directly affecting my soul. Just maybe, is part of this headache coming from my soul?! Whoa, scary! Keeping this up isn’t going to wear my soul down or anything, right? I’d notice before it crippled me, right?

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Prediction (LV 3)] has been raised to level 4.”

Ah, right. I’m so glad that Prediction doesn’t apply if I’m just deducing the right answer! Saaaafe. It’s just a prediction, so I’m saaaafe. At least, that’s what I’m going with.

Hmmmm. So, does this mean that I’d be able to use Detection if I had skills that relate to the soul? There aren’t any soul-related skills on the list, though. Corruption Resistance is the only one I’ve got. Am I going to have to level it up? ...How the heck am I going to do that?

Ahhh. It’s no use. I’m just going to have to stick with my original plan of raising Multitasking and Computation. At the very least, their skill levels rose when I had Detection on, so they are doing something there.

So, for now, let’s seal Detection away again. Using it before I’m ready seems pretty scary now.

---

Chapter 068

The End of the Lower Depths

After I gave up for now on mastering Detection, I then turned to the thing I've been really waiting for: testing out my Spider Silk/Poison Attack combo. The results are... eh heh heh heh. Aaaahh, I really want to try this out in combat! Heh heh...

After that, I kept walking and walking. I didn't encounter any other monsters as I was walking, so everything was super peaceful. Thanks to having filled up Overeating, my stamina hasn't gone down at all, so not being able to hunt hasn't been a problem. So, the lack of any monsters made this the perfect chance to keep moving forward.

Since I was just walking, I had a bunch of free time, so I worked on grinding up the skills I could while I was moving. As a result, my sensing skills have gone up: Enhanced Sight, Hearing, Smell, and Touch are all up to level five. As a secondary effect, Concentration leveled up, and it's now at level eight. Concentration's always been relatively easy to level, but thanks to Pride's effects, it's gotten even faster.

Concentration really doesn't feel like it does much of anything, but it's actually a really amazing skill. I'm pretty sure that the only reason I was able to focus during that incredibly hectic life-or-death battle with those monkeys is because of Concentration. It may be a very plain skill, but it is a massively useful one.

So, now that my sensing skills are at level five, there's a huge difference in my capabilities. Everything that I used to be able to see is now so much clearer. If I focus, I can make out the details on the surface of the rocks far ahead of me. My sense of hearing and sense of smell are the same: I can practically hear every sound and detect every scent that floats around this labyrinth.

It's just... Enhanced Touch, well, you could say that it has its pluses and minuses. It makes me very sensitive... Ah, not in a sexy way, okay? Don't get your hopes up. If any of you idiots gets your hopes up anyway, I will personally wrap you up in silk and run you through with my Poison Fang until you die. And, if any of you brave souls are now going "but that would be the greatest prize of all," then, of course, I will run the heck away.

...Ahh, right, I was talking about Enhanced Touch. To be specific, it makes me sensitive enough that I can feel every air current as it flows past, which makes me really jumpy. I can get a little bit used to it after leaving it on for a while, but I'm pretty sure that I was supposed to get comfortable with it over time as it gradually leveled up. I must be feeling so uncomfortable with it because it leveled up so ridiculously quickly. Getting fully accustomed to it is going to take some time.

Well, it seems like I can turn it off, so when it gets to the point where I can't stand it, I think I'll do just that. Enhanced Smell, though, seems like it might be the skill I'm most likely to want to turn off in the future. I really would rather not have to smell something foul with an amplified sense of smell.

Now that I think about it, I don't think there's any reason why I'd even want Enhanced Taste. Everything in this dungeon is, well, disgusting. I have yet to meet a tasty monster. On top of that, there's things like those snail bugs, where even eating them normally is out of the question.

Oh, hm, I guess it's been a while since I've seen a snail bug. They were literally everywhere before those monkeys attacked, but now I can't see a single one around me. Where did they all go?

...Uggghh, on top of that, it's getting really hot. I wanna turn on the AC. Why is it that I, a girl who spent as much time as possible shut in an air-conditioned room in the summertime, am subjected to this kind of heat? I'm too frail for the heat and the cold...

...Hot...? Wait a minute, hot? In both the upper and lower layers, the dungeon has been a pleasant temperature, neither too hot nor too cold, so... hot?

I slowly take a look around my surroundings. There's not a single monster around me. I don't feel like I'm in any special danger... yet, I can feel a change in the environment.

I look ahead, along the wall. It's hard to notice, but, little by little, it seems like the floor is starting to slope upwards.

Up. Up! It's going up!! Aha, I did it! I finally, finally found it! Since it's going up... yeah, that's what's happening, right? Of course!

I'm climbing out of the lower levels and into the middle!

Yahoo!! I did it! This was the right path! Now I can finally escape these nightmarish lower depths! I don't have to constantly worry about the Earth Dragon anymore! Enormous swarms of monkeys aren't going to jump me out of nowhere! I don't have to constantly sneak through crowds of truly monstrous monsters, fearing for my life!

Before I knew it, I had started sprinting forward. As expected of a speed spec: I charged up the slope so quickly that even I was surprised by it. My yellow stamina bar couldn't hold out.

Pant, pant.

Ahhh. I may be fast, but I can't rocket forward at top speed, huh? That was a pretty big blind spot. I know that I can keep running if I really need to by drawing on my red stamina like I did when I ran away from those centipedes, but I should take note of this as one of my weak points.

Regardless, I'll be at the top of this hill soon. Waiting for me at the top is the middle layer, which I've only ever seen in my dreams.

It's been a long road to get here. I fled from a snake, tripped up, fell down here to the lower layer, and have been running away from danger ever since. Those wasps almost killed me, the Earth Dragon almost killed me, I barely made it out of the den of all those dangerous monsters, the taste of those snail bugs almost killed me, and those monkeys almost killed me. I've done nothing down here but nearly get killed. Good job on staying alive, me. Haven't these events been a little too drastic? I think something good, without any downsides, might have finally happened!

Farewell, lower depths! Hello, middle layers!

At the top of the hill, an endless plain of red-hot magma and scorching earth stretches into the distance.

---

Chapter 069

The Middle Strata of the Great Elro Labyrinth

Uh, uhhhhhhhhhhhhh...
Whaaat the heeeck?
I... don't get it.

WHAT THE HELL?!

This is pointless! This is unbelievable!! This is idiotic!!!

Magma?! Why the heck is there magma flowing in a dungeon?! Oh, it's a dungeon, so that makes sense... no! No! How?!

Hot! It's not just air conditioner weather anymore, it's scorching hot!!<sup>1</sup> Whoa, did my health just drop a point?! Is it literally hot enough for me to lose HP? Whoooooa, zones with area damage are no joke... And while I was saying that my health dropped another point.

There does seem to be a path I can follow to avoid the magma, but continuing on from here seems pretty impossible, right? I'm not even close to the magma where I am right now, yet I'm still taking damage. My health is going to evaporate if I have to walk anywhere close by. And if I'm that close, there's a chance I might accidentally touch it...

No waaaaay. I finally make it out of the lower depths and this is what I get? I can't think of a single way that I could get through this area.

Hm? I see a monster off in the distance. Enhanced Vision may be simple, but it gets the job done. Well, it looks like that monster is swimming placidly through the magma. Just seeing that is a little terrifying, but still, Appraisal result, please?

Elro Generash<sup>2</sup> — LV 7

Statistics:

HP: 167/167 (green)

MP: 145/158 (blue)

SP: 155/155 (yellow), 156/165 (red)

Avg. Offense: 85

Avg. Defense: 83

Avg. Magic Power: 81

Avg. Resistance: 79

Avg. Speed: 89

Failed to appraise statistics.

Eh? Madam Appraisal? Is this just in my imagination, or have you added something new to your display?

Oh... ohh!! You're amazing, Madam Appraisal! Until now all I've been able to see is a target's health and such, but now you're showing me things like their attack power! Your success rate probably still isn't 100%, but I can use this information to accurately pinpoint my opponents' strengths! Cooool. This is amazingly cool. Knowing my opponent's strengths is going to be a huge advantage.

On top of that, if things are going in order, isn't the next thing going to be showing me their skills? If I know their skills, my enemies' information is practically stripped bare before me! That owns! I'm gonna own! Aaargh, it's going to be a while before I get the next level thooooough...

So, it's great that I noticed how amazing Appraisal is now, because that monster isn't strong at aaaaall. It looks kinda like a seahorse that grew arms and legs, but it's swimming freely through the magma... Unbelievable.

Rather, I say that it's not very strong, but it's stats are basically on par with mine. My physical stats are pretty low across the board, except for my speed, and magic is basically a dump stat since I can't actually use any magic. As for my speed, I know well that I don't have enough instantaneous stamina to run at top speed for long periods of time. Running causes my yellow gauge to rapidly vanish, and when it hits zero I get painfully winded. I really don't have any edge when it comes to a head-to-head fight.

Well then, let's check out the double-appraisal result...

Elro Generash: A low ranking species of drake, native to the middle strata of the Great Elro Labyrinth. It can manipulate flame, and uses it to defend itself.

Found it! The middle strata of the Great Elro Labyrinth!

The Middle Strata of the Great Elro Labyrinth: The area of the Great Elro Labyrinth that sits between the lower and upper strata. The entire area is covered in flowing, red-hot magma, and it is inhabited by many monsters resistant to fire.

...Seriously? Whoooooa. No waaaaaay. The entire middle strata is like this? I'm going to have to go through this to get back to the upper levels? That's impossible, right?

I get damaged by the terrain just by being here. Rivers and ponds of magma cover the earth, and I'm dead in an instant if I fall into one of those. And, it's not at all unreasonable to think that the fire-resistant monsters living down here are going to be able to use fire themselves. You remember the one big weakness of my spider silk, right? Fire!!

Let's step back a bit. If you take away my silk, what do I have left? My venom and my speed. Well, at least I still have something, but it's really going to suck not being able to use the strongest weapon in my arsenal. Really, I'm not even going to be able to finally try out my poison thread! I've been looking forward to using it so much! Why are you doing this to me?

Ah! My health is getting seriously low. Let's go back take some cover.

Fwoooof. Back to the lower depths, at the bottom of the slope. It's still pretty hot here, but at least my health isn't going down anymore. If I rest for a bit here, Automatic HP Recovery will be able to fix me back up.

Although... I do have Automatic HP Recovery, don't I, but the damage still kept accumulating... It's going to be impossible no matter how hard I push forward, isn't it? If I want to beat this, I need to stock up on potions and Cool Drinks, right? I don't have any of those, though.

If I were to get Fire Resistance, would this get easier? But... if my silk is weak to fire, then my body's probably weak to fire too. I noticed it back when I was looking at the skill list, but, Fire Resistance wasn't on the list. That means that I can't actually buy it with just two hundred points, right? There were plenty of other resistances on the list, but no Fire Resistance. This is just a theory, but maybe, if I'm weak to fire, then it might be hard for me to acquire Fire Resistance.

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Prediction (LV 4)] has been raised to level 5.”

Ah, right. You really do level up quickly, don't you? This is probably Pride's effect, huh.

Well, let's put that aside for a bit. What the heck do I do now? I want to get back to the upper layers, so I have to beat this. However, I can't think of any way that I actually can.

Then, is there another way I can get up there? I know at least one other way: going back and climbing up the shaft where the wasps are. Going back to where the Earth Dragon is lurking, though?

Nope.

No can do.

No way.

So, maybe I should search for other shafts? Are there even any other convenient shafts like that?

I can't say that there aren't. Back in the upper layers, a wandering wasp did get caught in one of my webs, so it's possible that it flew up out of a different shaft, where the wasps have made another nest just like the first one. This is, however, still only a possibility.

Do I try to charge my way through the middle strata, or do I search the lower depths for a shaft that might not even be there? Hmm, what should I choose...

---

Translator's notes for this chapter:

1. The original line is “it’s no longer just hot (暑い, “atsui”, which is used to describe hot weather), it’s hot (熱い, also “atsui”, which is used to describe hot things, like fire)“.

2. Pronounced with a hard G.

---

Chapter 070

The Training Part

For the time being, I'll build a nest between the lower and middle strata. I'm not in any hurry, after all. I don't think even the Earth Dragon is going to follow me this far, and I don't think anyone will bother me if I build my nest near the ceiling, like I did before those monkeys attacked.

After reflecting back on that attack, I've decided that I'm going to make a really solid nest, instead of a simple one. My goal is to build something that'll be all right even if another giant monkey were to throw a boulder at it. Thankfully, I have a huge stockpile of red stamina after eating all of those monkeys.

Then, using this nest as my base of operations, I'm going to, little by little, make preparations for conquering the middle layer. Specifically, I'm hoping to acquire Fire Resistance as well as grind up the level of Automatic HP Recovery. In order to do that, I think that I should go up into the middle stratum, let my health be depleted, and then return home, and then repeat that several times per day.

Taking damage in there is likely going to help me gain proficiency in either resisting fire or resisting heat. I don't know how long it would take, but I should eventually earn either Fire or Heat Resistance. Plus, after I take all of that damage, Automatic HP Recovery will activate, giving me even more proficiency and killing two birds with one stone. If my defense and my recovery are enough to exceed the incoming damage, then I should be able to walk around just fine.

When I'm not doing that, I'll train up my other skills. I'd like to train up both Multitasking and Computation if I can, but I actually have no clue how to work on Multitasking so I think I'll leave it alone for now. Computation is easy enough to raise, I just need to keep doing mental arithmetic.

I don't particularly want to waste any of my mana recovery, so I think I should work on leveling both Thread Manipulation and Poison Synthesis. I've actually been coming up with new ways to use Poison Synthesis, so I really want to concentrate on getting its level up. Thread Manipulation isn't going to be particularly useful in the middle strata, though... Even though it's one of my core skills...

After that, I should put some effort into these stat-boosting skills. Kartikeya, Greater Strength, and Greater Toughness all increase my stats on level-up, so I want to give those extra priority. Although, while I know I can run to train Kartikeya and do push-ups (er, leg-ups) to train Greater Strength, how do I train Greater Toughness? It's a defensive skill, so do I really have to get hit by an attack? Hmmmm. Maybe, when I'm training Thread Manipulation, I should try whipping myself. I really hate pain, but I should at least try this once.

Next thing, if I'm going to stay here for a while, I'll need to secure a source of food. Right now, my red stamina isn't decreasing at all thanks to Overeating, but I will eventually need to eat something. So, I should probably do some patrols of the area and make sure I have everything I need to go hunting. Or, maybe I should put up some webs to catch things? A spiderweb trap with threads as invisibly thin as I can make them. Yeah, that's a good idea! I'll do that. Even if I accidentally wind up snaring a monster that's powerful enough to rip through my silk, it's not like I'm going to be in the area, so I won't really be in any danger.

Now that that's decided: commence the operation! The first step is to build a home. I crawl my way up the wall. After that life-or-death struggle with those monkeys, I've built up quite a resistance to heights, huh... I used to be scared to the point that I got levels in Fear Resistance, but now I don't feel a thing.

“Proficiency requirements met. You have gained the skill [3-D Maneuvering (LV 1)].”

Hm? Oh, I got a new skill, huh. Show me, show me.

3-D Maneuvering: Allows for the execution of movements in three-dimensional space, such as running along walls or landing on ceilings.

Hah hah... Worthless. I can already do that! Well, maybe when I level it up it'll get more useful, so it might be too early to call this worthless, but it's not an important skill at all. I'm just gonna leave it alone...

Right. Got a questionable skill, now it's time to build this home.

---

Whew. Alright, done. The completed home rests between the wall and the ceiling, stretched waaay out horizontally. I originally wanted it to be a lot more balanced, but the quality of the ceiling rocks changes partway out, becoming too slippery to adhere any silk to. I couldn't stretch it very far forward along the ceiling, so it ended up in a shape like this.

Since it's so spread out, I'm not very satisfied with how thick its surface is. I was aiming for something that could protect against a giant monkey's rock throw, but I don't think this'll quite be able to stand up to that. However, my foundation is very strong, and I've protected everything against falling. Even if a hundred monkeys cling to this, it won't fall! Unless a foe has a ranged attack to rival the giant monkeys', breaking into this home is going to be very difficult. Even still, this isn't strong enough to protect me from any abnormally powerful monsters like the Earth Dragon, so I can't quite relax entirely. I'll be living here freely for the time being, so I'll be using this nest as My Home #4.

Now then, I've secured my position and filled my health back up. Let's go back up to the middle layer and start working on getting my health down again! ... This is going to suck...

As mentioned earlier, I have arrived in the middle strata! It is very hot! The temperature right now is, frankly, unmeasurable, as I do not have a thermometer! The forecast for today indicates a devastating wave of lava! The conditions out here are such that this weather reporter must not remain out here for very long! This has been a live report from the middle strata! Retreat!

Whooooof. That was hoooooot. Neither of my skills leveled, either. Well, I'll get to this at my leisure.

---

Chapter Y1

The Hero and the King

“I brought you this, Father,” I say. “It’s a local wine from the Budie province.”
“Ohh. I’ve never had this one before. I wonder how it tastes? I’m looking forward to it.”

In this spotlessly clean room that nevertheless has official documents and papers jumbled up everywhere, I have just presented my father with a bottle of wine I brought back for him as a souvenir. My father loves liquor. Usually, when he works alone, he performs his duties while sneaking drinks. By now, it’s become something of an open secret.

As such, whenever I return from a foreign land, I make sure to bring him a rare or unusual bottle of alcohol. As the King, my father can’t go off visiting other countries on a whim, so even a simple gift such as this makes him very happy. It’s also become a bit of a tradition for the two of us to enjoy it together.

“Father, is it alright for you to take some time off now?”
“No problem at all. If something comes up, I can shave off a little bit of my sleeping time. My son, who I so rarely get to see, has finally come home, and that’s far more important.”

I smile wryly. He said that so flippantly, but the work of a king is no easy thing.
“Besides, Cyris has gotten quite used to his duties. If something ever happens to me, the country is in safe hands.”
“Father, my brother may be very skilled, but this country still needs its King. Please do not say such ominous things.”

My father sighs, apologizing offhandedly. He walks over to a bookshelf, retrieves two of the glasses he keeps hidden there, and pours some wine for both of us.

“Hmm, what an unusual aroma!”

“Yes. I selected it because I particularly liked its fragrance. I think you’ll be quite pleased by it.”

A mellow aroma fills the room. We clink our glasses, then tip them down our throats.

“Hmm!” he says. “This goes down quite smoothly. I feel like I could drink this forever.”

“It’s quite popular with the women of the region, you know. They say that the taste is greatly enhanced if you drink it while eating fruit. Please, have some of these.”

I offer him the fruits that I had prepared. He puts one in his mouth, then takes another sip of wine.

“Delicious. I usually drink such strong liquor, but drinks like this are great from time to time.”

“I thought you’d like it.”

Inwardly, I breathed a small sigh of relief. I had been worried that my father, who likes much drier liquors, wouldn’t like this wine. I can now put those needless worries behind me.

We continued to drink in silence for a while. Suddenly, I remembered something from earlier this afternoon, and my jaw drops.

“What is it?” asks my father.

“Well, I went to see how Sue and Shun were doing this afternoon. I was just remembering what happened then.”

My little brother and sister have so much talent that it even shocked me, the Hero. I sparred with Shun as part of his training, and it was remarkably difficult to keep my composure. I shouldn’t have tried to show off by fighting with one hand. Next time I spar with him, I’ll make sure to use both of my hands.

“Hmm! How are those two doing, in your opinion?”

“They have a terrifying amount of talent, Shun especially so. If he had been born just a little earlier, then the title of Hero might have fallen on his shoulders instead of mine.”

This is the complete truth. Really, in terms of raw talent, Shun and Sue are both far, far ahead of me. The reason why my stats are still so much higher than theirs is because of the effects of my Hero title. They still wouldn't be able to beat me at the moment if I didn't have the title, but they'd be able to surpass me very soon. They possess such incredible talent. They might even manage to overtake me, even with my Hero title. I hope that doesn't happen. If it does, my pride as an older brother would be shattered into pieces. Shun, especially, seems to respect me a great deal, and seeing him disillusioned would be too much of a shock to bear.

This is a grave situation. I should redouble my training efforts, so that they don't catch up to me. Right.

“What are you nodding to yourself about?” asks my father.

“Well, it seems that it is not so simple to maintain one's pride as an older brother.”

Come to think of it, Shun seems to be maintaining the same sort of dignity around Sue, and it seems to be working very well. She really clings to him, and acts like she views me as a rival for his affections. One day, she'll grow apart from him, but for now it's extremely cute that she gets so mad when her beloved older brother is peeled away from her.

“I've done those two a terrible disservice,” says my father, bitterness floating across his face.

The two of them were born just after the previous Hero had met his end. At that time, I was the one to receive the title of Hero. The previous Hero died unexpectedly, his location unknown and his actions mysterious, and the title fell on me. Suddenly, the monsters began to move in great numbers. My father, as a result, had no time to spare for his two youngest children. Even though he believes family to be precious, his duties as a king come first. He had no choice but to prioritize the needs of his country, and this weighs heavily on his mind.

“You did what you had to do,” I said. “So many things were happening at once, you didn't have a choice.”

“But those two have never hugged me once. That seems like a clear answer to me.”

“It will be alright. They will understand, in time.”

“If only...”

With a sad look on his face, he swirls the wine in his glass, then, with a heavy, heavy sigh, spills out his pent-up feelings.

“To be honest, there are times I find being king very depressing. It’s not just those two kids. Julius, I worry about you as well. I never wanted my son to have to shoulder the burden of being Hero. Yet, as king, it is my duty to tell you to go. It may be the right choice for me as a king, but it makes me a failure of a father.”

“Father. I am proud of being the Hero. Please, do not say things. If you take being the Hero away from me, what do I have left?”

“That’s not true.”

“But it is. I don’t have my older brother’s skill or education in politics, nor do I have Leston’s penetrating faith, nor can I marry into another family like my sister can. The only thing I can do is to be the Hero of the people, to swing my sword in defense of humanity. Please, Father, do not worry about me. I am, for my own sake, doing what I am meant to do, and doing my very best at it.”

“Leston’s really just doing whatever he pleases, though.”

“He really is.”

The two of us let out a chuckle.

Father, from where I stand, you’re an amazing father. So, in order to be as helpful to you as I can, I’ll continue to be the Hero.

---

Chapter 071

Leveling

Leveling my skills so far took a lot of work. ...Wait, no, these went up on their own. The last time I really settled in to focus on leveling a skill was back when I made my first home, and then I really didn't work on anything but Spider Silk...

I have way more skills than I did back then, and, best of all, Appraisal's level has jumped way up. In other words, I'm in a great position to do some very efficient leveling.

On top of that, now that I can see the skill list, I've tried finding skills I thought I could acquire and doing things that I thought would earn skill proficiency. Thanks to that, I've acquired quite a few new skills. Maaaaan, Madam Appraisal, you really are the greatest. You're really a cheat skill when it comes to skill acquisition.

Also, in order to secure provisions, I set a few traps around the area. They're super simple, just a few super-sticky threads spread around on the floor, but when a monster steps on one, it gets stuck. I left those alone for a while, then checked back on them occasionally. The result: I successfully caught something! It was pretty weak, so I put an end to it quickly.

And, in doing so, I finally was able to show my Poison Silk to the world! It's silk imbued with poison, and it's surpassed Severing Thread as my strongest attack. Man, this is amazing. It's seriously amazing. It's seriously amazing, but I don't know if I can use it in the middle strataaaa... how unfair.

Also, I leveled up.

"Huh?" you ask? Don't. I had that reaction already.

After all, isn't it weird that I would have leveled up after defeating just one small fry of a monster? I was pretty surprised. This looks like another bonus from Pride, and a pretty effective one at that, if I leveled from a single weak monster.

After that, I caught a few more monsters, just as I wanted. Thanks to that, I haven't run out of food at all, nor has my stamina been going down. There's evidence that a few monsters managed to break free of my traps, but, honestly, that's fine with me. I really don't want to meet the monsters that are strong enough to tear themselves out of my stickiest threads. Thanks to that, the only monsters left in my traps are the safe ones, so I can dispatch them with a smile on my face. All the levels I got are way exhilarating, too.

After doing all that stuff, my stats are looking a little like this:

Small Poison Taratekt — LV 5 — (no name)

Statistics:

HP: 83/83 (green)

MP: 181/181 (blue)

SP: 82/82 (yellow), 82/82 (red)

Avg. Offense: 92

Avg. Defense: 92

Avg. Magic Power: 135

Avg. Resistance: 168

Avg. Speed: 830

Skills:

[Automatic HP Recovery (LV 5)] • [Accelerated MP Recovery (LV 3)]
• [MP Consumption Reduction (LV 2)] • [Accelerated SP Recovery (LV 2)] • [SP Consumption Reduction (LV 2)] • [Damage Enhancement (LV 1)] • [Slashing Enhancement (LV 1)] • [Poison Enhancement (LV 2)] • [Battle Spirit (LV 1)] • [Willpower Allocation (LV 2)] • [Greater Poison Attack (LV 3)] • [Poison Synthesis (LV 7)] • [Thread Talent (LV 3)] • [Spider Silk (LV 9)] • [Severing Thread (LV 6)] • [Thread Manipulation (LV 8)] • [Throwing (LV 6)] • [3-D Maneuvering (LV 3)] •

[Concentration (LV 9)] • [Prediction (LV 8)] • [Multitasking (LV 4)] • [Computation (LV 6)] • [Aiming (LV 7)] • [Evasion (LV 3)] • [Appraisal (LV 8)] • [Detection (LV 6)] • [Stealth (LV 7)] • [Hell] • [Corruption Magic (LV 3)] • [Shadow Magic (LV 2)] • [Poison Magic (LV 2)] • [Abyssal Magic (LV 10)] • [Pride] • [Overeating (LV 7)] • [Night Vision (LV 10)] • [Visible Spectrum Expansion (LV 2)] • [Damage Resistance (LV 1)] • [Bashing Resistance (LV 2)] • [Slashing Resistance (LV 3)] • [Fire Resistance (LV 1)] • [Greater Poison Resistance (LV 2)] • [Paralysis Resistance (LV 3)] • [Petrification Resistance (LV 3)] • [Acid Resistance (LV 4)] • [Decay Resistance (LV 3)] • [Fainting Resistance (LV 2)] • [Fear Resistance (LV 6)] • [Corruption Resistance (LV 3)] • [Ignore Pain] • [Pain Tolerance (LV 7)] • [Enhanced Vision (LV 8)] • [Enhanced Hearing (LV 8)] • [Enhanced Smell (LV 7)] • [Enhanced Taste (LV 4)] • [Enhanced Touch (LV 6)] • [Vitality (LV 7)] • [Mana Pool (LV 8)] • [Alacrity (LV 7)] • [Endurance (LV 7)] • [Greater Strength (LV 3)] • [Greater Toughness (LV 3)] • [Resistance (LV 3)] • [Kartikeya (LV 3)] • [Taboo (LV 4)] • [n%I=W]

Skill points available: 180

Maaan, I got strong. Seriously. With stats like these, wouldn't I be able to fight upper-layer monsters head-on?

I've seen this before in my stats, but it really looks like there's a variety of ways to bring up your stats without having to level up. I went running for a while to work on boosting my skills, and thanks to that training my stats have gone up as well. It looks like it's the same as in my previous life: if you train hard, you'll get stronger. I've got a stats screen in this world, though, so it's way easier to see the effects.

And, plus, the stat increases on level up are now double what they were before! You might be asking me what the hell I'm talking about, but I seriously don't know what's happened! No, well, it's probably Pride again. When I leveled, my speed increased by a whopping 42 in an instant. That really startled me. It looks like the "increase in the rate of stat growth" that Pride gives me literally doubles the increases that I get from my other skills. Pride, you're seriously an amazing skill...

My skills have also gone way up in level. Look at the poison-related ones! Did you notice? Poison Attack became Greater Poison Attack<sup>1</sup> and Poison Resistance became Greater Poison Resistance! That happened when those skills hit level ten. I was amazed to find out that skills have evolutions too. The effect seems to be a straight upgrade of the previous skills' effects. It looks like these are going to be my main weapons in the middle strata, so these evolutions are a huge deal.

Eh? Why'd Poison Resistance go up, you ask? I've been regularly whipping myself with Poison Silk, you know. Really, if I didn't do that, then the level wouldn't up, right? I can endure a little bit of pain if it's for the sake of my skill levels. Anyone would do the same. I did it, after all. Huh? I'm the only one? Nah, no waaaay. ...Probably.

---

Translator's notes for this chapter:

1. Originally, "Deadly Poison Attack", but I'm continuing to translate upgraded versions of skills as "Greater" to keep with Western RPG conventions and to prevent skill names from being obfuscated unnecessarily.

---

Chapter 072

The Fruits of Leveling

Also on the topic of poison, Poison Synthesis leveled up as well. It's gotten up to level seven by now, and I've got even more of both the kinds of poison I can synthesize and the attributes I can adjust.

Poison Synthesis Menu

Weak Poison

Poison

Strong Poison

Deadly Spider Venom (LV 3)

Damage adjustment Duration adjustment

Contact damage adjustment

Synthesis volume adjustment

Thanks to leveling up Poison Attack, my Spider Venom has now become Deadly. I did also pick up both Poison and Strong Poison, but these are simply poisons that are stronger than Weak Poison. Deadly Spider Venom is obviously even better than those, though. Sorry, guys, but Deadly Spider Venom's the only one of you that'll see the light of day in combat.

However, there's new customization options! "Contact damage adjustment", as its name implies, adjusts how much damage a poison can do just from touching you. It's how I control external damage, while the "damage adjustment" option lets me control internal damage when a poison's ingested or injected. There's no real need for me to adjust my Deadly Spider Venom, however, since its damage is already way higher than I can modify with Poison Synthesis.

“Synthesis volume adjustment” lets me control the amount of poison that I can synthesize at once, albeit at the cost of additional mana. I tried it while I was leveling, and it’s super convenient. As long as I don’t mess up while using it, I can instantly create a tremendous amount of poison to inflict on my enemies. Drown in my sea of venom! I’ll shout, as I rain down a torrent of toxin on my helpless foes...

My non-poison-related skills also leveled up quite a bit. I was able to pick up a variety of skills relating to my mana and stamina. For my mana, I got Accelerated MP Recovery and MP Consumption Reduction. Just as advertised, my natural mana regeneration has gone up and my expenditures have gone down. Same thing goes for stamina too, with faster recovery and lowered costs. The faster recovery, though, only applies to my yellow gauge. The cost reduction looks like it applies to both yellow and red: when I sprinted around at full power to try it out, both gauges seemed to be going down less quickly. (The red gauge actually didn’t go down at all, thanks to Overeating, but the good lady Appraisal helped me confirm the result.)

Damage Enhancement is, uh, pretty OP. It multiplies the damage of anything you do to destroy something. “Something” includes, of course, other living beings. In other words, all of my attacks are being significantly strengthened. Damage Resistance is the defensive skill on the other side of the coin. Both of these skills are scary good, so I worked hard to make sure I picked both of those up.

Slashing Enhancement and Poison Enhancement are skills that boost attacks that use their corresponding attributes. It’s a pretty simple way to boost both my Severing Thread and my poison.

Battle Spirit is a pretty weird skill. It burns stamina from my red gauge to boost all of my physical stats. It’s what you’d call a toggled buff, but it drains a ton of stamina while it’s on. My red stamina is my lifeline, so there’s nooo way I’m eager to use it up like that. This skill isn’t very efficient, either, so I’m going to save it for when I’m backed into a corner. Way into a corner.

Grant Vitality is similar to Battle Spirit, but it targets an external object, not myself. In my case, I’d use it on my silk. Again, though, I’m not going to wind up using it, for largely the same reasons as Battle Spirit.

My biggest score in the silk department was a skill called Thread Talent. It's a super convenient skill that applies a flat bonus to everything I do involving threads, like making my silk stronger or easier to work with. Since it's just a straight boost with no downsides, I put it to work immediately.

Throw and Aiming both went up, too.

I didn't do anything in particular to work on leveling 3-D Maneuvering, but climbing up the walls to get to and from my home has caused it to gradually level up.

Multitasking and Computation haven't really gone up at all, but it really can't be helped. I'm still waiting on deliberately grinding it up.

On the other hand, Concentration and Prediction have both gone up quite a bit. I don't really care much about Prediction, but Concentration's hit level nine! Level ten can't be far off. Based on the other skills so far, Concentration will either evolve into a new form or derive a new skill once it hits level ten. I wonder which it will be? This has been a super useful skill so far, so I'm really expecting its evolution—or derivation—to be good as well.

No change to my magic skills.

As for my resistances, my constant literal self-flagellation has gotten me Damage Resistance, Bashing Resistance, and Slashing Resistance. On top of that, I also managed to finally pick up my long-desired Fire Resistance. After all of this effort, I finally made it to level one. Automatic HP Regeneration has also leveled up a bunch, so my future's looking pretty bright.

Next, I boosted most of my sensory-enhancing skills. I've left Enhance Taste aside for the time being. It, uh, really doesn't seem very useful in a dungeon like this.

I also ground up my stat-boosting skills. After constantly raining poison attacks on myself, I got a new skill called Resistance, which, well, strengthened my Resistance stat. It went up even further when Poison Resistance evolved into Greater Poison Resistance! I don't really know exactly what the link is, but it may be that my Resistance stat goes up when a resistance skill gets added.

It's been a real pain to try to level Greater Strength, Greater Toughness, and Kartikeya. They really haven't gone anywhere. Seriously, I ran and ran and ran to try to grind up Kartikeya, and I only managed to get a single level. Compared to the rest of my stat-boosting skills, these are waaay more difficult to level. Well, I guess it's only natural, since these skills are way more powerful than the others.

Now that I know how skill evolution works, I really want to get the rest of my stat-boosting skills up to level ten as quickly as I can. They might have evolved forms too.

Alas, I was unable to further raise M'lady Appraisal to any new heights. I think that I haven't been able to get very much skill proficiency over the last few days since my actions have been so constrained. If that's the case, I really should start moving towards clearing the middle strata.

By now, I'm more-or-less able to stand the environmental damage of the middle strata. I tried it out to be sure, getting as close as I could to a magma pool, and it seems to work. It takes everything I've got to just barely mitigate it, though. If I take any other damage while I'm in the middle layer, leveling up is the only way I'd be able to heal it. I really want to spend some more time on my skills just to be extra-safe, but I really want to earn some more proficiency for the Lady Appraisal's sake...

Hmmmmmm. I'm torn.

---

Chapter 073

Suddenly, a death flag!

Alright! Let's get to the middle strata. Carpe diem! Seize the day! With my Speed stat as high as it is, I should be able to run past any enemies I might encounter. Plus, I've been able to keep moving despite life-threatening wounds before now. I'll never get anywhere if I'm afraid of stubbing my toes.

Regeneration has spoiled me. This is clear.

Under ordinary circumstances, I'd want to spend some more time leveling, but... I dunno, I have a feeling that I really should get out of here quickly. I'm getting really fidgety and restless.

And so, today I depart, leaving behind my fourth home! Farewell, home number four! You have treated me well. Take care of yourself!

In that instant, my fourth home is abruptly blasted apart.

I'm blown away by the shockwave. I hit the ground rolling, and manage to come to a stop about halfway up the slope. I glance at my health bar, but it's only gone down a little bit. I'm lucky; I made it out relatively unscathed since I was already outside, but... what would have happened if I was still in there?

My eyes alight on the creature that started this fiasco.

The Earth Dragon, Kagna — LV 26

Statistics:

HP: 4198/4198 (green)

MP: 3339/3654 (blue)

SP: 2798/2798 (yellow), 2995/3112 (red)

Failed to appraise statistics.

It's a dragon. Compared to the other Earth Dragon, Alaba, that I saw before, this one looks kinda shorter and stouter. It looks very strong. Also, it has no wings.

Nnnope. I get right the heck out of there, charging up the ramp at maximum speed. I reach the top in record time and just keep running. I burn through my entire bar of yellow stamina, but I just keep running. I push my legs so far past their limit that they start screaming in agony. This is excruciating, but still, I just keep running. I weave around the streams of magma, running as fast as I can along the few bits of solid ground.

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [SP Consumption Reduction (LV 2)] has been raised to level 3.”

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Fear Resistance (LV 6)] has been raised to level 7.”

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Alacrity (LV 7)] has been raised to level 8.”

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Endurance (LV 7)] has been raised to level 8.”

---

I don't know how far I've managed to run, but my legs have finally just given out. I want to do nothing more than collapse on the floor and just lay here forever, but I scrape together all of my remaining willpower and force myself to turn around. Behind me, there's no sign that the Earth Dragon has followed me at all.

That was cloooose... I look around to make sure that there's no monsters immediately nearby, then flop down to the ground.

Aaaaaahh... No waaaaaay... An Earth Dragon attack, in broad daylight, with no warning or provocation whatsoever? No freaking waaaaaay. I could have died. If I'd been even an instant later in leaving my home, I would have died! Things only turned out like this because I had that uncomfortable premonition.

Seriously, though, what the heck was that? Are Earth Dragons compelled to fire their breath weapons at every single cobweb they see? That's freaking scary. I didn't pay much attention, but... do the Earth Dragons make their lair in the lower strata? That's freaking scary. ...Wait, no, let's not think about a place with a bunch of Earth Dragons lying around.

I think back on the stats I saw from Appraisal, and how every single one of them was four digits. That's pretty freaking ridiculous! There's no way I could have won. On top of that, it had mana and stamina to spare after using an attack that straight-up obliterated my home. That thing wasn't single-shot! It could fire it as much as it wanted!

Impossible. What a monster! Earth Dragons are terrifying.

On top of that, that new Earth Dragon seemed to be a totally different variety than the Earth Dragon Alaba that I saw before. The new one had a lower level than Alaba did, but I wasn't able to Appraise Alaba back then so I have no way to compare the two to see which is stronger. That doesn't change the fact that it isn't even remotely possible for me to beat either of them.

Alaba and Kagna are both described as Earth Dragons, so they must be related somehow, right? Maybe they started out as the same species, but then they took different branches when evolving. Ahhh, that might be it... Dragons are the creme de la creme of powerful monsters, it's only natural that they'd have many evolutionary forms.

Or, if that's not it, maybe each Earth Dragon is its own unique species? Huh, that might be it too... Since they're high up on the evolutionary ladder, there aren't going to be very many of them, but they'd have to be pretty strong, huh? ...Yeah, those guys are definitely strong, with stats like those. So, if there's so few of them, the odds of running into them must be very low...

Wait. If that's the case, getting attacked by not just one, but two Earth Dragons has to be extremely unlikely. Is my luck really that astronomically terrible?

N... n-n-n-no waay that can be true, r-r-right? I've always managed to come out on top, even though I've been in so many situations that were so hopeless I thought I was going to die, so my luck must be good, right? Huh? You're telling me someone with actual good luck wouldn't be in mortal peril so often? Hmmm?

...Let's not do this. Let's just put the brakes on this particular train of thought.

Man, I was a hair's breadth away from disaster, there. I'm so glad I didn't decide to stick around and level any more. I haven't been able to shake off my bad luck yet. Let's just leave it at that for now. Someone, please agree with me?

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Prediction (LV 8)] has been raised to level 9.”

Who the hell asked you?! What's with that timing! Were you just waiting to make that quip?! Hey, so-called “Voice of Heaven”, you think you're some kinda comedian now?!

Hoooof. I got way too riled up about such a stupid thing.

Right. I've had probably the worst start to this possible, but let's start working through conquering the middle strata. I want to get as far away from the Earth Dragon as I can.

---

Chapter 074

Middle strata conquest: commence!

Right, then, first thing's first, let's verify my current condition. I'm currently surrounded on all sides by bubbling, seething magma. The ratio of magma to solid ground is, hmm, probably about fifty/fifty. I kinda blitzed my way through to this particular spot, but am I even going in the right direction? Well, right or wrong, I have no clue. All that I can do right now is keep going forward.

So, I'm still feeling the aftereffects of that Earth Dragon attack. After sprinting for so long even after I was well past my limit, my health has gone down a bit. Ordinarily, a tiny bit of damage like this wouldn't be a big deal, but in a scorching-hot place like this I'm constantly taking environmental damage. My automatic recovery is only barely keeping up with this constant damage, so any additional damage I receive isn't going to be able to heal at all. In order to recover, I'm either going to have to wait for the full heal on a levelup, or hope that either Fire Resistance or Automatic HP Recovery levels up and tips the balance of damage and healing more in my favor.

Although, it is entirely possible that getting super close to the magma would be even more unbearably hot, and the amount of damage I'd take would be even higher. I'd really like to avoid super-hot places whenever possible, but I dunno what's coming down the bend...

Based on what the upper and lower strata were like, I'd bet that the middle strata is going to be pretty huge. This is, after all, the world's greatest dungeon. This place is big enough that it connects two continents together! I need to steel myself for the possibility that I'll be stuck here for days. Man, this journey's going to be long, and I'm already just crushed. This isn't a good sign.

Right, so, let's get going.

Hrm. It really is hot, though... Before I was reborn as a spider, I lived a super comfortable, climate-controlled life without ever being too hot or too cold. This kinda extreme temperature shift is really making me sluggish... It's not like I can't handle the heat at all; I did keep coming back up here while I was trying to level up Fire Resistance, after all. But still, when I think about how I'm going to be stuck in this heat for soooo long before I finally get out of the middle strata, I really do get kinda worn down.

My feet in particular. There's magma flowing all around nearby, you know? The ground is, of course, going to be scorching hot. And not scorching hot like the asphalt in the middle of the summer. If you tried to fry an egg on this sidewalk, it would just burn. And I have to walk on it! Barefoot! This is way more painful than just plain "hot".

Oh, great, a monster.

Elro Generash — LV 5

Statistics:

HP: 159/159 (green)

MP: 145/148 (blue)

SP: 145/145 (yellow), 116/145 (red)

Failed to appraise statistics.

Ah, it's one of the ones I saw when I first came up here. The seahorse-looking ones. Just like back then, it's calmly swimming around in molten rock. No waaaay.

It looks like it hasn't noticed me yet, but the direction it's traveling in is going to put it right on the path that I want to go through. What should I do...?

Hmmm. Maybe I should fight it? I've been wanting to figure out just how effective my silk still is in this heat, but if I still have to fight it head-on, I'm pretty confident, based on the stats I saw just now, that I can beat it.

My foe is right in front of me and it doesn't seem like any other monsters are rearing their ugly heads, so...

Let's give it a shot.

My target hasn't noticed me yet, so let's give it a good pre-emptive strike. Come on, Severing Thread!! I let out a long length of silk, then whip it horizontally in front of me. Since the seahorse wasn't paying any attention to my silk, I aimed right for its head, but my silk simply burned up as it passed over the magma. Fire races up the thread back towards me, and I frantically sever the rest of the thread before I catch fire myself.

Awww, mmmmrgh... Man, is this just hopeless? My silk caught fire without even touching the magma directly. Is my silk seriously going to be completely ineffective in the middle strata? Aaaaargh, seriouslyyy... I've really been stripped of my strongest weapon...? I'd known this was possible but I'm still kinda stunned.

Oh, something's flying this way! It's a fireball, huh. That'll hurt if it hits... but that's big enough that I'll get burnt to a crisp if it hits me, right?

Whoop!

I dodge. I dodge it completely! Oh, but it fired a second one.

Whoop!

The seahorse is spitting fireballs at me from within the magma. Hmm. At the speed they're traveling, there's no way they'll hit me. I may have not been able to dodge that frog's acid spit so long ago, but now my Speed stat is way higher and I have an Evasion skill! I'm far more powerful than I was before. Even my speed-specced MMO character is no match for my god-tier evasive ability! I may be made of paper, I may be burned to a crisp in a single hit, but they're never going to actually hit me!

This, however, is, uh, kinda pointless. Neither of us can really do anything. My foe can't land a single fireball on me, and there's no way for me to attack it at range without my silk. We're at a stalemate.

Ah, no, the seahorse's mana is gradually being used up. I guess that fireball attack costs mana? That would mean that it would run out of fireballs once its mana is fully depleted. Lady Appraisal, you truly are OP. You can tell me all I need to know about my enemies in mid-combat!

Alright, I've dodged the last fireball. Now, that thing's mana pool is completely empty. Its next move will decide the outcome of this battle, but what will it be?

Ah! It crawled out of the magma. And it's charging this way.

What a moron.

If I were in its shoes, I'd be making a strategic retreat right now.

I avoid its charge with room to spare. To my eyes, it's practically moving in slow motion. I latch onto its back as it passes, stab my claws deep into its flesh, and fill it full of venom with my Poison Attack. This thing's super hot, though! My health went down a bit! My precious, precious health!

Regardless, the seahorse, violated by my deadliest toxins, crumples to the ground and rattles out its last breath. Hmm! My debut fight was a resounding success. Though... it seems like, here in the middle strata, my greatest foe is the terrain itself.

---

Chapter 075

There's things that are totally fine when you do them, but can't stand when people do to you, right?

I avoid some incoming fireballs. Two of them. Well, dodging two at the same time isn't any huge problem for me. I glance towards their origin and see two seahorses.

It would seem as if this area is packed full of seahorses. Everywhere I look, the magma is infested with them. They aren't really swarming together; they're just kinda wandering about, doing whatever they want to do, but if several of them wind up in the same place, they'll wind up attacking me all at once. Well, these seahorse squads aren't anywhere near as large as the monkey army that attacked me, so this is actually really easy.

I dodge another fireball. These guys don't usually interact with each other very much, so their teamwork is kind of poor. They're just kinda firing off fireballs whenever they feel like it. If you guys don't work together, you're never gonna actually hit me, you knooooow!

It's just... there's that. It's depressing. They aren't playing fair, staying in the magma. There's no way for me to actually affect them at all, so this bombardment is reaaaally one-sided. Can't you guys fight me fair and square? Don't you think you're being a little too cowardly? Don't you have any sense of pride?

Hm? My own medicine? I have noooo clue what you're saying. I don't understaaaand. I'd neeeever do anything that cowardly, you know? I'd neeeever hide in my nest and attack with impunity, you know? Look at me, I'm such an upstanding and forthright maiden, seeee?

That's right, you know?
Say it. "That's right."

Well, really, these guys aren't shut completely away like I do when I'm in my nest. Look! One of them just ran out of mana. Here it comes!

For some completely unknown reason, these seahorses never retreat back into the safety of the magma. Instead, they come at me directly, no matter the cost. They do say that an emperor should never flee, so do these guys think they're awesome enough to be emperors? Hmm, maybe, they are a little dragon-like, after all. Anyway, when their mana runs out, they climb out of the magma and physically charge me.

After that, it's my game.

I dispose of it immediately with my venom-clad forelegs. The timing's great, too, the other one crawls out of the magma and I deal with it in the same way.

"Experience requirements met. Small Poison Taratekt, you have grown from level 5 to level 6. Every ability score has been increased. Acquired bonus skill proficiencies from leveling up: your skill [Poison Enhancement (LV 2)] skill has been raised to level 3 and your skill [Evasion (LV 3)] has been raised to level 4. You have acquired additional skill points."

Oh! Ding!! I'm grateful for just the full heal alone. I molt quickly, and my health is fully restored.

It's not very difficult to defeat these seahorses, but every time I touch them I take a little bit of damage. It's no big deal when it's just one of them, but when I have to fight them over and over, the accumulated damage is no laughing matter. Right now, I can't recover any health unless I level up, so I don't want to take even the tiniest bit of damage. Incidentally, I can eat these things as long as I give them a little time to cool down first.

I really would have liked my Fire Resistance or Automatic HP Recovery skills to have leveled when I did, but I guess the world just isn't that nice. Fire Resistance is still stuck at level one, and Automatic HP Recovery hasn't budged at all. I guess I can't do anything about Fire Resistance's lack of growth. After all, it seems like my species is very weak against fire, so trying to overcome that weakness in a single day is definitely asking too much.

Automatic HP Recovery is an extremely useful skill, so of course it levels slowly. Well, auto-healing is usually a pretty lategame skill. To have gotten a skill like this naturally without having to spend skill points on it, and then expecting it to level quickly on top of that is really just being greedy. Getting it in the first place is a blessing in and of itself.

Really, without Automatic HP Recovery, I don't think I'd even be able to try to make it through the middle strata. It'd just be impossible. Charging through an area that constantly deals environmental damage to you without any way to heal that damage is just straight-up suicide. I'm reeeeeeally not interested in killing myself, otherwise I'd still be in the lower strata, looking for a pit to climb up.

Y'know, the lower strata, where the Earth Dragons live.

Welp, another seahorse. If I keep going this way, it'll see me, oh noooo. If I wanted to run away, I probably could, but that's, uh...

Maybe I should try throwing rocks, like those monkeys did? It's probably better than just doing nothing. I can't really hold a rock with my spindly spider legs, but I could stick some silk to it and hurl it like that.

Let's test this out immediately. First, I need to find a decent rock... yeah! There's a decently-sized one. Let's roll it over here, stick a thread to it, and... Hummm, hummm, hummm, WHOOP!

Oh! It hit. That was probably thanks to Throwing and Aiming, huh? Though... it didn't really seem to do much damage. Ah, here comes the counterattack. Another fireball.

After that, we traded rocks and fireballs back and forth for a while, but the seahorse did eventually run out of mana, crawl up on shore, and turn this into a land battle. HmMMM. This is better than doing nothing, but it's not like it's really doing much of anything... Well, if I'm just fighting one of those things, throwing rocks might still be useful. I can grind up Throwing and Aiming, probably. If there's two or more, though, I really should focus on evasion. Getting hit by one of those fireballs would be no joke.

---

Chapter S11

Daughter of the Elves

My father has summoned me. Not just me, but Katia as well. Neither of us have any idea as to why this could be, so we both tilt our heads to the side and ponder.

“This is just a wild guess,” says Katia, “but... maybe he wants to talk about betrothal?”

“Huh? Whose?”

“You know... yours. And mine.”

I am completely and utterly flabbergasted by Katia’s ridiculous idea.

“No... no way.”

“Yeah, dude, seriously, it would be way too weird for us. But look at it from everyone else’s perspective. We look like a boy and a girl of similar age and pedigree who get along very well. If they weren’t thinking about marriage it would be weirder.”

When she puts it like that, it doesn’t seem to be that strange of an idea. I am a prince of the royal family, and she’s the daughter of a duke. It’s a good balance, socially.

“But, are you okay with that?” I ask.

“No fucking way, dude. I can’t even imagine being married to a man. But it’s gonna happen sooner or later, so we should really be prepared for it, right?”

“Man, I never thought you’d think about stuff like that.”

“Whoa, rude. But, practically, I’d honestly rather be engaged to you than to some random guy I don’t actually know. You know about my current situation, so when it comes down to it we can make a scene and call the whole thing off.”

Ahh, there's that ploy too. I honestly haven't been thinking about a fiancée up until now, but since I am a son of a royal line, it really would be weird if the question just never came up. It really would be convenient, then, to be engaged to someone like Katia, since we have no actual romantic attraction to each other.

There's just one problem, though.

"Hey, what are we going to do about Sue, then?"

"Ah."

Yeah. My little sister Sue doesn't allow anyone to get close to me at all. She's let her guard down a bit around Katia, but I have no idea what she'll do if the topic of betrothal comes up.

"Yeah," says Katia, "I think she might just kill me."

"That's an exaggeration, right?"

"...It might not be."

Sue has grown up to be one of those kinds of girls, but I don't think she'd really go that far.

Meanwhile, two more people have entered the waiting room, a man and a young girl. When Katia and I notice the two of them, our jaws drop in shock. These two people have far longer ears than any human.

"Prince, Lady, good day to you," says the man, in an indifferent tone. "I am Potimus Hyphenas, the elven ambassador to this country. It is a pleasure to make your acquaintances. It is I who have called you here."

This is my first time meeting an elf. I knew that elves existed, but seeing a real live one in front of me is a stark reminder of the fact that we live in a fantasy world.

He squints at us, and a strange, uncomfortable feeling ripples through me. "Hmm! You do indeed possess it," he says.

"Oka," he says to the girl beside him, "these two both have it. I'll leave them in your care."

"All ri~ight! Leave them to me~!" she says, cheerfully.

"Now, I must take my leave," he says, turning towards the door and quickly walking away. “Thanks for all the he~elp!”

The door shuts behind Potimus, leaving me and Katia completely dumbfounded. We hadn’t even had time to introduce ourselves before he hurried out of the room. With no idea what to do, I turn towards the little girl he left behind.

“Hmm, hmmm~! Let me introduce myself. My... current name is Filimes Hyphenas~! It is my pleasure to meet you~!”

Katia and I glance at each other. This strange little girl had just introduced herself, but now we had no idea what to do next.

“Your teacher just introduced herself, so it’s only polite for you to do the same, you kno~ow! Who might the two of you be?”

“My apologies,” I hurriedly say. “I am the fourth prince of this country, Slaine Zagan Analeicht.”

“I am the daughter of the duke of Anabald, Carnatia Seli Anabald.” “Hm, hm! A prince and a duchess! Spec-tacular! I’m burning up~!”

I stiffen in my chair. The quirky way she’s been talking, her choice of words, her conduct... they’re very much like someone I know. Next to me, Katia has come to the exact same realization, and our eyes go wide.

“No way, Oka?!” we yell.

“A~hem, you should call your teacher Miss Okazaki, you know~? But you’re right!!”<sup>2</sup>

The individual in front of us is Oka, aka Kanami Okazaki, our homeroom teacher from the previous world.

The teacher we had nicknamed Oka was really quite a deplorable individual. When she was a student, she got really into a particular manga and started imitating how her favorite character talked, and did it for so long that it became her normal speaking voice. She read a lot of manga set in the Warring States period of Japanese history, so she arbitrarily decided to go into the history program at a very prestigious university. She then decided to become a teacher after drafting the Reverse Hikaru Genji Plan<sup>1</sup>. A thoroughly deplorable teacher indeed. However, her students really loved that deplorable personality, so she was an incredibly popular teacher.

“So, Miss Okazaki, why have you come to this country?”

“Because I’d heard the two of you were he~ere. You’re everywhere in the news, you know? Several genius prodigies born in the kingdom of Analeicht all at once!!”

Having met our teacher from the other world after all this time, we switch to talking in Japanese, and tell her our old names. When she hears who Katia was, her eyes go wide and she squeals, “I’m burning up~!”

“You came all this way just to see us?”

“No, no, not just tha~at. I mi~ight look like a little elf girl, but I’m still your teacher! Of course I wanted to make sure my beloved students are all safe, you kno~ow! Well, if ‘safety’ really means anything after we’ve been reincarnated~!”

She might be acting like it’s a joke, but I think she’s really sincere about it. Since I came here, I haven’t been thinking about anyone’s life but my own. It never occurred to me that I should seek out my other classmates.

“This world’s also wa~ay more dangerous than Japa~an! I need to find you all sooner rather than later so that I can make sure you’re safe, you know~!”

That’s another thing that I hadn’t even considered. There’s monsters in this world! It’s an easy mistake to make, but since I was so safe, I just arbitrarily assumed that the rest of my classmates were safe too.

“So, Miss Okazaki, have you come to protect us?”

“No, no! You two have such lofty positions that there’s no~o way you’d be able to just walk out of here. The others are normal people, though, so all they needed to do was ask if they wanted to seek shelter in the elven village~!”

“So, that means you’ve found some of the others already?” “Ye~ep! Twelve people are already in the elven village, and we’ve been in contact with five more students, including you two~. We’ve been able to find two more of you, so they’re the next stop on my tri~ip!

Our class had twenty-five students. So this means that there are six students that still haven’t been located at all. On the other hand, however, that means that only six students haven’t been found. In such a huge world as this, finding as many people as she did must have been an enormous amount of work.

“Miss Okazaki, you’re working so hard for our sakes,” I say.

“Of course I am~, It’s my duty as your teacher! Plus, most of you guys have been in the human lands, so it’s not like getting to you guys was ha~ard!”

Even so, it is obvious that Miss Okazaki has been putting a tremendous amount of work into this. I bow to her once more.

“We~ell,” she says, “I’m sure we have a lot to talk abo~ut, but I’m going to be enrolling in the academy here soo~on! I’ll be expecting a detailed account from both of you then~!”

Katia and I will also both be enrolling in the academy shortly. Our new lives are coming at us quickly.

---

Translator’s notes for this chapter:

1. This is a reference to Hikaru Genji, the protagonist of The Tale of Genji, a piece of classical Japanese literature. Assumedly, the “Hikaru Genji Plan” is a recreation of the part of the story where he, a grown man, raises a young girl with the intent of marrying her. The Reverse Hikaru Genji Plan would seem to involve a grown woman (the teacher?) raising a boy to marry.

1.1. God damn.

2. Miss Okazaki speaks in Japanese by drawing out the last vowel of literally e~every sentence. It’s pre~etty aggravating to read! I’ve tried to preserve as much of the tone as I possibly ca~an!

2.1. God da~amn!

---

Chapter 076

Turn up the heat!

My runthrough of the middle strata is going pretty well. I've encountered a few other species of monsters besides just seahorses, but none of them were really worth mentioning. If it weren't for the environmental hazards, there's no way I'd lose. Really, all of my problems come as a result of the environment.

First off: magma. What a pain! If my opponent hides in the magma, I can't do anything but hurl rocks at them, which does barely any damage at all. Practically, I can't do anything at all to them if they don't crawl up onto solid ground.

It's great when they act like the seahorses do and just blithely hop out of the magma when they run out of mana, but there's some monsters that stay put in the magma and, even worse, some who just run away. There's also the ones that start out on solid ground, but then dive into the magma to flee when I corner them.

Not being able to use my silk at all is another huge pain. I'm able to use it for things like throwing rocks around, but it'll always catch fire eventually, even if it just sits on the ground. The biggest problem here is that my body constantly produces silk whenever I move, laying down a thread wherever I go. In here, this thread catches fire. The flames then race up the line like a fuse, straight towards my increasingly hot butt. This is, by the way, not a metaphor. The first time it happened, my butt literally caught fire, causing me to run around in panicked circles. That cost me a lot of health. I managed to put myself out, but at even greater cost. I doused myself with liquid from the only source I had: Poison Synthesis.

Ever since, I've had no choice but to constantly stop and cut off the line that I'm unconsciously laying. If I don't do that, my butt will be on fire. Not metaphorically.

Sleeping is another problem! Ideally, I'd build a nest to sleep in, but a nest would obviously catch fire in this environment. I had no choice but to abandon that hope and instead try to sleep in the shadows of large rocks.

Try, of course, being the operative word here. I'm trying to sleep in the middle of a scorching hell, constantly scared of being crept up on by a monster. No matter how brazen and bold I may be, guts can only get me so far. However, sleeping is a must. I haven't exactly been getting any good sleep, but whenever I find a suitable rock to hide under I do try to lie down for a while.

Well, even though the environment is much rougher up here than it was down in the lower strata, this place's one redeeming quality is that the monsters are so weak. It doesn't feel like there's much of a difference between the monsters here and the ones back in the upper strata. There could, of course, be a middle-strata equivalent to the unusually powerful snake that was in the upper strata, but for now every monster I've met has been weak.

The biggest difference between upper-and middle-strata monsters seems to be how well they use the terrain to their advantage. Thanks to that, all of the relatively weak monsters here are way tougher to kill than they should be. Seriously, I don't mind at all when it's me who has the environmental edge, but it is such a pain when my opponents have it instead.

Well, there's a lot of things to dislike about this place, but I don't think it's entirely impossible. My sheer diligence in leveling has made me quite a bit stronger. If I keep facing enemies like these, I'm still able to win even despite the disadvantage. However, since I still don't have very many ways to heal myself, every hit I take puts me in a bigger pinch. Carelessness is forbidden.

Besides, there's still one more thing that's particularly troubling about the monsters down here.

Ahead of me, I see three of them.

Elro Pyeku — LV 8

Statistics:

HP: 164/164 (green)
MP: 166/168 (blue)
SP: 175/175 (yellow), 176/181 (red)
Avg. Offense: 137
Avg. Defense: 123
Avg. Magic Power: 121
Avg. Resistance: 117
Avg. Speed: 143
Failed to appraise statistics.

Elro Pyeku — LV 8
Statistics:

HP: 163/163 (green)
MP: 169/170 (blue)
SP: 174/174 (yellow), 170/183 (red)
Failed to appraise statistics.

Elro Pyeku — LV 8
Statistics:

HP: 166/166 (green)
MP: 169/169 (blue)
SP: 177/177 (yellow), 178/182 (red)
Failed to appraise statistics.

These things look kind of like bright red dogs. They're actually kind of cute on the outside, but these jerks are actually really nasty, especially when it comes to dealing with me.

First of all, their noses are incredibly good. Like, y'know, dogs. They aren't even the slightest bit affected by my Stealth skill. As a result, I'm never able to attack them by surprise like I usually do. ...Well, I haven't been able to do that much in the middle strata anyway, but that's not important.

The next thing, though. Their bodies are covered in flame.

That's right! These dogs aren't just colored red, they're on fire! It's not like I can do anything to them while they're set ablaze like that. Just touching them directly would deal me a ton of damage. That's the biggest problem with middle-strata monsters: their bodies are all extremely hot.

Even if they're not always on fire like the dogs are, their bodies are still dangerously hot to the touch. The seahorses are like that, for example. So, whenever I touch them, I take damage. I can endure it when I have to kill the seahorses, but the amount of damage I'd take from killing something that's literally on fire wouldn't be something I could just shrug off.

I've had to come up with a few countermeasures of my own.

I dodge the dogs as they charge at me. They may be decently fast, but compared to my speed it's like they're moving through mud. Dodging them is no trouble at all.

I weave around the first two dogs, then leap high over the third. As I soar over its head, I activate Poison Synthesis.

Smothered by my powerful venom, the dog stumbles, falls, and skids to a stop. Not only is my venom especially deadly, but it seems like none of the monsters in this area have any levels in Poison Resistance. So, defeating these things is a piece of cake: just pour toxins on them until they stop moving. I don't have to touch them at all, so there's no need for me to take any damage.

My venom puts the two remaining pitiful dogs out of their misery.

---

Chapter 077

Unlucky number seven

I've got a baaad feeling. The seahorses, you see, are "drakes".<sup>1</sup>

Drake: A species of monster considered to be an inferior form of a dragon. While they may be considered inferior to dragons, there do exist drakes that can rival a dragon in power.*

Yeah. A monster that's an inferior form of something like that Earth Dragon. Putting it in system terms, it's, what, a Fire Drake? Since there's an Earth Dragon, there's got to be a Fire Dragon, huh... There can't be anything like that in the middle strata, can there? I really hope not.

Well then, I kind of let my mind escape from reality for a little there, but let's switch focus to the problem that's right in front of me.

Elro Geneseven — LV 7

Statistics:

HP: 461/461 (green)

MP: 223/223 (blue)

SP: 218/218 (yellow), 451/466 (red)

Avg. Offense: 368

Avg. Defense: 311

Avg. Magic Power: 161

Avg. Resistance: 158

Avg. Speed: 155

Failed to appraise statistics.

Elro Geneseven: A low-ranking species of monster, related to the drakes, that inhabits the middle strata of the Great Elro Labyrinth. It is omnivorous, and will swallow anything with its enormous mouth.

This monster is swimming lazily around in the magma. It may be some kind of lesser drake, but from where I'm standing it really looks more like some kind of catfish. Also, it doesn't really give off the kind of vibe that I'd expect off of a creature with "seven" in its name. Well, it's not like I can do much about this world's naming conventions, even if I have a problem.

Its defining characteristic really does seem to be its enormous mouth, just like a catfish. Man, there's no waaaay getting swallowed by that thing is going to turn out well for me. At my size, I think I'd fit in there quite nicely.

Appraisal did a great job getting me this guy's stats. Generally, it seems that Appraisal's success rate for getting detailed stats is something like one in three. I'm really lucky that this was the one that hit. Charging in at this catfish without a solid understanding of its stats would have been extremely dangerous. I've only ever seen weak monsters here in the middle strata, but this catfish is way stronger than the rest.

If possible, I'd like to pass straight through here. However, that catfish is swimming very close to the path I'd like to take. Based on all the trends so far, getting caught up in a battle is pretty likely.

Hmmmmmm. What do I do...? Well, I did consider that running away could be an option thanks to my incredible speed, but that thing's huge red stamina gauge means that I might be in real trouble if it decides to keep pursuing me forever. Its yellow bar is smaller, but "small" is a relative term; it's over twice the size of my own. Plus, I can't see any of the skills it has... If it maybe has Automatic SP Recovery at a high level, then it would be the worst monster I could possibly try to run away from. Well, this is still all in my head, though.

It looks like it would be pretty good in a fight. I should really run away, right? Yeah. I shouldn't do anything rash. I've been on a roll lately, but I've definitely had a lot of really painful experiences after getting too cocky. Even I can learn from experience! I'm not going to get carried away here. I'm going to proceed with caution and modesty.

So, on that note, let's start slowly moving forward. If it spots me, I'll take off at maximum speed.

Suddenly, another catfish rises from the depths and breaks through the surface of the magma with a splash, very close to me.

Huh? Whoa?! That's not right! I didn't get carried away at all but I still got myself into this much trouble?!

The catfish and I lock eyes. For a brief moment, we stare blankly at each other, then it opens its enormous mouth.

Backstep!! The catfish's mouth closes on the spot where I was just a moment ago. It came up on land so casually. This guy... I didn't notice them before since they were hidden beneath the magma, but this thing's got arms and legs! On top of that, it's covered in dragon-like scales! Its defense stat really is high.

Yeah.

Time to go.

Guh?! When I turn to the path I want to escape along, I see that the catfish I saw earlier has crawled up onto the land as well! In a place like this, how am I supposed to run away from a pincer attack?!

What do I do?! Uhhhhh, in times like this I've got no choice: I need to take down the catfish right in front of me, now!

I wrap my Poison Thread around the catfish. Even if it's going to burn immediately, please, just get a little bit of poison applied! It, of course, burns up immediately. I glance up at the catfish's health indicator, trying to figure out if my poison had any effect. Sure enough, the catfish's health has gone down by just a little bit. It looks like poison is indeed effective. So, my next step is to administer some poison.

The catfish opens its mouth wide as it immediately starts to charge towards me. WhhoaAA! That was close!! But I still nailed it! I stood my ground until the catfish was right on top of me, then used Poison Synthesis and just barely managed to make it away unscathed! By a razor's edge!

Its mouth snaps shut on a big glob of poison instead of on me. Instantly, its health starts to plummet at a rate that is seriously no joke. And, just as you'd expect, the catfish is writhing around on the ground in agony. Ohh! My poison's getting pretty good, isn't it...

Now, who's next?! I glance around, looking for my other opponent, and see that it has just straight-up bolted after watching its comrade meet such a terrible end. O... oh. I guess that it's only natural to think that I'm super dangerous, after watching your ally fall so quickly and painfully. I never thought that a drake would ever try to escape, but I guess that might just be those seahorses.

So, just like that, the healthy catfish turns around and flees back the way it came. Seriously...? I thought I was going to be the one running away from this. There's no waaaay I would have thought that I'd see my enemy fleeing instead. Is... is it okay if I get a little carried away, now? I'm really tough now, right?

Next up, I put an end to the poisoned catfish by splashing more venom on its face with Poison Synthesis. It convulses once more, then lies still.

“Experience requirements met. Small Poison Taratekt, you have grown from level 6 to level 7. Every ability score has been increased. Acquired bonus skill proficiencies from leveling up: your skill [Concentration (LV 9)] has been raised to level 10, your skill [Evasion (LV 4)] has been raised to level 5, and your skill [Vitality (LV 7)] has been raised to level 8. Your [Concentration (LV 10)] skill has reached its maximum level, and a new skill, [Accelerated Thought (LV 1)] has been unlocked. You have acquired additional skill points.”

Hm? When I leveled, it looks like Concentration maxed out.

---

Translator's notes for this chapter:

1. I'm translating 竜 as “drake” and 龍 as “dragon”. Both characters actually just mean “dragon”, and they're read the same, but 龍 has a somewhat more impactful feel to it. Drake, in this sense, is in the Dungeons and Dragons sense of the word: drakes are dragon-like creatures, but generally weaker.

---

Chapter 078

...What an amazing skill.

Concentration hit max level, which I was actually kinda looking forward to. Let's use Appraisal and check out the new derived skill that I got.

Accelerated Thought: Accelerates the speed of the user's thoughts, expanding the user's perception of time.

...What an amazing skill.

No, isn't it actually even more unbelievable than that? Its practical effect is, uh, that, right? Making time appear to slow down, right? Like that thing that top-class athletes say they get sometimes, where they can see the ball moving in slow motion, right? Does this let me activate that whenever I want? That's absurd, right?

Let's try it immediately. Hmm... No problems turning it on. So, how does it feel?

Hmm? Doesn't it look like the magma is moving a just little bit more slowly? There's also some kind of uncomfortable sensation. All of the sensations in my body feel... kinda fast and kinda slow at the same time. It's really strange, I don't think I can really describe it. To test it out, I try moving my body. It feels... weird, somehow, kinda like I'm moving underwater. Like my body is lagging just a little behind my thoughts. So, this what Accelerated Thought's like by default, huh... I've definitely gotten carried away by my own speed before, so maybe I should activate this when I run at top speed.

...Huh? Uh, is this actually costing me anything? Neither my mana or stamina are decreasing at all. So, is this maybe a passive skill, designed to be always on by default? It seems like I can turn it on and off, but is there any downside to leaving it on all the time? Man, isn't this amazing?

I was totally expecting this to cost me mana. Like, it would cost me some mana and would only last for a few seconds at a time, something like that. I can have it on anytime, anywhere, for no cost? Isn't this a ridiculously unbelievable skill?

There aren't any real downsides. If I had to dig for one, I'd maybe say that this laggy sensation is going to be kind of uncomfortable until I get used to it. Man, I think I've seriously managed to stumble on an amazingly OP skill!

Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Prediction (LV 9)] has been raised to level 10. Your [Prediction] skill has reached its maximum level and has evolved into a new skill, [Foresight (LV 1)].“

Oh, see ya, Prediction. Now that I think about it, I guess you were also just a little ways away from maxing out. Well, you were a pretty useless skill, so let's see if your evolved friend is a little more useful, huh?

Foresight: Strengthen's the user's predictive abilities. Furthermore, allows the user to see the possible outcomes of the immediate future.*

Hm? Possible future outcomes? What do you mean?

Well, first off, let's activate it. Hmm. This one went on without problem either. But, what actually changed?

Ah, wait. The magma's movements look a little weirder now. Did it get a little bit blurry, here and there? Wait, no, it... looks like a bunch of images are stacked on top of each other. Are these stacked-up sections what the description was calling possible outcomes?

This is what you'd call seeing the future, right? Well, it's not something that I can trust entirely because they do say it's a prediction, but if I train this skill up enough it might turn into something really useful. There aren't very many spots where the magma looks stacked up right now, so I don't really see this being very useful right now.

Huh? Wait, hang on, hang on. This isn't costing me anything either? Is... this another passive skill? ...What an amazing skill.

I never would have thought that such a good-for-nothing little brat as Prediction could turn out to be such an amazing treasure trove. Forgive me, Prediction. Even worthless kids can make something of themselves if they try hard.

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Appraisal (LV 8)] has been raised to level 9.”

The former worthless kid makes her appearance! Madam Appraisal! What, may I ask, will this level up bring? Please, allow me to see for myself immediately!

Small Poison Taratekt — LV 7 — (no name)

Statistics:

HP: 88/88 (green)

MP: 185/185 (blue)

SP: 88/88 (yellow), 88/88 (red) +612

Avg. Offense: 109

Avg. Defense: 108

Avg. Magic Power: 139

Avg. Resistance: 173

Avg. Speed: 956

Skills:

[Automatic HP Recovery (LV 5)] • [Accelerated MP Recovery (LV 3)] • [MP Consumption Reduction (LV 2)] • [Accelerated SP Recovery (LV 2)] • [SP Consumption Reduction (LV 3)] • [Damage Enhancement (LV 1)] • [Slashing Enhancement (LV 1)] • [Poison Enhancement (LV 3)] • [Battle Spirit (LV 1)] • [Willpower Allocation (LV 2)] • [Greater Poison Attack (LV 3)] • [Poison Synthesis (LV 7)] • [Thread Talent (LV 3)] • [Spider Silk (LV 9)] • [Severing Thread (LV 6)] • [Thread Manipulation (LV 8)] • [Throwing (LV 7)] • [3-D Maneuvering (LV 4)] • [Concentration (LV 10)] • [Accelerated Thought (LV 1)] • [Foresight (LV 1)] • [Multitasking (LV 4)] • [Computation (LV 6)] • [Aiming (LV 8)] • [Evasion (LV 5)] • [Appraisal (LV 9)] • [Detection (LV 6)] • [Stealth (LV

7)) • [Hell] • [Black Magic (LV 3)] • [Shadow Magic (LV 2)] • [Poison Magic (LV 2)] • [Abyssal Magic (LV 10)] • [Pride] • [Overeating (LV 7)] • [Night Vision (LV 10)] • [Visible Spectrum Expansion (LV 2)] • [Damage Resistance (LV 1)] • [Bashing Resistance (LV 2)] • [Slashing Resistance (LV 3)] • [Fire Resistance (LV 1)] • [Greater Poison Resistance (LV 2)] • [Paralysis Resistance (LV 3)] • [Petrification Resistance (LV 3)] • [Acid Resistance (LV 4)] • [Decay Resistance (LV 3)] • [Fainting Resistance (LV 2)] • [Fear Resistance (LV 7)] • [Black Magic Resistance (LV 3)] • [Ignore Pain] • [Pain Tolerance (LV 7)] • [Enhanced Vision (LV 8)] • [Enhanced Hearing (LV 8)] • [Enhanced Smell (LV 7)] • [Enhanced Taste (LV 5)] • [Enhanced Touch (LV 6)] • [Vitality (LV 8)] • [Mana Pool (LV 8)] • [Alacrity (LV 8)] • [Endurance (LV 8)] • [Greater Strength (LV 3)] • [Greater Toughness (LV 3)] • [Resistance (LV 3)] • [Kartikeya (LV 3)] • [Taboo (LV 4)] • [n%I=W]

Skill points available: 220

Titles:

[Filth Eater] • [Kin Eater] • [Assassin] • [Monster Slayer] • [Poison User] • [Silk User] • [Merciless] • [Monster Slaughterer] • [Lord of Pride]

O... ohhh!! I can see my titles, now! I have been keenly interested this for a while now.

Also, what's this number next to my red stamina gauge? Is this my Overeating stock, maybe? Man, I've got a lot of that. No wonder my stamina never goes down.

Now then, shall we start appraising all of my titles?

---

Chapter 079

What do you mean, I'm a spider full of sinister titles?

Now that the good Lady Appraisal can give me information about my titles, let's get right to the details.

Title: Enhancement code that may be obtained by fulfilling special requirements. Upon acquisition, may grant up to two skills. Some titles may include special effects or provide statistical bonuses.

Huh, really... Titles don't just grant me a couple of skills. I really did think that was all they did. Ooh, that might mean that my titles give me bonus effects that I just didn't notice before. I'm really starting to look forward to this Appraisal spree. Now then, let's go!!

Filth Eater: Granted skills – [Poison Resistance (LV 1)] and [Decay Resistance (LV 1)]. Acquisition criteria – Consume a significant amount of poisoned or otherwise fouled material within a set amount of time. Effect – Strengthen's the holder's stomach. Description – A title awarded to those who eat nothing but poison.

Ah... yeah. Ah, yes, that is right, everything I have been eating since I was reborn has indeed been poisonous in some way or another. So, I guess I can't really complain about being called "Filth Eater". Or, rather, it did make my stomach stronger... Well, I have been eating a lot of poison things, so I guess it was unexpectedly kinda useful, even if I didn't know it. Filth Eater also gave me Decay Resistance, so I'm very grateful that it spared me from instant death that one time I tried eating a snail-bug. I'm just... not happy about the name.

Kin Eater: Granted skills – [Taboo (LV 1)] and [Corruption Magic (LV 1)]. Acquisition criteria – Devour a blood relative. Effect – None. Description – A title awarded to those who have eaten their kin.

Effect: None. Was there any real meaning behind earning this? No matter how you think about it, this is a title you absolutely don't want to acquire, right? It gives you a rank in Taboo, which seems to be a detrimental skill. Sure, it also gives Corruption Magic, but I have no idea how that actually works so I can't really count that as a plus. Right now, this title is doing nothing but dragging me down...

Assassin: Granted skills – [Stealth (LV 1)] and [Shadow Magic (LV 1)]. Acquisition criteria – Achieve a set rate of success in executing surprise attacks. Effect – Provides a damage bonus to the first strike of a surprise attack. Description – A title awarded to those who repeatedly assassinate their targets.

Ohhhh! The skills were already assassin-like, but this bonus effect really sells it. This is a ninja title. There's no mistake: ninjas are assassins too. Am I going to eventually be able to sneak up behind someone and decapitate them barehanded? Oh, well, for me, "barehanded" includes the claws on my forelegs, so I thiiiiink I might actually be able to do it already.

Monster Slayer: Granted skills – [Strength (LV 1)] and [Toughness (LV 1)]. Acquisition criteria – Slay a certain number of monsters. Effect – Increases the damage dealt to monster opponents. Description – A title awarded to those who have defeated many monsters.

Ahhh. so it really is based on the number of monsters you murder, huhhhh... I don't really have an accurate idea of what the "certain number" is for the requirement, but I'd killed quiiiiite a few monsters by the time I got it. The effect is pretty tasty, too, so I'm pretty happy overall with this result.

Poison User: Granted skills – [Poison Synthesis (LV 1)] and [Poison Magic (LV 1)]. Acquisition criteria – Use a certain amount of poison. Effect – Strengthens the holder's Poison attribute. Description – A title awarded to those who use poison.

My first ridiculously useful title. I am unbelievably grateful for Poison Synthesis. Now that I see it, the effect is amazing as well. It's like this title was made just for me. If I could actually use Poison Magic, then I'd have zero complaints at all. Hmm, the acquisition criteria just says "use a certain amount of poison," I wonder if the potency doesn't actually have any effect? If that's the case, then it makes sense for why it took me so long to get the title, despite me constantly using poison attacks from the day I was born. I wouldn't have needed very much poison at all to meet that threshold, otherwise, since my own venom is so powerful.

Silk User: Granted skills – [Thread Manipulation (LV 1)] and [Severing Thread (LV 1)]. Acquisition criteria – Perform a certain number of attacks using threads. Effect: Strengthen's the offensive power of the holder's threads. Description – A title awarded to those who wield thread as a weapon.

My second ridiculously useful title: a title that massively powered up my main weapon. ...Except I can't use it at all in the middle strata!! Regardless, I've got a good handle on it now that I can see the acquisition criteria, effects, and description: this is a title for people who attack using thread. Me, though, I use my silk mostly for its adhesion, huuhhh... I wonder if that counts more as an attack or more as support. Because, you know, it took me a really long time to get this title, too, so maybe webs and traps don't get counted as attacks. Did I only start earning points towards it when I started using things like the Silken Smasher and my throwing nets? If I'd known about this earlier, I could have picked it up a looooot more easily.

Merciless: Granted skills – [Corruption Magic (LV 1)] and [Corruption Resistance (LV 1)]. Acquisition criteria – Perform truly merciless actions. Effect – Prevents the holder from feeling guilt. Description – A title awarded to those who have shown no mercy.

That's kind of vague. Put a little more effort into your explanations, please. What does that acquisition criteria even mean? Hmmm... this effect, too, is really questionable. The entire thing is questionable, really.

Monster Slaughterer: Acquired Skills – [Greater Strength (LV 1)] and [Greater Toughness (LV 1)]. Acquisition criteria – Slay a certain number of monsters. Effect – Increases the damage dealt to monster opponents. Description – A title awarded to those who have defeated a great many monsters.

Yep. This is straight-up just the next rank of Monster Slayer. Probably, if you keep killing a lot of monsters after getting Monster Slayer, you get Monster Slaughterer. Based on the effect and the description, that seems to be the case.

Lord of Pride: Acquired Skills – [Abyssal Magic (LV 10)] and [Hell]. Acquisition criteria – Acquire the skill [Pride]. Effect – Increases the holder's mana, magic, and resistance statistics. Increases the rate of proficiency gain towards mental skills. Grants the holder a Ruler's Privileges. Description: A title awarded to those who rule over Pride.

...Wait. For a bunch of different reasons, wait. What the heck is that effect? Are you the one responsible for that massive stat jump?! And, on top of that, you've been boosting my skill proficiency gain too?! On top of the bonus that the Pride skill itself was giving me?! No wonder Prediction was rocketing up like that!

But, what was that about "Ruler's Privileges"?

Ruler's Privileges: The authority bestowed upon a Ruler to control a part of the world.

Huh? What the heck is that? Is that something I can use?

"Activation request of Ruler's Privileges by the Lord of Pride has been received. There is no authority that the Lord of Pride may invoke in the present situation."

Of *cooooo*urse not!! Seriously, what the heck is this?! Pride is still such a freaking mystery.

Well, I guess I learned a lot of things about titles. The good Lady Appraisal is really is pretty reliable!

---

Chapter 080

Spider vs. Fire Drake (1)

Now that I'm satisfied with my Appraisal results, the catfish has cooled down enough that I can eat it. The big bottleneck here in the middle layer is that all the monsters are super hot like this, and I need to wait a while for them to cool down before I can eat them, y'knooow. Even if you let it sit for a little while, the insides are still piping hot even though the surface cools down a bit, so if I'm not careful I'll take some damage. I don't like having to put this much effort into eating...

Whoa, this catfish is delicious. Seriously?! This is the first time in my entire life as a spider that I'm actually getting to eat something delicious! Oh crud... I let the other one of these things escape. Wait, no, if I start chasing now, I can probably catch up, right? Its speed isn't particularly high, so I can probably still make it if I tried, right? Aaaargh, but it escaped into the magma, didn't it, so I really can't do anything about it. Damn it, I messed that up... Well, for now, let's savor this catfish.

"Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Enhanced Taste (LV 5)] has been raised to level 6."

Deeeelicioooooos... My entire life was worth it... Seriously tastyyyyy... Of course, it doesn't compare with a lot of the things I ate in my previous life, but I've eaten nothing but unappetizing garbage since being reborn. Finally, finally, have I met a creature that is truly delicious.

It's not like I was a picky eater in my previous life or anything. It's just that I didn't know how good I had it until I was reborn as a spider. I'm so sick of eating disgusting monster meat! I want to eat delicious things!

Right! Let's hunt some catfish. No need to worry about things like how the catfish are a little on the strong side. I will put my life on the line to satisfy this craving! This is simply that valuable to me. Now then, wait for me, catfish! I will feast on you until you're all extinct!

---

Caaaatfiiiish! Oh, caa~aatfiiiish! Where aaaare you, caaatfiiiish?

I've been wandering around the labyrinth, looking for catfish. There aren't any. They kept popping up one after another when I didn't want to see them, but now that I do, they can't be found anywhere! Get out here, quickly! Get out here, and then get in my belly.

And, at a time like this, a totally different jerk shows up.

Elro Generash — LV 8

Statistics:

HP: 170/170 (green)

MP: 161/161 (blue)

SP: 158/158 (yellow), 156/167 (red)

Avg. Offense: 87

Avg. Defense: 84

Avg. Magic Power: 84

Avg. Resistance: 81

Avg. Speed: 91

Skills:

[Fire Drake (LV 1)] • [Aiming (LV 4)] • [Swimming (LV 4)] • [Heat Nullification]

Three seahorses have appeared. When I look at their stats, one seahorse's results has a brand new addition. Ahh, that's it!! The Lady Appraisal leveled up, so now she's showing me my target's skills! Whoa! M'lady, you are truly starting to look a little bit OP!

But, uh, Mister Seahorse, don't you have a few too few skills? Like, you have four. They look so lonely! No wonder you don't really seem as strong as your stats would show. And, on top of that, all of your skills are low level except for Heat Nullification, which is obviously the max-level version of Fire Resistance.

Well, let's start by appraising these new skills.

Fire Drake: A unique skill bestowed on the Fire Drakes. Grants special abilities and effects based on the level of the skill. Available skills: Breathe Fireball (LV 1)

Swimming: Assists the user in swimming.

Hmm. Like I thought, Fire Drake is a special skill that Fire Drakes get just for existing, like I started with Spider Silk. At level one, it doesn't seem like they can do anything besides just shooting fireballs. Hey, wait, this thing is level eight, but its Fire Drake skill level is only level one, hm. I wonder if it's just really hard to raise the level, or if this thing has just been slacking on its skill development?

Swimming seems to just be a skill that makes you good at swimming. Yep. After looking at that skill list, it's even more obvious: there's no way I can lose against these things.

Well then! Let's quickly get rid... well, okay, getting rid of them is not going to be quick. They are, you know, still in the magma. All I can do from here is chuck small rocks at them. Oh, wait, though, couldn't I synthesize some deadly venom and then coat the rocks in it?

Let's try this out. First step: dodge the incoming while looking for stones to throw. Hm! Accelerated Thought is really pulling its weight. Dodging incoming attacks from three angles seems like the kind of thing I should be putting my full attention into, but I'm thinking so fast that I have plenty of time to plan out my counterattacks.

I face the stone and synthesize some poison. Okay, okay! The poison's sticking to the stone, so... HEAVE!

My rock sails through the air and clocks one of the seahorses square on. How much damage did it do...? Ughhh. Barely any. I guess this is better than doing nothing, but not really by very much. I guess the amount of poison that I can actually stick on a stone isn't going to be able to stick to an opponent, huh...

My Deadly Spider Venom has two kinds of damage: contact damage and absorption damage. Contact damage is dealt when the venom touches the target's skin, while absorption damage is what happens when the target ingests the poison. My venom's absorption damage is vastly more powerful than its contact damage. The contact damage may be comparatively weak, but it's sticky, and if it stays on the target for long enough, its damage suddenly skyrockets. After all, you see, the poison will eventually just get absorbed through the skin; in other words, the contact poison becomes an absorbed poison. Well, if the target washes it off before then, it's a totally different story.

Thus, if I'm facing a monster that can't actually wash its body off, I don't really need to aim for its mouth. I can just stick it basically anywhere on its body. If I'm in a hurry, then my targets are of course the mouth and the eyes, but if I want to be as safe as possible I should aim where I've got the greatest chance of doing some real damage. It, of course, depends on the situation.

And, just like that, the seahorses are starting to just casually wander over here one by one as their mana runs out. These guys have tiny little mouths, so I think I'm going to splash my poison all over~!

---

Chapter S12

The Academy

This country has places called “academies”. In my previous world, it was only natural for every child to attend school, but in this world, the number of kids who do is actually rather small. Generally, the people who do are the nobility, the aristocracy, and any of the commoners who are particularly affluent or have extraordinary amounts of talent.

Since I’m royalty, attending the academy is no problem for me. Sue is in the same position, and Katia’s cleared because she’s the daughter of a duke. It was decided that the three of us would all enroll in the academy at the same time.

Like schools in my original world, academies instruct their students in general studies. At the same time, we also receive instruction specifically about combat. The continent of Daztordia which we live in is the domain of humanity, but the other continents are still plagued with battles against monsters and demons. There are also monsters here in Daztordia, and there aren’t enough people here to fight back against them. So, the academy gives us plenty of lessons about how to fight.

Sue, Katia and I have gathered in the school’s assembly hall for the matriculation ceremony. Many other new students are seated around us, waiting for the ceremony to start. This academy is one of the largest in the area, and many students from foreign countries are sent all the way here to attend. Here and there, I can see demihumans in the crowd. When I look around the crowd, some of the students quickly avert their eyes while others stare at me. Sometimes, I sense people looking at me and can hear rumors whispered through the crowd.

“Hey, look over there. It’s the prince of this country.”

“They say he’s supposed to be a genius, but he doesn’t look that strong at a glance.”

“I wonder if I can get acquainted with him somehow?”

A lot of things are being said about me, but thanks to Enhanced Hearing, I can hear everything. It’s really making me uncomfortable.

“Good mooorning~!”

A carefree voice rings out, completely shattering the gloomy atmosphere. I turn around and, as expected, see Oka; or, rather, Filimes of the Elves.

“Good morning,” I reply. “It’s very weird to see our teacher become a student.”

“I’m getting to experience the thrill of youth a second time! I’m suuuuper excited!”

Miss Okazaki sits down in the seat next to me. Sue, seated on my other side, gives her a stony glare. Well, perhaps I shouldn’t call it a glare, she might be just staring at her normally. Now that I think about it, this is the first time she’s seen Miss Okazaki, isn’t it?

In the next instant, chills run down my spine.

“Shun’s little sister,” says Miss Okazaki with a brilliant smile, “if you look at me with that kind of bloodlust again, I’m gonna kill yooou~!”

As always, her tone is light and carefree. Her smile, however, does not reach her eyes. Even Sue feels the weight of her pressure.

Katia and I are shocked at that expression. Oka’s got such a cute nickname because she’s always so charming. She was always very friendly, and never got angry with anyone. She was never the kind of person who’d release such a chilling aura of bloodlust, even when someone made a serious mistake.

“Haha, did I sca~are you? If I want to survive in this world, I got to be able to do at least that much~! Elves mature fa~ar more slowly than humans do, so people tend to look down on us when we’re lllittle, but if you want to pick a fight with this little teacher, you’d better be ready to die, oka~aay?”

Miss Okazaki must have faced down some unimaginable troubles for her to be able to use words like “ready to die” so seriously. Sneakily, I use my recently-leveled Appraisal skill on her.

Appraisal has been blocked.

“Shun,” she says, smacking me on the head, “it’s not very polite to look at a lady’s profile without her permission! I didn’t raise my students to be peeping toms!”

I don’t know how she did it, but it looks like Miss Okazaki can detect, block, and counter Appraisal attempts. On top of that, it’s a method that I couldn’t react to at all. Just based on that, I know that I won’t be able to beat her.

“I’m sorry. I was just curious.”

“Yep. When you do something bad, it’s best to apologize! But the next time you Appraise me without my permission, it’ll be a lot more unpleasant for you, okay?”

“Yes, ma’am. I will remember that.”

Seriously. Against this kind of opponent, I shouldn’t do anything impudent.

Suddenly, a doubt pops into my mind. “But, Miss Okazaki, if you’re already that strong, there’s no need for you to attend the academy, is there?”

Truthfully, although Sue, Katia, and I have been constantly training, we don’t have any actual combat experience. So, we’re here at the Academy to work on perfecting our fundamentals. Miss Okazaki, however, seems to have already had loads of real combat experience piled up on top of her, given the way she talks and how powerful she seems to be. So, why does she need to study here at the academy?

“There is! There’s loads of things for me to study here! But that’s only half of it. In the short term, I’m going to be using this country as my base of operations!”

“But you don’t need to go to the academy for that...”

“I’m not talking about searching for the other students.”

“...Uh, then, ...what?”

“That’s still a secret, but I’m leaving the rest of the search to the elves!”

Her shocking remark causes my back to stiffen. The last time we met, she said that she still hadn't managed to find six of our classmates. What could possibly cause her to abandon that quest?

"I know it might sound a little bit heartless to say, but I've done all I can in my search! The only places left to search are the demon lands and the untamed wilderness, and, if I'm going to be perfectly honest, I'm not even sure if they survived."

"What?!" I shout.

"Miss Okazaki, are you serious?" asks Katia, stunned.

"I'm serious, very serious, dead serious. Disaster relief is all about immediate action. I've done everything I possibly could, ever since I was reborn. But, I thought that it would be a big relief if I could find half of you guys when I started, you know? I managed to drastically exceed that number, so I think my results are great."

"But..."

Suddenly, she grabs me by the shoulders. "Okay, are you going to try to find them?" she demands, speaking perfectly normally. "How are you going to do that? Are you just going to go out and start walking around? You think you're just going to find them like that?"

My hardened heart starts to crumble against her onslaught. Miss Okazaki sees this in my eyes and breathes a deep sigh.

"I know I just said this, but I really did everything I possibly could. I think what I need to do from now on is try to make sure that the students I was able to find can have the very best life they can in this world. So, I'm coming here to study a lot of different things, while also doing some other things on the side, okay?"

"I... understand."

I still don't agree with her from the bottom of my heart, but Miss Okazaki really has done her best. Besides, I didn't do anything at all myself to help with her search, so I don't think I'm qualified to give my opinion. Most likely, she's the one with the deepest regrets right now.

"I'm sorry. I kind of just butted in like that."

"Shun, I never said you were wrong. It's just, even if you're not wrong about something, that doesn't always mean you're right."

After that, the matriculation ceremony started. To be honest, I didn't pay any attention to any of it at all. So, I never noticed the expression on Sue's face even though she was sitting right next to me, nor the one on Katia's, even though she was in the seat next to Sue.

---

Chapter 081

Spider vs. Fire Drake (2)

Caaaaaatfiiiiiiiish~!! How I have been dreaming of this day, catfish!! I've finally found you catfish!! Now, give me your meat! Give it to me now! Your only other option is for me to kill you and take it by force!

I've finally found the catfish I've been searching so hard for! This one's currently swimming in the magma. My first task is to figure out how to lure it out.

By the way, I appraised its skills a little earlier. There's a pretty huge difference in stats between this guy and the dudes from before. The catfish's skills are Fire Drake at level two, Dragon Scales at level one, Aiming at seven, Swimming at six, Overeating at two, and Heat Nullification. The Fire Drake skill at level two is called "Heatclad", which does exactly what the name implies: wraps the user's body in extreme heat. At first, it looked to me like it was a purely defensive skill, but Lady Appraisal informed me that it also increases the user's speed while it's active. However, since this involves heating the user's body up to an extreme degree, it looks like it would actually damage the user if they didn't have a lot of Fire Resistance. These catfish have Heat Nullification, though, so it doesn't matter.

Dragon Scales is a skill that grows special scales all over the user's body. As for how special they are, they not only of course have a high defensive ability but also provide some protection against magic. It doesn't just block it, though, it seems like it actively interferes with the spell's pattern to weaken it. Well, regardless, I can't actually use magic, so I really only have to think of it as really tough scales.

The ones after that are ones that you should already know. Hmm, I just thought of this, though... is this catfish an evolved form of a seahorse? It's got the same Fire Drake skill, and it does have upgrades of all of the skills that the seahorses had. Compared to a seahorse, a catfish not only has much higher skill levels, but also Dragon Scales and Overeating. Whether I'm looking at the species or the skills, this does seem pretty plausible.

If that's the case, though, then its appearance really must change a ton from evolving, huh... Turning from a seahorse into a catfish, doesn't that seem like a downgrade, biologically speaking? I really don't know the details, though, so I can't say anything for certain, though. The appearance changes so much... ah! If you stretch a seahorse's mouth waaay out and you thicken its body up a ton, that starts to look like a catfish, right? Hmmmmm. Maaaybe.

Well, it really doesn't matter. The only thing that matters to me about a catfish is its meat. So, let's try a first strike: Poison Stone!

My poison-covered rock sails out and hits the catfish on its back. Yep. It didn't take very much damage from that at all. I guess I'm going to do the same thing I did before: use Poison Synthesis to dump a bunch of poison on it when it charges out at me.

As I was thinking that, the freaking catfish used its fireball breath on me from the magma! Seriouslyyy? It's bigger and faster than the seahorse's. Well, even still, it's not like it'll hit me. I dodge to the side with a little hop, and it sails right past me.

Accelerated Thought only allows me to extend time by a little bit, but even so it still feels like the world is moving just a bit more slowly. Thanks to how ridiculously high my speed is, it feels like I can keep moving normally, even when time is slowed down like this. Well, when I get a few more levels in Accelerated Thought, things are going to get slower and slower, so I don't know what things are going to be like then. I think that I'm stretching 1 second into 1.1 seconds, maybe? This isn't an accurate assessment at all since it's just based on my sensations, but I think I'm being pretty accurate here.

The catfish fires off a second shot. This thing is doing exactly the same thing as the seahorses. It really is starting to look like they're related, after all... I guess I just got lucky that the last catfish crawled onto solid ground at the start of the fight. I use the same strategy here as with the seahorses, right? Ah, although, this guy has extra abilities like Heatclad, so I'm probably going to have to change up my strategy a bit. Maybe the last catfish attacked me on land because I suddenly showed up in front of it, looking like an enemy.

I keep dodging the catfish's fireballs. Its mana is going to run dry soon, but is it really going to come out? When the seahorses run out mana, they just calmly crawl out onto the dry ground, but what's the catfish going to do? It's going to be a real problem for me if it doesn't come up onto land, but based on the last fight I think it might flee if it senses that it's in danger.

I can't let that happen, you know? I'm going to chase you down to the ends of the earth, you know?

I put my concerns aside for now, since the catfish has stopped launching fireballs. Hm? It still has a little bit of mana left, though...? Oh! Now it's ticking down. Did it just turn on Heatclad? Maaaan, it's so amazing that I can tell what's happening here. I know every single detail of my opponent. Appraisal really is OP.

The catfish crawls out of the magma, turns toward me, and charges, its wide mouth gaping. Eh heh heh. I've been waiting for this!!

When it's come close enough, I dodge to the side, activating Poison Synthesis as I do so. The catfish's mouth snaps shut on a glob of deadly poison, and it gulps it down. I keep a eye on it, and... oh! It fell over. Aww, it's twitching. My Deadly Spider Poison really is amazingly potent. The regular Strong Poison wouldn't have anywhere near this kind of effect, but Poison Synthesis works amazingly well once I pair it up with my own natural poisons. Seriously, I am super compatible with this skill.

Now then, let's pour a little more poison on this suffering catfish. With a huge, final convulsion, its breathing comes to a ragged halt. Now all I have to do is wait for all of the heat from both the magma and Heatclad to dissipate.

Din-ner~, din-ner~! I've been eating all of the other monsters I've defeated so far out of grim obligation, but this time is different! I'm going to be eating something delicious. Ahh, what a wonderful thing!

Maaan, this isn't going to cool quickly. I'm going to sit here and look forward to finally eating this thing.

---

Chapter 082

Spider vs. Fire Drake (3)

I gladly ate the delicious catfish. It was exquisite. In the middle of my dinner, Enhanced Taste leveled up to seven. I kind of wanted to interject some kind of sarcastic quip about being way too focused on my eating, but I really couldn't help it! I've been eating nothing but disgusting things until now! Wouldn't you want to eat something tasty after all that, too?!

Incidentally, Overeating is now also at level eight. The size of my stock has been more than sufficient for a while now, but since leveling the skill just seems to increase the amount I can store, there's no real downside to it. It's creeping up towards level ten, though, and I want to see what new skill will be derived from it, or maybe what it might even evolve into instead. I've got really high hopes, since the base skill is already so useful. Plus, there's something in specific that I'm kind of curious about.

The thing that's got me thinking is this Pride skill. Pride, of course, is one of the seven deadly sins. Gluttony is another. Overeating and Gluttony both have very similar meanings. Maybe, just maybe, could Overeating wind up evolving into Gluttony? I can't help but wonder about that. Pride is already an excessively amazing skill, so if Overeating really does evolve into Gluttony, and if Gluttony really is part of the same skill tree as Pride, then I'll have another skill that rivals Pride in power.

I'm already worried about what Pride does, though. If I get Gluttony, too, that's another source of anxiety to weigh over me.

Well, it's still level eight, though. It's too early to start worrying. Plus, this is a skill that levels up of its own accord anyway, so even if I was worried about it there's ultimately nothing I can really do about it.

Well then, shall we? It's time to begin hunting for my next catfish.

Caaaaatfiiiiiiish!!

---

I wander the middle strata, searching for catfish. However, I can't find a single one. Mmmrgh. If they're all lurking down in the magma to start with, of cooourse I won't be able to find them... The first time I saw one of those things, it just kinda popped up out of the magma unexpectedly, huh... If they usually spend all their time swimming around under the magma, then finding them will be really difficult.

Now that I think about it, I'm actually pretty good at noticing enemies around me, even without using any skills. I never really noticed it before, but now that I think back, I can't help but wonder if I have really good intuition. I don't think anyone's ever managed to sneak up on me in either the upper or the lower strata. Right before I would have been attacked, I always feel a twinge of danger shoot through my head. This is just speculation, but I this might be something that spiders have automatically. I think I might be reading the air currents around me and unconsciously reacting to them.

If I think of it like that, then it makes a looot of sense as to why I didn't notice that one catfish until it popped out of the magma right next to me. If I'm reading the air currents, then it's only natural that I wouldn't be able to feel things that are deep in the magma. If a sneak attack were to come from underwater or underground, I don't think I'd be able to detect it at all.

This means that being close to the magma is very dangerous. If something were to suddenly leap up out of the magma and drag me back down with it, my fate would be sealed. Well, even if that's not the case, getting too close to the magma is still pretty dangerous on its own, so I should keep some distance from it regardless. I'm just going to need to be extra vigilant for monsters suddenly popping out of the magma.

Ah, just like this.

A monster leaps out of the magma ahead of me. If I had to describe it in one word, I'd say it's... an eel? Yeah. It's a monstrous eel that's grown arms, legs, and scales.

Elro Generaive — LV 2

Statistics:

HP: 1001/1001 (green)

MP: 511/511 (blue)

SP: 899/899 (yellow), 971/971 (red) +57

Avg. Offense: 893

Avg. Defense: 821

Avg. Magic Power: 454

Avg. Resistance: 433

Avg. Speed: 582

Skills:

[Fire Drake (LV 4)] • [Dragon Scales (LV 5)] • [Flame Enhancement (LV 1)] • [Aiming (LV 10)] • [Evasion (LV 1)] • [Probability Compensation (LV 1)] • [High-Speed Swimming (LV 2)] • [Overeating (LV 5)] • [Heat Nullification] • [Vitality (LV 3)] • [Alacrity (LV 1)] • [Endurance (LV 3)] • [Strength (LV 1)] • [Toughness (LV 1)]

Not good. This eel looks really strong.

Elro Generaive: A mid-ranking species of monster, related to the drakes, that inhabits the middle strata of the Great Elro Labyrinth. It is omnivorous, but prefers to devour other monsters.

Wow, this much strength is mid-ranked? Also, now that I see its skills, are these eels the next evolutionary form of the catfish?

Ah, I don't have the spare time to get curious about that right now. The eel is only about fifteen meters in front of me. It's already spotted me and has locked on target. My speed is still greater than its is, but I am significantly outclassed in every other stat. The most terrifying thing, though, is my entire red stamina bar, plus my Overeating stock, doesn't even come close to its stamina. If I were to try running away, it's very likely that it would just catch up to me immediately once I ran out of stamina. I'd really hope it would give up before that happened, though... My yellow stamina gauge is really short, too, so I can't maintain my top speed for very long at all. The absolute worst case scenario is running my yellow meter dry and then getting caught.

Can I actually escape? ...Right as I think that, the eel's figure blurs and splits into two. This is Foresight's effect in action. The blurry reflection of the eel moves as if it's spitting something out. Immediately after that, the eel itself does the exact same thing, launching a fireball right at me. I guess it really does use the same tactics as the seahorses and the catfish, but this guy's fireballs are way bigger and way faster!

I scramble to dodge. The fireball flies at me so quickly that it feels like Accelerated Thought isn't having any effect at all. It slams into the ground where I just was and detonates. Even with Foresight and Accelerated Thought, I was just barely able to dodge. I thought I had a little bit more clearance than that, what gives?

Probability Compensation: Increases the success rate of skills that are governed by probability.

Is it because of that skill? It could be increasing the accuracy of those fireballs. If that's the case, then it'll be difficult to keep dodging, even with my Evasion skill. This is really, really bad.

---

Chapter 083

Spider vs. Fire Drake (4)

The eel spits out more fireballs, and I dodge them. As soon as I dodge the first, the second is already flying. I can't even think about running away anymore.

My health ticks down a little as I'm caught at the edge of the explosions. I could dodge them completely if I was moving at maximum speed, but that would drain my yellow meter far too quickly. If I keep going all-out, my yellow meter would hit rock bottom in an instant, leaving me completely out of breath. That, of course, would be the end.

Thanks to Foresight and Accelerated Thought, I can predict where the fireballs are going to land and dodge out of the way early. However, the eel can read my movements as well and adjust its aim before firing. Can either of us outwit the other? My mind strains under the weight as I try to see through its strategies. If one of the eel's fireballs miss me, it's no big deal for the eel. If, however, I fail to dodge just one, I'm dead. There's a huge difference here.

"Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Accelerated Thought (LV 1)] has been raised to level 2."

"Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Foresight (LV 1)] has been raised to level 2."

I am really happy about the timing on these level-ups. The fireballs seem to be moving a little bit more slowly through the air. I need to be careful, though, since this means that my own motions will be a little bit slower, too.

I dodge the fireball. As I do that, I notice through Foresight that the eel's movements are about to change. It's not that different from its fireball breathing motions, but this one is much bigger.

I release the limiters and jump to my maximum speed, dashing away so quickly that it's like I leave the scenery behind. A violent flame obliterates everything behind me.

Flame Breath: Exhales a wide torrent of roaring flame.

This is the level four technique of the Fire Drake skill. I'm sure I didn't get hit directly, but even the waste heat is searing my back. Bit by bit, my health is decreasing. The way this situation has rapidly been deteriorating, I'm now in a spot where just a single hit will do me in. And, of course, even if I acknowledge that, I still don't have a strategy to turn this around. I don't have any choice but to keep dodging around like this while looking for a chance to strike back. Watching my life get steadily whittled away, though, is unnerving to the extreme.

Another fireball flies at me. Thanks to the eel's level ten Aiming skill and its Probability Compensation skill, its aim is unbelievably accurate. If I didn't have my Evasion, Accelerated Thought, and Foresight combo, I doubt that I'd be able to dodge any of this at all.

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Evasion (LV 5)] has been raised to level 6.”

Alright! This isn't going to let me turn things around entirely, but I'll take every little advantage I can get.

Dodging another fireball, I glance up at the eel's remaining mana pool. It's been using a lot of it, but its bar is still more than half full. That Flame Breath was enormous, and it looks like its mana consumption was huge as well. It's good that the eel can't fire that off randomly, but if I can, I'd like to keep things going the way they are right now. Foresight doesn't always activate when I need it, and I'm not at all confident in my ability to dodge if I'm not getting every scrap of information about the eel's movements that I possibly can.

Right as I thought that, Prediction shows the eel going through the motions of Flame Breath again. Once again, I unleash my top speed and blitz past it. The eel, though, doesn't fire in a straight line. It shakes its head from side to side, raining fire to mow down everything in a line! Flame Breath already hits in a wide area, so this is just too freaking huge.

Guh! It grazed me. It only grazed me, and I still lost ten health. One of my hind legs and a small part of my back got caught in the flame. My leg hurts a little bit, but it still moves, so I don't think it'll be a problem. Although... it might be a little bit slower than it was before. Not good.

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Fire Resistance (LV 1)] has been raised to level 2.”

Finally, Fire Resistance leveled up, after staying stubbornly at level one forever. Amazing timing. If Fire Resistance's level goes up, the amount of environmental damage I'm taking will go down, and Automatic HP Recovery will probably be able to catch up. The recovery rate is probably going to be extremely slow, but I would much rather have a little bit of recovery than nothing at all.

I glance at the eel's mana. Perfect. It's under the halfway point now. It looks like the fireball's mana cost is about 10, and Flame Breath's is about 50. It may be down to half mana, but by my estimates the eel could blast off another four Flame Breaths if it really wanted to. I can't take that.

I start running, trying to put some distance between me and the eel. The eel gives chase, shooting fireballs after me as it swims. Just as planned so far. Like I suspected, it looks like it can't use its Flame Breath while it's moving. Now, if I keep running away like this, and it keeps launching fireballs at me, then it will eventually have to run out of mana at some point. When that happens, then I've got a chance. Probably.

For now, my highest priority is evasion. I'm falling back as far as I can, but my most important job is moving so that I don't get hit. I concentrate on planning out an escape route, picking out paths that won't get me cornered by a pool of magma. A single misstep here could be fatal! I feel like I'm walking on a tightrope.

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Automatic HP Recovery (LV 5)] has been raised to level 6.”

All right, all right!! I don't know if it's because being in combat is forcing me to concentrate harder, but my skills have been leveling up very quickly. All the skills I've been trying to level up for a while, like Fire Resistance, are going up one by one now.

I am delighted for a split second. However, that split second was fatal.

The eel rears its head back. It's about to breathe fire! This was completely unexpected. Foresight didn't see this coming. I can't dodge this.

Fire blasts forth from the eel's mouth. I immediately kick off from the ground with all of my strength, launching myself as high as I can into the air. The flame sears through my legs as I fly upwards. I push the pain aside and stretch out a strand of silk, sticking it to the ceiling. I frantically pull myself up to it, and land on the ceiling.

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [3-D Maneuvering (LV 4)] has been raised to level 5.”

From the ceiling, I look down at the eel. From the magma, the eel looks back up at me. I somehow managed to dodge the worst of that attack, but, well, what am I going to do from here...?

---

Chapter 084

Spider vs. Fire Drake (5)

It's a good thing that I managed to escape to the ceiling, but I'm not particularly thrilled with the current state of affairs. At the very least, while I'm on the ceiling, I'm way slower than I would be if I were on the ground instead. When I was on the ground, even when I was trying my very, very best, I was barely avoiding the eel's attacks. On the ceiling, I don't think I have any chance at all. If I don't get back down soon, I think I'm going to be sniped to death.

On the other hand, I wouldn't really say that the eel has very much room for error, either. It's burned through a lot of its mana already. If it were to spend all of it, then it could probably get either three Flame Breaths or sixteen fireballs off. Compared to where it was at at the start of this whole encounter, it has far fewer options. However, I definitely think that it still has the strength to knock me off of the ceiling.

The real question is whether I'm going to be the one to get myself down, or if the eel's going to do it for me.

I immediately start to move, aiming at the nearest wall. The eel, however, looks like it anticipated this, and has launched a fireball right in my path. Here on the ceiling, dodging is extremely difficult. I don't have time to be concerned about my yellow stamina gauge right now! I use the maximum speed I possibly can, trying to get out of the way of the rapidly approaching fireball.

I don't have much choice but to push through this, leaning on SP Consumption Reduction and Automatic SP Recovery. Before my yellow meter empties out entirely, I have to make it to that wall.

I somehow manage to dodge the fireball. However, thanks to that, I'm not significantly closer to the wall than I was before. And, of course, since I;m

moving so quickly, my yellow meter is going down even further. Not good. If I run out of yellow stamina, continuing to cling to the ceiling is going to start being very difficult. Even still, it's not like I can just stop dodging these fireballs.

And even though I'm keeping all of that in mind, there's no way I can actually advance as I planned, not with this perfect fireball sniping from below. And then, at last, my yellow gauge finally runs out. In an instant, fatigue slams through my entire body. And, mercilessly, another fireball is approaching.

Guh!

There's no way I can defend against this one, so I of course throw myself from the ceiling and into empty air. The fireball detonates right next to me, and the blast gently brushes past my body, sending me into a tailspin. To try to regain any sort of control over my own body, I fling a strand of silk straight out. It sticks to a wall, and I immediately yank myself in. Another fireball sails right through the space where I just was.

I swing down through the air like a pendulum, letting go just barely in time to land on solid ground instead of falling into scorching hot magma. Even here, yet another relentless fireball is flying at me again. I turn my landing velocity into a tumble, rolling out of the way just in time.

This really hurts. My yellow stamina is completely gone, but I still have to keep moving. Crushing exhaustion and agony weigh down my entire body, suffocating me, so bitter I can taste it. I muscle myself past it, though, with the help of Ignore Pain and Pain Tolerance.

Because, of course, the eel is about to spit out another Flame Breath.

I whip my trembling body into motion and run at full speed. The light of the roaring flame stains everything around me a brilliant red. A wave of searing heat rushes toward me from behind, and I keep running, trying to shake it off. Thus, I managed to avoid another Flame Breath.

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Evasion (LV 6)] has been raised to level 7.”

I have a moment to catch my breath after I dodge the Flame Breath. My yellow stamina meter starts to fill back up.

There aren't any more fireballs coming this way. Finally, the eel has run out of mana. Having lost its long-distance attacks, it glides onto land, finally showing its true appearance.

The only part of it that really looks like an eel is its head. The rest of it looks very much like a Chinese dragon with a very long body. Even though it's exhausted all of its mana, it still has its eyes set firmly on me. For whatever reason, this thing has completely and totally decided that I am its enemy. Maybe at the beginning of all this the eel thought that I was just a nuisance ruining the view, but partway through the fight it felt like it started getting serious about throwing those fireballs. By the time it broke out its Flame Breath, it was really serious. Somehow, it's looking like the eel is really unhappy that I managed to dodge all of its attacks.

Even if I try to escape now, I don't think it'll let me get away. After all, even though its mana may be depleted, it still has plenty of stamina. I, on the other hand, have basically zero left. My red meter has depleted itself to the point where I can't ignore it anymore, as payment for the fact that I kept running despite being completely out of yellow stamina. I still have plenty of buffer left from Overeating, so I'm not in any danger of just collapsing immediately, but if I were to get into a raw endurance race with the eel, I would definitely lose.

I can't escape. There's only one real option available: fight it, and win.

If you just compare our raw numerical statistics, there's no way I can compete. However, my stats don't tell the whole story. Even though I understand that fighting isn't a good thing, these skills are probably the most important things you can have in this world.

Honestly, if you just look at my stats, it looks like it's straight-up miraculous how I've been able to survive for so long. This miracle was brought about, of course, by all of my skills. If I use every single one of my skills to their maximum potential, I can overcome my huge statistical disadvantage, and manage to even just barely crawl around in the same arena as this eel. There may be a difference in our statistics, but those numbers aren't absolute. The difference is just small enough that I can make up the rest of it with the judicious application of my skills.

On top of that, I've already seen through every single one of the eel's skills. Now that its mana is gone, it's only left with three that I really care about: the dream combo of Aiming, Evasion, and Probability Compensation. In addition, I need to keep the raw defensive power of its Dragon Scales in mind. This is the third-level effect of the Fire Drake skill. And, last but not least, I need to be cautious of the raw power of its enormous body.

Even just looking at it, I can tell it's a formidable enemy. I, however, still have my trump card, my most potent weapon: my deadly venom. Against my poison, defensive statistics are worthless. It will land on your tough scales, corrode its way through them, and then assault your body directly, leaving you dead and twitching. In the end, all I can rely on are my skills. The only way I can surpass this thing is if I use my skills. But, however, that means that I actually can surpass this.

Neither of us can defend against the other's attacks. If a even single attack manages to hit, one of us is almost certainly going to die. So, the deciding factor in all of this is going to be...

Just like that, round two of my battle against the eel has begun, this time on solid ground.

---

Chapter 085

Spider vs. Fire Drake, the Conclusion

The eel undulates its long body back and forth. In both its offense and its defense so far, it's been very cautious of me. This eel definitely seems more intelligent than some of the other monsters I've fought, although it might not be as smart as the monkeys. That alone makes things that much harder for me.

"Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Accelerated Thought (LV 2)] has been raised to level 3."

"Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Foresight (LV 2)] has been raised to level 3."

As soon as the so-called "Voice of Heaven" starts to speak, the eel leaps into action. It whips its entire body around, and its tail lashes out at me. I dodge, of course, but the eel isn't finished attacking. It swings its tail back around, sweeping horizontally along the ground at me like a scythe. I jump backwards, dodging once again. It pulls its tail back, flipping itself around, and charges toward me headfirst.

This is exactly the moment I was waiting for.

In the slightly leisurely world of Accelerated Thought, I gaze at eel's gaping mouth as it draws close. Right when I judge that I'd only be barely able to dodge, I activate Poison Synthesis. Then, I jump away.

It's the exact same strategy I used against the catfish, but its effect is still massive. Just as I planned, the glob of deadly poison lands right in the eel's mouth.

The eel thrashes around violently, in extreme pain as its health quickly evaporates. I scurry back, out of harm's way.

At the end of the day, if both opponents have enough offensive power to eliminate each other in a single blow, then whoever lands that first blow wins. The question then becomes one of making your attack actually hit, so it is ultimately the opponent with the best tactics that will win the fight. On top of that, my evasive abilities are greater than its accuracy. That eel may have Aiming at level ten and a Probability Compensation skill, but it's no match for my Evasion, Accelerated Thought, and Foresight combo. So, now that I've dragged it up onto solid ground with me, my chances for success are suddenly much, much higher.

It's not over yet, though. I was talking about one hit knockouts, but this eel isn't going to die from just one glob of poison. I didn't kill the catfish with just one shot, so there's no way that this higher-ranked eel will die from just that, either. Also, the eel still has one more ability to rely on.

Before my eyes, the eel's health meter starts to rapidly refill.

Life Conversion: Convert's the user's stamina points into health points.

This is the level three ability of the Fire Drake skill. It consumes stamina to restore the same amount of health. It may not have enough stamina available to heal itself entirely, but it can give itself enough health to endure the worst of my poison. Even worse, as I'm looking at its Appraisal result, I see two new skills appear: Poison Resistance and Automatic HP Recovery, both at level one. The poison, though, still burns through its system. Even if the damage is already past its peak, it's still shaving off health, bit by bit.

Well, it's not like I'm just quietly sitting there and watching as the eel as it peacefully revives itself.

I run around the eel wrapping it in the thickest, strongest silk I can produce. I'm pretty sure it's going to burn through this in an instant, but that doesn't matter. If I can hold it still, one instant is all I need.

Exactly as I was hoping, I manage to hold it still for just one moment. In that moment, I aim at the eel and activate Poison Synthesis as quickly as I possibly can. Countless blobs of poison rain down on the eel's face, splashing all over it.

The eel flails wildly, tearing through my threads. My poison has made it in through its mouth and its eyes, and it burns away at its health. It moves too quickly for that brand new Automatic HP Regeneration to regenerate. It burns too strongly for that brand new Poison Resistance to resist. I have spent my entire life as a spider honing these weapons! A hastily-constructed shield like that has no chance of stopping me!

The eel has long since burned through all of its stamina to heal itself, and it has nothing left with which to resist this attack.

---

“Experience requirements met. Small Poison Taratekt, you have grown from level 7 to level 8. Every ability score has been increased. Acquired bonus skill proficiencies from leveling up: your skill [Multitasking (LV 4)] has been raised to level 5 and your skill [Accelerated SP Recovery (LV 2)] has been raised to level 3. You have acquired additional skill points.”

“Experience requirements met. Small Poison Taratekt, you have grown from level 8 to level 9. Every ability score has been increased. Acquired bonus skill proficiencies from leveling up: your skill [Alacrity (LV 8)] has been raised to level 9 and your skill [Endurance (LV 8)] has been raised to level 9. You have acquired additional skill points.”

“Experience requirements met. Small Poison Taratekt, you have grown from level 9 to level 10. Every ability score has been increased. Acquired bonus skill proficiencies from leveling up: your skill [Computation (LV 6)] has been raised to level 7, your skill [Enhanced Vision (LV 8)] has been raised to level 9, and your skill [Vitality (LV 8)] has been raised to level 9. You have acquired additional skill points.”

“Level requirement met. Small Poison Taratekt, you are eligible for evolution.”

Victory!! Part three: complete!<sup>1</sup>

---

Translator's notes for this chapter:

1. I actually don't know what parts one and two are.

---

Chapter S13

The Saint and the Sword Emperor

The entrance ceremony went off without a hitch. After that, everyone started wandering off. Most of the students went to their new assigned dormitories, while many others left to explore the campus. This academy is a boarding school. All students must live in the dormitories, and I'm no exception. Unless there's a very good reason, students don't leave the school grounds except for long vacations.

"What shall we do after this?" asks Katia, talking in princess mode. We're already in the middle of getting our dormitories prepared. If possible, though, I'd still like to go explore the campus after this.

"There's some people I want to go meet!" says Miss Okazaki. "Do any of you want to come with me?"

"There's people you'd like to meet?" I ask.

"Correct! I want to go meet the future Saint and the future Sword Emperor. No reason for you not to come along!"

The Saint<sup>1</sup> and the Sword Emperor. The Saint is the holy symbol of the Holy Country of Aleius. The position is appointed by the state itself, and is often described as a counterpart to the Hero himself. She is obligated to go with the Hero when he goes out on a mission. Right now, my older brother Julius is likely out somewhere with the current Saint.

The Sword Emperor is the emperor of the largest country on the continent of Daztordia, the Rengzant Empire. Rengzant is a country right on the edge of the demon's lands, so it is constantly plagued by battle. The foremost requirement to become the emperor of that country is strength. Because of that, each Emperor bears the same title that the first Emperor of Rengzant did: Sword Emperor.

Where the Saint is selected from a pool of talented candidates, the Sword Emperor is chosen by bloodline. In other words, I guess, the boy now attending this academy is the current Sword Emperor's son.

"Aah, the crown prince of the Rengzant Empire! I have heard rumors about that man. It would certainly seem that he is attending this academy this year, just as we are. They say that his skill with a sword is unparalleled, rivaling even that of the first Sword Emperor."

Eh? How does Katia know that? This is the first I'm hearing about any of this!

"Shun, you should learn more of the ways of the world," says Katia, amazed. She might have seen something in my expression. Grr, I can't deny it, though.

"Miss Okazaki," she says, "why are you so intent on meeting them personally? Is it the matter we were discussing earlier?"

"Ye~ep! It's that thing!"

"Well, then I absolutely mustn't miss this."

Somehow, the conversation continues just between the two of them. Sue and I exchange glances, feeling completely left behind.

"Now, Shun, let us be off... hm? Why are you making that face?"

"Um, I didn't really follow what you were saying..."

"I'd understand Sue saying that, but why are you..."

Katia and Miss Okazaki both give me very disappointed looks. Th... there's no need to put on faces like that, right?

"Ah! It looks like we don't need to head out after a~all!"

I look over to where Miss Okazaki is pointing and see a boy and girl coming toward us. The boy has brown hair so dark it's almost black and eyes of the same color. His demeanor is sharp and fearless. The girl has wavy blond hair and bright blue eyes, and has a mysterious loveliness about her.

"Hey! This tiny elf kid, this Oka?"

"Natsume! Don't be rude to your teacher! It's nice to see you again, Miss Okazaki."

These two are speaking in Japanese! I suddenly understand what Katia and Miss Okazaki were just talking about. These two are reincarnated people, just like us.

“Nice to see you to~oo! Natsume, Hasebe, I’m so~o glad to see you two are doing well.”

I recognize who these two are as soon as she says their names. The boy was formerly known as Natsume Kengo, the center of attention amongst the boys in the class. (I didn’t particularly like him very much.) He was strong and had good reflexes, and while he never was actually violent, his strength was kind of intimidating and drew him a lot of attention. Since he also had a powerful, domineering personality, there were a lot of students who supported him, and a lot who opposed him. I was one of the latter. Well, I was technically on the opposing side, but I really just didn’t go near him.

“Ahaha! Oka, you were already tiny to begin with, and you shrunk even more! Friggin’ hilarious!”

“Natsume!!”

The girl who scolds Natsume was formerly known as Hasebe Yuika. Unlike Natsume, Hasebe was a girl who was really neither good nor bad. She was the kind of person who tended to go with the flow, but I can’t think of anything in particular that would make her stand out as a candidate for being the Saint.

“I’m an elf, I can’t help being tiny~y! Also~o, you’re not that much taller than I am right no~ow!”

“That’s okay, ‘cause I’m only going to get bigger from here. Oh hey, that guy over there, that’s the prince here, right? Who’s that inside him?”

Natsume turns his attention to me. He looks at me like a lion looks at its prey, his eyes shining with fierce intensity. It feels like he’s about to pounce. I thought this guy was kind of nasty in his past life, but did he really use to have such dangerous eyes?

“I’m Yamada Shunsuke,” I reply, tersely.

“And I’m Ooshima Kanata. Long time no see.”

Katia steps forward, forcefully attracting attention to herself.

“Eh? Ooshima?” asks Hasebe, taking the bait. “Yep! I’m Ooshima. Surprised? I got reborn as a woman when I got reincarnated.”

Katia’s introduction brought the conversation all to herself, and Natsume’s attention drifted away from me. Thank you, Katia.

Even still, I’m going to need to be very careful of Natsume, whose new name is Hugo Von Regzand.

---

Translator’s notes for this chapter:

1. The word here is specifically 聖女, which is explicitly feminine.

---

Chapter 086

Victory Dance

“You have a choice in evolutionary forms. Please choose between [Poison Taratekt] and [Zoa Ere].”

Ahh, evolution, huh... Wait, evolution!? That was fast!! I thought it happened quickly back when I fought those monkeys, but this time is super quick too?!

Well, I can save evolving for later. Now is the time for savoring the taste of victory.

I wooooooon!!!

Ya~hoo!

I beat it! I beat it! I fought against that ridiculously strong eel, and I beat it! I’m freaking amazing, right?! I’m super strong, right?!

Heh. Heh heh. I didn’t even really get to use my thread! I fought that thing straight on, head to head, and I kicked its butt!! You don’t get to call me weak a-ny-more! I’m poooowerful!! Woohoooo!!

That eel was a formidable opponent. It was very much a formidable opponent. That was a struggle to the death. But the victor? Me. Numero freaking Uno, right here. Eheehehehe.

Ah! Not good. I’m still super excited. Hehehe. Because, you know, that was a freaking drake! And not a drake-in-name-only like those catfish and seahorses, but a real, honest-to-god, drake-like drake! And who was it beat that thing in a one-on-one, fair and square, face-to-face cage match?!

ME!!

Aaaah!! I’m getting way too pumped again! Wa... HOOOO!!

---

Inhaaaaale, exhaaaaale. I got so excited that I ran out of breath. Whooooof. Now then, let's put all that excitement aside, and figure out what I'm going to be doing next, hm?

First off, I leveled up a bunch all at once. As expected of that eel. Its drake classification was not just for show. Its stats were overwhelmingly more powerful than mine, so between that and Pride's experience bonus, I leveled up quite a bit in one shot. My skills also went up quite a bit in the middle of that fight, so all in all this was a really tasty encounter, experience point-wise.

To be perfectly honest, though, that fight was probably determined entirely by luck. In reality, if a single foot was even the slightest bit out of place, I'd be cinders right now, wafting through the breeze. That's how strong that eel was. I mean, if you just take a look at its raw stats, there's no way you could say that I had any shot of winning. It was like that when I fought those monkeys too! I'm winning way too many fights by the skin of my teeth.

The two skills I'm most happy about raising are Automatic HP Recovery and Fire Resistance. Before, my regeneration rate was just barely able to keep up with the constant environmental damage I was taking from the heat. Now that my resistance is higher and my regeneration is faster, I think I might be able to start slowly regenerating my lost health. I can't test it right now, though, since leveling up fully healed me. Well, that still doesn't change the fact that I'm almost assuredly still going to die in a single hit.

So. I hit level ten. And, since I hit level ten, I get the chance to evolve. But, what should I do? Is it really safe for me to evolve in a place like this?

After all, evolving carries with it a suitable amount of peril: while I'm in the middle of evolving, I am completely and utterly unconscious. I'd be completely and utterly defenseless if another monster came and attacked me! Last time, and the time before that, I made sure to guarantee my own safety first. This time, I can't do that, because, y'know, I can't use my silk. If I were to build a nest in the middle of all this scorching magma, it would absolutely just catch fire as I tried to make it. Could I evolve while surrounded in flames, you ask? Absolutely impossible.

It's not just that. Evolving itself takes a ton of energy to happen, which massively depletes my mana and stamina. The worst case there is starving to death afterwards. I've had tons of food stockpiled in advance for all of my other evolutions, so I was able to gorge myself immediately afterward. I have no such stockpile here. Well, I do have this eel, but I don't think that it'll actually fill my stamina all the way back up, as enormous as it may be. I wouldn't have to worry about immediately starving to death, but I'd be stuck hunting for prey for a while afterwards.

Ah, although, what would happen to my Overeating stock? I didn't really have anything in my stockpile the last few times I evolved, huh... Some of it got drained away while I was fighting the eel, but even so I still have a ton of it. If I can use the energy from my stockpile for evolving, then maybe it won't actually be completely empty when it's all over... hmmmnn. I really shouldn't act based just on wishful thinking, though, right?

On a purely emotional level, I really want to evolve right now, but if I make myself think about things like safety, it really is looking like I should just hold off on it for now, huh...? I've thought about this before, but I'm really worried about whether or not I'll still keep leveling up after I hit ten. Maybe "small"-type monsters just max out at level ten? If that's the case, then I'd just be literally throwing away experience points, since I'm still going to have to continue grinding through the middle strata. And there's nooo way I'm going to let that happen. So, maybe I really should try to evolve now, huh?

Hmmmm. Well, for now, I might as well Appraise both of the choices I have for evolution. If you would, please, Milady?

Available evolutionary forms: Poison Taratekt, Zoa Ere

Hm? Poison Taratekt is fine, whatever, but what's this Zoa Ere thing? It's not a Taratekt anymore...?

Zoa Ere: Evolutionary conditions – Small spider-type monster with statistics above a certain level; Assassin title. Description – A small spider-type monster, feared as a symbol of ill fortune. Possesses both great combat strength and stealth.

Ohh, Lady Appraisal! You've added the evolutionary conditions to your results, have you not? Your greatness continues to amaze, Milady. You leave no stone unturned!

Hmmf. In other words, since my stats are above a certain threshold, this particular evolution is possible. I probably couldn't pick this evolution before now because my stats were too low. Also, I guess this means that some evolutions are linked to titles, huh. Maybe I could evolve into a Poison-type because I had the Poison User title? That seems pretty reasonable...

---

Chapter 087

I'm evolving!!! (part 3)

Poison Taratekt: Evolutionary conditions – Level 10 Small Poison Taratekt. Description – An adult specimen of a rare subspecies of the species of spider monsters known as the Taratekt. It carries an extremely powerful poison.

I Appraise my Poison Taratekt option, just to be sure. However, if I'm going to evolve, it's definitely going to be the other choice: Zoa Ere. Not only are the requirements to evolve into it very harsh, but according to the Lady Appraisal it has great combat strength. Bonus points: it's still small.

Based on its name and its description, a Zoa Ere seems like an entirely different species than a Taratekt. Should I be nervous about that? If I stay a Taratekt, I know for sure that I'm going to become strong. After all, I've already seen what an evolved Taratekt looks like with my very own eyes: my mother, a super-giant, monstrous spider. There's the Greater Taratekts that I saw in the lower strata as well. I'm so weak that it's not something I can properly imagine, but if I keep evolving along this line I know I'll keep crawling towards that kind of power.

I understand that, but if I do turn into a Poison Taratekt, I'll get bigger, won't I... They say it's better to be too big than too small, but really, cutting-edge technology is all about miniaturization, about packing a lot of power into a tiny package. That is my ultimate goal! At least, that's my official position. Truthfully, I'm pretty concerned that getting big is going to make it difficult for me to actually move around. How much space does my mother actually need to move around like she wants? All the passages I've been able to cross through without any trouble at all may suddenly become too small for me to fit through.

And while we're at it, making myself bigger in these magma-covered middle strata? I can't help but imagine what would happen if I miss my footing on one of these narrow paths! It's not like I'd just splash into a pond, this is magma we're talking about! I'd die! I have zero clue as to how much bigger an adult Taratekt gets, so from where I'm standing there are far, far more minuses than pluses here.

I'm not just worried about not being able to fit down a passage. I'm worried that combat would get harder, too! After all, I'm specced for evasion. If I'm bigger, that means I'm a bigger target, and an evasion-spec really works better if you're already hard to hit. On top of that, if I get bigger, I'm going to get heavier, which means I'm going to get slower, and speed is my strongest suit, right? No. Way.

So, yeah, there's no way I'd want to evolve into a Taratekt. Since I've got a choice to evolve into a different species, I think I want to go with that instead.

It's not like I don't have my concerns, though. I know that a Taratekt can wind up getting pretty strong, but I don't know for sure that a Zoa Ere could as well. Worse, Zoa Ere could be a dead-end in the evolutionary tree. If that's the case, then maximizing my strength as a Taratekt might be a better ideal overall.

Welllllll, I can't really help it if worst comes to worst. Stats are always boosted by level-ups, and you can train them up the hard way, too. Even the weakest of monsters can become really strong if you raise them with loving care. Like me. Yeah, seriously, if you compare me right now to how weak I was when I started out, I'm way stronger. I already know what it's like to be so weak that I can die in a single hit, so I think that there's a lot of adversity out there that I can overcome.

I'll evolve into a Zoa Ere.

The problem is still how I'm going to find a way to do so safely, but I've got one idea so far. I'm not actually sure if you could call it safe or risky, but I think it's better than nothing. My solution is, probably, the eel's corpse!!

Welcome to today's three minute arrangement. The item we shall be preparing is the corpse of an eel. It is a material of the highest quality. First, we fully lay out the eel, so that it is straight. Next, we begin to roll the eel, starting from its tail. It is important at this stage to ensure that it is coiled neatly. While doing so, we leave a space at the center of the coil. Once the outline of the circle has been established, we then begin coiling the eel vertically, placing each turn successively higher atop the body. Now, at this point, we climb inside the coil to continue our work. After the final turns of the coil have been arranged, we place the head of the eel across the center, finishing our arrangement.

With this, our eel shelter is complete. Ahh, this looks great!

Alright! The eel's Dragon Scales are very tough. It'll be difficult to cut through, so I'm pretty confident it'll hold up, even though it's not as good as a real nest. I shouldn't have any trouble evolving in here... probably.

I'm about as ready as I'll ever be.

“Small Poison Taratekt, you are now evolving into a Zoa Ere.”

Yep!

Like a candle being blown out, my consciousness disappears.

---

“Evolution has completed. You have become a Zoa Ere. Every ability score has been increased. Acquired bonus skill proficiencies from evolving: your skill [Accelerated MP Recovery (LV 3)] has been raised to level 4, your skill [Damage Enhancement (LV 1)] has been raised to level 2, your skill [Slashing Enhancement (LV 1)] has been raised to level 2, your skill [Poison Enhancement (LV 3)] has been raised to level 4, your skill [Battle Spirit (LV 1)] has been raised to level 2, your skill [Poison Synthesis (LV 7)] has been raised to level 8, and your skill [Spider Thread (LV 9)] has been raised to level 10. Your [Spider Thread (LV 10)] skill has reached its maximum level and has evolved into a new skill, [All-Purpose Silk (LV 1)]. Your existing skill, [Severing Thread (LV 6)], has been integrated with your new skill, [All-Purpose Silk (LV 1)].

Furthermore, your skill [Shadow Magic (LV 2)] has been increased to level 3, your skill [Poison Magic (LV 2)] has been raised to level 3, your skill [Damage Resistance (LV 1)] has been raised to level 2, your skill Paralysis Resistance (LV 3) has been raised to level 4, your skill [Fainting Resistance (LV 2)] has been raised to level 3, your skill [Enhanced Touch (LV 6)] has been raised to level 7, your skill [Greater Strength (LV 3)] has been raised to level 4, your skill [Greater Toughness (LV 3)] has been raised to level 4, your skill [Resistance (LV 3)] has been raised to level 4, and your skill [Taboo (LV 4)] has been raised to level 5.

From evolving, you have acquired the new skills [Decaying Attack (LV 1)] and [Slashing Enhancement (LV 1)]. Your new skill, [Slashing Enhancement (LV 1)] has been integrated with your existing skill, [Slashing Enhancement (LV 2)]. Furthermore, from evolving, you have acquired the new skill [Stealth (LV 1)]. Your new skill, [Stealth (LV 1)], has been integrated with your existing skill, [Stealth (LV 7)]. Furthermore, from evolving, you have acquired the new skill [Silence (LV 1)]. You have acquired additional skill points.”

---

Chapter 088

Zoa Ere

Good morning. Well, I don't know if it actually is morning. I've woken up safely once again. I'm so relieved... This is probably the most dangerous evolution I've had so far. Something could have sent me off to Heaven and there's no waaay I would have noticed...

Huh? You're saying I'd go to Hell, not Heaven? As if someone as upstanding and forthright as myself would ever be condemned to Hell!

Well then, what I'd really like to be doing now is my usual routine of checking my Appraisal results, but right now I need to make sure I really am still safe. My eel-based emergency shelter seems to have held up, but it's possible that monsters could be closing in on me from all sides. So, let's slooowly peek up...

Good. Nothing really out there. Alright, alright, now then, let's pull up my Appraisal window and start eating this... ah, wait, can't do that. I've got to peel off all of these scales first, like I had to do with that snake, otherwise there's no way I can eat it... Shit. Ugh, oh well, no choice. I don't feel like I'm too hungry to move right now, so maybe Overeating did its job well? I guess I'll scale this eel while I'm checking my stats, then...

Zoa Ere — LV 1 — (no name)

Statistics:

HP: 195/195 (green)

MP: 1/291 (blue)

SP: 195/195 (yellow), 195/195 (red) +43

Avg. Offense: 251

Avg. Defense: 251

Avg. Magic Power: 245

Avg. Resistance: 280

Avg. Speed: 1272

Skills:

[Automatic HP Recovery (LV 6)] • [Accelerated MP Recovery (LV 4)] • [MP Consumption Reduction (LV 3)] • [Accelerated SP Recovery (LV 3)] • [SP Consumption Reduction (LV 3)] • [Damage Enhancement (LV 2)] • [Slashing Enhancement (LV 2)] • [Poison Enhancement (LV 4)] • [Battle Spirit (LV 2)] • [Willpower Allocation (LV 2)] • [Greater Poison Attack (LV 3)] • [Decaying Attack (LV 1)] • [Poison Synthesis (LV 8)] • [Thread Talent (LV 3)] • [All-Purpose Silk (LV 1)] • [Thread Manipulation (LV 8)] • [Throwing (LV 7)] • [3-D Maneuvering (LV 5)] • [Concentration (LV 10)] • [Accelerated Thought (LV 3)] • [Foresight (LV 3)] • [Multitasking (LV 5)] • [Computation (LV 7)] • [Aiming (LV 8)] • [Evasion (LV 7)] • [Appraisal (LV 9)] • [Detection (LV 6)] • [Stealth (LV 7)] • [Silence (LV 1)] • [Hell] • [Corruption Magic (LV 3)] • [Shadow Magic (LV 3)] • [Poison Magic (LV 3)] • [Abyssal Magic (LV 10)] • [Pride] • [Overeating (LV 8)] • [Night Vision (LV 10)] • [Visible Spectrum Expansion (LV 2)] • [Damage Resistance (LV 2)] • [Bashing Resistance (LV 2)] • [Slashing Resistance (LV 3)] • [Fire Resistance (LV 2)] • [Greater Poison Resistance (LV 2)] • [Paralysis Resistance (LV 4)] • [Petrification Resistance (LV 3)] • [Acid Resistance (LV 4)] • [Decay Resistance (LV 3)] • [Fainting Resistance (LV 3)] • [Fear Resistance (LV 7)] • [Corruption Resistance (LV 3)] • [Ignore Pain] • [Pain Tolerance (LV 7)] • [Enhanced Vision (LV 9)] • [Enhanced Hearing (LV 8)] • [Enhanced Smell (LV 7)] • [Enhanced Taste (LV 7)] • [Enhanced Touch (LV 7)] • [Vitality (LV 9)] • [Mana Pool (LV 8)] • [Alacrity (LV 9)] • [Endurance (LV 9)] • [Greater Strength (LV 4)] • [Greater Toughness (LV 4)] • [Resistance (LV 4)] • [Kartikeya (LV 3)] • [Taboo (LV 5)] • [n% I=W]

Skill points available: 500

Titles:

[Filth Eater] • [Kin Eater] • [Assassin] • [Monster Slayer] • [Poison User] • [Silk User] • [Merciless] • [Monster Slaughterer] • [Lord of Pride]

Huh? Uhh... wait a sec. Let's take another look at that. My eyes might have deceived me. Let's just double-check those numbers real... quick...

Eh? Ehh?! EHHHHHHHHHHH?!

Wh... huh? Eh? That's an enormous increase. Isn't that a seriously enormous increase?!

Is this for real? Can it really go up by that much? Oh. Is this what it meant by "great combat strength"...?

Wait, this is okay, right? It's okay if I got this strong all at once, right? It's okay, since I got this strong, for me to get kinda carried away now, right? It's okay right? It's got to be okay right?

Heh. Heh heh heh. MY TIME HAS FINALLY COOOME!!

In a single blow, I have blasted through the bottleneck that was my terrible stats! Sure, they're not anywhere as high as this eel's was, but if any of the small fry from around here try to shove me around, I'm strong enough that I won't die anymore! Heh, heh heh heh. Heheheheeheeheeee!

My skill levels also went up a ton. I've got a gooood feeling about this. Wait, Taboo went up too? It's at level five?! You mean it's already halfway to max level?! If my theory's right, something's going to happen when that skill makes it to level ten. Not good. Well, it's only halfway, still. I'm in the clear, still, probably.

Next, it looks like I've got a bunch more skills I haven't seen before. "Decaying Attack"... seriously? Do you mean that Decay? That one attribute that was even worse than what I had imagined it being, once I finally Appraised it? That Decay, right? I can use that now, huuuh... Man, I'm freaking amazing.

Silence is another skill I don't think I've seen before... I'm pretty sure I know what this does, but it doesn't hurt to verify, right?

Silence: Dampens the sounds the user produces.

Yep, just like I thought. All right! Ninja level: up! I wonder, am I going to be able to pull off an actual ambush, now?

Next is a skill that I am extremely curious about. Spider Silk and Severing Thread have both disappeared, and All-Purpose Silk has appeared in their place. This is probably the evolved form of Spider Silk, but what happened to Severing Thread?

All-Purpose Silk: Produces customizable silk threads. Attributes: Adhesion, elasticity, resilience, texture, strength, size, imbued attribute (slash, bash, impact), imbued resistance

It looks like what I get from this over ordinary Spider Silk is the ability to imbue attributes and resistances into my silk. It looks like maybe “slash” is the same slashing that I’ve been using with Severing Thread, “bash” is probably the bashing attribute, and “impact” is probably some kind of ballistic attribute. Bashing is probably using it like an ordinary whip. Impact feels like I can make my thread explode out with a kind of shockwave. Anything that it impacts would probably take a ton of damage. Whoa, if this wasn’t the middle layer, this would be ridiculously useful! Man, I’ve got to get out of here fast so that I can try this out!

As I was confirming all of my stats, I finally finished scaling this eel. Right, let’s actually dig into this thing.

...Delicious. Its flavor is subtly different than the catfish. I have to say it again: delicious.

This time, evolving didn’t completely drain my stamina. Instead, my Overeating stock got massively depleted. That alone is proof that Overeating does excellent work in this case. It looks like I don’t actually need to keep a stockpile of food around me when I evolve, then, since I can just eat it all in advance and keep it in my internal stock. So, what I guess I need to do here is just keep eating and eating until I can fill up my stock completely. If I had to guess based on my previous numbers, I’d say that my stock can probably contain an amount that’s about one hundred times my skill level, so I can fit eight hundred points of backup stamina in there right now.

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Overeating (LV 8)] has been raised to level 9.”

As soon as I think that, Overeating leveled up. I guess I can fit even more in there now.

---

Chapter 089

Changing and Evolving

Speaking of changes, my skill point total really rocketed up. I thought I was only getting twenty points per level, but I think I got 280 since the last time I checked. If I got sixty from the three levels I got after killing the eel, where did the remaining 220 come from? Is that my bonus for evolving? If that's the case, then I guess my previous calculations were incorrect.

Well, I got them, and it's best not to look a gift horse in the mouth, after all. I've got five hundred points! I wonder what kinds of awesome skills I can find in the tree now? I'm definitely going to have to take a close look at this list later.

Right now, there's something that I'm far more interested in. While I was peeling the eel, I noticed that there's a few things about my body that have changed.

The sharp points of my two forelegs have grown, turning into slender, wicked sickles. These things are amazingly sharp, perfect for slicing. Peeling all of the scales off of that snake took forever, but this time, scaling the eel was lightning fast by comparison. There were far too many scales to count, but I was able to cleanly slice both skin and scale straight off. Now, is that because these sickles are super sharp, or because my offense stat went up?

On top of that, my body is now black. It was kind of dark before<sup>1</sup>, but now it's jet black, a black so deep that light barely reflects off it at all. It's blacker than night, blacker than pitch!

I don't have a mirror so I can't check my whole body for changes, but I don't think there's any other major change, is there? My size certainly doesn't seem to have changed. It seems, though, like there's probably a lot of minor changes that I might not even be aware of.

When I was evolving along the Taratekt tree, not a whole lot was changing about my appearance at all. This time, though, I evolved into an entirely different species. If I were to compare before and after side by side, I bet there'd be a lot of differences. It really kind of sucks that I don't have a mirror right now. There's no way for me to get a good look at my own appearance.

Well, at the very least, nothing feels particularly strange or out of place when I'm moving around. It looks like none of my major parts have changed around very much, and I can move around basically exactly as I'm used to. Funnily enough, I never really thought about body parts changing around during my previous evolutions, huh... I breathe a sigh of relief, glad that nothing's changed.

These sickles, though, now these are a big change, huh. Somehow, I feel like they should make a "shing!" kind of noise when I get ready to use them. Plus, these sickles really give off a vibe that makes me think of Death's scythe. Well, the species description did say that a Zoa Ere is a symbol of ill fortune, and between my sickles and my Decaying Attacks, I guess I fit that description preeetty well. My mental image of myself is still very much a ninja, but now I feel kinda like a ninja of death.

Let's take a look at the other skills that leveled up. Greater Strength and Toughness both went up again, which means more bonus stats on level-up, which makes me very happy. I may have gotten way stronger, but I'm still absolutely puny next to that eel.

Looks like Poison Synthesis, Poison Magic, and Shadow Magic also went up. I still have no idea how to use magic so I don't really care about the other two, but let's check to see what new goodies Poison Synthesis has for me.

Imbue Paralysis Attribute: Applies the Paralysis attribute to the created poison.

Wat.

S... s-s-s... seriously?! Did... did I just get something absolutely ridiculous? Poison Synthesis was already the most useful skill in my entire set down here in the middle layer, and now it's gotten even better!! Whoa. I have to try this out immediately.

Just like that, I immediately try adding a paralytic component to my Deadly Spider Venom. I'm going to have to wait to figure out what sort of effects it will actually have until my next actual encounter. ...Hm, although, my Deadly Spider Venom is, y'know, deadly, so I don't think I'd be able to see the paralysis set in before my target instantly dies. Maybe if I add Paralysis to my Weak Poison... yeah, this'll work. Next monster I see, I'm going to give them a little taste of this paralytic-imbued Weak Poison, and see what happens. Ahh, man, I'm waaay looking forward to this...

Ah, might as well take a look at the extra spells I got for Poison and/or Shadow Magic, huh. Couldn't hurt, right?

Poison Shield: Temporarily increases the target's poison resistance.

Hmmm. A spell that boosts my own poison resistance, huh... That's compleeetely worthless. Seriously, wouldn't someone who uses a lot of poison already have really good poison resistance? Is there any actual point to Poison Magic even existing at all? Either way, it's not like I can actually use it.

Ah, wait a sec. Is this maybe something that I can use on an ally? If I cast this on all of my allies, then we'd have a pretty big advantage against a poison-wielding enemy. Ahhhh! I've always been alone down here, so I never even considered anything like that. It looks like this is a spell that's actually useful under normal circumstances. Depending on the opponent, this could be a serious trump card. I see, I see... Well, it's not like I actually care either way!

...Huh? Hold on, wait a sec. Is it really impossible for me to use any magic?

I just got a bunch of ranks in both Multitasking and Computation. Isn't it about time that I actually start being able to use Detection? .....Well, it's been a while, why don't we give it a shot?

Inhaaale... exhaaale. Right!

Detection: ON!

Guh!

Grrrrrngh!

Agh!

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Calculation (LV 7)] has been raised to level 8.”

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Multitasking (LV 5)] has been raised to level 6.”

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Detection (LV 6)] has been raised to level 7.”

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Corruption Resistance (LV 3)] has been raised to level 4.”

OFF!!

Whoof... That suuuucked... But, I think I was able to keep it on for little bit more this time. It still took everything I had to keep it on for as long as I did, but it's still a step forward. The pattern is unmistakable. I still haven't mastered it yet, but I can definitely see the light at the end of the tunnel!

---

Translator's notes for this chapter:

1. This isn't a mistranslation. The light novel illustrations show her as a whitish-pink, but in the web novel she's black. I haven't read the LN, so I don't know if they changed it in the actual text or if the artist is taking liberties here.

---

Chapter 090

Patience

I stroll leisurely through the middle strata. My belly is full of eel, so I no longer need to be worried about spontaneously fainting from hunger. I really don't need to be actively hunting anything down right now, so I'm just kind of exploring at my own pace. I'm in a pretty good mood, so I can almost put aside how stupidly hot it is down here. ...Almost.

I can't see a single monster nearby, so I think I'm about ready to finally take a look at that skill list. Evolving this time got me all the way up to five hundred points in a single go, so I'm positive that I can find a really cool skill in this list if I look hard. All of the skills I've bought have really been pulling their weight (well, except for Detection), so if this streak continues I'm bound to find something awesome in here.

Pride doesn't seem like it's really had any negative effects, other than giving me an extra rank of Taboo. And Taboo doesn't seem like it's doing anything to me right now, so it's really not that much of a negative, is it? Pride has given me so many ridiculous bonuses that it really looks like the positives vastly outweigh that single negative. I have zero idea as to why it only cost me one hundred skill points. With effects like that, I could absolutely see it costing an entire thousand!

It might be a little bit too much for me to hope for another convention-defying skill like Pride, but I should definitely be proactive about picking up any new, useful skills that I find. No point in saving up all these skill points, after all. Might as well spend them since I got them. I think it's going to be extremely inefficient for me to keep stockpiling skills in the hopes of unlocking the very high-cost skills.

Now then, M'lady Appraisal, if you wouldn't mind! I double-Appraise my skill point count, and start looking over the list that appears.

Hmmmm. There are still a ton of hundred-point skills here that I could buy, huh... A lot of these don't seem like I absolutely need to pick them up immediately, but since I've got some free time, maybe I should try to work on earning some proficiency with them? If I have that kind of luxury, though, I should probably be spending it on grinding out some more useful skills. Ahh, but there's also a chance that those skills are going to get really good if I max them out and they evolve, huh...

Hmmmm. What a decision. Well, I should probably take a look at all the skills that cost more than two hundred points, since I couldn't see them before.

Hmmmm. I can't really find any super-broken skills like Pride in here, huh... I'm feeling kinda disappointed, I guess I might have gotten my hopes up anyway, huh... I guess I was expecting this, huh...

...At least, that's what I was expecting to say.

I found one, though. A broken skill.

Patience (500): The power of n%, a strength almost rivaling that of the gods. Expands the user's divine domain. While the user has MP remaining, no source of damage can reduce them to less than 1 HP. Furthermore, allows for interference in the MA domain, surpassing the W system.

Yet another skill full of mysterious keywords... And this one's also got an ability so good I'd almost say the system was joking. Does activating this thing mean that I'll burn mana instead of taking damage? I don't know how good the conversion rate on this is, but does this mean that I can just keep attacking like a zombie as long as I've still got any mana left over? I have no clue. This ability is so good, it's practically dirty.

This time, there's no room for doubt! Gotta click that button.

"You currently possess 500 skill points. The skill [Patience] can be acquired for 500 skill points. Would you like to acquire it now?"

Yyyep!

“You have acquired the skill [Patience]. You have 0 skill points remaining.”

I am the wielder of Pride! Retreat is not even in my vocabulary! I shall obtain every one of these skills! Now, Taboo! Come at me! I care not!

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Taboo (LV 5)] has been raised to level 7.”

Oops, uh, sorry. I actually do care.

“Requirements have been met. You have earned the title [Lord of Patience], and have been awarded the skills [Corruption Immunity] and [Conviction]. Your existing skill, [Corruption Resistance (LV 4)], has been integrated with your new skill, [Corruption Immunity].”

Aaargh, just as I feared, Taboo leveled. Twice, this time! Well, whatever. The important part here is that I got a title! I’ve got to check this out, right now!

Lord of Patience: Acquired Skills – [Corruption Immunity] and [Conviction]. Acquisition criteria – Acquire the skill [Patience]. Effect – Increases the user’s defense and resistance statistics. Unlocks the Evil Eye skills. Increases the rate of proficiency gain towards resistance skills. Grants the holder a Lord’s Privileges. Description: A title awarded to those who rule over Patience.

Ahh. Just as I thought. Just as I thought, another OP title. Bonus points towards defense and resistance! They each got a hundred points, so now my defense is 351 and my resistance is 380. That’s already more than enough, right? I’d think that’s pretty OP already, for a title.

Giving me a proficiency bonus so that I can level up my resistance skills more quickly is also huge! Since I’m evasion-specced, I get hit very rarely, which means that my resistance skills don’t actually tend to level up very often. This bonus fills in that gap nicely, which I’m really pleased about.

Here’s something that really caught my interest: “evil eye skills”. I reeeally want some of these. If I pick up one of these skills, I get to say things like, “Urgh... my right eye is throbbing!!” or “THIS is what it means to kill something,” right? This is exactly the kind of power that every delusional middle-schooler pretends to have. I want it!! ...But I just used all my skill poointints!! Aargh, I really need to level up! Only more skill points can save me now...

Lastly, the title gave me Corruption Immunity and Conviction. Corruption Immunity is probably just max-leveled Corruption Resistance. Since that skill provided me with some sort of defense against attacks that directly violate my soul, Corruption Immunity should provide me complete protection. Now, if an opponent comes at me with Corruption Magic, I'll have no reason to fear.

Conviction: Weights the accumulated sins of a target as recognized by the system, then deals unblockable damage equivalent to the price of those crimes.

Wow. So, in other words, this is a huge attack I can unleash on sinners. Unblockable damage is terrifying. This, however, has the same kind of stink to it that my Hell skill does, too. The stink of uselessness.

I try it out, but of course it doesn't do anything. It probably just misfired and had no effect because there wasn't any target, but I'm positive that this is going to be pretty freaking worthless either way.

Well, even if I can't actually use Conviction, this has been basically nothing but positives. Taboo may have leveled, but I couldn't help that, it was going to do what it was going to do. Taboo doesn't really feel like it's going to just straight-up kill me when it hits level ten, so I think I'm going to have to let this disadvantage run its course.

And, way more importantly than that, my stats have gone up and my skill roster has been enriched. I've got to be the strongest around, don't you think?

---

Chapter K01

The Pessimistic Daughter of the Duke

“Miss Okazaki, did we overdo it a bit today?”

“Not at all!”

“Sue’s bloodlust isn’t really important, and it’s not like Shun meant any harm by using Appraisal.”

“Katia, you’ve been too sheltered! Didn’t you know? Even just being a little intimidating is dangerous, you know!”

“Really, huh...”

“That’s why it’s best not to use Appraisal recklessly! If your target has the same Appraisal level, or if they have good intuition, they can actually tell when you activate it. Do you remember that weird feeling you got when you first met Potimus?”

“Ahh, that uncomfortable feeling. Is that what being Appraised feels like?”

“Precisely! In some situations, that alone can be seen as an act of aggression! Well, if you’re in a really dangerous situation, you should already be thinking of everyone but your friends as your enemies, so it might not matter at that point!”

“So you’re saying that they’ll kill me without even asking first?”

“They might!”

“So, Miss Okazaki—”

“How about you don’t ask that question? I already told you, neither of us really gains anything from you Appraising me, but I guess you’re going to take that as an answer itself since you’re good at conjecture, hmm?”

“Ah, okay. I guess that just tells me that you’ve done a lot of things so far, huh.”

“That’s right!”

“And I guess we still can’t meet any of the other students you’ve gathered up?”

“No, you can’t.”

“Why not?”

“I can’t tell you that either!”

“Hey, Miss Okazaki. Did you really manage to save twelve of our classmates? You had the whole wide world to search, how the hell did you find anyone? How am I supposed to take you at your word when you can’t even tell me how you did it?”

“Cross my heart and hope to die, I’m telling you the truth! My methods are still secret, but I’m definitely not lying about the number of students I managed to save.”

“So, what about the others, the ones you haven’t found yet? Be honest with me here, Miss Okazaki. You said there were six you hadn’t found yet. How many were you really, actually not able to find?”

“...Two. The other four were already dead.”

“...Oh.”

“I’m sorry.”

“You don’t have anything to apologize for, Miss Okazaki. Can I ask, who was it that died?”

“Hayashi Kouta, Wakaba Hiroyuki, Kogure Naofumi, and Sakurasaki Issei. Those four.”

“...Oh. ...I guess I can understand why you’ve almost stopped searching entirely.”

“I’m still going to look for the other two!”

“Hey, why are the elves helping you search? I’m guessing you explained our situation to them, but can we really depend on them?”

“That’s just something you’ll have to trust me on!”

“Even though you’re keeping so many secrets?”

“Yep, and this is another one!”

“I’m not like Shun, I can’t just trust someone based on my gut. I really want to believe you, but if you keep hiding so much from me, I can’t trust you from the bottom of my heart.”

“That’s the smart thing to do, though! Shun is a little too honest, you know.”

"I agree with you there. I think that guy would be completely useless if he didn't have me around..."

"Oh?! Ohohoho?! Is this the seed of something that has yet to spro~out? This is going to be interesti~ing!"

"Huh? What are you talking about? ...You've got on a really creepy smile, Miss Okazaki. The fact that you look like a little kid right now makes that smile even ten times creepier, too."

"Divine punishme~ent!"

"Ow?!"

---

"Katia?"

"Yes, Sue, what is it?"

"What's going on between you and Brother?"

"Why, we're friends, are we not? What of it?"

"Liar. You're not just normal friends are you? It's the same with that elf you call "teacher". And with the Saint candidate, and the Sword Emperor's heir. What are all of you?"

"Am I the really the person who should be answering that question for you?"

"What do you mean?"

"I wonder, are you truly looking for my answer to that question?"

"Maybe..."

"Maybe you should ask that question of Shun. Even if I were to answer that for you, you would surely still be dissatisfied."

"I... guess so."

"I have somewhat of an idea as to what you might be feeling. Perhaps you should convey those emotions to the person who they are truly directed at, should you not?"

"...Okay. Sorry, Katia. And, thanks."

"You are most welcome."

"...Man, it was okay for me to just shove that entire problem off onto Shun, right? I mean, that sounds like a sibling problem to me. I've got nothing to do with it, but she still tried to drag me in... I gotta talk to Shun tomorrow."

---

"Hey, Ooshima, why are you in here, changing clothes with the girls?"

“Huh? ...Ah, my bad, Hasebe. I’ve been living this new life for so long that I just stopped thinking about things like that. If it bothers you, I could do this at some other time. Or do you want me to go somewhere else?”

“Uh... ah... hmm.”

“Hey, what’s with that reaction?”

“Ah, um. I didn’t expect such a calm response, I guess. Aren’t you supposed to be getting really flustered and trying to explain yourself right now?”

“Wellll, ever since I reincarnated, girls’ bodies really haven’t been doing it for me. I’d be lying if I said that this wouldn’t be absolute bliss if I were still a guy, but now I don’t feel anything when I look at girls. Definitely no guilt, shame, or anything like that.”

“Huhhh... don’t you feel a little shy or embarrassed?”

“I’ve grown up as the daughter of a duke, so I had female attendants with me whenever I changed my clothes or took a bath, right? I had to get past ‘shy’ a long time ago.”

“O... oh. That sounds like it was rough.”

“Yeah. That’s why I’m so glad to be free of all that now that I’m here at a boarding school. All of the other pampered rich girls here are whining about having to do everything themselves, but not me.”

“Yeah, I’ve been thinking the same thing.”

“Oh, so? Do you still want me to go find somewhere else to change?”

“Ah, I guess not. I feel better about it now that you’ve told me all that, I guess? You’re going to have to get used to this at some point, so I guess you can stay.”

“Really?”

“Yeah. I have a lot more experience with being a woman than you do, after all, and it is my sacred duty to be a guide. Leave it to me!”

“B... be gentle, please.”

---

Chapter 091

Detection, you were a formidable foe.

Ah! Now that Corruption Resistance turned into Corruption Immunity, I won't get those awful headaches from using Detection, will I? Those were basically like Corruption attacks, right? It's probably okay for me to call those "attacks", I guess? Normal headaches aren't able to blast all the way through Pain Tolerance like that, you know? So, if I'm now nullifying Corruption attacks completely instead of just resisting them, then I won't get those headaches, right?

Let's try it out.

Inhaaaale, exhaaaale. Right!

Detection: ON!

...Whoa. This is amazing. Seriously, this is way amazing. I used to be too focused on powering through my headaches, but now that they're gone this is suddenly seriously amazing, huh...

The splitting headache that I always got when I turned on Detection is gone. Well, no, if I want to be perfectly honest there is a little bit of one left, but it's totally easy to ignore thanks to Pain Tolerance. This is the kind of feverish headache that you get when you work your brain far too hard. After all, the amount of information that I'm getting out of Detection is enormous.

"Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Computation (LV 8)] has been raised to level 9."

"Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Multitasking (LV 6)] has been raised to level 7."

"Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Detection (LV 7)] has been raised to level 8.”

“Proficiency requirements met. You have gained the skill [Divine Domain Expansion (LV 1)].”

It sounds like my skills just leveled up, but I’ll check on those in a bit. Right now, I need to let myself enjoy this feeling.

I am so happy that I can use Detection now, but the sensations I’m getting from having it activated overwhelm my emotions. Every bit of information about everything that’s around me is being assembled right in front of me. The flow of mana, the chemical composition of these rocks, the currents in the air, and so many other things are being poured into my head.

Feelings of omniscience bubble up in my mind. I suddenly know everything about everything that’s around me. All these things that should be impossible for me to understand are made clear to me, if just a little bit, through the power of this skill. And glimpsing the truth of the universe, even if it is only just that little bit, is like gazing out over an endless sea of information. Even this tiny cavern I’m in suddenly seems so vast. My awe and respect of the natural world has grown stronger than ever.

Oh no, I think I might be starting to cry. ...Although I still don’t know if spiders have tear ducts.

Let’s turn this off for a minute.

Whoof. That was amazing. How can I even try describe what that felt like? It was like... lying on the grass on a crystal-clear night, seeing the whole night sky glittering with stars above you. That’s as close as I can get.

Aaaaahh, I want to bask in that a little longer, but let’s switch to another feeling. Detection worked. Should I leave it on all the time, now that it won’t kill me? Hmmmm. It’s just... well... maybe such a high-efficiency skill might wind up being really inconvenient. If there’s so much information coming at me, then it might prove distracting, and in the middle of a battle the last thing I want is to lose my concentration.

Although, if I get used to having it on, it won’t be so bad, right? After all, when I first got Appraisal, I made myself sick from constantly spamming it, but I’m fine now that I’ve gotten used to it. So, although it might be kind of dangerous when I'm just starting out, I think I should leave Detection on all the time. It levels up the rest of my skills, too, so leaving it on will do good things for me in the future.

So, without further ado, once again, Detection: ON!

Whooooa. This really is waaay amazing... But! This isn't the time for me to stand here and be emotional about it. What I should do now is take a look at that skill that I somehow got just now.

"Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Multitasking (LV 7)] has been raised to level 8."

"Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Divine Domain Expansion (LV 1)] has been raised to level 2."

And as soon as I think it, that skill levels up again. What the heck is this? I think the description for Patience also said something about Divine Domains. Something about expanding them, right? And this is more expansion? So what you're saying is that my Divine Domain is getting pretty huge, huh? Well, let's Appraise it, to start.

Divine Domain Expansion: Expands the user's Divine Domain.

Well, ain't that an explanation. Whatever, though, because this is why the Lady Appraisal truly is so reliable! Please, Appraise this a second time!

Divine Domain: The area, deep within the soul, which all living beings possess. The well from which all life springs, and the final thing upon which you may rely.

Umm? I don't get it. Well, I get that it's an important part of my soul, but what does expanding that do? Hmm... It's still a mystery, huh... I'm glad that the skill level went up, but I can't tell if I'm feeling any different...

"Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Computation (LV 9)] has been raised to level 10. Your [Computation] skill has reached its maximum level and has evolved into a new skill, [Rapid Computation (LV 1)]."

"Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Detection (LV 8)] has been raised to level 9."

My skill levels are still going up this fast?! Computation just hit max level! And now it's Rapid Computation. That looks like it's just a straight upgrade.

Now then, the thing I was really hoping that I would get out of Detection, from the very start, was detecting enemies. My own enemy-detection skills are naturally super high, though, so I've actually been getting along just fine without it, more or less. When I couple those skills with Detection, it will be impossible to describe my enemy-spotting as anything but perfect. Now, it is absolutely impossible to sneak up on me, is it not?! I shall not be ambushed!

And next up, of course, is Mana Perception. If my theory is correct, if I have both this and Mana Manipulation, then I can use both of them in conjunction to finally, finally be able to cast my magic. Probably. Then I'll finally be able to unleash the dark magicks I have been hoarding for so long: Abyssal Magic and Corruption Magic!!

But, skill points, though! Uuugggggh! I definitely do not regret buying Patience, but man does not having any skill points right now leave the bitterest taste in my mouth. Argh, and my next step was buying Evil Eye skills! What do I dooo? I want both of those! Ghaah! This is absolutely the first-worldiest of first-world problems, but I seriously can't decide!!

---

Chapter 092

Once again I have cut a worthless object...

Ohh! Found some! Before me, I see two seahorses swimming calmly around on the surface of the magma. At least, those are the only two things in my actual field of view, but Mr. Detection is telling me that there's a single catfish swimming underneath the magma. The three of them aren't attacking each other at all, just calmly swimming through the magma. Hmmf... They're probably the same species, so maybe it's not unusual for them to be together like this?

Two seahorses, one catfish. That's the kind of formation that I would have hesitated to fight against before I evolved, but I think it's finally about time for me to test out the combat potential of my new body. Plus, before I evolved, I took down an eel! How can I possibly call these under-evolved monsters anything but small fry? There's no way I'm going to lose.

Heh heh heh. So, if this is how we're doing things, how do you three feel about being the guinea pigs for my new body and my new skills?

First thing's first: got to start off with a sneak attack. I'll throw a rock, as usual. I think... I'll skip the poison for now. I want to see what kind of damage I can get just by throwing a plain ol' rock. It used to take off five, maybe six health, so it's going to be, what, doubled?

Hey, seahorse! You so Pringles! Where yo curleh mustace at?!<sup>1</sup>

...Is anybody going to get that meme?

Oh, it hit! It hit! It... hit? What was that stupendous sound, though? It sounded like a rock getting smashed. Like, kgssssshh, you know? Kgssssshh. The seahorse is sinking down beneath the magma, too... did it just die?

Ah! It bobbed back up! ...Whoa?! Its missing a third of its health! Seriously?

Oh, here comes a fireball... So slowly?! Uh, is this for real? Just a plain, simple pitch? Not a curveball, not a slider, just an ordinary fastball coming straight at me? This is waaay too slow compared to what that eel was throwing at me. I could sidestep this one while humming a jaunty little tune. ...I can't actually hum, though.

Seriously... I'm actually kind of shocked about how much better I've gotten, even better than I was expecting! What should I do? At this rate, I could beat them just by chucking rocks at them. If they die while in the magma, though, their corpses are just going to sink down and I won't be able to get them, huh... And I do still have a surplus of stamina thanks to Overeating, but I really want to build my stocks back up, huh...

Ah, here comes the catfish. Hm? Is it coming up here to help the seahorses? I guess they really do have some sort of bond of kinship, since they're party of the same evolutionary chain. The other seahorse is also moving closer to help out its ally. I guess that they usually don't roam around together, but they'll help each other out if one of their own happens to be in danger nearby. Oh man, I just realized the worst case scenario: if another eel shows up to help these guys out. I reeeeeeally hope that doesn't happen...

The catfish spits out a fireball. Yyyyp. It's slow. Compared to the seahorses' ones, this is much faster and bigger, but it's obvious that it's not even in the same league as that eel's. I lazily step to one side, contemplating things like "friendship" or whatever.

"Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Parallel Thought (LV 8)] has been raised to level 9."

Aaaah! That's because I was thinking about whatever while I was fighting, huh.

Well, for now, let's just keep dodging around like this and wait for their mana to run dry. I could keep throwing rocks at them, but if I do that then their corpses really will just sink into the magma, so I really just need to lure them up here onto solid ground before I finish them off. Ah, no, it's okay if I hit the catfish, right? It's only the seahorses that look like they'll die if I hit them too hard. To be perfectly honest, none of their fireballs are even coming close to grazing me, despite there being three creatures' worth of them coming at me at once. Since I've got so much spare time, then, why don't I work on cranking out some experience for Throwing and Aiming?

Let's do this again! Oh I got da mango catfish... yo I think of New York Knicks!<sup>2</sup>

Yeah! Got him, got him. Hm. As you'd expect from a catfish, it didn't lose much health at all. It's got a great defense stat. If we're just looking at the raw physical defense numbers, it's almost as good as mine...

...Wait. Now that I'm thinking about it, has my defense stat actually gotten higher than a catfish's?! Man, this is seriously incredible now that I think about it. Even though I look like a frail little spider no matter how you look at me, I'm somehow even tougher than that catfish, covered in dragon scales... Truly, a mystery of the world.

While I've been thinking about these useless things, one of the seahorses ran out of mana and is slowly crawling up onto solid ground. Hey, idiot. Yeah, you, the idiot inching towards me. You saw me dodge all of your attacks, so it should be reeeeally obvious how much more powerful I am than you. ...Ah, wait a sec. I think I just realized something pretty awful. Catfish... run, when they see they can't win, right?

I can't let that happen, right? If a seahorse gets away, I don't actually care, but you, catfish? You're going nowhere, asshole. Read my lips: you're, going, no, where. Whoa, look. You're shaking now, aren't you? Don't be scared, don't be scared, okaaaay? Just get up here onto the ground, okay? Immediately. It's okay. You're not scared, after aaaall...

Oi, wait! Don't run, jerk! ...Agh, get out of my way, you stupid seahorse! I swing the sickles on my forelegs, slashing out at the seahorse that's blocking my path. With a whisper, they pass cleanly through its body, and the seahorse splits in two.

Huh? Whaaaaaat? Did I just do that? Oh man, my sickles are amazing. Ah, this might have been an accident, but... is this the first monster I've ever just straight-up slaughtered with my bare hands? I think that literally every other kill has been through poison. Oh, I guess a bunch of monkeys fell to their deaths, but, still, this is my very first hands-on murder. Even though it was my first time, it happened so quickly I didn't feel a thing...

Hey wait a minute, CATFISH! Ah... aaaaahh... it ran away... my catfish... my tasty, tasty catfish...

The other seahorse seems to have run out of mana as well and is crawling its way up onto solid ground. Good. I have some frustrations to vent.

First off, let's try adding a little bit of paralysis to my Weak Poison. As the seahorse starts to charge straight at me, I zip over to the side. It stares blankly at me as it hurtles past, right into the ball of poison that I just synthesized.

Oh? Ohh!! It's going limp, it's going limp! So this is paralysis, huh... Wait, its health is dropping like a rock! Why?! ...Ah, Weak Poison still is poison, after all, so it still does damage... Wait, no, I was deliberately trying to only test out the paralysis component, so I thought I made the damage as low as I possibly could. How the heck is it still that powerful? ...Don't tell me, is my poison damage based on my stats, too?

If that's the case, then, man, this was just Weak Poison, right? What the heck is my Deadly Spider Venom going to be able to do now? It wrecked that eel, before. ...Just thinking about it is pretty terrifying.

Looks like my combat potential increased even more than I thought.

---

Translator's notes for this chapter:

1. Originally コナハズハー ("konna hazu waaa"), a MUGEN meme from, like, 2008. Substituted with an equally old, equally hype meme from the western FGC.

2. See note 1.

---

Chapter 093

That which crosses the strata

Caaaatfiiiish~! Where aaaare yooooou~! Come out and plaaaay~!

As I aimlessly wander through these molten caverns, half-heartedly searching for catfish, I discover a particular something. ...No, “discover” isn’t the right word. I saw it. It was right there. It was so ludicrously conspicuous that it would be extremely unusual for me to not see it.

Here, in front of me, is a gigantic hole. I dropped down into the lower strata to begin with by falling into a large shaft, but this is much, much larger than that. This pit ties together the top and bottom of the dungeon.

That’s right, this pit is connected with the upper strata. Most likely, if I climb up this thing, I’ll finally get back up there, and if I descend, I’ll go back down to the lower strata. I mean, that’s what I think would probably happen. I’m just going to go around it, though.

...Ah, that wasn’t a joke. I’m actually pretty unhappy that you thought my sense of humor was bad enough that I’d make such a terrible joke.

So, leaving that bit of business aside, this hole. Whenever I look at it, Mister Detection starts pinging danger warnings at me. And that’s putting it lightly. The instant it entered my field of view, Detection started pinging. It’s blatantly obvious that this thing is extremely dangerous.

So, right now, I am in the middle of carefully navigating myself around it, making a huge circle to avoid getting anywhere near that thing. It’s that bad! I know how this trope plays out: if I get too close, I’m going to have a bad time. All this right when I thought that evolving had finally made me STRONK.<sup>1</sup>

Yeah. Nothing good has ever come out of me getting cocky, so far. Nothing even remotely okay has ever come out of me getting cocky. I remember that now. A modest heart is the best heart. So, don't mind me, I'm just going to do everything I possibly can to avoid triggering that trope.

That's right. I'm not getting close to that hole. I'm not getting anywhere close to that hole, at all. And don't think that this is the part where I yell "psych" and dash straight towards it. I'm not a comedian.<sup>2</sup>

While thinking all of that to myself, I make my way far, far away from that hole. Then, right when it's just still barely in my sight, Mister Detection starts screaming. This is maximum danger. I'm cowering in the shadow of a rock before I even realize it. I risk taking the briefest of glances, and there I see, before my very eyes, crawling down the hole from above, that.

I can still see it clearly, even from this enormous distance. It's that huge. Its carapace is black as pitch. Eight bright red eyes glimmer strangely atop its head. Eight spindly legs cling to the vertical walls as it climbs. Five sharp claws at the end of each leg, almost like a human hand. An enormous jaw that looks like it could devour the world.

What this thing is, is a monster. A real monster, unlike those poor excuses I've seen so far. I don't think there's a single thing alive that could possibly stand up to such a creature. This is the same kind of overwhelming difference in power that I felt when I fought the Earth Dragon. I'm almost a little upset that I'm out of range for Lady Appraisal to do her job. I'm sure that its stats are so obnoxiously powerful that I'd start laughing.

Isn't that right, Mother? This is my second chance encounter with this enormous spider.

It's absurd to think that there could be more than one of these incomprehensible existences crawling around the dungeon. If there were, I'd be long dead. No, this is very clearly the same creature I caught a glimpse of when I was born: my mother.

She moves leisurely down the hole. Her movements are almost grand, or majestic, making her seem like the true queen of the entire dungeon. I can't think of a single creature in these caverns that could stop her stately parade. With how far down the power curve I am, I can't say anything for certain, but...

is my mother even stronger than an Earth Dragon?

I want to get close enough to Appraise her, but that's straight-up suicidal. Curiosity killed the cat, after all, and I'm not going to let it kill me. ...Because I'm a spider, not a cat.

I'd been wondering about my mother. She was obviously too powerful to be wandering around in the upper strata, but it looks like she uses holes like this to move between the different strata. Maybe she was up in the upper layer just by chance. Her true habitat is probably in the lower strata, or maybe even a stratum further beneath that. Even the strongest monsters in the lower strata couldn't possibly pose a threat to my mother.

I'm glad that I decided to stay far away from that hole. This isn't a battlefield where there's even a question of whether or not I can win. Just like with the Earth Dragon, my demise is assured the very instant she catches sight of me. She is a terrible calamity, walking on eight legs.

Then, abruptly, she stops dead, staring fixedly at whatever it was that she noticed. Then, slowly, she turns to point her enormous jaws in that direction.

In the next instant, the whole world trembled.

This is not a figure of speech. It didn't just feel like the world trembled, the earth actually shook beneath my feet. There was such a sudden and stupendous crash that it felt like the dungeon itself screamed in pain. Let me use sound effects to describe it, comic-book style: kshhBOOOM!! Rmblrmblrmbl.

That attack was so far beyond my level of comprehension that I don't even have any idea what it was. But I can clearly see that there is now an enormous, empty crater where there once was a much smaller pool of magma. Nobody but my mother will ever be able to know if there was even something there to begin with. Did something blunder into my mother's field of view, or was there something already there that offended her? We'll never know, because whatever might have been in there has been obliterated. Not even a tiny scrap could remain after an attack like that.

Magma slowly starts to trickle into the brand new crater. I'm sure the new pool that will form is going to be much bigger than the old one.

I'm really glad that attack was not aimed at me. If it was, I would have been dead before I even realized what was happening. I desperately hide behind the rock, making myself as absolutely still as I possibly can to avoid detection.

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Stealth (LV 7)] has been raised to level 8.”

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Silence (LV 1)] has been raised to level 2.”

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Fear Resistance (LV 7)] has been raised to level 8.”

Then, slowly, my mother disappeared down into the hole.

---

Translator's notes for this chapter:

1. Originally, she described herself here as TUEEEEE (a slang misspelling of a slang pronunciation of “strong”) which is a meme thrown around on light novel forums to describe particularly egregious Mary Sues, with origins in gaming. Substituted with “stronk”, a similar meme with similar origins.

2. Originally, this was referring to the Ostrich's Law, a gag used in Japanese variety shows. Basically, there's a task that person A isn't really sold on doing, but he says he's going to do it anyway. Persons B through Z say “nah, it's okay, I'll do it instead,” with the responsibility for doing the thing basically going around in a circle. When it gets back to person A, also says “nah, I'll do it”, then everyone else yells “BY ALL MEANS!!”. I've substituted this for another, more Western gag.

---

Chapter 094

I thought I was doing great, but I know I can do better.

No waaaay. Mother, no waaaay! Is there a single living thing that could bring that behemoth down? Surely anyone that felled such a beast would be remembered as a mighty hero.

Maaaan, I thought I was doing great, but this was a pretty huge reminder that I can be doing better, even though “better” in this case is so far above me that I can’t even begin to imagine how to get there. This random encounter with my mother must have been a sign from the heavens: don’t get carried away. Yep.

Honestly, the way I am now, there’s not a single possible way for me to oppose creatures like my mother or an Earth Dragon. Meeting them definitely starts my death timer. Forget fighting them, even running the heck away is practically out of the question.

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Detection (LV 9)] has been raised to level 10.”

Eh? Really? Mister Detection’s hit his cap already? ...Huh? But he’s not deriving or evolving? Huhhhh... This is actually kind of underwhelming, isn’t it? I worked soooo hard to finally get Detection working, you know. Sure, I’ve gotten an astoundingly great return on my investment, but I’m greedy. I want something moooore! Even though it’s impossible for me to fight Mother, I at least want to get strong enough to make running away even a little bit possible! Hey, “Voice of Heaven”, is this really all I’m going to get?

“fzzt..., .....ffzssshhh....., ...zzh...”

Hm? What was that? ...Am I hearing things?

Wellll, that was a long shot anyway, nothing to be done about it. Although, “getting stronger” really is the simplest and most obvious solution to this problem. If I keep getting stronger (without getting too full of myself), then I can probably get to the point where I can actually escape from crazy out-of-the-ordinary foes like that.

So, if that’s what I’m going with, then it’s time to focus on actually getting stronger. Step one: level up. From now on, I’m going to actively hunt out monsters for XP. So far, since evolving, I’ve killed two seahorses. Since Pride gives me a bonus to my experience gain, I should be pretty close to leveling up right now. Evolving resets my level, so it only makes sense that the experience required to level up gets reset as well, at least to a certain degree.

If I compare the effort it takes to go from level nine to ten before evolving, and one to two after, the latter is definitely a lot faster. However, if I compare a pre-evolution grind from level one to two to a post-evolution one, then it’s actually noticeably slower post-evolution. So, it seems to me that the experience requirements do indeed get reset, but not quite all the way.

Based on what I’ve experienced so far, my next level-up is probably going to happen after I kill one more monster. Heck, I wouldn’t have thought it was strange if I leveled up after killing that second seahorse. If I kill something as strong as a catfish, I bet I’d go up two levels at once. So, let’s put hunting at the top of my list.

Step two: skills. I’ve been working on grinding a bunch of those out as I’ve been moving around. My focus so far has been on Appraisal and Detection, though I’ve also been working on Foresight and Accelerated Thought. Detection’s maxed out now, but I’ve still got a lot of its support skills to level. So, until I can max all of those out, I’m going to keep Detection running constantly as I go.

While that’s happening, I should start focusing on some of the other skills that I can grind while moving. The safest of those are probably my sensory-boosting skills. If I keep doing things like concentrating on spotting things in the distance or sniffing around for any strange scents as I walk, they’ll probably level up pretty easily. They’re pretty high already, so it shouldn’t be too long before they’re maxed out. Let’s go with that, then.

Then, there's one more thing. This isn't something that I can work on while moving, so I need to find a place that I can safely stop and seriously practice it. I'm talking, of course, about Mana Manipulation.

If you think about it, it's possible to pick up skills without spending skill points if you accumulate enough proficiency. Since that's the case, I should save my skill points for things that I can't easily acquire with proficiency, like those evil eye skills, and spend some time on trying to figure out how to gain proficiency with other skills, like Mana Manipulation.

Thanks to Detection, using Mana Perception isn't a problem at all. If I concentrate, I can feel the flow of mana as it drifts through the air. If I can somehow figure out how to manipulate that mana, or maybe even just force it to move somewhere, then I should be able to start accumulating experience, getting me Mana Manipulation without having to spend a single skill point on it... probably. If I can just get that skill, then I can start practicing magic as much as I want.

However, let's not forget my original goal here: to climb the heck up out of the middle strata. Taking the time to grind out things that I can't do while moving will only slow me down, so I'm not going to do anything that specifically requires me to stop. Thus, I will keep moving, until the bitter end. These middle strata aren't any place for me to settle down. I can't lose sight of that.

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Accelerated Thought (LV 3)] has been raised to level 4.”

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Foresight (LV 3)] has been raised to level 4.”

Alright! Thanks to my Lord of Pride title, my mental skills level up very quickly. I'm going to keep pounding away at these.

Lord of Patience has a similar effect, letting me boost my defensive skills more quickly, but those aren't really the kinds of things I can voluntarily work on leveling. If I really wanted to mutilate myself, I could use Poison Synthesis to level Greater Poison Resistance and Paralysis Resistance, and then use All-Purpose Silk to level my Slashing, Bashing, Damage, Decay, and maybe even Ballistic resistances. That would do a good enough job at leveling those skills, but that's the kind of thing that I'd need a long-term base of operations for. Not only is my regeneration way slower here in the middle strata, but I don't have any real place for me to get as much rest as I think I'd need.

Leveling my stat-boosting skills is something that I really want to get done sooner rather than later, but that's also something that really requires settling down first. It would be great if it leveled a bunch while I was in combat, but if I really want any more progress than that I'd really have to do some focused strength training. When I actually have some spare time and energy, I think I'll work on that a little bit.

For now, I guess I'll stick with the plan of grinding up my skills, especially my sensory-boosting skills, while I'm moving forward. I'm especially interested in Enhanced Vision, since it's already at level nine, so I think I'm going to focus on that.

---

Chapter 095

Superior species

Shortly after I decided that I was going to get stronger, I finally found another monster.

Elro Devgyard — LV 4

Statistics:

HP: 103/103 (green)

MP: 41/41 (blue)

SP: 76/76 (yellow), 69/69 (red)

Avg. Offense: 56

Avg. Defense: 48

Avg. Magic Power: 21

Avg. Resistance: 18

Avg. Speed: 41

Skills:

[Swimming (LV 2)] • [Heat Nullification]

This thing is really strange, like a sphere with four legs sticking out of it. I think I'm going to call it a pillbug, but this thing... it's even more of a small fry than the seahorses are. The only reason that fighting them is even remotely difficult is that they sprint for the safety of the magma as soon as they sense danger, which means I need to make sure I quickly bring them down while they're still on land.

This one's on solid ground right now, so I either have to kill it in one strike or paralyze it so that it can't run away. I think I'll use my Deadly Spider Venom, and kill two bugs with one stone.

I leap out from the shadow of a rock, swiftly closing in on my prey. Before it even has a chance to notice my existence, I've activated Poison Synthesis. I have no idea where the mouth on a pillbug could possibly be, so I just splash it everywhere.

In an instant, its health disappears completely. So fast!! ...So weak!!

“Experience requirements met. Zoa Ere, you have grown from level 1 to level 2. Every ability score has been increased. Acquired bonus skill proficiencies from leveling up: your skill [Slashing Enhancement (LV 2)] has been raised to level 3 and your skill [SP Consumption Reduction (LV 3)] has been raised to level 4. You have acquired additional skill points.”

W, well, just as planned, I got my level-up. No problems here, nuh uh. I was just a little surprised by how weak it was.

While I take a moment to settle myself, I check my new stats.

Zoa Ere — LV 2 — (no name)

Statistics:

HP: 215/215 (green) (20 up)

MP: 311/311 (blue) (20 up)

SP: 215/215 (yellow) (20 up), 215/215 (red) +399 (20 up)

Avg. Offense: 269 (18 up)

Avg. Defense: 369 (18 up)

Avg. Magic Power: 255 (10 up)

Avg. Resistance: 390 (10 up)

Avg. Speed: 1342 (70 up)

Skills:

[Automatic HP Recovery (LV 6)] • [Accelerated MP Recovery (LV 4)]
• [MP Consumption Reduction (LV 3)] • [Accelerated SP Recovery (LV 3)] • [SP Consumption Reduction (LV 4)] • [Damage Enhancement (LV 2)] • [Slashing Enhancement (LV 3)] • [Poison Enhancement (LV 4)] •

[Battle Spirit (LV 2)] • [Willpower Allocation (LV 2)] • [Greater Poison Attack (LV 3)] • [Decaying Attack (LV 1)] • [Poison Synthesis (LV 8)] • [Thread Talent (LV 3)] • [All-Purpose Silk (LV 1)] • [Thread Manipulation (LV 8)] • [Throwing (LV 7)] • [3-D Maneuvering (LV 5)] • [Concentration (LV 10)] • [Accelerated Thought (LV 4)] • [Foresight (LV 4)] • [Multitasking (LV 9)] • [Rapid Computation (LV 1)] • [Aiming (LV 8)] • [Evasion (LV 7)] • [Appraisal (LV 9)] • [Detection (LV 10)] • [Stealth (LV 8)] • [Silence (LV 2)] • [Conviction] • [Hell] • [Corruption Magic (LV 3)] • [Shadow Magic (LV 3)] • [Poison Magic (LV 3)] • [Abyssal Magic (LV 10)] • [Patience] • [Pride] • [Overeating (LV 9)] • [Night Vision (LV 10)] • [Visible Spectrum Expansion (LV 2)] • [Damage Resistance (LV 2)] • [Bashing Resistance (LV 2)] • [Slashing Resistance (LV 3)] • [Fire Resistance (LV 2)] • [Greater Poison Resistance (LV 2)] • [Paralysis Resistance (LV 4)] • [Petrification Resistance (LV 3)] • [Acid Resistance (LV 4)] • [Decay Resistance (LV 3)] • [Fainting Resistance (LV 3)] • [Fear Resistance (LV 8)] • [Corruption Immunity] • [Ignore Pain] • [Pain Tolerance (LV 7)] • [Enhanced Vision (LV 9)] • [Enhanced Hearing (LV 8)] • [Enhanced Smell (LV 7)] • [Enhanced Taste (LV 7)] • [Enhanced Touch (LV 7)] • [Divine Domain Expansion (LV 2)] • [Vitality (LV 9)] • [Mana Pool (LV 8)] • [Alacrity (LV 9)] • [Endurance (LV 9)] • [Greater Strength (LV 4)] • [Greater Toughness (LV 4)] • [Resistance (LV 4)] • [Kartikeya (LV 3)] • [Taboo (LV 7)] • [n%I=W]

Skill points available: 50

Titles:

[Filth Eater] • [Kin Eater] • [Assassin] • [Monster Slayer] • [Poison User] • [Silk User] • [Merciless] • [Monster Slaughterer] • [Lord of Pride] • [Lord of Patience]

Hm? Hmmm? What's this? My stats, they're significantly higher, aren't they? Before now, if we ignore Pride's effects, I was getting, well, one point in everything as I leveled. I'm getting waaaay more now! Whoa, did the amount of stat gain maybe change when I evolved?

O... oh!! That's just what I'd expect from a species that they say has high combat potential! I never would have thought that evolving would change my stat gains. This owns. This seriously owns.

On top of that, I got fifty skill points! Before now I was just getting twenty, but I just got two and a half times that many! I might be able to pick up an Evil Eye skill next level, huh! Ahaha! This is way good. Waaaay good.

If things keep going like this, I'm not going to need to stop and seriously try to train proficiency in Mana Manipulation. Aaaah, no, wait, if I can do it on my own, then it's probably best for me to actually try to do so. I don't actually know if an Evil Eye is going to cost me more than 100 skill points, after all. I'm getting too optimistic here.

Yeah, I can't afford to get worked up here. I've never, ever gotten anything good out of letting myself get too excited about something.

Although, looking here at the display again, it seems like my stat gains were actually pretty balanced and stable across the board. I'm still massively specialized in speed, but thanks to Patience my Defense and Resistance stats went up a bunch as well. My attack stat is starting to look a little low in comparison, but in reality I back up my physical attacks with poison, so even this is pretty high. Since I'm still so good at evading, it's unlikely that I'll ever get hit by an attack, but if I do, now I've got some extra defense to keep me safe. I'm out of the one-hit-instant-death danger zone!

Huh? If you list everything out like that, it makes me sound like the strongest monster down here, right? ...Wait, no, no, I must not let myself get worked up. I need to go forth with a humble heart.

---

Author's note: I've added numbers to show stat increases. What do you think?

---

Chapter S14

Academy Life

My time at the Academy so far has been alright. Most of the stuff we're covering in our classes is stuff that I know, but I make myself sit through it so that I can review the material. When I get so bored that I can't stand it, I work on leveling whatever skills I can practice without letting anyone see.

If you just look at my classes, things look calm and peaceful, but I actually am having quite a few problems on the human relations front.

The first problem is the teachers. They essentially treat me one of three ways: they either go out of their way to suck up to me, they distance themselves from me to avoid being influenced, or they try to tangle themselves in my life as much as they can. It could be because I'm royalty, but I think it's really because my ability scores already vastly exceed those of my teachers.

I don't really have much political influence, but I can't just outright avoid the teachers that try to suck up to me lest I offend them. If I let them get too entangled, though, then it starts getting really annoying. I really do prefer the teachers that just interact with me normally, but those are few and far between.

The next problem is the students. They can be divided into three categories, too: the toadies that suck up to me, the students that surround me at a distance, and those that are arbitrarily hostile towards me. There's nobody who wants to treat me normally, so at the end of the day I'm usually only left with Sue and Katia. Hasebe joins us too, so the four of us wind up hanging out a lot.

Katia is usually able to drive the toadies away. Since I can usually only put on a forced smile and let those kinds of people follow me around, I'm very grateful to have a friend that can unhesitatingly cut them down for me.

As for the ones that always follow me at a distance, they can be divided into a few more types. There's those that look at me with constant yearning, those who keep looking at me coolly to show how unaffected they are, those who want to jump in and make my acquaintance but haven't found the right opportunity yet, and so on, and so on.

The most problematic group are those students that are arbitrarily hostile towards me. These people are almost always either the nobles or high-ranking aristocrats from other nations. Occasionally, it's one of the commoners that was suddenly dragged up into this world.

If there's one thing they have in common, it's their conceitedness. Many of them either have high station or high skill, and they see me as an eyesore for having even greater station and skill than they.

Sometimes, I'd get challenged to duels. If I were to duel a person from another country, it would be an international incident, so I naturally turned down every request. When I did that, though, they started spreading rumors that the genius prince is a coward who wouldn't fight any duels.

Give me a break.

However, these are children that we're talking about. If you add up the time I spent in my previous and current lives, I'm already an adult by now, so I can just smile and shrug it all off. Sue, however, always goes berserk, and I'm the one who gets stuck with holding her back when she tries to purge my opponents.

She's been behaving somewhat strangely, lately. It feels like she has something important to ask me, but she just can't make it come out. I have some kind of idea about what she wants to ask, though. Well, more accurately, Katia told me.

"Hey, about Sue... she wants to know about our relationship."

"Huh? Our relationship?"

"I mean, she wants to know about how we're connected, like from our previous life. She started to guess that something was up after we met with Miss Okazaki and she saw how we interacted with her."

“Ahh... come to think of it, we do actually talk in Japanese a lot in front of her, don't we.”

“Exactly. If your older brother, who you've known for both of your entire lives, suddenly meets with a person you've never seen before and starts talking in a foreign language you've never heard before, you'd totally think that was weird.”

“Yeah, you're right... whoops.”

“Well, when she finally asks you about it, it's up to you if you're going to tell her the truth or not.”

“Huh? I shouldn't, right?”

“It's your decision, man. Whether you're going to keep lying to her about what's happening or tell her the truth, make up your mind quickly and get it over with. It's unfair to Sue otherwise, you know?”

“Yeah, you're right.”

So, it seems like she's been trying to ask me about my relationship with the others. To be honest, though, I can't really make up my mind. How do I even explain this to her? “You thought I was your older brother, but this entire time I've really been just some strange guy you've never met who reincarnated into your older brother's body.” I'm terrified that she's going to hate me if I say that to her.

All this time, I've tried to love her like my own little sister. But, how does Sue look at me? I know that she's really attached to me, but if she knew that the older brother she had been clinging to was some other stranger, what would she think? I grew up here with all of the memories and experiences from my previous life. If you compare me to Sue, who has kept up with me this entire time, I've been really dishonest. Is she going to look at me with scorn when she realizes that? I don't think Sue would ever scorn me, but even just imagining what that would be like is awful.

If that's the case, then you'd think that I should lie to her, but even that seems insincere to me. If my real little sister came to me like that, having such trouble asking what she wanted to, there's no way I'd just carelessly dodge around her questions. If I'm going to lie to her, I'm going to have to commit to lying to her for my entire life.

I still have no idea what I should actually do. However, if Sue does finally ask me about it, I need to give a serious answer. If Katia hadn't warned me in advance, I'd probably just dance around the question without thinking too deeply about it. I'm very glad that she advised me about this in advance.

So, it's plain to see that human relations aren't very good for me here at school, whether they're between my friends or between the other students here. On top of all that, though, the other three reincarnated people have me at wits' end.

Miss Okazaki is, as always, an enigma. For a while, we didn't see her anywhere, not even for class, so I thought she might have gone somewhere. Suddenly, though, without warning, she started showing up again like nothing had ever been the matter. I had lots of questions for her the next time we met, but she gave nothing but lazy, noncommittal answers. When I started specifically asking about what happened to Kyouya, it felt like she started evading even harder.

Kyouya was a very close friend of Katia's and mine back in our previous lives. However, Miss Okazaki isn't telling us anything about where he might be now. I somehow managed to piece together a few details, though, and it seems like Kyouya might not actually be under the elves' protection. Even though I was very curious about where he was or even how he was doing, Miss Okazaki just kept blithely evading every question I threw at her.

Hasebe is also quite a bit of a problem. Her name here in this world is Yulene Ulen. Her last name is the name of the church she was raised in, instead of an orphanage. Hasebe—no, Yulie—was raised as an orphan. There seem to be a lot of orphans in this world. In Japan, there were quite a few of them, but in this harsh world where civilization has yet to develop quite as far, there are far more.

I'm not saying that this is a good thing at all, but what usually happens is that the orphans who are raised by the church wind up staying with the church once they're old enough to understand what's happening to them. Yulie, though, is different. From birth, she not only possessed all of her memories from the previous world, but also her sense of self.

The first thing I realized after having been reborn was that I was suddenly a baby. This was an enormous shock, although I'm just speaking from my own experience. I was disoriented, confused, and above all extremely anxious. What happened to me? Did I die? What happened to me back then?

For me, my worries were without end, but they can't even compare to what Yulie must have felt after being thrown into that same situation. It seems like her own shock was far greater than my own. Honestly, I can't possibly imagine what Yulie must have been feeling at that time.

In the middle of her absolute anxiety, there was something she could cling to: the teachings of the Words of God. This is the religion of the church who found and raised her, and is also a religion that's practiced widely across human lands. Their teachings, if I had to summarize them in one sentence, say that one must constantly strive to raise one's skills so that one may hear the Words of God.

The Words of God. I honestly can't understand whatever this is. It seems like it's in reference to the game-like system messages you hear when you level something up. Everyone in this world, though, thinks that hearing this voice is completely and utterly natural. The only people in this world who could possibly find it strange are those of us who were reincarnated into this world. To everyone else, it's a part of life, just like skills and stats are. That's just how this world is.

The churches of the Words of God preach that the system message voice is really the voice of a god, and one of the highest tenets of this religion is that everyone should try their hardest to raise their skills and levels as much as possible so that they can hear that divine voice more often. As for me, I can't help but wonder what the hell is up with this nonsensical doctrine, but that doesn't change the fact that it's commonly accepted in this world.

Yulie, like many other people in this world, has been completely immersed in this religion, though I would have thought she'd have the same thoughts about it as me.

"Shun, you've leveled your skills so much! I think that's really amazing. You should keep raising your skills steadily like that, so you can hear even more of the words of God."

“Shun, you haven’t raised your own level at all? That’s not good at all! When you raise your level, God says many things to you at once, you know? You need to work on leveling up so that you can hear God’s voice.”

“Shun, you have Appraisal, right? If you ever see someone with a skill named “Taboo”, I want you to tell me about it right away. I can’t possibly let anyone who has leveled a skill the gods themselves have declared to be taboo survive long enough to do any damage.”

“Shun, you got a new rank in a skill, so you must have heard the words of God again! Aaaahh, the voice of God was heard once again. Today, I can truly be happy.”

I pulled away from her. She was just acting so strangely that I couldn’t stay too close. After all, her eyes always got muddy and unfocused whenever she started raving about the gods. There was no way I could hang out with someone like that.

Yulie, however, never seemed like she should have turned out like this. Somewhere deep within her is a perfectly ordinary high school girl. It must have been her environment that shaped her into who she is today. The constant dread from being reincarnated. The despair from having been abandoned by her parents. The anxiousness from having to live in this completely unfamiliar world.

Then, in the midst of all that, she would have heard a system message, speaking in familiar, nostalgic Japanese. It’s really easy to see how that could have become her emotional support. On top of that, she was surrounded by people who worshiped that same voice. Yulie had been someone who would go with the flow of things, so it might have been almost inevitable that she’d get caught up in that religion. I wonder if, after getting swept up, she used the maximum benefits of having been reincarnated to become a Saint candidate.

Finally, the last person on the list is the biggest of my problems. Natsume, now known as Hugo, seems to be my enemy. Not like the others, either. The petty jealousy of the other children cannot compare to the raw hostility that Hugo shows me. When he looks at me, you can see an undercurrent of raw killing intent churning within his gaze.

I have no idea what could have possibly caused him to be so hostile towards me. Regardless of whether I know it or not, at this rate I know that something is bound to happen. Before long, he is going to do something. That's what I fear.

---

Chapter 096

I think, therefore I am; I move, therefore I am; I am, and I am the I who I am, therefore I am.

Some time has passed since I leveled up. I've been focusing a lot on straining my vision as far as it can possibly go, but I just can't push Enhanced Vision past level nine. I guess it really is hard to get a skill past level nine, after all. The rest of my skills are doing great, though!

First off, Silence is now level three. You did it, little spider, you're even sneakier!

Next, Accelerated Thought and Foresight have both hit level five. You did it, little spider, you're even dodgier!

Fire Resistance has, at long, long last, gone up another level to level three. Thanks to Patience, I know I should be getting resistance skills more quickly, but even so this still feels like it's taking forever. Man, I'm weak to fire. Even after I changed species, I'm still weak to fire, huh? I wonder if any of my other weaknesses changed at all, though... I can't really test any of them out right now, though, so I can't really say anything else about it.

Well, my old defense stat was garbage anyway, so even if my resistances have changed it's not like they could have gotten any wooorse... Although, since my defense stat has finally started to go up, maybe I really should be worried about my resistances. There might be some other attribute that I'm weak against. I don't have any good ways to test it, though...

So, next is Multitasking. That hit level ten, then evolved into a new skill: Multiple Wills. Now this is interesting. Just like the name implies, the number of consciousnesses in my brain has actually increased. With Multitasking, even though I could focus on more than one task at once, it was all being juggled by the same consciousness. Multiple Wills, though, splits my entire brain in two. It's something like having a split personality. Both personalities, though, are me; I'm just able to have two entirely different trains of thought going at the same time now. On top of that, both consciousnesses have the full benefit of Multitasking, so it's like my cognitive abilities have just straight-up doubled. Super convenient. I'm betting that leveling this up will give me even more consciousnesses.

However, only one consciousness can actually move my body. Since that's the case, I'm using one consciousness to move my body, and the other to handle processing information from Appraisal and Detection. So, I'm counting on you, Captain Body! Leave it to me, Captain Brain! ...It's possible now for me to have conversations with myself like this. Since both personalities are still me, though, we already share information perfectly.

There's no main or sub-personality here. Both are me. I am me, for me, by me! ...Yep, I've lost me entirely. Like, if I start asking these kinds of questions, then the definition of what counts as a person's sense of self starts to get pretty blurry. Maybe the distinction is just lost on me, since I can't even decide which personality is the main one. Maybe, indeed... Speaking of which, maybe I'm actually kind of special for being able to master this skill and use it so normally? Probably not, though.

While Captain Brain was contemplating philosophy, Captain Body defeated a monster. Good job, me! Oh, no, you flatter me.

This time, I tried using my new Decaying Attack, but there's no waaaay I can actually use it. Well, no, that's not to say that it isn't amazing. It's actually massively powerful. It's only level one, and it's still somehow this amazing. Too amazing, in fact.

Because, y'know, it turned that monster into compost with a single hit, right?

That's strange, right? Was that what "decay" meant, all this time? Rotting? Decomposing? This amount of decay is way more powerful than just rotting, though. This is death's unstoppable advance, baked into an attribute. It's terrifying! Even at level one, it's massively overkill. What the heck is going to happen when I level it up?

That said, I did mention that there's no way I'd be able to use it. There's two reasons for that. First off, there's not much of a corpse left after the fact, which means that there's nothing left for me to eat. Using this to farm experience points would be absolutely amazing, but if I do that I'm only getting half of what I really wanted out of my monster hunting down here. I can't stomach that. Literally and figuratively, can't stomach that.

The other problem, though, is waaaaay worse: when I use it, I take damage too.

Take a look at the sickle I used for my test. The edge of it is all tattered and worn-out. I lost health, too! Isn't this attack suicidal?! So, even though it's hugely powerful, there's a huge amount of backlash, too. In a tense, heated battle where I'm forced to fight with my fullest strength I might use it as a last resort, but apart from that I'm not going to touch it. Certainly not for cleaning up these small fry. Especially not here in the middle strata, where my passive health recovery is so slow.

Aaaargh, when is this sickle going to get fixed?! I think I'm going to level up soon, so it'll fix itself when that happens, but until then I'm going to be down a sickle for my next fights. Ah well, I've been using Poison Synthesis a lot more than my sickles, so it's not going to make a whole lot of difference unless I wind up fighting another eel, or maybe some other powerful foe.

In the first place, I only just started fighting with my sickles recently. My main weapon in these middle strata is still Poison Synthesis. After all, monsters start taking damage the instant they come into contact with it. If I were using my sickles more, I'd be getting a bunch of proficiency towards Slashing Attack, but doing that puts me in a perfect position to take a bunch of damage.

Plus, if I slash something open, then all of its guts fall out onto the ground, making everything harder to eat.

Well then, Captain Body: find some more prey! Roger that, Captain Brain, seeking targets now.

Maaaan, Multiple Wills really is ludicrously convenient. If I manage to get myself a second body, I can finally make Shadow Clones<sup>1</sup>, right? Ah, but if I do that, they're both going to be my real body, so if either of them gets hit it's going to be painful. Aaaah, that would suuuuck... I mean, I'd still survive if one of my two bodies was slain, but that still means I'd experience something very much like dying, right? Yeaaaah. I do nooooot want to find out what that feels like. I've technically experienced dying once already, but I have no memory of that at all so it doesn't count.

Captain Body, you heard all that, right? Please try extra hard not to die, okay? Whoa, whoa, Captain Brain, you totally didn't need to remind me at all.

Yeaaaah.

---

Translator's notes from this chapter:

1. A technique used in the manga Naruto, where the user creates physical duplicates of themselves.

---

Chapter 097

The Eight-Eyed One

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Enhanced Vision (LV 9)] has been raised to level 10. Your [Enhanced Vision] skill has reached its maximum level, and a new skill, [Telescopic Sight (LV 1)] has been unlocked.”

Woohoo! Finally, Enhanced Vision hit its level cap. It looks like my reward for that is a derived skill, huh? Let’s not waste any time checking this out. Lady Appraisal?

Telescopic Sight: Allows the user to visually magnify distant images.

Aaaah, it does exactly what it saaaays... Hmmmm. I dunno about this. My sensory-boosting skills are all plain, straightforward bonuses, and this derived skill is also pretty boring. I guess for now we should try testing this out...

Captain Body, activate Telescopic Sight!
Request acknowledged, Captain Brain!

Oh? Ohh?! OOHHHH?! Oh man, this is awesome! I’m sorry I called you boring!

Simultaneously overlaid on each other, I see both the images from my original field of view and the magnified image of Telescopic Sight. I was thinking that this was going to zoom in my entire field of vision at once, but it looks like I can activate it with one eye at a time. Ordinarily, having these two different fields of vision active simultaneously seems like it would be unusably chaotic, but, hey, there’s two of me! Split the work up, and it’s no problem at all.

Right now, my skill level is pretty low, so the magnification level I’m getting is pretty low and the effective range is pretty short, but once I start leveling this up it’s going to start being super useful. For example, if Detection alerts me to a nearby enemy, I can use Telescopic Sight to keep an eye on it at a distance while still being able to see everything else normally. Yeah, yeah! And just like all of my other passive skills, this isn't consuming any mana at all. I can think of a lot of uses for this skill, so I'm going to add this to the list of skills I always keep activated in the background for leveling purposes.

It's not good to get too excited, though, Captain Brain.

What's up, Captain Body?

I've been looking around with Telescopic Sight, and I found an enemy off in the distance.

Oh! I just got it, and it's already so useful!

Shall I go kill it immediately?

That goes without saying!

Aye-aye, sir!

Just like that, I sneakily creep up to my target. My sickle is still too damaged to use after that Decaying Attack suicide strike, so I use Poison Synthesis and dump some Deadly Spider Venom on my target. In a heartbeat, all of its health evaporates. As always, this is a great and terrible power.

“Experience requirements met. Zoa Ere, you have grown from level 2 to level 3. Every ability score has been increased. Acquired bonus skill proficiencies from leveling up: your skill [Visible Spectrum Expansion (LV 2)] has been raised to level 3 and your skill [Vitality (LV 9)] has been raised to level 10. Your [Vitality] skill has reached its maximum level and has evolved into a new skill, [Greater Vitality (LV 1)]. You have acquired additional skill points.”

Oh, perfect timing on that level up! Molting repaired my sickle. On top of that, one of my stat-boosting skills evolved, huh! Let's Appraise it real quick.

Greater Vitality: Increases HP based on ten times the skill level. In addition, when leveling up, provides an additional increase to HP based on the skill level.

Just like I thought, it's basically the same thing as Greater Strength. So that means that evolving the rest of my stat-boosting skills is going to give me that bonus stat increase when I level, right? I really want to crank those out as quickly as I can, but I really am going to need to be patient and wait until I get out of the middle strata first... I really want to get someplace safe, and fast.

Also, I've been waiting for this! With this level-up, I finally have a hundred skill points! Yay! Now then, have these rumored Evil Eye-type skills made their appearance?!

Evil Eye of Curses (100): Applies Curse-attributed damage to things within the user's field of view.

Evil Eye of Destruction (100): Applies Decay-attributed damage to things within the user's field of view.

Evil Eye of Paralysis (100): Applies Paralysis-attributed damage to things within the user's field of view.

Evil Eye of Petrification (100): Applies Petrification-attributed damage to things within the user's field of view.

Evil Eye of Disquiet (100): Applies the Corruption Magic spell "Disquiet" to things within the user's field of view.

Evil Eye of Phantom Pain (100): Applies the Corruption Magic spell "Phantom Pain" to things within the user's field of view.

Evil Eye of Madness (100): Applies the Corruption Magic spell "Madness" to things within the user's field of view.

Evil Eye of Fascination (100): Applies the Corruption Magic spell "Fascination" to things within the user's field of view.

Evil Eye of Hypnotism (100): Applies the Corruption Magic spell "Hypnotism" to things within the user's field of view.

Evil Eye of Dread (100): Applies the Corruption Magic spell "Dread" to things within the user's field of view.

Whoa. They really did appear. These skills definitely weren't in the list before now. And there's so many of them, too, but I have to only pick one! How do I decide?

Captain Brain, a moment?

What is it, Captain Body?

Can't we pick more than just one?

Eh? How would we do that?

You do know that we have eight eyes, right?

Right, and...?

So, that means that we can have eight Evil Eyes at once, right?

...?! I'm a genius!!

Heh heh heh. That is correct: I am indeed a genius!

Seriously, I'm a genius! And, since I'm a genius, that means that everything I do is perfect!

That's right! Having eight simultaneous Evil Eyes going is going to be amazing, right?

Oh maaaaan. Seriously, oh maaaaan. My dreams are getting waaaay too big right now!

If we're using one eye for Telescopic Sight, that only leaves seven free, though. And if we want to keep a normal field of view, then that means we're down to six, huh?

You're right. This time we're picking one, and we'll get five more as we save up the skill points. Sound good?

Sounds perfect. So, Captain Body, which Evil Eye do you think is the best?

I think we should pick the Curse one, since we don't have access to that attribute yet. Let's hold off on the corruption-based ones, they seem like they'd be better used against people instead of monsters.

Yeah, I agree... though do I really prefer the Curse one? In the upper strata we did fight that petrification lizard, but making a Petrification eye effective might take a while...

Yeah, but once we get it up high enough, it'll be really strong. I still think we should play it safe, though, and get the Curse one.

Just what I'd expect from me, you really have your stuff together.

I know, right?

So, without further ado, let's pick up the Evil Eye of Curses.

Curse: Weakens all of the recipient's ability scores while damaging their HP, MP, and SP.

---

Translator's notes for this chapter:

1. The title is in reference to "The Three-Eyed One", an Osamu Tezuka manga.

---

Chapter 098

Look into my eyes!!

I just got the Evil Eye of Curses at level one~! Hooray~! I finally managed to get it, but if I want to know what this actually does, I'm going to need to look around here for a monster I can use as a proper lab rat. So, then, let's dig through Detection's data and try to find something that might work.

Hmm. Hmmmm... It looks like there might be something over there, huh... It's just barely on the edge of my range, so I can't get much data about it, but it looks like it's something up on solid ground. That's perfect! So nice of it to volunteer.

Elro Geafrog — LV 4

Statistics:

HP: 85/85 (green)

MP: 75/75 (blue)

SP: 68/68 (yellow), 68/68 (red)

Avg. Offense: 67

Avg. Defense: 59

Avg. Magic Power: 46

Avg. Resistance: 46

Avg. Speed: 43

Skills:

[Poison Synthesis (LV 3)] • [Acid Attack (LV 3)] • [Shooting (LV 4)] •
[Swimming (LV 2)] • [Night Vision (LV 7)] • [Poison Resistance (LV 2)] •
[Acid Resistance (LV 2)] • [Heat Nullification]

Ah, it's the frog's evolved form. At least, it certainly does look like the evolved form of those frogs I fought so long ago. How nostalgic! It doesn't really seem like it's gotten much stronger, but I think it looks like it's evolved somewhat to match its environment. It's got Heat Nullification, after all.

Also, it has levels in Night Vision despite the fact that it's living in an area brightly lit by magma, which makes me think that it's evolved from something that came from the upper strata. The upper and lower strata are pitch black, after all. If something from the upper strata got lost and found itself down here in the middle strata, it would be basically mandatory for it to evolve to fit this climate. If something from the lower strata came up here... well, I'd rather that didn't happen. The thought of a monster from the lower strata somehow evolving to adapt itself to the middle strata is waaaay too dreadful.

Now that I'm looking at this frog's spit attack, though, it looks like what I thought was a spit attack might have actually been the same Poison Synthesis skill that I use, launched with that Shooting skill. Maaaan, that there's a good skill. I want it too. If I did, I'd have a poison bullet that that frog's acid wouldn't even hold a candle to. I wonder if I can grind out skill proficiency by firing silk out of my butt as hard as I can...?

While Captain Brain ponders that kind of useless garbage, I get to work. Step one: synthesize Weak Poison with every single damage slider at its minimum, plus the paralysis attribute. This frog has a couple levels of Poison Resistance, so I don't think this will be enough to kill it. I sneak up close behind the frog and synthesize my poison. Alright, the frog's ready for experimentation!

Ah, Captain Body, good job! Now I can experiment on this thing to my heart's content. Now then: Evil Eye, Activate!

Alright, turning that on was no problem at all. Now, what does this look like?

Oh... oh. The frog's health, mana, and stamina are all slowly, slowly decreasing. I guess it is level one, after all, so the rate of damage it can put out is going to be pretty slow. Both the frog's yellow and red stamina gauges are emptying out, but since the yellow bar recovers pretty quickly this isn't really doing much of anything. If I level it up, then the damage will be high enough that it'll start outpacing regeneration, right? If that's the case, then I'll be able to make someone short of breath with a glare, huh... That's pretty heartless. Ah! Except, they'll probably run out of health and die first. It looks like I'm damaging health and stamina at about the same rates, after all...

Oh! Its stats are going down too! There's little numbers next to each stat showing how many points each one's been decreased by. Next to that, there's another number in parentheses showing me what those values are usually like at their maximum.

Oho! So, if I eat a status-debuffing attack, it'll be printed out like this, huh? I'll be able to notice that after I take a single hit. As expected of the lady Appraisal, she doesn't miss a single beat.

It looks like my Evil Eye isn't a passive skill like all of the other cool ones have been as of late. It's sucking away at my mana... although, it's not using very much of it at all. It's ticking down at a rate of maybe one point per ten seconds. The frog's taking one point of damage every five seconds, so maybe the conversion rate isn't really all that bad? If you think about how much mana I have right now, it looks like I can keep this up for over fifty minutes, so if I think about it like that then it looks like this isn't really that inefficient. Once I level it up, it'll probably start doing more damage, faster.

Ah! The frog's paralysis looks like it's wearing off... oh! Just as I started thinking that, Captain Body dropped some more paralytic poison on it. As is only natural for me: I can support myself lightning quick.

Hmmmm. The health and mana damage is pretty good, but the stat damage isn't really very good. At the start, the frog's stats went down at about the same rate that its health was getting depleted, but now that it's hit the halfway mark it's barely going down at all anymore. Huh, is there a limit to how much stats can be lowered? I mean, it kinda makes sense if you think about it. If it kept decreasing, then at some point the target's defense stat would hit zero. You can't even call that a paper-thin defense. That's basically just having a really feeble body.

However, dropping someone's stats by half is still a pretty huge deal. It doesn't really make a huge ton of a difference if I debuff a small fry like this frog, but if I can cut the stats of a strong monster like an eel down to half...

Most of the monsters I've seen tend to rely far more on their stats than their skills, so weakening their stats is effectively a drastic weakening of the monster itself. If I slash an eel's stats in half, then there wouldn't be much difference between it and a catfish anymore.

It looks like I've gained an anti-strong-monster trump card! I guess I've got to put a lot of effort into leveling this skill in the near future.

Hm? Uhh, what? The frog died?! Whaaaat? I thought it had plenty of health left, though...? Its health started dropping super quickly for some reason, but why? ...Ah! Before its health ran out, its red stamina gauge emptied out. Ahhhh, is that what that was... if your red stamina runs out, then you rapidly start losing your health. That's terrifying!

...Whoa. Evolving just started looking waaaay more dangerous. I'm so glad that I had plenty of food every time I did that. Man, I'm going to have to keep an eye on that, even if I think that Overeating is going to keep my stamina full for quite some time.

In any event, the Evil Eye of Curses seems to actually be pretty useful. Whenever I've got a bunch of excess mana, I should keep it running so that I can grind out some skill proficiency for it, right...? Yeah. I'm going to make sure that my mana pool is always at least half full, just in case anything happens, but I'm going to allocate the other half of it to working on grinding out my Evil Eye. This is a skill I can work on leveling while I'm on the move, too.

---

Translator's notes for this chapter:

1. The title COULD be a reference to Ghost Rider's quote in Ultimate Marvel vs. Capcom 3 when he hits his level 3 super, Penance Stare.

---

Chapter 099

That girl's an idiot, so I've got to be the responsible one.

Translator's note: I'm changing it back to Captain.

I am a body. As yet, I have no name.<sup>1</sup>

I'd like to take this moment to complain a little bit about Captain Brain.

That girl is an idiot.

Just now, she decided she wanted to try to work on learning the Shooting skill, so she was all "oh man let's fire a bunch of silk out of my butt!", but then when I tried it the silk got launched way, way farther than she thought it was going to. It landed in the magma. I nearly caught on fire! If I hadn't acted immediately to disconnect the rest of that strand from myself, then fire would have raced up the silk and set me ablaze.

So she keeps coming up with fundamentally useless proposals like that, and then when we try them out they wind up being, well, fundamentally useless. None of the experiments that she's been getting really excited about have ever been even remotely successful. Well, to be honest, I'm also always super excited to try these things out; they are my own ideas, after all. Really, couldn't she come up with anything a little bit more, well, normal?

If you bother thinking about any of these things for more than a second, it's pretty darn obvious that they're all worthless, you know? She's in charge of the brain! Shouldn't she be carefully thinking these through? She's an idiot, right? Yeah! She's an idiot!

So, as the unfortunate soul in charge of this body, it's my job to be the responsible one. After all, it's ultimately my actions that keep the delicate balance between life and death.

Captain Body, Captain Body!
What is it, Captain Brain?
Can we stick an Evil Eye on Telescopic Sight?
...?! Are you a genius?!
Oh hoh hoh. Yes! I am indeed a genius!
Whoa, seriously? I've been a genius this whole time! And since I'm a genius, that means everything I do is forgiven!
Of course, of course! If we funnel an Evil Eye through Telescopic Sight, that means we can use it at extremely long ranges, right? Isn't that amazing?
Oh yeah. Oh yeaaaah. That's seriously amazing. The possibilities are limitless!
So, let's get out there and find ourselves a target!
Yah-HA!

---

I am a brain. As of yet, I have no name.

Simultaneously activating Telescopic Sight and my Evil Eye is not going so well. Urgh. I guess if I could, it really would be OP as heck, so I guess I can't complain... Telescopic Sight has leveled all the way up to level five, thanks to constantly having it on. Compared to how it was at level one, I can not only see much farther with it, but the maximum magnification is also quite a bit better. If I were to be able to channel my Evil Eye through it, I'd have a really long-range attack at my disposal. What a shame.

Even so, this Evil Eye really is useful. I've been keeping it on whenever I have the spare mana for it, and by now it's hit level three. This one's slow as heck. However, blitzing my way through this middle strata is leaving me with a huge surplus of mana, so this is still great timing.

Another thing I noticed while I had Evil Eye up: for whatever reason, it doesn't actually change my field of view. I can't have it up at the same time as Telescopic Sight, but Enhanced Vision and the rest of my vision-boosting skills seem to fit into it just fine. Since I don't need to worry about restricting my field of view, it looks like I don't need to specifically reserve any of my other eyes to still be able to see.

This, of course, means that I can do what I only dreamed about doing: eight simultaneous Evil Eyes.

Also, it looks like I can't actually use any of my attribute attack skills to boost my Evil Eye. I tried tying my Greater Poison Attack skill into it, but it didn't seem to have any effect. What a pity. Well, I guess being able to do something like that would be just about as OP as being able to use Telescopic Sight for a long-ranged attack, so I guess it's only natural. If I were able to put my Deadly Spider Venom into my Evil Eye, then I'd be able to kill with a single glance of my deep blue mystic eyes that could perceive even death.<sup>2</sup> I already have eyes that can weaken and damage something just by glaring at it, though, which is plenty OP enough. Wishing for more is just greedy.

Next, I started wondering if it might be a great idea to try activating the Evil Eye of Curses in all eight of my eyes, and it looks like I actually can! It just doesn't actually have any extra effect. I kind of assumed that using eight eyes at once would give me eight times the power, but of course it isn't as simple as that.

However, I did discover that I can instead activate Telescopic Sight in more than one eye, which is extremely useful! Now I can pick out a bunch of different distant places to simultaneously magnify, which could be extremely useful depending on how I wound up using it.

---

So, allow me to change the subject for a bit. I need to tell you something about Captain Body.

That girl is an idiot.

A little while ago, I thought that I might be able to get the Shooting skill on my own by firing silk out of my butt as hard as I can. Captain Body then immediately said "oh maaaan, that's a great idea, I'm gonna try that right now!" and proceeded to launch a bunch of silk immediately.

Right at the magma.

Sure, she may have waved it away by saying "wow, that flew way further than I thought it would", but even so I really would have preferred that she aimed it anywhere but the nearest magma patch. The silk all fell into the magma, of course, and immediately caught fire. The flame raced up the silk like a fuse, right towards my butt, which would have caught fire too (again!) if Captain Body hadn't managed to cut it off at the very last second.

So I keep coming up with brilliant ideas like that, and she keeps managing to somehow take them in an entirely different direction. The wrong direction. Man, seriously, no matter how much of my genius I pour into these brilliant ideas, Captain Body manages to completely wreck them with her massive incompetence.

If you bother thinking about any of these things for more than a second, it's pretty darn obvious that she's going about them all wrong, you know? She's in charge of the body! Did all that moving around make her into a stupid muscle-head? She's an idiot, right? Yeah! She's an idiot!

So, as the unfortunate soul in charge of this body, it's my job to be the responsible one. After all, it's ultimately my ideas that keep the delicate balance between life and death.

Captain Brain, Captain Brain!

What is it, Captain Body?

I was looking around with Telescopic Sight and I found a monster in the distance.

Seriously?! Wow, that's way outside Detection's range, even.

Heh heh heh. Why, Captain Brain, wouldn't this mean that your reason for existence is that much less relevant?

Don't get ahead of yourself, Captain Body. Did you think you could match my raw informational throughput? You'd need a hundred eyes to even come close!

Muahaha, go ahead, say that while you still can! Soon, you'll see!

Heh. Soon? Never. But, fine! Try and struggle towards this lofty peak!

Heh heh heh.

Ahahaha.

So, what should we do?

Hunt that thing down, of course.

Aye aye, sir! You there, scoundrel! Prepare yourself!

Yah-HA!

---

Translator's notes for this chapter:

- 1. This is a reference to the opening lines of "I Am a Cat", a famous Japanese novel. This same reference was used in Chapter 3.*
  - 2. This is a reference to the Mystic Eyes of Death Perception, an ability used by the protagonists of Tsukihime and Kara no Kyoukai.*
-

Chapter 100

Huh? Lady Appraisal is...?

Today is yet another day of wandering about the middle strata. Hmmmm. It's been a long freaking time since I first got here, but the end still isn't in sight. As expected of the world's greatest labyrinth. This is the kind of dungeon that you'd have to be willing to dedicate your whole life to exploring if you wanted to make it through, isn't it?

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Appraisal (LV 9)] has been raised to level 10.”

Oh? Ohhhh?! OHHHHHHHHH?!?!

Finally. FINALLY! Appraisal has hit max level!! I'm ludicrously happy right now! The first skill I ever picked, my constant companion through fair and fowl, has finally reached its most perfect form!

Appraisal, who was good for nothing at all when I first met her, whose improvements were subtle, but steady, with each new level, who became more and more useful with each passing day, who was finally revealed as the talented Miss Appraisal, who tirelessly worked without complaint to better herself, who finally became a shining Lady that none could deny... Appraisal, you've finally, finally!!

Woooo! You've done a great job. You've done a fantastic job. I'm moved to tears! Thank you, Lady Appraisal! Thank you! Our future together will be bright!

But... there's no evolution, no evolved skill, huh... I mean, I guess that's fine. Appraisal hitting max level is still super huge. I really wanted some sort of awesome skill, though, something that would make me lord of all knowledge, ruler of all wisdom... But that's not going to happen, huh... I thought that if anyone could do it, Lady Appraisal could, but I guess that's not going to happen...

...Is it seriously not going to happen?

“fzzt..., .....fzzzzzffsssshhh, ...zzsh, zhss...shaazh, zhassshh, .....”

...What the? What's that bad TV static sound?

“fzzzsh, ...zzfrequest ackzzsshzt, zzt, fsstequires root administrative privilzzzsshhtz, .....”

Uh? What the hell?!

“fsszzaat, zzshstrator Sariezzzvshht....., ...zzat, tzzejected. Escalasszzvt...”

This seems kind of bad. I don't know what's bad about it, but this seems bad.

“Fzzt.....” BING!!

Compared to the unintelligible static that I was straining to hear, the crystal-clear ping that suddenly burst through my skull was so loud that I flinched, hard.

“Request acknowledged by root-level systems administrator D. Now constructing supplementary skill, [Wisdom]... ...Construction complete.”

“Requirements met have been met. You have gained the skill [Wisdom].”
Your existing skills, [Appraisal (LV 10)] and [Detection (LV 10)], have been integrated with your new skill, [Wisdom].“

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Taboo (LV 7)] has been raised to level 8.”

“Requirements have been met. You have earned the title [Lord of Wisdom], and have been awarded the skills [Ultimate Magic] and [Celestial Power].
Your existing skills, [Accelerated MP Recovery (LV 4)] and [MP Consumption Reduction (LV 3)], have been integrated with your new skill, [Ultimate Magic].
Your existing skills, [Mana Pool (LV 9)] and [Resistance (LV 4)], have been integrated with your new skill, [Celestial Power].”

Huh?

Huh?!

HUUUUH?!

Wait, wait. This is weird. This is, of course, really, really weird, in a lot of different ways. What just happened? Why did it happen? What do I do now?!

I've got to calm down. Captain Body, deep, slow breaths, please.

Inhale, inhale, exhaaaale...

Right. Let's tackle these in order.

First thing that happened was that I started hearing some largely-unintelligible noise. What was that? I have no clue. Usually when I hit something I have literally no clue about, I put it aside because there's no sense in wasting time worrying. This time, though, I don't really think I can get away with that. This is, after all, really obviously abnormal.

Abnormal? Yes, abnormal. Up until this point, I've just been kind of accepting that this world has skills and stats and so on, but in Japan those things just flat-out didn't exist. If I were in Japan right now, I'd be thinking that these skills were extremely freaking abnormal. I, however, just kind of brushed that under the rug, thinking "oh, this is just that kind of world", but was it really okay for me to take it so lightly?

Until now, it was. Now, however, things are a little bit different. The "Voice of Heaven" said something very peculiar.

"Request acknowledged by root-level systems administrator D. Now constructing supplementary skill, [Wisdom]... ...Construction complete."

Based on this, it looks like someone is keeping me under observation, and that person heard my grumbling, and then they made a new skill for me, right?

If that's the case, then the culprit is this so-called "root-level systems administrator D". On top of that, if you think about the fact that he's got "root-level" in his title, then there might be other, lower-ranking administrators, too.

So, these administrators, what the heck do they administer? That, at least, is obvious. Skills. That is the inevitable, undeniable conclusion of this train of thought. In other words: the skills in this world are granted by these beings called "administrators".

Why? How? Heck if I know. I can only say one thing for certain:

There's something weird about this world.

Chills are running down my nonexistent spine. The fear that's slowly creeping in on me is not the bright, urgent terror that blasted through me when I encountered the Earth Dragons and my mother. No, this is a darker fear, a deep dread that erodes away at my sanity.

These administrators... are they watching me right now, as I cower on the dungeon floor? Are they laughing their dark, grim laughs at my fear? This entire situation is terrifying. My skills, these things that I have relied on so hard for my very survival, are suddenly strange and unknowable. What am I going to do?

What am I going to do?!

---

Chapter S15

A Lord's Authority

The look in Hugo's eyes when he sees me has grown even more dangerous. He keeps glaring at me with a cold glint in his eyes. It's especially bad when I do something better than him, like scoring well on a test. His glare then sends shivers down my spine.

It's obvious that he's going to try something soon. However, I can't prepare any countermeasures. Unlike me, Hugo is the eldest son of an imperial dynasty. On top of that, like me, he is a reincarnated person as well, so his skills are no joke. Nobody is qualified to even hold a candle to him, be it in terms of political or physical power.

And then, it happens, on an ordinary day, while we're out on an exploration lesson; our first extracurricular activity.

For our activity, we were sent to explore a small mountain that was near the academy. Well, I say "near", but it's really over a half day's walk in each direction. Only the people who passed a test to determine if they were able to leave the academy were able to go on the trip. Out of my year, there were twelve people including myself who were granted permission to go on the exploration trip. Judging from my class, only the students who were crushingly excellent were able to make the mark. However, the students who were left behind have plenty of opportunity to make themselves stronger so that they can come along the next time. There might be only a few of us on our first trip, but each trip after that is sure to have more and more people. Rather, it seems like the criteria for granting permission is based on whether or not the students can work as a single team, so this year has a considerably excellent group of students.

We leave first thing in the morning, arriving at the foot of the mountain at around noon. After that, we enter a small cabin, where we're given one final explanation of what we're supposed to be doing, and then we eat lunch. After that, we're divided into teams and head off for the mountain. The schedule is fairly simple: we spend the rest of the day exploring the mountain, make camp for the evening, then return to the foot of the mountain by midday tomorrow so that we can head back.

This mountain doesn't have any monsters that could be classified as dangerous. Before the trip, the academy hires people to do an inspection of the mountain and confirm that this is, in fact, the case. Even a weak monster can become strong if it evolves, after all, so it's very important that the school confirms that this hasn't happened.

There are three main reasons for doing this exploration. The first is to teach us basic survival skills. The second is to gain first-hand experience of the kinds of environments inhabited by monsters. The third is to identify and collect various medicinal plants, learning about the ecology of the mountain. Since the purpose of this trip is to safely gather knowledge and gain useful experiences, going out of our way to deliberately attack monsters will cause our final grades to be penalized. If a monster attacks us, however, and we safely defeat it, then we'll gain bonus points. Ultimately, it is forbidden to purposefully provoke or attack monsters.

The groups we're divided into consist of four students and one teacher. Team selection is done by lottery, to prevent us from forming excessively unbalanced groups. Sue, Katia, and Yulie each wind up on separate teams. Meanwhile, I've been placed on the same team as Hugo. The four members of my team are myself, Hugo, Miss O (aka Filimes), and a boy named Palton, who is the son of a knight. When you include the magic instructor, Mrs. Oriza, we have five people in total.

Palton and I are acquainted, but aren't really close enough to call each other friends. Palton's father used to be a baron, but through many military exploits he improved his peerage and climbed up to the title of earl. He put Palton through very strict training growing up, so Palton has specialized in a lot of high-ranking physical skills. Both his physical strength and his grades are exceptional. He doesn't seem to think of himself as being particularly exceptional, so he constantly studies hard and trains harder. He's a very serious boy. When we interact, he acts like he's a mere retainer, so even though we talk, we're not really able to bond.

Mrs. Oriza is our middle-aged magic teacher. When she's in the classroom, it seems like she doesn't really want to be there, and that she's only putting up with it because it's her job. When she was assigned to supervise me and Hugo, she didn't even bother trying to hide the disgust on her face with having to do such a bothersome task. After all, the alarmingly bad blood between me and Hugo is very well-known. However, since she is, in fact, a teacher, her combat ability is more than high enough. Although she's a magic user, she has a variety of skills that are very well-suited for close-range combat, and her ability scores are far greater than that of any student. If something unexpected should occur during this outing, it's a teacher's job to protect her students, so there's no way that they would have sent someone weak to accompany us.

What surprised me was that Miss O, aka, Filimes, was diligently participating in these exercises. Frequently, she'd disappear from class without any warning. It seems like she was always going off to do some sort of secret mission, the details of which she'd never actually tell us. Since she was skipping class without even getting permission, I'm sure she must constantly be extremely busy. I'm very surprised that she'd come out here, effectively locking herself in one place for nearly two days to go on a field trip.

However, since Hugo is coming with us, I'm actually kind of relieved that she's going to be accompanying us too. She's the only person I know who's actually capable of stopping Hugo, probably including all of the teachers at the academy.

"Well then, let's get started right away. After you have finished with your lunches, please split up into your individual groups and be on your way."

With that final statement from the teacher in charge of the trip, the explanation assembly was over. We eat our lunches quickly, then organize ourselves into groups and prepare to head off into the mountains.

“Brother,” says Sue, “I must bid farewell for now. I will be so lonely.”

“Sue, it’s only one day. Don’t exaggerate so much.”

“Even a single day is a huge problem! I’ll be so worried that something might have happened to you where I can’t see you that I won’t be able to sleep at night.”

“I’ll be fine. They’ve already made sure that the mountain’s safe, so as long as nobody does anything reckless nothing bad can happen.”

I gently stroke her worried head. The mountain isn’t the danger I need to be looking out for. My fellow partymember is far more dangerous, but there’s no way I’ll tell her that, since it’ll only make her worry harder.

Katia briefly pulls me aside. “Shun,” she whispers, “Be very careful around Hugo, okay? That asshole seems to have totally cracked ever since he came to this world.”

“...Got it.”

Katia’s words echo in my head as we depart. He’s cracked. That’s certainly the case. The Hugo of today is absolutely not normal. He seems so dangerous that it wouldn’t be the slightest bit weird for him to try to do something while we’re out here.

The exploration proceeds smoothly, despite my worries. We don’t run into any monsters, and soon arrive at the area that we had planned to make camp at.

“Prince Slaine,” says Palton, “shall we make camp here?”

“That sounds good. We got here way more quickly than I was expecting.”

“That’s ‘cause you boys are so stro~ong,” hums Miss O. “It was hard for a girl like me to keep up with yo~ou!”

“Yeah, bullshit,” scoffs Hugo. “Oka, your stats are pretty great, right? No fucking way you get to whine about this.”

“O~oh, I think that a really good man would have pretended to be concerned, e~even if he knew that he didn’t need to!”

“I’m not gonna be the kind of man that pays close attention to every single woman.”

“Aa~ah, even the tough-guy type can say ‘yeah, sure, why not’, though!”

As Hugo and Miss O banter back and forth, Palton and I start setting up our camp. Mrs. Oriza watches us silently.

“Prince Slaine,” says Palton, “May I ask you to stand over there, please?”
“Ah, sure. Like this?”

“Yes, thank you. Next, please follow along like this.”<sup>1</sup>

“Aha! All finished. Thanks, Palton.”

“Not at all. This was, unfortunately, a task that I am not currently able to complete by myself, so I was unfortunately forced to trouble you for your help.”

“Palton, we’re both students at the academy. Social stature doesn’t matter. There’s no need for you to care so much about bothering me, okay?”

“We certainly may have different social stature, but I also personally respect you deeply, Prince Slaine. I am acting like this purely because I want to. Please, there is no need to apologize for my behavior.”

There is no arguing with Palton’s honest eyes, so I drop the subject. Sue has her own reasons, but what have I personally done to deserve that kind of respect? It really is strange.

Since we arrived earlier than anticipated, we have some time to kill after we finish setting up camp. We decide that we should spend some time to explore the surrounding area, splitting up to cover more ground but not straying so far from each other that we get truly separated. I’m initially opposed to going off on our own individually, but we eventually decide that we’ll remain in earshot of each other. That way, if anything were to happen, the rest of the party could immediately rush over to help.

And, so, I’m alone in the mountain. Collecting and identifying medicinal plants will give me extra credit towards this assignment, so I explore the area, searching for medicinal plants with Appraisal activated.

Then, I hear the sound of clashing weapons.

It’s coming from the direction where Palton was exploring. The sounds, however, are unnaturally quiet. I don’t know if it’s because the enemy’s weapon is specially constructed to be quiet, or if some sort of sound-dampening skill is being used, but they’re so quiet that an ordinary person wouldn’t be able to hear it at all. I, however, have Enhanced Hearing, and can hear them clear as day.

I immediately rush over to where Palton is fighting, only to be stopped by the figure of a boy standing imposingly in my way.

Hugo.

“Sup,” he says, a cocky smile on his face.

“What are you doing, Hugo? ...No, Natsume.”

“Well, you know... I’m thinking that right now would be a great time for you to make your exit.”

Hugo talks calmly, as if nothing special is happening at all, but I can’t stop tension from creeping into my voice. He’s saying some seriously unbelievable things with a perfectly straight face. I gulp, without thinking about it.

“You’re joking, right?”

“Does this look like a fucking joke? You’re an eyesore.”

In an instant, the smile vanishes from Hugo’s face.

“This world is mine. It was made for me. I am going to be the strongest, and I am going to rule it. And, yet, there’s you. Someone on my level, maybe even a little better. That’s not a good thing for me, you know?”

“What kind of nonsense are you talking about, Natsume? Nobody owns the world. Snap out of it.”

“Snap out of it? There’s nothing to snap out of. Isn’t this world amazing? If you have skills, you can do whatever you want! It’s like a dream. My dream. How could this world exist for any other reason but to be mine? Yeah, though. I don’t need anyone like you in my world. So, die.”

Hugo draws his sword. I have no choice but to do so as well. I activate Appraisal and look at his stats.

Human — LV 31 — Hugo Von Rengzand
Statistics:

HP: 628/628 (green)

MP: 566/566 (blue)

SP: 609/609 (yellow), 502/611 (red)

Avg. Offense: 608
Avg. Defense: 599
Avg. Magic Power: 546
Avg. Resistance: 522
Avg. Speed: 583

Skills:

[Automatic HP Recovery (LV 4)] • [Accelerated MP Recovery (LV 4)]
• [MP Consumption Reduction (LV 4)] • [Accelerated SP Recovery (LV 8)] • [SP Consumption Reduction (LV 8)] • [Mana Perception (LV 8)] • [Mana Manipulation (LV 5)] • [Battle Magic (LV 5)] • [Mana Allocation (LV 4)] • [Offensive Magic (LV 2)] • [Damage Enhancement (LV 7)] • [Slashing Enhancement (LV 7)] • [Bashing Enhancement (LV 4)] • [Greater Flame Enhancement (LV 4)] • [Battle Spirit (LV 7)] • [Willpower Allocation (LV 7)] • [Offensive Willpower (LV 7)] • [Greater Fire Attack (LV 3)] • [Paralysis Attack (LV 2)] • [Sword Skill (LV 6)] • [Throwing (LV 5)] • [3-D Maneuvering (LV 6)] • [Concentration (LV 9)] • [Prediction (LV 3)] • [Computation (LV 3)] • [Aiming (LV 8)] • [Evasion (LV 8)] • [Stealth (LV 3)] • [Silence (LV 1)] • [Fire Magic (LV 3)] • [Damage Resistance (LV 2)] • [Bashing Resistance (LV 2)] • [Slashing Resistance (LV 3)] • [Fire Resistance (LV 3)] • [Poison Resistance (LV 2)] • [Paralysis Resistance (LV 1)] • [Pain Resistance (LV 1)] • [Enhanced Vision (LV 10)] • [Telescopic Sight (LV 1)] • [Enhanced Hearing (LV 10)] • [Audible Frequency Expansion (LV 1)] • [Enhanced Smell (LV 8)] • [Enhanced Taste (LV 7)] • [Enhanced Touch (LV 8)] • [Greater Vitality (LV 5)] • [Greater Mana Pool (LV 4)] • [Body Flicker (LV 5)] • [Greater Endurance (LV 5)] • [Greater Strength (LV 5)] • [Greater Toughness (LV 5)] • [Greater Magic Power (LV 4)] • [Greater Resistance (LV 3)] • [Minor Teleportation (LV 5)] • [Emperor] • [n%I =W]

Skill points available: 350

Titles:

[Monster Slayer]

He's strong. Unlike me, his physical stats are very high. He's got a very stable sort of strength. On top of that, also unlike me, he's used a lot of his skill points proactively to acquire useful skills. The worst part of it, however, is his Emperor skill.

Emperor: Increases the effects of all skills. Furthermore, applies the corruption-attributed effect (Fear) when the user attempts to intimidate a target.

It seems like I can resist the intimidation-based Fear effect. The effect that boosts the effectiveness of all other skills, however, is some real foul play.

Hugo lifts his sword high, then swings it straight down on me. I block it with my own blade.

Ngh, it's heavy!

"Heh, I knew it. You never spent any of your skill points to get skills, did you? And you never bothered raising your level. Points are meant to be spent, bitch! Like this!!"

Hugo's sword is suddenly engulfed in raging fire, and he takes another enormous swing at me. I dodge out of the way, and it misses me by a hair's breadth.

"Man, if I keep doing flashy attacks like this, the others are bound to notice. Let's wrap this up quickly, okay?"

"You actually think you can wrap things up that neatly?"

"It's fine, it's fine! I'm the future ruler of the world, right? Everything I do will be forgiven. Also, I put in a lot of work on this! Right now, my subordinates should be just about done with taking care of the rest of the party. After I finish dealing with you, they're going to release a monster. A really strong one, too, one that's way more powerful than anything that really should be here right now. Here's how the scenario's going to look: we suddenly get jumped by a really strong monster and the poor, poor teacher and her students all get eaten, except for me. I defeat the monster, return to base camp, and nobody will be the wiser."

“What a sloppy plan. You think nobody will accuse you of anything?”

“Who? Who’d try? Bitch, this isn’t fucking Japan. I’m the next Sword Emperor! This whole thing might look a little bit fishy, but who the hell would dare say anything? That would be an international fucking incident if they did. You see how it is, right? This isn’t Japan, it’s not like every crime has to get reported here.”

I’m dumbfounded. This is a terrifyingly un-Japanese concept that’s coming out of Hugo’s mouth, and he seems perfectly okay with it.

“See ya. I’ll make sure to remember you, in the tiniest corner of my brain.”

An enormous, blazing flame erupts from his sword, and he lunges forward, stabbing straight for my heart. However, the attack never connects.

Hugo is suddenly thrown aside by a powerful blow.

“Natsume, you’ve gone too far.”

Devoid of its usual stupid affectations, a chilling voice sends shivers down my spine. An overwhelming aura presses down on me, entirely unsuited to the little elf girl that it’s coming from. There, at the edge of the clearing, Miss O has appeared.

“Your plan has already been ruined. We’ve captured every one of your summons, and the monster you brought along has been appropriately disposed of.”

“W... what?!”

“It seems like you’ve been keeping an eye on Shun, but you’ve completely underestimated me. I’m sorry, but I can’t have you rampage around like this any longer.”

She walks towards the fallen Hugo. When she gets close, he tries to take her by surprise, but he’s immediately smashed down into the ground, as if by an invisible fist. That’s undoubtedly the same attack that threw him off me before, probably some sort of powerful wind-type magic.

She places her hand on Hugo’s head. I can see currents of mana flowing. Some sort of spell is being placed on him.

“I invoke my authority as a Lord. By my command, I invoke the skill granted by my title. Do you consent?”

“I consent,” says Hugo, in a dead, flat voice entirely unlike his own. Was that magic just a little while ago the forbidden Corruption Magic’s hypnotism?!”

My shock does not end there. Instead, I only grow more and more shocked. Hugo’s Appraisal results are changing. Rapidly, his stats drain away. Then, one by one, his skills vanish. When it’s done, the only thing he has left is the mysterious corrupt-text skill.

“Wh...?! What did you do to me?!” he shouts, finally back to his normal self. “I lowered your stats and removed your skills.”

“Wh?! There’s no way you co—”

“Shun, his Appraisal results?”

“...It’s just like she said, Hugo. Your stats are all down to about 30, and your skills are all totally gone.”

“Wh... wha...”

“This world is not yours. I recommend that you think long and hard about what has happened here, then figure out how to live as a normal person from here on out. Even if you can become stronger with skills, I don’t think that’s a very good thing at all...”

Hugo is left in a stupor. My mind is in chaos.

---

After that, the exploration lesson was cut short. Palton and Mrs. Oriza are both unharmed. Things may have been very dangerous, but thanks to Miss O’s assistance, nobody was seriously hurt.

All of Hugo’s subordinates were caught and brought in, but not a single person claimed any ties to Hugo. Since he feigned complete ignorance as well, he got off scot-free. Was that decision made with international relations in mind? Once again, I’m forced to recognize that what’s common sense here is not at all what it is in Japan.

Incidentally, after I get back, Sue clings to me, crying until she’s completely exhausted.

---

Translator’s notes for this chapter:

1. Palton is remarkably vague here, and there’s no real description of how the campground is set up. Since it's largely unimportant (and I have no idea what the hell they could be doing at this point in the setup process), I haven't attempted to fill in the blanks.

---

Chapter 101

Wisdom

Wisdom: The power of n%, a strength almost rivaling that of the gods. Allows the user to gain knowledge of everything within their area of perception, up through the information provided by Inspection level one. Furthermore, allows for interference in the MA domain, surpassing the W System.

Lord of Wisdom: Acquired Skills – [Ultimate Magic] and [Celestial Power]. Acquisition criteria – Acquire the skill [Wisdom]. Effect – Increases MP, Magic Power, and Resistance. Increases the rate of proficiency gain towards magic skills. Grants the holder a Lord's Privileges. Description: A title awarded to those who rule over Wisdom.

Ultimate Magic: Provides assistance in controlling magic within the System and maximizes all ability scores relating to the development of magical formulae. Furthermore, maximizes the recovery rate of mana and minimizes its expenditure.

Celestial Power: Increases MP, Magic Power, and Resistance by one thousand. In addition, when leveling up, provides an additional increase to those statistics of one hundred.

Zoa Ere — LV 3 — (no name)

Statistics:

HP: 236/236 (green) (details) (21 up)

MP: 1431/1431 (blue) (details) (1120 up)

SP: 235/235 (yellow) (details) (20 up), 235/235 (red) +799 (details) (20 up)

Avg. Offense: 287 (details) (18 up)

Avg. Defense: 387 (details) (18 up)

Avg. Magic Power: 1365 (details) (1110 up)

Avg. Resistance: 1500 (details) (1110 up)

Avg. Speed: 1412 (details) (70 up)

Skills:

[Automatic HP Recovery (LV 6)] • [Ultimate Magic (new)] • [Accelerated SP Recovery (LV 3)] • [SP Consumption Reduction (LV 4)]
• [Damage Enhancement (LV 2)] • [Slashing Enhancement (LV 3)] •
[Poison Enhancement (LV 4)] • [Battle Spirit (LV 2)] • [Willpower
Allocation (LV 2)] • [Greater Poison Attack (LV 3)] • [Decaying Attack
(LV 1)] • [Poison Synthesis (LV 8)] • [Thread Talent (LV 3)] • [All-Purpose Silk (LV 1)] • [Thread Manipulation (LV 8)] • [Throwing (LV 7)]
• [3-D Maneuvering (LV 5)] • [Concentration (LV 10)] • [Accelerated Thought (LV 5) (1up)] • [Foresight (LV 5) (1up)] • [Multiple Wills (LV 1)
(new)] • [Rapid Computation (LV 1)] • [Aiming (LV 8)] • [Evasion (LV 7)] • [Stealth (LV 8)] • [Silence (LV 3) (1up)] • [Conviction] • [Hell] • [Corruption Magic (LV 3)] • [Shadow Magic (LV 3)] • [Poison Magic (LV
3)] • [Abyssal Magic (LV 10)] • [Patience] • [Pride] • [Overeating (LV
9)] • [Wisdom (new)] • [Night Vision (LV 10)] • [Visible Spectrum
Expansion (LV 3) (1up)] • [Damage Resistance (LV 2)] • [Bashing Resistance (LV 2)] • [Slashing Resistance (LV 3)] • [Fire Resistance (LV
3) (1up)] • [Greater Poison Resistance (LV 2)] • [Paralysis Resistance
(LV 4)] • [Petrification Resistance (LV 3)] • [Acid Resistance (LV 4)] •
[Decay Resistance (LV 3)] • [Fainting Resistance (LV 3)] • [Fear
Resistance (LV 8)] • [Corruption Immunity] • [Ignore Pain] • [Pain
Tolerance (LV 7)] • [Enhanced Vision (LV 10) (1up)] • [Telescopic Sight
(LV 5) (new)] • [Evil Eye of Curses (LV 3) (new)] • [Enhanced Hearing
(LV 8)] • [Enhanced Smell (LV 7)] • [Enhanced Taste (LV 7)] •
[Enhanced Touch (LV 7)] • [Divine Domain Expansion (LV 2)] •
[Celestial Power (new)] • [Greater Vitality (LV 1) (new)] • [Alacrity (LV 9)] • [Endurance (LV 9)] • [Greater Strength (LV 4)] • [Greater Toughness (LV 4)] • [Kartikeya (LV 3)] • [Taboo (LV 8) (1up)] • [n%I=

W]

Skill points available: 0

Titles:

[Filth Eater] • [Kin Eater] • [Assassin] • [Monster Slayer] • [Poison User] • [Silk User] • [Merciless] • [Monster Slaughterer] • [Lord of Pride] • [Lord of Patience] • [Lord of Wisdom (new)]

.....

After what just happened, I reeeeeeally don't want to be screaming about how amazing this is... Well, I still think this is really amazing, but I can't even get a little excited over it.

Nng.

Nnnng.

Nnnnnnnng.

NnnnNNNNGRAAH!

Argh, I can't take it! I can't keep up this half-hearted thinking! Because even if I think about it, nothing's going to happen! Even if jerks like these "systems administrators" exist, what the heck can I do about it? Absolutely nothing at all. What can a single spider do against these god-like beings?! Nothing.

So, just like before, I'm just going to keep on living however the heck I please. Stalkers? Peeping toms? Bring it. I don't know if you're administrators or gods, but you'd better pay close attention. Carve my life into your memories! I'll blaze bright in life, and burn magnificently in death! Watch me live!!

Captain Brain~!!

What is it, Captain Body?

We're on fire!

Hell yeah we're on fire! We're going to burn this place down!

No, I mean! We're literally, physically on fire!!

Huh?

The silk, the silk!

Uh, ah, AAAAH?!

We were so dumbfounded that we completely forgot to cut it!!

What are you doing?! If you've got time to tell me this, put us out!!

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Fire Resistance (LV 3)] has been raised to level 4.”

Hot?! HOT?!

Poison Synthesis!! Quickly!

Right! Come on, Weak Poison!

Argh?! I've gone numb!

Oh crud! I left the paralysis attribute in the Weak Poison!!

What are you doing?!

“Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Paralysis Resistance (LV 4)] has been raised to level 5.”

Hot! Numb!!

Don't just admire it! Ah! Nononononono!! Our health!!

We're going to die! We're seriously going to die!

...Ah, our health hit zero.

Wh-?!

Patience, activate!! I'm burning mana as a sacrifice, but I've revived a single point of health!

Whoa!

If we don't put out this fire, though, we'll run out again! How's that paralysis looking?!

Just a little... more... got it!!

This time, let's synthesize Weak Poison without the paralysis! Maximum quantity, too!

Whoa?! A torrent of toxic water?!

Oww. Our health took another hit.

Ah, but thanks to that the fire's out.

Ah, right. Well, we figured out how Patience's active effect works, so that turned out all right in the end, alright?

What about any of that seemed alright to you?

It's only bad if you think it's bad.

So, that was the first time our health hit zero, how was that?

It's only bad if you think it's bad.

You're right...

We've still got about half of our mana remaining, looks like.

We'd probably be dead if we didn't have Wisdom.

I'm so happy we got that.

Well, it really is Wisdom's fault that this happened in the first place.

It's only bad if you think it's bad.

Skills really are awesome.

No arguments here.

I have no idea why they made them or why they're distributing them, but let's take whatever we're given and make the most of it, right?

Absolutely. Yeah. Let's do exactly that.

---

Chapter 102

Lady Wisdom is no joke.

Well then! My Wisdom skill seems to take the effects of both Lady Appraisal and Mister Detection, add them together, and then do a little extra on top of that. So, of course, I must address her with the respect due to someone of such a level. She is Lady Wisdom.

First of all, the bonus data I'm getting is a "details" label that's been added to my stat screen. If I double-appraise that label, another display opens, showing the particulars of a specific stat.

For Attack and Defense, it lists the exact numerical values broken down by body type. According to that, it seems like the most powerful part of me, attack power-wise, are my sickles, and my defensive power is spread more-or-less evenly across my entire body. A few parts of my back are rated somewhat lower, but since I'm evasion-specced, I'll be fine as long as I don't slip up.

The Speed breakdown works more-or-less the same, but it's further divided into reflexive, instantaneous, and endurance speeds. They're all just about average, but my instantaneous speed seems just a little bit higher than the rest, overall.

And then, there's Magic. This... hm. It's broken down into a bunch of various sub-stats, like magical offensive ability, magical formula construction speed, magical formula stability, magical formula strength, and so on, but... all of them, with exception of offensive ability, are capped out.

They're all at 99,999. I'm going to leave the whole "that's not average at aaaall!" double-take aside for later, but I'm pretty sure that this is the effect of my Ultimate Magic skill. Its description says that it raises magical formula stats to their maximum, so that must be what this is. This right here is telling me to try out some magic, right?

Heh heh heh. Finally, finally, I can use magic!

Oh man. I'm super excited.

Well, for now, my first priority is to finish going over Lady Wisdom's results. I can't let myself get flustered.

Last, but not least, is my resistance stat. Its breakdown is probably the most important of them all. My resistance to every single attribute is clearly spelled out. I can use this to verify all of my biggest weaknesses.

My biggest weakness is, after all, fire. Even though I have the Fire Resistance skill, it's still my lowest resistance. Oh, by the way, it seems that when you have a Resistance skill, the corresponding resistance stat goes up.

Other than fire, it looks like my weaknesses are water, ice, and light. Ice, especially, is almost down as low as my fire resistance. I'm probably not going to take any ice damage while I'm down here in the middle strata, but I should keep this knowledge in the back of my mind.

On the flipside, my highest resistance score is for corruption. Well, I do have Corruption Immunity, after all. This stat is capped out at 99,999 as well. Next highest is poison, then, unexpectedly, darkness. It's higher than other things that I actually have Resistance skills for.

So, it's pretty clear what my strong and weak points are, resistance-wise, but I wonder if maaaaybe I can think of these as attack stats as well? Like, if I try to use magic for an attribute I'm weak against, like fire, I think that it might not be very effective. On the other hand, maybe my corruption and darkness magics are going to be really high-powered. This is still in the realm of speculation, but I think the chances of being right are pretty high.

That's about it for the details on my stats, but I can also now see more information about my skills. I can now see precisely what my proficiency levels are for each skill. Since it also tells me how many more points I'll need for the next level, I'll be able to be way more efficient when it comes to leveling up.

By the way, I can now see the proficiency levels on skills that I haven't acquired yet. Somehow, I can now see the entire list of skills, even those that I don't have enough points to buy. That was a real surprise. On top of that, it looks like every single restriction on the skills that I can purchase has been lifted. Even just scrolling through this entire list would waste an entire day.

Buried in that list are skills that cost such a ludicrous amount of points that I don't think I'll ever be able to buy them. They look like they're very high-performing skills, but I absolutely can't get them. As a joke, I asked the "Voice of Heaven"... wait, I wonder if I shouldn't keep calling it the voice of heaven, huh... Nah, "Voice of Heaven" is still fine.

Yeah, definitely, you're right. Uh, where was I? Oh! I asked the "Voice of Heaven" about whether or not there was an Immortality skill at some point a while ago, and there is, but now I can actually see how much it costs: 100,000,000 points. No waaaay... I've got no plans to save up for that.

Well, putting the unattainable skills aside, I should focus on picking up the skills that are actually both within my reach and useful. For now, I'll keep saving my points for Evil Eyes, but when I'm done with that, I'll start picking up some good-looking skills.

Also, Mister Detection got some nice buffs as well: I can now Appraise the information that I get from him. However, he already gives me information with more than enough precision for me, so I don't really feel the need to appraise any of it. Well, just because I can't think of a good reason to use it right now, that doesn't mean that I won't come up with something eventually, and having it doesn't really hurt me at all.

Finally, and this is the biggest thing out of all of them, somehow an auto-mapping feature got added in! Yaaaay! On top of that, it isn't just showing me where I've been since I picked up Wisdom. I can see every single place I've ever been, ever since I was born! This is amazing. This is seriously amazing. I now am in possession of a map of the Great Elro Labyrinth, or at least the parts of it that I've been aimlessly wandering through!

The Great Elro labyrinth is waaaay too huge, though...

I've got a map of the upper strata in which I started, a map of the part of the lower strata I fell down to, and a map of my progress so far through the middle strata. I was expecting that I'd only be looking at just a part of the broader whole when I put those together, but just this area alone is easily as big as Hokkaido.<sup>1</sup> And this is just one part, right? And, when I estimate just how much further I'm going to have to go to reach the upper strata, it seems that I still have a really long journey ahead of me. This is, of course, only an estimation, so there might be a pit or a hill somewhere that I could use to leave, but I definitely still have a long journey ahead of me.

Lastly, the words that were impossible to appraise? Still impossible to appraise.

---

Translator's notes for this chapter:

1. The second largest island in Japan, with a size of 32,221 square miles. It's a bit bigger than Belgium.

---

Chapter 103

Magical Kumoko ☆ Returns!!

I thought I was going to diiiiie... I mean, I did die, health-wise. If I didn't have Patience, I seriously would have died. If I were to die in such a ridiculously stupid manner, I wouldn't even get to die a blazingly brilliant death. Miss Administrator? If it's not too much trouble, could you please delete that last bit from the logs?

By the way, I managed to accidentally verify Patience's actual effect. It's not really accurate to describe it as a revival effect when my health hits zero. Instead, when I run out of health, my mana gets used as a substitute, allowing me to continue acting normally. Based on how much my mana got drained while I was on fire, it seems like it served as a one-to-one substitute for my health. So, if I take damage beyond what my health can handle, I'll spend that much mana instead. It's like my health and mana bars have been stuck together. So, if someone wanted to one-hit kill me, they'd need to also be able to blast through all of my mana in a single hit.

Thanks to Celestial Power, my mana reserves have grown way beyond normal levels, so you could say that I'm pretty darn tough right now. However, since I already had plenty of other uses for my mana, I should be thinking of this as insurance.

So, since Celestial Power has made my magic-related stats so amazingly high, it would really be a shame not to use it, right? ...So, next up on the list, is Ultimate Maaaagiiiic!

Yaaaay!

This skill is said to be the final form of the Mana Manipulation skill you've always dreamed of!

Whooooa, amazing!

But wait, there's more! Not only do you get Mana Manipulation, but as an added bonus, we'll bundle in every other mana-related skill, for no extra charge!

Wonderfuuuul!

As for the price? It's free, just for you, as a perk of earning Wisdom!

Wh... what did you saaaaay?!

So, there's no need to worry about purchasing it, since we've taken care of all that for you! Congratulaaaations!

Now then, this here Ultimate Magic. This is a seriously awesome skill. In essence, it's Mana Manipulation, Accelerated MP Recovery, and MP Consumption Reduction, all at max level, rolled into one skill. When I almost died just now, I used up over half of my mana, but it's fully recovered by now. I'm recovering something between two and three mana per second, so it takes me only about ten minutes to fully restore my mana bar. With this, I can use my mana basically as much as I want. Plus, since it also applies MP Consumption Reduction, everything I spend mana on (except Patience, of course) is now far, far cheaper. I can use it as much as I want, even if it's a waste. Even if I keep my Evil Eyes constantly active, there's basically no cost to them anymore. So, let's just keep them on constantly from now on.

And, all of this has just been setting the table for the main course: magic. ... Which I still don't know how to use. ...Or so I would have said, once upon a time! For now, I have learned the ways of soooorcery!

That's because I looked it up, using the Lady Wisdom's new functionality: search. She's no match for a certain great teacher,<sup>1</sup> but when I look up any keyword related to the skill system, she gives me a clear explanation of what it is. They finally got around to implementing the user manual that I've been constantly asking for! And, so, I used it to look up how to use magic. It seems that there's a few steps involved in actually casting a spell.

First up is perceiving the flow of mana. This corresponds to the Mana Perception skill. If you can't recognize the magical power around you in the first place, you can't actually gather it to use as fuel to power a spell. As such, this is the foundation on which magic use is built. Mana Perception is built into Wisdom, so I'm already set there.

Next is manipulating the mana. I imagine the mana flowing inside of me as kind of a thick liquid, then I make it move with my will. This is what Mana Manipulation does. The better you are at it, the more quickly you can make it move, and the more complex shapes you can form it into. Usually, you need to spend a long time gradually training your ability to manipulate mana, but thanks to Ultimate Magic I've instantly become able to move it around as much as I want.

Next is the construction of the spell formula. Every magic skill has a bunch of these built in, and will automatically construct the formula for you, based on your skill level, when you select a spell. If I were to try to describe a completed formula in simple terms, I'd say it was something like a pipe, I guess? The rate at which a spell formula can be constructed depends on your stats. Since my magical formula construction speed stat is maxed out, the formula is constructed instantaneously as soon as I select it, in a brilliant display of OPness.

Finally, when you've finished constructing the formula, you finish the spell by pouring mana into it. It's just like moving water through a pipe. When the mana comes out the other end of the pipe, it turns into a phenomenon that can affect the material world.

When you do this, you can improve both the magic's offensive power and its activation speed if you can pour more mana through the pipe or make it flow faster, respectively. However, doing so increases the load on the pipe. The amount and rate of mana that can pass through the pipe is based on its thickness, and if you try to force too much mana through a pipe that isn't sturdily constructed, it might burst under the pressure. If the spell can't handle the burden, it'll misfire at best, and explode in your face at the worst. The most powerful spells have very complex, delicate formulae that take a lot of time to construct, so the tendency for them to misfire is high. If you want to avoid this, you have to specifically build a much larger, much sturdier pipe. As for me, I have no problems with this, thanks to Ultimate Magic.

You have to go through this entire process every single time you want to cast a spell. Howeeeeeever! I, who possess Ultimate Magic, have no need to even consider such tedious requirements! I can make mana move as easily as I can move my body. As for spell formulae, I can construct even the most complicated of them in a single instant after selecting the spell from the list. I can cast a spell just as easily as pouring a glass of water!

And, so, since there's no monsters in the immediate area, I'm going to cast something that has an immediate, observable effect. Oh! That reminds me, I should check Shadow Magic, since that leveled.

Surface Shadows: Creates a shadow, even where there is light.

Whoa. Another questionable spell. Even after hitting level three, Shadow Magic is still only this effective, huuuuh... It's going to be completely worthless unless I raise its level a bunch, it seems.

Well then, let's give this magic thing another shot. I think Poison Bullet is a great first thing to try out. I could try Corruption Magic, but I don't have a target so it won't really be worth it. I could do something with Shadow Magic, but I don't think I'd be very impressed by the results. Abyssal Magic... well, going straight into that seems like it's too high of a hurdle.

Commence firing!

Magical formula constructed!

Mana flow established and connected! Poison Bullet: FIRE!

In basically no time at all, some kind of dark orb materializes in front of me, then shoots out with astounding force.

O... oh!! That was kinda way too quick, but that was magic! Amaaaazing. I'm a little emotional.

That poison bullet, however, isn't very powerful, because it isn't actually my Deadly Spider Venom. It looks like the Poison Bullet spell doesn't shoot my poison, but is instead a spell that shoots a bullet of poison. It seems to fire a special kind of poison that only Poison Magic can generate, and doesn't draw from my Deadly Spider Venom at all. On top of that, even with my current offensive magic stat, this magical poison can't even begin to compare to what my Deadly Spider Venom is capable of. The power can, of course, be raised if I pour more mana into it, but if I'm going to spend a lot of mana on poison I might as well just use Poison Synthesis. Even though I finally managed to learn some magic, there's not very much reason for me to actually use it...

---

Translator's notes for this chapter:

1. "Great Teacher Google" is a popular catchphrase.

---

Chapter 104

Magically Armed All-Purpose Soldier, Spider-Type

Well then, after I tested out Poison Magic's Poison Bullet spell, the next on the list was Poison Touch. I thought it was going to be a fairly straightforward spell that just did poison damage to a target I touched, but in spite of that there were still some pitfalls. It's got really good performance for a level-one spell, but when I use it, it hurts me too. It's what you'd call a self-destruct technique. Wait a minute, don't I have a lot of self-destructive techniques? This is something that I could probably use to specifically work on raising my resistances, but it's not something that I can use under normal circumstances.

Aaaah, although, I might be able to use it if I combined it with the level three Resist Poison spell, huh? Resist Poison gives me a temporary boost to my Poison Resistance stat, so if I have that up then I might be able to use Poison Touch. Well, it's not like I need to use this anyway, since I already have Poison Synthesis. There's no way I'd need to specifically use such a sad, low-power self-destruct technique. Its power level is low, too, so it won't even get me very much skill proficiency. I'm sure I can find some way to use Poison Bullet, but there's no waaaay I'll ever need Poison Touch...

I also tested out Shadow Magic. The results were... ah, boring, so I'll leave them out.

I can't really test anything from Corruption Magic without an opponent in front of me, so I think I'll have to try it out on whatever the next monster I encounter is. Though, these are all mind-affecting abilities, so I don't know if I'll even be able to tell if they worked, huh... If it's something like Phantom Pain, then it's probably obvious, but what about Disquiet? Phantom Insanity, is that, like Mad Enhancement?<sup>1</sup> If I drive a monster berserk, aren't I just powering it up? ...I'm hope that's not what's going to happen, but I should really be careful when I do test it out.

And, lastly, the final boss we've all been waiting for: Abyssal Magic.

The thought of trying this out makes my heart race. For many reasons. No matter how I think about it, I know this magic is going to be reeeeeeally bad news. I tried Appraising it again, now that I have Wisdom, but the explanation text didn't change. In the end, I still have no idea what this might actually do. I already know the obvious fact, which is that it's a top-ranked Darkness magic, but beyond that I don't know a single thing about it. If I can use it, it's probably going to have a tremendous amount of combat potential, but casting this without any idea of what's going to actually come out is bad for my heart.

Ultimate Magic means that there's no way I'm going to mess this up, but even still, my heart's racing. Regardless, my first step is to try the level one spell: Gates of Hell.

Ready! Begin spell formula construction!

...Huh? W... wait just one second! Even with Ultimate Magic, I can't actually maintain this?! What is with this insanely absurdly difficult spell formula?! Grh! It's no use. I couldn't maintain my control over the formula, and it unraveled as soon as my concentration slipped.

I want to complain about how ridiculous this is. After all, I have Ultimate Magic, which, just like its name implies, maximizes all of my magical skills. Even with that skill, though, this is all I get. If even I can't control this Abyssal Magic, how could anyone else in the whole world even come close? Also, if it's really this monstrously difficult to construct, what kind of terrifying effect is it going to have? If I can't even construct the level one spell, what even is Abyssal Magic? Why do I feel like the level ten spell, The Hell of the Traitors, would literally end the world? Ahahaha, there's no waaaay. No way, right? Seriously, no way, right?

However, I still can't even use the level one spell out of this. ...Ah, no. Giving up might be a little premature. Yes, this might be very difficult. However, I literally just learned how to cast spells a few minutes ago. I'm a beginner. Other magicians probably started from scratch, steadily honing their abilities over many years of dedicated practice in order to grind out this kind of skill proficiency, but I had this little bundle of OP spontaneously dropped in my lap. In other words, I'm completely unused to how it's actually supposed to work. I can probably use easy magic because of this skill, but my lack of actual experience makes it impossible for me to cast any higher-level spells. I think that's probably right.

If that's the case, then there's only one solution: practice!

Alright then, Commander Body!

Eh, I more-or-less already know what you want to say, Commander Brain.

You okay with that plan?

Hmmmm... if we do that, though, who's going to process all the information?

You can cover for me, right, Body?

I mean, I could, but having one person do the work of two is only going to make that work way less effective, y'know.

Hmmmm.

"Proficiency requirements met. Your skill, [Multiple Wills (LV 1)] has been raised to level 2."

Good timing!

Hello, me number three!

Hello! I heard what you two were just talking about. I'm here now, though, so everything's fine now!

Perfect! Alright then, number three, you're Commander Magic now!

Alright! Leave it to me.

So, when Multiple Wills levels up, the number of simultaneous consciousnesses in my brain increases as well. Commander Brain and Commander Body will still keep doing what they're doing. The brand-new Commander Magic will concentrate on practicing magic while we're moving around, focusing primarily on Abyssal Magic. Thanks to the Lord of Patience title, I should be able to level my magical skills pretty quickly, so if I work on Poison and Shadow magics too, then they might turn into something a little more useful at some point down the line.

On top of that, Commander Magic can help out in combat too by shooting off battle magic. On its own, Poison Bullet isn't really worth much, but when used in coordination with Commander Body's attacks it'll gain so much utility. I could use it as a feint, or to strike an unaware enemy... depending on the situation, there's so many different uses. Commander Brain then keeps track of the current situation, keeping everything coordinated. Truly, the Holy Trinity.

Once again, I can't help but think how amazing I am. Not only did my stats just go up a ton, but now I can also move freely around the battlefield while simultaneously launching magical attacks. I wouldn't want to mess with me. ... Huh? Aren't I actually super strong now?

---

Translator's notes for this chapter:

1. The term used here is 狂化, from the Fate/Stay Night series. Mad Enhancement is the skill unique to the Berserker class, massively strengthening a Servant at the cost of its reason.

---

Chapter 105

Do shut-ins dream of going outside?

A bunch of things happened, but my middle strata run is going pretty well. I've beaten up a bunch of monsters, leveled up a few times, and gotten quite a few skill levels.

In the middle of all that, Overeating finally hit level ten. I braced myself as the skill started evolving, hoping for Gluttony, but the new skill was instead called "Engorgement".

Engorgement: Allows the user to eat far more than their usual limit. When doing so, the user recovers HP, MP, and SP. Furthermore, any surplus is stored in a stockpile. This stockpile is stored as pure energy, so the user does not get fat. The maximum size of the stockpile is dependent on the skill's level.

Sure, it's not Gluttony, but this is still an amazingly efficient skill. In short, it takes the recovery effect that I already had for my stamina and applies it to my health and mana as well. It looks like the amount I can stockpile is lower than my actual stamina, but even that can't change how amazing this skill is. I'm happy that I've got another thing to bolster my low, low health total. On top of that, since I already have Patience, if my effective health and mana totals go up then my survivability goes way up too. My mana recovery is already pretty excessive, but if I can stockpile it, then it'll be a little less pointless.

Although, the whole not-getting-fat thing doesn't really mean all that much to me, because I, uh, never really got fat. Why not? The description for Overeating said that having a lot in your stockpile made you fat, and when I started to run up against the stockpile limits I was sure I was going to massively inflate, but I didn't get even the slightest bit fatter. I don't know if that was because spiders have any sort of special constitution, but I've ultimately decided that I'm just not going to worry about it any more since I'm not at risk of getting fatter anyway.

That's right. Before Overeating leveled up, I actually hit the maximum cap on how much I could have in my stockpile. It stopped at nine hundred, so I guess the cap was equal to the skill level times one hundred. Since it leveled up and evolved, I think the limit's probably been raised somewhat, but it's probably only up to one thousand. If I can't add any more to my stockpile, then everything I can't eat will just go to waste, and no child of Japan could bear to let that happen.

So, ever since, I've been doing things while moving around that are specifically designed to burn through my stamina. Specifically, I've been doing things like hopping, skipping, and running as I proceed forward through these caverns. Thanks to that, I've been accumulating proficiency to skills like Kartikeya. Kartikeya actually leveled up as a result of that, too!

Alacrity and Endurance both leveled a bunch until they hit their cap. They evolved! They turned into Greater Alacrity and Greater Endurance, respectively, and gained the level-up bonus that the other Greater skills have. With this, I'm now actually getting a permanent bonus to every single stat that I have when I level up. Well, not every stat; thanks to Wisdom my magic-related stats are ludicrously high, and my speed was already really high since I already had Kartikeya.

Hmmmm. Originally, I was a highly-maneuverable physical type, but if you look at my stats now I've become more of a highly-maneuverable magical type. This dramatic 180 is Lady Wisdom's doing, but me suddenly becoming a magic-type fighter is... questionable.

For now, I'm just leveling all of my various magic skills. They're going up, but my Deadly Spider Venom makes it all rather unnecessary. Ultimately, my venom is my actual trump card, and my magic is just being used as support.

Well, what can't be helped can't be helped. I've only managed to make it this far thanks to my spider silk and my spider venom. If I were to instantly acquire magic that's far superior to those two, I'd be left wondering what all of my hardships up until this point could possibly have been for. Aaaargh, I want to use my siiiilk... I can't use it at aaaall, even though it evolved into All-Purpose Silk. As soon as I manage to struggle my way back up to the upper strata, the first thing I'm going to do is finally make a freaking nest, then spend some time doing all of the skill experimentation that I've been putting off.

After that, I have literally zero idea what I'm going to do. Y'know, I said I wouldn't be bothered by this, but I just can't stop thinking about it... Administrators. Skills. If I really want to know about those things, I'm going to have to ask someone, some human, who knows what's behind those. What do the people of this world even think about these administrators? Heck if I know. ...Now that I think about it, I haven't ever communicated with a single other living being ever since coming to this world...

You've got meeee!
I'm here tooooo!
You jerks are me! I'm talking about another person! A-no-ther per-son!

There's yet another idiot in my head, yet I, the one in charge of the brain, can't make this suffering go away.

Where was I? ...Right! Communication. I barely ever actually communicated with anyone in my previous life, but I had access to all the information I needed as long as I had the Internet. Things are, unfortunately, a little different. Unfortunately, as great as Lady Wisdom is, her lookup functionality is limited solely to things related to the skill system. On top of that, if I try digging for the most important parts, that's all locked away. Everything that's even tangentially related to the administrators returns "impossible to appraise".

Come to think of it, I've never actually been outside the Great Elro Labyrinth ever since I was reborn. If you look at the big picture, I'm really still a shut-in, huh. Since I'm a shut-in with no actual information source, it's only inevitable that I don't actually know anything about the state of the outside world.

If I'm thinking of trying to learn more about the administrators, that means I need to leave this labyrinth and find some people in this world that I can talk to. However, since I'm a monster and can't actually, y'know, talk, having a conversation is kinda absurdly difficult.

Well, I can't fix the being-a-monster bit, but I might be able to do something about the conversation bit. I could, for example, buy the Telepathy skill. Another option is to evolve into a particular kind of monster.

One of Lady Wisdom's new functions is an evolution tree. Now that I can see that, it's easy to figure out at a glance what my future evolutionary possibilities are. Up until now, I've picked my evolutions based on whatever was immediately available at the time, but it seems like I somehow managed to make some pretty decent-looking decisions. Looking at the evolution tree, I can see that the Poison Taratekt line really is rare. My current form, Zoa Ere, is even more so.

Well, I'm doing well right now, but the real problem is a particular species that I can see way down that tree.

Arachne.

A monster with the lower body of a spider and the upper body of a human. A monster well known even in Japan. If I wanted to aim towards evolving into such a monster, I'd have a very long road in front of me.

If I had the upper body of a human, though, I could hold a conversation. The problem, however, is that I'd still be a monster, so I don't know if I could even get any humans to listen to me.

What do I doooo... Well, regardless, no matter how much I think about it, it's not something I can do anything about right now. The decision about whether or not to evolve is one that's a long ways away. If I can't even get out of the middle strata, there's no way I can make it outside. Thinking about this is definitely something I can put off until later.

---

Zoa Ere — LV 6 — (no name)

Statistics:

HP: 303/303 (green) +21 (details) (67 up)

MP: 2095/2095 (blue) +17 (details) (664 up)

SP: 316/316 (yellow) (details) (81 up), 316/316 (red) +938 (details) (81 up)

Avg. Offense: 343 (details) (56 up)

Avg. Defense: 441 (details) (54 up)

Avg. Magic Power: 1999 (details) (634 up)

Avg. Resistance: 2130 (details) (630 up)

Avg. Speed: 1746 (details) (334 up)

Skills:

[Automatic HP Recovery (LV 7) (1up)] • [Ultimate Magic] • [Accelerated SP Recovery (LV 5) (2up)] • [SP Consumption Reduction
(LV 6) (2up)] • [Damage Enhancement (LV 2)] • [Slashing Enhancement (LV 3)] • [Poison Enhancement (LV 6) (2up)] • [Battle
Spirit (LV 2)] • [Willpower Allocation (LV 2)] • [Greater Poison Attack
(LV 3)] • [Decaying Attack (LV 1)] • [Poison Synthesis (LV 8)] • [Thread
Talent (LV 3)] • [All-Purpose Silk (LV 1)] • [Thread Manipulation (LV 8)]
• [Throwing (LV 7)] • [3-D Maneuvering (LV 8) (3up)] • [Concentration
(LV 10)] • [Accelerated Thought (LV 6) (1up)] • [Foresight (LV 6) (1up)]
• [Multiple Wills (LV 2) (1up)] • [Rapid Computation (LV 2) (1up)] •
[Aiming (LV 9) (1up)] • [Evasion (LV 8) (1up)] • [Stealth (LV 9) (1up)] •
[Silence (LV 4) (1up)] • [Conviction] • [Hell] • [Corruption Magic (LV 5)
(2up)] • [Shadow Magic (LV 6) (3up)] • [Poison Magic (LV 6) (3up)] •
[Abyssal Magic (LV 10)] • [Patience] • [Pride] • [Engorgement (LV 1)
(new)] • [Wisdom] • [Night Vision (LV 10)] • [Visible Spectrum Expansion (LV 3)] • [Damage Resistance (LV 2)] • [Bashing Resistance
(LV 2)] • [Slashing Resistance (LV 3)] • [Fire Resistance (LV 4) (1up)] •
[Greater Poison Resistance (LV 2)] • [Paralysis Resistance (LV 5) (1up)]
• [Petrification Resistance (LV 3)] • [Acid Resistance (LV 4)] • [Decay Resistance (LV 3)] • [Fainting Resistance (LV 3)] • [Fear Resistance (LV
8)] • [Corruption Immunity] • [Ignore Pain] • [Pain Tolerance (LV 7)] • [Enhanced Vision (LV 10)] • [Telescopic Sight (LV 7) (2up)] • [Evil Eye of Curses (LV 6) (3up)] • [Evil Eye of Paralysis (LV 2) (new)] • [Enhanced Hearing (LV 9) (1up)] • [Enhanced Smell (LV 7)] •
[Enhanced Taste (LV 7)] • [Enhanced Touch (LV 7)] • [Divine Domain
Expansion (LV 3) (1up)] • [Celestial Power] • [Greater Vitality (LV 1)] •

[Greater Alacrity (LV 1) (new)] • [Greater Endurance (LV 1) (new)] • [Greater Strength (LV 4)] • [Greater Toughness (LV 4)] • [Kartikeya (LV
4) (1up)] • [Taboo (LV 8)] • [n%I=W]

Skill points available: 50

Titles:

[Filth Eater] • [Kin Eater] • [Assassin] • [Monster Slayer] • [Poison User] • [Silk User] • [Merciless] • [Monster Slaughterer] • [Lord of Pride] • [Lord of Patience] • [Lord of Wisdom]

---

Chapter S16

The Turbulence The Lies In The Shadow Of Peace

---

May contain disturbing content, see note 1 for details.

---

After that incident, Hugo no longer showed his face in class. It seems like he's still staying on campus, but ever since then, I haven't seen him even once. When I asked Sue and Katia, they said the same thing.

"He dared lift a finger against you, Brother. He should die for that."
"Sue. Don't say things like that so thoughtlessly. However, I can't believe that he faced no punishment at all."

The criminals that attacked Palton all refused to confess anything, then committed suicide in their cells. Since they were only in temporary confinement as they awaited transfer, they left the investigators unable to use the interrogation methods that they were preparing. By the way, and this is the important part, their confessions were going to be coerced through the use of a particular item: a cursed tool that was enchanted with the forbidden power of Corruption Magic.

Corruption Magic is a magic that violates its targets souls, so the Church has a strict prohibition against acquiring it. Anyone who does is hunted down by the church, and is either forced to live the rest of their lives under the Church's control or, if they're unwilling, executed on the spot. Naturally, cursed items that are imbued with Corruption Magic are strictly controlled by the Church as well, but if one submits a request for use to the Church, and the Church deems it an allowable use for the item, then they'll grant permission to use one for that specific task.

For this incident, the culprits were to be transported to the royal city, then their confessions were to be coerced using this item. They might have committed suicide because they knew that was going to happen. Once again, I'm shocked by how truly and fundamentally different this world is from the one I knew.

"Even if they cannot prove that Hugo was connected to the other attackers," says Katia, "he still did attack you, a member of another country's royalty. Do you not find it strange that he was not charged with any crime?"

I have no answer to that question. It's undeniable that he did attack me. However, he didn't face any punishment. This would be unthinkable in Japan.

"It's not strange at all. That's just how this world works," says Yulie. "You all have such lofty positions that you just haven't noticed it. In this world, your social standing has far more power than any of you would think. Since I used to be both an orphan and a commoner, I've had to see that so many times. A nobleman punched a man, and the man was executed for daring to bruise the nobleman's fist. A family sold vegetables that were infested with insects, and every single one of them was executed. This world is full of stories like that."

Katia and I were both completely speechless. It looks like maybe we don't actually know a single thing about how this world really works.

"Your difference in social stature is absolute. Hugo is the successor to one of the most powerful empires in the world. It's easy to make a little incident like this just disappear."

Katia wears a bitter expression. I'm sure my expression matches hers too.

"That's why the Divine Words are the true arbiter of equality," continues Yulie, earnestly. "The Divine Words don't discriminate against anyone. They bestow their blessings on everyone in the world equally! The Divine Words are the truth of this world, the light that shines brilliantly over all!"

Now that Yulie's switch has been flipped, there's no stopping her. Even if nobody's listening, she'll continue to sing the Divine Words' magnificent praises non-stop. Although I honestly did listen to her when we first met, by now I've gotten really good at pretending to listen while in reality completely ignoring everything she says.

As I tune out Yulie's fanatical praise, my mind drifts back to the situation with Hugo. What's that guy going to do from now on? His stats have been drained, and his skills have all been stripped away. Even his Emperor skill, which I think was the unique skill he got when he reincarnated like how I got Aegis of the Heavens, is gone.

The only skill he has left is that mysterious  $n\%I=W$  skill. Miss Oka made every other skill disappear. Did she specifically leave that there, or was she just unable to remove it? This mysterious skill seems to be characteristic of us reincarnated people. Katia and Yulie both have it. Miss Oka probably does as well. What in the world is this skill's significance?

This skill, however, still hasn't exhibited any kind of special effect at all. I have it, but it doesn't seem to do anything. A skill like that is pretty lackluster.

If you keep that in mind, Hugo has basically had every skill stripped away. His stats are on par with the lowest rank of monsters, and he has no skills to fall back on. To be perfectly honest, he's probably amongst the weakest humans alive.

I think it's inevitable that his weakness will be made known, someday, and I don't know what might happen to his future prospects when that day comes. If worse comes to worst, he might be ejected from his home country. The Rengzant Empire is a country where one's own strength is everything. Since Hugo's become so weak, will he really still succeed the throne?

If I think about it, perhaps this is divine punishment. Hugo was practically drowning in his own power, drunk on it to the point where his mind fell to ruin. If a man like that loses all of his strength, will he have anything left to live for?

If I didn't have Julius, Sue, and Katia around, would I have gotten swept up by my overbearing strength like Hugo did? I don't think it's impossible. Sure, I know people who are stronger than me, but even so I think I might be able to get drunk on my own power.

I'm probably quite strong right now. For Hugo to become as arrogant as he was, I'm sure that he didn't have anyone around him who was stronger than him, even in Rengzant, a country whose survival-of-the-fittest philosophy leaves it a constant battleground. Therefore, since I was about equal to him in stats (barring some differences between our magical and physical attributes), I think I must really be strong.

So, if circumstances were a little bit different, I might have been the one who turned out like Hugo did.

That thought makes me shiver. If that were the case, then maybe it would have been me who had all my stats and skills taken away by Miss Oka.

Miss Oka terrifies me, too.

Since I entered the academy and came of age, I've gradually picking up a few magic skills. Back then, though, if Miss Oka hadn't come to my rescue I don't know what I would have done. Whether I won or lost, it wouldn't have been the kind of battle where either of us could escape unscathed. Even if I'm a peace-loving idiot, in a situation like that, I should have been able to at least get off a counterattack. When it would have come time for the finishing blow, though, I know that I absolutely would have hesitated. That pause would definitely mean that Hugo, who wouldn't have hesitated at all, would have a much higher chance of winning than I would.

Miss Oka was able to wipe the floor with him without breaking a sweat. I'm pretty sure I'd stand zero chance against her either. What if, what if she tries to weaken me or Katia as well? I certainly don't have any way to stop her.

After that incident, she once again stopped showing up to class. Although that's not at all out of the ordinary for her, the fact that she did it immediately after such an incident makes it very suspicious.

What the hell is she doing, behind the scenes? How did she manage to get as ludicrously powerful as she did? What is she trying to do with all of that ridiculous strength?

I have no idea. It's incomprehensible to me. And even if I were to ask her directly, she definitely wouldn't give me an answer. On top of that, I'm scared that I might bring down her wrath on me if I were to rub her the wrong way.

However, although this is just my intuition, I don't think she's our enemy. Even though what she does in the shadows is a mystery to me, I think that at the very least she's not doing anything that I think would hurt us at all. I'm sure that, someday, she'll be able to explain everything to us, even if she can't right now. I just need to keep trusting her and wait for that day.

"And that's why I think you should join the Divine Word religion too, Shun!"

While I wasn't paying attention, Yulie seems to have grabbed my hand and is clasping it tightly.

"Ah... I see how amazing the Divine Words are, but I can't let myself get involved."

Sue silently glares at Yulie, sending out a tangible pressure. Yulie suddenly breaks into a cold sweat and lets go of my hand. Lately, Yulie has been getting physically close to me whenever she zealously encourages me to join the Church of the Divine Words. Each time, I gently turn her down, but she never gives up. Every time this happens, Sue looks like she's about to explode with rage, making my heart flutter with nervousness, so I wish Yulie would just stop already.

Hm? It's not weird for Sue to be glaring at Yulie, but Katia has a sort of complicated expression on her face. In times like these, she usually just looks amazed as she watches on from a distance, but what's going on now?

"Katia, is something up?"

"Oh? There is nothing wrong. Should I ask the same of you, Shun?"

"Well, you just had a kind of complicated look on your face."

"Haahh. Is that not a normal state of affairs?"

"Oh, really? If you're not feeling alright, say something, okay?"

"Alright. Please do not worry."

Well, if she says nothing's wrong, nothing's wrong. I turn around to see that Sue and Yulie now have that same complicated look.

"And now you two! What's up?"

"Nothing in particular."

"Um?"

Sue and Yulie exchange glances, with that strange look on their faces. I have no idea what to think about this. Eventually, every one of us leaves, heading for our respective destinations, wearing complicated looks.

---

“What do you think, Sue?”
“It’s nothing, still. But not impossible.”
“You really think so?”
“It would be bad. It would be really bad.”
“Yeah, it would be. Really, really bad.”
“We can’t stop it.”
“This might be a truly difficult battle.”
“Mm. It hasn’t happened yet.”
“You’re right. The two of us have to pray that it never comes to pass.”

---

“Fuck! Like hell I’m finished! This world is MINE! Mine, only mine! It was made for me! I’m not just going to roll over take this shit! Never! I’m not going to fucking stop until everything is mine!!”

“Proficiency requirements met. You have gained the skill [Desire (LV 1)].”

“That fucking elf! I’m going to get her for this! I’m never, never going to forgive that piece of shit!”

“Proficiency requirements met. You have gained the skill [Anger (LV 1)].”

“I am going to take everything from that bitch like she did to me!”

“Proficiency requirements met. You have gained the skill [Plunder (LV 1)].”

“Just you wait. I am going to smash everything you love! And then I’m going to rape that fucking bitch raw until she screams, and I’ll fucking laugh the entire fucking time!!”

“Proficiency requirements met. You have gained the skill [Lewdness (LV 1)].”

“Just you fucking wait! I am going to take back this entire fucking world!”

---

Translator’s notes for this chapter:

1. Content advisory: one character threatens to rape another. You probably shouldn’t glance up if you’re worried about this, it’s three lines above this warning.

---

Chapter 106

Another Eel

Wooooow. This is a bad place to be. Ahead of me stretches a single enormous lake of magma. With no road running through it.

Did I take a wrong turn, I wonder? The center strata seem to be just a single, long passage, though. It's over a kilometer wide, though, so maybe "passage" is the wrong word.

Regardless, I need to find some way to cross this enormous lake of magma in front of me. Luckily, even though there's no actual road, it looks like there's a few tiny islands dotting the surface. Thanks to my jumping capability, I should be able to bounce from island to island, and in the worst case I should be able to stick to the ceiling and crawl along that way.

I can break past this barrier because I'm me, but this'll be impossible for a human, right? I guess the upper strata really is as far as people can go, huh... If I think about it, there's no waaaay the average person can make it through this labyrinth, which spans an area bigger than Hokkaido... unless, of course, they were the Hero or the Chosen One or possessed some sort of Great Legendary Power. I don't know if those even exist, though. Maybe an Administrator might take a fancy to a particularly handsome, strapping youth and grant them special power. Ugh, that's so unfair! If something like that exists, give it to me too! ... You won't, you say? Oh, I see. That's just what I figured, huh...

Aaaah. I lost track of reality for a second, huh. So when I was saying that I should be able to blitz through this, I was only talking about the act of physically making it over the magma. What makes this a bad place to be isn't that; it's the swarms of monsters that lurk deep within the lake.

This lake has a depth befitting of its enormous size. It seems to be almost two hundred meters deep. Shouldn't magma start cooling down and hardening when it pools up in such quantities? Well, you'd think that, but that doesn't change the reality that there's actually a lake of magma right here.

So, in this deep, wide lake, there are a ton of monsters. If they were all small fry it would be just fine, but there are some actually dangerous-looking ones mixed in there too. I can even see an eel-like silhouette swimming through my Detection sphere.

This is baaaad. What I really want to do is ignore all the monsters and just race through this, but based on my experience so far I'm definitely going to wind up getting caught up in this danger zone. The footing is bad. There's nowhere to run. If I fall, I'm out. There's tons of enemies.

This ain't good. There's no waaaay yer gettin' me through that. Not when my danger sense keeps pingin' and pingin' like this...

But, if I don't clear this hurdle, I can't keep going forward. What the heck is up with this labyrinth? Is it designed to be unbeatable? Are you telling me I should die? Perhaps this is God's way of telling me I should die right here. Administrators, did you do this to me?!

Haaaah. Right! Let's go. I'll pick whatever path it takes to avoid as much combat as possible.

Strategy: Let's keep blazing forward!
Amendment: While staying alive!

That being said, step one is to jump to the nearest island. A perfect landing! An eel suddenly breaks the surface of the magma.

Oooooiii?!

But I have no time to panic! That eel may be strong, but I think I'm strong enough to beat it now! I'm trying to be safe, though, should I run away?

Commander Body, Commander Magic, what do we do?!
[The footing is really bad. I vote to flee.]
{Agreed. No need to fight where we're at a disadvantage.}
Right, let's get out of here! [Yes, sir!]
{Ready to support!}

And so, let's goooo! ...As soon as I think that, though, I realize that the eel is behaving kind of strangely. I'm sure it's noticed me, but it's not attacking at all. ...No, it's in a pose like it's about to attack, but... it isn't moving. Huh?

[Commander Brain, isn't this paralysis?]

Aha, you're right! That's right, that's right. When I hit level five, I bought the Evil Eye of Paralysis.

I was originally thinking that I was going to maybe pick up the Evil Eye of either Destruction or Petrification, but I ultimately gave up on that. Instead, I decided to go with the Evil Eye of Paralysis, because I know very well just how dangerous it is, having experienced it firsthand. It's dangerous. You can't move. Thanks to that, I came very close to death. You could even say that I did die, in terms of my HP.

If you look at the Evil Eye of Destruction, it really does have a ton of offensive power, but based on what happened when I tried to use Corrosion Attack, I'm scared that I'll wind up damaging myself too. Plus, if I use it on the small fry, there won't be a body left after they're dead, so I won't be able to eat them.

It's the same thing with the Evil Eye of Petrification. After all, I can't eat rocks. Plus, although I know how effective petrification is after fighting that petrifying lizard way back when, and although it really is a huge hindrance, it actually takes a lot of time for it to take effect. I could turn a single part of the creature's body to stone, and it would certainly be a disadvantage for my opponent, but it doesn't make any real big advantage for me. If I had to choose between making it so my target can't use a single limb versus freezing in place altogether, then paralysis is definitely the way to go.

In short, I decided that my second Evil Eye was going to be Paralysis. Just like the Evil Eye of Curses, it costs mana to leave on once it's activated. However, the effects of both Ultimate Magic and Engorgement make it so that I'm actually still gaining mana even while I've got both of them active.

Oh, by the way, about my Engorgement stock: it turns out that the extra health and mana I receive from my automatic recovery skills actually get added to my stock. Super convenient. Thanks to that, I'm able to save up health bit by bit. It's slow going, though, since it has to overcome all of the heat damage.

Since my mana keeps rapidly filling back up, I've been spending it just as quickly. There's a skill, Battle Magic, that consumed mana to temporarily raise all of my physical stats. I wanted to try earning it, so I circulated mana throughout my body, and was able to acquire it relatively easily. I've got this on basically all the time as well. There's a similar skill, Battle Spirit, that spends stamina instead of mana. I only have turn that on occasionally, after checking with my current stamina levels.

Finally, Commander Magic has been spending mana on constantly practicing Shadow Magic. Right now, though, she's been using Poison Magic against the eel. Paralyzed, the eel has no choice but to get hit by the poison, and between that and the steady erosion from my curse it finally breathes its last.

"Experience requirements met. Zoa Ere, you have grown from level 6 to level 7. Every ability score has been increased. Acquired bonus skill proficiencies from leveling up: your skill [Thread Talent (LV 3)] has been raised to level 4. You have acquired additional skill points."

"Experience requirements met. Zoa Ere, you have grown from level 7 to level 8. Every ability score has been increased. Acquired bonus skill proficiencies from leveling up. You have acquired additional skill points."

My precious, precious meat starts sinking beneath the magma, so I use my silk to pull it back up. Since my silk catches fire so easily, I have to quickly cycle between snagging it and pulling it up until I finally get it onto solid ground. I actually think that might have been harder than the fight itself.

The eel, which was such a close fight before, was brought down so easily this time. I've gotten reeeeeeally strong, haven't I.

---

Chapter 107

Master of the Sea of Flames

Eh heh heh. Now that I know that even eels aren't the slightest bit threatening, there isn't a single living being down here in the middle strata that could possibly defeat me! ...Ah, except for Mother. No way I can beat her. Nope.

However, the eels are practically the most preeminently powerful foes down here, so I wonder if there's even anything left down here that could be my opponent? I'm sure it would be an entirely different story if I was still in the lower strata, but I think it's really the terrain of the middle strata that's my biggest enemy down here. The monsters are noooooot that big of a deal. There's a few catfish-class monsters here and there, but there are barely any eels at all. Or, perhaps I should say that there's nothing here but eels.

If eels are like sitting ducks to me now, there isn't anything in the middle layer that could defeat me, is there? So, as a result, I've been actively hunting monsters in the magma lake. If even the eels can be brought down when they're paralyzed, then fights against any average foes are instantly decided the moment I paralyze them. I've been wanting a new restriction method ever since I stopped being able to use my silk, so I definitely made the right choice in picking up the Evil Eye of Paralysis.

Speaking of evil eyes, although I earned a bunch of skill points for leveling up, I'm holding off on purchasing a new evil eye for now. The rest of the evil eye line up is... questionable, after all. There's the Evil Eye of Destruction, which might be a suicide attack. There's the Evil Eye of Petrification, which would make parts of my enemies inedible. And there's all of the Evil Eyes of Mimicking Corruption Magic, which are pretty pointless now that I've learned how to actually use, y'knooooow, Corruption Magic.

Anyhow, so that's why I'm saving up my skill points for a superior skill. I've actually already decided what it's going to be! Aaaaah, I'm waaaay looking forward to unlocking it! Eh heh heh.

In excellent spirits, I advance through the lake of magma. However, there haven't been any monsters coming up to visit me ever since that one eel at the start. They're all hiding deep in the magma. Did I maybe overdo it a little with the theatrics? The amazing spider who can strike down an eel, the boss-class monster of the central strata! Yeah. If I were one of the monsters living down here, I wouldn't attack me either.

Aw maaaaan... I've really done it this time, haven't I? I can't do aaaanything to those guys from up here while they're hiding down there in the magma. Weeeell, I guess there's nothing I can do... I mean, I want to be earning some experience points and leveling up, but those guys have their own lives to live, too. I'm not going to go easy on any of them that decide to come at me, but I guess I can overlook the ones that are trying to hide. They should be grateful, you know?

I keep advancing forward for a while, thinking about whateeeever, when my danger sense pings. I sweep the area with my other senses, searching for the source of the reaction.

Found the target individual. It's approximately one hundred meters away from me, about thirty meters below the surface of the magma, a murky shadow of something huge. Now that ain't good. That's obviously way bigger than the eel. Down there, a monster that's probably twice as long as an eel.

This might be a liiiittle bad. Commander Body, Commander Magic, ready countermeasures!

[We're not running?]

{The footing here is terrible, shouldn't we escape?} Aaaaah, there's lots of reasons I want to think that, too, but I don't think that thing'll let us escape.

Other monsters are arranging themselves along my escape route, perhaps because this new foe has one of those bloodline skills. That's why I can't help but think that it doesn't want me to run.

[Ugh. This is bad, huh?] Yep, this is bad. {With how it's arranging monsters like this, it looks like it's really smart too?} Yyyep.

Then, slowly, the monster raises its head out of the magma.

Elro Genesoka — LV 17

Statistics:

HP: 2331/2331 (green) (details)

MP: 1894/1894 (blue) (details)

SP: 2119/2119 (yellow) (details), 2315/2315 (red) +264 (details)

Avg. Offense: 1999 (details)

Avg. Defense: 1876 (details)

Avg. Magic Power: 1551 (details)

Avg. Resistance: 1528 (details)

Avg. Speed: 1657 (details)

Skills:

[Fire Drake (LV 9)] • [Reversed Scale (LV 2)] • [Automatic HP Recovery (LV 2)] • [Accelerated MP Recovery (LV 1)] • [MP Consumption Reduction (LV 1)] • [Accelerated SP Recovery (LV 3)] • [SP Consumption Reduction (LV 3)] • [Greater Fire Attack (LV 5)] • [Greater Flame Enhancement (LV 3)] • [Damage Enhancement (LV 2)] • [Bashing Enhancement (LV 4)] • [Coordination (LV 5)] • [Command (LV 7)] • [Aiming (LV 10)] • [Evasion (LV 10)] • [Probability Compensation (LV 8)] • [Presence Detection (LV 4)] • [Danger Sense (LV 7)] • [High-Speed Swimming (LV 7)] • [Overeating (LV 8)] • [Bashing Resistance (LV 6)] • [Heat Nullification] • [Greater Vitality (LV 1)] • [Alacrity (LV 8)] • [Endurance (LV 9)] • [Greater Strength (LV 1)] • [Greater Toughness (LV 1)] • [Magic Power (LV 4)] • [Resistance (LV 4)] • [Speed (LV 5)]

Skill points available: 11,250

Titles:

[Monster Slayer] • [Monster Slaughterer] • [One Who Leads]

A dragon has risen from the flames. It's even more dragon-like than the eel was. This is a proper dragon. Based on the way its skills are structured, it's probably yet another evolutionary stage beyond the eel. This thing is beyond me picking some fish name for it. It is a true, genuine, fire dragon.

Aaaah. Well ain't this guy bad news. It still can't even hold a candle to Mother, but it is strong. Can I even beat it?

Reversed Scale<sup>1</sup> is the upgraded form of Dragon Scales, so its a simple increase in effectiveness. It hasn't really bothered me so far, but Dragon Scales reduces the power of incoming spells by interfering with their constructed spell formulae. The eel's scales weren't strong enough to disperse my Ultimate Magic, but this fire dragon's Reverse Scale might very well be strong enough to do so.

That dreadful combination of Aiming and Probability Compensation that I had so much trouble with when I fought the eel is looking pretty good, too. On top of that, now it's got Evasion.

On top of that, it's fully equipped with all of the fire-attribute attacks I'm so weak against.

And on top of that, and this is the most dangerous part, are the Coordination and Command skills.

One by one, monsters rise from the magma, framed in my Detection. Coordination and Command do exactly what their names imply. Coordination increases your ability to coordinate, and Command keeps subordinates in line. These are both skills granted by the "One Who Leads" title, but that title is also pretty disastrous: it somewhat increases the stats of every monster under the dragon's command.

I, surrounded on all sides by monsters.
The fire dragon, in command of those monsters.
And so, the curtain rises on the battle between the spider and the army of the fire dragon.

---

Translator's Notes for this chapter:

1. In eastern mythologies, dragons are said to have a single scale on their throats that grows in the opposite direction to the others, the "Reverse Scale" (逆鱗). Touching this scale sends the dragon into a mad rage.

---

Chapter 108

Master of the Sea of Flames (2)

Well then, Commander Body?

[This is rough. Not having any footing is the worst.]

For now, focus entirely on evasion, Commander.

[Got it!]

And I'm sure you know this already, but try to keep the dragon in our line of sight as much as you can.

[I'll do my best, but evasion is my number one priority.]

That's fine with me. We can still win, even if our Evil Eyes get interrupted a bit. Commander Magic?

{How about I focus on intercepting incoming attacks and clearing out the small fry?}

Got it. Let's crank up our collaboration level to the max, it'll let me transfer information immediately.

[{Roger!}]

We increase the collaboration level to its maximum, and my three consciousnesses overlap. At times like this, we can't have the slightest bit of miscommunication. However, there's no problem with doing this at all. After all, all three of us are still me. There's no way my opinion would contradict itself.

First things first, I need to establish more footholds for myself. Right now, I'm on a tiny island. There's not as much room as I'd like for evasion. However, although there are other islands I could move to, the magma around them is swarming with monsters. If I were to try to jump to one, it's likely that I'd get intercepted in midair.

Despite the fact that I'm still thinking, the fire dragon lets out a mighty roar.

At its signal, all of the monsters launch an enormous barrage of fireballs at me simultaneously. I leap into the air, and the island I just stood on disappears beneath a sea of fire. More fireballs shoot towards me as I soar through the air, but I shoot them down with Poison Bullet. Poison Bullet actually has some amount of physical strength behind it. Out of all of my spells, it's the most suited to intercepting fireballs.

I fire a strand of silk to the ceiling, and immediately latch onto it, escaping to the ceiling. I immediately start moving, using Poison Bullet and Poison Synthesis to scatter poison beneath me. Poison Bullet is my precision strike. Poison Synthesis, outputting at maximum volume, is my area attack.

My synthesized poison rains down from above on the monsters in the magma below. Just like that, they start thrashing madly, dying.

However, the monsters' fireballs still fly towards me. I kick off from the ceiling, diving towards an island beneath me, launching Poison Bullets to intercept the incoming fireballs. I land on this new, safe island, then instantly launch myself back up to take refuge on the ceiling.

A fireball much larger than the others strikes the island where I had just been standing. The fire dragon's fireball. That was probably either the Blazing Fireball move it learned at level five of the Fire Drake skill, or maybe the Grand Fireball it learned at level seven, though I don't actually know which it is. I'd prefer if that was Grand Fireball, but if that was Blazing Fireball then there's an even bigger fireball attack that it can do. Regardless of what it actually is, though, if I had gotten hit, I would have been out immediately.

Avoiding and intercepting the ceaseless barrage of fireballs, I scatter my poison.

"Experience requirements met. Zoa Ere, you have grown from level 8 to level 9. Every ability score has been increased. Acquired bonus skill proficiencies from leveling up: your skill [Battle Spirit (LV 3)] has been raised to level 4. You have acquired additional skill points."

Oh crap?! I've started molting. Thanks to that, my movements slow down for an instant.

The monsters land a direct hit on me.

Grrgh. That did some good work on me, but I can endure it. I'm glad it was one of the small fry's fireballs. It may have massively drained my health, but not to the point where it would actually kill me.

I never thought that molting when I leveled up would ever actually hurt me. It's only ever been helpful so far. This timing was atrocious.

I run around on the ceiling, jump down to an island, then leap back up to the ceiling, repeating that over and over. That ordinary-seeming 3-D Maneuvering skill that's been slowly leveling up is really showing its utility. My stats have also gone way up, so I can actually crawl along the ceiling much more smoothly than I could when I fought against that eel. I'm still slower up here than I am on the ground, but I'm still fast enough that dodging the fireballs from the small fry with no problems at all.

The problem here is that there are three eels and a fire dragon down there. I can't eat even a single attack from any of those four. If I do, there's a good chance I'd be taken right out. Anyhow, for now I'm going to continue focusing on evading, buying myself some time. If I can stall for long enough, my victory is assured.

One of the eels rears its head back. It's about to breathe its Flame Breath. I, however, won't allow that.

I invoke Corruption Magic, casting its fifth-level spell, Hypnotism. The eel, who had been about to blast me with its fiery breath, turns instead to its neighboring eel and fires. Eels have Heat Nullification, so it didn't have any direct effect, but I managed to interfere with its actions.

Hypnotism is a spell that temporarily forces my target to obey my orders. Against a monster as powerful as an eel, it only lasts for a moment, but that's more than enough time to redirect its attack to another target. However, casting it requires constructing an extremely complicated magical formula, and uses a tremendous amount of mana that scales with the toughness of the target. It's not the kind of magic that I could reasonably deploy in combat if I didn't have Ultimate Magic.

On top of that, even if I can control an eel for a split second, it has no effect against a dragon at all. I have no choice but to give up on attacking it and focus entirely on evading its attacks.

I escape to the ceiling, and the fireballs follow me. This game of tag seems to stretch on forever. Since I've been fighting this battle while constantly fleeing, we're very far from where we first started this fight.

However, this game is about to be over.

One by one, the small fry are dropping out. They simply can't last any longer, not when I've been constantly casting the sixth-level Poison Magic spell, Poison Mist.

Just as its name implies, Poison Mist causes a mist of poison to spread out. The liquid poison I create with Poison Synthesis actually loses much of its effectiveness once it evaporates. However, I can cover that weak point with a magic that disperses the poison over a large area, which is Poison Mist. It is nowhere near as powerful as Deadly Spider Venom. However, if anything stays inside that mist for too long, then the poison will slowly, steadily devour it. So, as time passes, the weaker monsters have started dying off, no longer able to bear it.

“Experience requirements met. Zoa Ere, you have grown from level 9 to level 10. Every ability score has been increased. Acquired bonus skill proficiencies from leveling up: your skill [Poison Magic (LV 6)] has been raised to level 7, and your skill [Poison Synthesis (LV 6)] has been raised to level 7. You have acquired additional skill points.”

“Requirements have been met. You have earned the title [Drake Slayer], and have been awarded the skills [Vitality (LV 1)] and [Draconic Power (LV 1)]. Your new skill, [Vitality (LV 1)], has been integrated with your existing skill, [Greater Vitality (LV 1)].”

Now then, I'm just down to the fire dragon, which I have been constantly weakening with my Evil Eyes, and the three drakes. How should I cook them?

---

Chapter 109

Bringer Of Terror

My victory is guaranteed.

The peons have been swept away. The higher-ups are weakened. The top brass isn't even an enemy anymore, just something to be dealt with. These guys don't have anything left to make a sudden turnabout.

There aren't any reinforcements coming, like they did with the monkeys. On the contrary, there's nothing in my Detection range but creatures fleeing desperately from me. Huh, I never thought that I, who always ran away, would become someone to run from.

The fire dragon should know it by now, how things are going to turn out. However, because it is a dragon, with a dragon's fiery spirit, even though it's been weakened, even though its subordinates are dying one by one, it still refuses to give in, defiantly continuing to challenge me. If this were a sports game, I'd applaud its willpower. However, this is a killing game, a war, and I can only say that it is an incompetent commander. The catfish look like they want to flee for their lives, but thanks to the dragon's Command, in the end they're trapped here as I kill them all.

Even the eels look like they want to run, now. However, the dragon still burns with a desire to fight. This sheer recklessness makes me think that it's regressed to the mentality of a seahorse.

I'm sorry it's come to this, but that fighting spirit will soon be worthless.

The three eels and the dragon are all that's left, trapped by my Evil Eyes. The Evil Eyes of Paralysis. If I use the same eye power out of multiple eyes, there's no added effect if I'm targeting a single monster. However, when I have multiple opponents, every single eye can target a separate foe. Plus, I have a total of eight eyes, so I can target up to eight enemies at once. Neither the huge crowd from before nor the four foes that remain have any defense against my Evil Eyes.

One of the amazing things about the Evil Eye of Paralysis is that the paralysis constantly stays active as long as I keep the Eye trained on them. With things like my paralytic venom, it starts to wear off after a while, and the grip of paralysis slackens. However, this doesn't happen with this Evil Eye. Once I've overcome my opponent's resistance, their chances to break out by sheer power become extremely limited.

Over time, they start to accumulate proficiency points towards Paralysis Resistance, but it would take a very long time for them to be able to overcome the power of my Evil Eye. I wonder how many times my Deadly Spider Venom could kill them before that happens? After that, I can bake them or grill them however I like. ...Well, since they have Heat Nullification, there's actually no way for me to bake or grill them, huh.

I drop from the ceiling to stand on the island closest to the dragons. I stretch out my threads and start to drag the eels to me. Aaaah, how I long for threads that won't burn up. With great pains, I toil.

As I work, the fire dragon grits its teeth, struggling to resist, while the eels tremble in despair, knowing that they're not long for the world. I was thinking about this back when I fought the monkeys, but if something comes at me with the intent to kill me, I want it to be prepared to be killed instead.

What about me? Nah, if it looks like I'm about to die I'll just run away. I don't need that kind of resolve.

So, I drag the dragons and the eels up onto the island with me, then finish them off. First are the eels. Since they're paralyzed so nicely, I pick one of them and pour my Deadly Spider Venom straight down its throat. Even though it's paralyzed to the point where they can't move at all, it still gives off one last big spasm as its strength fades away.

“Experience requirements met. Zoa Ere, you have grown from level 10 to level 11. Every ability score has been increased. Acquired bonus skill

proficiencies from leveling up: your skill [3-D Maneuvering (LV 8)] has been raised to level 9. You have acquired additional skill points.”

The other eels grow stiff with fear as they watch this dreadful scene. Don’t be scared, eels. I’ll help you die as painlessly as possible.

I fill the second eel with my Deadly Spider Venom.

“Experience requirements met. Zoa Ere, you have grown from level 11 to level 12. Every ability score has been increased. Acquired bonus skill proficiencies from leveling up: your skill [Evasion (LV 8)] has been raised to level 9. You have acquired additional skill points.”

“Requirements have been met. You have earned the title [Bringer of Terror], and have been awarded the skills [Coercion (LV 1)] and [Corruption Attack (LV 1)].”

I’ve gotten another title, somehow. Yeeeet another sinister-sounding one, too. If you only look at my titles, I’m a really terrifying person. Ah! Not a person, I’m a spider.

Well, let’s put off examining this until later, hm. I also got the Drake Slayer title, so I’ll just look at both of them at the same time.

Right now, finishing these guys off is my main priority. So, let’s give eel number three a poison present as well. I put a lot of effort into this, I hope you like it. Alright, say aaaah! Was it tasty? Oh woooow, it was so tasty you could diiiie... I’m so happy.

{Commander Information, you’re scaring me!}
[This is great, keep it up!]

Oh, you guys are back?
[That’s right. We don’t need to be at maximum synchronization anymore, after all.]

{It’s great that we were suddenly able to beat them soooo easily.}
Aaaah, I didn’t think things would go so easily, either.
[That fire dragon was an idiot, heh.]
{Yeah, if it were me I would have run right the heck away immediately.}
Yep. Maybe it’s because it’d never been in a pinch like this until now?

{Aaaah, maybeeee...}

[Maybe it was thinking that it couldn't possibly lose?]

Yeah, that's it. I'm feeling bad for it, so let's put an end to its misery.

And, so, I delivered the undefeated Fire Drake its first, and final, defeat.

“Experience requirements met. Zoa Ere, you have grown from level 12 to level 13. Every ability score has been increased. Acquired bonus skill proficiencies from leveling up: your skill [Damage Enhancement (LV 2)] has been raised to level 3, and your skill [Damage Resistance (LV 2)] has been raised to level 3. You have acquired additional skill points.”

“Experience requirements met. Zoa Ere, you have grown from level 13 to level 14. Every ability score has been increased. Acquired bonus skill proficiencies from leveling up: your skill [Decay Resistance (LV 3)] has been raised to level 4. You have acquired additional skill points.”

“Experience requirements met. Zoa Ere, you have grown from level 14 to level 15. Every ability score has been increased. Acquired bonus skill proficiencies from leveling up: your skill [Bashing Resistance (LV 2)] has been raised to level 3. You have acquired additional skill points.”

---

Chapter 110

The Spoils of Victory

Translator's Note: I'm in the middle of doing some revisions on how I've been translating skill names, so some of them may be different in this chapter. I'll make proper post with a full writeup when I've finished and have updated all of the previous chapters.

Now then: Commander Body!

"Yeaaaah, leave the boring work to me."

Mhm! I'll leave the descaling to you.

I foist off the entire task of cutting the scales from the dragon and the eels onto Commander Body. While she's at that, let's get to digging through the new titles and skills that I got, shall we?

Dragonslayer: Granted skills – [Vitality (LV 1)] and [Draconic Power (LV 1)]. Acquisition criteria – Slay a certain number of dragon-type creatures. Effect – Marginally increases damage against dragons and dragonkind. Description – A title bestowed to those who have slain a great many dragons."

Bringer of Terror: Granted skills – [Coercion (LV 1)] and [Corruption Attack (LV 1)]. Acquisition criteria – Cause others to accumulate a certain amount of proficiency in Fear Resistance. Effect – Applies the effect of the Corruption Magic spell "Dread" to those who look at the holder. Description – A title bestowed to those who embody fear itself."

Oi! Dragonslayer is pretty good, but Bringer of Terror's effect is absolutely awful! So what you're telling me is that now if anyone even looks at me they're going to think I'm terrifying? That's horrible! I mean, it's fine against an enemy, but if it applies to literally everyone, not just enemies, then that's just a straight-up debuff! And on top of that, this isn't like a skill where I can just toggle it on and off, huh? Wooooow. With a debuff like this, isn't every single faint-hearted monster going to immediately run away as soon as they see me? Yeaaaaah, maybe...

Well, what's done is done. How about I pull myself together and take a look at these skills? I'm pretty sure I've seen these on the skill list, but I don't actually remember what any of them do. Hmmmm. My memory kinda sucks, maybe. I wonder if I should buy some sort of memory-boosting skill?

Eh, whatever.

Draconic Power: Temporarily borrow the power of a dragon.

Hm? Hmmmm... yep, no idea what this does. This looks like a toggleable skill, though, so let's give it a shot?

Oh? When I have it on, my stats go up a bit. My mana and stamina are draining, though. Looks like a skill that boosts stats by consuming mana and stamina, then. Unlike Battle Magic and Battle Spirit, looks like this boost my magic-related stats as well. It's level one, so it doesn't have a very powerful effect, but if I add this to the pile of things I keep on all the time and level it up a bunch, I think it'll eventually get really powerful. Yeah, it overlaps with skills I've already got, but if I were to stack them up all at once...

Way good. This is waaaay good.

Coercion: Applies the Corruption Magic effect "Dread" to targets in the immediate area.

Ugh, you too? Well, at least I can probably turn this one on and off, unlike that title, but if I've got them both on then all of those monsters are just going to pee themselves and then immediately run away, right? Aaaargh, well, since what's done is done, I might as well just leave this on all the time too. Looks like this is another one that doesn't drain anything.

Corruption Attack: Applies the “Soul Rending” attribute to targets struck by attacks.

Ah, this looks dangerous.

Corruption Attribute “Soul Rending”: An attribute that directly disrupts the soul.

This is way past just a mental attack! This is naaaasty. Filthy. Vulgar. Let’s try it out at some point.

Hm. Dragonslayer is a straight-up buff. Bringer of Terror is... a delicate balance between bonus and penalty. What’s good about is good, but... what’s bad about it is baaaad.

Well, that’s the titles. Now then, and this is what I’ve been waiting for, since I leveled up, I earned a bunch of skill points. And, on top of that, I got a ton of them all at once. And, that gives me just enough points to buy a skill that I’ve been looking forward to forever. Eh heh heh. I didn’t think I’d be able to pick this thing up aaaanywhere near this quickly.

Spatial Magic (500): A magic that manipulates space.

Look, look! Spatial Magic is the gold standard of OP cheat skills. I don’t really expect it’s going to be instantly amazing as soon as I buy it, since it’ll be level one, but I’ve got the wonderful privilege of having the Lord of Wisdom title to crank up the speed my magic skills level up at. If I keep at it, it should probably level up in no time.

Heh heh heh. I’ve got high hopes for Spatial Magic. The highest one: Teleport! This kind of magic exists after all. Of course, when we’re talking about space magic, we’re talking about teleporting, item boxes, and extradimensional mansions, right?! Well, an item box that I can use to store things in a pocket dimension probably exists, but since I’m not really in the habit of dragging things along with me I don’t really need it, y’know. I really want an extradimensional house, but that’s probably going to require a really high level, so I think I’ve got a long way to go until I get that.

Teleport. An amazing magic that allows you to instantly travel to a distant location. If I had that, then I wouldn't have to keep fighting and struggling through this enormous middle stratum in order to get out! I've even got a map of the upper strata, anyway, thanks to the Lady Wisdom! I'm positive that if I use that map, I can teleport back there with no problems at all!

So, hey, so-called "voice of heaven"! Spatial Magic, por favor!

"You currently possess 500 skill points. The skill [Spatial Magic (LV 1)] can be acquired for 500 skill points. Would you like to acquire it now?"

Yes!

"You have acquired the skill [Spatial Magic (LV 1)]. You have 0 skill points remaining."

Alright. Let's get this level one spell tested out immediately. Commander Magic!

{Aye-aye, sir!}

Commander Magic tests out the level one Spatial Magic effect for me. Its name is "Coordinate Lock".

It... traces a cube in mid-air out of green lines. Commander Magic can scale it up and down, change its shape, and move it around. It doesn't seem to actually be made of anything, so it can sink freely into both the magma and the earth. It kinda reminds me of a selection tool on a computer. Now that I think of it, it's probably exactly that.

{This looks like a spell that just targets an area of space.}

What good is that?

{This is just a guess, but maybe it's needed for the spells at level two and up?}

Probably, yeah... So maybe it's like Shadow Magic, where it's not really useful until you start leveling it up, huuuuh...

{Probably, yeah.}

Hmmmm. Well, I don't think Spatial Magic is particularly useful in combat right now, but the important thing is that I actually managed to get it. For now, let's focus on steadily leveling it up.

Anyhow, Commander Magic?

{This is my top priority, huh?}

Yep. By the way, how many spells do you think you can keep going simultaneously?

{Depends on the spell, you know... Coordinate Lock isn't particularly hard, so I could probably keep about two other simple spells at the same time, I think.}

Understood! Don't go overboard, but while we're moving, keep working on grinding out that skill proficiency.

{Yes, ma'am!}

Commander Body is still slogging through her descaling duties. Ah well, there's three of them after all, and that dragon is twice the size of either of those eels. Looks like it'll be a little bit longer before I can get a taste of dragon.

Still, though, I managed to put down that huge army of monsters that the dragon, who was no pushover itself, had pulled together, with relative ease. Am I seriously even stronger than I thought?

Heh heh heh. Perhaps in the future they might start calling me the Demon Lord? That would look really great on me next to Bringer of Terror. Tremble, peons, before your spidery Demon Lord!

Hah, I kid.

---

At that time, I had no way of knowing.

My joking around about becoming the Demon Lord had more meaning than I thought.

---

Zoa Ere — LV 15 — (no name)

Statistics:

HP: 502/502 (green) +189 (details) (199 up)

MP: 4096/4096 (blue) +437 (details) (2001 up)

SP: 522/522 (yellow) (details) (206 up), 522/522 (red) +971 (details) (206 up)

Avg. Offense: 506 (details) (163 up)

Avg. Defense: 603 (details) (162 up)

Avg. Magic Power: 3901 (details) (1902 up)

Avg. Resistance: 4021 (details) (1891 up)

Avg. Speed: 2580 (details) (834 up)

Skills:

[Automatic HP Recovery (LV 7)] • [Ultimate Magic] • [Battle Magic (LV 2) (new)] • [Accelerated SP Recovery (LV 6) (1up)] • [SP Consumption Reduction (LV 7) (1up)] • [Damage Enhancement (LV 3) (1up)] • [Slashing Enhancement (LV 3)] • [Poison Enhancement (LV 7) (1up)] • [Battle Spirit (LV 4) (2up)] • [Willpower Allocation (LV 2)] • [Draconic Power (LV 1) (new)] • [Greater Poison Attack (LV 3)] • [Decaying Attack (LV 1)] • [Corruption Attack (LV 1) (new)] • [Poison Synthesis (LV 8)] • [Thread Talent (LV 4) (1up)] • [All-Purpose Silk (LV 1)] • [Thread Manipulation (LV 8)] • [Throwing (LV 7)] • [3-D Maneuvering (LV 9) (1up)] • [Concentration (LV 10)] • [Accelerated Thought (LV 7) (1up)] • [Foresight (LV 7) (1up)] • [Multiple Wills (LV 2)] • [Rapid Computation (LV 3) (1up)] • [Aiming (LV 9)] • [Evasion (LV 9) (1up)] • [Stealth (LV 9)] • [Silence (LV 5) (1up)] • [Coercion (LV 1) (new)] • [Conviction] • [Hell] • [Corruption Magic (LV 6) (1up)] • [Shadow Magic (LV 7) (1up)] • [Poison Magic (LV 7) (1up)] • [Spatial Magic (LV 1) (new)] • [Abyssal Magic (LV 10)] • [Patience] • [Pride] • [Engorgement (LV 1)] • [Wisdom] • [Night Vision (LV 10)] • [Visible Spectrum Expansion (LV 3)] • [Damage Resistance (LV 3) (1up)] • [Bashing Resistance (LV 3) (1up)] • [Slashing Resistance (LV 3)] • [Fire Resistance (LV 4)] • [Greater Poison Resistance (LV 2)] • [Paralysis Resistance (LV 5)] • [Petrification Resistance (LV 3)] • [Acid Resistance (LV 4)] • [Decay Resistance (LV 4) (1up)] • [Fainting Resistance (LV 3)] • [Fear Resistance (LV 8)] • [Corruption Immunity] • [Ignore Pain] • [Pain Tolerance (LV 7)] • [Enhanced Vision (LV 10)] • [Telescopic Sight (LV 8) (1up)] • [Evil Eye of Curses (LV 7) (1up)] • [Evil Eye of Paralysis (LV 5) (3up)] • [Enhanced Hearing (LV 9)] • [Enhanced Smell (LV 7)] • [Enhanced Taste (LV 7)] • [Enhanced Touch (LV 8) (1up)] • [Divine Domain Expansion (LV 4) (1up)] • [Celestial Power] • [Greater Vitality (LV 1)] • [Greater Alacrity (LV 1)] • [Greater Endurance (LV 1)] • [Greater Strength (LV 4)] • [Greater Toughness (LV 4)] • [Skanda (LV

4)] • [Taboo (LV 8)] • [n%I=W]

Skill points available: 0

Titles:

[Filth Eater] • [Kin Eater] • [Assassin] • [Monster Slayer] • [Poison User] • [Silk User] • [Merciless] • [Monster Slaughterer] • [Lord of Pride] • [Lord of Patience] • [Lord of Wisdom] • [Dragonslayer (new)]
• [Bringer of Terror (new)]

---

Chapter B1

At The Council Meeting, The Demon Lord's Aide Breathes A Sigh

I walk down a long corridor. Diagonally ahead of me walks a small figure, nearly two heads shorter than I. Her size means that her walking pace is comparatively slow, which in turn means that I cannot move as speedily as I am used to. It is difficult for me, but I shall not overtake her.

The young girl in front of me, after all, is the current Demon Lord.

We slowly make our way down the corridor, finally arriving at a lone door at the end. There, the Demon Lord stops.

To be perfectly honest, I don't want to open this door. I don't want to open it, yet I must.

I clamp down on the sigh that almost escaped my lips, then throw open the door. Then, I stand respectfully to the side, bowing as I make way for the Demon Lord. She doesn't even spare me a single glance as she passes me by, as if my actions were only to be expected.

After making sure that the Demon Lord has in fact entered the room, I follow behind her, carefully closing the door behind me so that it makes no sound.

The room around us is what you might call a council room.

A round table occupies the very center of the room, with the seat of honor in the center of it reserved for the Demon Lord. When she takes her seat, a total of ten men and women had already arrived. When the Demon Lord entered the room, half of them stood up in unison. The other half remained seated.

My younger brother was among those who remained seated, which is somewhat problematic.

Again, I fight back a sigh as I pull out the Demon Lord's chair, motioning her to take a seat. As expected, she doesn't even look at me. Without even a shred of grace, she plops herself inelegantly into the offered seat.

There's no way to miss the grimaces on the faces of some of the other individuals seated at the table. Most likely, the Demon Lord didn't miss it either. She enjoys seeing these reactions, after all. I personally find it distasteful, but if I let a hint of it show on my face then there's no way of knowing what she might say to me later. The most effective way to deal with this Demon Lord is to constantly maintain a perfect poker face.

"Now then," she says, "let's begin. Balt?"
"Yes."

She gives the signal to convene the meeting. I tersely reply. To be perfectly honest, once she gives that signal, her entire part in this meeting is effectively finished. I'm the one who handles the proceedings and the practical affairs of the council. Or, more accurately, she's forced all of that onto me.

"Now then, let's hear status reports from everyone, starting with the First Corps."

As always, the meeting begins with reports of each of the developments occurring in the war. When I give the order, the first one to stand is Ahgnar, Commander of the First Corps, a man who is said to have been the general ever since he served under the Demon Lord from two generations past. To a human, he would look youthful, but in reality he has lived for a very long time, even for a demon. Why he himself hasn't become the Demon Lord is a mystery to me; he possesses more than enough power and capacity for the role.

"The First Corps is on the Rengzant Empire front. We have finished preparations to march on Fort Kusorion. Our logistical operations have been deployed as well; we are ready to march on your command. That is all."

Ahgnar delivers a clean, straightforward report, leaving out any unnecessary information; a glimpse into his straightforward and sincere personality.

“Same from the Second Corps. However, if we might have a little more time, my under-the-table dealings may bear fruit.”

The one to stand after Ahgnar finishes his report is a voluptuous woman: Sarnatria, Commander of the Second Corps. She is a succubus, a race of demons who uses their beauty as a weapon. Her “under-the-table dealings” are most likely something of that nature.

“How much time do you need?” I ask.

“At the soonest, two, maybe three days.”

“You may proceed, as long as it doesn’t impede the march.”

“Thank you.”

She smiles at me, as she takes her seat, so beautifully that I am momentarily stunned. However, even though she’s sat back down, the commander of the Third Corps has yet to rise.

“Commander Kogoh,” I say.

“Arh. We’re really going to war, hah?” he says, slumping his massive body down in his seat. “Isn’t there any way we can avoid it?”

“You wish to avoid it? If it were avoidable, we wouldn’t be doing it in the first place.”

“Arh. There’s no way, then?”

I open my mouth, preparing a more lengthy response to Kogoh’s continued complaints, but am interrupted by another voice that resounds through the room.

“Correct, there’s no way. However, Commander Kogoh of the Third Corps, if you truly wanted to avoid fighting a war, isn’t there something you can do?”

It’s the Demon Lord. A wicked smile creeps across her face, like she’s just thought of a cruel joke.

“W... what is it?”

“Oh, it’s simple! Just have every member of the Third Corps lie down and be the foundation for the new world.”

Kogoh stiffens in his seat.

“What’s wrong?” mocks the Demon Lord. “You don’t have to fight a war if you do that!”

“S... sorry. I wan’t say anything again. F... forgive meh...”

“Kogoh,” I say, before the Demon Lord can drive him further into a corner, “If you’ve learned anything from this, don’t say any more unnecessary things. Do you have anything to report?”

“Everythang’s fine.” “Good. Next?”

The Demon Lord looks a little dissatisfied, but that’s fine. The commanders of the Fourth, Fifth, and Six Corps report no problems. Next is the commander of the Seventh Corps, my younger brother Broh. However, he shows no sign of being about to leave his chair.

“Broh,” I prompt him.

“Brother, I still don’t get it,” he says sneeringly, crossing his arms and leaning back arrogantly in his seat. “How come you, the guy who united the demon races and brought them under your control, aren’t the Demon Lord? Why’s it this woman who showed up out of nowhere? Isn’t that fucking weird?!”

“Broh,” I warn him.

“And you, Brother! Why are you waiting upon this woman?! What the hell do you see in her that made you pledge your undying allegiance like that? I sure as hell don’t see it!”

“You!!” shouts Darad, the commander of the Fifth Corps, fed up with Broh’s venting. “There is a limit to how impudent you can be against the Demon Lord!”

Broh and Darad have very different personalities, so they frequently clash like this. Usually, someone steps in to stop them, but right now there’s no sign of anyone willing to do that. There are three options for the various commanders: to side with Broh, to side with Darad, or to hold back and watch carefully. However, no matter what their true feelings may be, right now it seems like everyone is choosing to watch.

“Broh, it is the rule of the world that all of the demon races will follow the Demon Lord, no matter who that may be! Have you forgotten?!”

“Like I give a shit! Is this girl really that great?! I haven’t even seen her do fucking anything!”

“Do you think it is our place to question the will of the Demon Lord?! She possesses deep, unfathomable thoughts that the likes of us cannot even imagine!”

“And that is exactly what I’m saying: you’ve just given up on thinking! Like hell I’m going to just happily nod every time I get an order just because it’s from the Demon Lord! You’re too much of an idiot to think for yourself, who are you to preach to me?!”

“You. You dare to call me a fool?!”

Huey, Commander of the Sixth Corps, is stuck between the two of them, his childlike face twisted in annoyance. The other commanders keep a careful eye on the outcome. Among those, Merazofis, Commander of the Fourth Corps is inscrutable, even to me. Not a single muscle on his bald, pallid head twitches in the slightest. I do not understand this man, who is even less comprehensible than all of the other suspicious individuals in this army. Because of this behavioral trend, I tend to pay closer attention to him, but right now he isn’t making any suspicious movements.

“Enough!”

Finally, Broh grasps the hilt of the weapon by his side. Darad reaches for his weapon as well, but his hand never reaches his target.

“Wh... my body!”

“I can’t move?!”

They both freeze in place, their bodies incapable of moving as they will it.

“Yeaaaah, sorry, but could you maybe stop this stupid fight?”

The Demon Lord, the subject of this fight, speaks in a sharp tone. Quiet shock rules the council chamber. Not just from the two men who had their movements taken away, but everyone else. Nobody knows how she could stop the two of them so easily in their tracks.

This is only natural. The Demon Lord has never shown off her full power before. The two men are entangled in countless invisible threads, too fine for the eye to see, stretching up and away behind their heads.

The Marionette’s Strings.

Those who are captured by those threads are transformed into the Demon Lord’s puppets. This is not restricted solely to the living, either. As far as I know, the Demon Lord can use these threads to control ten individual puppets in battle, enough to completely obliterate her opponents.

However, that is only what I am aware of. The Demon Lord has yet to show me her trump card. She is not the fool that Broh claims her to be. She is not the Demon Lord merely because she calls herself as such. She is the Demon Lord because she is more than qualified to be the Demon Lord.

“If you keep wasting my time, I’ll kill you myself, okay?”

She smiles grandly. After seeing that, not a single person in the room still harbored any illusions of working against her. She tugs on the Marionette’s Strings, and the two men are forcibly returned to their seats. She removes her threads, and finally control of their movements is returned to them.

“I’m... very sorry.”

“...”

Darad stutters out an apology, his face pale. Broh can’t even say a word.

“Very well then; what of the Eighth Corps?”

While this may be cruel for me to do as an older brother, I simply pass straight over my foolish younger brother.

“No problems here.”

Wrath, the Commander of the Eighth Corps, gives his brief reply. This man has never seemed particularly interested in sharing his opinions about the Demon Lord. In exchange, there are plenty of other things about him that are problematic, but none of those things are relevant right now so there are no issues at present.

The real problems are the next two individuals.

“The march of the Ninth Corps can proceed without issue.”

This man, if I were to describe him in one word, is black. He wears a full suit of pitch-black plate armor that almost seems to be part of him. What little of his face you can see reveals dark black skin. His hair is black as well. There is only a single spot of color on him: an eye that gleams strangely red. I do not know this man’s true name, just that he is called “Black”.

“Tenth Corps; no problems.”

Seated next to the man who is black is a woman who is white. The robe she wears is white as snow. The skin she exposes is pale to the point of unnaturalness. Her three long braids of hair are white as well. Her eyes are closed, so everything about her is simply white. I do not know this woman’s true name either, just that she is called “White”.

These two were added to the leadership of this war by the Demon Lord herself. I do not know anything about their background. I can, however, guess. These two are, most likely, Lords. Lords, powerful beings who manipulate this world from deep within its shadows. And these are two of them.

How the Demon Lord managed to get these two to sit on her council, I have no idea whatsoever. However, since they have such overwhelmingly ominous presences, my vigilance must constantly boil.

“Alright, alright! This is all looking great.”

The Demon Lord nods her head happily.

“So, let’s get this war started, huh?”

With those words, the curtains rose on a new beginning, that of a great war between men and demons was launched, a war said to be the very worst in all of history. Faced with this truth, all I could do was let out a quiet sigh.

---

Chapter Y2

And So The War Began

The army of the demon races is advancing.

I caught wind of this news this very morning, from a report delivered to us by a spy who had infiltrated the demon lands.

“It’s finally come, huh.”

“It has,” I say, “although I personally would prefer if it hadn’t.”

“Julius, there’s no way that it wouldn’t, though. I know that you don’t like fighting, but humans and demons have always been enemies. You had to have known this day would come, though?”

“Yeah. The demons have become more and more active ever since the previous Hero died, but I think we’ve held on pretty well.”

Yana, the Saint; Jiskan, the former adventurer; and Hawkin, the reformed former thief. As these allies of mine say, ever since the previous Hero died, the demons have been increasingly active. Nothing has yet broken out into a major battle, only small, contained skirmishes, so it’s likely that we’ve kept the status quo fairly well.

“So, when will they arrive?”

“Hyrinth has gone to find out,” says Yana. “He should be back... ah, there he is now.”

At Yana’s words, I turn around to see a friend I’ve had ever since I was a child, the second son of the Duke Quarto’s house, Hyrinth, walking towards us.

“Hyrinth. How does it look?”

“Ah. At the rate they’re advancing, they’ll arrive at this fortress by tomorrow.”

“I see. So soon, huh.”

War.

Ever since I became the Hero, I've lived every day in the midst of battle. However, this will be my first time experiencing a battle of this scale. And not just myself, either. There were no large-scale battles in the time of the previous Hero. As a result, the only people who truly know what it's like to fight in a battle this large are those who fought with the Hero from two generations ago, and not many of them are around anymore. Those who are still with us are, with the exception of the long-lived races, almost all too old to fight. In other words, nearly every member of the armies of humanity who are going to fight in this war have never experienced a battle of this scale ever before.

The demons we will face live far longer than humans. It would not be unusual for there to be those among them from that old Hero's generation, if not even from older generations than that. I wonder, how will that difference in experience play out?

On top of that, the amount of raw power a demon can bring to battle is high. Their bodies are stronger and tougher than those of humans, and they possess greater magical power, too. They also possess the same level of intelligence as humans. When it comes time for a human, whose stats are low, to fight with a monster, whose stats are high, it is ultimately the power of their skills and the power of their intellect that make the greatest difference. However, against demons, those are of no use. Demons, after all, possess the same skills, and the same intellect.

To be honest, I'm scared. However, as the Hero, letting that fear show on my face would be unforgivable. If I, the embodiment of humanity's hopes, were to do so, everyone would feel the same fear.

I lightly grab hold of the scarf wrapped around my neck, hiding away my fear.

"I've been meaning to ask this for a while," says Yana, "but what is that scarf you're wearing? It's hot out, yet you're still wearing it."

"This? It's a memento, from my mother."

The scarf is pure white, without a single decoration.

"This is something my mother knitted for me, before she died giving birth to Shun."

Shortly after giving birth to Shun, her health rapidly worsened until she died. Around then, at the same time, the demons started moving more and more, and I became the Hero. My father shouldered the burden of his grief over losing his wife, and yet still threw himself into the hectic work of ruling his kingdom. Because of that, he's somewhat estranged from Shun and Sue. As time goes on, I believe that they'll be able to bond with each other as parent and children, but the two of them must be attending the academy right now. When those two graduate, I'm sure that they'll do something amazing with their lives.

"Ah. Ah, I see."

Yana is at a loss for words. Whoops. She might be thinking that she asked me something she shouldn't have.

"Yana, don't worry about it. I got over it a long time ago."

"Still..."

"Right, right!" interjects Hyrinth. "No need to worry about that. Rather, you should be talking about his Oedipus complex, hah!"

"Hyrinth, isn't that a little bit of an overstatement?"

I return Hyrinth's playful teasing with a smile, and I can hear the people around me chuckling to themselves. That's great. It wouldn't do for the people around the hero to be gloomy. I'm grateful to Hyrinth for his nice save. The best person to have around you is an understanding friend, after all.

"Hey, do you know what this scarf is made of?" asks Hyrinth of Yana.

Aah, wouldn't it be best if you didn't tell her?

"It doesn't look like it's normal cloth. He wears it every day like this, but there's not even a single scratch on it."

"Right, right. It's definitely made of a very special, very valuable sort of material, the kind that they say is now impossible to find!"

"Whoa," interjects Hawkin, his instincts as a former thief kicking in. "it's really that valuable?" His eyes glitter.

"Yeah," replies Hyrinth. "The correct guess is: spider silk!!"

"S... sp... spider silk?!" sputters Yana.

Aah, ah. Yana's fallen off of her chair. She is absolutely terrified of bugs, and spiders the most so of all. That's why I haven't said anything about it to her so far.

“Hm? Could that maybe be spider silk from the Great Elro Labyrinth?” asks Jiskan, unexpectedly cutting into the conversation.

“Yeah, that’s right. You know about it?”

“I do. It’s a very famous story amongst adventurers, after all.”

“Ah, yeah!” says Hawkin. “The phantom spider of the Great Elro Labyrinth! I remember now! Oh ho, so this is made of that spider’s silk, huuuh...”

Hmm. This is made of something really famous, huh?

“Um, how does that story go?” asks Yana, nervously.

“Sure. When I was still very little, there was a party of adventurers that braved the Great Elro Labyrinth. There, they found the nest of a spider-type monster, from a species called Taratekt, and burned it away. This kind of monster is ordinarily very weak in combat, but on rare occasions they’ve been known to make nests like that. Those nests are generally a big problem for adventurers, so it’s generally understood that whenever you see a nest, you should burn it away.

“Then, after they burned it down, they found inside it large piles of silk. What’s strange about this silk is that it’s not like normal magic thread. It’s an amazingly good conductor of magical energy, and it is fantastically resilient. When they brought it back with them to sell, they got very rich, very fast. It’s a very famous tale of an adventurers’ success.”

“After that,” adds Hawkin, “there was a huge rush of people trying to capture Taratekts. In the end, though, nobody could find one that could make the same kind of silk, so now they call it the phantom spider.”

“Huh...”

Without a doubt, this must have been what my mother used to make this. From the story I was told, a great merchant with a keen eye presented it to the royal family as a gift. He must have struck a hard bargain with those adventurers to be able to get it.

As the rest of my companions start getting more excitedly into the topic, Hyrinth privately contacts me using telepathy.

[Julius, the way the demons are moving their forces is very strange.]

[What's strange about it?]

[They're spreading their forces thin, like they intend to invade all of the human lands simultaneously. However, I don't know why they'd do something like that.]

[Can you speculate?]

[Yeah. Concentrating all of their might on a single spot would be a better strategy, I think, so this is something that they've explicitly decided to do. I think it's wise to assume that they're going to do something.]

[Any guesses what that something is?]

[Well, hmm. It's really something I don't understand. But, we shouldn't let ourselves be caught unprepared for whatever does happen.]

[Got it. Thanks, Hyrinth.]

I suddenly get an ominous premonition, like I've just stepped into an enormous trap without realizing it. But I, the Hero, am not allowed to run away. Once again, I grab tightly onto my scarf made from spider silk.

---

Chapter War 1

The Great Human-Demon War (1)

[ Ohkun Fortress ]

Future historians, when discussing the Great Human-Demon War, always tell of Ohkun Fortress. While the demon armies are said to have invaded the human territories all at once, before that, the defenses of Ohkun Fortress were laid low by the demons' machinations.

The event in question took place one day before the demon armies' arrival. A certain cargo was delivered inside the fortress, by the unit that had always delivered supplies to the fortress. As this unit had, until that point, worked earnestly at their jobs, not a single person suspected them. And so, the cargo was brought into the fortress with very little actual inspection.

Nobody knew how huge of a bomb it actually was.

"Hm? Hey, what's in this cargo?"

"Who knows? I didn't hear about what's in it. Judging by the smell, maybe it's feed for the warhorses, or something?"

"Uh, did it just move?"

"Huh? Nah, can't be. ...Hm. It's moving."

"Hey, which unit brought in these crates?"

"I d... don't know. These were already delivered here by the time I noticed."

"Go find that out immediately. After that, report to the senior staff what's happening here. I'll stay here and keep an eye on these things."

"Yeah, got it."

The soldiers who discovered the cargo made no error in their reaction. Their true error was reacting a little too late.

“Wha—! Look out!”

Something leapt out from within a crate, tackling a nearby soldier to the ground.

“Guh!”

“Th... is that an Anograch?!”

What leapt out at the soldier was a single monster. A monster with a form much like a monkey.

“What’s this?! What happened?!”

“M... monster!! Why’s it in the fort?!”

“Help him, quickly!”

More soldiers had arrived, drawn by the sound of the commotion. They drew their swords, swinging their blades at the monster assaulting their compatriot.

“Stop! Don’t kill it!!”

If the situation were calmer, perhaps they would have remembered. The monsters known as Anograch are truly terrifying.

Countless swords stabbed out, impaling the monster. As if signaled, more monsters leapt out from the other crates. When the soldiers saw this, every one of them realized the consequences of their actions, and their faces turned pale.

“We have no choice now! Counterattack!”

At the hands of the soldiers, the remaining monsters were slain. On their own, these monsters are not especially strong. For the soldiers stationed at this fortress, situated at the very front lines of the war against the demon races, they posed no threat at all.

However, that only applies when there is only one of them.

“Report to the commanders.”

“On it.”

The faces of the soldiers who slew the monsters were grim.

“What do you want me to say?”

“...That the nightmare of the revenge monkeys has begun.”

The Anogratch bear the nickname “revenge monkey”. They are ferocious monsters who absolutely do not forgive any creature who wounds any of its kin. If one were to kill an Anogratch, a large swarm of them would come charging forth. When this happens, there is not a single thing that can stop them until either their target, or the entire swarm, is dead. These are monsters that dwell within the madness of rage.

“What’s going to happen to us now?”

“At worst, this fortress may fall.”

The arrival of an enormous wave of Anogratch came on the next day, coinciding perfectly with the demon races’ assault on the human territories.

---

“Perfectly done,” said Sarnatria, commander of the Second Corps of the Demon Armies, watching Ohkun Fortress from far away.

“Yes, ma’am,” said her aide. “All went exactly to plan.”

Countless monkey-like monsters clung to the walls of the fortress, forcing their way in one after the other. At first, the humans defending the fortress had used their magic to intercept the invading monsters. However, although they felled Anogratch after Anogratch, for every one they killed, another, angrier one surged forth, pouring into the fortress. While the sheer number of invading monsters may have been terrifying, the greatest trouble was their complete lack of any fear of death.

The Anogratch had targeted that sturdy fortress, so in the end it fell.

“Right! And we’ve suffered zero casualties with this method, too.”

“Indeed we have. However, nobody will be able to go near that fortress for quite some time, unfortunately.”

The Anogratch even attack members of the demon races. For now, until every last Anogratch has retreated from the fortress, nobody can approach it lest they accidentally attract the attention of the monsters and suffer the same fate as the fortress.

“That can’t be helped. Besides, invasion isn’t the point of this war. This is perfect as it is.”

“You’re very right. Still, that was masterfully planned.”

“Oh, you flatter me.”

Truly, Sarnatria thought it was nothing to brag about. From her perspective, what she did was very simple. She used her succubus’ powers to seduce the humans delivering supplies to the fortress, brainwashed them, and had them capture a few Anogratch. Then, she had them deliver those captured monsters into the fortress with the supplies. That’s all.

There were many holes in the plan, and the chances for failure were high. However, even if she were to have failed, it would have still worked out in the end. The most important part of the plan was to get a human to mess with the Anogratch, which was all that was needed to create the current state of affairs. There was no particular need for any Anogratch to be transported into the fortress, after all. She could have simply brainwashed some other human, had them kill an Anogratch, and have them innocently enter the fortress. This time, it was truly only by chance that this plan went so smoothly. No details were worked out to the point that any part of it could have been considered “masterful”.

“Forgive me, Demon Lord,” murmured Sarnatria, dejectedly. “I have no intention of meekly following your expectations.”

The image of the Demon Lord suddenly came to her mind. Sarnatria held enough power to control the armies of the demon races. However, she did not feel that even that was enough to defeat the Demon Lord. She had no intention of disobeying a foe that she had no chance of beating.

She may not have intended to rebel, but she could see that if she merely continued to obey she would be relentlessly used until all usefulness had been squeezed out of her. That is the kind of person the Demon Lord was. That’s why, Sarnatria will continue to obediently follow the Demon Lord’s orders, while straying just a little from her expectations.

“As a demon, I might be making a mistake, but as long as I’m making my quota, I wonder if she’ll let me slip by?”

To her monologue, there is no reply.

---

Chapter War 2

The Great Human-Demon War (2)

[ Dahzaro Fortress ]

Violent barrages of magical spells were being exchanged at Dahzaro Fortress.

The man supervising the fortress was Elder Ronant, the man who was called the greatest mage of humanity, second only to the elves. Furthermore, the other mages deployed to the fortress were themselves Ronant's pupils. The greatest magical force that humanity could have possibly have brought to bear was here at Dahzaro Fortress, a fact that was most fortuitous indeed.

The enemy they faced was the Sixth Corps of the Demon Army, led by Huey. Huey, similarly to Ronant, was a preeminent mage in the Demon Armies. The corps he led, of course, was also quite proficient at magical combat.

The battle was a competition. The demons were more powerful as a species, but the humans fought them from behind powerful fortifications. Both the individual power of the demons and the defensive position of the humans were excellent.

However, this flashy, ostentatious exchange of spellfire was merely a charade. Hidden beneath it, both sides were carefully considering when to deploy their trump cards, their grand magics.

In large-scale battles where two armies crash into each other, anti-army grand magic carries enormous weight. These magics lie within the spell lists of the highest-ranking magical skills, yet even the most accomplished mages cannot cast them by themselves. Thus, it is only through the use of many assistants with skills to assist with constructing the spell formulae or channeling mana that these spells may be cast.

However, since the spell formula being constructed is so necessarily huge, an experienced mage with the Spell Formula Perception skill can easily see through it. With an understanding of the magic that the opponent is going to fire, it is possible to intercept or defend against it. As such, gathering many mages that wield many different attributes is essential when mobilizing an army. For this reason, even though great magics may possess tremendous power, there have been many instances where they were successfully defended against because they were fired carelessly.

Because great magics consume so much energy, they cannot be fired repeatedly. In order for that shot to be successful, the mages must do one of several things: they could pour more power into it than the enemy's defenses can handle, construct the spell formula so quickly that the enemy cannot raise their defenses in time, or somehow outwit them entirely. Increasing the power output of a spell, though, is no simple matter. The speed of constructing a formula is also difficult to increase, as top-class mages all tend to construct formulas at very similar rates. As such, neither of those two options are seen frequently in battle, unless the opponent is weak in both of those areas. As such, all that can be done is outwitting the opponent.

Anti-army-class spells, these grand magics, are used in practice to smash through the opponent. So, in order to do so, a commander must be capable of reading the enemy's grand magic while ensuring that their own is not read in turn. It is this fight, hiding beneath the flashy exchanges on the surface, that is the true battle that forces specializing in magical combat must win.

Or, that's how it usually is.

By the time Huey noticed the truth of this battle, the situation had begun to tilt. Huey, who himself possessed a great deal of magical ability, was focused far more on discerning his enemy's grand magic than on commanding his troops. In an ordinary battle, this would have been the correct move. However, his opponent consisted of the most powerful, most veteran mages humanity had to offer. Huey, was a member of the demon races, which live far longer than humans. Despite his youthful appearance and child-like face, he had lived a considerably long time. Even so, his foe this time was difficult indeed.

Elder Ronant defied the convention of warfare, using his great magic as a decoy as his forces used lower-ranking spells to whittle away, bit by bit, the strength of the demon army. Ronant's pupils were well-versed in the art of greatly empowering lower-ranked spells. Ordinarily, lower-ranked spells do not carry very much power. Their spell formulae are incapable of containing any more. Additionally, such weak spells wouldn't be capable of completely exceeding their targets' resistances. At worst, they'd deliver minor wounds.

Ronant destroyed that common sense. He devoted his life's studies to increasing the strength and durability of spell formulae. Those empowered spell formulae could be used to drive more powerful spells, making it possible to raise the power of low-ranking spells far higher than they could have been before. As a result, he had succeeded in turning low-ranked spells into something that could inflict fatal wounds even on demons, who possessed naturally high resistances.

He had trained his pupils in how to use these techniques, and they could all cast low-ranked spells with great power behind them. The magical barrage thought to be a diversion was, in reality, carrying fatal force behind it. And, while this was occurring, Ronant was constructing a great magic as a trap, weaving an incomprehensible spell formulae that trapped Huey's attention as he focused on trying to decipher it. By the time Huey noticed what was going on, his army had begun to accumulate losses that they could not ignore.

"Shit!" he said.

"Lord Huey, we must retreat!"

Huey thought. If he were to withdraw from here, would that Demon Lord forgive him? No. That Demon Lord would not. The enemy's losses were minuscule compared to his. He could not claim that he met his quota. Thus, she would demand compensation for the difference. She is that kind of Demon Lord.

"We cannot retreat."

"Why, sir! At this rate our losses will only continue to increase!"

"What can't be done cannot be done!"

His adjutant did not know the circumstances behind his decision. Since he did not, he could speak of evacuation. Huey began to grow irritated at his subordinate's ignorance.

"I'll prepare the great magic. Assist me."

"Even if you start casting now, it's useless! We must retreat!!"

"Assist me."

The surrounding officers went dead silent at Huey's words, as he refused to even acknowledge the call for retreat.

"Help me, now!" he shouted, enraged, stomping his foot on the ground.

This was Huey's final action.

An ultra-long-range sniping spell burned a hole clean through Huey's head, a high-powered precision strike that targeted only the general with pinpoint accuracy. Ronant had noticed the chaos that had risen in his enemy's ranks and chosen that moment to strike. If one were to judge his spell by its sheer power, the raw amount of mana it contained, and the difficulty of constructing its formula, it would be a sniping spell rivaling that of a true great magic.

Huey's life came to an end, snuffed out by the secrets of the Elder Ronant.

---

Chapter War 3

The Great Human-Demon War (3)

[ Balt, Aide to the Demon Lord ]

Within the tent, we go over the results of each of the battles. Every army has, without exception, a soldier among its ranks that possesses the Farspeech skill, which is the evolved form of Telepathy. Here, we assemble all of the information we receive from them in order to monitor the progress of the war, and send back new orders.

It seems that Sarnatria, leading the Second Corps, successfully executed her plan to coerce the Anogratch into attacking their enemy's fortress. That woman does some truly unnecessary things. It's not unusual for the Anogratch to explode out like that after they go through a breeding cycle, but to explicitly act to provoke that kind of aggression is...

The Anogratch, as a species, periodically undergo breeding cycles, where their numbers multiply massively. When their numbers are few, they typically live deep within the forest, and generally do not cause very much harm. However, after breeding, they immediately spread out in search of food, their range of activity instantly growing by great lengths. The forests the Anogratch live in straddle the territories of both the human and demon races, but generally tend towards the demon races' territory. Thus, after a breeding cycle, the demon races tend to bear the brunt of the damage.

Sarnatria took such a headache-inducing species of monsters and, instead, made use of them. Under ordinary circumstances, this is an incredibly dangerous, almost unusable tactic that poses great danger to your own well-being. As such, perhaps this was a situation where even she was at her wit's end.

In addition, the Third Corps under Kogoh and the Eighth Corps under Wrath are both victorious. The Sixth Corps under Huey and the Fourth Corps under Merazofis have both been defeated. Merazofis suffered some injury, but his life does not seem to be in immediate danger. Huey, however, was slain on the battlefield. So far, he is the only commander to have fallen.

Furthermore, there are still battles taking place. However, it feels like we are being pressed back on each of those battlefields. Ahgnar, leading the First Corps, is assaulting Kusorion Fortress, an important base on the edge of the Rengzant Empire, a very large nation of humans. It is obvious that the soldiers deployed there would only be a hand-picked elite. It is only natural for even Ahgnar to be having difficulty with the assault.

Darad, of the Fifth Corps, is also facing a bad situation. Until now, the two forces have seemed to be on equal footing, but it seems that we are now being pushed gradually back.

Lastly, Broh, leading the Seventh Corps, is having the greatest problems. There, he faces the Hero. Although the two armies appeared to be on equal footing, the Hero and his allies have been unstoppable as they charge forward. They might even, in the worst case, make it all the way to Broh at his command post.

“Alright, alright! This is looking good, isn’t it, Black?”

As I’m busy giving orders to every corner of the battlefield, the Demon Lord sits elegantly atop a chair, speaking to the black knight that stands beside her.

“Yeah, it is.”

“Black! You’re so curt. Could you be just a tiny bit more civil?”

“That would be pointless.”

“Bleeeeh.”

Such a thoughtless conversation to be held in the middle of a war. No, actually, Black is being perfectly serious; it is the Demon Lord who is thoughtless.

“But maaaaan, the Second Corps, what was that?! Welllll, whatever. That succubus! She did something reeeeaal interesting. You can use those monkeys like that, huuuuh...? Mhm, mhm!”

The Demon Lord nods, alone, with a big grin on her face, as if she really did find something that interesting.

“Is that alright?” asks Black.

“Hm? Oh yeah, oh yeah. Sure, we didn’t take any losses, but man did a lot of humans die.”

“I see.”

“Mhm, mhm! The important thing is that people keep dying. Who cares if they’re humans or demons?”

My blood freezes when I hear those words. As I feared, this person is looking at us as nothing more than bait. If she doesn’t think of us as comrades, then when the time comes I’m sure she won’t hesitate to cast us aside.

“Hey, Black, is this bothering you?”

“Yeah.”

“Yeah, of coooourse! You stirred this one up, after all, with all your blundering.”

For an instant, I freeze completely in place. I desperately force myself to move again, hoping to cover it up. What did I just hear? This war is Black’s fault? I haven’t heard anything about this at all. What are these two talking about that even I don’t know?

“You’re right. I was naive, and brought this on.”

“Mhm, mhm. Soooo, now I’m covering your ass for you! Show a little gratitude, huh?”

“I can’t be grateful. I see now that what you’re doing is necessary. However, I can’t condone the methods that you two are using.”

“You say that, but I wonder whyyyy you don’t get that if we don’t make this stop, things will just keep going on like they did before?”

“You may be right.”

“I aaaam! Well, being all worried and hesitant is very you, after all.”

I pretend to continue working as I pay close attention to the conversation, hoping to obtain even just a little bit more information. Going by what they were saying just now, are the Demon Lord and Black not on particularly good terms? There isn’t any open hostility between them, but I get the sense that they’re barely one step away from that.

However, it is extremely unusual for them to have such a calm discussion while I'm within earshot. Perhaps this is information such that it simply does not matter if I hear it, or, perhaps, this entire thing was a ruse, and they're trying to bait a reaction out of me. I can't decide.

"Well then, we hit our target number this time, huuuuh? Hey Balt, go issue the retreat order to everyone, okay?"

"Yes, ma'am," I reply. "Without delay."

My heart trembles deep within me, but I take great pains to ensure that not even a single trace of it shows on my face. Retreat? Sure, there are places on the battlefield where we are at a disadvantage, but it is far too early to fully retreat. Or, perhaps, does she have a reason for retreating like this?

"Our objective is bringing the Hero down," she murmurs to herself, as if she read the question from my mind. "If we can shoot him down, I don't really care about whatever happens next."

We were trying to kill the Hero? But he's still alive. Why are we retreating if we haven't killed him yet?

"Don't worry. After all, White is there. I don't care if it's the Hero or anyone else, nobody can possibly match White, my greatest masterpiece."

The Demon Lord asserts this with supreme confidence. The woman accompanying the Tenth Corps, named White, is approaching the place where the Hero and Broh stand.

"As long as White's there, there's no way that hero's making it out alive. No waaaay."

As I look upon the grinning figure of the Demon Lord, I get a very bad feeling about this.

---

Chapter War 4

The Great Human-Demon War (4)

[ Julius, the Hero ]

I slice through the demons that rush in on me as my companions and I tear through the demon forces' flank. In the beginning, we were fighting defensively from on top of the fortress walls, but when I realized that our situation was slowly, but steadily, growing worse, we launched our attack. After all, even if we could still fight, the rest of the troops were being worn down.

Since that was the case, we decided to try to smash through their lines ourselves. If we're highly successful, we might even be able to break all the way through to the demons' commander himself. If we can capture the commander, we could overturn the entire battlefield.

A demon swings at me with a deadly blade, shouting something in his demonic tongue. Since I don't speak a word of Demon, I have no idea what he's actually saying, so I just bisect the demon and his sword. Much like that, I continue running forward.

Before me, demons frantically raise their shields. Without slowing at all, I swing my sword in a broad, horizontal stroke at the wall of shields. Both the shields and the demons behind them fall to the ground, cut in half.

Every demon that charges in at me is cut down with a single swing. Eventually, they start to falter.

"Clear a path!" I bellow. "If you flee, I will not chase you!"

I have vague hopes that this would work. However, not a single one of them turns to flee.

"Julius," says Hyrinth, calmly, "If you're talking at them in Human, do you really think you'll get through to them?"

Having that pointed out to me makes me uncomfortably self-conscious, even though we're in the middle of a battlefield.

"Although," remarks Yana, "as a threat it seems to be effective."

Although the demons have been trying to encircle us, I see that they're hesitating to attack.

"They're terrified of how bonkers Julius's strength is," says Hawkin. "It's too early to say that they're going to fall back now, though," I murmur.

As if on cue, the demons' formation parts. Through the gap, a single demon walks straight towards me.

"You're the Hero?" he says.

"Huh, I didn't think someone would talk to me in Human. That's right; I am the Hero. I am Julius Zagan Analeicht, the Hero."

The demon nods once, then slowly draws his sword from its sheath.

"My name is Broh, commander of the Seventh Corps of the Demon Armies. Hero! Fight me fair and square!"

"I accept your challenge."

Our eyes lock. The surrounding demons, as well as my allies, hold their breaths, watching raptly as the demon commander and I prepare for our duel.

The first to move is the commander, who had called himself Broh, swinging his sword diagonally down at my shoulder. I swing my own blade to intercept, and our swords collide. Although I had slashed with great force, Broh's sword isn't the slightest bit damaged. As a last resort, I force him back with sheer power.

"Hey, did that demon just block Julius's sword?"

"That demon really is a monster."

Broh is off-balance after having been shoved, so I step in to attack again. He quickly decides that he doesn't want to risk getting hit, so he dodges back away from my swing. Unfortunately for him, that was not an effective defense.

I release the holy light that was bound within my sword. The holy light creates a shockwave that crashes out at Broh as he tries to avoid the slashing sword. Surprisingly, he manages to block this with his sword as well.

Broh quickly recovers his stance. Once again, I release holy light from my sword. Simultaneously, I form ten spheres of holy light in the air around me.

“Julius just got serious.”

“Looks like his opponent’s giving him the real deal, too.”

The spheres of holy light hang silently in the air as I mentally assign instructions to each of them. Then, I fire them all at Broh. Every single one of them moves with my will. Even if he could dodge, they would chase him all the way to the edge of the world if they had to.

Broh seems to be preparing to attack the spheres of light as they get within range. When the first arrives, he intercepts it with his blade. At that instant, the sphere self-destructs, scattering holy light in an explosive burst.

Broh is blown off his feet, having taken the brunt of the explosion head on. The remainder of the spheres mercilessly streak in, detonating one after the other.

I look warily at the rest of the demons, my sword still at the ready. Each of them looks on, dumbfounded. My allies, however, are perfectly calm, as if this had been the only possible outcome to begin with.

“Not... yet...”

I look back at Broh. Surprisingly, he’s still standing, despite the fact that blood seeps from wounds all over his body. In the blink of an eye, his wounds all close. I didn’t sense him weaving any magic, so it can’t have been a recovery spell. Perhaps he used the Magical Treatment or Willpower Treatment skills to heal his injuries?

“Don’t do anything reckless,” I warn. “The difference in our strengths is too great.”

“As if I could lose so fast! If I let myself lose like that, I wouldn’t be able to face my big brother ever again!”

I see, this man has an older brother. I have one too. But if I had to compare, I’d say that my sense of myself as Shun’s older brother is stronger. Speaking as an older brother, I wouldn't want my younger brother to do something reckless. I'd want him to come home safely.

"If you have siblings, then that's all the more reason why you can't die here today, right? Retreat. I won't chase you."

"There's no way I can retreat!"

Broh leaps towards me. I slap both him and his sword aside, and the power of holy light pummels him mercilessly.

Even still, he stands up again, and again, and again. Eventually, it finally comes to an end. Broh's recovery has ceased.

"It's over," I say.

"It's... not... o..."

"It's over. I warned you, and you disregarded it, and now you have been defeated."

Quietly, I stand next to Broh. Slowly, I raise my sword high, then swing it down.

"Damn... it..." he whispers. "Bro... ther..."

His last, broken words were spoken in Demon, yet I could still understand the meaning behind them. Painful emotions well up in me. However, pity for an enemy is useless.

The demons have all fallen silent. From their ranks, however, someone steps forward. She is white. There's no other way to describe this girl. She is white.

Then, she slowly opens her closed eyes.

---

Chapter War 5

The Great Human-Demon War (5)

[ Kusorion Fortress ]

Ahgnar, Commander of the First Corps of the Demon Armies, looks out over the battlefield before him, a stern expression on his face. The battle is not going in his favor. At a glance, the flow of the battle seems to shift back and forth between the offense and the defense, but, in truth, the demon army is starting to lose focus.

Amongst all of the positions that the demon armies had chosen to assault as part of their all-out attack, Kusorion Fortress is especially high priority. It is not an exaggeration to say that this fortress is what separates the demon races' territories from those of humanity. Even if every other position falls, the human forces must defend this fortress at all costs. If it falls, it would mean that they were ultimately incapable of stopping the demons' invasion. It is that important.

For that reason, the soldiers stationed there are elites, picked from the best humanity has to offer. Even a private in this army is capable enough that they could be generals of a small country's forces.

Their opponents, the First Corps, are all elite warriors themselves, hand-picked by Ahgnar, a decorated veteran with an extensive career, even for a demon. If you exclude the Hero and the Demon Lord, then you could reasonably state that the armies gathered here at this fortress have the greatest combat strength their respective nations could provide.

It is well understood that demons outstrip humanity, but Ahgnar suspects that this may not truly be the case. It's not at all wrong, but at the same time it can't be said that it is truly right.

The difference in power between the humans and the demons is because of their difference in raw stats. Generally, demons have much higher stats than humans do. However, that is all they have. Even if you say that demons generally have higher stats, each individual demon does have some variation. If a demon is weak, then there may exist a human that is stronger than them.

Most importantly, there is no difference in their skills. In this world, one's combat strength is only partially decided by stats. Skills have a much greater effect on one's effectiveness in battle. There are, of course, individual differences, but if you were to look at the bulk of both humanity and the demon races, it is best to say that there is no real difference overall.

If stats are all you look at, there are monsters that are far stronger than even the demons. However, if a monster is not a walking disaster, ranked as "S" or "Over S" on the humans' danger scale, then it can be defeated. That is, since monsters lack intelligence, they are not personally cognizant of skills, and thus cannot train themselves in their use.

Monsters are different from humans and demons in that they possess inherent skills from birth. On the other hand, humans and demons can use the knowledge they have accumulated to train in specific ways to acquire and strengthen their skills. These accumulated skills can then become weapons able to defeat monsters, even with their naturally inherent skills. Any skills that the monsters may earn are either gained as the result of their own natural actions or due to sheer chance over the course of their lives. When compared to humans and demons, it's obvious that they possess many more skills than the average monster. Because of that, they can overcome the raw difference in stats.

The difference between a demon's and a human's stats is ultimately not that great. When you compare them to the stats of an upper-class monster, the difference actually looks tiny. Plus, there is no real difference in skill levels. It is not wrong to say that demons are superior, but Ahgnar has come to the conclusion after many years of battle against the humans that the difference is ultimately insignificant.

Furthermore, since demons live so much longer than humans, their birthrate is correspondingly lower. As such, it is only natural that there would be fewer of them. Humanity has superior numbers, and demons have superior stats. Each of their potentials for combat strength rivals the other.

For this reason, in this war, since humanity holds very strong defensive positions, it is humanity who holds the advantage. Against the mighty walls of the fortress, the demons cannot advance, and their losses are gradually starting to accumulate. The human forces, however, are suffering only minimal losses behind their fortress walls. The walls themselves are taking some damage, but at this rate, the demons' line will collapse long before the walls do.

Ahgnar, recognizing this, still could not come up with an effective countermeasure. The forces of humanity were putting forth a solid fight, not though any clever schemes, but simply relying on the well-established tactic of defending behind fortress walls. This tactic is based on the accumulated experience of many years of battle. It is a well-established tactic because it is rarely defeated, so if Ahgnar were to try something clever and fail, he would surely face severe retaliation.

This is not to say that there are no clever ploys that could defeat this well-established tactic. However, Ahgnar is an old commander, for good or for ill. He is well versed in using strong, established tactics to win his battles, and as a result he is unskilled in improvising clever new plans.

Even so, Ahgnar is an excellent commander, and has survived many battles where the odds were stacked tremendously against him. Possessing great foresight thanks to his many years of experience and able to make use of it to deliver precise instructions, he has been called the Great Commander by some.

Even so, the battle was worsening, minute by minute. It is at this time that the order to retreat comes from headquarters. Ahgnar immediately executes this order. Even if he were to continue fighting on, all he would be doing is incurring large losses, all in vain. However, the evacuation will never be completed.

At that moment, a giant monster suddenly appears.

“Qu... Queen Taratekt?!”

Ahgnar's eyes go wide. This was a legendary beast, the likes of which he had never seen before, despite his very long life. This is the pinnacle of the spider-type monsters, and it is rumored that only five of them exist in the entire world.

The Queen Taratekt has appeared on the battlefield, completely unexpected despite its enormous bulk.

“This can’t be?! How did this happen?!”

There are probably no more than five Queen Taratekts in existence in the world. The one that lives closest to Kusorion Fortress should still live an enormous distance away. No matter what angle Ahgnar looks at this situation, it can only be described as unnatural.

Ahgnar forces the chaotic jumble of his thoughts back into order. In the first place, it is absolutely impossible that a monster as enormous as a Queen Taratekt could have approached the battlefield completely unnoticed by any of the soldiers. Since that is the case, there is only a single option that comes to his mind:

It moved using Spatial Magic.

As far as Ahgnar is aware, the act of magically transporting a creature as enormous as a Queen Taratekt could only possibly be done by a single, specific person. In his mind’s eye, that one demon twists her mouth into a crooked smile.

“Ah, I see. You’ve already finished with what you wanted me for, Demon Lord...”

And so, the Over S-ranked monster, the legendary creature who can only be described as a walking disaster, began trampling the area, with no regard for either humans or demons. On that day, Kusorion Fortress vanished without a trace.

---

Chapter S17

The Voice That Informed Me Of Ruin

Ever since Hugo attacked, things have been quite peaceful. That incident, however, has made me think about things somewhat differently. I cannot let myself think that this world is the same as Japan. This is a dangerous world, where my life may be in danger from unknown sources at any moment. However, deep down, I haven't wanted to change. This might be a naive way of thinking, especially after everything that's happened, but completely abandoning the morality that I cultivated in Japan is not something that I want to do. Thus, going around and murdering everybody at full power is also not something that I want to do.

Even if I say that, though, I must work towards being able to protect myself. When I was attacked, I made the people around me worry far too much. Sue, who still clings to me despite being too old to keep doing that, was of course very anxious about my well-being, as was Katia and Yulie. Katia seemed especially agitated about me getting attacked, moreso than I would have thought.

"When I heard you got attacked, my mind went totally blank, I was panicking so hard," she told me.

I think I'd surely have the same reaction if something were to happen to Katia. When I told her this, for some reason she hung her head and started mumbling to herself.

"Seriously? Seriously, me? That can't be right, right?"

What the hell was that? Or, rather, I'm kinda worried about that.

However, it is a fact that I caused her to worry. Truthfully, if Miss Okazaki hadn't come running so quickly, there's a good chance that Hugo would have just killed me. Thinking about that terrifies me. Death is terrifying.

Thus, I decided that I was going to become strong. Up until that point, I'd been proactive about gaining strength, but I needed to get much more serious than that. I needed to spend the skill points I haven't been spending, buy useful-looking skills, and level those skills up.

As part of our curriculum, we fought monsters. Since I've trained so much, even though I had no real combat experience, I was able to defeat them very easily. However, I gained experience points, and those experience points made my level raise. I am no longer level one, like I was when Hugo attacked me.

As my body matures, my stats shift from being strongly magic-focused to something more balanced. Because I forged my body into something much more reliable, my physical stats have caught up with my magic-related stats. Now, both my magic and sword skills can probably be described as top-class. Even still, I continued to train.

I've become strong. I can feel that now. However, I know someone even stronger than me. I don't think I'll ever be able to reach as far as that lofty height, but I know that I can push myself just a little bit closer.

Since becoming strong, I think I've realized my desire. Originally, I wanted to become strong so that I could protect my own life. However, I came to want to protect those who are dear to me. I started with Sue, but it's not like there's any weak people close to me that need my protection. Even still, I want to be strong enough that I could be relied on if something were to happen.

Over time, the list of people I wanted to protect grew beyond just my close friends. The students who used to admire me from a distance have lost their selfishness and have gradually started to open up to me, starting with Palton. They haven't closed the distance enough that I could call them my friends, but I can protect them, so I want to protect them.

Recently, I've been wondering if this is what you'd call the feelings of royalty. Does my brother Julius, the Hero, fight while always holding these feelings in his heart? When I think about that, I feel like I might have gotten just a little closer to him.

I haven't seen my brother ever since I entered the academy. I don't even know where he is right now, or what he's doing. I keep hearing that the demons have become more active lately, but this academy, as closed off from the outside world as it is, doesn't get much news about the outside world. It's possible that he could be fighting demons right now. Well, if we're talking about my brother Julius, there's no need to me to be worried, but even still I'm concerned about how people are talking about the demons' activity.

I haven't seen Miss Okazaki either, perhaps because of the increase in the demons' activity. Previously, she'd attend classes from time to time, but in the past year I haven't seen her in a single one. I've run into her occasionally on campus, so I'm sure she's still using this place as her base of operations, but even now I have no idea what she could possibly be doing when I don't see her around.

There is another person I haven't seen. Ever since Hugo attacked me, I haven't seen him even once. I don't know if he's even still here at the academy. Immediately after the attack, I occasionally heard that he'd been spotted here and there around campus, but in these past few years I haven't heard anything like that at all. He probably isn't at the academy any more, I think.

If I were to say that I wasn't concerned about what happened to Hugo after that. Even now, I can't forgive him for what he did. At the same time, though, I can sympathize with him, at least a little bit. He had so much power he was drowning in it, and he lost it all. For someone like him, for whom power was everything, losing all of his power must have been like losing everything he had. I know that I'm being naive, but even so I can't help but feel a little bit sorry for him.

With neither Miss Okazaki nor Hugo here, the days pass surprisingly peacefully. I attend classes, I chat with Sue and the others, and when I have time, I train. Like that, the days pass by. It has been so tranquil that I'm starting to doubt that the demons had been mobilizing at all.

“Requirements have been met. You have earned the title [Hero], and have been awarded the skills [Hero (LV 1)] and [Radiant Magic (LV 1)].”

The voice breaks through the tranquility.

“Huh?”

I’m in the middle of class, and my confused voice resounds much more loudly in the classroom than I expected.

“Slaine,” asks the teacher in charge of the current lesson, “what’s the matter? Is there something you don’t understand?”

My mind is in such turmoil that her voice washes right past me.

“Slaine? Slaine!! What happened?!”

Most likely, at this point, my face has gone entirely ashen. After all, isn’t it a little strange? Only a single person in the world can possess the title of Hero, and there’s only one Hero that I know of. Titles, too, aren’t something that you can relinquish once you’ve earned them. In other words, you can’t just give up the title of Hero. Not while you’re alive.

In other words, it’s that. That thing has happened. I can’t believe it. I don’t want to believe it. That title, though, is clearly listed right there in my stat screen.

On that day, one hero died, and another was born.

---

Chapter War ??

The Shadows of the Great Human-Demon War

“You couldn’t prevent the demon armies from attacking, then?”

“There wasn’t any way. This generation’s Demon Lord has recently been behaving, unusually, like a Demon Lord. This is not at all to our liking.”

“Then, how bad were the casualties on both sides?”

“Tremendous. The loss of the Hero was the greatest blow to the human forces. All of the demon armies suffered profound losses as well in their meaningless assault.”

“Was this as the Administrators predicted, too?”

“Yes. I couldn’t have guessed that a Queen Taratekt would be sent onto the battlefield like that. That was supposed to be one of the Demon Lord’s trump cards.”

“Was it sent out to make General Ahgnar disappear?”

“I can’t say. Perhaps the Demon Lord may have noticed our relationship with Ahgnar, or perhaps she just wanted to crush the humans, the demons, and Kusorion Fortress altogether.”

“In any event, we’ve lost a collaborator, haven’t we.”

“Yes, we did. However, the Queen Taratekt that was sent out is considerably wounded. She won’t be of much use for some time.”

“If we were to attack the Demon Lord, would now be the best time?”

“No. Even if the Queen Taratekt is out of commission, the Demon Lord is still powerful. It would be best to think that only a single asset of hers has its movements restricted.”

“She’s that strong?”

“Her vanguard, named White, is also very strong. I hadn’t even considered that she could outmatch that Hero.”

“Was this Hero perhaps weak?”

“He was not weak, but it’s difficult to simply say that he is strong. As a Hero, he was about average.”

“I see. Shun must be terribly sad.”

“We do what we do so that we can end that sadness. Never forget this.”

“I know that already! So, who’s the new Hero?”

“We don’t know yet. However, one must have been born somewhere. We must find them before the Demon Lord or some other trouble does.”

“I wish my skill would apply to titles, too...”

“That cannot be helped. Skills are not all-powerful.”

“Really, I don’t want to be relying on skills at all. Whenever I use them, I feel really unpleasant, like I’ve been dirtied.”

“Skills are, ultimately, just power. Whatever the Administrators’ motives may actually be, there is no reason to hate power.”

“I know that, but it’s a matter of emotion.”

“I must warn you, no matter how much you hate skills, you must not do anything like what you did ever again, am I clear?”

“Yes. I’m sorry.”

“I’d prefer if you were. You so calmly do such unreasonable things whenever your students are involved.”

“I’m a teacher, after all.”

“Heh. Very well. Oka, go back out and continue working with Leston.”

“Understoo~od!”

“Do not speak like that before me. It’s disturbing.”

---

“Did you really need to send that out?”

“‘That’? Whatever could you be taaaalking about?! If you just say ‘that’, I’ll neeeever understand!”

“The Queen Taratekt.”

“Aaaah, that big ol’ Miss Spider, huh! What an amaaaazing coincidence! She just kinda showed up in the middle of a battlefield!”

“Don’t play dumb.”

“Whoa, Black! You’re scaaaary. White, save meeee!”

“...”

“White, can’t you even give me a little reaction? I’m your big sisterrrr!”

“Don’t change the subject.”

“It’s fine though, iiiisn’t it? It’s not really that big of a deal, right?”

“You think it’s not that big of a deal?”

“Yeah, I do! What? Black, don’t tell me, you’re getting mad about something that small?”

“How many people did you just victimize?”

“Dunno!”

“You, do you think this is a problem that’ll go away if you just don’t know about it?”

“Hey, Black, you sure you want to ask me that?”

“What do you mean?”

“Should you really be calling a tiny little thing like this a problem that’ll go away if you don’t know about it?”

“What are you saying, then?”

“You know what I’m talking about already, don’t you? The truth the world forgot. The truth about your colleagues, who’ve forgotten as well and are just living it up.”

“That’s...”

“Black... no, Administrator Gyuliedistodies. Since you, Mister Administrator, keep acting like that, I had to step up and take on this pain in the ass Demon Lord job, right? You’ve got no right to criticize how I’m doing this.”

“Even so—”

“Even so what? It’s too late already. The humans, the demons, those elves scuttling in the shadows, aaaall of them are guilty of the same crime. All that I’m doing is collecting all that debt they’ve been accumulating aaaall this time. If you’re going to cry and cry about a little thing like this, what are you going to do next time?”

“You’re saying this wasn’t enough?”

“Nope, nope, absolutely not enough at all. I have to make this war even bigger. I have to make this world suffer even more. If I don’t do that, things will never balance out.”

“What will become of the world when it suffers even more than this?”

“Nothing in particular, but if I really had to say it, my distraction?”

“You...”

“Hm? Black, you oppose this? I don’t really mind, you know?”

“You already know, right? Even you couldn’t possibly beat me.”

“Not like I could forget. So, let me say it again. If you want to oppose me, do whatever the heck you want.”

“What do you plan on doing?”

“You reeeeeeally won’t understand unless I say it out loud, huh? Hey, don’t you think there’s a really fine line between bottomless kindness and bottomless stupidity?”

“No, I don’t.”

“Ah, really? Well, you’re probably fine if you just remember this: I don’t think much of those who are saved with only kindness.”

“I was saved by that kindness. You know that means you’re denying us as well?”

“That’s right! So there’s that little bit of hostility, between the two of us.”

“You have no intention of pulling back?”

“Nope!”

“...Understood. For now I’ll go along with your plans.”

“That’s my Black! I kneeeew you’d get it!”

“However, when it becomes impossible for me to agree with you, I will show no mercy.”

“Goooot iiiit! So, let’s hope that that day never comes.”

---

Chapter 111

Delicious Cuisine

[Eh heh heh. You were formidable foes indeed. I shall acknowledge your strength! To think that you brought me so much suffering! A true struggle to the death. Yes! It is most appropriate to call that battle as such. However, facing me, your best attempts were all in vain! Mwahahaha! In the end, I was the victor! Carve the truth you've learned today deep into your very bones: face me and die!!]

Commander Body's strangely fired up. What's with this girl? Has she snapped?

{Commander Information, how long has that girl been this crazy?}

Shh! Good kids don't see these things!

{I seeee... Commander Body has finally leapt far into that domain into which we must not go...}

Yes, she's gone. It's up to us, now, to be strong.

{Commander Body. I shall never forget you, not within the next three minutes!}

Cup noodles?!

{Cup noodles... I'm so hungry...}

You've forgotten about Commander Body already, haven't you?

{There's a... decent chance that I haven't.}

[Hey, isn't this really mean?]

{Commander Body?!}

Imbecible, you've returned to sanity?!

[Hey, uh, it's "impossible"! Right? Otherwise it sounds like you're implying that I'm an imbecile, even when I'm sane.]

Huh?

{Aren't you?}

[Might. I. Have. A. WORD. With. You. Two?!]

We clamor noisily at each other for a while. Well, it really can't be helped that Commander Body got so fired up. After all, she's finally completed descaling the fire drake. Based on what she tells us, it was a hard-fought battle. She descaled a fire drake and three entire eels, a massively enormous task.

She was very clear. Descaling these things took waaaay longer than the entire actual battle did. Well, it's not like I have a clock down here, so I don't know precisely how long either thing all took, but based on my intuition, the battle I was so focused on must have taken a really long time too, so...

On top of that, the one saying how awful of a task it was is Commander Body. While she had been doing that, I (Commander Information) and Commander Magic were chatting with each other while grinding away at raising skill proficiencies. At regular intervals, Commander Body would speak up to say she was tired and that one of us should switch with her, and of course the answer was no.

But I refuse.<sup>1</sup>

Well, we've only got the one body, and there's no actual difference between Commander Body and I, so it's not like switching out would stop me from getting tired anywaaaay, so it's just an emotional problem, I guess? I've somehow managed to implement every child's daydream of having an extra copy of herself to shove all her homework onto.

[Hmph. However, I have triumphed!]

Congratulations!

{Congratulations!}

[Thank you! Thank you!]

Now then, let's get right to eatin'.

[Yeah, I've been waiting for this!]

{Catfish, then eel, then fire drake.}

Surely its flavor must have evolved too!

[When I eat this, I'm straight-up going to scream "DEEEEELICIOUS!"]

{Uh oh. That was a bad-flavor flag.}

Anyhow, let's have a taste!

Hm.

Hm?

Hmm.

[...Complicated.]

{I can't really say it's bad, but I can't really say it's good... it would be amazing seasoned...}

Aha, it's like flounder, it doesn't really have much of a taste.

[Ah, I get it.]

{I think it's got a lot of hidden potential that we could unlock with a little bit of soy sauce.}

Does this world even have soy sauce?

[Probably... not?]

{Oh man, asking a Japanese girl to live a life without soy sauce... it's impossible!} Subcultures and soy sauce are the twin prides of Japan, I think.

[I really wasn't all that interested in food back when I was human, but now that I'm a spider I'm interested as heck.]

{You're so riiight... Japanese cooking is ridiculously delicious!}

Don't give up hope!

[Commander Information?]

It may be true that this world has no soy sauce! However! It may have seasonings that rival it in deliciousness!

{Even if they don't have any seasonings, if we could just have a tasty meal...}

[I know, right? Literally all we've eaten so far has been raw monster meat.]

You can't even really call monsters food, can you?

[What?!]

{To have noticed that... you... are you a genius?!}

Yes, I am! I am a genius.

{Oh maaaaan... I'm a genius, huuuuh... If I'm a genius, then anything I do can be forgiven!}

Precisely! So, today, on this day, I shall make a proclamation! I, in order to eat proper food, shall escape from this Grand Elro Labyrinth!

[Yeah!]

I am sick of eating disgusting monsters all the time!

[I'm sick of stinky meat!]

{I'm literally sick of eating poison!}

I wanna eat something sweeeet.

[Aaaah, please, chocolate...]

{They might not have chocolate, but even just fruit...} Aaaargh, I've been trying not to think about it, but I can't help it!

[Our body craves sugar!]

{If Commander Body's the one saying it, then we're really in trouble if we don't listen!}

Alright! Let's get serious about becoming an Arachne.

[Ahhhh... I guess that's riiiight...]

{Riiight, if you're thinking about communicating with humans...}

Hey, do we want to be stuck eating nothing but monsters until we die?

[Not at aaaaall!]

{I want to eat something tasty!}

Right? The food that humans can make is probably far tastier than raw monsters! I'm gonna stop being a spiiiideeeeer!!

[An Arachne's still a spider, ain't it?]

{Practical question. You're thinking that, once we become an Arachne, we can start communicating with humans?}

With panache!

{Remember how terrible we are at communicating?}

[Hey, I, uh, can't actually remember the last time I had a conversation as a human...]

When even was my last conversation?

{Long enough ago that I can't remember...}

[Are we going to be alright, me?]

P... panache...

{Hey, they don't even speak Japanese, right?}

Ah.

[Ah.]

{This looks pretty bleak.}

---

Translator's notes for this chapter:

1. But I refuse.

---

Chapter 112

Monsters Who Became Metal

Communicating with humans is waaaay too difficult... I'm even bad at sending letters back and forth onliiiiine... When it comes to communication power, mine's the weakest class there is, right? Tch, how could I have known that such a towering wall would stand between me and delicious food?!

Well, I don't have time to get worked up again. Even if I've got my sights set on becoming an Arachne, that's still a long way off. Heck, if I can't even get out of the middle strata, it's not even worth talking about.

After eating the fire drake, I ate the three eels. Even though the drake was more evolved, the eels were still tasty. Isn't that more like devolution?

Since there was just so much of it, as expected, Engorgement's stock actually maxed out. I thought for sure it was going to cap at 1,000, but it turns out I can actually stockpile up to 1,100. It seems that evolving increased its capacity as well. Right now, since I've got way too much stamina, I've got Battle Spirit and Draconic Power running to burn it all off. Draconic Power uses up mana as well, but if I'm not using my mana it'll just go into the stockpile as well, so this is just fine.

Meanwhile, Commander Magic is working on raising the level of my Spatial Magic. The glowing green line in my mind's eye is bouncing around incessantly. Unfortunately, it's not leveling up at all. Not only did this thing cost me five hundred skill points, it's also slow as heck to level. Compared to all the other magic I have, this is taking waaaay more proficiency points to level up. Well, if I can just keep gradually saving up points, I think it'll level up eventually.

Speaking of skill points, I've got some doubts about what my next skill should actually be. If I go with a skill that only costs a hundred points, then I really should go for one of the Evil Eyes that I don't have yet, but there's still a lot of really good skills I could pick if I just saved up a little more... Take the other skills for the Seven Deadly Sins, for instance. I'm pretty sure they're all going to be ludicrously broken skills like Pride, so I absolutely want to get all of them, but the cheapest one on the list, Sloth, still takes one thousand points. Saving up that much is going to be reeeeeeally hard, though... On top of that, Gluttony, the skill I thought that Overeating was going to evolve into, doesn't even show up on the list for some reason. The rest of the Seven Deadly Sins show up there, so this is really puzzling.

Also, there's the Seven Heavenly Virtues, too. I don't know much about those, but they're basically paired with the Seven Deadly Sins, right? There's several of those on the list, but... there aren't all seven of these here, either. I wonder if there's some sort of rule for what shows up?

I'm also kinda interested in that "Hero" skill, toooo... It doesn't have any weird text in its description like how the Seven Deadly Sins skills do, but it looks to be super high-powered, anyway... Well, I say that I'm interested, but since it would take the ludicrous sum of fifteen thousand points to actually acquire, that's firmly out of my reach.

There's a "Demon Lord" skill on the list, too. It's got the same sort of vibe to it that the Hero skill does, but it's way cheaper, at a mere five thousand points. If I were going to take either of them it would be this one, but I'm pretty sure that the instant I did so I'd wind up with a matching "Demon Lord" title, too, so... If I had the skill points, this would be the highest-efficiency use of them for me, and it's got that delicious frosting on top, toooo!

Well, I wonder if I should just play it safe and get the higher-ranked Evil Eyes. There's a bunch of higher-grade ones that can't be bought for a mere hundred points. They're nowhere near as good as the hilariously broken skills, but these are relatively easy to get with skill points, so I wonder if I should go for these after all?

Anyhow, what I also want to be doing is beating up monsters so that I can earn experience to gain more skill points, but... I haven't seen any monsters at all since a while ago. I completely annihilated the mass of monsters the fire drake had been leading, but after that there haven't been any more monsters at all, even when I've been moving around to find more.

No... there actually are some. They're just hiding beneath the magma. Thanks to Detection, I can tell that they've been running and hiding for their lives.

Well, the thing that they're running and hiding from is, uh, me. Probably because of my Bringer of Terror title. Ah, and my Coercion skill too? Between those two, it's only natural they'd be terrified of me.

The way they run makes me think of a certain Metal monster in a certain RPG that's the pride of a certain country. The instant I notice them, they immediately flee. I'm also kinda hating that the ones who keep hiding from me are starting to get ranks in the Stealth skill, too! "How desperate can you be?!", I want to scream at them.

If everything keeps running away like this, I can't actually hunt. On top of that, I won't actually get much experience at all if I manage to kill one of these things, unlike that Metal guy.

Right now, I'm level fifteen. Finally, I've broken level ten. Since Zoa Ere is a high-ranking evolution, I already know that I'm going to need to level beyond level ten in order to meet the conditions. Now that I've passed level ten, I can finally think to myself that I'm a high-ranking species, huh...

Looking at my magic stats again, I feel like I might even be able to hold my own in the lower strata as well. My stats have actually managed to catch up to some of the numbers I saw on Earth Dragon Kaguna a while ago. ...Huh? When... did I get this strong? Eh, I just noticed it now. Now that I'm thinking about it, the only stat I was able to get off of the Earth Dragon was its health, but that was something around 3,000, wasn't it? If you're just looking at my magic stats, wouldn't it be an even match?

Seriously?! I can fight an Earth Dragon?! Argh, no, no. Calm down. We're talking about an Earth Dragon, right? I must be guessing wrong here. Yeah. The only things that actually caught up were my magic stats.

Maaaaan, though, getting this strong... It's easy to see why they're running away. If someone strong like me came barging through, radiating fear from things like Coercion, anyone would want to run away. I'd run too! (Heh, the story of my life.)

But man, I'm in trouble. I can't level up like this.

What do I do now?

---

Chapter 113

Spider vs. Fire Dragon (1)

Hmmmm. I finally managed to get clear of the magma lake and back to an area with some real, solid ground. Sure, I'm happy about that, but ever since then I haven't found any monsters to hunt at all. Thanks to that, my stamina, which I previously had so much of, has actually started to deplete. Of course, it's nowhere near the point where I might starve to death, but in the interest of being economical, I've turned off my stamina-consuming skills.

Aaaargh, what to do! There's noooobody around here that isn't hiding in the magma! And there's no way I can mess with them at all, either. Running away to a field where you have an advantage... how cowardly! Shamelessly avoiding an actual fair fight.

This is still a huge problem, though. Nearly every monster in the middle strata is capable of hiding in the magma. With my speed, if I catch them while they're still on land I can kill them before they can run away, but if they start out already in magma I can do absolutely nothing about it. I'd be kinda happy if I could just kill a bunch of monsters on the shore to maintain my stamina stocks, but doing that won't actually get me any experience points. Maaaan, and I just decided I wanted to save up skill points...

Since I'll be evolving when I hit level twenty, I want to get one more evil eye by then. Once I evolve, I'll use the bonus skill points from that as well as the points from leveling up to start aiming for Sloth, but right now that plan's completely ruined. What do I do now?

If I can get to the upper strata, there won't be any more magma to deal with, so even if monsters try to run away from me it's not like I'd have aaaany problems actually trying to catch up to them... Aaaargh, aren't there any monsters out there that won't try to run away from me?

...Okay, I did think that, but isn't this a little too mean?

Rend, the Fire Dragon — LV 20

Statistics:

HP: 3701/3701 (green) +1200 (details)

MP: 3122/3122 (blue) +1200 (details)

SP: 3698/3698 (yellow) (details), 3665/3665 (red) +912 (details)

Avg. Offense: 3281 (details)

Avg. Defense: 3009 (details)

Avg. Magic Power: 2645 (details)

Avg. Resistance: 2601 (details)

Avg. Speed: 3175 (details)

Skills:

[Fire Dragon (LV 1)] • [Reversed Scale (LV 8)] • [High-Speed HP Recovery (LV 3)] • [Accelerated MP Recovery (LV 6)] • [MP Consumption Reduction (LV 6)] • [Mana Perception (LV 5)] • [Mana Manipulation (LV 4)] • [Offensive Magic (LV 4)] • [High-Speed SP Recovery (LV 1)] • [Greater SP Consumption Reduction (LV 1)] • [Greater Fire Attack (LV 9)] • [Greater Flame Enhancement (LV 7)] • [Damage Enhancement (LV 6)] • [Slashing Enhancement (LV 2)] • [Piercing Enhancement (LV 2)] • [Greater Bashing Enhancement (LV 2)] • [Coordination (LV 10)] • [Command (LV 2)] • [3-D Maneuvering (LV 4)] • [Aiming (LV 10)] • [Evasion (LV 10)] • [Greater Probability Compensation (LV 5)] • [Presence Detection (LV 10)] • [Danger Sense (LV 10)] • [Thermal Vision (LV 3)] • [Flight (LV 7)] • [High-Speed Swimming (LV 10)] • [Engorgement (LV 2)] • [Fire Magic (LV 4)] • [Slashing Resistance (LV 1)] • [Piercing Resistance (LV 1)] • [Greater Bashing Resistance (LV 1)] • [Heat Nullification] • [Status Effect Resistance (LV 1)] • [Greater Vitality (LV 5)] • [Greater Mana Pool (LV 4)] • [Greater Alacrity (LV 5)] • [Greater Endurance (LV 5)] • [Greater Strength (LV 5)] • [Greater Toughness (LV 5)] • [Greater Magic Power

(LV 4)] • [Greater Resistance (LV 3)] • [Minor Teleportation (LV 5)]

Skill points available: 30,050

Titles:

[Monster Slayer] • [Monster Slaughterer] • [One Who Leads] • [Dragon] • [Supreme Ruler]

It started very fast. Maybe we entered each other's Danger Sense radii at the same time, because we readied ourselves simultaneously.

This is a Fire Dragon. It looks like a Fire Drake whose wings had grown even more, making it look truly like a dragon's dragon. From its stats, I can see that it's roughly on the same level as the Earth Dragon Kaguna. ...Man, just when I was thinking I might be able to fight Kaguna, something like this happens, huh?

We're both some distance away from each other. However, it somehow looks like the other guy wants to start something.

What do we do?

[One vote for fleeing.]

{Same!}

Yeeeeep!

So without further ado: activate maximum sprinting speed! I flee at a mad dash. As if I could match a dragon!

Wait, the Fire Dragon's right behind me!

This is bull!

[This is bad. It's even faster than we are!]

{It's overtaking us!}

Commander Magic, get us out of here the usual way!

{Aye aye!}

Commander Magic invokes a certain spell: the seventh-level Shadow Magic spell, Shadow Meld. It's a magic that lets the user sink things into a shadow. The mana expenditure increases based on how large the object is, though it's impossible to sink an object into a shadow smaller than itself. It is, however, possible to change the size of a shadow, thanks to the second-level spell, Widen Shadow. So, I can make a shadow big enough to match whatever I need to stash away.

As for what happens to things submerged in shadow, it seems like they go to someplace you could call the Shadow Dimension. This dimension has no air, nor can you really move around, so it's an incredibly dangerous space that will basically just kill you if you enter it. If I can sink my enemy into it, it's a one-hit KO, I think. However, since it's impossible to actually close the entrance once something's inside, it's comparatively easy to escape from. Plus, if whatever I'm trying to capture tries to resist, it's actually pretty simple to do so. I know this from personal experience, having tried it out on a monster a while ago.

It's a pretty worthless magic on its face, but if I combine it with Shadow Surface, the third-level magic that lets me create shadows even in bright light, I've been thinking that I might be able to use it as an escape magic.

Anyhow, just before the Fire Dragon catches up to me, I plop down into a shadow. Simultaneously, I deactivate Coercion and erase my presence. There's no air in here so I can't breathe, but if I search outside with Detection, I can see that the Fire Dragon is looking around in confusion, its prey having just disappeared into thin air. If it keeps failing to notice me like this and decides to wander off, then my plan is a flawless success. I wonder if I can hold my breath for that long?

Argh, this isn't good.

It figured it out. After looking around restlessly for a little while, it started staring intensely down at its feet. At its feet, where I'm hiding.

That's right. I almost forgot about that one particularly nasty skill in its list. Presence Detection, level ten.

I'm not caught like a rat in a trap. I'm a spider in a shadow.

---

Chapter 114

Spider vs. Fire Dragon (2)

Now that it's come to this, I have no choice but to steel myself. I set the synchronization level of Multiple Wills to its absolute maximum. Next, I have Commander Magic start casting spells.

I stretch the shadow that I'm hiding in into a long spear, and shoot it up towards the dragon. This is my combination of the fourth-level Shape Shadow, the fifth-level Harden Shadow, and the sixth-level Manipulate Shadow spells, which I've named Shadow Spear. I use Shape Shadow to form the shadow into the shape of a spear, give it physical form using Harden Shadow, and then use Manipulate Shadow to move it. The surprising thing about Shadow Magic is that if you don't combine all of the spells from first through sixth level, you can't actually do any direct attacks with it. It's a really hard magic to use. On top of that, its mana consumption is super inefficient. It's a pretty terrible magic that doesn't really have much use at all.

However, right now, this magic's saving my life. The fire dragon easily dodges out of the way of the approaching spear. In that instant, I escape from the shadow I was lurking in, and put some distance between me and the dragon.

It's me versus the fire dragon challenging me. Frankly, I don't think I can win. My opponent's ability scores massively outpace mine. To make things worse, our respective affinities could not match up any worse for me. And, if that wasn't enough, that dragon has the Status Effect Resistance skill.

This skill, just like its name implies, boosts the holder's resistance to any attacks that inflict abnormal statuses. If I add that skill to its already high Resistance stat, then I could probably say that it has tremendous defensive capabilities.

I'm status-effect specced. So that's what I meant when I said our affinities don't match well for me.

To add even more, there's no weak spot in its skillset. Up until now, I've fought against countless monsters with higher stats than mine, but have won thanks to the power of my skills. However, although I technically have a larger number of skills than it does, it has a lot of the same skills that I do, and even some better ones. It has some of our shared skills at a higher level than I do, and it even has the evolved forms of some others.

It has superior stats and skills. Plus, its affinities trump mine. I don't beat it in any measure. Yet I must win. If I don't prevail, I'll die.

I'm prepared for the worst. There's no way that I have literally zero chance of victory, it's just that the odds of my defeat are way higher. I might die here. I'm scared of dying. However, there is no life without death. So, like I said before, shouldn't I blaze as brightly as I possibly can in life, and burn out just as brilliantly? I have no intention of dying, but if my time does come, I'm not just going to stumble into an undignified death.

You going to kill me, dragon? Well, you better come at me with everything you've got. If you think you can get away from this without a scratch, you're wrong.

As soon as I've finished preparing myself, I switch Coercion back on, unleash all of my evil eyes, simultaneously evoke Battle Magic, Battle Spirit, and Draconic Power, and start weaving a spell formula.

The fire dragon, seeing the strength of my resolve, clads itself in blazing fire. The Fire Dragon skill it has seems to be the evolved form of the Fire Drake skill. It's only natural that it would be able to still use the abilities that Fire Drake gave it. One of those abilities is the eighth-level Flame Cloak. It's a more advanced version of the second-level Heatclad ability and, exactly like its name implies, it wraps the user's body in a raging cloak of flame. On top of that, it's an ability that increases the user's movement abilities due to the heat.

Somehow, it seems that this dragon has recognized me as such a formidable foe that it can't let itself be caught unprepared. Neither of us is prideful enough to drop our guards. It's time for a serious fight.

The dragon spits a ball of fire at me. This isn't a real assault, it's just probing my defenses. Even so, if you think about how low my fire resistance is, even this cautious attack is powerful enough to reduce me to cinders if I get hit directly. Regardless, this playful little fireball has just as much power as the strongest one the fire drake ever shot at me.

I dodge with all my might. Thanks to the combination of its Aiming and Greater Probability Compensation skills, it's not something I can dodge so easily. It's at a level that I need to have three different strengthening skills enabled and rely on the full power of my Evasion skill in order to dodge it. I unleash Accelerated Thought and Foresight.

At the same time it spits its fireball, it rapidly moves to close the distance between us. The fireball was a smokescreen to hide its true attack. It whips its long, serpentine body around, lashing out at me with its enormous tail. The powerful physical attack is made only stronger by the roaring flames that are so fatal to me. I barely dodge this as well. Just doing that makes my health go down a little bit.

If I hadn't noticed the dragon's approach with Accelerated Thought and predicted its movements with Foresight, I would have been in serious trouble. Right now, it seems like my evasion skill combo is just slightly better than its Aiming and Greater Probability Compensation combo.

However, things are bad for me right now. No matter how much time passes, the fire dragon is showing no signs of paralysis. It looks like my curse has decreased its health by a little bit, but I've had barely any impact on its stats at all. It looks like it's resisting both of them with its high Resistance stat. I have a hunch that my Evil Eyes would still have an effect if I could give them enough time, but there's no way that the dragon is going to obligingly sit there long enough for that to actually happen.

I narrowly dodge the torrent of claw attacks that come in the wake of its tail slap. The dragon looks at me vigilantly, since that I've evaded even that attack, then immediately puts some distance between us again.

The fire dragon roars.

Panic grips my heart. The Fire Dragon's skills are, generally, higher-ranked versions of the Fire Drake's. It's only natural that a Fire Dragon would be able to use the same skills that the Fire Drake could. Specifically, that one particular skill that drove me into a corner, that skill that embodies the tyranny of the masses itself.

Command.

The higher-ranked form of the Leadership skill the Flame Drake was using, a skill that exerts great control over one's subordinates in order to subdue them.

One by one, I see monsters start to gather within the edges of my Detection. I have no excess pride here. I saw the Fire Dragon as a formidable, superior foe, and had even resolved to die. The dragon, however, has no excess of pride either. It is using its full power to defeat me, even though I'm weaker. There's neither cowardice nor anything else in that.

My chance of surviving, already so low, just diminished even further.

---

Chapter 115

Spider vs. Fire Dragon (3)

I need to end this battle before these new, rapidly-gathering monsters enter the fray. Even in the best conditions, dodging the fire dragon's attacks takes literally all of my energy, leaving none at all to spare for other trivialities.

I fire off a Poison Bullet as I dodge another attack, but before it even gets close to hitting it vanishes. As it approached, the dragon's Reversed Scale skill unraveled its spell formula, and then it hit the Flame Cloak. The already weakened bullet simply evaporated away before the heat of the fire wrapped around the dragon's body. The bullet's power was completely negated, and the dragon didn't even have to lift a single claw to react to it.

Not only does it have instant-kill offensive power, its defensive power is so great that any half-hearted attacks won't even damage it in the slightest. On top of that, it's even faster than I am. If it felt like it, it probably could have used its Evasion and Greater Probability Compensation skills, plus its speed, to easily dodge that Poison Bullet. Man, I don't like this.

Thanks to my Evil Eye of Curses, its health is slowly ticking down. However, all that I'm actually wearing down is the extra health stocked by its Engorgement skill. Unlike me, the Fire Dragon has stocked 1,200 points, the maximum allowed by its skill level. Its mana stockpile is the same. The only thing it doesn't have maxed out is its stamina stock, but even that contains a huge quantity of points.

To be perfectly honest, shaving away at these quantities with my Evil Eyes is pointless. I'd run out of strength long before then. I can't even put my hopes on decreasing its stats. They are decreasing, even if only a little, but the glacial rate it's going at is far slower than with other monsters. It would take an enormous amount of time to get any appreciable effect from keeping this up. I really am going to die long before that actually happens.

I've got one thing that might instantly turn this battle around: the Evil Eye of Paralysis. Even that, though, doesn't seem like something I should be putting a lot of my hopes into. The Fire Dragon's Status Effect Resistance skill's gone up to two. I'd be alright with that if it had already been on the cusp of having enough skill proficiency to level it up, but if it wasn't, that means that my opponent's skill proficiency is accumulating faster than I'm actually able to paralyze it. I don't think it actually has a perfect defense against it, but it seems like it's too much to hope for that it'll actually get completely paralyzed.

Nothing that I've come up with so far is going to work. Now that it's come to this, I don't actually have very many choices left at all. The best method I can come up with is to pump it full of enough poison that its Poison Resistance can't keep up with it at all.

Among all of the weapons in my arsenal, my Deadly Spider Venom is the most lethally potent. Even the Fire Dragon with its Status Effect Resistance shouldn't be able to come out unscathed after a dose of that. However, I don't think a single shot of it will be enough to kill a dragon. Even if I manage to get a lucky hit in, it won't mean a thing. What I need is to get in a powerful, reliable attack.

However, that Flame Cloak stands in my way. It blazes so hotly that even just being grazed by it causes my health to disappear. If I can't break through that, then I've got no way to actually deliver any attack. If I tried, I'd just get incinerated as soon as I moved in.

As I wrack my brains, Commander Body frantically continues to dodge the Fire Dragon's attacks. She's at the point now where she's abandoned all hope of offense and are focusing entirely on evasion. Even if Commander Magic fires off counterattacks, the combination of Reversed Scale and Flame Cloak blows them immediately away. Even my Poison Mist, which once killed a tremendous number of monsters instantly, is worthless against this Flame Cloak.

The Fire Dragon launches itself up into the air. As soon as I see that, I frantically work with Poison Synthesis to adjust the poison that I need.

A moment later, a torrent of raw flame erupts from the dragon's maw. Its enormous breath attack blankets the ground. This is the attack granted by the level ten Fire Drake skill: Hellfire Breath<sup>1</sup>. Where the wide cone of annihilating flame blasts down onto solid rock, it heats it to its melting point, leaving patches of fresh magma in its wake.

I immediately leap into the air, activating Poison Synthesis to create Weak Poison. I make the largest volume of poison I possibly can, and take refuge in the resulting ball of liquid. Since the damage value of the poison is set to its absolute minimum, the health costs of doing so are negligible.

My retreat into the ball of poison happens exactly when the dragon's flame scorches the ground below me. In the aftermath, my poison sphere starts to quickly evaporate. I'm not even being hit directly, but my health is still decreasing. Before my poison evaporates entirely, I fling a line of silk up to the ceiling and frantically scramble up it.

I sprint away along the ceiling, not even daring to look behind me. The dragon, of course, immediately follows me, but before it actually catches up I manage to escape from the patch of fresh magma it just created.

A fireball flies at me. I kick off from the ceiling, flinging myself into the air. The fireball explodes right where I had been an instant before. My body, flung into empty space, is seized by gravity and starts to plummet. The dragon, waiting for this, lunges at me with bared fangs.

As it approaches, I yank on the thread that I'd secretly attached to the ceiling in a spot that was difficult for it to see, simultaneously synthesizing a glob of paralysis-enhanced Deadly Spider Venom. The dragon hurtles through the space beneath me.

It corkscrews sharply as it flies, and my Enhanced Vision shows me that it frantically twisted itself out of the way the instant its jaws snapped shut, avoiding swallowing my poison glob. My strategy of leaving globs of poison in my place that's worked so well on these middle strata monsters so far has just been defeated.

But, I take advantage of that instant of distraction and drop down to the ground once more.

This was a mistake. The ground is now covered by the monsters that the Fire Dragon had summoned. I, now surrounded, have nowhere to move.

There, the dragon once again unleashes its Hellfire Breath. I, without any way to resist, am swallowed by that torrent of flame. My body, without any resistance to fire whatsoever, is immolated by the fire, burned until not even cinders remain.

---

Translator's notes for this chapter:

1. I'm not entirely sure if translating 獄炎 as Hellfire is correct, but a literal hour of wiki crawling didn't turn up anything concrete. It's used a bunch in games, but I was unable able to find official English translations for those skills/items. I did find one thing: in the anime The Seven Deadly Sins, there's an enchantment that's pronounced "Hellblaze" but is written out as "獄炎", using a typographical trick in Japanese where obscure kanji or unusual readings can be phonetically spelled out for the reader. Attaching a cool-sounding foreign pronunciation to a Japanese word, however, doesn't mean that said foreign pronunciation is actually a good translation, just that it's a cool-sounding name. In lieu of any other ideas, though, I went with that.

---

Chapter S18

The New Hero

After receiving the title of Hero, I immediately informed my father, through my teacher. Immediately after that, he summons me home, leaving behind the academy.

It has been a long time since I've returned to the royal castle. However, the more I lose myself to emotion, the less stable my thoughts become. I somehow manage to calm my trembling heart and am reunited with my father. This takes place not in the audience chambers, but my father's official office. Although it's spacious, papers have been scattered everywhere. There, several people have been assembled.

"Slaine," says my father in a heavy voice as I enter the room, "Sorry for calling you out all this way."

Even though I haven't met my father more than a few times, I can instantly tell that his voice is far more solemn than usual. This voice now is far heavier than it was during my appraisal ceremony.

"First of all, let me appraise you to see if you truly have the title of Hero."
"Yes, Father."

In my father's hand rests the same Stone of Appraisal that was used in my appraisal ceremony. As soon as I reply, an awful, crawling feeling envelops my body. This is the same sensation I felt when I first met Miss Okazaki. This is the discomfort that one feels when they are appraised.

"You really do have it."

My father's voice is heavy. He soon brings his hand up to cover his face, weeping.

“Julius...”

My older brother’s name escapes my father’s lips. When I hear it, I can’t bear it any longer either, and tears well up my eyes. Some part of my brain tells me that this is an inappropriate place for it, but even as I struggle to contain myself, my vision is blurry with tears.

I’m grabbed gently by the shoulders. It is the third prince, my older brother closest in age to me, Leston. He gently strokes my head, hugging me gently. I haven’t had very many opportunities to meet Leston either. However, he’s very easy to get along with, and is my favorite brother after Julius.

My composure falls to pieces. I cling to Leston and cry shamelessly. For a while, nothing could be heard in the room but the sounds of weeping.

“Father. I understand very well the desire to lament over Julius’s death. However, we cannot forget what we’re here to do. Let’s begin our conversation.”

The one whose voice breaks the gloomy silence is the first prince, my oldest brother, Cyris. To be honest, I don’t get along with him. I’ve never seen him smiling; he’s always been immersed deep in his work, a sour expression on his face. If you ignore my older sister, who was married off into a foreign family, he is the one sibling that I feel like I could never really get along with.

“Cyris, Father and Shun are both in pain. Can this wait a little longer?”

“No, Leston,” says my father, “Cyris is right.”

“But, Father...”

“Silence, Leston,” says Cyris. “Father said it himself.”

“Cyris...”

“It is fine,” says my father. “We all feel deep sadness for the loss of our family member. However, before we are men, we are royalty. And so, as royalty, we must perform our duties. Sadness can come after.”

He wipes away his tears with his sleeve. His eyes are red and swollen, but in them a fierce light burns. Is this the face of a king? It’s amazing. I could never do that.

“For Slaine to have received the title of Hero, that can only mean Julius has been slain.”

My father, chewing on his lip, says the thing none of us had clearly verbalized before. With those words, the reality of Julius's death is thrust upon me once again.

"This has been hidden from the people, and from you as well, Slaine, but we have received word that the Demon Armies have begun an invasion. It is likely that Julius lost his life in that battle.

The Demon Armies, huh. I'd kept hearing rumors about increasing demonic activity, but it finally happened? Even Julius was unable to beat that army?

"We still haven't received word about the outcome of that battle. I've dispatched an excellent mage skilled in the use of Spatial Magic to retrieve that information, but..."

In that moment, a knock at the door rings through the room.

"Enter."

"I apologize for the intrusion."

The man who enters, whose name I can't remember, is I think one of this country's generals. He slowly walks to the center of the room, then kneels in front of my father.

"I am here to deliver my report, about the war between the human and demon armies."

"Your timing is excellent. So, how did it go?"

"Your Majesty. The precise details of the battlefield are yet unknown, but we have driven back the demon invasion, albeit at enormous cost."

"I see. Continue."

"What we have been able to determine so far is that several of our fortresses have fallen, including Kusorion Fortress."

"What?! That enormous fortress?!"

"Y... yes, your Majesty, although we do not yet have concrete details. The entire front is in chaos, and all we have are the wild rumors flying around. They say the demons summoned an enormous monster, they blew the fort away with an unknown great magic, and so on. We have no idea which reports are true and which are exaggerated rumor."

"Hmm. However, you are certain the demon forces have withdrawn?"

“Yes, your Majesty. There is no doubt about that.”

“I understand. I thank you for your report. Keep up the good work.”

“Yes, your Majesty! Please excuse me.”

The general leaves the room. My father broods over something, his eyebrows knotted together. My brothers and I wait for his next words.

“Julius’s death has yet to be confirmed, it seems.”

“Indeed. The battlefield is still too chaotic. What should we do now?”

“For now, let’s keep his death, and Slaine’s gaining of the Hero title, a secret.”

Nobody in the room disagreed with my father’s decision. I am still not yet well-versed in the politics, but I agree that it’s best not to say things that you don’t have to.

“We don’t know whether or not the demon armies have completely retreated. If we announce that the Hero died in vain, the people will lose all hope. Julius’s death will be revealed at some point once word from the battlefield spreads, but until then we will not say anything.”

“Father, what shall Slaine do now?”

“Slaine, unfortunately, will have to withdraw from the academy. In addition, make the necessary preparations so that we can announce the new Hero at any time.” He turns to me. “Slaine,” he says.

“Yes, father.”

“Things might be chaotic because they’re happening so fast, but from now on, you’re the Hero. You are the successor to Julius’s will, and must stand upon the battlefield bearing all the hopes of humanity on your shoulders. You might not be ready for this yet. In the short time we have until Julius’s death is widely known, I want you to find that resolve within you.”

The hopes of humanity? That, and that resolve... to be so suddenly asked to do so...

“Now is the time for you to put your heart in order. You may retire for now. Rest well.”

I’m grateful for his words. Today, I’ll spoil myself.

“I’m sorry. Excuse me.”

With those short words, I exit the room. My father and Leston look on with worried eyes. Cyris's eyes are cold. The door shuts behind me, cutting off their stares. I feel the sudden urge to collapse on the spot, but I somehow bear it and move forward.

---

It has been thirty days since then. I have spent that entire time in the castle, training by myself. Since I have become the Hero, I must become strong. That, however, is only what I tell the others. In truth, if I don't do something, then I'll brood over all of the things that worry me and I won't be able to keep myself calm. When I move my body, I feel just a little bit calmer.

From what I've heard, Julius's death is still being concealed from the world. While my father's forbiddance holds tremendous weight, it also seems that the various other countries have decided that revealing the Hero's death to the masses is a dangerous idea. Those who were at the battle already know what happened, but at the very least in this country, so far separated from that battlefield, those rumors don't seem to be spreading.

The demon races don't seem to be continuing their attacks. It's easy to think that they had also taken significant damage in that attack, so they can't take any further action, at least for now. However, I can't be caught unprepared. This is no longer somebody else's problem.

Things at the academy are the same as ever, it seems. I talk with Katia and Sue frequently via Farspeech, and that's what they've told me.

"How are things over there?" I ask.

"Nothing has changed," replies Katia, "although there was a bit of a stir when you so suddenly left the academy."

"Really? Say hi to everyone for me."

"Certainly, but of course."

"Sue, you doing okay?"

"I'm fine."

"That's good. How are things?"

"Yulie was called away to the church today."

"She did?"

"Yeah. I think that the church heard about the Hero's death by now."

“So they’d call back Yulie, one of the Saint candidates, huh...”

“I think so. The Saint was one of one of Julius’s companions, right?”

“It seems that all of his allies, except for Hyrinth, were wiped out.”

“...I see.”

“I heard that Hyrinth is going to be returning to this country soon. I think I could probably have a talk with him then. I have a lot of things I want to ask him.”

“Yes, brother. Could you be as docile as you can?”

“Huh? Well, Father still hasn’t revealed that I’m the Hero now, and he told me not to let that slip. I won’t embarrass myself.”

“That’s good, then.”

“Man, you’re saying some weird things. Are you maybe worried for me?”

“Of course I am.”

“Well, thank you.”

“...You’re welcome.”

We have several more conversations like that. Hyrinth was Julius’s childhood friend, and was a fighter of comparable strength to Julius himself. I met him countless times when he was with Julius. When he returns, I’m sure I’ll be able to ask him about a lot of things... such as how my brother died.

To be honest, I can’t even believe that my impossibly powerful older brother could have died so easily. Perhaps he was caught in some dastardly trap, or maybe he faced an army so enormous that even he couldn’t handle it? In a one-on-one fight, I can’t imagine Julius ever losing. I’m sure that everything will be cleared up as soon as Hyrinth comes back.

I, in order to bolster my sinking heart, immersed myself in independent training.

---

“Shun received the Hero title.”

“That’s the worst.”

“Yeah. Plus, there are some suspicious things happening around him. I don’t think I’ll be able to support him that well.”

“Alright. I’ll return immediately.”

“Sorry to keep you so busy.”

“A teacher will work however hard she has to for the sake of her students.”

“I really admire your dedication.”

“Hah, I don’t think I was ever quite this hot-blooded before, though.”

“What should I tell Master Potimas?”

“I’ve already told him. We have to be ready to hide Shun amongst the elves if worse comes to worst.”

“I see. That may be for the best.”

“You don’t object?”

“After Julius died, the last thing I want is for his little brother to die too. If it comes to that, I’d much rather he lives, even if it means I don’t get to see him ever again.”

“I guess you’re right. Let’s do the best we can.”

“Yeah. I’ll leave it to you.”

---

Chapter 116

Spider vs. Fire Dragon (4)

The battle is over, and the Fire Dragon overlooks the new lake of magma that it has just created. There, the forms of its subordinate monsters can be seen, but there is no trace of a spider. Its subordinates all have Heat Nullification, but a spider has no such thing. There is no method in existence by which one could survive a direct hit by a Fire Dragon's most powerful breath attack.

And if you think that you're a moron!

An enormous globule of poison springs into existence above the Fire Dragon. This poison is not the Weak Poison I enveloped myself in a moment ago, but my most overwhelmingly lethal Deadly Spider Venom, endowed with the maximum paralysis effect I can give it. The dragon, sure of its victory, had let its guard slip, and sphere of poison lands a direct hit on it. The huge poison glob crashes straight through the dragon's blazing armor and eroding away at its body.

Aaaand theeeen... throwing my entire weight into it, I strike with my sickles!

I slip my attack through its defenses, perfectly timed in the exact instant that my poison extinguished its cloak of flame. This attack contains every last bit of power that I could possibly pour into it. More precisely, the double combo of Deadly Poison Attack and Decaying Attack! The Decaying Attack dissolves the dragon's tough scales, and my Deadly Poison Attack eats away at it through those wounds. It's my most powerful possible physical attack, and I personally think it's pretty nasty.

The Fire Dragon, bellowing out in pain, falls down into the magma. I quickly scramble up the thread I brought down with me, returning to the ceiling.

The dragon, I'm sure, must have clearly seen me absolutely incinerated. I'm sure it is quite confused right now.

The reason I survived is actually very simple. I never actually was in the way of its breath attack to begin with! I'd never actually left the ceiling at all.

This was made possible due to the effects of my sixth-level Corruption Magic spell, Phantasm. It's my number-one trump card, which I've been waiting for the exact right moment to use. Phantasm is a spell that shows the target what you might call an illusion. I'd cast it shortly after dropping that glob of poison in its path. In its frantic haste to avoid swallowing it, I took advantage of its moment of weakness and slipped my spell past its defenses. If I hadn't waited for a moment like that to cast my magic, its Reversed Scale skill and its powerful Resistance stat would have let it shrug it off easily. I'm positive the Fire Dragon saw me descend to the ground, but in reality I've been on the ceiling this whole time.

Then, when the dragon lowered its guard in the wake of its victory, I launched my sneak attack. After taking the full force of my strongest physical attack, it of course took a tremendous amount of damage.

In the moment my Phantasm took effect, I thought about fleeing. However, I cannot flee now. I've fled for my entire life as a spider, and if I continue fleeing, then I'll never grow past where I was when the humans burned my home all those days ago.

I will live proudly.

I won't be able to achieve that goal. I won't ever be able regain my pride, no matter how much time may pass. That is not okay.

I am the Lord of Pride. I must live proudly. Thus, I cannot flee. Even if my chance of victory is slim, as long as there is a chance, I will not flee.

Right here, right now, I will win against the Fire Dragon. I will win, and I will say farewell to the weak, frail me of the past. That's right, I will surpass this annoying little dragon.

...? Annoying? Huh? I thought it was pretty terrifying, but I'm pretty sure I didn't think it was annoying...? Huh? Where did this thinking come from?

Well, it's not like it matters right now. Even if I got in a single enormous attack, that doesn't change the fact that I'm still at a serious disadvantage. My health total is currently sitting at 1. I had to activate Patience. On top of the fact that I've been losing health bit by bit over the course of this fight, the recoil from that last attack really hurt.

Corrosion Attack is incredibly powerful, but that means that the backlash is powerful as well. However, that's not the only thing that did damage to me. Even with the fact that my poison shower extinguished the dragon's flame armor, there was still enough heat left over to seriously hurt me.

I still have mana. In other words, I'm still not dead. However, now any of the Fire Dragon's attacks spell certain death. Even if the dragon I'm facing took a tremendous amount of damage from my all-out attack, it still has strength remaining. Plus, it has allied monsters backing it up. I'm still very much at a disadvantage here.

I drop down from the ceiling, for real this time, carefully avoiding the magma. The Fire Dragon is still sinking down into the pool. The other monsters seem to have been crushed by the dragon's body in the immediately aftermath of its breath attack and don't have time to deal with me. Now is my chance.

I put into motion my second trump card, which I've been preparing since the very start of this battle. My mana reserves deplete at a stupendous rate. In my current condition, spending mana is exactly like spending my own remaining life force. However, even so, this magic will have an effect that's definitely worth the cost.

Isn't that right, Commanders Magic?
{You betcha!}
<Leave it to us!>

Thanks to Multiple Wills, which leveled up, I can now put into effect spells that require two peoples' power to activate. Commander Number Two has been readying it this entire time, and now that Number One has turned to assist, it is now finally possible to cast this spell.

Now, open wide... O Gates of Hell!

Instantly, the world darkens. A blackness so profound that it swallows all of the light of the magma spreads across the ground, as if the darkness of the Hell buried deep under the earth is leaking out into the world above. It swallows the magma, it swallows the land, it swallows the monsters. The overflowing darkness swallows everything.

This is the level one Abyssal Magic spell: Gates of Hell, the highest ranked darkness magic that heralds the arrival of Hell. This is the manifestation of that in this world.

The blackness spreads out to engulf everything, then rushes back into a single point, suddenly sinking back into the earth and disappearing, as if it has been sealed back up again, as if the Gates of Hell have once again been closed.

All that's left behind are myself and an extremely beat-up Fire Dragon. Are you serious? It survived against that? It, however, doesn't have much health left. Its mana and stamina are also basically gone. I'm sure that it used some skill to use those in place of its health. If it didn't, then I have no other way to explain how it could have survived the Gates of Hell.

My mana is also almost completely depleted after casting Gates of Hell. In other words, that left me extremely worn-out as well.

Both of us are on our last legs. Victory will be decided by the next attack.

The method the dragon chooses is the most primitive one possible: flinging itself at me. Ahh, that's the correct answer. Since we're both out of mana and stamina, it doesn't have any form of attack that's any more effective than that, and with a Fire Dragon's enormous build and its high stats, it's still an extremely powerful one.

If its opponent wasn't me, that is.

I am a spider. What's a spider's greatest weapon? Is it her poison, her claws, her fangs? No. None of those.

The Fire Dragon stops in midair, snared by my Fire Resistance infused All-Purpose Silk. Even though it's fire-resistant, though, it can only be used for a moment here in the central strata. But a moment is all I need. When the Fire Dragon's been stripped of its Flame Cloak, I can snare it for just the briefest instant.

In that instant, I swing my sickle down. Though one of my sickles had been rendered useless by my last attack, I have one on each forelimb. So, with all my remaining strength behind it, I slice through the Fire Dragon's body.

---

Chapter 117

Dragon Slayer

“Experience requirements met. Zoa Ere, you have grown from level 15 to level 16. Every ability score has been increased. Acquired bonus skill proficiencies from leveling up: your skill, [3-D Maneuvering (LV 9)] has grown to level 10. Your [3-D Maneuvering] skill has reached its maximum level, and has evolved into a new skill, [Spatial Maneuvering]. You have gained additional skill points.”

“Experience requirements met. Zoa Ere, you have grown from level 16 to level 17. Every ability score has been increased. Acquired bonus skill proficiencies from leveling up: your skill, [Decay Resistance (LV 1)] has grown to level 2. You have gained additional skill points.”

“Experience requirements met. Zoa Ere, you have grown from level 17 to level 18. Every ability score has been increased. Acquired bonus skill proficiencies from leveling up: your skill, [Evasion (LV 9)] has grown to level 10. Your [Evasion] skill has reached its maximum level, and a new skill, [Probability Compensation (LV 1)], has been unlocked. You have gained additional skill points.”

“Experience requirements met. Zoa Ere, you have grown from level 18 to level 19. Every ability score has been increased. Acquired bonus skill proficiencies from leveling up: your skill, [Aiming (LV 9)] has grown to level 10. Your [Aiming] skill has reached its maximum level, and a new skill, [Probability Compensation (LV 1)], has been unlocked. Your new skill, [Probability Compensation (LV 1)], has been integrated with your existing skill, [Probability Compensation (LV 1)]. Additionally, your skill, [All-Purpose Silk (LV1)] has grown to level 2. You have gained additional skill points.”

“Requirements have been met. You have earned the title [Dragonslayer], and have been awarded the skills [Heavenly Vitality (LV 1)] and [Dragon’s Might (LV 1)]. Your existing skill, [Greater Vitality (LV 1)], has been integrated with your new skill, [Heavenly Vitality (LV 1)], and your existing skill, [Drake’s Might (LV 3)] has been integrated with your new skill, [Dragon’s Might (LV 1)].”

The so-called “Voice of Heaven” rings out as the Fire Dragon’s status window disappears, replaced by a simple label: “Fire Dragon’s Corpse”. Once I see that, I finally can relax.

No monsters can be seen anywhere around me. There should have been quite a few of them gathered around, even outside of my Abyssal Magic’s range, but when I quickly search them out with Detection I quickly confirm that they’re all running away. Are they running away because they saw the Fire Dragon get done in, or because of the Abyssal Magic? Either way, it’s a huge relief; I’m completely worn out. Stat-wise, I’m completely recovered thanks to that level-up, but mentally I’m still absolutely exhausted.

It’s like this every time, but fighting that battle was like walking on a tightrope. It’s halfway miraculous that I survived at all. I mean, if I had gotten hit by even one of that Fire Dragon’s attacks, I would have been immediately out. Even after just getting hit by the aftershocks I was still close to death, right? A direct hit would have blown completely past my Patience and obliterated me on the spot.

If Multiple Wills hadn’t leveled up immediately before I ran into that dragon, that would have been seriously bad. When it did, I then had two commanders in charge of magic. Thanks to that, I was then actually able to use the Abyssal Magic that I couldn’t have used before. I say that, though, but I didn’t even get a chance to practice it in advance. I could figure out based on the shape of the spell formula that it was some kind of annihilation magic, but the sheer scope of its destructive power was so out of my expectations that I’m actually kind of scared.

I mean, it left a hundred-meter radius, five-meter tall hole in the earth, centered on me. At the point where all the darkness rushed together and collapsed, there’s an extremely deep hole. It’s so deep that, when I try sweeping it with Detection, I only discover that it goes far out of my range. Isn't this deep enough that it could connect the central and lower strata? Nah, I don't even know if the lower strata is actually at the bottom of this. Man, I can't shake the thought that this hole leads straight down to Hell. As expected of the Gates of Hell.

Even monsters would flee at such a display of power. Although, even though I'm sure I killed a tremendous number of them, I didn't level up, huh... Leveling up at that point would have given me a little more breathing room, though. Was it just not enough XP? Hmmmm. I'm positive I killed a ton of monsters, right?

Well, whatever. Somehow, I won.

Aaaargh, though, I only leveled up to ninteeeen!! Just one more level and I would have evolved! I'm so disappointed.

Ah, crud.

[What's wrong, Commander Information?]

Since that Abyssal Magic cut a new hole in the ground, there's magma pouring in.

"Whoa, seriously?"

Seriously seriously. Commander Body, load up that Fire Dragon's corpse and evacuate!

[That huge freakin' thing?!]

But of course!

[Uuuugh. I'm gonna be sore tomorrow...]

And, so, laboriously, I withdraw, dragging the Fire Dragon's body with me. The magma isn't moving particularly quickly, but moving the Fire Dragon made progress incredibly slow so I just barely managed to make it out. I nearly sank into the magma.

I really shooooould have abandoned the Fire Dragon, but it took so much effort to actually bring it down that not eating it would be really improper! Beat it, eat it, and be grateful! That's the package deal! Well, I guess all the monsters swallowed up by the Abyssal Magic were utterly destroyed, so I can't eat them.

Whew. Well then, Commander Body, as usual, descale the body.

[Yaaaay. Fuuuuck.]

Now then, as usual, shall we check all these skills?

---

Chapter 118

What It Means To Slay A Dragon

Alright, alright, skill time! Paying close attention to how all these new skills work is essential. Extremely essential. Why? Because until recently I had no freaking clue that All-Purpose Silk could have resistances added to it!!

Yeah, seriously. I'm an idiot. How the heck did I miss something so crucial?

One aspect of All-Purpose Silk, granting resistances, does exactly what its name implies: I can grant the effects of any of my resistance-type skills to my silk. Or, more precisely, I can add Fire Resistance to my silk. Granting it Poison Resistance or any of the various status-effect resistances is pretty useless, but if I gave it something like, say, Acid Resistance, then it would be massively effective against one of those frogs.

I found out about resistance-granting completely by accident, when I was going over some of my skills again a little while ago. Man, I was shocked. Shocked by the fact that it had such an effect, and even more shocked by the fact that I was unobservant enough that this completely managed to slip by me!

Aaaah, if only I'd seen it a little bit earlier, I might have had more opportunities to use my silk. Well, I say that, but even if I add a bunch of Fire Resistance, it doesn't change the fact that it's still rather easy to burn, so I proooooobably wouldn't have had dramatically more opportunities to show it off. I guess I could call it helpful.

So, time to check on all of my new titles and skills.

That's a Dragon for you. I neeeever would have thought I'd get a title just for beating a single one. So, what does it do?

Dragon Slayer: Granted skills – [Heavenly Vitality (LV 1)] and [Dragon's

Might (LV 1)]. Acquisition criteria – Destroy dragons. Effect – Increases damage dealt against drakes and dragons. Description – A title bestowed to those who defeat dragons.“

Feels like the upgraded form of Drake Slayer, huuuuh... Skills look like that, too.

Heavenly Vitality: Increases health based on one hundred times the skill level. In addition, when leveling up, provides an additional increase to health based on ten times the skill level.

Dragon's Might: Temporarily gain the power of a Dragon.

I did it! I got a skill that will compensate for my terrible health pool! I mean, thanks to Patience, I wasn't quite as frail as that, but in the end, HP is HP, you know. I might run into another situation like this where I have to use a lot of mana, too. Aaaargh, but, what a waste, my level-ups came too early! If they'd been processed after my titles were awarded, I'd be waaaay more excited about four levels' worth of bonus health... Mmmm, well, can't be helped.

Dragon's Might is the upgraded form of Drake's Might, huh? That means it's just a straight-up temporary stat-boosting skill. I need to figure out at some point what the actual power difference is between the two skills. This is important. This is extremely important. I didn't have the time to test Abyssal Magic before I used it so I just kind of did it on-the-fly, but it really is important to actually understand what a skill does.

Yeaaaah. Abyssal Magic, huuuuh... I really want to test-fire all the level two and higher spells, but maaaan, its power is no joke. I mean, the level one spell was strong enough to reshape the earth, right? What's going to happen at higher levels? The mana expenditure was insane as well, so these aren't the kind of spells I can just fire off whenever the heck I want. I also have no idea how big these might wind up being, so, since this is in fact an underground labyrinth, if I'm careless about blasting these spells everywhere, then I know there's a good chance I'll just collapse this place down around me.

Right now, knowing how ludicrously powerful even just the level one spell is, I'm a little bit scared to test out the others. Unless I encounter a powerful enemy that's somehow able to withstand Gates of Hell, I'm going to lock away the level two and higher spells until I get out of the Great Elro Labyrinth.

Now then, next is the new skills that evolved out of or got derived from the skills I got when leveling up. Probability Compensation got derived from Evasion and Aiming. 3-D Maneuvering evolved into Spatial Maneuvering.

Probability Compensation is what those eels (and their higher-ranked friends) had. Well, based on how their skills were organized, this isn't really unexpected. Since both Evasion and Aiming are capped out, it looks like now I just need to start raising Probability Compensation. If I do that, then my evasiveness and accuracy will rise as well.

You knooooow, this skill looks like it might even increase my luck! Let me pray real quick. Dear God, please let me live just a slightly more peaceful life.

Right! So what I'm really interested in is the skill that 3-D Maneuvering turned into: Spatial Maneuvering. Show me, show me!

Spatial Maneuvering: Allows the user to move freely in any kind of empty space.

Huh? That description sounds pretty amazing, but I don't actually get it. "Any kind of empty space"? You mean, like, the sky? Does this mean I can, like, double jump? I need to make sure I test this out later, too.

Lots of skills so far have gotten way easier to use when they evolved. Even some really disappointing skills have suddenly mutated before, so it's possible that Spatial Maneuvering might wind up being a pretty good skill. If I can do a double-jump, the scope of my tactical possibilities gets blown wide open.

I think that's about it, right? Yeah. My skills have powered up a ton. If I'd only gotten just one more level, thooooough... I could have gotten an even bigger power boost! Ugh, so frustrating.

---

"A dragon died? In the Great Elro Labyrinth, huh. Was it... no, can't be, they've agreed to stay out of fighting. They wouldn't move on their own, I don't think. So what did kill it, then? Invoke administrator access. ...What? A Lord? A Lord of three things? What the hell? And what's this "Wisdom" skill I don't know anything about? Who could have done this... was this D's work? But why?

What is this skill? ...I think I need to investigate."

---

Chapter 119

Laser Eyes!! Well, not really, but...

Ugh, still descaling?

[Switch with me, then.]

But I refuse!

Descaling everything still seems to be happening. So, in the meantime, let's use up these new skill points and pick up a new Evil Eye. Thanks to my four new levels, I've earned two hundred skill points, which is enough for one of these higher-grade Evil Eyes. The ones I can get for two hundred points are:

Evil Eye of Lightning (200): Applies lightning-attributed damage to a target in your field of view.

Evil Eye of Wind (200): Applies wind-attributed damage to a target in your field of view.

Evil Eye of Earth (200): Applies earth-attributed damage to a target in your field of view.

Evil Eye of Heaviness (200): Applies weight-attributed damage to a target in your field of view.

Evil Eye of Darkness (200): Applies darkness-attributed damage to a target in your field of view.

Evil Eye of Soul Rending (200): Applies the Corruption Magic spell "Soul Rending" to a target in your field of view.

Evil Eye of Stupefaction (200): Applies the Corruption Magic spell "Stupefaction" to a target in your field of view.

It's come to this. The kinds of Evil Eye I could buy with a hundred points were all status-affliction types, but these all look like elemental damage types. The elements I'm weak against, like fire, take even more points to get.

Those two Corruption-attributed skills look really nasty, but I think I'm definitely going to learn those spells as part of Corruption Magic at some point so, once again, I'll pass on those.

And, as such, I'm left with the elemental-attributed Evil Eyes... but now I'm not sure what to pick. The one I'd have the best affinity to is probably the Darkness one, but I don't really want to make that element any more central to my strategies. I may have more means of attack right now, but, in the past, all I had was my silk and my poison. If either of those got countered, my chances of victory straight-up vanished. I can't really believe that all the different forms of attack I now have could all be simultaneously countered, but even still I think it's best for me to have a very broad spectrum of possible attacks. So, Darkness is out.

That leaves me with four: Wind, Lightning, Earth, and Heaviness. Except, um... what the heck is an Evil Eye of Earth? What would that even look like? I can't even imagine. I really want to try it just to see, but I have a hunch that it would be completely useless to anything that could fly through the air. That's probably not actually the case, but there is that one worst-case-scenario. Let's give up on Earth.

Three more. Still can't decide.

Wind, I think, is probably going to blast anyone in my line of sight with shockwaves. Wouldn't that be something I could use defensively too, though? Like countering fireballs as they fly towards me. The effect is applied to "a target in my field of view" so I think those might actually be legal targets.

Lightning is a straight-up attack type. Out of the three options I have left, this looks like the most powerful. I'm kinda curious about it, because lightning is usually associated with things like paralysis, isn't it? If it did apply paralysis, then if I also used the Evil Eye of Paralysis, maybe the rate of effect would go up. It's pretty likely that that's not the case though...

Heaviness makes me think of gravity. The other two look like single-shot attack types, but this feels like it a continuous effect. It would magnify the force of gravity on a target, I think.

Each of them have their strong points, so I still can't decide. Hmmmm...

Alright, got it!

“You currently possess 200 skill points. The skill [Evil Eye of Heaviness (LV 1)] can be acquired for 200 skill points. Would you like to acquire it now?”

Yes.

“You have acquired the skill [Evil Eye of Heaviness (LV 1)]. You have 0 skill points remaining.”

The skill I’ve selected, after all that worry, is Evil Eye of Heaviness, because I think that it’ll let me hinder my opponent’s movements. I can slow them with Heaviness, weaken them with Curses, and finish them off with Paralysis to shut them down completely. My Evil Eye triple combo is complete!

So, I’ve tried focusing my Evil Eyes around stopping my enemies’ movements. I’ve got other relatively strong offensive moves as well. If it comes down to it, I can get a more suitable magic skill when I get a hundred points again.

Huh? Maybe doing that to begin with would have been better, wouldn’t it? I’ve been really focused on Evil Eyes, but... I’m really well specced for status-affecting magics, aren’t I? Getting magic skills would have been a better idea, wouldn’t it?

Of course not. Let’s stay the course. I’m absolutely not unhealthily fixated on the idea of blasting out eight Evil Eyes simultaneously. This is a fact, because I’m telling you it’s a fact.

Well, no matter what I do in the future, I’ve got to save up my points for now, huuuuh... I don’t actually know how many bonus points I’ll get when I evolve, you knooooow... Let’s just adjust my actual strategy depending on how many points evolving is worth. If it’s a lot, then I might start looking at some of the stupid expensive skills, like Sloth, that I’ve been thinking are out of my reach.

Now then, now then! I did not pick up the Evil Eye of Heaviness solely for combat purposes, you know. Let’s give it a shot: Evil Eye, activate!!

[Guh! What are you doing, Commander Information!]

What? Oh, I’m trying on some extra gravity.

[It’s heavy!!]

I’ve been thinking. You know what I don’t have enough of? Muscle!

[Oh god, what is she talking about...]

The Z-Fighters train under many times normal gravity so that they can gain the power they need to defeat their oncoming foes!

[Ah... I mean, I understand what you're saying, but this is kind of getting in the way of dscaling, you know?]

There's no point to it if you don't get used to it being on all the time!

{This is great! You got this, Commander Body!}

[Just die!!]

And, so, I've started constantly weighing myself down with extra gravity. Yep. This Evil Eye seems like it does exactly what I thought it did: increase the gravity on anything that enters my field of view. If I keep this on me all the time, then not only is my skill proficiency going to go up, but I'm positive my physical stats will raise as well. If everything goes great, my Greater Strength skill might even go up as well.

Right now my Evil Eye is still at level one, so it's only a little heavy, but as the level starts increasing, it'll start being a huge weight. When the next battle comes around, I can drop this effect at will, like I'm disabling the limiters on my power level. This is going to be great! I'm really going to want to scream "Limit Break!!" when I do that.

...No voice is actually going to come out, though.

---

Chapter 120

Administrator

[Scaling compleeeete!]

Good job.

{Praise-worthy.}

<Passing marks, I guess.>

[What's with those self-important attitudes?!]

Commander Body has finally finished descaling the Fire Dragon. Now, at long last, I can taste its deliciousness. Now, then, just how does a Fire Dragon taste, I wonder?

My Spatial Sense tingles. Some kind of spatial distortion? It's my first time feeling this, but I somehow know what it is. This is a transportation. Something is in the process of being teleported here.

I can't interrupt it. The level of my Spatial Magic skill is absolutely insufficient to interfere with the workings of an opponent able to manipulate space to such an advanced degree. All that I see of the person teleporting in is the distortion they're making in space, and all I can tell from that is that they're amazing at using Spatial Magic. If we're talking solely about Spatial Magic, they're far more powerful than I am.

The biggest problem here is that this guy is using magic. In other words, this guy is intelligent enough to be able to use magic.

Until now, there haven't been any monsters who used magic against me. That fire dragon was the first I've seen that even had a magic skill at all and, in the end, it never actually used it.

It's only natural. Using magic requires the difficult, painstaking construction of a spell formula. You need intelligence in order to be able to handle that easily. In the case of the Fire Dragon, it's far more effective for it to use its skills to hurl a fireball at me than it is for it to construct a spell formula for it. There probably are monsters out there who use magic, but there are plenty of skills out there that are far simpler and more powerful than magic.

However, whoever is in the process of teleporting in right now is constructing an extremely complicated spell formula. They have a powerful will, and they are focusing it to come here. Why, though? The only thing here is me. Since that's the case, I can't think of any other reason besides me. I mean, they could just be showing up down here coincidentally, but there's no way I could actually believe it.

Thanks to Accelerated Thought, I come to this conclusion in the pause between two sentences. I put myself on guard.

Space shatters, and a single man appears.

He is black. There's no other adjective to describe him but black.

Black armor, so slender as to seem to be merged with his body itself. Black skin, on the one part of his face that can actually be seen. Black hair, as well. Only his eyes are different, and they glow a strange shade of red.

The instant I see this man, I understand. I cannot beat him. He's on an entirely different playing field. And then, there's this:

Impossible to appraise.

Those words.

However, for some reason I'm not getting any real sense of danger from him. On the contrary, I feel a sort of sense of familiarity from him. Plus, at the same time, I feel a strange kind of irritation towards him.

Why?

This is the first time I'm meeting this black man. If a bizarre person such as this were to suddenly appear in front of me, I'd think that I, for one, wouldn't have these kinds of feelings. So what is with these emotions?

“ * * * * * ? ”

The man says something. However, I don't understand the language he's speaking in. Without thinking about it, I tilt my head to the side in doubt.

“ + + + + + ? ”

He says something again. Um, speak Japanese, please. I can't understand you otherwise. No comprende alternate-universe-ese.

The man scowls.

Hmmmm. Well, to start with, it looks like this man has no hostile intent towards me. But, what do I do now? I don't understand a single word of what he's saying, and even if I could I have no way to talk back at him. I could maybe try communicating in writing, but I can't write in anything but Japanese. Neither of us can understand each other, no matter what I do.

This is a problem. It looks like that man's somewhat bewildered, to.

As an awkward silence stretches out, something clatters to the ground between the two of us.

A smartphone.

Huh? Wait, wait. I have absolutely no idea why there's a smartphone there now, but how did it get there in the first place? It didn't even tickle my Detection at all when it suddenly appeared, right?

“Hello. This is Administrator D.”

A voice suddenly comes out of the smartphone. Double-layered, on top of that. One layer's Japanese, and the other's in some language I haven't heard before. Ah, wait, is this the language that man was speaking earlier?

“ * * * * * ! ? ”

Ah, that man looked pretty startled when he said whatever he said. So, it seems that the other language is that man's language or, in other words, the language of this world.

“That's correct. I am D. Miss Spider, please wait one moment.”

Ah, yes. I've been asked to wait, so I'll wait. The smartphone voice and the man talk about something in alternate-universe-ese for a moment.

The voice from the phone is a woman's voice. It's a very pretty voice, but hearing it puts me on edge. It's that kind of voice. Her tone and cadence are very flat, and the utter lack of emotion in her words is terrifying. What's with her?

As the conversation continues, the man's expression changes. It's not a huge change, but his brow furrows and his eyes open a little wider.

Then, perhaps the conversation reached a stopping point, because the man suddenly lets out an enormous sigh and turns around abruptly. Then he uses Spatial Magic to teleport away.

Leaving just me and the smartphone.

"Thank you for waiting. After my conversation with him, he should not personally interfere with you any more."

Ah, is that so? Rather, who might you be?

"D."

Ah, right. ...Uh?! Wait a minute?! Did... you just read my mind?!

"Yes, I did."

That's a violation of my privacy!

"As you are unable to speak, this is only a temporary measure. I do not ordinarily go as far as to read your thoughts."

'Go as far', so, does that mean you've been observing me?

"I would rather not call what I've been doing 'observation'. It's more like spectating."

Whatever. You're stalking me.

"It seems I am. I never get tired of watching you, after all."

D... I remember now. I heard that name when I acquired Wisdom.

"That's right. That is your reward for trying so hard. I am glad that it seems to be useful to you."

What's your goal with all this?

"Simple amusement."

Huh?

"Just simple amusement. There's no further meaning behind my actions."

Are you serious?

"Indeed, for I am the worst, most evil god in this world."

...This gal's bad news. Seriously bad news. It wasn't just my imagination that made my whole body shiver, just from hearing her voice. This woman is a real, live, evil god. The kind that could snuff out my existence with a thought, should it amuse her.

"You're being awfully mean, but you're not wrong."

Did you create this world for your own amusement?

"No. From this world's perspective, I'm an outsider."

What do you mean by that?

"I can't tell you any more. If I did, things would get boring."

People's lives are just your playthings.

"Correct. So, from now on, please continue struggling your way forward so that I can watch and laugh. But, first, I think you have the answer you sought, don't you?"

You're just saying whatever you want, now.

"Goodbye... for now."

The smartphone disappears, without the faintest ripple in space.

---

This was the first time I met Administrator D and the Administrator who is known as "Black".

---

Chapter S19

Julius

Hyrinth has returned home, to this country. I heard about this yesterday. This made me restless and impatient, but certain things had to happen. It would take time for me to be able to meet with him. I've been fidgety ever since.

But now, today, I can finally meet with him. I sit in a room suitable for our meeting and eagerly await his arrival.

"Looks like I've kept you waiting," says Hyrinth, as he enters the room. I remember him looking fearless the last time we met, but it seems like he's lost some weight since then.

"Shun, I'm so sorry!"

Abruptly, Hyrinth drops to his hands and knees, pressing his head to the floor in apology. For a brief instant, I marveled at how they do dogeza<sup>1</sup> in this country, too.

"Honestly, Julius should not have died. He should have been the one to survive, not me!"

My mouth goes dry. "What... do you mean?" I manage to say.

"This," he says, holding out a battered, red feather.

"What is this?"

"This is a phoenix feather. It's an item that can temporarily make its owner immortal."

"So, then, what happened?"

"Honestly, this was something for Julius, the Hero, to hold onto. But, he... he said that he didn't need it, and that I should have it instead because I was his shield, so he forced it on me."

“So that’s why...”

“Right. This item is the reason I’m still alive. It doesn’t have any power left anymore, though. Honestly, Julius should be alive now, not me!”

He continues pressing his head into the ground in repentance.

“Hyrinth, please, raise your head. This isn’t something you need to bow to me for.”

“But, I...”

“Hyrinth, you said that my brother forced that on you, didn’t you? He probably said something like ‘It’s fine, I’m not going to die,’ right?”

“Hah,” he laughs, “you really are his little brother. You’re exactly right.”

He lifts his head, a bitter smile on his lips.

“‘I’m not going to die, but you’re out in front of me as my shield, right? So you’re obviously the best person to hold onto this, not me,’ he said. No matter how many times I tried to give it back to him, he refused to take it back.”

Hyrinth’s impression of my brother is so inaccurate that my mouth hangs open a bit. I compose myself, then ask the one question that I absolutely must ask.

“Hyrinth, please, tell me. How did... my brother...”

“I get it.”

He stands up, and the two of us sit, facing each other, at the table.

“It’s better if I show you, instead of just telling you,” he says, pulling out a crystalline stone.

“What’s that?”

“This is an item that possesses a rare power called Retrocognition. It’s a very precious tool that can do something that no skill today is capable of.”

He places his hand on top of the crystal. “Put your hand on top of mine,” he says.

“Okay,” I reply, and do as he says.

“Now, close your eyes. Here we go...”

The instant I close my eyes, an image floats into view behind my eyelids. It’s not just an image, but it’s almost like I can hear and smell and feel things.

I am on a battlefield. I see countless soldiers, who appear to be demons. I see corpses, tumbling to the ground. Centered in my view is Julius, his back towards me as he charges forward. A young girl, all in white, slowly steps forward. Julius has an anxious sort of atmosphere about him, one that I've never seen before. He runs forward to protect his comrades. In the next instant, he turns to dust and vanishes. The curtain falls, and the image in my mind disappears.

"What... was that?"

"Those were Julius's last moments."

Was something like that even possible? My brother, Julius, was the Hero, the strongest human alive. However, he was instantly disintegrated, without being able to put up the slightest bit of resistance. That can't be. But no matter how much I want to deny it, Hyrinth is telling me this is how he met his end.

"That's..."

"I have no idea what happened, either. The next thing I knew, I was surrounded by the demons. I somehow managed to escape from there, and only then, when I thought back on what had happened, I realized that Julius had died."

"Who was that, though?"

That white-skinned girl. The one that killed my brother.

"I don't know. I don't know who that demon is. But I can guess what kind of attack she used to do Julius in."

"What was it?!"

"Decaying Attack."

"Decaying..."

"Yeah. It's something that some monsters are said to have: an attribute that controls death. If you're unable to resist the attack, your body turns to dust, they say. Like what happened to Julius. Also, it only turns your body to dust. It doesn't do anything to things that you're wearing."

Hyrinth pulls that out.

"That's what Julius always wore," I say.

"Yeah. Julius never told you, but this is something that your mother gave to him before she died. Her last present to him."

He hands that to me. The pure white muffler.

“I’m sorry,” he says. “This is all I could bring back with me.”

“No,” I say, “thank you very much.”

I can’t say any more after that. My vision begins to blur.

I think back to the first time I ever met my older brother. It was long ago, when I was still a baby. He’d come to the nursery, brought by the attendants. He looked between me and Sue, tears spilling from his eyes. That was the only time, before or since, I had ever seen him cry.

He said something to us as he stroked our heads, then turned to leave. At that point, I still couldn’t understand the language of this world, so I didn’t know what it was that he had said that day. To this day, I still don’t know. However, I think that at that time he came to some sort of decision.

Later, I learned that our mother had passed away the day before. To be honest, even if I were told that she had made the white muffler by hand, it wouldn’t really stand out in my mind. After all, I’d barely even met my mother.

My brother, though, had, and to him, she was irreplaceable. When he was still very young, he suddenly lost his beloved mother, and learned that he would have to fight as the Hero. I wonder, what decision did he come to, in the middle of that anguish?

“Hello. I’m your older brother, Julius! I’m the Hero, believe it or not.”

I remember the second time we met. I knew what was going on around me by then, and even now I can remember his smiling face that day. I was shocked to see such a calm, composed smile on the face of a boy that looked like he should still be in elementary school. I was far older than he was, if you included my previous life, but I didn’t think it was even possible for me to smile like that. Something deep dwelled within that smile.

“Slaine, you’re so smart! You’re going to be a great politician one day, I think.”

“Sue. Don’t act so spoiled!”

“You’ve got some pretty good talent with that sword, Slaine. How about you come along with me sometime? Hey, Sue, don’t glare at me like that. Of course you can come too!”

“Slaine, did you get a girlfriend?! She’s calling you by a nickname and everything. Hey, can I call you Shun too?”

“Hey, Shun, I know how cute Sue is, but you shouldn’t pamper her, okay?”

“Shun, our father is a kind man. It’s just that he’s a king before he’s a father. He’s working hard to support all the people of this country. You know that, right?”

“Shun, if something should happen, you can rely on Leston. That guy’s always here in the castle. He’s probably got the most free time out of anyone in our family, so he’s always happy to give out advice.”

“Well, that’s just how our older brother is. He’s lost sight of himself a little bit, but I share his thoughts about our country. There’s no need to worry.”

“Hyrinth’s just about the age where he should be thinking about marrying someone and succeed his house. He hasn’t been talking about that at all, though. I’m a little worried about him. Oh, me? Even if I were to get married, I wouldn’t ever be able to do anything for my wife. I think it would be a marriage that leaves us both unhappy.”

“Heh heh. I have my Evasion skill, so there’s no way your puny snowballs can hit me! ...Bwuh! Hey, Sue, no fair! Ow, ow, ow... Sue!! That’s not snow! Don’t throw rocks at me, that hurts!”

“I’m the hope of all humanity. That’s why I can’t ever lose. Count on it.”

Memories of Julius flood my mind. He always had a smile on his face. A deeply kind smile, like he wanted everyone around him to be at ease.

In my mind, the Hero is my brother. Can I really fill his shoes? I have no confidence in that at all. However, even if I’m not confident that I can catch up to him, that’s a poor reason to give up.

“You can say it’s a dream. You can laugh at me and say it’s something I can never actually accomplish. But I think it’s a great thing to strive for. A world where everyone can live happily in peace. That’s the ideal I’m chasing, the ideal I’m going to chase until the day I die.”

I think it’s a pretty naive dream, too. No more so than my brother, though. Even still, I want to keep that dream alive, no matter how naive it may be.

“Shun. No... Hero Slaine.”

Hyrinth speaks to me in a formal tone.

“I failed Julius. I failed to do my job as his shield. But, if you are okay with a miserable failure like me, please, let me be your shield, new Hero.”

“Hyrinth...”

“Let me protect you how I couldn’t protect Julius.”

“Hyrinth, I would like nothing more. It would be an honor.”

The two of us exchange a firm handshake.

---

“Then, it’s still too early for you to begin your duties as the Hero, it seems?”

“That’s right. It will take time for the Church to support a new Saint, so I think we should keep in line with their pace.”

“Ah, I see.”

“Sue, I think you know this already, but when I start acting as the Hero, you can’t be together with me like you’ve always been.”

“I knew it. I knew you were going to say that.”

“I’m sorry.”

“There’s no need to apologize to me. I’m not a child anymore.”

“Yeah. I know how grown-up and tough you are, but I just don’t want to drag you along with me. I don’t want to get you caught up in something dangerous.”

“I know that.”

“I’m being selfish. I’m sorry.”

“I just said you don’t need to apologize.”

“I got it. Stay here at the Academy and do whatever you like until you graduate. It’s safe here.”

“Yeah, you’re right.”

“Even when I’m out doing Hero things, I’ll come by and see you as much as I can! Like Julius did.”

“Brother, will you avenge Julius?”

“...I don’t know. I think carrying out a personal grudge isn’t very becoming of a Hero. But I don’t think I can forgive his death. I still don’t know what I should do.”

“That’s okay. There’s no need for you to worry.”

“Why do you say that?”

“You’ll know real soon.”

“Okay, got it. I won’t think too hard about that for now.”

“Right.”

“I’ll talk to you later, Sue. Good night.”

“Okay. Good bye, Brother.”

---

“Miss Oka. Something bad’s happened.”

“What’s the situation?”

“It’s the worst case scenario. You just got home, so I’m sorry to have to ask you this, but please get things ready to get Shun out of his country.”

“Did something happen?”

“I’ve been betrayed by one of my subordinates.”

“What?!”

“Our plans leaked somehow. I’m sorry. I slipped up.”

“Any idea what’s going to happen next?”

“Nothing bad, if I can help it. But, my unit was attacked. Something is happening.”

“Let’s hurry.”

“Right.”

---

_Translator’s notes for this chapter:

1. Dogeza is an act of extreme deference and apology in Japanese etiquette, which involves kneeling on the floor and bowing so deeply that one’s head touches the ground._
-

Chapter 121

Let's Just Forget About All That

I eat. And eat. And eat. It's bitter. It's extremely bitter. It's bitter, very slightly sweet... and sorrowful.

---

Good morning. Well, I don't exactly know if it's morning or not, but I managed to safely get some sleep again today.

Multiple Wills is an astoundingly useful skill, but unfortunately I can't actually let my various consciousnesses sleep one at a time. Even if I have multiple wills, I have but one body to use between them. And, of course, if that one body needs to sleep, then it drags all those consciousnesses down with it. There's just no way around that.

Yesterday, after that conversation with the evil god D, I kinda just spaced out for a while. When I got the Wisdom skill, I'd caught a brief glimpse of her, but I'd never expected to suddenly meet with her and have a conversation. Well, what I got out of that conversation was that she's absolutely nuts, and that I ultimately don't understand anything at all. Yep. I understand exactly how little I understand.

Instead, all I have are more puzzles. A smartphone, fluent Japanese, a black man. I don't have any clue who the black man is, but I think he's probably a person from this world. The incomprehensible language he spoke with D in is, most likely, this world's language. However, this just leads me to the next question: why can this D person speak Japanese?

In the first place, that smartphone was just weird. No matter how you look at it, it was a smartphone. I don't have any idea what kind of technology level this world has, but even if it's similar to Earth's, I have a hard time believing that it would make something that looks so exactly like a smartphone. If that's the case, then was that smartphone originally from Earth?

If I keep thinking along those lines, the explanation for D's fluent Japanese becomes apparent: she's from Japan. I don't know if she's there right now or if she lived there in the past, but I'm positive that she is from Japan.

Come to think of it, the (so-called) Voice of Heaven and Appraisal results are in Japanese, too! The fact that this entirely different universe is doing everything in Japanese like it's the most natural thing in the world actually makes me even more uncomfortable! I'd been thinking that since I don't know any other language my subconscious was just automatically interpreting everything into Japanese for me, but I don't think that's right.

D put them in Japanese.

The thing that stands out here is my mysterious corrupted-name skill. That skill might actually be the thing that translates alternate-universe-ese into Japanese. Ah, wait, if that were the case, it would've translated that black man's speech for me, too, so maybe not? But, the spoken and written system messages are both in Japanese, so... That being the case, it's pretty probable. This skill is probably stuffed with countless secrets.

So, that's far enough with that train of thought, but I still have no idea how I'm supposed to comprehend anything else. What are these so-called "administrators"? Is that lady really just watching me for her own amusement? Heck if I know.

Hmmmm. It's no use. This is getting too complicated. This is very much not like me. Let's just do what I always do and leave things I don't understand alone, since I don't understand them.

I don't know if she's an evil god or what, but just creeping on me isn't actually doing me any harm. I'm not living the kind of life where I'd be ashamed if someone watches me do my thing. ...Ah, sorry. Ignore the part where my butt caught on fire.

Well, whatever her expectations are, I am me, and I'm just gonna keep living my life like me. That's right. I'm gonna live!

Let's just forget aaaall about D for now. She said the black man wouldn't interfere with me either, so I can forget about him, too.

Ah, wait, D said that she'd given me the Wisdom skill as a reward. So maybe I should thank her somehow? ...Eh, whatever. If we somehow meet again, I'll say something then. She did, after all, say "goodbye for now".

Now then, shall we get back to exploration?

Yesterday, while I was spacing out, Commander Body ate the dragon. It tasted like someone had added sea bream and chicken together and divided by two. It was a good flavor. It really could have used some seasoning, though. Compared to all of the disgusting monsters I've eaten so far it's exceptionally delicious, but I'm still dissatisfied. Aaaah, ever since those catfish I've been eating some pretty tasty stuff, so maybe I'm starting to get a little greedy.

So, I guess I liked the flavor, but man there was a lot of it to get through. I was able to completely top up my stamina tank, which had been drained nearly dry during my deadly struggle with the fire dragon. Then, since I didn't want anything to go to waste, I burned a bunch of stamina to grind up some skill proficiencies and then ate the rest.

If I level up my Spatial Magic, will I learn some kind of extradimensional inventory skill? I didn't think I needed one at the start of all this, but if big guys like that dragon keep showing up in front of me, eating every single one of them is going to be a huge problem! I don't want to just ditch the leftovers, so having someplace to store them would be suuuuper convenient...

Incidentally, Shadow Meld can't really be used as a substitute for an actual inventory. Once you stuff something into a shadow, you can't move it. I have serious doubts about the usefulness of this spell. Heck, I have doubts about Shadow Magic in its entirety. It doesn't really have any solid offensive use, and it's only of questionable utility. I said that it's finally started to be come useful now that I've ground it up to level six, but it being that much of a late bloomer was a serious bottleneck. On top of that, even if I say it's a late bloomer, the flower it blossomed into is still... questionable.

When Shadow Magic hits level 10, will it turn into Darkness Magic, I wonder? I think that's pretty likely, but since I've already learned the most powerful Darkness-type magic, that doesn't really have any sort of appeal to me. Well, since Abyssal Magic has the ironic weakness that it's so stupidly strong that I can't actually just use it whenever I want, I wouldn't actually mind learning some magic that's got only moderate firepower behind it.

However, after beating that Fire Dragon, I'm starting to wonder more and more if the middle stratum actually has any more enemies left for me to fight. Let's just keep heading forward like this; I'll break out of here before I even know it.

---

Chapter 122

Jumping and jumping and jumping

Heh heh.

Eh heh heh.

Eeeheeheeheehee!

Aaaah, I can't stop smiling! I feel like I'm soaring through the air!

Literally.

What I mean to say is, the skill I got after 3-D Maneuvering evolved, "Spatial Maneuvering", is amazingly high-spec. 3-D Maneuvering was a skill that let me run and jump along walls, which wasn't very useful to a spider like me since I could do that anyway. Spatial Maneuvering, though, is different. This skill lets me double-jump while in midair!

If I had to describe what it feels like, it's like I'm making an invisible surface appear under me for a brief moment. When I kick off of that surface, I can then redirect myself however I want, even when I'm already in midair.

In that battle with the eels, before I evolved, the fact that my mobility on the ceiling just wasn't that great nearly got me killed. After I evolved, my stats increased a lot, to the point where I was basically fine, but the Fire Dragon fight showed me once again that aerial maneuverability really is crucial. Even if I tell myself that I can fight in midair through clever use of my silk, there are still limits that I can't surpass. Since that's the case, I can't hope to have any sort of dogfight against an opponent that can fly like the Fire Dragon could. That's why, during that battle, I avoided any aerial battle for as long as I could until I finally was able to unleash my single magic trump card.

Now, though, thanks to Spatial Maneuvering, that problem has been solved.

Even better than just flying around with wings, this lets me leverage my own natural speed to its fullest extent. I'm confident in saying that, with this single skill, my prowess at aerial combat has instantly skyrocketed. As I am now, I think I'd actually be able to be a match for those wasps in the air.

Of course, Spatial Maneuvering isn't all-powerful. It's got a few weaknesses... or maybe I should say flaws. First of all, it consumes my red stamina. Well, there's no helping that. If such a convenient skill as this didn't consume anything at all, it would be pretty broken. I'd be the natural enemy of anything that dared fly through the sky. If possible, I would want this to consume mana, which I feel I might have too much of, instead of stamina, but that's just me being greedy. Regardless, I can't jump through the air infinitely.

The amount of expenditure is linked to the amount of time I have the surface materialized. So, the most efficient use of my resources is to form it for an instant and immediately jump off of it, which keeps my stamina expenditure low. On the other hand, if I made the surface and just kinda stood on it staring off into space, all of my stamina would basically just evaporate. It's fast enough that if I straight-up didn't pay any attention at all, I could starve myself to death by staring off into space.

Next, the platform is actually pretty fragile. This is probably because the skill's level is low. Right now, at my full speed, when I try to kick off of the platform my foot punches right through it. So, if I kick with my full power, far from rocketing forward, I smash through my platform and, embarrassingly, plummet. Of course, if I've already got a lot of speed and I try to land on the platform, I go through it then, too. So, as a result, I need to drop my speed while I'm in the air.

After smashing my platforms a bunch while trying to experiment, I think I have a rough understanding on how much I need to drop my speed. I'm glad I experimented with this, though. If I'd jumped straight into combat without actually practicing using this, the instant I smashed my platform I would have been completely and utterly defenseless. Seriously, testing is important.

I really don't have any actual control over this, but I can't help but wish that the platforms will get sturdier as my skill level increases. I think that's what's going to happen, so I really want it to get to the point where it can actually stand up to my top speed as soon as possible. Unfortunately, since I want to conserve as much of my stamina as I possibly can, I can't just grind out skill proficiency like I usually do, which is actually kind of painful. Aaaargh, I really want this to take mana instead...

All of the weak monsters are hiding in the magma, making this even more difficult. This means I can't eat, and I can't gain any XP. I'm just one level away from evolving, but that one level is so endlessly far away. If I beat up every single last freaking one of the monsters that live on the ground, I think I'll eventually get enough experience to level, but if I could somehow get to kill the ones in the magma too, the XP gains from those would be waaaay higher...

Thanks to Lady Wisdom, I know how many experience points I'll need to level up. When I Appraise my level, I get a numerical indicator with the number of points I need. I've been checking after every single battle, but basically the number of points that I can get seems directly correlated with my enemy's strength. The seahorses are barely worth anything. The catfish are pretty average. The eels are worth a bunch. The fire drake was worth a lot. The fire dragon was worth a ton. Something like that. It seems like it has nothing to do with my own personal strength. Each monster is just worth a fixed amount of experience. (Some games have it set so that the XP you get from defeating weaker enemies goes down when you get stronger.)

So, based on the data I've collected so far, the number of points I need to level up is equivalent to about six eels. Even if I beat up another fire drake, I'll still be short of that. Converting that number into weak monsters is just depressing.

If I could fight eels or fire drakes then I could get through this really quickly, but I've only ever seen a grand total of one fire drake swimming in that magma lake back there, and eels are just about as rare. I've been looking around with Detection, and haven't seen anything that looks like one. On top of that, even if I were to be able to find any, it's not like I could actually get it to come out of the magma. The eels—well, maybe not as much as the catfish—don't fight enemies they have no chance of defeating.

Fire drakes, though, might attack me. I'm basing this assumption entirely off of the one that I saw before, but if all fire drakes are that belligerent, then there's a chance that it and its subordinates might all become a nice tasty meal.

Weeeell, I guess this is all hypothetical, though.

Fire Dragons? Hah, as if I could just casually go fight another one of those. Even if I did technically beat one before, they're still very much way above me. The fact that I actually won that fight is nothing short of miraculous, so there's no way I want to try doing that again.

Well, I guess all I can do is hunt down these small fry whenever I can. One step at a time.

---

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 123

Chapter 123. Kumoko becomes a Dragon.

123 I obtained the Dragon Power! Uhahahaha!

I see the front from the shadow of the rock quietly. At the land considerably far ahead, about seven monsters gathered there. Valuable food and experience points.

That monster is the red dog. Although it's a red colored dog, it has nothing to do with a certain Marine higher-up. (TL note: Akainu!!!)

The red dogs are spending their time playing around and sleeping. But, that dog has sharp sense of smell because it's dog, and it will noticed before I approach it.

For the time being, "Intimidation" off. Although I noticed it, the effect of "Stealth" slightly returns when I turn off "Intimidation". I become hard to be noticed by my opponent. Well, as long as I have the Fear Bringer title, I can never hide completely. It's just that even if I turn off "Intimidation", I became a little hard to be noticed.

Because the red dogs' enemy searching ability is high, I'm now using "Telephoto" to look at them so that I don't get noticed, but they will noticed sooner or later if I approach them. Then, they will run away naturally.

The red dogs don't have the "Swim" skill. So it can't escape to the magma. But, it will be troublesome if they scatter and run. Although I don't intend to let even one to get away, if they run to the opposite direction, unnecessary labor is needed. I must hunt them well so that it won't happen.

Fumu. Here, I should test that skill that I obtained some time ago in combat.

Thus, Dragon Install! "Dragon Power" activate. Ah, by the way, "Magic Combat Act" has been activated.

My status skyrockets at that moment. I begin to run to the red dogs with my enhanced speed. Although the red dogs notice my existence on the way, it's already late.

I brandish my sickles and decapitate two heads quickly. I go around the two that try to run away, and decapitate their head similarly.

The remaining three try to run to the opposite direction, I release a breath immediately. As planned, the breath collides with the ground in front of the red dogs, and cause an intense explosion. The red dogs were overturned by the shock. I finish them off without missing that chance.

Mission complete. Fu. This kind of thing is easy for me. Well then, I will eat it while it's fresh.

Fufufu. "Dragon Power", as expected of Dragon Power. The rise of status that can't be compared with the "Drake Power". Although it's incredible with that alone, "Dragon Power" has two additional effects.

One is breath. Only at the time "Dragon Power" is activated, I can release a breath. There are two kinds of breath that can be released that are the single-shot-type like the fireball and the annihilation-type wide range breath. Unfortunately, the power is not so high. As expected, I can hold a part of the Dragon's power, but I'm far behind the original Dragon. Well, even if I say that, it's enough because it has the power approximately the same as the eel. The reason why I never let the red dogs receive it directly is because I thought that they will vanish if they receive it directly. There's no way I will let my precious meat to vanish.

By the way, this breath seems to become the user's most suitable attribute. In my case, my breath is a composition of poison and dark attribute. Dark attribute bring forth pure destructive power, and poison attribute erodes the opponent. When thinking about it, although it will lose to a real Dragon in destructive power, it might win in the nastiness.

The second one is the same effect as "Dragon Scale", the power to obstruct magic. This also don't have the effect like the original Dragon, but I think that it can at least attenuate the power. Because there's no monster that uses magic, I can't test it.

My status rises purely, my weapon is done, and my defense also increased. Although it's such a wonderful skill, there's a defect that the consumption is significant. Although it was the same as the "Drake Power" that it consumes SP and MP, the consumption increased. MP is fine. But, the decrease of SP is not fine. Although I used it this time to try it out, the cost is too high to use it in a small fry battle. It's a anti-boss class skill.

Hmm. Recently, my use of SP became plenty. Although it's fine for normal activities, if I think to gain skill proficiency, it's not enough. "Space Maneuver", "Dragon Power" and "Magic Combat Act". It would be fine if I have the Automatic SP Recovery, but there's no such thing. I have eat my meal obediently.

Compared with that, I have excess MP. I activate "Magic Combat Act" while moving, and Magic-in-charge No.1 and No.2 use magic continuously, but still, it's only to the extent that the consumption is slightly higher than the recovery. No matter how much effort I put to consume it, when I wake up from my sleep, "Oh, wow, complete recovery". Although I can use the magic that has a lot of consumption like the "Abyss Magic", if I do that, a natural disaster will occur in my surroundings in the labyrinth. That's bad. That's definitely the collapse flag.

Besides, I'm concentrating in raising the level of the lowest level magic that I have which is the "Space Magic" now. "Space Magic" became level 2. As expected, this skill demanded a lot of skill points, so the level up is more slower than the other magic skills. The magic learned at level 2 is Coordinates Fixation. It's a magic that only fix the selected range of the level 1 Coordinates Specification. Even if I say fixation, it only stops the line that appeared by the Coordinates Specification, so it has no material influence at all. This is also the same as Coordinates Specification that it's a preliminary step to use the higher level magic.

However, while Coordinates Specification was not useful at all, this Coordinates Fixation is useful. I can shoot magics and skills to the fixed coordinates. In this case, the hit rate to the coordinates is 100%. Now that my "Accuracy" skill has reached the max level, I don't think that it's needed, but it's better than nothing.

I want it to level faster and learn Teleport. Because my MP is superfluous, do your best, Magic-in-charge No.1 and No.2.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 124

Chapter 124.

124 Upper layer, I have returned!

Eat. Eat. Eat. Like pulling a thread. Slowly and carefully. Chew it like taking a sip.

《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Satiation LV2』 has become 『Satiation LV3』》
《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Divinity Area Expansion LV4』 has become 『Divinity Area Expansion LV5』》《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Taboo LV8』 has become 『Taboo LV9』》

I increase my pace and continue advancing for several days. When I see the auto map drawn by Wisdom-sama, it's understood that I have moved a considerable distance. Apparently, this middle layer is meandering between the upper layer and the lower layer, and covered the whole thoroughly. Although it's good that it's a one main path unlike the upper layer, it's a very long path to the extent that I'm amazed.

Although I found several passages for Mother and pits, of course I didn't approach it. I must not get carried away just because I defeated the Fire Dragon. I still don't think that I can defeat Mother. Rather than that, that the mysterious attack fired when I saw it in the middle layer, I start to think that it's the breath of "Dragon Power". Although this is only a guess, if it's that Mother, it shouldn't be strange that it has "Dragon Power". Then, that means Mother has already achieved the Dragon Killer. Hahaha. Like I can win. Like I will approach the place where such thing might wander around.

Along the way, I advanced without meeting any danger-like danger. Not only Fire Dragon, but there's even no Fire Drake. After all, generally, the monsters' level in the middle layer falls considerably than the lower layer. Strong monsters might not grow up because of that.

Although some eel-like shadows was detected, they didn't come out from the magma. I shot the breath and magics, but it only made them to stay in there even more. The catfish is also the same. I mean, even the seahorse that comes attacking me irritatingly runs away at the moment it saw me. Although it's possible to release a breath before it noticed to get one kill, if I do that, the consumption is huge and the corpse doesn't remains. Even if it remains, it's useless because it will only sink into the magma. Then, I can't get my meal. Although it becomes experience points, when thinking about cost-effectiveness, I don't want to do it.

That's why I only defeat the monster that gone up to the land by chance. And, if I don't consume my SP uselessly, it can last. I saved the experience points little by little, and if I compared it with the time I fought the Fire Dragon, it became almost half. But still, it's half. The distance until evolution is far.

Because I advanced while suppressing the consumption of my SP, SP related skills didn't rose too much. Well, it can't be helped. Although I don't need to save this much if I can eat as much as I want, I make sure that I have enough SP so that I'm fine even if I meet a formidable enemy like the Fire Dragon. Even if it's not so, I may starve normally if there's no monster on the land. I can't consume my SP inconstantly.

The MP related rose considerably instead. Every magics, "Poison Synthesis", "Magic Combat Act", and every Evil Eyes.

As for magic, "Shadow Magic" became level 10. As expected, the derived skill was "Dark Magic". Because the "Shadow Magic" is still strange even though it has reached max level, I think that I will train the "Dark Magic" from now on. Although "Space Magic" rose fairly well, Teleport is still not learned. Although there's no need to rush because it's rising steadily, the growth is slower than the other magics, so it makes me anxious.

"Poison Synthesis" and "Poison Magic" have reached max level too. Should I say it as unexpected? The derived skills are similar types that are "Medicine Synthesis" and "Treatment Magic". Is it that? That poison can also become medicine. At any rate, I have finally obtained a recovery means. Up until now, because I have relied on automatic recovery and level up to recover, it's great that I can recover wounds by myself. Well, the level is still low, and the effect can't be confirmed yet because I'm not in a HP decreasing situation. I think that I will try reducing my HP when I have the time sooner or later.

"Heresy Magic" also reached max level. And, the derived skill of this guy was a big problem. It was "Taboo". Fortunately, the level didn't rose, but I thought that my heart was going to stop. No, although it didn't rose at that time, it became level 9 before I know. One more to max level. This might be slightly dangerous.

Some Evil Eyes have reached max level too. "Evil Eye of Curse" evolved into "Evil Eye of Grudge". This Evil Eye, the decreased HP, etc, by the curse are returned to me. Because the pure offensive ability rises, the effect is absolutely higher than before evolution. Although I can't absorb the status, it's great that I can absorb the SP. Absorb with the Evil Eye, and the effect is accelerated by the meal!

"Evil Eye of Paralysis" also evolved into "Evil Eye of Stasis". It looks like this not only has the paralysis, it has the attribute that's close to time stop. The monster that trembled by the paralysis became stationary suddenly with this Evil Eye. I think that it probably the attribute is a mix of paralysis and an attribute that I don't know. Because there's no similar attribute even if I see the skill list, there's no positive proof. Well, because my win is decided when my opponent caught it as usual, it simply became stronger.

Although "Evil Eye of Heaviness" rose, as expected, it didn't reached max level. I acquired a resistance called "Heavy Resistance" instead because I continued putting it on me all the time. However, it was a miscalculation that acquiring made my muscle training efficiency fall.

Lastly, "Telephoto". This evolved into "Clairvoyance". As for the effect, it has an enhanced effect of "Telephoto", and the see-through effect is added. I can see the scenery behind the wall. However, it's slightly different from the "Clairvoyance" that I heard that it can see everywhere in the world. It's simply an extension of "Telephoto".

A certain thing reflected in that "Clairvoyance" a while ago. The long slope to the top. It was long. I had a terrible experience until here. Finally, I can relax. It's time to say farewell to this ridiculously hot place.

I'm home, Upper Layer.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 125

Chapter 125.

125 Deep fried!

I have returned, upper layer! Finally, finally, I have returned! Ah, because the middle layer life was long, I missed this upper layer's comfortable atmosphere. It's so wonderful when it's not hot!

I taste the impression of returning to the upper layer for a while. It was really long until here. I got chased by the snake and I fall into the lower layer. Fight with the bees. Roared by the Earth Dragon. Wander around the lower layer that's full of powerful monsters. Attacked by the monkeys. When I thought that I finally escape from the lower layer, the middle layer is a Burning Hell. When I'm preparing my middle layer capture, the Earth Dragon roared at me again. When I started my middle layer capture, the greatest enemy called the magma blocks me. The catfish is a delicacy. The eel is a formidable enemy. Mother wanders around aimlessly. The Fire Drake comes in great numbers. The Fire Dragon was ridiculously strong.

Huh? Why am I alive? I wonder what's the meaning of being alive. I'm alive!

Well then, because I have achieved my biggest objective that was to reach the upper layer, what should I do from now on?

Several days after returning to the upper layer. I spread my nest near the middle layer's entrance. Ah, this. This is what I have wanted. A wonderful My Home. I don't need to worry about it getting burned and I can sleep soundly. After all, the life with threads calms me down. Ah, happiness.

Although I looked around the surroundings in this several days, there's no monster that seems to be strong in the vicinity. Even if it's the same upper layer, the place where I am now is almost the other side of the place where I was at the beginning. It's so far that it seems that Honshu of Japan can enter between the distance completely.

I wonder will the ecology change to that extent when it's far because there was monster that I'm not familiar with. But, I was relieved a little because there's the monster as before. Like the frog.

Although the vicinity of the entrance to the middle layer is considerably wide, it branches into narrow passage when advancing forward from there. Therefore, there's no large monster in the vicinity. Well, although it's not necessarily that large equals to strong, the strong monsters that I have seen so far are mostly large. On the contrary, there's not much small guys that are strong. When thinking so, am I who's strong and small rare?

Even if it's a small and weak guy, it might come in crowd like the centipede and the monkey, so I can't be careless. If it's the current me, I can eradicate them with "Abyss Magic", but when I think of using it in such a complicated cave-formed place, I can only see the future of a great collapse. I guess I will have to substitute it with Poison Mist.

Well, at present, there's no monster that has such threat. Because there's no refuge called the magma, the monster can't escape from me. Although I feel that the number of monsters that I encounter decreases as days pass, this is surely an imagination!

And, I think that now that I have escaped from the middle layer desperately, I will raise my skill leisurely and live here for a while. Do it moderately unlike the time before the middle layer capture. I want to laze around a little. Because I have done my best to reach here, it should be permitted.

And so, I increased my personal security that was a matter of concern for the time being when I reached the upper layer. Although it was not guaranteed, it's certain that the upper layer is safer than the middle layer where my thread is not usable. Although I have thought about it before, I think that I want to do the thing that I didn't do. For that reason, I made my nest near the middle layer.

I go out of my home slowly. Towards the middle layer. Ah, hot. When I experience the air in the upper layer, I understand how tiresome the air in this middle layer. I did well to move in this place for a long time. I want to praise myself.

Such a thing is fine now. I approach the magma quietly. Ugh, it's very hot when I approach it. Uaa, when I want to do it, it's scary. Eei. Woman is courage!

Torya!

I thrust my sickle into the magma.

Gyaaaaaaaa!?! Hot, pain!?! Guuoooooooo!!

《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Pain Alleviation LV8』 has become 『Pain Alleviation LV9』》

I have Magic-in-charge No.1 and No.2 continue to keep using the newly learned "Treatment Magic LV2" Micro Treatment to my sickle. But still, the sickle is burning faster. Rather than burning, isn't it melting!?

Ah, crap. Even my body caught fire.

I pull up my sickle from the magma in a hurry and "Poison Synthesis". The lump of poison extinguished the fire on my body.

Haa. It was painful.

What I wanted to do was to raise "Fire Resistance". Even though I walked in the middle layer for a long time, my "Fire Resistance" is on level 7. The rise is terribly slow. Even though I experienced such a painful experience, my "Fire Resistance" didn't rise. I'm glad that "Pain Alleviation" rose instead.

Although I came out of the middle layer, there's no change that I'm weak to fire. Because there's a place where I can raise "Fire Resistance" like this, I think that I should just strengthen it until it becomes "Heat Nullity". I can't do it even if I thought of it because I have given priority to safety up until now, but there's no need to worry about safety from now on.

Ah, nevertheless, after all I say, my sickle is melting. The Micro Treatment learned at "Treatment Magic LV2" can't cure the injury with a part loss. It's a magic at the soothing level that it can only cure scratch or small injury. As for this, I have to wait my automatic recovery to regenerate it. Because the automatic recovery has evolved into high-speed recovery, it won't take so long.

Hmm. But still, with this condition, it looks like "Heat Nullity" will take a lot of time.

『Zoa Ere LV19 No name Status HP: 499／687 (Green) +0 (Details) (185 up) MP: 5012／5012 (Blue) +1300 (Details) (916 up) SP: 636／636 (Yellow) (Details) (114 up) : 636／636 (Red) +1191 (Details) (114 up) Average Offensive Ability: 590 (Details) (84 up) Average Defensive Ability: 685 (Details) (82 up) Average Magic Ability: 4757 (Details) (856 up) Average Resistance Ability: 4871 (Details) (850 up) Average Speed Ability: 3152 (Details) (472 up) Skill 「High-speed HP Recovery LV1 (new)」 「Magic Extremity」 「Magic Combat Act LV8 (6 up)」 「SP Recovery Speed LV7 (1 up)」 「SP Consumption Down LV8 (1 up)」 「Enhanced Destruction LV3」 「Enhanced Slashing LV3」 「Enhanced Poison LV8 (1 up)」 「Fighting Spirit LV5 (1 up)」 「Vitality Granting LV2」 「Dragon Power (new)」 「Deadly Poison Attack LV4 (1 up)」 「Corrosion Attack LV2 (1 up)」 「Heresy Attack LV1」 「Poison Synthesis LV10 (2 up)」 「Medicine Synthesis LV2 (new)」 「Thread Talent LV4」 「Universal Thread LV2 (1 up)」 「Thread Manipulation LV8」 「Throw LV8 (1 up)」 「Space Maneuver LV2 (new)」 「Concentration LV10」 「Thought Acceleration LV8 (1 up)」 「Foresight LV8 (1 up)」 「Parallel Will LV3 (1 up)」 「High-speed Calculation LV4 (1 up)」 「Accuracy LV10 (1 up)」 「Evasion LV10 (1 up)」 「Probability Correction LV2 (new)」 「Stealth LV9」 「Silent LV6 (1 up)」 「Intimidation LV5 (4 up)」 「Conviction」 「Hell」 「Heresy Magic LV10 (4 up)」 「Shadow Magic LV10 (3 up)」 「Dark Magic LV3 (new)」 「Poison Magic LV10 (3 up)」 「Treatment Magic LV2 (new)」 「Space Magic LV6 (5 up)」 「Abyss Magic LV10」 「Patience」 「Pride」 「Satiation LV3 (2 up)」 「Wisdom」 「Night Vision LV10」 「Visible Range Expansion LV4 (1 up)」 「Destruction Resistance LV3」 「Blunt Resistance LV3」 「Slash Resistance LV3」 「Fire Resistance LV7 (3 up)」 「Heavy Resistance LV5 (new)」 「Deadly Poison Resistance LV2」 「Paralysis Resistance LV5」 「Petrifaction Resistance LV3」 「Acid Resistance LV4」 「Corrosion Resistance LV4」 「Faint Resistance LV3」 「Fear Resistance LV8」 「Heresy Nullity」 「Pain Nullity」 「Pain Alleviation LV9 (2 up)」 「Enhanced Vision LV10」 「Clairvoyance LV3 (new)」 「Evil Eye of Grudge LV2 (new)」 「Evil Eye of Stasis LV1 (new)」 「Evil Eye of Heaviness LV6 (new)」 「Enhanced Hearing LV10」 「Hearing Range Expansion LV1 (new)」 「Enhanced Smell LV9 (2 up)」 「Enhanced Taste LV9 (2 up)」 「Enhanced Touch

LV9 (1 up)」「Divinity Area Expansion LV5 (1 up)」「Divine Magic」「Destiny LV1 (new)」「Body Flicker LV3 (2 up)」「Durability LV3 (2 up)」「Herculean Strength LV5 (1 up)」「Solid LV5 (1 up)」「Idaten LV5 (1 up)」「Taboo LV9 (1 up)」「n%I=W」 Skill point: O Title 「Gross Feeder」「Blood Relative Eater」「Assassin」「Monster Killer」「Poison Technique User」「Thread User」「Merciless」「Monster Slaughterer」「Ruler of Pride」「Ruler of Patience」「Ruler of Wisdom」「Drake Killer」「Fear Bringer」「Dragon Killer (new)」』

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter S20

Shun 20. Man, translating this is freaking exciting.

S20 Fall

Something is strange. I have such uneasy feeling for some time. But, it's just recently that I'm conscious of it clearly. I only felt it somehow unconsciously until then. Something is strange. But, I don't know what's strange. Even though I'm haunted by the uneasiness, I don't know that identity.

I had to find out the identity of the uneasiness by all means. And, I will regret it.

I'm called by Father and I head towards the room. Lately, Father has been completely busy. I heard the story well because I'm related, but apparently, the rumor that the Hero died from the battlefield has spread into the town. It was already the limit to conceal the fact that Julius-niisama died.

Then, the Divine Word Church seems to announce the death of the Hero formally. And, at the same time, the new Hero is announced. In other words, I finally have to stand in front the people as the Hero. I was called today is probably because of that.

The question was Sue was called with me. Sue is walking on the side next to me. Purposely absent from the academy, I wonder what business to call Sue together with me. It seems that nothing was told to Sue. When having such question, we arrived in front of the room. Well, I will understand the contents if I meet Father. I knock the door.

「This is Shurein」 「Un? Enter」 「Excuse me」

I open the door and enter inside. Sue follows silently after that too.

「What's wrong?」

Father asks while writing something to the documents. No, it's me who want to ask that.

「No, isn't Father who called us? What's the matter?」 「Un? I didn't called you」

Huh? When thinking so, the situation has already changed. I should have surely raised the question. And yet, the sound didn't go out.

A kind of Wind Magic, the effect of Silence was applied around me. The magic construction activated at the speed that I can't cope with. Those who can do that are limited, and the person who can do it in this place is Sue who's right beside of me.

What for? Even if I speak, the surrounding air erases the sound. As a troublesome point of this magic, it can create a situation that I can't put up a resistance where not only my voice is erased but the voices around me are also erased. Once it's activated, it's the end unless the magic composition is interfered forcibly.

A worsened situation happens to the confused me.

Sue shot Father.

My eyes opened wide in surprise. What? Why?

It's Light Magic that Sue used. The magic that I'm most good at it. That ray fired through Father's forehead.

「Kyaaaaa! Niisama! What are you doing!?!」

Sue who screams at the same time. As for me, my head is too confused and it became blank.

「What happened!」

The door is opened vigorously, and Cyris-niisama and the armored knight guards enter the room.

「Niisama killed Father!」 「What!? Have you went mad, Shurein!」

No! It's not me! Why!?

Even if I shout so, my voice is erased.

「Guards! Shurein has attacked His Majesty!」

Contrary to me, Cyris-niisama's shout sounds in the castle well.

「Arrest Shurein!」

The armored knight who moves to Cyris-niisama's word. The knight unsheathed his sword and swing it down. While I'm confused, I draw my sword at once and respond to the attack.

My sword was cut into two by the armored knight's sword.

Impossible. Even though I didn't strengthen my sword because it was an instant, my sword as the Hero is not a blunt sword that can be found everywhere, so it shouldn't be easy to be cut. And yet, my sword was cut into two in the middle.

My thoughts can't catch up with the situation that changes bewilderingly. The armored knight didn't overlooked that chance. The blade returns and cuts me. It didn't become a fatal wound because I half step to the back. But, it's unchanged that it's a serious wound because it was a diagonal slash from the shoulder. If the next attack comes, I will be killed.

「Yo. What a good state, Hero-sama」

The armored knight speak like making fun of me. Although the voice is slightly blocked by the helmet, still, it's the voice that I didn't misheard it.

「Y-You. Are you Yuugo?」 「Correct」

He removes his helmet. Standing there was Yuugo who should have lost his skills and fall.

「Yuugo. Don't reveal your identity on purpose」 「Isn't it fine. It's called giving a good memory」

Cyris-niisama's manner is like he knows that the inside of the armored knight was Yuugo. Like he knows the fact. But, why?

「Do you want to know it? This Onii-sama wants the throne. I want to get my revenge on you and Oka. Both of us think that you are a hindrance」 「W-Why? Isn't the next king should be Cyris-niisama?」 「That's wrong. That dead Ou-sama has planned to make you as the next king. With the thoughts of you don't have to go to the battlefield if he announce that you are going to be the next king before announcing you are the Hero」 「Like I will let such a foolish thing to rob away my throne!」

Cyris-niisama shouted it with a sour face unintentionally to Yuugo's words. That shout also was made unheard except us by the newly applied Silence.

I look at the person who activated Silence.

「Niisama. I'm sorry to say this, but please die here」

Although it was her usual tone, that voice was like another person. It's a cold voice like despising me opposite to her usual flat and yet passionate voice.

「Sue, what's wrong?」 「Niisama, I just realize the truth of love. Therefore, I will kill Niisama」

Strange. The current Sue is obviously strange. I activate "Appraisal".

The abnormal conditions called 『Hypnosis』 『Brainwash』 『Charm』 were displayed.

「Yuugo! Is it your act!?!」 「Oh? Did you noticed? Have you noticed? Yeah. It's my act. How is it? The feelings of being deprived? Frustrating, right? Because I have tasted it, I understand it well! Gyahahahaha!」 「Return Sue to normal right now!」 「Like I will return her even if you ask me to do so. Are you an idiot?」

My front becomes bright red. However, my body doesn't move against my will.

「The guards will come soon. Then, I will have you exit here」

Yuugo holds his sword.

「I won't let you!」

A small Elf's body cuts in there. A shock wave of wind strikes Yuugo's body, and blow him away.

「OOOKAAAA!!」 「We will run!」

Yuugo's resentment is ignored, and Sensei begins to run. Somebody carries up my body.

「Hyrinth-san」 「I'm also confused of what's going on here. However, just think about surviving now!」

I was told by Hyrinth-san who started running, and I use Treatment Magic to heal my wound. The approaching guards are blown off by Sensei's magic. The figure of soldiers fighting here and there was seen.

「What on earth is happening?」 「It's a revolt」 「Revolt?」 「Yes. The principal offenders are the first prince, Cyris and Yuugo. However, they planned to put the blame on you, and they will quell the revolt」

I grow pale to Sensei's explanation.

「The one fighting now is Leston-kun's unit. We will run away while he's holding them off」

And, we got away from the castle.

After we escaped from the castle, we headed to a house.

「It's planned to meet Leston here. After that, we will run away from this country」 「Wait for a moment, Sensei! Yuugo, if I don't do something to him, Sue will..」 「I can't allow that」 「Sensei. This commotion should calm down if we can do something on that guy. Although I lost a while ago, my wound has healed, so if we return to the castle and catch him」 「I can't allow that」 「Sensei!」 「The church has announced the new Hero. The name is Yuugo Van Rengzand」 「Huh?」 「This matter, even the church is an accomplice」

I staggered unintentionally. My shoulder is supported by Hyrinth-san.

「Does Elf-dono has an idea why the church take part in such a ridiculous thing?」 「Perhaps, it will be proper to think that Yuugo's brainwashing has infiltrated into the church」 「That's impossible. The effect of brainwashing-types ends in an instant. It shouldn't be able to cause such a situation」 「Yes. That's if it's normal, but there's an exception」 「Exception?」 「The highest rank skill, 『Lust』 which is from the seven deadly sins series. This skill's brainwashing effect can't be compared with the other skills. It's certain to consider that Yuugo has this skill」

Seven deadly sins series? Was there such a skill? In the skills that I confirmed, there was no such thing. In other words, does that means that it's an abnormal skill that can't be acquired at 100000 skill points?

「Anyway, I don't know how far is controlled by Yuugo. It's better to think that this country is finished」 「Such thing...」

When I was speechless, Leston-niisama and some nostalgic faces entered the house.

「Shun, are you all right?」 「Your Highness, it's been a while」 「Your Highness has become splendid」

It was Anna and Clevea who worked as the maid of Sue and me before that entered together with Leston-niisama. Anna still keeps a young appearance because the Elf's blood runs in her body, while Clevea seems to have grown old. And yet, they seemed to rush to my predicament in this way. But, I despaired.

「Anna, are you the same?」「Pardon?」「You are also under Yuugo's control!」

The appraised Anna's status clearly has the word 『Hypnosis』『Brainwash』『Charm』. At the same time as I shouted, Anna has a glazed look. The magic that's constructed at high speed. I interrupt it, and I made Anna faint with the chop. In addition, I try to release the abnormal conditions with Treatment Magic. However, the abnormal conditions didn't disappear from Anna's status.

「Damn it! Even Anna!」

Leston-nisama clench his fist frustratingly.

「This is bad. We are surrounded」

Many soldiers have surrounded the house when I looked outside of the house to Hyrinth-san's words.

「Let's force our way through」

Everyone who nods to Sensei's word.

「Shun, use my sword」

Leston-nisama handed me a sword.

「This?」「It's the divine sword handed down in the royal family. It would be better for Shun who's the Hero to use it in battle than me」 「I understand.

Thank you」

With Hyrinth-san as the vanguard, we plunge into the encirclement. At the same time, Leston-niisama's unit that was hiding launches a surprise attack.

「Now!」

We break through the encirclement. But, there's a different unit ahead. And, the one leading it is,

「Shun. You sure don't know when to give up」 「Katia...」

My best friend from my previous life stood in my way.

* * * * *

「Yuugo, you purposely let him go, right?」 「I wonder what are you talking about」 「Don't play dumb! If that guy is alive, I don't know what kind of inconvenience will appear!」 「Like I know」 「You bastard!」 「What are you misunderstanding?」 「What?」 「You are one of my pieces after all. Why are you ordering me arrogantly?」 「What!?」 「I can kill you anytime. So, understand that」 「Y-You」 「Like I will be satisfied with things ending like this. I need them to suffer more and even more」

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 126

Chapter 126. Changed Evil Eye of Static > Evil Eye of Stasis 126 Real tag The "it" is a spider

Eat. Eat. Eat. Little by little. So that I'm not noticed. Scrape it off slowly.

《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Heresy Attack LV1』 has become 『Heresy Attack LV2』》

Kumo here. I'm in a pinch. I'm gradually cornered. What should I do?

The monsters disappeared.

Seriously? Why there's nothing? It's not caught in the nest and even I go out, there's nothing. What's going on?

No, well, I do have an idea about it somehow.

Here, a question! A monster came from the middle layer! That monster is a dangerous creature that releases an outrageous intimidating air, spread curse and paralysis, and fires magic continuously. If such a crazy person appears, what do you think that the monsters that inhabit in the upper layer originally would do?

The correct answer is of course they will run away, you idiot!

Hahaha! Isn't that crazy person is me? Ah, yeah. If you see me objectively, aren't I outrageously crazy? Then, of course the monsters will run away. After all, getting caught by me equals to being eaten by me.

Ah. Seriously, what's up with that? If I don't go far in the upper layer, I can't find a prey. The middle layer also, they keep staying in the magma. Because I still have my "Satiation" stocks, I don't have to worry about starving suddenly, but if I don't think of exploring now, it might be too late.

Ah, well, it's not like there's no options. I mean, that's the only one.

"Space Magic LV9", Long-distance Transfer.

This magic is a dreamlike magic that I can go anywhere as long as it's a place that I know. Besides, because I can link it to Wisdom-sama's map, the place where I transfer can be set in detail. I can Transfer to every path that I have pass through up until now since I was born. If I use this magic to go to a suitable place, I can choose my prey.

But. I think that I shouldn't do that. I feel like I should start looking for the exit soon. Therefore, I will expand my field of activities while looking for preys, and I will Transfer back to home when I'm tired. I think that I should repeat this. If I make this home as a base, I can continue to raise my "Fire Resistance".

If it really reach to the point where I can't find any preys, I will go to lower layer. If it's there, I will encounter a monster just by walking a little. I think that the current me won't lose unless the Earth Dragon comes out. Because the Earth Dragon will come when I say something like this, I don't want to go to the lower layer so much.

Thus, let's depart to expand the map! While I'm at it, obtain meal! ... The monsters in the upper layer is bad though.

I stroll around the upper layer, and return home with Transfer when I get tired. I continue such life leisurely. The upper layer's map has expanded considerably. Even if I say that, it's only 10% of the middle layer. The middle layer was really long.

I didn't meet much monsters along the way. Well, they are running away from me, so it's natural. Thanks to that, I didn't obtained much experience points and meals.

However, there's only one that I obtained that's good in experience points and meal. Although I came out from a similar passage as the middle layer's passage, I encountered the Earth Drake there. It was a guy that looks like a dinosaur. When I thought that I have seen it somewhere before, it was the guy that I saw in the crowd of monsters when I was just born. Because there's a considerable distance from that place to here, I think that it's a different individual of the same species.

It was strong when I fought it. Ah, it was strong. I restricted it with threads, completely stopped it with "Evil Eye of Stasis", and absorb it until nothing with "Evil Eye of Grudge", but it was strong. I'm sure that it must have been strong.

It's that. I who's the Dragon Killer, as if a Drake can be my opponent. Come to think of it, I won against the Fire Drake comparatively easy. There's a wall that can't be surpassed by the Dragon and the Drake in strength.

Thanks to this guy, my SP stock has increased and the experience points was very delicious too. Unfortunately, the taste was not delicious. Thanks to the "Evil Eye of Grudge" absorbed it, my SP stock reached the max value without eating. It's good that I have extra SP. With this, the starvation course is considerably distant now. The corpse that I was not able to finish eating was left enclosed with my threads, and when my SP decreases, I will just Transfer there to eat it little by little.

The experience points is also delicious. Because it's approximately equal with the Fire Drake, I'm getting closer to level up. But still, it's not enough. But, if I continue with this condition, I will level up soon. In that case, I can finally evolve. Although it won't end because I evolved, it just becomes a break. As expected, I should divide my objective into small, and achieve it one by one because it feels more efficient.

The present objective is to evolve. Strengthen "Fire Resistance". Find the exit.

There's no need find the exit in a hurry, so even if I found the exit, I will only feel that "It's good". It would be troublesome if I meet with human beings.

Human being. What should I do if I really meet one? I don't think that I will kill willingly, but if they attack me, I will counterattack. To be frank, I don't have the feeling of evasion towards murder when I was in Japan. Ah, I think that I probably don't have much feelings like that when I was in Japan. It was only troublesome, so even if I do it, there's no meaning to it. When thinking so, if I kill a human being in this world, it might be troublesome. I also don't want them to marked me down.

Un. I wonder should I escape if I meet a human being. I don't even know how strong is the human being in this world. Are all human beings equal to the Dragon class? Well, I don't think that they are to that extent because they didn't break through the middle layer.

Anyway, let's pray that we won't come across.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Elro Great Labyrinth Abnormality Investigation Team 1

Abnormality Investigation Team 1. Investigation starts. Elro Great Labyrinth Abnormality Investigation Team ①

Author note: The point of view of a certain middle-aged man -----
-----

I looked around the knights who gathered. I swallowed the sigh that I wanted to let out unintentionally. If I let out a sigh here, my son will get angry.

「Ah. Knights-san. Do you guys know where are you going to go?」

When I speak with an amazed voice, the knights' face dyed with irritation. Incidentally, my son who's next to me looks like going to lose his temper. Ah, sorry, sorry. My true intention came out unintentionally.

「Know your place as a guide. You guys only have to guide us」 「Ah. Is that so? If that's the case, I will quit this work」 「Do as you please. We can rely on other guides」 「Is that so?」

I was hit hard by my son when I was about to half rise my feet.

「No. Knights-sama, I'm sorry. Although my father has a bad mouth, he's a real deal as a labyrinth guide. Besides, because of the spider hunt is popular on the other side now, there's only a few labyrinth guides. If you fire us, I wonder whether the other people are free or not」

This guy. He hit me seriously.

Well, I will just entrust this to my son who's good in speaking here. Judging from their attitude, they don't know how influential am I in this industry. If people know that I quit, it's obvious that the other people will quit. Did this guys came without preliminary investigations?

「Hmph. Well, fine. Be grateful because we are using you」 「Yes. We are already grateful」

How troublesome.

「Well then, Knight-sama. When do you want to enter the labyrinth?」 「After this, immediately」 「I see. That means that the preparations such as food and antidotes are done. As expected of Knight-sama」 「Wait. Food and antidote?」 「Pardon? It's not prepared?」

My son has a look that he's wondering in the bottom of his heart. Even though this guy understands it.

「Why is food necessary for the investigation?」 「Eh? After all, the place that's going to be investigated this time takes 10 days to reach, you know?」 「Huh?」

The knights who begin to rustle. These guys is really not good. Did they come until here without knowing anything about the labyrinth? How did such an ignorant group get this labyrinth investigation job? Don't tell me that they are too incompetent and the higher-ups toss it to them irresponsibly.

「Knight-sama, is this your first time to enter the Elro Great Labyrinth?」 「A-Ah」 「The Great Labyrinth is the huge labyrinth that connects the two continents. This is the only way to go to the other continent in substitute for the almost-impossible-to-sail sea that's the Water Dragon's territory. Are you okay this far?」 「Are you making a fool of me? That's common sense」 「Yes. However, because of the Great Labyrinth's wideness, it's said that traveling is impossible if there's no guidance by the guide who's an expert in this. The survival rate of those who don't hire us is almost 0. Although I don't know whether it's true or false, it's said that the old Hero-sama entered the Great Labyrinth alone and didn't come back」

The knights become pale. Haa. It seems that they finally begin to understand the meaning to enter the Great Labyrinth after hearing that even the Hero didn't return alive.

「The Great Labyrinth has a wide complex structure that branches innumerably. If you lose your way, it's the end. It's not likely to be able to get out alive. Even we the guides don't grasp all the paths. Knight-sama, do you know what is this?」 「What's that paper bundle?」 「All are the maps of the Great Labyrinth. It's only a part though」

It's the map of the routes where it's safest and shortest to cross the continent which the guides of the Great Labyrinth upper layer use that my son took out. That alone becomes the amount that can be said as a paper bundle. Even the whole picture of the upper layer is not clear. That's the place called the Great Labyrinth.

「The place where Knights-sama are going to investigate this time is the place about 10 days advancing from the entrance. 10 days for a one-way trip. 10 days to investigate. 10 days to return. If there's no storage of foods for at least 30 days, you will have to turn back on the way. If possible, I want to take another 10 days food as reserves」

This time, these guys, knights have been dispatched because the amount of the monster has increased recently at a certain area in the labyrinth. These guys will investigate the cause and cull the monsters, but with this condition, nothing much can be expected. The area where the monsters are springing out in large quantities is exactly the place where the shortest route is. When thinking of the things from now on, if possible, I hope that they will investigate the cause and eliminate the monsters. I wonder what will happen.

「And also, because most of the monsters in the Great Labyrinth have poison, antidote is indispensable. Also, light source and its fuel. If possible, it's better to have a person who can use fire. Because it's possible to run away by igniting it when caught in the cobweb. Therefore, Knights-sama, we will write the list of things need, so please supply the materials. Because the guides have the space storing item, leave the carriage to us. Ah, and, how about sending a letter to your family? Because it will be a long journey」

My son said it in rapid succession, and the knights only nod in utter amazement. With such condition, it's going to be hard in the future. Well, I guess I will at least support you guys so that the letters that you sent to your family don't become a will.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Elro Great Labyrinth

Abnormality Investigation Team 2

Abnormality Investigation Team 2.

Elro Great Labyrinth Abnormality Investigation Team ②

Author note: The middle-aged man point of view

---

Eight days after entering the Great Labyrinth.

The area where the abnormality takes place is close.

About the knights who I didn't expect much from them, they were useful when it comes to battle and only useless in their head.

At first, I thought that I was forced to guide a inexperienced nobles unit, but the fact is this unit seems to be composed of the noble's second son and third son.

As expected of the powerful country, Rengzant Empire.

It was not a mere decoration unit.

「Certainly, we are a medley unit of nobles, but we have acquired training and combat experience similar to the other units. In the first place, this is the unit that's gathered with those who can't succeed the title. Everyone is desperate when they can receive a title by raising their achievements」

I'm told like that.

Although they still have their former noble's arrogance, they seemed to experienced a lot of battles, so they seemed to have flexible correspondence unexpectedly.

For the proof, they don't listen to my instructions before entering the labyrinth, but when they entered the labyrinth and experienced how severe it is, they apologize obediently and follow my instructions.

「To be honest, I have underestimated the Great Labyrinth. The fault of the former nobles' unit is lacking of common sense. It might be better to allot some time of training to general education from now on」

The knight's captain seems to be a competent man.

Although it's a nice miscalculation that the knights are useful, I can't stop the unpleasant feeling in me.

Although I'm sure that we haven't reached the area where the report was raised, the number of monsters is more than usual.

Although there's no casualty at present, there are some who got wounded.

It's not a problem because there's a Treatment Technique User, but the scary part of the Great Labyrinth is you don't know what's going to happen.

We have brought a large amount of antidotes, and there are knights who acquired the "Poison Resistance" in the continuous battles.

I think that it won't become a dangerous situation quick, but still, I have an unpleasant feeling.

Is there even a Queen somewhere here?

It's not impossible.

The Taratect hunting is popular on the other side means that the Queen has laid the eggs.

In other words, it came to the upper layer.

Queen Taratect is an Over S moving calamity.

Only one was killed by the Hero-sama long ago together with a large army in exchange of their lives in the subjugation record of the Queen Taratect.

Even if I exclude that one, there are still five of them in this world.

And, one of them settles in this Great Labyrinth.

Usually, it's at the layer below the upper layer, but it will go up to the upper layer when it lays its eggs.

Although it would go down immediately, I can't be careless because it sometimes stays in the upper layer.

I think that it's not there, but if we meet such a thing, no matter how many lives we have, it won't be enough.

I guess we should avoid large passages that the Queen seems to be able to pass.

Another thing that's in my mind is the area where the abnormality takes place is at the entrance to the middle layer.

If I think reasonably, it might be a powerful monster came from the middle layer and chase those guys who originally inhabit there.

However, is there such a powerful monster in the middle layer?

The middle layer is a Burning Hell where magma spreads all over.

It's a flame domain that the Humans can't capture.

However, the monsters' strength shouldn't have much difference from the upper layer.

It's the testimony that the adventurers who challenged the middle layer brought back.

Those adventurers raise their "Fire Resistance" for many years, fully equipped with fire-proof equipment and they challenged the middle layer.

After all, the food runs out because of the extremely huge middle layer, and they have to give up on the exploration.

However, they became the first adventurers who returned alive from the Great Labyrinth Middle Layer.

It's said that the Great Labyrinth consists of upper layer, middle layer and lower layer.

There are several huge holes in the upper layer that connect to the lower layer.

Although there were adventurers who went down the hole, most of them didn't come back.

The small number of adventurers who came back testified that there's a frightening amount of monsters above C rank in there.

It's said that the Queen makes the lower layer as its base. Although this is an urban legend, it's said that there's even a layer under it that's called bottom layer.

Although it can't be confirmed whether it's true or not, if they don't approach purposely, the lower layer and the even lower layer are unrelated.

Or, this time's abnormality is maybe something that came to the middle layer from the lower layer and crawled out.

I have such foolish wild ideas.

「Today, I think that we should rest around here once. What do you think?」

「Ah, I think that it's good. If it's the outside, it's the time when it gets dark」

「The time in the labyrinth gets out of order. You know the time well like that」

「Well, if you enter and exit the labyrinth for a long time when you're a kid, you will get used to it eventually. Guides are like that」

「I see. The guides are terrific people more than I thought」

「It's not like that. If it's the direct combat ability, Knight-san is way superior. In short, the right person in the right place. We are specialized in getting out from the labyrinth. Knight-san is specialized in fighting. It's like that」

「I see. By the way, I know this may be rude, but how many skills do you possess?」

「Huh? Skill, eh?」

「I'm sorry. I'm just interested in it. If you don't want to tell, there's no need to tell me. If you are offended, I will apologize」

「Ah, no. It's not like that. When it's people like us, it's rare to be appraised with appraisal stone. The last time I saw my skills is quite long ago, so I don't remember what kind of skills and how many I have」

「Skill is a lifeline. Isn't it better to grasp your own skills?」

「Well, I remember that "Night Vision" and "Danger Perception" have become level 10, but I have forgotten the others」

I who laughs lively, the captain returned an amazed look.

Well, half of it is a lie though.

Although it's true that I don't grasp all of my skills, I remembered it roughly.

However, there's no need to tell my skills purposely to another person.

It's my lifeline, isn't it obvious?

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Elro Great Labyrinth

Abnormality Investigation Team 3

Abnormality Investigation Team 3.

Elro Great Labyrinth Abnormality Investigation Team ③

Author note: The middle-aged man point of view -----
-----

The 13th day after entering the labyrinth. We arrived at the area that we aimed at first, and currently conducting the cause investigation and the cull of monsters. But, we became puzzled.

「There's no monster」 「Umu. Although the number of monsters increased strangely in the report, there's no such presence」 「Ah. Like this, there's even more along the way」

There was certainly a lot of monsters along the way. Although we usually evade combat as much as possible, the cull of monsters is important this time. Whenever we find a monster, the knights will fight. Because of that, the planned 10 days journey has extended to 12 days. When thinking about the return, we have to advance the investigation as fast as possible.

「Well, it's still the first day of investigation. There's no need to be in a hurry. In addition, it's rather convenient that the monsters disappeared. That the abnormality has settled down and issue settled」 「I hope it's like that」

Although I say it to the captain lightly, it's not that I myself believe in those words. This is because the unpleasant feeling that I felt after entering the labyrinth becomes more and more stronger. Good things won't happen usually when I have such feeling. It's better to be careful.

The 15th day.

「There's still no monster. Here, shouldn't we examine the large passage resolutely that we have avoided so far?」 「Hmm. The large passage, eh?」

There's no result in the investigation. It's natural because the monsters that are said to be here are not here. I hesitate to the captain's proposal. It's hard to think that there's a Queen by chance, but there are also monsters of a different level than the normal passage. Especially, the Earth Drake is a troublesome monster with great physical ability. If possible, I don't want to step into the large passage, but when thinking about the purpose this time, I have no choice but to go.

「It can't be helped. Captain-san, if you judged that it's dangerous, retreat right away」 「That's right. Everyone, listen! We are heading towards the large passage after this! If you judged that it's dangerous, retreat right away! Have such intention!」

The unit advances by the captain's command.

「Here it is」 「Umu. Let's advance carefully from now on」

We move forward to the large passage. I look at the surroundings carefully. There's no figure of monster.

「There's no monster here either」 「Umu. From what I heard, this large passage should have a lot of monsters, right?」 「Ah. Such quiet large passage is the first time for me. This is eerie」 「It would be better to advance more carefully」

The unpleasant feeling that I feel becomes stronger. My instinct is telling me that advancing ahead is dangerous.

「I don't like this. The unpleasant feeling won't stop」 「I'm the same too」

The captain breaks into a cold sweat. Similar sweat streams down my cheeks. I advance ahead slowly.

A certain thing caught my eyes there.

「This is a cobweb?」 「Is it the Taratect monster?」

It's a huge cobweb. Only the nest and the master's figure is not seen. This size, I'm sure that the master of this nest has grown into an adult form.

「Is the master of this nest the cause of this abnormality?」 「It might be so. Look at that」

At the place where I pointed, there's the half-eaten corpse of the Earth Drake caught in the nest.

「Even the Earth Drake is like this. This one might have evolved into the Greater class」

The Taratect species is the species that strength rises tremendously according to the evolution. The highest rank Queen is Myth rank. While the newborn child spider is the lowest F rank. It's needless to say how big is the change by evolution.

Greater Taratect is the very rare evolution individual. The strength is B rank that's near A rank. When thinking that the Earth Drake is defeated, it's not strange even if it has reached A rank.

「Can we fight with a A rank monster?」 「It's impossible. Although it might be possible to subjugate it if you challenge it with the resolution of getting annihilated, such thing can't be done」 「You are right. We better go back. This is too much for us」 「I agree. It's better to escape as soon as possible」

The captain's opinion and mine match. Both of us nod, and start to leave the place,

A very large chill attacks me.

I catch my breath. The cobweb that I have turned my back to. Something appeared there. I exchange looks with the captain next to me. I nod and look back slowly.

And, our eyes met.

A spider. Although it looks like the Taratect species, it's slightly different. It's a black small spider monster that has the hands of sickle.

I realize it in an instant. This guy is dangerous. Although I don't know how it appeared suddenly, anyway, it's dangerous. My body becomes stiff because of fear.

Greater Taratect? Not such level. This guy is not a simple one.

「Retreat!」

I come to my senses by the captain's shout. I run away at full speed. The rank is no longer a matter. I only move my legs desperately to escape from that earnestly.

While wondering how far did we ran, we got out from the large passage. That guy didn't chase us even if we look back.

Sighs of relief leak from everywhere. The captain breathe out once, and began a roll-call immediately. There was no missing member.

「Let's get out of the labyrinth immediately」 「Ah. I must contact to my country. We can't do anything against such monster」

It's not like they actually fought it. But, it's understood at first sight. That is an outrageous monster. The reason why there's a lot of monsters is the monsters are chased by that monster, lost their habitat and overflow the outskirts. And, the reason why there's no monster around here is because they ran away from that.

No matter how I think, it's a monster that surpasses the A rank easily. It might even be a S rank. Only Hero-sama and the elites of each country can fight against such thing. It's an existence that ordinary people like us can't do anything against it.

「Zoa Ere」

Someone muttered.

「What is that?」 「It's that monster. The spider monster that signifies sinister. But, there shouldn't be such a monster」

Apparently, that monster is a species called Zoa Ere. However, I have not heard that such monster was generated in the Great Labyrinth. Did it mutate suddenly from the Taratect species? It seems to be obviously different from the normal Zoa Ere, so I'm sure that it's a mutation. At any rate, we can't do anything further than this.

After that, we escape from the labyrinth immediately.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 127

Chapter 127.

127 Show me the possibility that a person has

Ah, I was surprised. When I transfer and return to the Earth Drake storage, there's a lot of people. Of course I will feel surprised. It's not like I have anthropophobia, but I'm not good at contacting a person. I was surprised and I stared at the hairy-faced uncle unintentionally. Ah, I turned off the Evil Eyes just in case. I hate it when we oppose each other just because our eyes met.

That uncle is quite cool and good-looking. He's my preference. If he smile while smoking a cigarette, he seems to look extremely good. Crap, that is good. I might chase him and ask him. Even if I say that, I can't speak. In the first place, what's that torture to have me who have a community disease to talk to a person.

However, why did those people come? Although they suddenly shout something and start running, what is it? Did they endured to go to the toilet? I don't know.

Well, if they overlook me, that's better for me, so it's very welcome. Although I think that I can win even if it becomes a fight, it's troublesome.

Although it's a knight-like group that has armor on them, they are not strong. The strong person is almost as the same as the snake in status. After I have returned to the upper layer, I have killed several snakes, but the snake was so weak. I also had the time when I thought that it's a boss character. I became very strong.

The strong person is around the snake. Although the skill was considerably enhanced, still, the status is about the snake. It doesn't seem to be my enemy. Is human being actually weak? They also looked like knights, so that means they can fight in their own way. And, with that strength only? Uwa. Human being is weaker than I thought. Although I thought that they can fight against Mother for a certain period of time, they can never do it!

Well, maybe, only that group is particularly weak. Perhaps, the difference of human being between the strong and the weak is intense in this world. There might be a "I'm STROOONG"-kun. Because I also became this strong, so it's not strange that there is.

Hmm. If I follow after the people a while ago, won't I know where's the exit? Ah, but that uncle has "Presence Perception". If I follow, I can see that I will be found. I don't want that. I don't want to associate with a person so much. But, in order to eat delicious cuisine, I have to associate with a person. Although it's troublesome, I can't yield this.

When I buy stuffs in my previous life, I didn't even make an eye contact with the salesperson. I will have to learn the language of this world, and various problems lie ahead.

Oh, well. When things cooled down, I will explore the direction where the people went. The direction that I go don't have any monsters recently, so it's just right. There's no need to hurry. I still can't be an Arachne. Even if I go out with a spider's appearance, I probably can't enter a town.

When it's said that whether I can enter a town after becoming an Arachne, I feel that it's impossible, but that's the only way at present. Because the hallucination of "Heresy Magic" only has an instant effect, it's meaningless. It's a wishful thinking of trying to approach human form even a little.

However, those people, why did they come? Because they are knights, are they a unit of a country somewhere? Did they come to subjugate something? Monster that seems to be the target for subjugation around here is the Earth Drake. Sorry, I have made it into my food. I don't think that it will be, but is the subjugation target me? No no. In the first place, this is my second time to meet with human beings in this spider life. I never did anything to the extent that the subjugation corps need to be dispatched.

Ah, but it might be bad if one of them have "Appraisal". "There's a dangerous spider monster, so let's subjugate it", it might flow this way. Because they started running immediately, I was not able to appraise everyone, so there might be a person with "Appraisal". After all, should I just chase them and confirm it? Ah, but I don't want to associate with people. Mumumu.

Never mind. It's troublesome. Why must I associate with people assertively? Let me stay as a loner.

In addition, when the time comes, I can just escape with Transfer. If I escape to the middle layer, of course I can run away from the human beings that don't have "Fire Resistance". I mean, I can escape at the moment I transfer.

Besides, looking at the people's strength a while ago, it's doubt whether I need to run away or not. Although it's troublesome to associate with people, if they come with the intention to kill me, I won't show mercy. Ah, but if I do that, my delicious meal will become distant again. Kuu, even though I just want to eat delicious meal, why did it become such a troublesome thing. Ah, no no.

Rather, I should kill them and steal it. Those people seem to have food too. Ah, but if it's such a labyrinth, they won't have fresh and delicious things. I'm not glad even if I get an unappetizing preserved food. To raise the hostility flag with the human being because of that doesn't worth it.

I should just become the Demon King seriously and rule them. Then, I can eat delicious things as many as I want every day. Ah, that might be good. If I can do such a thing, I won't have any hardships. Ah. I want to eat a delicious thing.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 128

Chapter 128. Kumoko shows her OPness to others.

128 Mercy is not for others

Today also, I explore the upper layer leisurely. Lately, there's really no monster. If it's a game, there's an interval until the monsters re-spawn, so the enemy will never come to an end. But, if it's the reality, it won't increase if it doesn't breed, so it decreases if it's defeated. After all, I hunt every monsters that I found to gain experience points and securing food. Even if I don't do that, the monsters will run away from me and hide, so I will have to agree that they can't be found.

A little more, I have really accumulate experience points until a little more to evolve. Another 2 or 3 small fry. And, I can evolve.

It's probably no problem this time because it's safe if I use my home near the middle layer entrance and I have my "Satiation" stock too. Even if it's not enough, because the corpse of the Earth Drake still remains, there's no problem if I Transfer there as soon as my MP recovers and eat it. I have already prepared the environment to evolve. Now only the experience points.

Damn it. Is there a good experience points somewhere? If it's now, I can "Hyahha" with composure. Of course there's none. Haa. I have to look for it steadily.

When I thought about it, I found it relatively easy. Experience points, er, rather monster. A snake. In this upper layer, it's the strong one, so if I defeat it, I can level up and evolve.

But, there's one problem. The snake is fighting with the human beings.

Two human beings are confronting the snake. Another two who are already wounded are at a slightly remote place. And another one doing the treatment. Five people in total.

Judging from the situation with my "Clairvoyance", the adventurers got attacked by the snake. Hmm. Although it would be better if Appraisal can be used together with "Clairvoyance", judging from the situation, the snake is superior, is it?

So, even two people can't win against the snake. Ah, because two people have already knocked down, so it's five people at first. It seems that human beings are weaker than my expectation.

Ah, what should I do? Although I can thrust myself into there and snatch the snake, if I do that, I will associate with those people. Troublesome.

But, if I leave them like this, they seem to be annihilated. But still, isn't that fine? Isn't it better to defeat the snake after they are annihilated? If it's that case, I don't need associate with them purposely.

... After all, as expected, that's not acceptable. If I do it, I can't called myself as a former human being. Although I feel like it's okay even if I do it, it's troublesome and I kinda feel sorry for those people who got abandoned.

Thus, because I can't stand it, I will help. You should thank this me who has a transcendence wide heart.

Dash. There no direction like "I came here to help you guys!". I kill it quickly and withdraw quickly. Like that, it won't have future troubles. That's why, Snake, I will have you exit here.

I arrive at the place that I looked with "Clairvoyance" in an instant. Making full use of "Space Maneuver", I move to the top of the snake's head. The sickle that swings down. "Enhanced Slashing", status strengthening and the additional effect of "Deadly Poison Attack". My sickle pierces through the snake's head. With that alone, the snake's HP became 0 in an instant.

The defeated snake. I pull out my sickle from the snake's head, and shake off the blood. Once again, I have cut a worthless object.

《Experience points has reached a certain degree. Individual, Zoa Ere LV19 has become LV20》《Every basic ability rose》《Level Up Bonus:Skill Proficiency was acquired》《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Faint Resistance LV3』 has become 『Faint Resistance LV4』》《Skill points gained》《Conditions met. Individual, Zoa Ere can evolve》

《There are multiple choices of evolution. Please choose from the following. Ede Saine Greater Taratect Ortho Kadinart》

Yosh! Finally, level up. With this, I can finally evolve.

Now then, when I look at the adventurers state, they stop in blank amazement.

Well, it's not like I don't understand how they feel though. Well then, I will carry the snake like this and good-bye with Transfer.

Although I thought about that, the two people in the interior who fainted seem to die. It looks like the snake's poison is effective. Although the man who's nursing them is trying his best to cure them with magic, the construction speed and power are low. If it's like this, they will die before recovering.

Hmm. Well, it's the friendship that I did until here. If I do it, I should do it thoroughly.

I move to the two fainted people. Although the magic construction disperse on the way because the man who was treating them was surprised, it doesn't have any change even if there's this guy's magic or not. "Treatment Magic" activate. The magics of Abnormal Condition Recovery and HP Recovery for both of them. My "Treatment Magic" rose considerably because I kept using it when I was raising my "Fire Resistance". If it's such a poison and wound, I can recover it without a problem.

The man who treated them opens his eyes wide after seeing my magic. Ah, if I associate any further, it will be troublesome. As expected, you guys should do it yourself from this point.

I return to the snake and this time, I will transfer. And, a certain thing was reflected in my eyes.

It was a fruit. It looks like a dried persimmon.

Fuoooooooo!?! Sweet thing!?! This is a sweet one, right!?! Is it the thing dropped by them when fighting!? Can I take this!? I won't let you say "No", you know!? I will take it no matter what!

Thus, sweet obtained! Uoo! This is even happier than the level up!

I skipped cheerfully to the snake. I leave the adventurers who are still dumbfounded, and transfer this time with the snake.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 129

Chapter 129. Tasting the sweetness and evolution.

129 I'm going to evolve! Part 4

I transfer and return to My Home. Let's eat the fruit that I obtained immediately. Evolution? Such thing can be done later. Now I will use all my energy to taste the first sweetness in this spider life!

"Enhanced Taste" Maximum Output! Incidentally, "Enhanced Smell" too!

First, I will enjoy it by looking at it slowly and carefully. Incidentally, Appraisal.

『The fruit of dried Kurikuta』 『Kurikuta: A plant that grows naturally and widely in the Kasanagara continent. Periodically bloom and bear fruits. It's actually sweet, and it has an effect of slightly recovering the MP』

I see. This fruit was not just a snack. So, it will recover MP. If they hold it as a recovery medicine, I might have did something bad. But well, I recovered the serious wound, so they won't complain even if I take this. Because the price must be paid properly, it's okay.

Well then, deep breath. Suu, Haa. Yosh! Itadakimasu!

... Sweet. Ah, sweet. It's sweet.

There's bitterness and it's not delicious if I compare it with the fruit that I ate in my previous life. Because it's dried, there's no juiciness too. But, it's sweet.

After I became a spider, it's the first sweet thing that I eat. It's sweet. It's delicious. I'm happy.

I taste it slowly and eat it. I taste it thoroughly and eat it. Until the very last.

Fuu. Thank you for the meal. As expected, proper sweet things are special. I must say that delicious things are delicious without thinking. No matter how delicious it is, it's not good to eat and feel complicated.

Well then. Now that I have soaked myself in the aftertaste, I think that I should evolve.

This time, the preparations are perfect unlike the time I evolve in the middle layer. Safety is secured, and there's food too. There's no problem.

If there's a problem, then there's only one. "Taboo" seems to have reached max level in this evolution. "Taboo", huh?? I think that something will happen when this reaches max level, but I don't know the details even with Wisdom-sama's power. I wonder what will happen.

Well, now that I have come until here, evasion is already impossible, so I have no choice but to accept what happens. I pray that it won't be an instant death or an irrevocable penalty. Hmm. Well, although scary things are scary, I think that it won't go until that nasty. Up until now, the mysterious skill like "Pride" don't have disadvantages after all. It might super-strengthen me unexpectedly without a disadvantage. Even if it won't be like that, I don't think that D who's a criminal for pleasure will impose a death penalty like instant death when it reaches max level. Because it's that fellow, I'm sure that she will choose to keep me alive and enjoy looking at me.

Huh? If that's the case, then I will experience a more frightening experience than death. ... Let's not think about it. It can't be helped even if I think. As for "Taboo", I will take it as it comes. There's no more than this.

The candidate of evolution is three. Greater Taratect is the evolution to return to the former Taratect. It's the guy that I saw at the lower layer. Well, it's certainly strong, but I don't have the intention to evolve to this. After all, my body will become big.

One of the evolution conditions of the Arachne is a small size or medium size spider-type monster, so if I become that huge Greater Taratect, I can't evolve into the Arachne. That's why, Greater Taratect is out.

The remainder is two. Ede Saine and Ortho Kadinart.

『Ede Saine : Evolution Condition : Zoa Ere LV20 : Explanation : The small spider-type monster that's feared as the symbol of death. It has a very high combat ability and stealth nature』 『Ortho Kadinart : Evolution Condition : Small spider-type monster that has status more than the standard value, possesses magic-type skills : Explanation : The spider-type monster that's well versed in magic. It has high intelligence, and it's good at entangle-type such as putting a trap, etc』

Ortho Kadinart is a magic-type, and Ede Saine is the higher rank evolution of Zoa Ere. However, Ortho Kadinart is not so important. Although it's an evolution unlocked thanks to "Magic Extremity" and "Divine Magic", to be frank, it's a failure evolution. After all, even if it says that it's intelligent, that's the monster standard. I have been creating traps since I was born.

In addition, the Ortho Kadinart stops evolving here. In other words, it's to that extent. Even if I look at the Evolution Tree, it can't be said as a high rank monster, so it's not attractive.

Compared with it, Ede Saine is amazing. It's final evolution is still far, and when I see the Evolution Tree, it's a monster of the rank one step before Mother.

The monster's rank can be understood to some extent according to the position of the written monster's name in the Evolution Tree. When saying from the position of the name, it's the evolution form that's one evolution behind the Queen Taratect which seems to be Mother's species. That's Ede Saine.

The rank as a monster is way higher than the other evolution candidates. Thus, if I were to choose, it's Ede Saine. If there's no Wisdom-sama's Evolution Tree, I would be hesitating. Wisdom-sama is really amazing.

By the way, Arachne is a special evolution, so it's independent from the Evolution Tree. The evolution conditions are "Pride" holder, small size or medium size monster, and more than level 50. It's an incredibly absurd. And, there's something wrong with me who seriously aim at it.

《Individual Zoa Ere evolves into Ede Saine》

Then, Evolution Start!

《Evolution completed》《Became the Ede Saine species》《Every basic ability rose》《Level Up Bonus:Skill Proficiency was acquired》《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『High-speed HP Recovery LV1』 has become 『High-speed HP Recovery LV2』》《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Magic Granting LV4』 has become 『Magic Granting LV5』》《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Enhanced Destruction LV4』 has become 『Enhanced Destruction LV5』》《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Enhanced Slashing LV5』 has become 『Enhanced Slashing LV6』》《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Enhanced Poison LV9』 has become 『Enhanced Poison LV10』》《Conditions met. Skill 『Enhanced Abnormal Condition LV1』 was derived from Skill 『Enhanced Poison LV10』》《『Enhanced Poison LV10』 has unified with 『Enhanced Abnormal Condition LV1』》《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Enhanced Abnormal Condition LV1』 has become 『Enhanced Abnormal Condition LV7』》《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Fighting Spirit LV6』 has become 『Fighting Spirit LV7』》《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Vitality Granting LV3』 has become 『Vitality Granting LV4』》《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Universal Thread LV3』 has become 『Universal Thread LV4』》《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Dark Magic LV7』 has become 『Dark Magic LV8』》《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Dimension Magic LV1』 has become 『Dimension Magic LV2』》《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Destruction Resistance LV3』 has become 『Destruction Resistance LV4』》《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Blunt Resistance LV3』 has become 『Blunt Resistance LV4』》《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Slash Resistance LV3』 has become 『Slash Resistance LV4』》《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Petrifaction Resistance LV3』 has become 『Petrifaction Resistance LV4』》《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Acid Resistance LV4』 has become 『Acid Resistance LV5』》《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Great Pain Alleviation LV3』 has become 『Great Pain Alleviation LV4』》《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Destiny LV1』 has become 『Destiny LV2』》《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Body Flicker LV4』 has become 『Body Flicker LV5』》《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Durability LV4』 has become 『Durability LV5』》《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Taboo LV9』 has become 『Taboo LV10』》《Acquired skill 『Corrosion Resistance LV1』 by evolution》《『Corrosion Resistance LV1』 has unified with 『Corrosion Resistance LV4』》《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Corrosion Resistance LV4』 has become 『Corrosion Resistance LV5』》《Acquired skill 『Evil Eye of Extinction LV1』 by evolution》《Skill points gained》

《Conditions met. Activating the effect of Taboo. Installing》《Installation completed》

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 130

Chapter 130. Kumoko = Future Demon King confirmed. Everything is caused by D.

130 Taboo

... Good morning. .... This is the worst. Ah, really the worst. What "Taboo". Certainly a "Taboo". I shouldn't have let such a thing to reach max level. It's better if I don't know about it. D, what a person with a bad personality. What do you want me to do, telling me such information when I'm a person who violates the taboo? This is the worst.

I shouldn't have helped the adventurers a while ago. This is sickening. It's the worst. This is the worst. All of the Humans and the Demons should just perish. I feel sick.

What did Administrator Gyuriedistodiez do so far? Why did you spoil them until it became like this? There's no need to give such mercy to those guys. It's not enough even if you exterminate them.

Ah, I understand it. Such a thing can't be done. Although I understand, I will get irritated when I think including it.

What should I do? Now that I know this, it can't be said that I'm unrelated.

There's no more time either. I must take actions. For that reason, I need power. My status rose considerably by this evolution. But, such thing is meaningless. The power in the W system is only a power that works in the system after all. If I start my actions now, it's necessary to acquire the power that can only interfere the MA area. Although I have three authority of the Ruler class, it's insufficient with just those. It must be the power of the Administrator class.

Then, I have no choice but to reach the Administrator class by force. D foresaw it. That fellow. So, that's why it's the  $n\%I=W$  skill. Although it might be her own way of showing sincerity, I can't think other than she aimed at this to happen. Damn. After all, everything is on top of her palm. Although it's the worst, I have no choice but to get on her palm. There's no other choices.

Ah, damn. I'm feeling irritated.

《Skill proficiency reached. Acquired skill 『Anger LV1』》

Ah, yeah. It doesn't matter. Even if I have such skill, it doesn't have any meaning.

... No, if I devote to skills, maybe, Will it work? Un. It seems to work. If that's the case, I will raise my level as usual, and develop my skills. But, I can't say carefree things anymore.

Let's resolve myself. Now that it become like this, it can't be helped. If it's true, it's quick to keep killing the Humans and the Demons, but if I do that, as expected, Gyuriedistodiez will not remain silent. Even though he's restrained by D, that guy will definitely come and obstruct me. If it's the current me, I can't win against Gyuriedistodiez even if he does a handstand. In order to make him not to obstruct me, I must become more stronger than him. Even if I can't be so strong, I must at least acquire the power at the level that he will hesitate to interfere me.

I eat the snake's corpse that I left. I must restore my SP that decreased because of evolution first of all.

I finish eating the snake. I can't say that I can eat the other one slowly anymore. I will eat it quickly.

Transfer. The destination is the lower layer. If it's here, I don't have to worry about the monsters. Although I have made the upper layer as a base in consideration of safety up until now, I can't afford to say such thing anymore. I will hunt every monster that's caught in my eyes. And, how many level will rise? And, how much is the effect? I have no choice but to do it.

Move. Found a monster. Appraise. A monster of the eel class in strength. But, it's no longer my enemy.

《Experience points has reached a certain degree. Individual, Ede Saine LV1 has become LV2》《Every basic ability rose》《Level Up Bonus:Skill Proficiency was acquired》《Skill points gained》

《Experience points has reached a certain degree. Individual, Ede Saine LV2 has become LV3》《Every basic ability rose》《Level Up Bonus:Skill Proficiency was acquired》《Skill points gained》

《Experience points has reached a certain degree. Individual, Ede Saine LV3 has become LV4》《Every basic ability rose》《Level Up Bonus:Skill Proficiency was acquired》《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Evil Eye of Extinction LV1』 has become 『Evil Eye of Extinction LV2』》《Skill points gained》

3 level up. Only one skill rose. Not enough. It's not enough at all. Let's go with the intention to kill all the monsters in the lower layer.

If the Earth Dragon appears, I will kill it without hesitation. It's fine to kill such a worthless vanguard. Rather than secluding themselves in such a labyrinth where no one comes, it's better for them to be my food and they can prove their use for a long time. There shouldn't be a Dragon in the upper layer and the middle layer anymore. There are four in the lower layer, and there are nine in the bottom layer. I will kill everything.

Ah, I wonder why did I reincarnate to such a world. It would be better if this world will just perish. Why, for such a world.... Ah, I understand. I must do it. But, it's not for this world. It's only for me. I will do it only for me. Otherwise, who will do it for such a shitty world? This is the worst. It's the worst. Let's kill the life of this world widely. Although it's a troublesome thing, let's acquire power to ruin this world.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter K2

Katia 2.

K2 The last obstinacy of a man

Author note: Kanata's point of view -----
-----

Why did it become like this? I look at the other me in an absentminded consciousness. The other me shoots magic toward Shun without hesitation. Together with the soldiers around me.

My magic doesn't work on Shun. Originally, there was a difference in talent between me and Shun. Even if the difference was small when we were still small, the difference became big as we grow. I have also been jealous of that talent. But, I came to respect Shun purely when I see him who continue to put efforts earnestly.

Ah, come to think of it, this guy was a guy who will dash without hesitation if he has an aim since the previous life. Although he was absorbed in game in the previous life, in this world now, the aim is his older brother, Julius-san who's the Hero. He was already talented, and the result of continuing to put efforts with a higher aim was the scene in front of me.

The Flame Magic that I shot is the annihilation-type magic that burns a wide range. Although it doesn't have the power like the great magic, still, the damage becomes serious if it's shot at a group. Shun offsets it with magic, and even protected the enemy soldiers in the surroundings, making the damage to 0.

He's a good-natured guy like a fool with absurd skills as usual I can only say that he's a fool to protect the enemy purposely. Although I tried to smile wryly, I showed a hateful expression against my will.

「Katia! Return to sanity!」 「You are noisy. I am sane. A rebel should just be punished obediently like a rebel」

The things that I don't think of goes out from my mouth. But, I know. That I myself is the one who tell these words.

There was a lot of such sign since childhood. My previous life is a man. In this world, I'm a woman. I live as a woman while having the mind of a man. Such odd me. Like water and oil, there was something that didn't mix somewhere.

The gap deepen steadily as I grow. I was attracted to the cute accessory that I ignored in my previous life. Even though I shouldn't have liked sweet things, it became my favorite. I felt nothing even if I see a woman's body. I had my first period like it was natural. It became natural that menses came. My chest swells and my figure became like a woman too.

It's not only my body. The inside also gradually changed. Before even I myself notice. The decisive one is when Shun was attacked by Yuugo. At that time, I was upset to the extent that even I don't know. The moment I thought that Shun might be killed, my front starts to become pure white.

At first, I thought that Shun is my best friend from the previous life, and it can be said that he's already my one and only best friend. But, when I meet Shun afterwards, my feelings can't calm down. Even I myself don't know what the feelings are. However, I thought that I didn't want to lose Shun strongly.

That feeling became strong day by day. My feelings won't calm down when I'm close to Shun. And yet, when Shun is not close to me, I feel lonely and can't calm down. My feeling won't calm down even if I'm close to him or not. I was puzzled over such unstable feelings. I was swung around by my incomprehensible feelings.

No. I actually knew what the feelings were. However, there was only the mind that I didn't want to accept it. I who was a man originally. I'm now a woman. Perhaps, my heart have definitely broke recently.

My heart splits whenever I see Sue and Yuri cling to Shun. Despite that, there's the me who doesn't accepts it. The contradicting heart's conflict. But, the balance had already inclined. My mind depends on my body. In other words, it's such a thing.

Therefore, I who's looking at my fight with Shun is only the remainder of the existence called Ooshima Kanata. The remainder that has a man's mind.

Perhaps, because I was a man, the Charm that Yuugo cast didn't work on me.

After that incident, although I didn't tell Shun, I applied a strict watch on Yuugo. I build a monitoring system with my Duke house initiation, I checked his actions in detail everyday. Although it should be like that, a suspicious point can be seen in the report after sometime. I use a trustworthy man for monitoring. There's no way that he will betray. And yet, the contents that can only be think as false started to be mixed in the report.

I changed the monitoring person. If I think about it now, that was not good.

Shun inherited the Hero title and left the academy. The change from there was instant.

At first, Yuri's state became strange. Yuri who should have been devoted to the Divine Word Religion stopped telling such story.

Next is Sue. It was clear that she will be depressed because Shun left the academy, but unbelievably, she became lively.

Something begins to go amiss. Even though I recognize it like that, I don't know the cause.

I understood it after I was called by the people of the Duke house who were monitoring Yuugo, entrapped, and I was brainwashed by Yuugo. At this time, most of the people of the Duke house have already brainwashed by that guy.

And, now I end up fighting with Shun. Yuugo's brainwash is dreadful. It can be said that having normal consciousness like this is a miracle. Surely, the other brainwashed guys must love and respect Yuugo from the bottom of their hearts.

Even if I have my consciousness like this, there's nothing I can do. The me who's a remainder can do nothing.

But. That doesn't mean that I have to give up! In a man, there's a thing called as a man's pride! I shouted to my absentminded thought. At the moment my outer consciousness concentrates on magic construction, I interrupt the construction with all my power.

The magic explodes.

「Katia!？」

Shun rushes over in surprise. I'm caught just before I fall to the ground. But, I understand that my life is ending.

This is fine. The outer me should have also wished for this.

The desperate face of Shun is reflected in my blurred sight. What a terrible face. I laugh incidentally. Unlike a while ago, my cheek rises according to my will. If I can die laughingly, I'm satisfied. And, my consciousness sinks as it is into the abyss.

I'm pulled forcibly by a warm light.

「Ah, Shun?」「Katia, did you return to sanity?」「Huh? My...wound?」

There's no wound that I should have received by the magic explosion.

「I cured it」

Shun who says it easily. I certainly thought that I died.

「You..are...an..absurd..guy..as...usual」 「Don't talk anymore now. We will escape from here」

I'm lifted with a princess carry. At that moment, my heart throbs to the extent that I thought it was going to explode. Even though it's such a situation, my face flushes.

Ah, this is bad. It's already bad.

At this moment, Ooshima Kanata became Carnatia Seri Anabald in a true meaning.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter B2

Balto 2. Only two chapters today. B2 Maou-sama is dismayed

I confirm the import of goods and take a breath. Our side has considerably worn out in the previous great war too. Weapons, foods, and life goods. It's the situation where it's insufficient no matter how many goods we have.

I swallow the desire that wants to take a rest somehow, and move. I have a lot of things to do.

I'm pressed to reorganized for the next departure and the confirmation of the Demon army damage situation from the previous great war.

We were able to inflict considerable damage to the Humans in the previous great war. Especially, the Hero was killed. The Hero is the best force of the Humans. If that is lost, the Human's morale will drop too. Although a new Hero might be born somewhere, it will take time to find the person, and even if the person becomes the Hero, it may not be strong at first. There's a possibility that it's a child. Because it's said that the Hero killed this time inherited the Hero title during his childhood, so it's not impossible.

However, the damage here is also large. It's large to have lost General Agna who led the First Army. That person was a person who had the power, experience, and knowledge to the extent that he can be the Demon King. He has been annihilated together with the army by the Myth rank monster, Queen Taratect that appeared in the battlefield suddenly. This loss is too big.

Queen Taratect. A super-rank monster that appeared suddenly and disappeared suddenly. I don't think that it appeared in the battlefield accidentally. If that's the case,....

「Oh? Isn't it Balto? What's wrong?」

I endure my body that almost trembled somehow. When I turned around, there's the figure of the person who I don't want to meet now. It's Maou-sama. Standing beside her is Shiro.

「Hey hey. It looks like you're working busily. Hardship hardship」 「If you think so, please help a little」 「But I refuse」

The laughing Maou-sama. It looks like her mood is unusually good. Shiro who's at the side pulls Maou-sama's sleeve.

「Ah, right. Balto, did the luggage reach?」 「Luggage, is it? If it's the import of goods, it's completed」 「Oh! Shiro-chan, we can't stay here like this! Balto, there's a luggage for me, right?」 「Eh?」 「Eh?」

Maou-sama and I tilt our heads to the side. I think that there was no such luggage.

「By the way, what are the contents?」 「The finest Kurikuta set」 「Ah」

I have an idea about that luggage.

「Ah? It's there, isn't it? So, where is it?」

This is bad. I didn't know that it was Maou-sama's luggage.

「Well, I gave it to Sanatoria」 「Why!？」 「I'm sorry. Because Sanatoria likes to eat the Kurikuta fruit since the old days, I misunderstood that it was her thing」

「Wh...at...?」

The depressed Maou-sama. Shiro who leaves Maou-sama and begins to run. Maou-sama and I return to consciousness, and chase Shiro. Ahead of my sight after turning the corner of the hallway, Shiro was smashing the door of Sanatoria's room.

「Eh!? What!？」

Sanatoria's surprised voice sounds. Shiro stiffens in the state that the door was smashed. She opens her eyes wide.

When I see the room, there was the figure of Sanatoria and Kogou. And, the empty tableware placed on the table.

「A-Ah...」

Shiro speaks in a despaired voice. Maou-sama also becomes stiff staring at the empty tableware.

「Fuu」 「Shiro-chan!？」

Shiro fell suddenly. Falls backward from the head. A dull sound is made and stopped moving.

「Gyaa!? Shiro-chan!?!」

Is it a shock to not being able to eat the fruit to the extent that she will lose consciousness? It becomes doubtful whether she really the person who killed the Hero. However, I can understand it if I see that eyes a little while ago. At the moment I saw it, fear runs in my body.

「This is bad! Shiro-chan is not breathing! MEDIC!」

Maou-sama runs off while carrying Shiro.

Leaving behind me and the two who don't understand the situation. Sanatoria sinks down on the spot. Kogou also looks pale.

「What is it?」 「Ah. Sorry. The fruits that have been delivered here was actually Maou-sama's thing that I delivered by mistake」

It seems that Sanatoria understands from that.

「I thought that it was strange because I didn't ask for it. Because I was talking with Kogou, we ate it together」 「Sorry. It's my mistake」 「Please do the follow-up properly, okay? I don't want to be executed for such a foolish reason」 「Ah」

There's no way that a precious General will be executed for such a foolish thing.

But, I'm not sure because it's that Maou-sama.

「However, it's unusual for you to talk with Kogou」 「It's just right. You should also join」 「What?」 「The contact with the Elves」 「What?」 「It looks like General Agna has advanced the negotiations with the Elves. They came into contact with me」 「Is that true?」 「Yes. Do you have the mind to betray that Demon King and side with us?」

My movement stops by Sanatoria's words.

「You heard it, right? Blow's last moment. While Shiro has the power to instant kill the Hero, she overlooked easily that Blow was killed. If we follow that Demon King, it's clear that we will also be used and crushed sooner and later. If we deceive that Demon King in collusion with the Elves, we should be able to defeat her」

I look at the direction where Maou-sama disappeared slowly.

「Blow is your younger brother, right? Aren't you frustrated?」 「Of course I'm frustrated」

A low voice came out even if I say so myself. Sanatoria draws back one step to my voice. I let out a sigh to that state.

「This is the friendship of a childhood friend. I will pretend that I didn't hear this story」 「So, you won't join?」 「Because there's no winning chance」 「Why do you think so?」 「I can't win her. If she feels like it, she can even exterminate the Humans and the Demons alone. I know that. That's why, I can't do such a suicidal action like opposing her」

I turn my back on Sanatoria who became silent and the flustered Kogou who has not even said a word from a while ago.

「You should reconsider it」 「I will return those words as it is completely」

I began to walk without looking back.

* * * * *

「I have heard it, I have heard it. Elves, huh? They are annoying by now」

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 131

Chapter 131. Back to the old Kumoko. 131 I lost

Eat. Eat. Eat. I don't hide the act anymore. I crunch daringly and swallow it. Like eating everything until it runs out.

《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Satiation LV3』 has become 『Satiation LV4』》

《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Divinity Area Expansion LV5』 has become 『Divinity Area Expansion LV6』》

I rampaged in the lower layer. As if I'm venting my accumulated anger. The weak monsters and the strong monsters are hunted equally and thoroughly.

At such time, I met that guy again. Earth Dragon Kaguna. The second Earth Dragon that I met in the lower layer.

I fought it. I lost.

That's right, I lost. An unexpected defeat. If I was late even in an instant to escape with Transfer, I would be burned by the breath. Ah, well, because the Earth Dragon's breath is similar to the power of earth, I won't be burned though.

Ah. I never thought that I will lose. I became slightly strong and was selfconceited. After all, the Earth Dragon is scary.

In the first place, what's with that strange toughness? Isn't it unfair that my "Corrosion Attack" can only graze it? Even though I receive a self-destruction damage that makes my sickles useless.

I can't use the huge magic like "Abyss Magic" now. Having said that, if it's a magic with low power, it will be negated by the effect of "Reverse Scale". Although its movement is very slow, its defensive ability is too high.

Ah, I can't stand this.

Haa. But, it did become a good opportunity to cool my head. I thought that it's not like me. To go berserk and rampage. Well, I understood the cause, so it's a fact that I felt unpleasant. But, as expected, charging with blood rose to my head is not like me.

Although I will continue to raise my level in the lower layer from now on, let's calm down a little. In the first place, although the period of the serious battle in the middle layer is too long, my original combat method is to make a home and stay inside there. How can I charge to the Earth Dragon without any plan. With that alone, I almost lose myself.

Nai wa.

I'm definitely receiving the effect. Otherwise, I won't lose my temper even if it's "Taboo" or whatever it is. If it's back then, I will do it with a light mood like 「Seriously? Yosh. Let's kill the Humans and the Demons!」. I shouldn't have such unpleasant feelings to this extent.

Ah ah, Microphone Test, Microphone Test. This is Main-in-charge, please respond. [This is former Body-in-charge, over] {Loud and clear, over} <Same on the right, over> (Same on the left, over) [Same at the top, over] 「No, why did you go up? Over」 Everyone, how are your conditions? [Intense resistance continues, over] {Roughly favorable, over} <Same on the right, over> (Same on the left, over) [Same at the top, over] 「Same at the bottom? Over」 Then, continue as it is. And so, I challenged the Earth Dragon a while ago and lost. [Huh?] {Huh?} <Haaaaaaa!> (Are you an idiot?) [Are you stupid?] 「Are you a trash?」 You all, saying things as you please. Sorry, I'm a stupid idiotic trash, I'm sorry. <So, how's the damage? > There's none. Because I transfer at the last moment and escaped. [Well, it's fine if you're safe] (Because Main is pretty much the main body, so if you die, we might die like a chain reaction, you know?) 「Right. Please move a little more careful」 Understood. I have reflected it. As expected, I judge that I can't win it alone. Therefore, can someone return during the next time I fight with that guy? [Saying something like someone, does that means that everyone don't have to return?] Un. One person is fine. (Is it all right?) Probably. In addition, if I can't overcome such a handicap, the Administrator is a dream within a dream. {I understand. If that's the case, I will return} Roger. I will call you when that time comes. 「Then, is that all for this time?」 (Good job) Yes yes. I'm counting on you. <Roger>

Now then. They are doing well. The problem is here. I must work out a strategy to be able to defeat the Earth Dragon somehow. First of all, let's recall that guy's status.

『Earth Dragon Kaguna LV26 HP:4198／4198(Green) MP:3339／3654(Blue) SP:2798／2798(Yellow) :2995／3112(Red)
Average Offensive Ability:3989(Details) Average Defensive Ability:4333(Details) Average Magic Ability:1837(Details) Average Resistance Ability:4005(Details) Average Speed Ability:1225(Details) Skill 「Earth Dragon LV2」 「Reverse Scale LV9」 「Hard Shell LV8」 「Steel Body LV8」 「High-speed HP Recovery LV6」 「MP Recovery Speed LV2」 「MP Consumption Down LV2」

「Magic Perception LV3」 「Magic Manipulation LV3」 「Offensive Magic Power LV1」 「SP Recovery Speed LV1」 「SP Consumption Down LV1」 「Earth Attack LV9」 「Enhanced Earth LV8」 「Enhanced Destruction LV8」 「Enhanced Piercing LV6」 「Great Enhanced Blunt LV5」 「Accuracy LV3」 「Danger Perception LV10」 「Heat Perception LV6」 「Soil Magic LV2」 「Destruction Resistance LV9」 「Great Slash Resistance LV2」 「Great Pierce Resistance LV3」 「Great Blunt Resistance LV6」 「Great Shock Resistance LV4」 「Earth Nullity」 「Fire Resistance LV3」 「Lightning Resistance LV7」 「Water Resistance LV3」 「Wind Resistance LV5」 「Heavy Resistance LV2」 「Great Abnormal Condition Resistance LV8」 「Corrosion Resistance LV3」 「Pain Nullity」 「Great Pain Alleviation LV3」 「Night Vision LV10」 「Visible Range Expansion LV4」 「Enhanced Vision LV3」 「Enhanced Hearing LV1」 「Destiny LV2」 「Magic Well LV3」 「Body Flicker LV1」 「Durability LV1」 「Herculean Strength LV9」 「Fortress LV2」 「Mage LV2」 「Heaven Protection LV1」 「Shrink Space LV1」 Skill points: 31200 Title 「Monster Killer」 「Monster Slaughterer」 「Dragon」 「Conqueror」 』

Seriously hard! What's terrible is the defense skills are too perfect. This is a moving fortress. Can I defeat this with a handicap? I'm losing a little confidence.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 132

Chapter 132.

132 Earth Dragon Kaguna capture preparations

Well, how to defeat that Earth Dragon? I mean, can that be defeated? Completely specialized in defense. Although my status is also one-sided, that guy even has its skills specialized in defense.

High defensive ability and the ability to interfere magic by the Dragon's default skill, "Reverse Scale". And increasing the defensive ability even more with the "Hard Shell" skill and "Steel Body" skill. Both are continuous activation-type skills, so it simply increases the defensive ability. Because of these skills, it's already high defensive ability improves even more. And there, the various resistance-type skills. It doesn't have the intention to receive any damage.

Especially, the troublesome one in the resistance is "Great Abnormal Condition Resistance". It's the evolved skill of the "Abnormal Condition Resistance" skill that the Fire Dragon had. It's the worst affinity to me who uses abnormal condition attack as my main weapon. Thanks to that, neither the poison nor the paralysis nor the curse work. Ah, the curse seems to enter the abnormal condition category somehow. Because of that, the Evil Eyes are almost useless. It's considerably painful that poison doesn't work either.

After all, I have relied on poison so far after I was born. It's considerably a shock that it doesn't work. I who even made resistance holder into my poison's prey up until now, but the opponent has high defensive ability this time. Although it still receives damage, it's recovered instantly by "High-speed HP Recovery".

Abnormal condition doesn't work. Having said that, it's impossible if I say whether physical attack works. Even the "Corrosion Attack" only graze it, so if I think to do something on that with physical attack, I will need the physique of Mother class. But still, it's frightening that I don't know whether I can break through that defensive ability or not.

Even if I break through the defense and inflict damage like that, after all, it has "High-speed HP Recovery", so it will gradually recover. What a cheat to be tough and a recovery holder. Thanks to that, there's not much meaning in using heavy attack.

If neither physical nor abnormal condition work, as expected, I only have magic. Fortunately, there's no resistance to my specialty, dark. But, when becoming a battle of reducing each other, the possibility for it to endure with recovery and high original defensive ability is high. Then, it's possible that it will acquire resistance in the middle of the fight, and the damage and recovery are reversed. If that happens, it's already the end.

"Space Magic" don't have offensive means. If its evolved skill, "Dimension Magic", it has offensive means, but because it's difficult to use, I don't want to use it.

"Heresy Magic" is out of the question. If I use Soul Break, it's putting the cart before the horse. Why did D include such a thing in the system? No, although I understand the reason, I can't help but to doubt her sanity. Ah, no, there's no way that it's sanity. It's a person who has a mad existence.

Well, leaving aside D. If I shoot magic foolishly, it might acquire the resistance, so it's better to think that halfway damage has the opposite effect. Then, after all, the reliable one will be a huge shot.

There's only "Abyss Magic". With what I have now, it's the only one that has winning chance. The problem is how to activate it.

The "Abyss Magic" can't be activated by me alone. I must use the power of "Parallel Will". Because it's decided that only one will return, it can be activated. But, the other me can't do any other supports in order to prepare for the activation. Then, after all, I need to fight with that alone until the preparations are completed.

Earth Dragon Kaguna's attack is plain and simple. It will crush me with its large build physically if I'm near, and it will release a breath if I'm far. That's all. But, even though it's only that much, it's strong.

The power of the breath is impressive. It's more dreadful than the Fire Dragon. Although it's the only help that its "Accuracy" skill is low, it doesn't matter if it releases a wide range breath.

Its physical ability is also high. Being huge alone is a threat. Because that huge thing approaches without questions, it's not a thing that can be endured. With that body, it's slow, or so I thought, but because it's speed exceeds 1000, it's more faster than common monsters. Well, if it's my speed, I can dodge it, but it will probably end if I receive it.

Must I complete the "Abyss Magic" in the tension? It's hard. Because the magic composition of "Abyss Magic" is complicated, I can't do a skillful thing like making it beforehand as reserves. Although it might be possible if I gather everyone, it's impossible to gather everyone now. After all, I have no choice but to construct the magic while fighting and fire it on the spot. Difficult. But, it's possible.

After all, I have the perfect skill for restraining called "Universal Thread". I will make full use of "Universal Thread" to restrain the Earth Dragon, gain some time to advance the preparations of "Abyss Magic", and fire it when it's completed. It's good.

Fufufu. Just wait for me, Earth Dragon Kaguna. Your fate will end soon.

I explore the lower layer triumphantly. And, I found my heart's desire Earth Dragon Kaguna.

『Earth Dragon Geere LV24 HP:3556／3556(Green) MP:2991／2991(Blue) SP:4067／4067(Yellow) :3562／3845(Red)
Average Offensive Ability:3433(Details) Average Defensive Ability:3874(Details) Average Magic Ability:1343(Details) Average Resistance Ability:3396(Details) Average Speed Ability:4122(Details) Skill 「Earth Dragon LV2」 「Reverse Scale LV6」 「Hard Shell LV2」 「Steel Body LV2」 「High-speed HP Recovery LV3」 「MP Recovery Speed LV1」 「MP Consumption Down LV1」 「Magic Perception LV3」 「Magic Manipulation LV3」 「Offensive Magic Power LV1」 「High-speed SP Recovery LV3」 「Great SP Consumption Down LV3」 「Earth Attack LV8」 「Enhanced Earth LV8」 「Enhanced Destruction LV9」 「Great Enhanced Slashing LV8」 「Great Enhanced Piercing LV4」 「Great Enhanced Blunt LV8」 「Space Maneuver LV5」 「Accuracy LV10」 「Evasion LV10」 「Probability Correction LV7」 「Danger Perception LV10」 「Presence Perception LV8」 「Heat Perception LV7」 「Motion Perception LV8」 「Soil Magic LV2」 「Destruction Resistance LV4」 「Slash Resistance LV8」 「Pierce Resistance LV8」 「Blunt Resistance LV9」 「Shock Resistance LV5」 「Earth Nullity」 「Lightning Resistance LV3」 「Great Abnormal Condition Resistance LV3」 「Corrosion Resistance LV1」

「Pain Nullity」 「Pain Alleviation LV7」 「Night Vision LV10」 「Visible Range Expansion LV5」 「Enhanced Vision LV7」 「Enhanced Hearing LV5」 「Enhanced Smell LV4」 「Enhanced Touch LV3」 「Constitution LV9」 「Magic Well LV1」 「Heaven Motion LV2」 「Abundant Sky LV1」 「Herculean Strength LV8」 「Solid LV9」 「Mage LV1」 「Amulet LV8」 「Idaten LV3」 Skill points: 31000 Title 「Monster Killer」 「Monster Slaughterer」 「Dragon」 「Conqueror」 』

Together with another Earth Dragon.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 133

Chapter 133.

133 No.1 of hardness, No.2 of speed

No, that's impossible. Nai wa. What's that? Of course I escaped with Transfer. There's no choice to not escape. There's no way I can win.

Kaguna that I don't know whether I can win or not is together with Geere that has "Space Maneuver" and it's clear that it's a speed type just by seeing its status. It's like I'm told to die. If they come in such lineup, I can't win even if I gather all of my "Parallel Will". Nai wa.

Earth Dragon Geere has a considerably smart appearance, and it was a figure close to Alaba. Although it was huge, unlike the short and stout Kaguna, it has a sharp form that seems to be fast. Actually, it's speed type that has the speed exceeding 4000. Besides, it has high perception-type skills and "Evasion" skill, so it seems that it doesn't have the intention to receive any attack.

I mean, although it's serious that my eyes are attracted to its speed, Geere-san's defensive ability is quite a lot. Although it's not as much as Kaguna, it has high status with the support by the skills, quite a lot of resistance, and there's also the "High-speed HP Recovery" skill. It won't hit and even if it hits, it's not painful. What can I do against such thing?

And, it's physical offensive ability is high enough. Especially, the blades attached to both arms. I have the premonition that I will split in two if I receive it.

Move around in high speed, blessed physique, and the attack with the blade. Of course, breath is a standard equipment. My attacks can't hit, and even if it hits, it's not a big deal if the power is low. What an impossible game. Huh? Although this guy's level is lower than Kaguna, isn't it more troublesome than Kaguna in a certain meaning?

First of all, I should mark it, and wait for those two separate from now on and act.

Marking is one of the effect of "Wisdom", I can attach a mark on the target. It's a function that I can know the target's location no matter where it is as long as this mark is attached. Well, if it's a place that I don't know, it will only show roughly "around here" though. Although the lower layer's map is not completed yet, the mark of Kaguna and Geere is close together. It seems that they won't separate for a while. Incidentally, if I mark it, I can confirm the target's status anytime. If I see this, I can transfer to it and assault it when it's weakened. Though I don't think that the two Earth Dragons will weaken.

By the way, something like composing a different magic before transfer, and fire it to the opponent at the moment I transfer can't be done. Even if I compose a magic beforehand, it will disperse at the moment I transfer. This is not just the composition power, but it can't be helped because it's the specification of Transfer.

For the time being, let's raise my level in a different location until these guys separate. There should still be other Earth Dragons in the lower layer, so it's alright to defeat the other one first. Like a revenge on Alaba.

Come to think of it, I begin to be afraid of Earth Dragon is because of that guy. It's not bad to defeat that guy to overcome my trauma. Should I return to the pit where the large swarm of bees are there after a long time? Ah, I have "Space Maneuver" now, so doesn't that means that I can overhunt the bees as much as I want? Oh. That's good. Good for experience points and food.

Because I started to overhunt the monsters in the lower layer, I have secured too many foods. But, when I start the level raising of skills that uses SP, the foods are consumed quite fast. I have a lot of skills that I want to raise like "Dragon Power" and "Space Maneuver" that didn't rise much in the middle layer and the upper layer.

That's why, food is never too much no matter how much I have. If it's the current me, it won't be a hard fight against the bees, so I will consider that place as my temporary food storage. If luck is on my side, I will encounter Alaba, and I want to at least check its status and mark it. Just by seeing Kaguna and Geere, it seems that it's hard to fight the Earth Dragon without countermeasures. Besides, Alaba's level should be higher than Kaguna if my memory is right. I return with the data, and I must fight after making the countermeasures.

When I think like this, the Dragon is strong after all. I did well to defeat the Fire Dragon in first sight. That was really a miraculous victory.

However, the Fire Dragon has a more smart composition of status and skills than the Earth Dragons. If I say it well, it's versatile. If I say it badly, jack-of-all-trades and master of none. There was only a little resistance, and it might not have much enemy in the middle layer.

Compared with it, the Earth Dragon seems to work its way up. What's with that high resistance? What kind of eventful Dragon life did it live to become like that? Did it become a Dragon after fighting to the bitter end? Lower layer is terrifying.

It might be because of that, it became such a one-sided status. Raise its strength to the limit, and match it with the inborn defensive ability. Kaguna swings to defense, and Geere swings to quickness. Moreover, while they swing to one side, it's nasty that I don't have a chance.

When someone specialized in something like me, it's normal that there's a weak point that remains somewhere. Those cheaters.

Anyway, even if I fight against such guys directly, I can't win, so let's work hard to raise my level until it becomes the situation where I can crush each one of them. What if they never separate? What should I do? I don't know.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ga? Chapter 134

Chapter 134.

134 Spider's natural enemy

Do you know the spider's natural enemy? Ah, of course excluding the fire. There's no way a spider that lives in the nature normally will go to a fire purposely.

Returning to the spider's natural enemy talk. Although I don't know it very well, if I'm not mistaken, there are two kinds of spider's natural enemies. I get to know about it when I looked at the documentary program while playing online game. Thinking back now, I should have watch that program a little more. I never thought that I will become a spider even in the dreams. If I know more about the spider's ecology, it might be useful.

I derailed again. One of the spider's natural enemies is the bee.

The destination that I'm heading to after transferring to a certain My Home in the upper layer is the missed pit. When I look from the top, it's a swarm of bees just like that time. To return to here again. If it's a little while ago, I won't think so.

Because there are various traumas in this place. Although the biggest trauma was my nest burst by the Earth Dragon, other than that, I have also fall into a critical situation. This place might be the place where I'm aware of death for the first time in my life. I was stabbed by the bee, and the countdown to death starts from there.

Thunk!

That's right, just like this. Huh, hogyaaa!? I was stabbed! Wha-, you, why did you launch a surprise attack when a person is engrossed in deep emotions? Read the atmosphere!?

I restrain the bee that got on my back and stabbed me with my thread like the old days, and hurl it as it is with a one-armed shoulder throw. A dull sound is heard, and with that alone, the bee's HP decreases by about 70%. For the finishing blow, I cut it in small pieces with the thread endowed with slash attribute.

Ah, you have done me. I never thought that a surprise attack was launched to me who has the Detection ability. Well, my HP didn't decreased much, and my automatic recovery recovers it completely.

I have also suffered from critical condition because of this in the old days. A hole opened at my back, and because I didn't have the "Automatic HP Recovery" at that time, it was a death situation where I must level up to shed.

Thunk!

Again!? Although there's hardly any pain because I have the "Great Pain Alleviation", it doesn't change the fact that it's irritating!

Because it's troublesome to throw it, I will cut it with the thread manipulated with "Thread Manipulation". Ah, if there's the second time, there's a third time? How dare you to get to my back without getting caught in my Danger Perception.

Ah, perhaps, it didn't recognize it as danger? Certainly, it seems that there's no damage, when asking whether it's dangerous or not, it's strange. Ah, when thinking so, that means that it didn't recognize the bee as an enemy. Well, it's not wrong because I recognize it only as a food.

Thunk!

Stop it already!

No, as expected, isn't it strange? Why can it get to my back easily even though it doesn't have the "Stealth" skill? Even if you exclude the stupid me, it's strange, right?

Come to think of it, was the spider's natural enemy the bee? Perhaps, there's a hidden affinity outside of the system. No, that's definitely no.

Anyway, even though there's no damage, it's annoying. Although I acknowledge that courage to fight me who has the "Intimidation" and Fear Bringer combo without being scared, your opponent was bad. Therefore, let's start the annihilation!

I jump in the air with "Space Maneuver". I fire magics to the bees that catches my eyes, and cut the approaching bees. Wow. The bees that I can win if I have a home in the old days can't win against me. Fuhahahaha! Look! The bee is just like a trash!

Oh? A bee that I have not seen before came out. Let's see.

『General Finjagoath LV4 Status HP:371／371 (Green) MP:299／299 (Blue) SP:366／366 (Yellow) :301／361 (Red) Average Offensive Ability:200 (Details) Average Defensive Ability:160 (Details) Average Magic Ability:139 (Details) Average Resistance Ability:143 (Details) Average Speed Ability:215 (Details) Skill 「Poison Stinger LV9」 「Enhanced Piercing LV3」 「Enhanced Poison LV3」 「High-speed Flight LV2」 「Cooperation LV6」 「Command LV6」 「Night Vision LV7」 「Poison Resistance LV6」 Skill points:900』

I see. It's the evolved form of the captain bee. Un. For a low status, its skills are enhanced. Among the monsters that have almost the same status, isn't it a considerably strong one?

Well, to be frank, its status is too low, and it's not my enemy. When I fell into this pit, most of my status is 2-digits. If I happen to meet this guy at that time, it might be dangerous even if I use My Home.

However. My current strength is not equal to that time! To be specific, there's a difference of about 100 times! I'm seriously troubled just by seeing my status became that strong. It might not end with 100 times if I think until the skills. It's a tremendous growth speed even if I say so myself!

Thus, although it appeared pompously, I have made the general bee to exit.

When I thought about it, the same kind of the guy came out. Ah, that means I'm getting closer to the beehive. Certainly, there's an object that looks like it that can be seen above. Rather than an object, it's a building? As expected of the 3 meter class bee's habitat. Huge.

Un. I have hunted a lot of bees and accumulated a lot of foods, so let's end here for today. It's more efficient to leave it for a while to increase its number rather than annihilating it. Therefore, I recover the corpses that dropped to the ground and withdraw.

I leave the attacking swarm of general bees in the air and fall to the ground. I make a landing like a ninja using "Space Maneuver". I did it.

But, my Danger Perception perceived something. It's not the bees. Those guys are not dangerous.

I look at the origin of the danger.

The spider has two kinds of natural enemies. That's the spider that specialized in hunting spider.

In my sight, the spider monster appeared.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 135

Chapter 135. Other spiders status. 135 Spider vs Spider ①

Ah, so it finally came. Was it rather late? Well, because I kept transferring between the upper layer and the lower layer, it might have a hard time chasing me. Finally, it became clear that it's eaten from the inside by me.

Ah, hello. {Hello} Any movement over there? {It looks like it's heading somewhere} Ah, as expected. {Did something happened?} Un. Mother's subordinate has attacked. {Ah, finally, huh?} Where's the present location? {Wait a minute. I will link it} Okay. {Hmm. Like this?} Ah, OK. If it's at this position, well, it should be all right. {For the time being, if there's any change, I will report it} Aye.

Fumu. It doesn't seem that Mother can interfere with the battle in a place like this. But, the problem is can I defeat this guy normally.

『Arch Taratect LV31 HP:4466／4466(Green)+1400 MP:3182／3182(Blue)+1400 SP:4267／4267(Yellow) :4262／4262(Red)+1288 Average Offensive Ability:4399(Details) Average Defensive Ability:4315(Details) Average Magic Ability:3004(Details) Average Resistance Ability:3101(Details) Average Speed Ability:4237(Details) Skill 「High-speed HP Recovery LV5」 「MP Recovery Speed LV7」 「MP Consumption Down LV7」 「Magic Perception LV7」 「Magic Manipulation LV7」 「Offensive Magic Power LV6」 「Magic Combat Act LV4」 「High-speed SP Recovery LV2」 「Great SP Consumption Down LV2」 「Fighting Spirit LV7」

「Thread Talent LV5」 「Universal Thread LV3」 「Thread Manipulation LV10」
「Telekinesis LV2」 「Poison Synthesis LV5」 「Deadly Poison Attack LV10」 「Great Enhanced Abnormal Condition LV3」 「Great Enhanced Destruction LV2」 「Great Enhanced Slashing LV4」 「Great Enhanced Piercing LV8」 「Great Enhanced Blunt
LV3」 「Great Enhanced Shock LV1」 「Space Maneuver LV8」 「Accuracy LV10」
「Evasion LV10」 「Great Probability Correction LV2」 「Danger Perception LV10」
「Presence Perception LV10」 「Motion Perception LV10」 「Heresy Magic LV10」
「Poison Magic LV10」 「Treatment Magic LV4」 「Satiation LV4」 「Great Destruction Resistance LV1」 「Great Slash Resistance LV2」 「Great Pierce Resistance LV2」 「Great Blunt Resistance LV4」 「Shock Resistance LV9」 「Great Abnormal Condition Resistance LV8」 「Corrosion Resistance LV6」 「Heresy Resistance LV5」 「Pain Nullity」 「Great Pain Alleviation LV2」 「Night Vision LV10」
「Visible Range Expansion LV7」 「Enhanced Vision LV10」 「Clairvoyance LV2」
「Enhanced Hearing LV7」 「Enhanced Smell LV2」 「Enhanced Touch LV7」
「Destiny LV2」 「Magic Well LV8」 「Heaven Motion LV1」 「Abundant Sky LV1」
「Fortitude LV2」 「Fortress LV2」 「Mage LV7」 「Amulet LV8」 「Idaten LV1」 「Taboo
LV7」 Skill points: 34500 Title 「Gross Feeder」 「Blood Relative Eater」
「Monster Killer」 「Poison Technique User」 「Monster Slaughterer」 「Thread User」 「Natural Calamity of Monster」 「Human Killer」 「Conqueror」 』

Isn't this impossible? This guy, even though it's a spider, it has higher status than the Earth Dragon.

Besides, it has three Greater Taratects as attendants In addition, there are some crawling around. A lot of Small Lesser Taratects. Also a lot of Small Taratects. About 30 Taratects. Ah, there's Poison Taratect. Oh, Oh. After all, the appearance is not different from the normal Taratect.

Now's not the time to feel admiration. Although transfer and escape is the best choice, I don't want to be chased by these guys all the way after this. Should I fight a little to reduce the number? Assuming that the boss, Arch Taratect is impossible, I want to at least kill a Greater Taratect.

『Greater Taratect LV29 HP:2845／2845(Green) MP:2101／2101
(Blue) SP:2833／2833(Yellow) :2839／2839(Red)+786
Average Offensive Ability:2766(Details) Average Defensive Ability:2710
(Details) Average Magic Ability:2099(Details) Average Resistance Ability:
2102(Details) Average Speed Ability:2744(Details) Skill 「High-speed HP
Recovery LV1」 「MP Recovery Speed LV2」 「MP Consumption Down LV1」
「Magic Perception LV6」 「Magic Manipulation LV5」 「High-speed SP Recovery
LV1」 「Great SP Consumption Down LV1」 「Fighting Spirit LV4」 「Thread Talent
LV2」 「Spider Thread LV9」 「Thread Manipulation LV5」 「Severing Thread LV5」
「Poison Synthesis LV2」 「Deadly Poison Attack LV5」 「Enhanced Abnormal Condition LV9」 「Enhanced Destruction LV8」 「Enhanced Slashing LV8」 「Great Enhanced Piercing LV1」 「Enhanced Blunt LV5」 「Space Maneuver LV2」
「Accuracy LV10」 「Evasion LV10」 「Probability Correction LV5」 「Danger
Perception LV10」 「Presence Perception LV10」 「Motion Perception LV10」
「Heresy Magic LV10」 「Poison Magic LV8」 「Satiation LV9」 「Destruction
Resistance LV6」 「Slash Resistance LV6」 「Pierce Resistance LV8」 「Blunt Resistance LV9」 「Shock Resistance LV5」 「Abnormal Condition Resistance LV8」
「Corrosion Resistance LV3」 「Heresy Resistance LV1」 「Pain Nullity」 「Pain
Alleviation LV8」 「Night Vision LV10」 「Visible Range Expansion LV5」 「Enhanced
Vision LV10」 「Telephoto LV7」 「Enhanced Hearing LV4」 「Enhanced Touch LV4」
「Constitution LV6」 「Magic Well LV2」 「Body Flicker LV6」 「Durability LV6」
「Herculean Strength LV6」 「Solid LV6」 「Mage LV1」 「Amulet LV2」 「Shrink Space
LV6」 「Taboo LV4」 Skill points:29500 Title 「Blood Relative Eater」 「Gross Feeder」 「Monster Killer」 「Poison Technique User」 「Thread User」 「Monster Slaughterer」』

This is the strongest guy among the Greater. I only want to kill this guy.
Because it needs another level to evolve. If it becomes like that, it's dangerous.
If the already dangerous Arch became two, my winning chance will disappear.
Well, although it won't be equal to the other Arch immediately after evolution, still, I'm sure that it will become troublesome.

I will kill the Greater while dodging the Arch's attack. It's certainly a difficult work.

『Ede Saine LV14 No name Status HP:2492／2492 (Green) +1700 (Details) (1805 up) MP:9110／9110 (Blue) +1700 (Details) (4098 up) SP:1813／1813 (Yellow) (Details) (1177 up) :1813／1813 (Red) +1446 (Details) (1177 up) Average Offensive Ability:1692 (Details) (1102 up) Average Defensive Ability:1763 (Details) (1078 up) Average Magic Ability:8758 (Details) (4001 up) Average Resistance Ability:8704 (Details) (3833 up) Average Speed Ability:5540 (Details) (2388 up) Skill 「High-speed HP Recovery LV7 (6 up)」 「Magic Extremity」 「Magic God Act LV2 (new)」 「Magic Granting LV7 (new)」 「High-speed SP Recovery LV1 (new)」 「Great SP Consumption Down LV1 (new)」 「Enhanced Destruction LV6 (3 up)」 「Enhanced Slashing LV8 (5 up)」 「Great Enhanced Abnormal Condition LV1 (new)」 「Fighting Spirit LV9 (4 up)」 「Vitality Granting LV5 (3 up)」 「Dragon Power LV7 (6 up)」 「Deadly Poison Attack LV6 (2 up)」 「Corrosion Attack LV4 (2 up)」 「Heresy Attack LV6 (5 up)」 「Poison Synthesis LV10」 「Medicine Synthesis LV7 (5 up)」 「Thread Talent LV8 (4 up)」 「Universal Thread LV6 (4 up)」 「Thread Manipulation LV10 (2 up)」 「Telekinesis LV1 (new)」 「Throw LV10 (2 up)」 「Shoot LV2 (new)」 「Space Maneuver LV8 (6 up)」 「Concentration LV10」 「Thought Acceleration LV9 (1 up)」 「Foresight LV9 (1 up)」 「Parallel Will LV7 (4 up)」 「High-speed Calculation LV6 (2 up)」 「Accuracy LV10」 「Evasion LV10」 「Probability Correction LV7 (5 up)」 「Stealth LV10 (1 up)」 「Camouflage LV1 (new)」 「Silent LV8 (2 up)」 「Tyrant LV1 (new)」 「Conviction」 「Hell」 「Degeneration (new)」 「Heresy Magic LV10」 「Shadow Magic LV10」 「Dark Magic LV10 (7 up)」 「Darkness Magic LV2 (new)」 「Poison Magic LV10」 「Treatment Magic LV10 (8 up)」 「Space Magic LV10 (4 up)」 「Dimension Magic LV4 (new)」 「Abyss Magic LV10」 「Patience」 「Pride」 「Anger LV2 (new)」 「Satiation LV7 (4 up)」 「Sloth (new)」 「Wisdom」 「Destruction Resistance LV5 (2 up)」 「Blunt Resistance LV5 (2 up)」 「Slash Resistance LV5 (2 up)」 「Flame Resistance LV2 (new)」 「Great Heavy Resistance LV1 (new)」 「Deadly Poison Resistance LV3 (1 up)」 「Paralysis Resistance LV6 (1 up)」 「Petrifaction Resistance LV5 (2 up)」 「Sleep Nullity (new)」 「Acid Resistance LV6 (2 up)」 「Corrosion Resistance LV7 (3 up)」 「Faint Resistance LV5 (2 up)」 「Fear

Resistance LV9 (1 up)」「Heresy Nullity」「Pain Nullity」「Great Pain Alleviation LV5 (new)」「Night Vision LV10」「Clairvoyance LV8 (5 up)」「Evil Eye of Grudge LV6 (4 up)」「Evil Eye of Stasis LV5 (4 up)」「Evil Eye of Magnetism LV1 (new)」「Evil Eye of Extinction LV3 (new)」「Great Enhanced Five Senses LV1 (new)」「Perception Range Expansion LV5 (new)」「Divinity Area Expansion LV6 (1 up)」「Divine Magic」「Destiny LV3 (2 up)」「Body Flicker LV7 (4 up)」「Durability LV7 (4 up)」「Fortitude LV2 (new)」「Fortress LV2 (new)」「Idaten LV7 (2 up)」「Taboo LV10 (1 up)」「n%I=W」Skill points: 900 Title 「Gross Feeder」「Blood Relative Eater」「Assassin」「Monster Killer」「Poison Technique User」「Thread User」「Merciless」「Monster Slaughterer」「Ruler of Pride」「Ruler of Patience」「Ruler of Wisdom」「Drake Killer」「Fear Bringer」「Dragon Killer」「Ruler of Sloth (new)」「Natural Calamity of Monster (new)」』

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter S21

Shun 21. The world's truth revealed. Read slowly because that part is very, very, very long.

S21 The world's truth

Ten days passed after we escape from the royal capital.

After that, we break through the soldiers that surrounded us, and somehow escape from the royal capital. By Leston-nisama becoming the decoy.

「We will gain time. Oka-san, Let's meet at the 16th hideout」

He says so, and led his unit and charged to the soldiers. I hesitated, but with the desire of protecting Katia who's carried in my arms and because my shoulder was pulled by Hyrinth-san, I decided to leave Leston-nisama and escape. However, it was a mistake.

Leston-nisama didn't appeared at the 16th hideout that we are told to meet here.

I should have hold back Leston-nisama forcibly that time. If I do so, then more people should be here. The people in this hideout now are me, Sensei, Hyrinth-san, and Katia. Only 4 of us. Leston-nisama, Clevea as well as the people of Niisama's unit, not a single person reached here. If I fought together with Niisama at that time, it might turn out more different.

But, I actually understand. I at that time can't leave Katia alone and fight. Katia who broke from the brainwash, shot a magic to herself. It was a high power wide range annihilation magic that can blow up a large number of people. Usually, she would have died. Even though I recovered her, Katia was awfully weakened.

I can't fight properly while carrying Katia in my arms. That's right, I understand it. Even though I understand, regret becomes stronger.

It's not only the time we escape. Now that I think of it, when I talk to Sue and Katia with Telepathy, there was a strange feeling. Sue was somehow strange, and as for Katia, even though it's a Telepathy between the two of us only, Japanese was not used. Even though Katia always uses Japanese to speak with me when it's just the two of us.

The abnormality happened. And yet, I was not able to notice it. If I notice it, I won't allow Yuugo to raise such a thing.

I practice swing without holding a sword in the room to dispel the sunken thoughts. Only when I move my body, I can end without thinking anything.

When I was immersing myself without thinking about a useless thing, the door was knocked.

「What are you doing?」「Katia, is it already okay to walk?」

It's Katia who was bedridden until just recently that opened the door and entered.

「Ah. My body is already okay. My head still aches sometimes though」 「Don't force yourself, okay? Even if the brainwash was broken, it doesn't mean that the effect completely disappear」

Yuugo's brainwash is ingrained. Although Katia succeeded in regaining her consciousness for an instant by willpower, being able to do that was a suicide. Otherwise, it can't be helped because the brainwash power was too strong. Although the effect of the brainwash has already disappeared now, Katia is still suffers from an unknown headache.

「It's all right. Ah, and, I want Shun to appraise me」 「Appraise?」 「Ah. It's a new skill that I acquired, but I never heard of this skill before. As much as I remember, I think that it's not in the skill encyclopedia, but because I don't know the effect, I thought that I should have Shun appraise it」 「Ah, I see. I understand」

I activate "Appraisal" aiming at Katia. Certainly, there's a skill that's not in the list is added. It's a skill that I don't have.

『Divinity Area Expansion : Divinity area is expanded』

I don't understand it even if I appraise it. Let's appraise it further.

『Divinity Area : The deep area of soul that the life possess. The root of all lives, and it's also your own final dependence area』

After all, I don't understand it.

「Sorry. I don't understand it」 「Even if you appraise it?」 「Ah. Although it seems to say something like soul, I don't know what effect it has with that」

Both of us incline our heads to the side.

「Well, never mind. And, "Heresy Resistance" also rose」 「Ah. That's probably because you broke from Yuugo's brainwash」 「Next is "Parallel Will"?」 「When you turn on the skill, you will temporary become like split personality」 「What's that? Is there a meaning to do that?」 「It's possible for one side to fight as usual and the other side use magic」 「What's that? Isn't that unfair?」 「If you think that you will become the force of two temporarily, it's quite unfair」 「Oh. Then, on at once」 「Ah, don't use it usually. Although I tried it when I acquired the skill, if you keep it on regularly, you will get confused whether who's the real one. After all, multiple personality is one of the mental illness. It's better to turn it off in your daily life, and turn it on when fighting」 「Oufu. What a scary skill」 「By the way」 「Un?」 「Aren't you close?」

Katia is in front of me. The distance is extremely near. Because I'm taller, I have to look down, but that angle, her chest.

「Don't mind it」 「No, of course I will mind. Even if you're a former man, you're a woman now」 「So, Shun look at me like that. Hmm」 「Ah, no, this, um, it's that, it's the man's nature」 「Hmm. Then, will you react if I do this?」

Katia steps another step forward, and presses her chest against my body.

「I give up! Please stop teasing me!」 「How innocent」

Katia steps back while laughing.

「How is it? Did your feelings recover a little?」 「A-Ah. I see. Thank you」

I see. Katia do such a thing on purpose to relieve my consciousness a little.
Really, a thoughtful person.

「Hey, I want to ask one thing. The Treatment Magic you used that time, it's not a normal Treatment Magic, right?」

Katia asks so.

[Then, Leston's execution will be held three days later, huh?] [Yes. Please make sure that this is not transmitted to Shun-kun]

I who was going to answer have sensed that conversation by Telepathy. I rush out of the room in a hurry.

「Sensei! Is it true that Leston-niisama is going to be executed!?!」 「Shun-kun!? How, ah, you used Telepathy」 「Such thing doesn't matter. Is it true that Niisama is going to be executed?」 「Shun, calm down. It's true」 「No, then, I have to save him!」 「It's a trap」 「Eh?」 「It's most likely a trap. Still, you want to go?」 「I will go. Niisama remained at that place to let us escape. So, this time, it's my turn to save Niisama」

Hyrinth-san lets out a big sigh.

「Even if Leston doesn't hope for it?」 「Yes. I will still go」 「You must not go」 「Sensei. Even if it's Sensei's words, I won't hear it this time」 「It's no use」 「Even if it's no use, I will still go」 「I'm saying that it's no use!」

Sensei activates the restriction magic. It's the magic that steals the freedom of the opponent's body with wind. But, a magic of that level won't work against the current me. I dispel the wind restriction with a swing of my arm.

「Wha-!?!」 「Sensei, it's useless even if you stop me. I will go」 「You must not go!
If you go now, you will surely be killed!」 「Sensei. You should have understood when you see that just now, right? I have become considerably strong. That's why, I won't be killed easily」 「It's not that! Such thing like strong doesn't matter! For an Administrator, such thing doesn't matter! ...Ah」

Sensei has a "Oops!" face.

「Sensei, what's this called Administrator?」

Katia's sharp voice.

「Is that the reason why Sensei moved around stealthily up until now?」 「That, I can't say it」 「Sensei, do you think that you can get through just by saying "I can't say it" now? If you can't say it, you have no qualifications to stop Shun」 「Gu!」 「I will say it clearly. Sensei, you can't be trusted. In this situation without any explanation, you have taken too many suspicious actions up until now.
Although Shun seems to trust you unconditionally, I can't trust you. If you obstruct Shun's actions without any explanation, I will become your enemy」
「No..」 「Katia, calm down. Sensei too」

I calm Katia who heats up, and comfort the drooping Sensei.

「Sensei. I don't think until becoming your enemy. But, it's true that I have a lot of things that I want to hear from Sensei's mouth. If possible, please tell us」

I persuade as gentle as possible. If Sensei is only seen from her appearance, she's a younger girl. The Elves only have slow growth, so we are actually the same age, but when adding the previous life, she's older. But, the Sensei now looks like her appearance, only a girl who seemed to burst into tears.

Silence. The time that nobody talks passes. Sensei looks down and is troubled. Katia stare at such Sensei fixedly. Hyrinth-san watch over the development.

「I understand. I will tell everything」

That was the answer after she was troubled for a long time.

「First of all, I will say this to Hyrinth-san. The three of us died in another world, and were reborn in this world」 「What?」 「Please hear it based on that. What I'm telling now must not be revealed to others」

Hyrinth-san who look at us because of the sudden story. I also didn't thought that she will start from there.

「The first thing I do after reincarnating to this world was the learning of language. When I understood to some extent, I acquire Telepathy with skill points. I tried a conversation using Telepathy with the Elves' head Potimas. He volunteered for the students' search after hearing my story. By the time I grow up, a considerable number of students were found and they were sheltered in the Elf Village safely. After I grow up to the extent that I can move, I also joined the search. There were also four students who were too late. There were those born under a powerful person and there was child that can't be interfered carelessly too. Those were Shun-kun and Katia-chan, and Yuugo-kun. Although Yuri-chan is an orphan, when we found her, she was already the Saint candidate and was guarded by the church. Actually, I also want to you all to be sheltered by the Elves, but that can't be done because there's political issues. The reason why I want to shelter you all is because I want to make sure that you won't get involved in this world's system as much as possible. Don't you have doubts in this world's skill, status and level? Because Hyrinth-san is born in this world, you won't have any doubt, but in our former world, skill, status and level didn't exist. Such things only exist in games. It's impossible for such things to exist in reality. And, this world is a game. Those guys who are called as the Administrator, they give strength to people for them to fight by making the Humans and the Demons fight. They raise skills, status, and levels. And, they extract power from the soul of dead man, and make it into their power. That is the system of this world. And, the Hero and the Demon King are no more than pieces made by the Administrators to make the Humans and the Demons to fight efficiently. The church is also the same. The belief of developing their skills to hear the God's voice is also made by the Administrators. This time's riot has the church involved in it means that there's probably the Administrators' motive. Yuugo-kun believes that he's using the church, but I think that he's being used. And, Leston-kun's execution was revealed by that Yuugo-kun. There's no mistake that it's the Administrators' trap, aiming at the power of Shun-kun who became stronger than the residents in this world. That's why, I can't let Shun-kun go. Sensei don't want my students to be killed helplessly by those unknown guys called the Administrators. So, please don't go. Please」

Everyone fall silent. The one opened the mouth was Hyrinth-san.

「In your point, the Hero, was Julius made to fight pointlessly for this guy called the Administrator?」 「Yes. We Elves, in order to put an end to this pointless fight, we have appealed to both the Humans and the Demons to stop the war.

The previous Hero and the previous Demon King accepts that offer, and reconciled, And, we Elves made preparations to challenge the Administrators in secret. Both of the previous Hero and the previous Demon King are rare Dimension Magic users. It seems that they used the power, opened the dimension, and tried to fly to the ground where the Administrators are. However, it failed, and it connects to our world. We died because of the accidental explosion of the magic」 「What!? No way!?!」 「I don't know how far the Administrators are related to the accident. But, we who died there were dragged into this world's system, and we reborn in this world. The reason we have inborn skills that shouldn't be possible is because we are people from a different world, and when we died, the power in our souls was not recovered by the Administrators」 「Then, we died because of the Hero and the Demon King?」 「Consequently, it's because of the Administrators who are pulling the strings at the back. The Administrators are the worst people who made us and this world as their food」 「The reason why Sensei didn't let us meet with the other students is?」 「The other students are made to live in this world without acquiring skills as much as possible. So that they won't be marked down by the Administrators. But, you all have become strong. The Elf Village is completely isolated from this world and it's protected with a powerful barrier that even a Ruler can't make a move on it carelessly. However, if I take you all who might have been marked down by the Administrators, the Administrators might get attracted to the other students. I was uneasy of that」 「What's a Ruler?」 「The Ruler is the existence that normally becomes the Administrators' underling and work for them. Therefore, only a little of the power of the world's system can be used. A person will become a Ruler by acquiring special skills, etc, and I acquired one of the skills and became a Ruler. However, I never received the Administrators' influence」 「The reason why Sensei moved behind-the-scene up until now is?」 「I moved to evade the war of the Humans and the Demons. And, the steps to defeat the Administrators」 「Can you defeat them?」 「I don't know. In the first place, the Administrators whereabouts are not known」

Sensei turns toward me once again.

「Shun-kun, I understand the feelings of wanting to save Leston-kun. But, please don't go. If you go, you will die.」

To that sincere glance, I....

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 136

Chapter 136.

136 Spider vs Spider ②

Well, first of all, let's reduce the number of small fries. Although I thought about that, isn't it unnecessary to fight all of them honestly? It's a strategy that I thought for the Earth Dragon, but if it's the Arch Taratect, won't it work?

Is it worth trying? If it failed, I just have to think another way. There's not much loss even if I fail. Thus, let's do it, oh?

The movement of the Arch is caught by "Foresight". I avoid it. The fangs of the Arch pierced through the place where I was a little while ago.

Scary!? Fast!? As expected of the fastest monster that I have appraised. Its "Accuracy" also reached max level, and its "Great Probability Correction" is level 2. If I don't have my evasion combo of "Thought Acceleration", "Foresight", "Evasion" and "Probability Correction", I would be stabbed by that poison fang. It's scary.

Well, even if I say that it's fast, it's slower than me though. Although the Arch also activates both "Magic Combat Act" and "Fighting Spirit" to raise its physical ability, I'm faster. After all, my level of "Magic Combat Act" and "Fighting Spirit" is higher. My "Magic Combat Act" has evolve into "Magic God Act".

"Magic God Act" is a higher rank skill of "Magic Combat Act". The effect is the strengthened "Magic Combat Act" and even raises magic-type status. Thanks to that, my already absurd magic status becomes a ridiculous numerical value. When I activate both "Magic God Act" and "Dragon Power", my magic offensive ability and my resistance ability exceed the 10000 mark.

Kukuku. Although the Arch's physical offensive ability is incredible, it's not a big deal if it doesn't hits.

The Arch releases a thread.

Ah, that's a bad one. I know it. The spider's thread is bad. It's the end if I got caught. Well, if I got caught, I will transfer quietly though.

The attacking web. When I dodge it, the Greater and the others start to move was caught in the corner of my sight. Ah, it looks like it's not the time to take it easy.

Somehow, I can't feel any tension when thinking that I can escape with Transfer anytime. I have become considerably strong, and the worry about instant death with one hit has disappeared. My original physical status is also high, and I have "Magic God Act", "Fighting Spirit" and "Dragon Power" to strengthened it further. I can add "Anger" if I want to, but that's as expected, too much.

The "Anger" skill raises the physical status greatly. When you ask how much is "greatly", it has almost the same rising amount as "Fighting Spirit LV9" at level 1. Moreover, MP and SP are not consumed. However, when this skill is activated, the user will suffer from the abnormal condition 「Insanity」 forcefully. Although thanks to "Heresy Nullity", I won't be attacked by insanity, I don't think that I want to use it again.

Even if I don't use it, I'm strong enough, and above all, I'm a magic-type. There's no need to abandon magic purposely and go for hand-to-hand combat.

When thinking about "Patience", my real HP exceeds more than 10000 easily. I want to think that there's no strong guy that can pierce this with a hit. Well, at least, it's impossible for the Arch.

The Arch's best attack is of course the "Deadly Poison Attack LV10". And, the "Universal Thread" as the assistance to hit it. It's a brutal combo that the defeat might be decided at the moment I got caught even if I don't have Transfer. Because the person who does that is saying it, it's certain.

But, it's easy if it's only escaping because I have the Transfer that I have been saying since a while ago. Although the physical attack from a large build is certainly scary, at the point that it's inferior to me in speed, it won't even graze me. If it attacks in numbers, it's troublesome, but that can be solved if my strategy goes well.

Well then, let's start the 「Invitation to the sauna」 strategy.

At first, I dodge the Arch's attack. Then, I approach while dodging the Arch's attack. Here is difficult. After all, the Arch is a strong guy that surpassed the Earth Dragon in status. The phantasmagoric mobility by "Space Maneuver", and the numerous attacks of entwined threads that are hard to predict. Magic flies there further.

The magic that the Arch used is the "Poison Magic" that I used regularly. Although it won't inflict a great damage even if it hits me who have "Deadly Poison Resistance", just by having projectile weapons, the attack pattern increases. The Arch fires the Deadly Poison Bullet that has a high power among the "Poison Magic" in a good timing like a veteran warrior. Although even the Deadly Poison Bullet will hardly inflict damage to me, it will produce a chance if I receive it. The Arch aims at it than damage.

Really, this guy is dangerous. It don't have status higher than the Earth Dragon just for show. However, the affinity is bad this time.

After all, I know most of this guy's attack patterns. I want you to see it even if you think. The thing that I have cultivated in fight so far. Make full use of the thread, fight with Poison Fang, and fire magic. It's the same as the way I fight. That's as expected. I'm formerly the Taratect species, and now, I'm the same spider-type monster. It's natural for our strategy to be similar.

In addition, not even one of this guy's attack becomes a decisive blow against me. Just by receiving a Poison Fang won't be a fatal wound for me who have "Poison Resistance". I can escape with Transfer before it can inject fatal poison. The thread is also the same. Magic is out of the question. There's no way the physical Arch can pierce my resistance. Then, it can only rely on it's pure physical attack, but that also won't graze me in the presence of my evasion combo.

When you say that I also lack of a trump card, it's not so. Because I have evolved into a considerably irregular form. I have a lot of magics that normal Taratect doesn't have.

If it's one-to-one, it's already checkmated. That's why, it comes in army, but I wonder whether is it a misfortune that it don't have "Command" or "Cooperation" because only the Arch is forward. Thanks to "Thought Acceleration", I can consider a lot of things idly, but if I say it in real time, not even one minute has passed. This situation where the Greater's haven't catch up. It can be said that the Arch's winning chance was lost at this point in time.

And, the final move. My body touches the Arch. I carry out the "Dimension Magic", Range Transfer. It's a sure-fail strategy against the Earth Dragon that has "Reverse Scale" and high resistance. But, the Arch don't have "Reverse Scale". The height of the resistance also doesn't reach my magic power.

The Arch transfers with me. The transferred destination is the top of the lake of magma at the middle layer where I fought against the Fire Dragon. An invitation to the hot, hot sauna.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 137

Chapter 137.

137 Spider vs Spider ③

Fuhahahaha! How's this middle layer's burning red scenery of magma! It must be painful for a spider who's weak to fire! I'm also hot and painful! But, the Arch should be more hard than me.

The bottom is the sure-death sea of magma if we fall. Because my size is small, I can land on the small islands here and there. But, the over-all length of the Arch is about 15 meters. There's no big island where such a large build can land.

Furthermore, this environment that reduces HP just by being in here. I have spent a long time to raise my resistance, but the Arch don't have "Fire Resistance". Because it has "High-speed HP Recovery", it doesn't decrease, but it doesn't change the fact that it's hard. This is like the "High-speed HP Recovery" can't be used in reality.

It fights with me who has the worst affinity in the flame field that it's weak in while supporting its large build in the air with "Space Maneuver" Exactly a checkmated situation. Kukuku. You should just die while regretting the stupidity of defying this me when you are just a spider!

Thus, first of all, "Evil Eye of Magnetism", go. This is the evolved skill of "Evil Eye of Heaviness", and the down pulling force that can only be generated up until now, can be generated anywhere up and down, left and right. Besides, the repelling force also became possible to be used. When I deploy this repelling force around me, I can make something like a pseudo barrier. However, because the air will also be repelled, I can't continue to use it for a long time. In addition, even if it evolved and the function increased, after all, the strongest one is the down direction force. I continue to apply that down direction force to the Arch.

In addition to it's necessary to support its large build in the air, gravity is added there further. It's okay even if you fall, you know? Don't worry, even if you fall, you will only die. Come on, fall quickly, and please become the food of my experience points.

The Arch makes full use of "Space Maneuver" and holds out somehow. A thread is released towards the ceiling.

Can't you fall quickly? You think that I will let you do that. "Darkness Magic", Darkness Bullet activate.

"Darkness Magic" is the higher rank magic of "Dark Magic", and it's a magic below the "Abyss Magic". Although it's inferior to the "Abyss Magic" in power, because of that, there's a easy-to-use single target attack magic. That's this Darkness Bullet. It's a higher rank magic of the Dark Bullet of "Dark Magic", it's a magic that fires a pitch black ball according to the name. It's a dark attribute attack and seems to have the shock attribute added, when it hits, it will burst open and inflict damage to the opponent. By the way, as might be expected from a high rank magic, the power is higher than its appearance.

The Darkness Bullet hits the buttocks of the Arch that released a thread. The thread flies to a different direction by the shock, and the Arch's HP decreases.

Let's do it rapidly. I continue firing Darkness Bullet mercilessly. Will it fall first? or, will its HP be exhausted first? I wonder which is it.

The Arch did its best. Ah, it did its best. It endured my attacks with effort, cured itself with "Treatment Magic", and acquired "Dark Resistance". It's a terrific willpower, so I will praise you. It did its best. So just die already.

Because I continued using "Darkness Magic", it became level 3, and I use the new magic. The name is Darkness Spear. It's the spear version of the Darkness Bullet, and pierce attribute damage is added to it.

The Darkness Spear pierces the worn-out Arch's body. Finally, the large spider that has the status that exceeds even the Earth Dragon has died.

4 levels rose at once. I throw off the old skin after shedding.

Yes yes. Recover the corpse before it falls. I recover the corpse of the Arch that starts falling using Transfer. I put it at My Home in the upper layer near the middle layer entrance. I will eat it deliciously later. Well, it's certainly obvious that it will taste bad because it's a poison holder though.

If possible, I want to wrap it with threads, but the first priority is to kill the Greater. Thus, Transfer again.

I return to the pit where I was a while ago.

Un. The spider army including the Greater's are still here. It will be troublesome in the future if I let them go here.

I mean, they are eating the corpse of the bees that I hunted. Hey, you. That's mine, you know? Why are you stealing my things?

When thinking so, the Small group is fighting against the bees. As expected, the Greater's will win against the bees, but a considerable number of bees have been defeated.

Ah, I'm sorry that it became a dogfight, but can I also participate? No? Even if you say no, I will participate, you know?

Now that there's no Arch, even if there are three Greater's, they are not my enemies. Although I was scared of the Arch's high status at first, the way for the spider army to defeat me is to disturb me with small fries, and the Arch uses physical attacks. Now that there's no Arch, it's difficult to even damage me properly.

Thus, let's do it quickly.

Because it's already troublesome, let's kill them with range magic all at once. There's no Arch here, so it should be all right to prepare magic now because they are having a dogfight with the bee. Although I can use range magic while fighting if I can use "Parallel Will", as expected, for me alone to use complicated magic like range magic while fighting is impossible. Well, if I concentrate like this, I can shorten the time until activation though. As expected, if it's me alone, it's difficult to do it while moving.

Then, "Dark Magic", Dark World activate.

Darkness begins to gush out from the abyss. The existence that touched the darkness receives great damage. Although it's not as the "Abyss Magic" Hell Gate, it's a magic with a moderate range and power.

When the darkness fades, the Small group is annihilated. Even the adults, several bodies including the Poison barely survived. As expected the Greater survived, but they are not unhurt.

I fire Darkness Magic one by one to the guys who survived. In this way, the spider army was annihilated comparatively disappointing.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 138

Chapter 138. Kumoko vs Alaba.

138 Spider vs Earth Dragon Alaba ①

Perfect victory against the spider army! Incidentally, a level rose again. One, huh? Rose by 4 with the Arch, and 1 with the others. Nai wa.

Well, because the affinity with the Arch was good by chance, I was able to defeat it easily, but it should be very strong normally. Its status actually surpassed the Earth Dragon, and if I were to say which one is stronger if both of them fight, it's about the same. If it's Kaguna, it might barely win by an affinity difference, but Geere probably can't win against the Arch. Even if it's Kaguna, there's no guarantee that it can win.

Well, a win is a win. No matter what kind of move is used, it's fine if I win, that's all!

But, what should I do with this large amount of food? Although quite many turned into smithereens by Dark World, there's a tremendous number of corpses even if I exclude that. Even though the Arch's large build alone is a considerable amount, can I eat all of these? I mean, I will have a hard time even if I take all of these back to home with Transfer.

Danger Perception.

All of my body hair stands on end. I remember this feeling. I won't forget it. There's no way I can forget it. The real fear that I tasted for the first time since I reincarnated into a spider. The symbol of death that I was conscious of for the first time since I reincarnated into a spider.

I turn around slowly.

『Earth Dragon Alaba LV32 HP:4663／4663(Green) MP:4076／4076(Blue) SP:4570／4570(Yellow) :4569／4569(Red)
Average Offensive Ability:4610(Details) Average Defensive Ability:4597(Details) Average Magic Ability:4022(Details) Average Resistance Ability:4138(Details) Average Speed Ability:4555(Details) Skill 「Earth Dragon LV3」 「Heaven Scale LV2」 「Heavy Shell LV1」 「God Steel Body LV1」 「High-speed HP Recovery LV8」 「High-speed MP Recovery LV5」 「Great MP Consumption Down LV5」 「Magic Perception LV10」 「Precise Magic Manipulation LV1」 「Magic Combat Act LV9」 「Great Offensive Magic Power LV1」 「High-speed SP Recovery LV7」 「Great SP Consumption Down LV7」 「War God Spirit LV3」 「Great Vitality Granting LV3」 「Earth Attack LV10」 「Enhanced Earth LV10」 「Great Enhanced Destruction LV3」 「Great Enhanced Slashing LV10」 「Great Enhanced Piercing LV8」 「Great Enhanced Blunt LV10」 「Space Maneuver LV8」 「Accuracy LV10」 「Evasion LV10」 「Great Probability Correction LV4」 「Stealth LV10」 「Camouflage LV3」 「Danger Perception LV10」 「Presence Perception LV10」 「Heat Perception LV10」 「Motion Perception LV10」 「Soil Magic LV10」 「Earth Magic LV5」 「Shadow Magic LV10」 「Dark Magic LV7」 「Great Destruction Resistance LV1」 「Great Slash Resistance LV4」 「Great Pierce Resistance LV3」 「Great Blunt Resistance LV5」 「Great Shock Resistance LV1」 「Earth Nullity」 「Fire Resistance LV6」 「Lightning Resistance LV8」 「Water Resistance LV5」 「Wind Resistance LV6」 「Dark Resistance LV4」 「Great Abnormal Condition Resistance LV7」 「Corrosion Resistance LV6」 「Pain Nullity」 「Great Pain Alleviation LV7」 「Night Vision LV10」 「Visible Range Expansion LV7」 「Enhanced

Vision LV10」 「Telephoto LV8」 「Enhanced Hearing LV10」 「Hearing Range Expansion LV3」 「Enhanced Smell LV7」 「Enhanced Touch LV7」 「Destiny LV3」 「Heaven Mana LV1」 「Heaven Motion LV3」 「Abundant Sky LV3」 「Fortitude LV3」 「Fortress LV3」 「Heaven Path LV1」 「Heaven Protection LV2」 「Idaten LV3」
Skill points: 41100 Title 「Monster Killer」 「Monster Slaughterer」 「Dragon」 「Assassin」 「Conqueror」 「Natural Calamity of Monster」 』

The appearing Dragon. That appearance is majestic.

Long time no see. My trauma.

This is bad. This guy is dangerous after seeing its status again. Picking the best of both Kaguna and Geere, and even more. There's no chance at all.

The skill composition and the defensive ability that surpass Kaguna. The skill composition and the speed that surpass Geere. In addition, the high magic ability that both Kaguna and Geere don't have. The worst thing is it can even use "Dark Magic" that's my weapon. It's too troublesome that it has "Dark Resistance".

A perfect all-rounder. It can attack, it can protect. Therefore, it's strong even at the rear, and because it doesn't have a weakness, it won't lose. It can be said that it's an ideal existence.

Haha. When it's so amazing, it can even make me laugh. Ah, I'm glad. The fear that I felt at that time was a real thing. The fear that I felt at that time was right. I will admit it. Earth Dragon Alaba, you are strong. To the extent that I think that I who became so strong can't win easily. Rather, it's a formidable enemy that I should resolve to be defeated.

Scary. And yet, I'm happy. Ah, I'm happy. Now, I have grown to be able to fight against the opponent who I was not able to do anything but to tremble and hide at that time. Earth Dragon Alaba. Are you ready? I'm ready.

If it's your perception level, you should have noticed that I was alive at that time, right? You noticed me, and you overlook me because I'm a worthless thing, right? That arrogance, I make you regret.

Thank you. You taught me the terror of death. Therefore, there's the present me. I escape from you, escape and escape, and at the end after escaping safely is the present me. Let me thank you.

And, die. As the hateful existence that gave the fear of death to me for the first time. I will kill you with my hands. I will overcome your fear by doing so. I won't escape from you anymore. Let's put an end to this long, long escaping life.

Here I go.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 139

Chapter 139.

139 Spider vs Earth Dragon Alaba ②

A preemptive attack with Darkness Spear. It's evaded like it's natural. A breath of return. I evade it like it's natural.

The attack was obvious that we avoided it. The attack that confirms each other feelings. A series of flows like it's completely arranged beforehand, and it becomes a feeling like the lovers who were not able to meet for a long time. Well, I don't even have a friend, let alone a lover.

We exchange the attack like greetings, and the real combat starts.

Alaba's large build approaches like a gale. What speed. Although the Arch was also fast, this guy is more than that. But, I won't lose in speed.

I avoid the swung foreleg's claw. After I avoided it, the point of the sharp tail approached. I even avoid that. The tail that cuts the air. But, it bends immediately and pursued me.

I apply "Evil Eye of Magnetism" on myself, and activate the pseudo barrier. On top of that, I evade it. The tail repelled by the repulsive force barely passed my body.

And there, a pursuit of kick with the hind leg. But, the kick stops on the way. Tch, so you noticed the threads that I have spread on your line of fire. It looks like it has noticed the threads that I spread secretly while avoiding.

Alaba takes a distance. Although it might intend to get poised again for the next attack, it's my turn this time.

I shoot a Darkness Bullet aiming at Alaba that tries to take distance. Although it's a surprise attack, Alaba dodges it with composure. But, it can't dodge the threads that I shot that's waiting for it over there.

It's the threads endowed with the maximum poison and slash attributes without viscosity. Alaba plunges into the reticulation with all its strength. And at the same time, I who's holding the threads rush to the opposite side of Alaba. Like a twine.

The result, my body was blown off. Oh, well. The physique difference is too much. I can't win Alaba's power even if it's my strengthened power.

Alaba's HP has decreased slightly. Poison and slash, I don't know which one is effective, but I succeeded in wounding it just a little. Even if it's a wound that can be recovered by automatic recovery instantly, it doesn't change the fact that it's wounded.

Fumu. If it can be wounded, it seems to go well.

I release the threads. I control my posture with "Space Maneuver" in the inertia of being blown off. I confront Alaba once again.

If it's the present sense, the physical offensive ability is Alaba. The speed is me. The defense is Alaba. The magic is me. Like this.

However, when it's said that we are equal, to be honest, I lose. It's merely because a certain point of Alaba is extremely high. Alaba's defensive ability. With my offensive ability, I can't break through Alaba's defensive ability.

Physical attack is blocked by the defense of "Hard Shell" and "God Steel Body". Even the attack with threads of my best only can graze it just like a while ago.

It's hard to say that magic attack is effective. Because of the "Heaven Scale" skill that's the higher rank skill of "Reverse Scale", the power of magic decreases sharply. Still, if it's my magic offensive ability that exceeds 10000, I can at least damage it. If it hits. The evasive ability of Alaba is also high. Although it will likely become a damage if it hits, the possibility that it will be recovered before I inflict the next damage is high.

In the present condition that I don't use "Parallel Will", shooting magic while fighting is hard. In addition, if I think about Alaba's evasive ability, the recovery speed seems to be faster than the damage.

I won't use "Parallel Will". Although it's merely my obstinacy, I want Alaba's opponent to be only me. If I mobilize all of my "Parallel Will", it's probably possible to fire magics at the same level as Gatling gun and settle the battle instantly. Even if it's not like that, it will go well if I activate "Abyss Magic". But, there's a meaning to win by myself.

There's no trump card. In addition, if I attack it unskillfully, I will let it acquire resistance. Because I won't use "Parallel Will", I can't use the countermeasures that I thought for Kaguna that's to visit it with a huge "Abyss Magic".

Then, there's only one strategy that I can take.

And, to do that, I have no choice but to fight with all my power now. To let Alaba think that I'm an opponent who should fight with all its power. If Alaba uses all its power, I can see my winning chance. Because, at that time, my invisible second Deadly Poison will start to undermine Alaba's body.

Alaba takes a stance. I understood that it's the previous action of the breath by "Foresight". It's that breath that destroyed my home before.

Alaba's breath attacks. Transfer. I transfer to Alaba's overhead. I fire a Darkness Bullet to the defenseless head that continues releasing the breath.

The Darkness Bullet hits Alaba's head directly, and shuts the mouth. The mouth that's releasing the breath.

The breath explodes in Alaba's mouth. Apparently, the Dragon's breath doesn't seem to only have the Dragon's attribute attack. The HP of Alaba who should have "Earth Nullity" decreased. If I match it with Darkness Bullet, it becomes a proper damage.

Oh my! Perhaps, I can continue like this. No, it's probably impossible.

Although the mouth is exploded, the tail attacks me like a different creature. This tail is troublesome. I avoid the tail that bends like a whip. My inner heart gets chilly by the wind roar when the tail passes in point-blank range. If I think about my HP and MP, I don't think that I will die at a hit. Although I think, the power is strong to the extent that I can see a visual hallucination that I will split in two by the tail unintentionally.

I fly back and dodge the foreleg swung after the tail. I take distance as it is, and I fire a restraint Darkness Spear.

Alaba's leg is stopped by the Darkness Spear. The HP recovers rapidly. It's fast. As expected, it's difficult to defeat it by repeating damage.

But, Alaba completely recognized me as an enemy. It should come with all its power from now on. My poison starts the erosion. You have already received my poison. A special poison that can't be seen in abnormal condition. Now, let's begin the countdown. When will Alaba notice the poison's existence?

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 140

Chapter 140.

140 Spider vs Earth Dragon Alaba ③

In the slow motion world of "Thought Acceleration", I grasp the future's image that "Foresight" shows. The future where Alaba activates magic.

When it becomes the monster of this class, it can use magic normally. The Arch was the same too, and it means that it has the wisdom to do it. Naturally, there's no way an existence with such wisdom will use magic that's more inefficient than the breath without thinking.

Evade. A sharp spear of soil spring up at the place where I was a while ago. It's the soil version of the Darkness Spear. If I'm not mistaken, was it the "Earth Magic LV3", Earth Spear? But, in contrast with the Darkness Spear that's the type that shoots toward the opponent, the Earth Spear changes the ground of target point into a spear suddenly. If I stayed there, I was about to become a skewer.

The troublesome point of the "Earth Magic" is that it has the magic effect of the soil attribute added to it and it also has physical destructive power. Although it looks plain compared with fire and water, the true state is that it's a mixed attack of physical and magic. Speaking of the height of resistance, I don't receive any damage from ordinary magic. But, when it comes with physical destructive power, the story changes.

Did Alaba foresees that I will evade? New Earth Spears appear one by one. As might be expected of having the "Precise Magic Manipulation", the magic construction speed is impressive. Well, it's inferior to me though.

Such magic won't hit me who make full use of "Thought Acceleration" and "Foresight". But, Alaba also understands such thing. Alaba's true aim is to eliminate my escape.

I continue avoiding the magics, guided skillfully to a place, and at that place, the wall of soil has already surrounded in three sides. In addition, a wall springs up instantly at the the entrance where I entered. Earth Wall of the "Earth Magic". The only place I can escape after being surrounded all directions is up.

And, on top of that, the appearance of Alaba who has already released its breath. There's only an instant before it hits. Evasion is impossible. If it's the normal.

Transfer.

I transfer to Alaba's overhead again. Darkness Bullet to the head while it's releasing its breath becomes the second time. A hit.

A scene same as a while ago is developed right under me. The different thing from a while ago is that Alaba flew up in the air. The falling Alaba.

A pursuit Darkness Spear. But, Alaba regains its balance just before colliding to the ground, kick the ground with a light feeling and avoided the approaching Darkness Spear.

Ahead of avoiding it, the waterfall of poison rains down.

The waterfall of poison that's made by maximizing the creation amount of "Poison Synthesis" and activate it continuously. Alaba blows off the waterfall of Deadly Poison and paralysis with one breath. The splashing water of poison. Although it didn't expect any damage, something like blowing it off with one breath easily, nai wa.

Alaba releases its breath towards me who's in the air continuously. I make full use of "Space Maneuver" to avoid the anti-aircraft fire. Incidentally, I make a net with "Universal Thread", and fire it with the "Shoot" skill.

Fufufu. That's right, I have acquired my heart's desire "Shoot" skill! I mean, it was derived when "Throw" reached max level. Well, it consumes MP and because it's level is low, it don't have much speed. To be frank, throwing it with "Throw" is better, but this is the problem of feelings. The thread that's shot hardens like a ball, and I use power of "Thread Manipulation" to open it into a net in front of Alaba.

Alaba avoids the net grandiosely with full exposure of its wariness because it remembered that it got wounded by the thread a while ago. That reaction is not wrong. Although the thread just now is endowed with offensive ability, the true nature of the spider thread is to catch the opponent. I gave full adhesiveness to the thread that I used this time. Even if it's Alaba, it's not easy to escape if it got caught in this thread.

If it's cautious of my thread to that extent, it's convenient for me.

I scatter threads from the air. Alaba hates it, it avoids and repel it with the breath, and it comes to eliminate me who's the original source. Alaba who approaches to my location with "Space Maneuver".

Yes, welcome!

The threads that seemed to be scattered haphazardly. They are all connected by a thin thread that's hard to be seen. The thread that becomes the root is in my foot. I haul in the bunch of threads with "Thread Manipulation" all at once. At the same time, I shoot a Darkness Bullet to Alaba.

The spider threads that approach from the back. The Darkness Bullet that approaches from the front. If it avoid the Darkness Bullet, the threads will catch up. If Darkness Bullet is not avoided, it will receive damage. Which will Alaba choose?

Alaba chose. A different choice.

The breath offsets the Darkness Bullet. It charges forward ignoring the aftermath.

Crap!

I barely avoid the approaching fang attack. I graze it a little, and my "Satiation" HP stock decreases.

That was close. I almost failed to avoid because I'm holding the thread. Because I'm pulling a lot of threads, of course my movements will be limited. Even if it's Transfer, if the magic is not made beforehand, it won't make it in time, so if it's a situation like just now, it can't be used. The reason why I seem to easily avoid my opponent's attacks with Transfer is because I make full use of "Thought Acceleration" and "Foresight". I foresee the opponent's action with "Foresight" and I begin the magic construction instantly with "Thought Acceleration". It seems that I transfer at once, but I actually prepared beforehand.

Alaba's action a while ago was a little unexpected. Thread or Darkness Bullet? I thought that it would pick either one. It looks like I was still underestimating Alaba.

I motivate myself again. Both Alaba and I still have composure. The fight still continues.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 141

Chapter 141. I totally forgotten about the author note. Added it. 141 Spider vs Earth Dragon Alaba ④

Author note: The S series is on a short rest -----
-----

The fight that both made desperate efforts. But, the situation that both don't have a trump card continues.

I who can't break through the high defensive ability and recovery power. Alaba that all of its attacks continue to be dodged with high evasive ability.

It's not that both of us have no trump card. My trump card is thread. If it's caught in my thread, even Alaba will take time to escape. Meanwhile, I can win if I fire a lot of magic.

But, Alaba is considerably cautious of my thread in the fight so far. It understands that it must not receive only that. Therefore, it faces the attack in relation to thread carefully. It's hard to hit the thread on Alaba that has entered the complete defense stance.

In contrast with me, Alaba's trump card is the largest scale breath attack. The breath that Alaba releases with all its power boasts of power more than the breath that destroyed my home before. If I receive such a thing, even if it's me, I will vanish. Even if I activate "Patience", if I receive it once, the breath will continue to shower at me as it is, and I will die eventually.

But, Alaba can't shoot it. Alaba has received my counterattack twice for the breath attack. Because of that, Alaba can't shoot a breath for a long time. Because Alaba has received the same move twice, it only uses the single-shot breath thoroughly. The single-shot breath is not bad. But, the attack range becomes small no matter what, and the power decreases too. Everything is evaded by me, and even if it hits me, it's far from being a fatal wound.

Both of us can't use it effectively even though we have a move that can be the trump card.

When it becomes like that, the fight was naturally prolonged. Both of us mix feints and serious attacks sometimes, we wait for the chance while preventing the opponent to take hold of the pace.

The progress of the battle is slightly disadvantageous. My attacks are not working. It hits. But, there's no damage. Even if I damages it, it will recover instantly. Even if I succeed in continuous hitting, Alaba takes distance in every cases for a moment, and stop my attacks to gain time for recovery. In the end, even though I have fought this much, the damage is 0.

On the contrary, its resistance increased. Alaba's "Dark Resistance" that was level 4 at first has rose to level 5. If this continues as it is, the low damage now will decrease even more.

In contrast with me, Alaba's attacks will pierce me if it hits. With just receiving a hit, all of my HP and MP can't be blown off. But, a hit of Alaba is strong. If I receive such a hit, my small body will be easily blown away. If it becomes such a thing, there's a possibility that I will receive a further pursuit. If that happens, it will be the end.

The one chance difference is too big. If I who's specialized in evasion made a mistake, the situation might be reversed immediately. Of course I don't intend to be killed easily. Although it won't happen, it's not impossible.

The nature and my tension increase. The sharpened nerves. I concentrate so that I won't miss an image of "Foresight". In the slow motion world of "Thought Acceleration", I sharpen my senses so that I won't miss a slight information.

《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Thought Acceleration LV9』 has become 『Thought Acceleration LV10』》《Conditions met. Skill 『Thought Acceleration LV10』 has evolved into Skill 『Super Thought Acceleration LV1』》

《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Foresight LV9』 has become 『Foresight LV10』》《Conditions met. Skill 『Foresight LV10』 has evolved into Skill 『Future Vision LV1』》

Skill evolution in this timing. I'm thankful. The movement of the slow world becomes slower. The image of Foresight that can only be seen sporadically, can be seen always.

I can see. What Alaba is going to do next. Furthermore, I can foresee until the end of the movement in the stagnant world of "Super Thought Acceleration". Like a chess problem.

I finish dodging the sure-kill shot, claw and fang, a sweeping combo attack with the tail with composure. I'm so amazing. When I think about hitting an attack to the present me, don't it need to have the speed at the level that I can't perceive? This is good. It's good. Come at me more. If it's now, I don't think that any attack will hit me.

Avoid. Avoid. Avoid. Dodge. Dodge. Dodge. In addition, I continue to throw a counter in the interval. Alaba's HP that begins to decrease slightly.

Alaba starts to feel impatient for the rise of my evasive ability after coming this far. I understand that even that feeling is quite clear in the "Super Thought Acceleration". And, I'm not so gentle to overlook that chance.

"Heresy Magic" Phantom Pain. It's a magic that inflicts phantom pain. Alaba is astonished. That's obvious. For Alaba who has the "Great Pain Alleviation" at high level, it's an intense pain that it has not felt for a long time.

The Phantom Pain by "Heresy Magic" can't be relieve by Pain Alleviation. I who was tormented by Detection have experienced this with my own body. How is it? The pain that's felt after a long time.

Alaba who clench its teeth painfully. When there's a chance in the heart, it's easy for "Heresy Magic" to pass through the resistance. If it's a monster that has a willpower like Alaba, the effect of the magic will be shaken off immediately.

But, an instant is enough.

At the moment when Alaba's consciousness turned towards pain, threads coil around its body. More threads get entangled one after another to Alaba's body that tries to shake it off. Threads coil Alaba's body many folds, and the movement stopped.

I did it! It seems that the end comes before the poison works.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 142

Chapter 142.

142 Spider vs Earth Dragon Alaba ⑤

I want you to wait a minute. Whatever the circumstances may be, that's impossible. I have thought that I probably can't defeat you just by restricting you with the threads.

For example, something like shooting the breath on itself. If it's a full power breath, as expected, I think that my threads can't endure it. Then, although it will receive damage to some extent, as long as it has "Earth Nullity", Alaba itself won't receive a fatal wound. I think that it's a very realistic escape rather than being shot with magics continuously by me while it's defenseless. Because I think of it, it's not strange even if Alaba carry it out.

But, the thing that Alaba did was something that I didn't expect. It can be said that it's completely contrary to my expectation. Besides, in the worst way.

The skill point is obtained by level up. But, somehow, it looks like there are other methods to obtain it as well. When I see the skill points of the Arch Taratect that should be equal to me in the species, it's clear that my skill points are fewer.

As for the difference of status, it can be explained by the difference of time that it has lived. The status rises gradually even if it doesn't level up. I grew up rapidly in a short period because I raise my level assertively unlike the wild monsters. Because of that, the rising value of my status except the level up is low. But, I think that the normal monsters won't try to fight other than the time they hunt food. That's why, the level rise is slow.

Although I don't know how long it takes to grow up to that extent, as long as I see the difference of status with me, I can guess that it's quite long. The status differences between the Arch and me except the magic and the speed is more than 2000. Even if I calculate that the status increases by 1 each day, that means that it has lived for 2000 days. Because there's no such thing like the status increases by 1 each day, I'm sure that a very long time has passed.

Then, can the skill points also be obtained in a fixed amount if I live for a long time? For example, 100 points for the birthday. No, I think that it's probably wrong. But, I think that the guess about getting points by time passing is right. If it's not so, the difference of the skill points with me can't be explained. Possibly, there might be an unknown points acquisition condition.

Well, what I'm trying to say is the Earth Dragon Alaba that seems to have live for a very long time has the skill points that corresponds to it. Up until now, the monsters that I have seen were also the same, but perhaps, Alaba has never used its skill points since it's born. The skill that's obtained using points is not to be found, and above all, when it hold such a enormous amount of points uselessly, I can judge it. Although it's a waste, even if I tell the monsters to use such points, they won't understand. Because the amount that's not used is like something that's not there, I try to not mind it.

And, that Alaba's skill points has decreased. In addition to that, it's using up all of its points. The 41100 skill points has become only 100.

And, I have my breath taken away by the added skills.

「Hell Flame Magic LV1」 「Enhanced Flame LV1」 「Flame Resistance LV1」
「Darkness Resistance LV1」 「Space Perception LV1」.

My weakness, the highest rank fire magic, "Hell Flame Magic". The higher rank skill of "Enhanced Fire", "Enhanced Flame" that enhance the magic. In order to not get hurt by its own magic, it improve the "Fire Resistance" that it has further, and acquire "Flame Resistance". The "Darkness Resistance" to resist my main weapon which is the "Darkness Magic". The "Space Perception" that seems to be the countermeasure for Transfer.

The skills that are gathered only for me. The skills that literally concentrate its full power. The skills acquired only to defeat me. The thing accumulated for a long time is used up only for me.

Besides, apart from the points, there are also skills that flowered by the mortal combat. 「Concentration LV1」 「Prediction LV1」 「Parallel Thought LV1」 「Calculation Processing LV1」 「Heresy Resistance LV1」 It must have seriously think of a way to escape from this crisis. As expected, I don't think that it can evolve until my golden combo of "Thought Acceleration" and "Foresight" in the middle of this fight, but it doesn't change that it becomes more troublesome. Because it even has the "Heresy Resistance", it might be better to think that "Heresy Magic" won't work anymore. The Soul Break is an exception and it's impossible to use that.

However, this is bad. This is really bad. There was a considerable differences of the affinity so far. But, it never took any countermeasures. Alaba is a formidable enemy that can't be said that it has a good affinity with me. That formidable enemy took countermeasures for me.

The threads restricting Alaba burn off. The ground becomes red-hot centered on Alaba. The earth is burnt.

The magic of "Hell Flame Magic LV1", Scorched Earth. It's a range annihilation magic that covers the widespread ground completely with flame and changes into the Hell's field. Moreover, the frightening point of this magic is that the effect continues.

I have already escaped into the air. But, as far as my eyes can see, the earth below has been covered by the roaring intense heat completely. The earth is originally Alaba's field. And, that has completely become my away.

The flame swallows everything. Even the aftermath alone is hot. The corpse of Greater Taratects that have been left on the ground burn out.

A-Ah!? My meal!? Although a lot of corpses were blown off in the mortal combat with Alaba a while ago, because of this flame, everything disappeared completely! What the heck. How dare you do it! The grudge of the meal, I will have you pay for this!

Countermeasures? I will surpass even that! Bring it on!

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 143

Chapter 143.

143 Spider vs Earth Dragon Alaba ⑥

Above is the bees. Below is fire. What's this? The correct answer is my present situation, damn it!

Hey, Bees. You guys are troublesome. Why are you attacking me in this situation!? No matter how many attacks I receive from the bees, it won't be a damage, but with the present situation that a chance might be fatal, please give me a break!

The ground still blazes. At the center, Alaba releases a breath aiming at me. I avoid it in the air. Incidentally, I cut the approaching bee in two with my sickle. The corpse that fell is burnt by the flame.

Alaba who's at the center of the flame is not unhurt. Unlike nullity, it will receive damage if it's only a resistance. Even if it's the magic shot by itself. The "Flame Resistance" is the higher rank skill of "Fire Resistance". Although it's amazing that it can acquire the high rank skill suddenly, still, damage can't be nullified after all.

The present Alaba is literally waiting for a chance to defeat me while burning its body. The decrease in HP is quite slow thanks to high-speed recovery. But, the body is gradually burnt by the flame.

Will it ruin itself if I keep running away like this? There's no way it will be so easy.

The soil around Alaba rises to protect Alaba. It guarded the blazing flame with its forte, "Earth Magic".

Its HP begins to recover rapidly. During the fierce battle, the level of "High-speed HP Recovery" skill has rose. Its HP recovers at the speed to the extent that I doubt that whether it's using "Treatment Magic" or not.

Ah. I want to say that "which protagonist are you, to grow up in the middle of the fight". Such cool development is a special privilege permitted only for the protagonist, you know? What a cheat. How unfair. I want you to give me a break.

Let's speak frankly. There's no way I can win in the frontal attack anymore. It's impossible even if everyone returns with "Parallel Will". The combat ability of Alaba has increased remarkably to that extent.

The wall of the pit begins to burn to prove it. Let alone the bottom, the side is also covered with flame. The place with ground is all covered with fire. The escape for me is only the air where the ground doesn't reach.

And, enormous energy accumulates in Alaba's mouth to the extent that it even overruns the air. The ultimate attack that Alaba can't shoot up until now. The ban was finally lifted after being protected by the earth and the flame.

Alaba releases its strongest breath that penetrates the air. Even the flame that spreads through the wall blows off. A ray of light gushes out of the underground that can reach to the heaven.

I imagined such a scene.

No no. If I receive such a thing, I will become cinders. It's definitely impossible. Of course I escaped with Transfer.

I'm at the place between the upper layer and the middle layer where I left the corpse of the Arch now. As expected, because it's the opposite side of the huge labyrinth, there's no aftermath of the fierce battle. What if there's an earth tremor up to here? The world will collapse.

Ah. A break. I eat the Arch a little. I have used my SP considerably. Let's replenish once here. Uwa, it tastes bad.

I confirm the already marked Alaba's status and position while eating the Arch. Alaba is not moving. Is it absorbed in deep emotion that I was killed? Or, is it regretting that it failed to kill me? Either is fine though. I will return soon.

My poison has already undermined Alaba's body. The person himself has not noticed it yet. But, as long as I'm not defeated, the poison will erode steadily. Although it's haven't reach the level that it can't be recovered, it will happen eventually. Then, it's my victory.

If I can't reduce its HP in a frontal attack, I can just do a different approach. Alaba misunderstands it. I'm not a warrior living by struggles. I'm a mean hunter who deceive, entrap and torment my opponents. Trapping is my best strategy. Poison is my best weapon. Alaba is already in my trap. Alaba has already received my poison.

Now, I just need to survive and wait for the poison to erode thoroughly. But, the part about surviving is difficult.

I eat the unappetizing Arch to recover my SP. I also eat for the stock of "Satiation". But, the large build of the Arch still remains. I think that I don't have to worry about food for a while.

Yosh. Then, let's return to the battlefield again.

Transfer. I transfer to a slightly far place from Alaba. If I transfer in front of Alaba who has the "Space Perception", I might receive a severe attack.

When thinking about that, a breath flies to the place I transferred.

I evade in a hurry. Because I just transferred, I didn't see the "Future Vision". The breath bullet passes through grazing my back a little.

Concentrate. The opponent is certainly the strongest among the monsters that I have fought so far. To that opponent, an instant carelessness becomes fatal.

I understand that the breath just now was shot after perceiving my Transfer sign. I can't use Transfer easily anymore. Although it's fine if it's only for escaping, returning is accompanied by the greatest danger.

The flame of the ground still blazes. But, the flame of the wall has vanished. Incidentally, the bees that flew around too. Seriously as I imagined it, it looks like the fire of the wall is blown off and the bees were swallowed up by the breath that rose to the heaven. Even if I say that Transfer is dangerous, that breath is impossible to avoid unless I use Transfer. It's not a level that I can do anything with my evasion ability. I can't avoid it if I don't have the interval to avoid.

But, because it's great move, the consumption is huge. In addition to the activation of Scorched Earth of the scale that covers the wall, Alaba's MP has decreased considerably after using the strongest breath. It must wait for the recovery of MP in order to use that breath once again.

Now then, what is the next move of such Alaba?

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 144

Chapter 144. Invisible poison's identity.

144 Spider vs Earth Dragon Alaba ⑦

Time passes while both of us glared at each other. Alaba is waiting for the recovery of MP. I'm waiting for the poison to work. If time passes for each other, it becomes advantageous. However, Alaba's MP recovery is faster than my poison.

Alaba moves. But, it didn't release the breath. Alaba understands that the breath won't hit me similar to a while ago.

Alaba runs. On the wall. The wall surface is covered with flame again.

Alaba comes to my side in the air where I am. The wall of the soil that wore the flame rises perpendicularly from the wall surface. The wall of soil reaches the wall on the opposite side as it is, and a bridge is made in the air.

Alaba runs around the wall, and the bridge is built one after another. So that I lose my escape. The air is gradually filled with burning earth. The appearance is totally like the spider thread. I never thought that my enemy will do the same thing that I did.

On the completed innumerable blazing bridges, Alaba runs through it at high speed. Even though gravity is applied to it with "Evil Eye of Magnetism", the movement doesn't decline. It runs through the bridge and jumps.

The approaching claw. I avoided the claw in the air that became narrow.

Alaba lands on another bridge without a sound. And, it runs. It jumps again from another place. Avoid. It lands, looks at its recovered MP, and increases the number of bridges even more.

If this continues, my escape will gradually lost and the situation will get worse. I started to break the bridge with Darkness Bullet since a while ago. The Darkness Bullet is superior to the Darkness Spear in destructive power. The true worth of Darkness Spear is the continuation damage in the state of being pierced. Although it's effective against living opponents, the Darkness Bullet is better against objects.

But, when I try to break the bridge, Alaba interferes. If it's that much, it's fine. Alaba attacks at the moment I'm going shoot the Darkness Bullet. I change the target to Alaba at once, and restraint. Evade at the same time.

Alaba makes the new bridge faster than I break the bridge. It's a pain that the bridge won't fall with one Darkness Bullet. I want a magic with more power.

《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Darkness Magic LV3』 has become 『Darkness Magic LV4』》

Did my wish got through? The skill level of "Darkness Magic" rose. I construct the newly added magic at once.

The generated "Darkness Magic" hits the bridge directly and destroys it. Cutting it. The magic of "Darkness Magic LV4", Darkness Blade.

Ah, this is not good. It has no significance because it won't break even if I cut it. If it's like this, Alaba can restore it immediately.

I withdraw the Darkness Blade, and continue to break the bridge with Darkness Bullet. But, I can't catch up. Or rather, the range that I can escape has narrowed considerably.

Alaba's jump. The figure of the approaching Alaba's claw and the tail waiting at the place after I avoided the tail is projected in "Future Vision". Even if I intend to avoid this barely in the limited range to escape, it's impossible to do it.

Eeei. It can't be helped. I avoid Alaba's attack greatly, and I land on the bridge where flame rises. Hot!

I leave at once. I create the water of the medicine with "Medicine Synthesis", and extinguish the fire on my body. My HP is recovered by the effect of the medicine at the same time. Fu, don't think that I will always use poison on myself and decrease my HP.

Although I understood it with that just now, even if I land on the bridge, the decrease of HP is not so much if it's only an instant. If I use "Medicine Synthesis" as the extinguisher and the recovery, I can almost ignore the wounds.

The problem is will Alaba allow the series of flows before I extinguish the fire?

Alaba attacks again. This time, I also can't avoid it unhurt. I avoid Alaba's attack and land on the bridge.

At that moment, Alaba visits me together with the bridge with a breath.

Avoid. The sound that the bridge is destroyed at my back resounds. But, I can't care about such a thing.

The flame burns my body without mercy. Even if I have high-speed recovery, my HP decreases at a considerable speed. Although I want to extinguish it immediately, Alaba takes the opportunity to pursue me. While dodging Alaba's pursuit, "Medicine Synthesis", but Alaba's further pursuit.

Crap. I get impatient. "Medicine Synthesis" is no use. Because I need to avoid Alaba's attack with all my might, I don't have the composure to use "Medicine Synthesis". There's no way I can activate Transfer in such situation. This is bad.

My HP decreases. The stock of "Satiation" is exhausted. Alaba's pursuit doesn't stop yet. My HP becomes 0. "Patience" is activated. My MP decreases little by little. By having "Patience" activated, the damage is decreased by effect of "High-speed HP Recovery" and the MP recovery effect of "Magic Extremity". But still, my MP decreases gradually.

This is bad. But, I barely made it in time.

Alaba's movement worsens rapidly. The worn strengthening skills are removed. There's no power like a while ago anymore, and its movement stopped weakly. My poison has finally checkmated Alaba's life.

My poison, that's "Sloth".

『Sloth: n% power capable of reaching the Gods. Greatly increases the reduction amount of the numerical value in the surrounding system excluding yourself. In addition, the W system is surpassed and the the right to interfere with the MA area is obtained』

In other words, the decrease of HP, MP and SP for existence other than me becomes greater. HP and MP have automatic recovery. But, SP don't have it. The more it fights with me, the more it uses its full power, the decrease will grow bigger. If it continues to consume SP with "Magic God Act", it will be a suitable prey for "Sloth".

There's no means for Alaba who doesn't have "Appraisal" to notice this. It became the already hopeless stage, and it finally notice the starvation that undermine itself. There's hardly any SP remains in the present Alaba.

The match has been decided.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 145

Chapter 145.

145 The sinking earth

I extinguish the fire on my body with "Medicine Synthesis". A relieved breath. My decreased MP begins to recover rapidly.

Alaba can't move anymore. It has no power to move. Although the HP has not change yet, if the SP is exhausted, the HP will also be exhausted at the same time. And, its SP is in a situation where it might be exhausted just by moving a little.

Now, it's like I can just boil it or roast it. Fufufu. Although it was a harder fight than what I expected, it became the end as my assumption.

I have judged that it was impossible to reduce Alaba's HP completely from the beginning. The skill of the scale series possessed by the Dragon species that obstructs magic has a very bad affinity with me. Even if I hit it physically, it's like the hand used to hit aches. Alaba's defensive ability is overwhelmingly higher than my offensive ability.

That's why, I give up on the HP. If the HP is not good, I should just reduce the SP. And, the one that can do it is "Sloth". My broken skill number 4.

"Sloth" was acquired relatively quick after I evolved into Ede Saine. To be honest, because I didn't understand the explanation, I didn't regard it highly, but when I acquired it, I was surprised of the good affinity with me. If I use the "Evil Eye of Grudge", not only the HP, but the decrease of the other status also becomes greater. Although there's not much effect on Alaba, when it's an opponent that don't have the "Abnormal Condition Resistance", it becomes a brutal combo to the extent that I can win with this only.

In addition, if I use it with Transfer, I can force a one-sided protracted war on my opponent. I can always confirm my opponent's status by marking, interfere its meal by appearing suddenly with Transfer, and even wait for its SP to be exhausted thoroughly. I mean, this was the strategy that I was going to use on Alaba. Because it has acquired an unnecessary thing like "Space Perception", it was dangerous that it became impossible to use my Transfer thoughtlessly. Among the skills that Alaba acquired, the most troublesome one might have been "Space Perception".

Because Alaba bring out its full power that can be said as desperate effort, I succeeded in exhausting its SP more faster. If Alaba has more composure, the result might be different. Because there were neither carelessness nor a chance, it was defeated conversely. It's a nasty strategy even if I say so myself.

Well then, Alaba, have you compose a haiku? I will help you. It's time to put an end to our fight. If you can't move, I can shoot magic as much as I like. Will its HP be reduced finished first? Or, will its SP be exhausted first? I wonder which is it.

I look down on Alaba from the air while a vulgar smile floats in my heart. Alaba raises its neck slowly. Our eyes met.

It startled. Those eyes were freshly clear.

What's with those eyes. You lost to me. You should be more frustrated like a loser.

Alaba turn its body over slowly like warding off my abusive language. However, only its neck is facing me straightly.

And, abnormality occurs in Alaba's appraised status. The character of the skills become gray. This is the activation of the skills being turned off. By turning off the skills that are activated continuously, the color of the character when appraising becomes gray. Alaba's skills become gray one after another. The "Heaven Scale" skill that severely tormented me also. Various resistance-type skills as well.

So, you won't resist, huh? What's with that. Really, what's with that. Why are you satisfied arbitrarily? Because you did your best, you have no regrets? Is it like that?

Don't joke with me! Be greedier. Beg for your life more. Live and struggle. Why can you throw away your life so easy? Life, if you lose it once, it won't return to you anymore, you know?

Because I was reincarnated, it might not be persuasive, but usually, it's the end when you die, you know? How can you end it gallantly? Then, what am I who struggle to not wanting it to end?

Or, is it because you know that it won't end even if you die in this world? If that's the case, it's irritating all the more.

Ah, fine. I will kill you just as you wish.

I release all Evil Eyes. Grudge, Stasis, Magnetism, and Extinction.

Alaba's body became dust and vanished without resisting.

《Experience points has reached a certain degree. Individual, Ede Saine LV19 has become LV20》《Every basic ability rose》《Level Up Bonus:Skill Proficiency was acquired》《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Fighting Spirit LV9』 has become 『Fighting Spirit LV10』》《Conditions met. Skill 『Fighting Spirit LV10』 has evolved into Skill 『War God Spirit LV1』》《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Anger LV2』 has become 『Anger LV3』》《Skill points gained》

《Experience points has reached a certain degree. Individual, Ede Saine LV20 has become LV21》《Every basic ability rose》《Level Up Bonus:Skill Proficiency was acquired》《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Evil Eye of Extinction LV3』 has become 『Evil Eye of Extinction LV4』》《Skill points gained》

《Experience points has reached a certain degree. Individual, Ede Saine LV21 has become LV22》《Every basic ability rose》《Level Up Bonus:Skill Proficiency was acquired》《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Telekinesis LV1』 has become 『Telekinesis LV2』》《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Evil Eye of Magnetism LV1』 has become 『Evil Eye of Magnetism LV2』》《Skill points gained》

《Experience points has reached a certain degree. Individual, Ede Saine LV22 has become LV23》《Every basic ability rose》《Level Up Bonus:Skill Proficiency was acquired》《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『High-speed HP Recovery LV7』 has become 『High-speed HP Recovery LV8』》《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Thread Talent LV8』 has become 『Thread Talent LV9』》《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Slash Resistance LV5』 has become 『Slash Resistance LV6』》《Skill points gained》

《Experience points has reached a certain degree. Individual, Ede Saine LV23 has become LV24》《Every basic ability rose》《Level Up Bonus:Skill Proficiency was acquired》《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Blunt Resistance LV5』 has become 『Blunt Resistance LV6』》《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Fear Resistance LV9』 has become 『Fear Resistance LV10』》《Conditions met. Skill 『Fear Resistance LV10』 has evolved into Skill 『Great Fear Resistance LV1』》《Skill points gained》

It became an awfully bad victory.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? The Royal Capital Battle 1

The royal capital battle 1. Time for the side story.

The royal capital battle ①

Author note: The point of view of Elder Ronant who appeared in Human-Demon Great War ② -----
-----

A boring work was pressed to me. I handle the daily magic training while looking at the night sky. Recently, even if I repeated training, there's no growth at all. This is probably because of my age. If it's like this, I will approach my life span before I reach the magic's essence. It's frustrating. How frustrating to be lack of talents.

「Teacher. Training magic control at such a time?」 「A person's life is short. If a person values sleeping time, mastering magic is a dream within a dream」

I answer one of my apprentices who approaches from the back without turning around.

「I respect such strong passion to magic. But, there's no magician in this world who can surpass Teacher anymore」 「Ha!」

I laugh at my apprentice's words.

「You don't understand anything at all. This me is the world's strongest? What a joke. Me who has no talents can only put efforts like this to compensate for it. I was just regretting of my lack of talents now」 「Teacher. If you say that you have no talents, then it means that we don't have talents」 「I'm saying so. Even if you lionized that you're a genius, after all, it's a man's body. There's even the people who can reach the Gods in this world. Compared with them, man is weak」

I can't help but to grieve like that.

「Ah. I still remembered it clearly. That divine appearance. That person who have reached the extremity of magic」

The one that comes to my mind is the existence who's the top of magic that I saw once. That artistic existence. Compared with that person, I'm just a stone on the roadside. If I'm seen by an existence equal to the God, everyone is the same. Even if the stone on the roadside is somewhat large, a stone is only a stone.

「What's wrong?」

When I'm in melancholic nostalgia, another apprentice comes quietly. Then, the apprentices start talking.

「It's Teacher's usual disease」 「Ah. Teacher is at the age already」 「He might start to grow senile soon」 「I can hear it, fools」

I turn around, stare lightly and the two apprentices shrug their shoulder unnaturally. Good grief, both are not lovable apprentices.

This is bad. The magic control was disordered by that just now. To be disordered by such thing, as expected, I'm inexperienced no matter how much time passes.

「Teacher, although this might be a needless care, please don't tell anyone about that story except us, okay?」 「I understand that much」 「Then, it's fine. The elderly have suffered from direct damage. Even if it's not so, there are those that lose their relatives」 「I told you that I understand it. Don't worry needlessly」 「Or rather, isn't Teacher also was mortally wounded? It's mysterious that you can have such thoughts」 「Because I was conceited at that time. I was shown clearly that there's a top on the top. At the same time, how small am I as well. I'm thankful from the bottom of my heart to meet that person」

The unrivaled magician even in the Rengzant Empire that values valor. That's my evaluation at that time, and the position still continues. At that time, I was foolish. I never doubt that I was the top of the world. And, that lengthened nose broke by that incident. At the same time, I knew that there's an area where it can't be reached with a person's body.

「I regret that I was born as a human」 「Teacher, it's not strange that the statement means that you support the Demons depending on how it's grasp」 「Demons don't have much different with Humans. It's pitiful. The Humans and the Demons are small vessels that crushes each other. I don't understand how small my existence is」 「Teacher, what if someone heard about it?」 「There's no one here other than us. Besides, even if it's heard, what can they do? Do you think that this country now has the right to judge a guest general of a foreign country」

I'm now at the royal castle of Anareich Kingdom. The country where the inside has already crumbled by Prince Yuugo's strategy. The appearance as a country is still kept and it doesn't make the outside feel like that, but the fact is that it's suppressed by our Rengzant.

This country is driven into the state that it can no longer function properly by the power of the unknown skill that Prince Yuugo has. The king dies, the innocent third prince and fourth prince are labeled as terrorists who committed national treason, and the remaining first prince and second princess have been brainwashed. The most nobles are puppets. Although it seems that only the fourth prince escaped safely, the third prince will be executed tomorrow. And, the engagement of Prince Yuugo and the already brainwashed second princess has been announced, and this country became Prince Yuugo's puppet.

I'm the insurance when the safely escaped fourth prince returns to rescue the third prince. Well, returning to here knowing that it's a trap is unthinkable unless he's a great idiot. By now, he should be taking refuge in a country. The highest possibility is the Samare Kingdom where the first princess married. In other words, there's no turn for me.

「This is boring」 「Isn't it good to be peaceful?」 「That's right. I don't want a dangerous mission like the recent Great War」

The recent battle was considerably a large-scale one. The Demons attacked all at once at each fort that separates the Humans and the Demons territory. Although the battle in the fort where I was, ended when I shot the head of the Demon general, the other forts have considerable damage. Well, I have nothing to do with such thing. The problem is even though I killed the Demon general, my level didn't rise.

My level is 78. In the legend, it's said that the Humans can evolve if the level reaches 100. However, I will probably die because of my life span earlier than reaching level 100. Because even I defeated an important person called the Demon General, my level didn't rise, so I can't expect a drastic level up from now on.

「Though I'm a little interested in the fourth prince who's the true Hero」

Although Prince Yuugo is the new Hero announced by the church to the society, the genuine Hero is the escaped fourth prince. Although Prince Yuugo also have inborn abnormal strength, it seems that the fourth prince is also the same. If such fellow became the Hero, how strong did he become? I'm interested. Surpassing the human's limit that I have trying to accomplish might be possible.

「I heard in the rumor that this country's fourth prince has the power almost equal to Prince Yuugo. After all, Prince Yuugo is an existence that's out of common sense. When I think that such aberrant existence will attack, it makes me tremble」 「Hann. Certainly, Prince Yuugo is aberrant. I will admit it. However, that is not good」 「Teacher, do you want to be beheaded?」 「What's wrong saying that the person is not good when he's really not good? What, you guys only have to be silent about it」 「Saying such thing, don't you think that we are manipulated by prince's suspicious skill?」 「Do you think that I who have "Appraisal" can't recognize whether you are sane or not?」 「Ah, that's right. Really, why did you raise a skill like "Appraisal" to level 10?」 「So, what part of prince that Teacher thinks that's not good?」 「He's not good to the extent that if I start talking, it won't stop. If I have to say it, it's everything」 「This old man denied everything」 「The prince can exhibit tyranny for a short time」 「Teacher, then, won't Rengzant Empire's future might be shut?」 「I don't know. Although I somewhat have attachment to the country, the aim at the essence of magic is more important. If the country is ruined, it doesn't seem bad to even retire and live quietly」 「Even if Teacher is okay with it, what about us?」 「That is something I don't know. You should just do as you please」

The apprentices leak a grand sigh.

I gaze at the other side of the sky, and I was surprised a little. Apparently, it seems that he's a great idiot.

「Foolish apprentices, prepare for battle」 「Eh?」 「The fourth prince have appeared」 「Seriously?」 「Seriously. Prepare already」

I ignore the apprentices that start preparing in a hurry, I begin to construct magic.

「Well then, show me the power of the Hero」

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? The Royal Capital Battle 2

The royal capital battle 2.

The royal capital battle ②

Author note: Shun's point of view. -----
-----

「Sensei. I will still go and save Niisama」

Sensei bites her lips to my determined voice. Surely, Sensei understands that I won't draw back.

「Will you go, no matter what?」「Yes」「I see. I will also follow」「Sensei, this is my problem. There's no need for Sensei to follow me forcibly」「I can't let Shunkun go there alone」「It's not alone. Of course I will also go」「Katia, but」「Please let me go. Even though I was manipulated, I must at least settle the things that I have caused」

The same color of determination as me can be seen in Katia's eyes. In other words, she don't intend to draw back.

「I understand. But, don't force yourself, okay?」 「Yes」

She agrees obediently. But, the words can't be trusted in any way. The Katia now has the atmosphere that seems to be do reckless things calmly.

「If Shun-kun is going, of course I will also go」 「Hyrinth-san」 [Don't worry, I will protect Jou-chan]

Hyrinth-san who talks to me with Telepathy. If that's the case, I'm relieved.

「Well then, what to do about the strategy?」 「Defeat Yuugo. That's the only one」 「That's impossible」

Sensei's words.

「Yuugo-kun, no, Yuugo have already transferred to Rengzant Empire. Together with Sue-chan」 「What!？」 「Shun, you did acquire the Space Magic, right? What's the level?」 「It's useless. The level rise of Space Magic is slow, so it's only 3. I can't learn Transfer just by training it from now」

In the royal castle of Anareich Kingdom, there's a thing called transfer circle that goes directly to the Kasanagara continent, but even if it's used, there's still a distance to the Rengzant Empire. No matter how we struggle, it's impossible to reach the Rengzant Empire before Niisama's execution.

「So, they escaped, huh?」 「Yes. That's why, it's impossible to kill Yuugo」 「Kill?」

I feel shaken to Sensei's words.

「Shun-kun, don't tell me you intend to let Yuugo who caused this situation to live?」 「No, but」 「Shun-kun. I regret that I only deprive his skill and status at that time. If only I care for him after that, it might not become like this. However, if I kill him at that time, this kind of thing will never happen」

I shivered to the glitter of Sensei's gloomy eyes. Sensei is serious. She seriously thinks of killing Yuugo.

Even I can't forgive Yuugo. Father was killed, Sue and many people are manipulated. There's no way that I can forgive him. But, I never thought of killing him. I can't think of it. Even if it becomes like this, I'm still hesitating to kill a person.

「Anyway, killing Yuugo comes after we saved Leston-kun. Let's think of other plans」

Everyone except me accept the dangerous word "kill" obediently. Is this because I'm strange? I might be strange. Even if I see objectively, what Yuugo has done so far, deserves a certain death. And yet, it might be strange that the me who's the victim don't hold any killing intent.

But, after all, it's the figure of the great Hero that comes to my mind. Julius-niisama. That person too, it doesn't mean that he can't kill people. I'm sure that he has killed a lot of Demons with his hands. But still, in his mind, was there an evasive feeling to killing similar to me?

I shake my head. Now I should think about rescuing Leston-niisama who's my another older brother.

「On the night before Niisama's execution, we infiltrate into the place where Niisama is caught and escape. I think this is the only one to avoid useless combat」

Everyone thinks to my proposal.

「It's full of problems」

Hyrinth-san mutters.

「In what way?」 「First of all, we don't know where Leston is caught. If we don't know where it is, it's useless to infiltrate」 「If that's the case, my skill is useful」

Sensei raises her hand to Hyrinth-san's words.

「I have a special skill for the Ruler. It has the ability to search a specific skill that a living thing has. Because I know Leston-kun's skill composition, I'm sure that the place can be known if I use this skill」

I nod "I see". I understand the reason why Sensei can gather us former students in a short time. She use the skill and search for the garbled text skill that only we have.

「Then, about the second problem, soldiers will surely be stationed around Leston. What do you plan to do with that?」 「We are strong enough to not lose to normal soldiers. Because there's a limit to stealth, we will just have to force our way through when we are found」

I answer this time. The members here are all powerful people among the Humans. There's no way that we will lose to a normal soldier.

「There's surely a trap. What to do with it?」 「Crush all of it」

I declare it. We have the power to that extent. I believe so.

「Then, I will say the greatest concern. What will you do if Leston has been brainwashed?」

I can't answer Hyrinth-san's words immediately. That's also something I thought before. Judging from Yuugo's character, he will do the things that I hate the most. And, that is to brainwash Leston-nisama, and when we came to save Leston-nisama, we will be attacked by him. The more worst one is to force Leston-nisama to suicide in front of us. If it's only being attack, it's settled if we can hold him down. But, it's difficult to stop the suicide. Either way, in the case where Nisama has been brainwashed, the situation becomes severe.

「I have a plan」

But, I have a secret plan. If possible, I don't want to use it, but when the situation is bad, it's not the time to keep it.

「If Nisama has been brainwashed, could you leave it to me?」 「And, can you do something?」 「Yes」

I declare. I won't let Yuugo make anyone do as he please anymore.

「What's left is the rescue of the people other than Niisama」

Everyone frown to my words.

「Shun, that's impossible」 「Why is it?」 「Although I don't know how many people have been caught in this matter, I'm sure that it's a large number of people. We don't have the composure to escape while guarding them」 「But」 「Shun, I agree with Hyrinth-san」 「Katia」 「Shun, we are not gods. There are things that are possible and impossible. Even if you save everything, the damage will only enlarge」

When I try to object Katia's words, I notice that her hands are grasped tightly. That's right. Katia didn't talk about how are her parents and the people of the Duke house at all. From Katia's appearance, I can somehow guess it. But, she never say to save them.

Katia has gave up to save her parents. I'm sure that she wants to save them.

「I understand. The one we will be rescuing this time is only Leston-niisama」

I said it with heartbroken thoughts. Even I'm worried about what happened to Clevea after that. I want to save Sue and the other brainwashed people. But, that can't be done. I don't have the power to do it.

「It's favorable that Yuugo is not there. But, Shun. Use "Appraisal" frequently just in case. He returned with Transfer, so that means that he might return with Transfer. It might become a situation where someone of us has been brainwashed before we know」 「Ah. That's right」 「Sensei. Because it's like that, please accept Shun's appraisal」

Katia's sharp words. I see, so Katia's aim is this.

Sensei's expression changes.

「What's wrong? If you never did anything guilty, it should be fine to accept the appraisal. Or, is there something that must not be seen?」 「That's...」 「Sensei. If you don't accept Shun's appraisal here, I can't take actions with you」

After Sensei kept silent for a while to Katia's words, she nodded without power.

「Go ahead」

I activate "Appraisal" to Sensei's words. High status. High level skills. Because I have expected it, I don't feel surprised. And, the thing that Sensei wanted to conceal.

「Don't worry. There's no suspicious point in Sensei's status」 「Is that so. If Shun says so, I will believe. Sensei, I'm sorry for doubting you」 「N-No. It's all right」

Sensei flustered to the bowing Katia.

[Why?] [What do you mean?]

I play dumb to Sensei's question in Telepathy.

[You should understand what I mean] [I have expected it]

That's right. I have expected it. In Sensei's skill, there's "Taboo".

[Shun-kun, don't tell me, you...]

I ignore Sensei's Telepathy on purpose. What I have to think now is how to infiltrate into the place where Niisama is caught.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? The Royal Capital Battle 3

The royal capital battle 3. Changed Charity > Mercy > Kindness The royal capital battle ③

Author note: Shun's point of view -----
-----

「Ah, Shun. When did you raise such a cavalry Drake?」

We are now flying in the sky. Riding on the Drake's back.

「Well, this guy was not a Drake until recently, but when I form a contract with the Summon skill, it evolved before I know」

A huge white Drake that it's still has composure even if we ride on it. It accompanied me originally by the "Taming" skill which is the pre-evolution skill of "Summon". It's a monster called Peorat that's has a figure similar to a lizard that can be found everywhere. Even if it's said as a monster, its size is around the size of a palm, so there's hardly any harm. And, it evolves into a low rank Drake before I know, and when I summon it again after I became the Hero, it has become a high rank Drake. Moreover, it's a rare Light Drake.

「Is it the Hero correction?」 「It should be」

Katia and Sensei say so, and I think that maybe because I became the Hero, my attendant monsters also receive the influence. Although there are several monsters that I have contracted, all of them also have evolved.

「You cheater」 「Don't say it in Japanese purposely」

Though I do thought that I will be told that.

「We should conceal ourselves with "Stealth" and "Camouflage" now」

Everyone erase their presences to my words. On top of that, I activate "Camouflage", and disappear like fusing with the darkness. If we erase the sound with "Silent", we shouldn't be found from the ground as long as nothing great happens.

Even though I thought about that, I construct a magic in a hurry and shoot it around the street of the royal capital that comes into view.

「Eh? Hya!?!」

A collision of two magics at a point-blank range, and an intense explosion occurs.

「Shun!」 「We are being sniped! The opponent is a considerable magic user!」
「Impossible!? Shooting a magic accurately towards this upper sky!?!」

We are flying about 1000 meters in the sky. If it's a normal magic, it shouldn't be able to reach such a long distance.

I activate "Clairvoyance", and I look for the person who used the magic just now. The elderly person is standing grandly on top of the castle's wall to the extent that it's unnecessary to search. I look at the elderly person's magic construction. I leaked a voice of admiration unintentionally to the height of the perfection. It was an advanced magic construction to that extent.

「The second shot is coming」

I call for vigilance beforehand. I grip the Drake's bridle.

The magic that comes flying at high speed is dodge in a paper-thin difference. Although the Drake has the "Reverse Scale" skill that has a magic attenuation effect, I can't rely on it too much.

Now that we have already been discovered, there's no meaning to stick with espionage action.

「I will accelerate! Hold on tight!」

I handle the bridle, and accelerate without stopping from the sky towards the ground like falling. While avoiding and intercepting the magic shot by the elderly person.

[Ah, crap. I can't win] [Wha-!? Teacher!?] [Stop it. We will retreat]

I tapped such Telepathy communication. Although I was cautious whether it's a trap or not for a moment, they really disappeared to somewhere with Transfer. Surprisingly, all of the people in the castle that have great magical power disappeared too.

「Eh, end?」

I muttered disappointingly. And I became dumbfounded for a while.

「It looks like the attack stopped」 「A-Ah. Apparently, it looks like they retreated because they can't win」 「They withdraw too quickly. The possibility of this being a trap seems to be high」 「No, it was not such atmosphere when I tapped with Telepathy」 「Either way, let's proceed carefully」 「Okay」

However, when we motivate ourselves and proceed carefully, we manage to infiltrate into the castle easily.

「Did they really retreat?」 「I think so」

This is a little let-down. I return the Light Drake, and although it might be now, espionage action starts again.

[Sensei, where's Leston-niisama's present location?] [He's at the south spire]
[Understood]

We communicate with Telepathy, and advance carefully. It's silent in the castle to the extent that it's eerie. There's not even a person.

[It's strange] [This is surely a trap]

We be cautious of traps, and advance carefully. But, we easily arrive at spire where Leston-niisama's is confined without anything happen. The problem is there are about two presence of people beside of Niisama. I activate "Clairvoyance", and look at the state inside.

[There are two people besides Niisama. It's Anna and Clevea] [How is it?]
[They look blank. I think that they have been brainwashed] [Understood. Shun, you said you have a plan, but can you somehow manage it even if it became 3 people?] [I manage somehow] [It's possible to be attacked. So let's make preparations for combat first] [That's right. I will rush in first]

The tension increases. Hyrinth-san signaled with his hand, and rushes in. I follow after him.

Hyrinth-san stiffens with his shield prepared. At the same time as we rush in, the three people aim for suicide.

Hyrinth-san returns from stiffening, and tries to stop them. But, he doesn't make it in time.

They pierce their eyes without hesitation with the thick needle that they hold in their hand. The needle buried deeply into the eye socket, and destroys the brain.

The defensive ability of this world even has effect on things that are regarded as soft parts in the Earth like the eyes. The sense of touch is the same, and it becomes difficult to be damaged. It should be like that, but the needle entered the three people's eyes without any resistance. Apparently, it seems that the needle has an additional effect.

「Dammit!?!」

Hyrinth-san throws away his sword and shield, and catches the three falling body skillfully.

「Shun! The recovery!」

Hyrinth-san should have understand it too. That it's already too late. But, I follow Hyrinth-san's words.

I know that Katia and Sensei are having a bitter expression at the back. But, there's no need to worry.

The needle is pulled out from the eyes, and I construct recovery magic. A special recovery magic.

The destroyed bodies reproduce. At the same time, the stopped heart restarts the pulse. The souls that were about to be lost revive.

《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Taboo LV6』 has become 『Taboo LV9』》

The Divine Word is heard. Even if I know that only I can hear it, my heart almost jumped out.

I knew that Sensei has "Taboo". Because I also have the Ruler skill. The 「Kindness」 skill.

And, the effect is dead resurrection. The price is whenever a person is resurrected, the level of "Taboo" rises. That's why, I can't say anything about Sensei. Because I'm also a "Taboo" holder.

I send a signal to the surprised Hyrinth-san and the others with my eyes, and we lifted the bodies of Niisama and the others. And, we escaped from the castle.

* * * * *

「Sorry. The genuine Hero is beyond my powers, so I ran away」 「I don't mind. By now, they should be dumbfounded witnessing the death of their precious ones. Kukuku」 「Ah. So that's why, you made the castle empty」 「Because that Naive-chan will surely come. Although it's a little disappointing that I can't see his crying appearance, my real intention is the other one」 「Good grief. Even though I just return, making an elderly person to overwork」 「If you have a complaint, I can make you work forcefully, you know? The reason why I didn't brainwash you is just because if it's a person as strong as you, it's harder to brainwash. Although it's hard, it's not impossible, you know?」 「I understand. That's why, I'm doing my job properly」 「That's fine. Then, let's depart to destroy the Elf Village. Ahahahaha!」 (Good grief. Seriously, retiring might be better)

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 146

Chapter 146. For those who don't know yet, I have changed Charity > Mercy > Kindness. 146 I feel sick

Ah, this is irritating. I'm irritated. And all is because of that damn Dragon. Even though I don't like the fact that it's a Dragon, that last attitude. I'm irritated just by recalling it.

Why that guy has to put up a soldier air? I'm irritated. I'm angry to the extent that I can't become hungry. Such a guy, I don't even want to eat. Even if I eat it forcibly, my feelings will definitely become worse. That's why, I erase that guy.

I'm also irritated with my halfway of dealing it. Alaba might have wished to die by "Abyss Magic". But, if I kill it with "Abyss Magic", I won't get any experience points. Even though I worked hard to defeat it, it's painful that I won't get any reward. I feel disgusted with such selfish thought.

Ah, I'm irritated. When it's this intelligent, it's unpleasant. It's a Dragon, so naturally, it should know about the structure of the world. Alaba understands that, and wants to die. Because it understands, it died.

Ah, that way of life is amazing. But, try become the opponent's position here Like this, it really a beheading. I feel sick.

In order to distract my irritated feelings, I wander around the lower layer. I vent my anger at the monster that catches my eyes. And, my feelings recovered a little.

Let's return. I carry the corpse of the monster that was teared into pieces back to home, and stress eating and sulk in bed.

Ah, before that, I must protect the corpse of the Arch with threads. Because I leave it between the upper layer and middle layer, the monsters from both layer won't approach. In the first place, because the monsters need to break through my home before they can reach the Arch, it's impossible for them. The middle layer is also the same. Because I go there frequently to raise my "Flame Resistance", most of the monsters don't approach that vicinity, so I think that there;s no need to worry. But, after all, I can't calm down if I don't protect the prey that I killed with threads.

Thus, I transfer together with the monster's corpse that I killed moment ago to the place where I left the Arch.

There are humans at the transferred destination.

What? Eh, where did these guys come from? Don't tell me that they know that I will transfer here and they are going to ambush me!?

It doesn't seems like that. After all, everyone is trembling and panicking. Um, what are these guys? Ah, their appearances looks like the knights recently, is it those people's comrades?

Although I don't know why those guys came, I wonder why did these guys come here. If I kill them, the Administrator Gyuriedistodiez might come interfere. That's troublesome.

Huh? Come to think of it, how did these guys come here? In order to come here, they must break through my home. Wait a minute. Somehow I have an unpleasant premonition.

"Clairvoyance" activate. My, My Home, aaaaaaaaaaaa!?

I-I-It's burningggg!?

O-O-Oooooou. Nothing. The My Home that I made with all of my efforts. It has burnt black. Damn! Even if I endow it with "Flame Resistance", it's still weak to fire.

Dammit! These guys, just when I'm irritated, what have you done to me! Ah, enough already! Who cares about Gyurigyuri! I won't let these guys return alive!

It's convenient that the other side is motivated. Aaah, preparing such things like swords. If I speak of Japan, this is surely legitimate self-defense, right? Isn't it fine if I just say that "they attacked me, so I attack them back"? Gyurigyuri seems to be naive, so he might overlook it.

Now that it's decided, there's no need to hold back. I will kill you all!

Total of 34 people. Their status is higher than the recent knight group. Average of 400. There are those with higher status that are 500.

In addition, there are two people who are outstanding. Judging from the appearances, a warrior type and a magician type. Ah, but the soldier type guy has the "Summon" skill. "Summon" is the higher rank skill of "Taming" that makes the monster to obey the user. The monster that obeys the user can be summon from a long distance, and limited transfer can be used. Because this guy has the "Cooperation" skill and the "Direction" skill, rather than a warrior, it might better to call him as a monster tamer or a summoner.

The magician type guy is just as it is. The skills and status feel like a magician. However, on top of having higher status than the other humans, his skills are quite enhanced. Although he look like the middle-age before the elderly person, isn't he quite powerful different from his appearance? If it's this middle-aged man, he can at least defeat the mantis in the lower layer.

Hmm? What's this unpleasant feeling? At the same time as the strange feeling, a change appears in my status. Being appraised? Such a message is displayed in the status suddenly. When seeing it, even my skills blink in red.

Ah, this means I'm being appraised? That means that this strange feeling that continues from a while ago is the feeling of being appraised? Uwa, the worst. What are you peeping at, you pervert. Even the part that blinks in red is being appraised, so that means the level is quite high.

Hmm. Ruler authority activate. Appraisal refusal.

《The use of the Ruler authority is confirmed. The effect of the 『Appraisal』 skill is obstructed》

I didn't thought that I need to use the Ruler authority in such a place. I don't want to use it as much as possible because it uses Divinity Area, but being seen is unpleasant.

And, the criminals are the summoner and the magician. I will surely kill those two. Well then, let's do the first human killing in my spider life.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? The Labyrinth's Nightmare 1

The labyrinth's nightmare 1.

The labyrinth's nightmare ①

Author note: The summoner's point of view. -----
-----

I'm very unlucky for this time. It was my honest thoughts when this mission was announced.

Tame the mysterious monster that appeared in the Elro Great Labyrinth. If it's impossible, kill it at once.

It's the mission that I received this time.

How it happened is there's an assistance request sent by the Outsou country that's the small country where there's an entrance to the Elro Great Labyrinth. The Elro Great Labyrinth is roughly the only way to move between continents. Although there's the transfer circle which is an exception, only the country's important people or rich people can use it. As for the common civilians, etc, they hire the professional called labyrinth guide, and take days to pass through the Elro Great Labyrinth. The people who try to pass through the most dangerous Great Elro Labyrinth are merchants who trade over the continents, adventurers that have skills, those who have a reason to move to the other continent by all means, and people who can be said as a common civilian. However, in order to hire a guide, a certain number of people must use the Great Labyrinth.

And, an abnormality occurred in that Elro Great Labyrinth. The monsters came to show up more than usual. Of course it was not a very welcome situation for the people who passed the Great Labyrinth.

However, the Outs country is a small country. It only has the force to defend the country, so there was not enough people to solve the abnormality occurred in the labyrinth. Having said that, if it's left as it is, there's a concern about the monsters that will overflow from the labyrinth and might break into the territory of Outs country. The Outs country has no choice but to send a assistance request to my empire.

The empire consents this willingly. The unit in the vicinity of the border was dispatched to the Outs country immediately. The dispatched unit is originally a unit created with the noble's second son and third son, but the ability is the same as the other units. It was thought that they will find out the cause of the abnormality and return.

In reality, they found out the cause of the abnormality, and returned. However, in a shape different from the expectation. Their unit ran away and returned. From the mysterious spider-type monster.

According to the report, it's said that it's a threat to the extent that the necessity to be resolute of annihilation is felt with just a glance. They withdraw immediately, and they said that it's necessary to create a special subjugation unit.

At first, I laughed off at that report saying 「What a foolish thing」. However, from the testimony of the detailed report and the guide, the monster's danger is gradually confirmed. At least, danger degree A rank. The worst, it reaches the S rank. If such a dangerous monster came out of the labyrinth, the damage will become serious.

However, at the same time, a strange rumor starts to circulate.

There's a spider monster that saves people.

The local investigator immediately looked for the source of this rumor. Then, it's said that when a group of adventurers are attacked by a dangerous monster called Elro Baradrad in the Great Labyrinth Upper Layer, the monster defeated that monster, and even recover their comrades who were on the verge of death.

Such a foolish thing. That was my thoughts. I who's a monster tamer knows more about monsters than other people. Although monster's intelligence is low, it's not like it doesn't thinks at all. However, something like helping a person, a monster that acts with clear intention, I only heard that such monster is a legend class high rank monster.

If that story is true, the spider monster has a considerable wisdom, and it becomes a monster of the legend class. Subjugation of such monster, as if I can do that.

However, it helped people, so that means it might be a friendly existence towards people. If things go well, it might be possible to tame it. And, finally my turn comes.

Really unlucky. If the spider monster is a monster of the legend class according to the rumor, there might be no winning chance. Even if it's not so, it's confirmed that it's at least a A rank monster. It's quite severe to tame that.

The contract by the "Taming" skill is either the monster acknowledge it, or make it surrender with strength and force it to form a contract. Because almost every monster won't acknowledge it, it's necessary to beat it with power once. Beat the A rank monster until it becomes the state that it's not possible to act without killing it. It's already an opponent that's hard to be defeated, so I can't help but to say that it's severe.

And, the opponent this time is at least an A rank. In case of it's higher than that, it can be think that it's difficult even to win. Cautious correspondence was necessary.

And yet.

「Haa. Good grief, having this me to explore the labyrinth. I'm really unlucky」

The person next to me is the empire's great magician, Ronant-sama. Although he is certainly an excellent magician, there's a problem in his character. Anyway, he is free and selfish. He ignore orders remorselessly, and make use of the surroundings.

「Ronant-sama. In case of the opponent is higher than S rank, a person like you is needed. Please endure it」 「I know that. Well, no matter what comes, if there's me, it will be peaceful. Prepare with the belief of it's safe」

Although this person is usually a friendly and interesting person, I'm worried because he doesn't change even in the battlefield. But still, the strength is a real deal. He certainly has the ability to be called as the Humans strongest magician.

This time, it's the formation of me and Ronant-sama together with 30 empire soldiers and 4 guides. If possible, I want the previous veteran guide to guide us while inquiring about the story from the guide, but he refuse it resolutely. He said that "Like I can go to the place where such a dangerous monster is there". Although it's regrettable, it can't be helped. Rather, I should think that I obtained the information that the monster can even make the guide who seems to be a considerable professional to said that. Though it's not a pleasant information.

At any rate, first of all, we must find the monster.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? The Labyrinth's Nightmare 2

The labyrinth's nightmare 2.

The labyrinth's nightmare ②

「Fumu. The place where the corpse of the Earth Drake is here, right?」 「Yes. It should be」 「It's completely nothing」

We have come to the huge passage that's called the large passage. It's because there's a report of encountering the monster here. We found the nest that has the corpse of the Earth Drake, but there's nothing inside it. No. To be exact, there's the remains of the hard parts, etc, that seemed to be leftovers, and other than that, there's nothing.

I confirm the state of the nest again. Judging from the impurities that stick to the threads and the state inside the nest, it was better to consider that this place is abandoned. There were no signs of being used.

「Apparently, it seems to have changed its nest place」 「I see. Then, it looks like we can do nothing but to look for it thoroughly」 「Yeah」

After that, we searched the surroundings carefully for several days. However, the appearance of the monster was not found.

「It's not here」 「This is strange. Guide-dono. Do you happen to know that there's a place where we haven't search in this circumference?」

After the four guides ponder about it for a while, the mouth was opened.

「There's a path that leads to the middle layer nearby. Perhaps, that monster has gone into the middle layer」 「But, if it's a spider monster, it should be weak to fire. I think that the possibility is low, so I have disregard it up until now」

I see. Although the possibility is low, it's possible. Speaking of the middle layer of the Elro Great Labyrinth, it's said that it's the hell of heat wave with magma overflowing in the surroundings. Because we don't have the equipment, it's impossible to search up to the middle layer. When thinking about the foods and the tiredness of prolonged investigation, it's certain that we should go back.

「Yosh. Then, we will investigate the road that leads to the middle layer, and if there's nothing, we will return」

Like that, we are guided, and we have advanced to the road.

「Uwa!?!」

One of the guides who walk at the front stiffens unnaturally while letting out a scream.

「What's wrong?」 「I don't know, What's this? I can't move」 「Wait!」

Ronant-sama stops the other guide who tries to approach the guide carelessly.

「Apply the light and look properly. It's very hard to be see, but threads are spread around」

In accordance with Ronant-sama's words, I strain my eyes. Certainly, there's something like the thread that sometimes reflects the light.

「This?」 「We might have pulled the hit」

If I see properly, the shape of the thread is a beautiful radial. It was the shape peculiar to the cobweb.

「Someone cut the thread with the sword and help him」

One of the soldiers swings the sword down to save the guide who caught in the threads. However.

「Oh. It can't cut」

Ronant-sama leaks a voice of admiration. The swung soldier's sword sticks to the threads similar to the guide. Although the soldier tries to pull out the sword from the threads, it doesn't move even an inch.

「Guide, it might be a little hot, but endure it」 「O-Okay」

Ronant-sama uses the magic of the fire. With accurate manipulation, only the threads in the surroundings are burnt without injuring the guide. It should be.

「Umu, hmm? It doesn't burn」

Although it might be a low rank magic, the thread that's said to be weak to fire remained without burning.

「I will raise the power」

Flame gushes out towards the threads from Ronant-sama. Dazzling light overflows in the dark cave.

「Oops, I made it too powerful」

Although a part of the guide's clothes is burned, he somehow succeeded in escaping. The problem is the flame covers the inner part of the passage completely.

「It looks like I have done it」 「Yes. In case the owner is inside, it will surely rage」

Then, I can't hope for friendly attitude anymore. Taming it becomes impossible.

「If possible, I hope that here is also abandoned」 「It doesn't seem impossible. Even if we did this much, it doesn't come out, so that means it's either it's away from home, or here is already abandoned」

I hope that it's like that. If the adventurer's rumor is true, the rumored spider is said to be striding in the labyrinth. Moreover, in all probability, it uses Transfer. I have never heard of a monster that can use Transfer that even only few can use it among the Humans.

It might be away from home now by chance, and it's possible that it can come back at this very moment.

「Everyone, just prepare for battle. Get prepared so that you can correspond no matter what happens」

I tell the soldiers so. The threads burn out, and the fire vanishes.

We advance the path carefully again. The cinders of the threads were spread in a considerably wide range.

「Although it's somewhat hard to burn, it's fragile once it's ignited, huh?」 「Yes. It seems that way. It looks like the flame have spread a lot to the interior」

We advance the path that's too wide to be called as a nest, and we reach a wide open space.

「Here is?」 「The entrance to the middle layer」

The guide answers. I see, certainly, there's heat. It seems that the path to the middle layer is a gentle downward slope.

「Hmm?」

Something was there. Although it was hard to see because it's a downward slope, it's a thing with a considerable size.

「Everyone, prepare」

A formation is formed, and the soldiers approach it carefully. I stay back together with Ronant-sama and the guides, and I take out an appraisal stone from my pocket.

「Hou. Appraisal stone, huh? The level is 9, huh?」 「As a summoner, "Appraisal" is indispensable. Does Ronant-sama has the "Appraisal?」 「Umu. The level is 9」 「That's terrific. Because I use the appraisal stone frequently, the skill proficiency accumulates and it became level 3, but 9 is simply impossible」 「I frequently use it in the interval of the magic. And, it finally became level 9 at this age. Normally, it's better to use appraisal stone」 「You are right. So, how is that seen?」

The thing that I indicate. That's the corpse of the huge spider monster.

「It's the corpse of the Arch Taratect」

Arch Taratect. The one rank lower than the myth rank Over S monster, Queen Taratect. The danger degree is S. It has died in a tragic appearance.

「Furthermore, do you see it? There's a sign of a part was eaten」

Although I don't know that because there's a distance, it seems that Ronant-sama seen it.

「So that means there's an existence that killed the Arch Taratect and preys on it」

I trembled. A monster that preys on S rank monster? Such monster might exist?

If we encounter such a monster. It's not good. Even if an elite force is led and the Humans strongest magician is here, there's no winning chance against such non-standard existence. We should withdraw.

However, the judgment was too late. The incarnation of nightmare has transferred here.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? The Labyrinth's Nightmare 3

The labyrinth's nightmare 3. Kumoko's appearance is described.

The labyrinth's nightmare ③

The monster that transferred in front of the Arch Taratect's corpse was a spider monster. Compared with the huge Arch Taratect, it's a considerably small spider monster. It's overall black, and there's a white pattern on the back. The pattern is like a skull. Among the eight feet, the front two is bigger than the other feet, having a shape like the sickle. And, the eight red eyes glare at here.

My body freezes unintentionally to that glance. I understand that my subordinates who have gone ahead tremble. Even though I directed them to be prepared no matter what happens. This can't be helped. If such a thing appears suddenly, it's rather impossible to not tremble.

Such monster is like a king who reigns over the place. Just by looking at the appearance, I tremble with fear. It's as the report. I understood it at first glance without the need to appraise it That is not an existence that we can do something about it.

「O-Oooooo?」

I look at the source of the strange groan voice, and Ronant-sama greatly opens his eyes wide and shake himself. Don't tell me even such a powerful person was put to fear? The Haki that the monster emits is not a trivial matter. (TL note: One Piece) Perhaps, it might have the intimidation-type skill, but even it's like that, but I don't think that a powerful person like Ronant-sama can fail in resisting it.

「Ronant-sama?」 「How, how should I say it. Impossible. Impossible. What is this? What is this?」 「Ronant-sama!?!」 「A-Ah. Sorry」 「What's wrong?」 「That monster, it has outrageous amount of skills that are multiple activated continuously in such a natural style. Impossible」

Ronant-sama must be seeing the power of the monster's activated skill that I can't see. It's hard to say that the muttering Ronant-sama has normal mentality. Although it doesn't seem that he's confused by the fear, the situation is not good.

Because the spider monster that was calm a while ago reveal its anger now.

This is bad. It's completely motivated. And, the soldiers that are affected by the anger hold their weapon instinctively. This is not good. If it becomes such a situation, there's no way I can bond a friendship.

The discomfort that attacks me suddenly. This is "Appraisal"? Who? Don't tell me that the monster is appraising here!? That's ridiculous!? I have never heard a monster that can use "Appraisal".

I activate the appraisal stone to confirm it. And, I'm dumbfounded to the appraisal result.

A terrific status. A huge amount of skills. Such a thing, it's impossible to win.

「Wha-!?!」

Apparently, it seems that Ronant-sama has activated the "Appraisal" almost at the same time as me. The voice of surprise leaks from his mouth.

「Ma-Magic Extremity!?!」

It seems that Ronant-sama is paying attention to one of the skills that the monster, Ede Saine has. Certainly, I have not heard and seen of such skill. No, it's not just that. There are many skills that I have not seen before in the Ede Saine up until now. The skills that I have seen before as well, there's a lot of high rank skills.

However, my surprise didn't end there. It's when I'm looking at the skills one by one. The appraisal result disappears suddenly, and a text 『Appraisal was obstructed』 is displayed. Obstructing the "Appraisal"? I have not heard that such thing is possible.

「P-Please wait! Please show it more!」「Ronant-sama! Please return to sanity!」

I scold the frenzied Ronant-sama. And, I shout at the same time.

「Withdraw! There's no way to win! Withdraw at once!」

However, the shout was too late.

Eight people at the most front fall. I don't know what happened. It seemed that the Ede Saine did nothing. However, it was there and only staring at here. With that alone, eight soldiers fell without any harbinger.

Which skill? Because I was not able to confirm all its skills, I don't know what effect it has. However, even if I don't know, the situation has moved.

The Ede Saine begins a strange action as it is. It's peeling off its own skin. The soldiers trembled to the strange spectacle.

The soldier who saw his comrade fall attacks the Ede Saine. However, the sword doesn't reach, and his body broke by the wall of soil that thrusts out from the ground.

Wait. Among the skills that were able to be confirmed, the "Soil Magic" should not be there. Although there's an unknown magic called "Abyss Magic", all the other magics should have been checked. The "Soil Magic" should not have existed in there.

「What!? It can construct magic from scratch without using skill!？」

Ronant-sama shouts. Can such thing be done? No, the Humans strongest magician is showing this much discomposure. It's probably impossible normally.

It's not the time to keep my cards. If I don't use all of my cards, we can't overcome this difficult situation. If everything is used and it's overcome, it can be said that we are lucky.

Summon. My "Summon" skill level is 4. In other words, I can summon 4 monsters in this place. I have no choice but to use these 4 to gain time for the soldiers to escape. How much time can be gain against such monster?

The summoned monsters appear. Bird-type, Kirecock. Turtle-type, Rock Turtle. Tiger-type, Febelt. Water Drake Suiten.

Normally, these are powerful monsters that are too valuable to be used as a sacrificial pawn. Sorry. Go!

At the same time as I make the summoned monsters to attack, I call out to the soldiers for withdrawal again.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? The Labyrinth's Nightmare 4

The labyrinth's nightmare 4.

The labyrinth's nightmare ④

The Wind Magic of the Kirecock hits the Ede Saine directly. Although I was surprised because I never thought that it will hit, I understand the reason why the Ede Saine didn't avoid the attack when the cloud of dust caused by the impact of the magic cleared up. Unhurt. For the Ede Saine, something like the Kirecock's magic is not worth to even avoid it.

However, it was able to gain time. Due to hitting the Kirecock's magic first, the Rock Turtle that's slow was able to reach the front line. The Rock Turtle that has a high defensive ability. The Rock Turtle is made as a shield, and the other three start to attack.

The Wind Magic of the Kirecock rains from the air, and Suiten's water breath explodes. The Febelt attacks immediately after the two attacks hit. The Febelt that's excellent in speed and physical offensive ability springs at the Ede Saine.

And, a spear of soil thrusts the Febelt.

The Febelt was not able to react to the huge spear of soil that spring up from the ground suddenly, and it's skewered. Immediately after that, the flapping Kirecock falls to the ground. As if it's been thrown down. It collides with the ground intensely as it is, and it sinks into the ground while making an unpleasant sound. What happened? The Kirecock is crushed by something invisible as it is.

Meanwhile, Suiten keeps shooting the water breath. However, the Ede Saine doesn't mind it at all. It turns towards Suiten slowly, and Wind Magic was shot.

Not only soil, but also wind!? In the view of the surprised me, the breath is blown off by the Wind Magic, and the appearance of Suiten defeated.

The only one remaining is the Rock Turtle. However, the Rock Turtle doesn't move. It can't move. When I appraise the Rock Turtle after seeing it's state is strange, it has the abnormal condition paralysis before I know. Moreover, all of its status falls rapidly. HP also. The tough Rock Turtle became a corpse at a short time that can even be called as an instant.

The summoned beasts that have get over many difficulties together with me was slaughtered one-sidedly. And yet, the thing ruling me now is not sadness and anger. It's fear. It's pathetic, and it's rude towards the dead summoned beasts.

Although I think about that, I can't fight against the fear that springs up from the bottom of my body. I want to run away from this place quick. However, as a person who leads the unit, I can't run away before my subordinates.

My subordinates began the withdrawal in the time that was gained by the summoned beasts that became sacrifices. However, it's slow. I forcibly return the consciousness of Ronant-sama who loses his sense by hitting him, and make him prepare a large-scale Transfer magic to withdraw with the unit. But still, more time is still needed to make everyone of the unit to fall back to the range of the Transfer.

A few seconds in the meanwhile. In that few seconds, the nightmare occurs.

The magic of soil and wind flies around wildly. Even though it seems that it's shooting at random, each hit kills the soldiers

There's a soldier who falls suddenly too. The mysterious attack that killed the Rock Turtle a while ago. An attack that can even kill the Rock Turtle that has a lot of HP in an instant. The soldiers can't endure even an instant, and fall one after another.

A magic flies towards Ronant-sama who's preparing the Transfer magic. I become resolved to use up my MP, and I summon a monster again to be a substitute for Ronant-sama. The magic that begins to be shot many times. I summon a monster every time.

I take a restorative medicine that recovers MP. I summon while drinking it. My MP that recovers gradually. However, the consumption is more than the recovery.

Magic comes, summon, magic comes, summon. While repeating it, finally, the summoned beast on hand is used up. But still, the magic doesn't stop. Or rather, the number of magics flew is obviously more than the beginning.

When I look at the surroundings wondering why, only Ronant-sama and I survived in this place.

「Ronant-sama」 「It can't be helped. We will return even if it's only both of us」

As Ronant-sama starts to activate the Transfer magic, the Ede Saine has approached to our front.

「Ronant-sama!」 「Ku!？」

The fired spear of darkness. It's a magic filled with a frightening amount of magical power that the soil and wind magic from a while ago are seen as a child's play. It's aiming at Ronant-sama. Because Ronant-sama was concentrating on the magic construction, he can't avoid it. I have used up all of my summoned beasts, so there's nothing that can be used as a shield.

It was an instant. I use my body to stop the spear of darkness. My body bursts open.

The spear of darkness penetrates through my body, and attacks Ronant-sama who's at the back. Ronant-sama's right arm and a part of his side blew off. Because I entered between the spear and Ronant-sama, the trajectory seems to have shifted a little.

Ronant-sama activates Transfer while having an anguish expression. My view distorts. I shut my eyes instinctively, and when I opened my eyes, it was not inside of the labyrinth.

「Eh?」

The person in front of me becomes surprised, and stiffens.

「Someone, those who can use recovery」

Ronant-sama talks to the people in the place while distorting his face in pain.

Here is the empire's magic laboratory, huh? Immediately, the surroundings becomes noisy.

「Endure a little more」

Ronant-sama applies recovery magic on me.

「Although almost half of your upper body was blown off, you did well to still be alive with this」 「Gofu」

Although I thought to say something, blood came out of my mouth.

「After all, I have to return the hit from you. So, don't die until then, okay?」

My body recovers little by little. My HP also has escaped from the critical area.

Treatment is also given to Ronant-sama after the people who can use recovery magic.

I take a breath of relief, and became exhausted. Although there's a large sacrifice, we survived.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 147

Chapter 147. Kumoko's POV.

147 So, this is the possibility that a person has

For the time being, "Evil Eye of Grudge" loaded in eight eyes. I activate it properly from somewhere near. When it's activated, they died instantly. Although I think that you don't know what I'm saying, I also don't know what have happened. It's not something shoddy like fragile or weak. I tasted that I thought that it was the Owata style. (TL note: From what I found, this Owata style is where the controlled game character is killed instantly just by receiving a damage. Something like a game mode, I think)

No no. Aren't you guys too weak?

When I thought about it, I leveled up. Furthermore, it's two.

What? Um, even though they are this weak, such a large amount of experience points enter? Although I have defeated 8 people by now, the experience points obtained per person is higher than a Greater Taratect.

Seriously. Certainly, they have a lot of skills, and I thought that the experience points seems to be a lot, but it's up to here.

Crap. Human experience point is too delicious. Suddenly, my motivation came out.

For the time being, I take off the skin after shedding. If I think about it, doesn't this becomes a striptease in a certain meaning? How pointless.

Ah, when I was thinking such a foolish thing, they come at me recklessly. Although I can do it quickly, I will have you guys to accompany me for a little experiment here.

Magic is constructed. It was the magic that I have seen a lot of times a while ago. I make the magic relying on my memory. And, I activate the completed magic.

The "Earth Magic", Earth Wall.

Even if I don't have the skill, I can do it if it's only the activation of the magic. However, it's definitely easier to activate if I have the skill because the system will assist.

If I were to compare it, it's like moving on foot and moving by train. Reach the destination while confirming the road on foot and reach the destination automatically by train. When saying which is easier, it's obviously the train. However, it's possible to walk to there.

Acquiring the magic skill means acquiring the automatic construction of the magic. Then, I only need to make the acquired construction. In other words, if I know the construction, I can do the same thing.

In the middle of the fight with Alaba, I looked at this magic construction to the extent that I can hate it. Then, reproducing it should be possible.

Although I thought so, I was able to reproduce it unexpectedly easy when I try it. Is this also thanks to "Magic Extremity"?

The Knight-kun who got pushed up by the wall that appears from his feet. Wow. He has become the strange state that can't be said with the mouth. Namu Namu.

The summoner is shouting something. Oh? Something is being summoned. Bird, turtle, tiger, and Drake? Ah. Although it might be a coincidence, it's like the four gods said to rule over the four directions. But, this is a little different.

First of all, the bird. Whole body black. I think that it should be red. And, the attribute that it uses is not fire but wind.

The turtle. Come to think of it, I did defeat you when you're a child turtle long ago in the upper layer. You have grown up. Rather than that, Turtle, you're like a rock. It's not a turtle carrying a rock, but the existence itself is already a rock.

The tiger. Why is it pink? You, are you fine with that? Isn't the tiger the king of the jungle? Is it fine for a king to be in such pink color?

And, the Drake. The only Drake part of you is the skill. Your appearance is a blowfish. Are you a blowfish? You have poison unexpectedly, so you're not a Drake but a blowfish, right?

They are full of points to be retorted. Well, they are fairly strong though. When only the status is seen, they are stronger than the person who summoned them. If it's the highest status, it exceeds 800. But, the skills are fewer than the people.

The bird comes and uses Wind Magic. So, it can use magic. As expected, when it was raised by people, its brain will somewhat improve.

I don't have the resistance for wind, and it won't deal a great damage even if it hits, so I guess I should receive it purposely to acquire the resistance. Ouch. It was a little painful. As expected, the resistance can't be acquired with just one hit.

The wind and water attacks me at the same time. I don't have resistance for water too, so let's receive it.

Ah, the tiger has plunge in. Because it's pointless to receive this guy's attack, I don't need it. I activate the Earth Spear that I got used to seeing it in the Alaba battle.

《Skill proficiency reached. Acquired skill 『Soil Magic LV1』》

Oh? Huh? Even though I'm using the "Earth Magic", the one I acquired is the "Soil Magic" that's the lower one. Ah, so that means even if I use "Earth Magic", the skill that accumulates the skill proficiency is "Soil Magic"? Hmm. Although it's a good discovery that I can acquire magic that I don't have if I construct magic from scratch, the magic acquired is the lowest rank magic in the group of that magic.

Oh, well. If I can acquire magic skills without paying any point, it's definitely better to do that. As expected, it's easier to construct when I have the skill, the power and accuracy also increase.

Ah, then, I should also copy the bird's Wind Magic. I understand the rough composition because I have been seeing it since a while ago. If I can use the "Wind Magic", there's no need to acquire the resistance purposely now.

Thus, Bird, your role has already ended. The bird is knock down by "Evil Eye of Magnetism".

I try the "Wind Magic" on the blowfish. Ah, success success. If I continue to use it, I'm sure that I will acquire the skill.

The last is the Rock Turtle, huh? Certainly, its defensive ability is high, but compared with the Earth Dragons, well. It has a lot of SP uselessly, so I absorb it with "Evil Eye of Grudge".

Thank you for the meal. While I was fighting against the Four Gods(lol), the knights try to run away. I won't let you, Experience Points.

In order to accumulate skill proficiency, I mainly use the soil and wind magic. I reduce the number with the Evil Eyes while using magic.

Hmm? That magician, he's trying to transfer? Moreover, isn't that the high rank large-scale Transfer? You intend to run away with everyone.

The Evil Eyes are out of range, huh? Let's snipe with magic. Ah, the summoner blocks it. Not bad.

The summoner summons monsters desperately to block my magic sniping. Immediately after he drank something, his MP recovers little by little. Is it the MP restorative medicine? To have such a convenient goods. Humans are dirty, it's indeed dirty.

Although the surrounding knights are settled, those two might be able to run away. I think I should stop sniping, and shoot a huge one.

Dash. If it's this distance, it's faster to dash rather than transferring. I move to the front of the summoner and the magician.

Darkness Spear activate.

It's different from the skill proficiency accumulating a while ago. It's the highest level of magic that the present me can use. I will kill the magician with this first. After that, I can just boil or roast the summoner as I please.

When thinking about that, the summoner used his body to protect the magician. Although the Darkness Spear penetrates through the summoner's body and wound the magician, they ran away with Transfer at the last moment.

Ah. They ran away. Oh, well. Because I have marked them, I can kill them any time.

Besides, I have gain a lot of experience points, and my level rose considerably.

『Evolution Possible: Zana Horowa』

To the extent that it's possible to evolve.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 148

Chapter 148.

148 I'm going to evolve! Part 5

Well. I'm exhilarated. I never thought that I can gain so much experience points by killing people. Well, if I think about it, it's natural, but when it's this much, I can't stop my laughter.

The number of the defeated this time is 28 people with 6 level up. Although I let the summoner and the magician to get away, I can kill them any time because I have marked them. Similarly, the four people that escape by running also can be killed any time because I have marked them. I have enough time even after evolution.

The evolution this time is pretty much the final one. Equal rank to Mother as a monster. Well, because there's a difference in the years lived, Mother is absolutely stronger if I fight it directly. But still, there's the deep emotion that I climbed to the top from being the weakest.

Even if I say that, I have a further top. Even if it's the highest rank monster in the world, it's only connecting until evolving into the Arachne for me. And, the Arachne is also only connects to reach the Administrator. There's still a long way ahead.

But, when thinking about the efficiency of human experience points, it might end unexpectedly fast. I gain this much of experience points just by killing 28 people, so if I kill about 1000 people, my level seems to rise in a blink of an eye. To be frank, hunting human is absolutely better than working hard in a mortal combat with the Earth Dragon.

If there's a problem, it's Gyurigyuri. He's probably observing me, so he should know that "Taboo" has reached max level. Defeat Alaba and humans, and if I start the human slaughter on top of that, he should know my purpose. I think that he will come and stop me while he understands it. He's really a troublesome guy. Even though there's no significance to stop me.

Umu. Here, should I wait for a subjugation unit to be formed rather than striking them? Because I let the summoner and the magician to get away, won't the next unit that comes to subjugate me will be more stronger? Then, if I attack them back, "Oh wow, weird". Legitimate self-defense. It's not bad. Perfect.

Yosh. Let's wait in the labyrinth for the subjugation unit to come for a while. Kukuku. You should come over nonchalantly without knowing that you were lured. Fuhehe.

Meanwhile, I guess I can go defeat the Earth Dragon if I'm free.

For the time being, things in the future are decided to be such feeling, let's make preparations to evolve. I recover the scattered corpses. I leave it together with the Arch.

And, I set up threads to surround the Arch. The Arch is huge after all. This is a great hard labor.

Fuu. Complete. Although it doesn't exceed the simple level, if it's only for evolving, this is enough. The home has been burnt, so I must make a new bed with the outlook of moving. Ah, but if I move, the subjugation unit can't come. Hmm. Should I even make a dummy bed? But, if I make such a thing, isn't it better to just live in there?

Ah, but, it's dangerous if I stay at the same place too long. Ah, although I remembered it because of that, how's the "Parallel Will" when evolving? They are almost already physically independent of me. What will happen if I enter the evolution state?

Oh, well. Even if they are forced to enter the sleep mode as me, they won't die. It should be impossible to erase them in reality unless the power outside of the system is used. If the main body me don't die.

Thus, let's evolve.

《Individual Ede Saine evolves into Zana Horowa》

Yes Sir.

Huh? If it's the usual, I should lose my consciousness in this timing, but I don't feel sleepy.

Ah, is it possibly the "Sleep Nullity"? The skill acquired from the Ruler of Sloth title, "Sleep Nullity". This skill doesn't only nullify the sleep attribute attack, but the bad condition by not sleeping disappears. The penalty is not generated even if 24 hours all the year. Moreover, because I can sleep normally when I want to sleep, it's a convenient skill. Perhaps, thanks to this skill, I think that I evade the fainting when evolving.

However, this is the evolution, huh? A strange feeling. Although it doesn't bothers me at all, it's like a feeling of my body being remake from the inside. Like being a completely different thing. But, there's no unpleasant feelings like mystery and fear.

《Evolution completed》《Became the Zana Horowa species》《Every basic ability rose》《Level Up Bonus:Skill Proficiency was acquired》

After that, the skills level up in succession. Oh. Although I understood that the skills rise when evolving, when I hear it like this, a great amount of skills leveled up.

《Acquired skill 『Immortality』 by evolution》《Skill points gained》

Hmm? Hmmm? Hmmm!?

Somehow just now, I have a feeling that I heard something terrible that I must not miss. What was it? What did I acquired?

『Immortality: Impossible to die in the system』

Oiiiiiiiiiiii!?! Are you okay with it!?! This is the bad one!?! Something like inserting such a thing lightly, that D, how idiot is she?

Fine, I will take it! I will take it gratefully! Iyahhou! With this, only Gyurigyuri can defeat me! Isn't it fine for me to get carried away? Uehehehehehehe!

A plop sound is heard. A smartphone fell there.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 149

Chapter 149. Conversation with D.

149 Hello, this is the Evil God

I didn't saw anything. I see nothing.

『Hello. This is D』

Aaaa. I don't hear anything.

『Ah, what do we have here. Somehow, there's a spider self-destruction button on my hand.』

I'm sorry, forgive me! Or rather, what's with that button!? When did you made it!?

『It's a joke. There's no such thing. Even without it, I can at least turn the spider into a dirty fireworks』

U-Um. I can't feel relieved at all.

『Don't worry. I won't do anything that will kill an amusing person like you』

Ah, is that so? I'm honored. Then, bye.

『Self-destruction』

I'm sorry!

『It's a joke. Joke』

I don't seem to hear it as a joke at all when it's said in a monotonous voice.

『I'm often said that』

So, what do you really want?

『Just a mere celebration that you attained immortality』

Ah. Hey, why did you make such a skill?

『What do you think that a person will aim after the person is satisfied?』

Eh?

『Wealth, fame, military power, authority, and immortality. No matter which world it is, the people will only aim for those. And, when they know that it's really obtainable, what do you think they will do?』

They will probably try to obtain it by all means. Ah, I see.

『That's how it is. Even if they understand that they can't reach it, people wants to depend on it. At all cost. And, they will work hard and even harder, and die without obtaining it in the end. As for the fruits of their hard work, the Administrators take it. Don't you think that it's very efficient?』

As usual, you have a bad personality.

『I'm the Evil God after all』

Then, I have also obtained that, so what does this means?

『The Zana Horowa is originally set as an immortal monster after all. I didn't expect that there's an individual that will really evolve into it』

Hey. It was a monster that must not be evolved.

『It's not wrong to evolve it. However, the first which is the Zoa Ere is a species that generates very rare, so even if it's generated, it was designed to die before it evolves』

Eh? What's that?

『The Zoa Ere has the Corrosion Attack, right? But, there was no Corrosion Resistance』

Eh? Is that so?

『Yes. Therefore, the normal Zoa Ere will die at the moment it used the Corrosion Attack. You are lucky to have the resistance』

How close!? Seriously. So, I was close to death before I knew it.

『Thanks to the resistance you have, the sickle ended to the extent that it can't be used. If it's the usual, it will be an instant death』

What a defective product.

『Kill the opponent and oneself will also die. Because of such state, it's said that it's the monster that symbolized sinister』

Ah. Now that you say that, it sure is sinister. It's an extreme nuisance.

『The true nature of Ede Saine doesn't change too, and it obtained the more powerful Evil Eye of Extinction. It dies before it evolves』

Is there an individual that evolve into the Zana Horowa up until now?

『There's none. Congratulations. You became the world's only unique monster. Clap clap』

Although I'm happy, when it's said by you, somehow, I can't feel happy.

『Even though I'm here to bless you specially』

No, after all, when I see the this or that up until now, well.

『I'm the Evil God after all』

Haa. "Taboo" and "Immortality", your personality is really bad.

『I will be glad if you could say it a little with elegance. For example, pure malice』

At the point you say it yourself, it's already an out. You are too nasty.

『Don't you think that Taboo is a well-done system?』

I don't think so. Although it ended with only unpleasant feelings because I'm a half outsider, won't the residents in this world will go mad when "Taboo" reached max level?

『The people who maxed Taboo in the past don't receive a decent death』

That's obvious.

『It's Taboo, that's why that sort of thing is included』

Seriously, it's nasty. Well, I guess those are the consequences when you do bad things.

『So, you've learned contents of Taboo, and now here we are』

Yeah. I think that something is wrong even if I say so myself. If it was the old me, I would just say something like "This is none of my business," then sleep all day.

『It's probably because of the way you've been using Parallel Will』

I'm sure it is.

『I'm saying this because you don't seem to realize it, but that's an attack outside of the system, you know?』

Ah, seriously?

『At the very least, I don't remember designing the skill to do something like that』

Oh. In other words, I'm approaching the domain of God?

『Yes』

Fufufu. This seems that I'm close to the day when I become the God.

『I expect it』

No, I wanted you to retort me rather than ignoring me splendidly.

『It's my true feelings. I'm expecting you to reach our area』

Are you serious?

『Yes』

What's your purpose?

『I should have said it. It's entertainment』

Ah, yeah. It was like that.

『Because I feel good today, I will give you a little service by lecturing you』

Seriously!?

『Yes. If it's within the range that I can tell, I will teach you about various things about this world』

Oh, seriously. Then, what should I ask?

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 150

Chapter 150. D's identity is revealed. Only a little though.

150 You're just the Hero and the Demon King, don't get cocky!

First, why did I reincarnate into this world?

『Ah. I will explain it in detail from the beginning. First of all, you died in the Earth's Japan. Are you fine here?』

Yes. As expected, I have died. I thought of it before.

『About the cause of the death, the previous Hero and Demon King are related to it』

Eh? Why can the Hero and the Demon King of this world interfere the Earth?

『Both the previous Hero and Demon King are genius that can use Dimension Magic. They modify the Dimension Magic, and a magic that can cross over the wall of the world was made』

Can such thing be done?

『It's possible. There's no reason that it can't be done. However, The system assistance will not work on a technique outside of the system. The residents in this world that got accustomed to the system assistance can't control such an advanced magic formula. As a result, the magic formula explodes accidentally. When the dimension is crossed, a part of the MA area is destroyed, and it exploded in a certain high school classroom in Japan after crossing the wall of the world』

Uwa. What a nuisance to others. Destroying the MA area, are they stupid? Then, what am I who died because of that?

『Indeed. Thanks to that, I was made to check and repair the world system that I left it as it is after I made it』

Saying something like you left it.

『I have said it, right? That I'm an outsider in the world. The one who manage the world is only the world's Administrators. Although I offered the system, I don't do anything further』

Even though you say that, you have been interfering recently.

『It can't be helped. Even though it's the result of the reckless Hero and Demon King in the world, it killed the innocent high school students and drag them into the system after all. I'm a part of the cause, so I think that I should do the minimum follow-up as the system constructor』

Hmm? A part of the cause? High school students?

『There are 25 former earthlings that have reincarnated into the world now. The classroom is cruelly destroyed, and there was no survivor. And, by the impact at that time, the souls of the dead at that time flow backward by the world system and everyone was reincarnated in the world. I protect the dismantled souls, and I gave the  $n\%I=V$  skill so that they can live in the world with their memories and the soul's power. Then, I look at everyone's suitability, give a suitable skill one by one, and mediate as much as possible to reincarnate everyone into the race that the soul's wavelength is near. With this, I think that I have done the lowest follow-up』

Eh, seriously? So, there were people other than me. Hmm? How many people was there in our class? Certainly, it's 25 people, right? And, when the teacher is included, isn't it 26 people? One person insufficient?

『Ah. That's me』

It's you!? Eh? Were you in that classroom?

『Yes. That's why, the magic of the Hero and the Demon King opened in that classroom.』

Eh? By the way, what's your name?

『That's a secret.』

Eh? Who? Was there such a person?

『Well, leaving aside my story. Because I who is the system's top Administrator was in that classroom, that accident happened. That's why, I also have a part of the cause. I interfere the world in this way to take the responsibility』

Haan. So that's why I have the "Idaten" by nature. But, what about "Wisdom"? From what I heard so far, at the point when everyone was reincarnated, your responsibility seemed to be over from what you are saying.

『I have said it at that time. It's a reward for working hard』

Ah, I see. I will thank you just in case. Thank you.

『You're welcome』

So, why did you give me "Wisdom", and after maxing my "Taboo", you ask me to save this world?

『I never said such thing. It's free for you to do anything you want in that world. I won't stop you and direct you. I'm just an onlooker』

I hope that it's so.

『There's no trust』

After all, you're the Evil God.

『You're not wrong』

Ah, that's right. What did the Hero and the Demon King wanted to do until they do such a stupid thing?

『Probably, they want to defeat me』

Why?

『There seems to be a power that considers the Administrators to be an enemy. The previous Hero and Demon King might have been tempted by them』

The idiots that can't be saved, huh? Aaaa. To die because I was drag into the misfortune accident by those guys. It's the worst.

『Well, because I have done the follow-ups, it's your choice to do whatever you want in the different world』

Ah, un. Yeah. Thank you for working at that area in spite of the Evil God. Seriously, I was saved.

『You're welcome』

So, who are the guys who tempt the Hero and the Demon King?

『Because it doesn't seem to be interesting if I tell you, please confirm it with your eyes』

Uwa. Keeping it in suspense there?

『Because it seems interesting that way』

How ill-natured. By the way, you said that everyone is reincarnated into the race near to the soul's wavelength, but I'm a spider, right?

『You're a spider』

My soul is near the spider?

『Your wavelength must be very match. As for the others, most of them reincarnate into the Humans』

No!? Why!? Why is it a spider!? If possible, I also wanted to be born as a human! A death survival from the moment I was born, it's too eventful!

『However, because you are born as a spider, you have a head start to be possible to act like this, so it's hard to say that it's a failure』

Head start?

『Yes. The others are still babies』

A-Ah. I see. So, not much time has passed since I was born.

『Although there's that too, you were born earlier than the Humans. When saying from the calculations of years in the Earth, you were born roughly half a year earlier than them』

I see. Then, that means I grow up quickly with a half year head start while they are saying "Babubabu" in baby.

『Yes. Do you have any other questions?』

Then, why did you make such a troublesome thing like the system? Even if you don't make such a thing, if it's you, weren't you able to do something?

『There's no meaning to do something about it. I'm the Evil God after all』

Well, is that so?

『I will look at your actions interestingly from now on』

No, don't see.

『Of course I will see. I look at you while playing game with potato chips on one of my hand』

What's with that luxury Are you still in Japan?

『Yes』

I'm jealous!

『Potato chips are delicious. Ah, there was a new ice cream. I will eat it later』

Just die! Ice cream!

『See you later』

The smartphone disappears. She only chatted, and disappeared.

『Zana Horowa LV1 No name Status HP: 4293／4293 (Green) + 1800 (Details) (1801 up) MP: 13292／13292 (Blue) + 1800 (Details) (4182 up) SP: 2873／2873 (Yellow) (Details) (1060 up) : 1445／2873 (Red) + 0 (Details) (1060 up) Average Offensive Ability: 2833 (Details) (1141 up) Average Defensive Ability: 2904 (Details) (1141 up) Average Magic Ability: 12599 (Details) (3841 up) Average Resistance Ability: 12545 (Details) (3841 up) Average Speed Ability: 8361 (Details) (2821 up) Skill 「High-speed HP Recovery LV9 (2 up)」 「Magic Extremity」 「Magic God Act LV3 (1 up)」 「Magic Granting LV8 (1 up)」 「Offensive Magic Power LV1 (new)」 「High-speed SP Recovery LV2 (1 up)」 「Great SP Consumption Down LV2 (1 up)」 「Enhanced Destruction LV7 (1 up)」 「Enhanced Slashing LV9 (1 up)」 「Great Enhanced Abnormal Condition LV2 (1 up)」 「War God Spirit LV1 (new)」 「Vitality Granting LV6 (1 up)」 「Dragon Power LV8 (1 up)」 「Deadly Poison Attack LV7 (1 up)」 「Corrosion Attack LV5 (1 up)」 「Heresy Attack LV6」 「Poison Synthesis LV10」 「Medicine Synthesis LV8 (1 up)」 「Thread Genius LV1 (new)」 「Universal Thread LV7 (1 up)」 「Thread Manipulation LV10」 「Telekinesis LV3 (2 up)」 「Throw LV10」 「Shoot LV4 (2 up)」 「Space Maneuver LV9 (1 up)」 「Concentration LV10」 「Super Thought Acceleration LV1 (new)」 「Future Vision LV1 (new)」 「Parallel Will LV8 (1 up)」 「High-speed Calculation LV7 (1 up)」 「Accuracy LV10」 「Evasion LV10」 「Probability Correction LV9 (2 up)」 「Stealth LV10」 「Camouflage LV3 (2 up)」 「Silent LV9 (1 up)」 「Tyrant LV2 (1 up)」 「Conviction」 「Hell」 「Degeneration」 「Immortality (new)」 「Heresy Magic LV10」 「Wind Magic LV1 (new)」 「Soil Magic LV2 (new)」 「Shadow Magic LV10」 「Dark Magic LV10」 「Darkness Magic LV5 (3 up)」 「Poison Magic LV10」 「Treatment

Magic LV10」 「Space Magic LV10」 「Dimension Magic LV5 (1 up)」 「Abyss Magic LV10」 「Patience」 「Pride」 「Anger LV4 (2 up)」 「Satiation LV8 (1 up)」 「Sloth」 「Wisdom」 「Destruction Resistance LV6 (1 up)」 「Blunt Resistance LV7 (2 up)」 「Slash Resistance LV7 (2 up)」 「Flame Resistance LV3 (1 up)」 「Soil Resistance LV1 (new)」 「Great Heavy Resistance LV2 (1 up)」 「Abnormal Condition Nullity (new)」 「Acid Resistance LV7 (1 up)」 「Paralysis Resistance LV8 (1 up)」 「Faint Resistance LV6 (1 up)」 「Great Fear Resistance LV1 (new)」 「Heresy Nullity」 「Pain Nullity」 「Great Pain Alleviation LV5」 「Night Vision LV10」 「Clairvoyance LV8」 「Evil Eye of Grudge LV7 (1 up)」 「Evil Eye of Stasis LV6 (1 up)」 「Evil Eye of Magnetism LV3 (2 up)」 「Evil Eye of Extinction LV4 (1 up)」 「Great Enhanced Five Senses LV2 (1 up)」 「Perception Range Expansion LV6 (1 up)」 「Divinity Area Expansion LV7 (1 up)」 「Divine Magic」 「Destiny LV3」 「Body Flicker LV8 (1 up)」 「Durability LV8 (1 up)」 「Fortitude LV3 (1 up)」 「Fortress LV3 (1 up)」 「Idaten LV7」 「Taboo LV10」 「 $n\%I=W$ 」 Skill points: 3600 Title 「Gross Feeder」 「Blood Relative Eater」 「Assassin」 「Monster Killer」 「Poison Technique User」 「Thread User」 「Merciless」 「Monster Slaughterer」 「Ruler of Pride」 「Ruler of Patience」 「Ruler of Wisdom」 「Drake Killer」 「Fear Bringer」 「Dragon Killer」 「Ruler of Sloth」 「Natural Calamity of Monster」 「Conqueror (new)」 』

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter S22

Shun 22.

S22 To the Elf Village

Sensei received a report that the army has invaded the Elf Village with Distant Communication. The flag that the army raised is Rengzant Empire. It was the army led by Yuugo.

Sensei receives the report, and declared to return to the Elf Village without hesitation.

「Yuugo can't be neglected anymore. I will return to the Elf Village and intercept him」

The eyes that's full of Sensei's determination. Hyrinth-san opened his mouth as if he's obstructing it.

「So? How do you go to the Elf Village?」

The Elf Village location is further inside the deep forest, and it's in the place called the holy ground. The holy ground is at the central part of the Kasanagara continent, and it's located near the Demons territory. And, now we are at the Dastordia continent. There was an outrageous gap of distance.

「No matter how you estimate it, it takes dozens of days to reach the Elf Village from here unless Transfer is used. Even if you go from now, it should already ended by the time you arrive」

As what Hyrinth-san said, there's no way we can reach there no matter how we work hard unless Transfer is used. Although there's a transfer circle in the royal castle, when we rescued Leston-niisama and the others, we confirmed that the transfer circle has stopped functioning. Although it's not completely broken, advanced technique seemed to be required to restore it. There's no one that can do it among these members.

「It's all right. As long as I can cross to the Kasanagara continent, there's a transfer circle that the Elves hold in secret」

So, there's such thing. The transfer circle is rare among the magic tools, and it's regarded as more important than the high level appraisal stone. To have such thing in secret. The Elves' organizational capability might be higher than I thought.

But, when I think about it, because they can even gathered us who have reincarnated on their own, it's not strange that they have such a thing.

「However, even if it's used, it will still take more than ten days. Although I don't know when the empire army will reach the Elf Village, there's a report about it, so that means the march begins steadily to that extent. I don't think that you can make it in time」 「Certainly, I won't be in time for the outbreak of the war. However, there's a powerful barrier at the Elf Village, and there's also the fortress of nature called the forest. It's impossible for the Elf Village to fall until I reach there」

Sensei who declares it. I guess she is very confident of the defense of the Elf Village.

「Rather, the problem is that the empire army might withdraw before I arrive」
「Why can you declare it to that extent?」 「While being at a place near both the Humans and the Demons, the result of impregnable is not just for a show.」 「I see」

Hyrinth-san looks at me once.

「And, how do you cross to the Kasanagara continent?」 「The only way is to pass through the Elro Great Labyrinth」 「Do you think that it's possible?」 「I don't know」

The Elro Great Labyrinth. Roughly the only path that connects the continents other than the Transfer. The sea is the base of the powerful Water Dragons, there's no one who succeeded in a voyage. It's said that even if a person flies, the person will be shot down without care.

The Elro Great Labyrinth is a huge labyrinth that connects such both continents through the underground. It's said that because it's huge, if there's no guide, it's impossible to get out forever. In addition, numerous monsters inhabiting there use poison, so it will become the worst situation if measures are not taken. This world's largest labyrinth is also the labyrinth prod of the world's worst difficulty simultaneously. However, if a person follows the guide's directions and pass through the proper route, the danger is little. Originally.

「There might be an ambush at doorway of the labyrinth」 「Yeah」

From the importance of the Elro Great Labyrinth, the doorway is strictly guarded. The reason why there's no Demons in the Dastordia continent is because they are not allowed to pass through the Elro Great Labyrinth. For us who have become wanted people, it's difficult to enter and to go out. If a unit that clearly aims at us is stationed there, then it's all the more.

「Shun, what do you want to do?」 「Eh?」 「Oka-san intend to go to the Elf Village alone. I'm asking what Shun wants to do」

Huh? I intended to go with Sensei normally though. Is it different?

「Eh? I intend to go with Sensei though」

A grand sigh leaked from Hyrinth-san's mouth for some reason.

「Shun, do you understand your position?」 「Eh?」 「Currently, we are in the position being chased globally with the sin of national treason. And the principal offender is said to be Shun, right?」 「A-Ah」 「Is it necessary for you to go to the Elf Village nonchalantly?」

I think. Certainly, I understand Hyrinth-san's point. I don't have the obligation to protect the Elves. If seeing from Hyrinth-san.

「Hyrinth-san. There are friends of the same town as me before reincarnation in the Elf Village. I can't abandon them」

Hyrinth-san is surprised at my words, and sends a glance to Sensei. And, Sensei affirmed it with a nod.

「In addition, I must settle it with Yuugo」

Did he feel my determination? Hyrinth-san closed his eyes once and nodded.

「I understand. If Shun says so, I have no objection. I will follow in order to protect you」
「Thank you」
「Of course I will go too」

Katia appeals her existence as if agreeing with Hyrinth-san. To be honest, I don't want to take Katia along into the battlefield because I'm worried about her, but now that we have come this far, Katia will not draw back. Katia is considerably strong, and if she always follows near me, rare things won't happen. Even if it happens, I can use the resurrection by "Kindness". Although it's dangerous to rely on it too much, it's far better than nothing.

Although the resurrection of "Kindness" is seen as a cheat skill, the fact is that the use is quite limited. First of all, it's ineffective if it's not immediately after the person died. If it's not resurrected within roughly five minutes after death, there's no effect. When Father was killed, if I resurrect him at the very beginning, this might not happen. However, I suffered a defeat by Yuugo and got wounded at that time. If I'm not in perfect condition, the resurrection will not success. And, even if I resurrect, I can't resurrect if the former body is completely destroyed. If I don't clear these conditions, I can't resurrect.

Besides, if I resurrect another person, "Taboo" will become level 10. When "Taboo" becomes level 10, a frightening thing seems to happen. If possible, I want to avoid it, but if my comrades are sacrificed, I will probably execute resurrection without hesitating.

「Unfortunately, I'm a burden in combat. I will remain here, and advance the preparations for the royal capital recapture」

Leston-niisama said so and selected to stay.

「Then, I will devote myself to the assistance of Leston-sama. I don't think that my power is useful from now on」

It seems that Clevea will remain with Niisama.

「Please let me go with Shurein-sama」

Anna said so with an obsessed expression To be honest, it was unexpected that Anna said so. Because Anna is a Half Elf. And, we are heading to the Elf Village after this.

It's the Elf's exclusive race. Even if the Half Elves that should be half of the same race, they won't accept them. It might be simply because they are half same. Anyway, the Half Elves born in the Elf Village grow up with ashamed feelings, and when they reach the point that they can support themselves, they will be driven out of the village without discussions. In harsh case, it's said that they might be thrown out while they are still babies.

Anna spends her childhood in the Elf Village, and she has a past of being driven out to the Humans territory. The Elf Village should have been a place without good memories for Anna. And that Anna says that she wants to follow to the Elf Village.

「Anna. There's no need to force yourself, you know?」 「No. I'm not forcing myself. I just can't forgive myself like this. Please take me along with you」

Anna who's ghastly. Speaking frankly, this condition is dangerous. She is mentally cornered. Leave her here or take her along, both are not good. Then, it's better to appoint her in a noticeable place.

「I understand」 「Shun」 「It's okay. Anna, don't force yourself and please always be with me」 「Yes」

I answer Katia who turns a criticism glance with my gaze. Although it has become the feeling that holds a troublesome thing, Anna is an excellent magician in the Humans. If her mind is stable, it should be all right. I will watch her well until then.

I think that the position was reversed suddenly. In the old days, Anna protects me and taught me about various things. This time, it's my turn to protect Anna.

「Now that it's decided, let's start the action at once」

Everyone start to move by Hyrinth-san's command. First of all, we have to reach the Elro Great Labyrinth. It will start from there.

That night, Katia visited my room.

「What's wrong?」 「No, I thought that there's something that I must tell you」

I prepare myself because it doesn't seems to be a good thing just by looking at Katia's strangely awkward face.

「You heard the story of the missing students from Sensei, right?」 「Ah」 「Among that, four people have already died」 「I see」

I have expected it to some extent. Although I expected it, when I hear it like this, I'm shocked.

「Why saying such thing now?」 「If we go to the Elf Village, we will meet with our old friends, right? I thought that it should be better for you to at least know the name of the dead ones before that」 「I see, thank you. You know that I will feel depressed when I hear about it, so you never told me until now, right?」 「Yeah」 「Please tell me. Who died?」 「I will say it from the one with good relations. First of all, Kogure」

Kogure. I see, I can never meet him again.

「He was a crybaby even though he's a high school student」 「Ah. When Kogure lost in rock, paper, scissors game and was chosen for the person in charge of the living thing that nobody wants to do, he seriously cried」 「Saying that "It's impossible". Other than that, coming to school crying and saying that his game console was broken」 「Ah, right」

We talk about Kogure for a while.

「Next is Hayashi」 「The table tennis club?」 「Yeah, that Hayashi」 「Although our relations were not so good, I remember that he hustled me during the table tennis class of physical education」 「Me too. Usually he's not so cheerful, and at the moment he holds a paddle, his personality changed」 「He hit a smash while shouting Sure-kill Tornado Smash」 「I laughed at that」

「Next is Wakaba-san」 「Eh? That whole school bishoujo?」 「Yeah」 「It's a world loss」 「Right. Even though she's taciturn and expressionless, her presence is amazing」 「She was the idol of our school after all. The point is also high that she was nonathletic unexpectedly」

「The last one is Sakurasaki」 「Natsume, a friend of Yuugo, huh?」 「Ah. he's Natsume's stopper, and he's the only one who can talk to that guy equally」 「When Natsume seems to be reckless, he always intervened casually」 「Furthermore, he come an apologize in secret later. Saying that Ken has did something bad」 「I see. Because there's no Sakurasaki-kun, I wonder if Yuugo became like that」 「Who knows」 「I wonder why. Why did he become like that? Everyone should have been doing well in Japan」 「We were reborn in a different world. Everyone will change. Yuugo just changed in the bad way. That's all」 「Katia doesn't change」 「Do you really think so?」

I'm shocked at the glance of Katia who says so.

「Say, how am I reflected in your eyes?」 「How?」 「Is the one that you are seeing is Katia? Or, is it Kanata?」 「Eh? What do you mean?」

Katia is Kanata, so both should be the same. I don't know what Katia wants to say.

「Haa. Well, fine. Do I really looked unchanged? Or, did you persuade yourself that I'm unchanged?」 「Well. Sorry」

I apologize to Katia who seems to be in a bad mood somehow.

「It's fine. I understand that you are such a guy」 「What do you mean?」 「You dullard」 「Isn't that harsh!?!」 「It's not harsh. You cheat bug dullard」 「Isn't it harsher!?!」 「Leaving that aside, I find that you are more strange that you don't change at all」 「Is that so?」 「Yeah. Do you really understand the present situation?」 「Of course I do」 「Then, why can you be so natural?」 「Is there something bad about it?」 「It's not bad. But, think about it properly. Your biological parent is killed, your half younger sister is kidnapped, and you are driven out of your birthplace. And, you are going to fight with the person who wreck your birthplace from now on. And yet, why can you stay calm like that?」 「That's」

I wonder why. Now that you say that, it's so. Normally, if it becomes such a situation, either despair or get angry and lose control of myself. And yet, I feel nothing. No, I feel it. Only sad. But, something is different in this sadness. I'm not sad because of my circumstances. This is,

『Sad』

Yeah, sad.

『The world is ugly』

Yeah, the world overflows with fights, it's ugly and that's sad.

「Shun?」 「Eh?」 「What's wrong? Being absentminded」 「A-Ah. No, it's nothing」 「Is that so? If you are tired, sleep, okay?」 「Yeah. I will do so」 「Ah. Then, I have disturbed you」

Katia leaves the room. I'm aware that my back is sweating damply. Why? What on earth is that a while ago?

What on earth happened to me?

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 151

Chapter 151. It's finally the time to go out.

151 Outside

Several days passed after I evolved. Meanwhile, I watch over the four people who I let go escape from the labyrinth while I hunt in the lower layer. I leave the magician and the summoner who escaped with Transfer for a while. I intend to let them swim until a subjugation unit comes.

And, about the four people who ran away, naturally, they should head towards the exit. I judge that I can reach the exit of this labyrinth if I follow the four people who I marked while hunting in the lower layer. If I go after the two people who escaped with Transfer by Transfer, I can go outside. But, I want to grasp the exit's location properly. Thus, I think that I will keep the group of 4 until they reach the exit.

Immediately after evolving, I chat with D and spend my time leisurely, after that, I eat, then spend my time leisurely again. Well, I have eaten it. Finally, I have done it. Un, I will only say that it was very delicious.

I decided to rebuild the home in the same place for the time being. It should still be all right even if I stay here.

After that, I return to the lower layer to raise my level. As expected, after evolving into the highest rank, the rise of the level is slower than before. Because the level will reset to 1 immediately after evolution up until now, the rise of the level is faster than before evolution to some extent, but it's not so fast this time. Although the necessary experience points decreased compared with before evolution, it still requires a great amount.

I have continue hunting in the lower layer for several days, and my current level is 6. Only 5 levels rise. Only 5, huh? You trash. Well, if I start the human hunting, it will rise quickly, so I will endure it for now.

Oh, yes. The Earth Dragon duo of Kaguna and Geere that's in the lower layer. They became a trio before I know. Un. The Earth Dragons that exist in the lower layer except Alaba have gathered.

The newly joined one is Earth Dragon Fuito. It's level 11, and it's the lowest among the Earth Dragon. The combat ability is also the lowest, it's the same type as Alaba which is the balance type, but it's one step and even two steps weaker than Alaba. If Alaba is an all-rounder, Fuito is a jack-of-all-trades and master of none.

Well, I won't lose if it's an one-to-one. If it's an one-to-one. There's no way I can win against three of them! Thus, basically, I leave them alone. Although I might be able to do it if it's the present me, when thinking of the risk and the effort, I don't want to defeat them to that extent.

Because I obtained "Immortality", I won't die, but this skill probably means that I won't die as an existence, and something like wounds will remain normally. In other words, I can't act if my HP becomes 0. Because I have "Patience", I can add MP to there further, but when even my MP is exhausted, I think that I can't move. Because I have Automatic HP Recovery and Automatic MP Recovery, I will eventually recover and become possible to move, but if a person acquired the "Immortality" without automatic recovery, it seems possible that the person will stop moving and stay there forever. This means that can't die = not invincible. That's why, when I fight with a strong guy, there's enough possibility for me to be defeated. Although I won't die, I can't move and act until I'm recovered. Then, I'm crushed again after I recovered. It's possible that I will get trap in that loop. When that happens, it's the end.

As expected, I should change my main target to humans from now on. Because I overhunted too much, the monsters in the lower layer seem to be depopulated soon. Bottom layer? After all, Mother is there. It will definitely attack me at the moment I go there. It's still early to go to the bottom layer.

I raise my level in the lower layer properly, raise my skill proficiency in the home, and spend my time leisurely. When I do such a thing, it looks like the group of 4 have finally reach the exit of the labyrinth.

I pursue them with Transfer.

Oh? Ooh! It's bright! It's different from the brightness in the middle layer. It's the brightness of the sun! Although I don't know whether it's called as the sun or not in this world, it's the sun.

Ah, there's a lot of people. I'm attracting attention. Hello. Konnichiwa. Please don't stare at me so much because I'm shy.

The entrance of the labyrinth has the atmosphere like the border. There's a checkpoint-like facility. I wonder is the labyrinth's in and out checked properly. Ah, it's also to make sure that the monsters don't get out of the labyrinth. That explains why there are a lot of armed soldiers.

Ah, group of 4 discovered. They are trembling excessively. Ah, well, just when they thought that they escaped from the labyrinth, I appeared. Of course that's scary.

Un? What? Taking out your weapons like that, do you intend to do it?

From what can be seen by appraising you guys, you guys are fairly weak, right? Compared with the knight party who was annihilated recently, your status and skills are poor. Huh? Perhaps, the recent knight party was actually considerably strong as human?

Never. No matter how you look at it, there's no way such a weak people are strong. Even if they are not the Dragon class, there should be at least humans of the strength of Drake class.

When I was thinking deeply, the soldier's spear pierced me. It's painful. What are you doing? Because my HP don't decrease much, it's fine though.

For now, the one who make a move is the other side, so it's legitimate self-defense. Massacre.

I have the people in the place together with the group of 4 become my food of experience points. My level rose by 5. As expected, human efficiency is the best. I wonder what was the recent lower layer hunting for. I have defeated them specially, so I will eat their meat deliciously.

Umu. Because it's my first time to be under the sun, let's take a walk for a moment. Celebration, De-Hikki.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 152

Chapter 152.

152 The spider traveling alone aimlessly

The clear blue sky. The green trees that grow in abundance. The overflowing red blood.

Umu. The outside is wonderful. After all, it was dark in the labyrinth, and there's no change in color because everywhere is rocks. Although the middle layer was a superb view in a certain meaning, it's more brutal than that. It's the first time for me to see the blue sky and the green plants since I was born in this world.

Eh? Blood? I got tired of looking at such thing. There are monsters in the labyrinth that shed green blood, you know? I think that there's a difference between that green and the green I'm seeing now in value.

Eh? That's why, blood? Don't mind it. The Soldiers-san only became a little mosaic.

Yes. I was surrounded. When I break through the checkpoint, the next was the fort. Well, I'm surprised.

I wonder how many monsters have come out of the labyrinth. But, it's to the extent that the fort is built, so does it means they come out at a great frequency? Well, it was right to build it though.

I destroyed it. Tehe. Ah, un. Well. When I'm attacked, of course I will counterattack. If my attack hits the fort, of course it will break. Look, I didn't do anything wrong. I assert my innocence. Therefore, Gyurigyuri don't come.

However, it's really a fragile fort. If it's Alaba, it won't even receive any damage with a magic of such level. Although it might be harsh to compare it with that, what's with it when I just follow that by shoot magic repeatedly a little and it collapses? Earthquake-resistant structure will laugh hearing it. No, there's no earthquake-resistant structure though.

The blood of the people who got crushed flow from everywhere of the collapsed fort. As expected, it's troublesome to dig them up specially to eat them. I have eaten a lot and I'm full too. Oh, well. Leave it.

My level rose by 3, and there's no hindrance. With this, I can finally take a walk. Then, let's look around the first outside world.

Hmm. Which way should I go? There's a quite big road beyond the fort. If I advance along the road, I seem to reach a town or something.

Let's use the "Space Maneuver" to the sky. I look around the surroundings from the sky.

Oh? I can see something like a town beyond the road. It's unexpectedly near. When deviating from the road, the right side is a plain. On the left side, the plain continues a little, and tress gradually increase over there and becomes a forest.

And, when turning back, the plain continues for a while, becomes a forest, and I can see the mountain over there. Because it says that it connects the continents, I certainly thought that the exit is near with the sea, but surprisingly, it's inland. If I go over the mountain that's seen far away, is it the sea?

What should I do? As expected, I should not go to the town. Although I won't show mercy for those who attack me, I'm not a demon to the extent that I will slaughter nonresistant residents. If it's an ordinary resident, the experience points might not be so high.

Although I'm interested in human food, I don't want to cause a needless uproar here. Because I have already destroyed the fort, I think that it's already too late, but it's a defeat if I mind it!

Then, the right plain or the left forest or the back mountain.

Let's go for the mountain. Even if I say that it's a mountain, it doesn't feel to be so high. It should have at least 1000 meters above sea level. Because I think that there might be the sea if I go over the mountain, I will wander around while sightseeing.

If it's the mountain, there might be monsters that are not in the labyrinth. Something like deer or bear or wild boar. If I compare it with the monsters in the labyrinth, doesn't it seem delicious? Besides, if luck is on my side, I might be able to taste mountain foods. Something like mushroom or fruit.

Such thing like scared of the poison in the mushroom is an old story. Thanks to the Abnormal Condition Resistance acquired by the Conqueror title, such thing is nothing. After all, all of my abnormal condition-type resistance including "Sleep Nullity" have united, and evolved into "Abnormal Condition Nullity" straight away. Fufufu. With or without poison, there's nothing that the present me can't eat! However, is a raw mushroom delicious? As expected, I want to eat it after burning it.

When I reach the sea, I want to enjoy seafood. Not the pseudo marine products in the middle layer, but the genuine seafood.

Ah, by the way, the blow fish aka Water Drake of the Four Gods(lol) that the summoner enslaved is a blow fish after all. Although the meat was delicious, the part with the poison was dangerous. Although it would be good if I can remove the poison, with my spider body, I can't do such a skillful thing. Because I can use hands if I become the Arachne, cooking might be possible. Although I only eat and drink instant things in my previous life, I can pretty much cook simple dishes. Well, it's still a long way to go to be able to do that.

Cooking, huh? If I learn the "Fire Magic", I can make simple things though. Because I'm weak to fire as usual, a great amount of skill points is demanded for the acquisition of "Fire Magic". Well, it can't be helped. I can't use my precious skill points only for cooking, so I will just look at someone who uses the "Fire Magic", and learn it steadily.

When I reach the sea, there's the "Swim" skill too, so it might be fine to swim until I acquire it. I also want to experiment how far the "Space Maneuver" can function underwater. I think that I probably won't drown. Because I not good at moving my body in my previous life, I'm not so good at swimming, but I'm not a hammer. I don't know whether the spider can swim or not. But, I'm sure that it's all right. Perhaps, probably, surely.

Therefore, let's go. I depart in high and proud spirits. Aiming at mountain food and seafood!

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 153

Chapter 153. Encountering Gyuriedis.....Kuro for the second time.

153 Conversation with Kuro

It became dark before I reach the mountain because I advance while appraising every single thing in the surroundings. Well, after all. The appraisal result in the labyrinth is 「Wall of labyrinth」 or 「Floor of labyrinth」. It's amazingly fresh that appraisal result of everything that I see is displayed properly. If I intend to run, I can reach the mountain immediately, but when I appraise various things like the grass that grows around there instinctively, it took much longer than I thought.

I even appraise something like the weed in detail. Among that, there was a thing that its flower becomes the material of medicine, but unfortunately, the flower didn't bloom. It looks like it didn't bloom seasonally. Well, however, I was surprised that there was a name properly in such grass that has no special use. I thought that everything will show up as 「Weed」 because it's Appraisal-san, but the name is separated in detail. Well, come to think of it, even if the weed is said in one word, it has various kinds after all. To say that such thing is all the same weed is like saying that the pig and the wild boar are the same.

When I kept appraising the flowers while thinking about pointless things, it became dark. Well, it's not travel to hurry. Although I should actually raise my level quickly, because it's not something that can be done in one or two days, I should still have enough time even if I take it easy for a little. Although it's certain that I will be cornered, the one who will be troubled is Gyurigyuri. Well, seeing from Gyurigyuri, it might be his long-cherished ambition. It's really a troublesome thing.

I have the feelings of wanting to move earlier if possible too. But, when it's said whether the feelings are really my feelings or not, it's strange. Because I receive influence in mind, my way of thinking now is a little different from before. I don't think that it's bad though. Even if my thought changes, it's unchanged that I am me. However, the feelings of it's troublesome and the feelings of it's necessary to do it mixed and becomes a little complicated state of mind.

Moreover, in my case, the Ruler skills influence and the influence of eating Mother, both come at the same time. Especially, the influence of eating Mother is huge. Well, this was assumed when I have started eating it, so let's think that it's a necessary cost.

However, when the sun sets, it's really pitch-black all around. Because I have "Night Vision", I don't have any problems, but when there's no light, it becomes this dark, huh? I understand well how Japan where there's streetlight properly is bright.

Because I have been in the labyrinth all the time, this is the night that I experience for the first time in my life. Somehow, I'm a little excited. Should I sleep out in the open air today? It's the precious first time outside, let's taste the outside night. If it's inside the labyrinth, there was no day and night.

My base is still in the labyrinth. I can return anytime with Transfer, so now, with the feeling of going out. The real pleasure of the travel, a stay.

With such feeling, I prepare for camping. I'm making a simple home with the thread.

And, when I'm doing so, Space Perception. Something is transferring here. Ah, crap. I have seen this beautiful tremor of space once.

The man who appears crossing the space. The armor that looks like it combined with the slim body. The black that dyes the whole body.

The one who appeared is as expected, Administrator Gyuriedistodiez.

It's early. I have not prepared mentally. I mean, because I don't know the different world language, conversation is impossible. In the first place, I can't talk. Nothing nothing. Seriously, what should I do?

I can't win if we fight. As for escaping, it's useless if the opponent has Transfer. Speaking frankly, the moment when this guy feels like it, my life ends.

Then, I have no choice but to prepare myself for the worst.

After Gyuriedistodiez stared at me silently for a while, he let out a big sigh.

『Can this be understood?』

Unexpectedly, I heard a voice that sounded in my head directly. Like the voice of heaven. Moreover, I hear it in Japanese properly. I nod silently.

『I interfered with the translation function of the skill that D made. With this, my

Telepathy will be heard as your language, and your words will also be heard as my language here』

I see. Such thing can be done. If I make use of it, can I translate it any time?

『By the way, I'm executing this function by force. Because it's not the function of the original skill, it's difficult for you to execute it』

Ah, is that so? That's a regret.

『Well then, I will convey my matter that I came today. I want you to stop the actions that you said just now, and don't cause any troubles for the Humans from now on』

Muu. Although it's better than being killed without questioning, as expected, you come to stop me.

『I have heard about your circumstances roughly from D. I will apologize obediently for involving you by the circumstances of the world here. I'm sorry. On top of that, I want you to not get involved any further about this world. I understand it well that it's an impudent wish. I also understand why you are raising such actions. And based on that, I came to request like this』

Oh dear, this person is a gentleman more than I imagined. I mean, you're terribly poor. Isn't this the feeling that I will be attack without questioning even if I decline? Were you threatened by D?

『Could you give me an answer?』

Hmm. When you come sincerely like this, it might be better for me to answer you properly. Ah, because when the other party is D, my feelings were read, so it was quite easy, but it's been a long time to tell my words to another person with my own will. I mean, isn't this the first time in my life? I'm starting to get nervous now.

『I will refuse it』

After spending a lot of time and finally speak, Gyuriedistodiez became silent with a serious look. My heart throbbed. In various meanings. I have a feeling that my life was shortened just by saying a word.

『No matter what?』

The pondered Gyuriedistodiez asked to make the last confirmation. I return it with a nod.

『I see』

Gyuriedistodiez looks up at the sky.

『In the view of a person of a different world, does the thing that I'm doing looks funny?』

Gyuriedistodiez wrinkle up his eyebrows, and ask. The face seems to cry, is exhausted, and is suffering, but it was a face of a man who resolved himself to still continue walking.

I can't answer the question. Because it's other people's affairs. However, I can say only this.

『You should do what you want to do』

After all, it's like that. Move forward through the path that oneself believes in. That's the only thing that can be done to the question that has no correct answer.

『I see. You're right』

Gyuriedistodiez muttered after looking surprised.

『Then, I will do what should be done by me. However, D has gave a warning to me about you. I won't harm you for a while. However, please remember. If the thing that you are doing has a conflicting end to me, I will stand in your way』

I'm sure of it. But, if possible, I pray that it won't happen.

『I will leave at this much today. Farewell』

Like that, Gyuriedistodiez left with Transfer.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 154

Chapter 154.

154 Mountain foods

One night passed. Ah, I was nervous. I was too nervous to the extent that I can't sleep.

Isn't the hurdle too high that the first conversation in my spider life is the world's Administrator? It's like telling me who's already shy of strangers to talk to the Prime Minister suddenly. It's actually a person who's at a position higher than the Prime Minister in this world. D? Because that's an exception, it's not counted.

It would be good if the first one is an ordinary villager C. Why is it C? Somehow.

Well, it seems that Gyurigyuri won't come and interfere me for a while from now on, so it's large that the concern disappeared. That person is more naive than my imagination. Well, otherwise, it won't become like this. I was saved.

Then, let's forget about Gyurigyuri and head to the mountain. Because I took it easy yesterday too much, I will increase my pace a little.

I moved with quick steps than yesterday while appraising. When I found a plant that I didn't look at it with Appraisal yesterday, I will stop for a moment. Although I intend to hurry, it can't be helped because I'm interested.

I pass through the plain, and enter the forest. Because there's no road, it's hard to advance because it's thick, but I advance by jumping over the trees with "Space Maneuver". There's nothing that seems to be an animal trail, and there's no figure of the monsters either. There's no monster in this area. It might be only a few of them.

Oh? I discovered an ivy-like plant that bears red fruits.

『Bonkuura: A plant that grows naturally and widely in the Kusanagara continent. Periodically bloom and bear fruits. It's actually sweet, but contains a little paralysis』

I see. I mean, what a harsh name. (TL note: It's similar to ぼんくら(Bonkura), which means blockhead/idiot/dimwit) Paralysis, huh? Hmph, such thing like paralysis won't work on me who has the "Abnormal Condition Nullity".

Thus, itadakimasu. Sweet, delicious. There's a slight sour stimulation and it's delicious. Delicious. It's Delicious!

When I noticed it, I have eaten all the fruits that grew on the ivy. Ah, it's already over. It was delicious. Thank you for the delicious meal.

After all, the raw fruit is different. Because the one I ate some time ago was dried. Un. It was fresh. It looks like it's not a rare plant, so if I search for it, I wonder will I find more of it.

Hmm. But, my first purpose is the mountain after all. Let's secure the one that grows along the way.

I advance the forest by skipping. I discovered the Bonkuura several times on the way. Of course I secured it. The Space Storage of the "Space Magic" was useful for the first time.

Space Storage is the magic learned in the "Space Magic", the so-called Item Box-like magic. It's said to be able to store things in a different space and can take it out anytime, it's a very convenient magic for humans but in my case, because I don't carry things in the first place, it was left up until now. After all, I have only eat the food on the spot, or bring it back to home with Transfer, or make a new home at the place. I think that it's the home's fault because it's too convenient. Isn't it fine with just the home? I think so.

Although I experimented the Space Storage once when I learned it, my MP is consumed when it's activated, and when I take out something, my MP is also consumed. The MP consumption increases in proportion to the size or the weight of the object stored. The MP consumption when taking something out is slightly lower than storing. However, if the MP becomes very low and the MP restorative medicine is stored, a tragedy seems to happen that it can't be taken out.

By the way, although it's stored in a different space, the object will deteriorate steadily by time progression. It seems that time passes even in a different space. However, because it's a different space, the deteriorating speed is slow. So, something like proper preserved food can last for a fair number of days. I expect that the "Dimension Magic" probably has a similar magic that time doesn't passes. I wonder if I can learn it if the level rises.

That's why, the Space Storage that was a useless magic up until now is useful.

Normally, this magic will never become a useless magic.

When I think of it, I think that I don't have useless skills. Although it can be said that I pick the necessary ones, even the one that was acquired by the title is useful.

The one that was useless in the beginning like the "Poison Synthesis" has outstanding ability. The skills that were useless in the beginning became useful after evolving. Although "Shadow Magic" is useless, the derived "Dark Magic" plays an active role. The skills that still haven't place for its role are only the Ruler skills like "Hell". Because the Ruler skills reduce the divinity area, I don't have the plan to use it in the future.

When I was thinking deeply about such things, I arrived at the mountain. I mean, I entered the mountain before I know it. Ah, well, it's hard to know the border of the forest and the mountain when it's nature.

But, unlike the forest, there's some distance between the trees, and the weed is also few. In this case, it seems that I can walk on the ground.

Un? My perception caught the reaction of creatures here and there. Although it only caught small animals like small birds or mice in the forest, the mountain has a quite big reaction. For the time being, let's see the nearby reaction.

Although I can see it with "Clairvoyance", I want to move and catch it with my naked eye. It's one monster that was there.

Well. What's this guy? Pig?

Although the monster's face is pig-like, the body is like a gorilla, and on top of that, tentacles grow from its back. A strange-looking figure. U-Un. Chimera pig? It doesn't seem to be delicious.

In addition, the status is lower than its sinister appearance. Only exceeds the 100 a little is a weak monster of the upper layer class if saying it in the labyrinth. Somehow, the appearance and strength, it's an unbalanced monster.

It's defeated by the "Intimidation" that I emit, and it stiffens. The "Intimidation" skill evolves and became "Tyrant". The effect is just the same, with the increased power of "Intimidation". If I always have this turned on and with the effect of Fear Bringer, the stealth-types are offset. The stealth-types might can be said as useless skills in such meaning.

Well, I killed it quickly. I mean, it was an instant with Evil Eyes. Although I have the Evil Eyes turned off after coming out, it ascended to Heaven when I turn them on. Namu.

Although it doesn't look delicious, I will eat it just in case.

Wh...at...!? Delicious!?

Is this the power of the mountain? Even such a guy who seems to be bad can become delicious if it grows up in the mountain. Mountain is amazing.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 155

Chapter 155. The status again.... It's just 6 chapters

155 The reason to climb the mountain is because ingredients are there

This is amazing. Mountain is amazing. Although I have hunted several monsters after the pig, all were delicious. I was surprised. Although the eel was the most delicious in the labyrinth, delicious things idle approximately the same as the eel idle in the mountain.

I became addicted to it and ran around the mountain. Usagi oishi kano yama. (TL note: I think the original should be 兎追いしかの山) When I heard that song for the first time, I had a stupid misunderstanding whether the rabbit is delicious or not, but it was not necessarily wrong!

However, if I hunt too much, the mountain's ecosystem will collapse. Unlike the game, the monsters don't spawn infinitely, so if I don't restrain myself to some extent, I can seriously hunt the creatures in the mountain completely if it's my present strength. The number of monsters decreased because of my overhunting even in that huge lower layer of the labyrinth.

After all, I hunted the monsters in the lower layer at least 3-digits one day. If I hunt with such high pace, even if the lower layer is wide and the number of monsters is a lot, it's obvious that it will decrease. Hunt monsters, eat, recover

SP, and hunt monsters with the recovered SP. Endless as follows. Is it a virtuous circle or a vicious circle?

For the time being, I will restrain myself to this much for the mountain hunting. I was able to harvest fruits and plants that seemed to be able to eat, and if it's only the monsters, the nutritional balance is bad. Well, in the labyrinth, I never ate a plant before.

In the labyrinth, I only ate monsters. It's amazing that I didn't even drink water before. If it's a normal living thing, it's impossible. Monster. It might be good that I was born as a monster around there.

Well then, it became dark again when I collect ingredients. Hmm. Although it's fine to even sleep in the open like this, I wonder should I go to the top of the mountain to watch the rising sun. Oh, that might be good. I only saw the rising sun in the television. Well, because the scale of the mountain is small, it won't be a thing to be impressed.

Thus, depart to the top of the mountain.

Thanks to "Night Vision", I can advance smoothly even when it's dark. Although my body get scratch sometimes by the pointed branches, my body is not wounded because of my high defensive ability. After all, my defensive ability is 4-digits. I don't get wounded often.

But, I can't be overconfident. Although the status of this world is important, it's not absolute. Even if my opponent's offensive ability is one-tenth or less of my defensive ability, I will get wounded when I'm wounded. Even in the recent fort, I have been stabbed by the spear.

Well, thanks to that method, I was able to win against the snake in the old days. Thinking back now, I think that with that status, I did well to win against the snake. At that time, my status is in the first half of the 2-digits. On the other hand, the snake has a status of the average of around 300. If my Poison Fang didn't pierce it, I'm checkmated.

In the same reason, no matter how low my opponent's rank, I may sustain a wound sometimes. Because I have the "Abnormal Condition Nullity" unlike the snake, I can't be killed by poison, and because I have Automatic HP Recovery, there's no way that it will become a dangerous situation. In the first place, I'm immortal. But, as a self-proclaimed evasion specialized, as expected, receiving damage is a disgrace.

When I thought about such things, my HP decreased. The "Satiation" stock only decreased by 1, so it was replenished instantly by automatic recovery. The problem is why did my HP decrease.

My HP decreases. In other words, something wounded me. Something. It's almost impossible for the natural things to wound the present me. Then, it's someone's attack. There's only that.

The top of the mountain. One monster was there.

『Peirens LV7 Status HP:972／972(Green) MP:810／877(Blue) SP:899／899(Yellow) :720／871(Red) Average Offensive Ability: 918 Average Defensive Ability:888 Average Magic Ability:867 Average Resistance Ability:856 Average Speed Ability:901 Skill 「Wind Drake LV5」 「Dragon Scale LV6」 「Magic Perception LV3」 「Magic Manipulation LV3」 「Wind Magic LV2」 「Shadow Magic LV1」 「Enhanced Wind LV2」 「Wind Attack LV6」 「Accuracy LV5」 「Evasion LV6」 「Stealth LV7」 「High-speed Flight LV5」 「3D-Maneuver LV5」 「Presence Perception LV6」 「Storm Nullity」 「Night Vision LV4」

「Enhanced Vision LV3」 「Life LV2」 「Magic Well LV1」 「Agility LV1」 「Endurance LV1」 「Powerful LV1」 「Sturdy LV1」 「Magician LV1」 「Protection LV1」 「Dash LV1」 Skill points: 7750 Title 「Assassin」 「Monster Killer」』

That guy, huh? A Drake of wind. It has a proper Drake form unlike the recent blow fish of the pseudo Water Drake. However, because the wings are its arms, rather than a Drake, it might be better to called it as a wyvern.

Judging from its strength, I wonder if it's the mountain's master. Speaking frankly, it's not my enemy. But, I brace myself.

I think that my HP decreased is because of the effect of the Assassin title that gives a damage bonus to surprise attack. But, the problem before that. Normally, I won't receive an attack of this level even if it's a surprise attack or whatever it is. Why did I receive an attack of such a guy?

It's obvious. It's because I let my guard down. I became slightly strong recently, and I was self-conceited. My attentiveness has clearly become loose compared with the time when I was weak that I will die instantly if I receive a single blow. It's not good like this.

I brace myself again, and face the approaching Wind Drake.

The result was an overkill. Sorry. I released my seriousness a little too much. I apologize to the fragment of the former Wind Drake that became a terrible spectacle that's no use to be censored. The amount that can be eaten doesn't remain anymore.

Un. Although it's not good to be careless, it's not good to be too serious.

『Zana Horowa LV14 No name Status HP: 6011 / 6011 (Green) + 1800 (Details) (1718 up) MP: 16553 / 16553 (Blue) + 1800 (Details) (3261 up) SP: 3765 / 3765 (Yellow) (Details) (892 up) : 3765 / 3765 (Red) + 1800 (Details) (892 up) Average Offensive Ability: 4141 (Details) (1308 up) Average Defensive Ability: 4206 (Details) (1302 up) Average Magic Ability: 15739 (Details) (3130 up) Average Resistance Ability: 15675 (Details) (3130 up) Average Speed Ability: 10833 (Details) (2472 up) Skill 「Super-speed HP Recovery (new)」 「Magic Extremity」 「Magic God Act LV4 (1 up)」 「Magic Granting LV9 (1 up)」 「Offensive Magic Power LV4 (3 up)」 「High-speed SP Recovery LV3 (1 up)」 「Great SP Consumption Down LV3 (1 up)」 「Enhanced Destruction LV8 (1 up)」 「Enhanced Blunt LV1 (new)」 「Enhanced Slashing LV9」 「Enhanced Piercing LV2 (new)」 「Enhanced Shock LV2 (new)」 「Great Enhanced Abnormal Condition LV3 (1 up)」 「War God Spirit LV2 (1 up)」 「Vitality Granting LV7 (1 up)」 「Vitality Attack LV3 (new)」 「Dragon Power LV9 (1 up)」 「Deadly Poison Attack LV8 (1 up)」 「Corrosion Attack LV5」 「Heresy Attack LV7 (1 up)」 「Poison Synthesis LV10」 「Medicine Synthesis LV9 (1 up)」 「Thread Genius LV2 (1 up)」 「Universal Thread LV7」 「Thread Manipulation LV10」 「Telekinesis LV4 (1 up)」 「Throw LV10」 「Shoot LV5 (1 up)」 「Space Maneuver LV9」 「Concentration LV10」 「Super Thought Acceleration LV2 (1 up)」 「Future Vision LV2 (1 up)」 「Parallel Will LV8」 「High-speed Calculation LV8 (1 up)」 「Accuracy LV10」 「Evasion LV10」 「Great Probability Correction LV1 (new)」 「Stealth LV10」 「Camouflage LV4 (1 up)」 「Silent LV9」 「Tyrant LV3 (1 up)」 「Conviction」 「Hell」 「Degeneration」 「Immortality」 「Heresy Magic LV10」 「Wind Magic LV7 (6 up)」 「Soil Magic LV7 (5 up)」 「Shadow Magic LV10」 「Dark Magic LV10」 「Darkness Magic LV6 (1 up)」 「Poison Magic LV10」 「Treatment Magic LV10」 「Space Magic LV10」 「Dimension Magic LV6 (1 up)」 「Abyss Magic LV10」 「Patience」 「Pride」 「Anger LV5 (1 up)」 「Satiation LV8」 「Sloth」 「Wisdom」 「Destruction Resistance LV7 (1 up)」 「Blunt Resistance LV8 (1 up)」 「Slash Resistance LV8 (1 up)」 「Pierce Resistance LV1 (new)」 「Shock Resistance LV1 (new)」 「Flame Resistance LV3」 「Wind Resistance LV4 (new)」 「Soil Resistance LV5 (4 up)」 「Dark Resistance LV5 (new)」 「Great Heavy Resistance LV3 (1 up)」 「Abnormal Condition Nullity」 「Acid Resistance LV8 (1 up)」 「Corrosion Resistance LV8」 「Faint Resistance LV7 (1 up)」 「Great Fear

Resistance LV1」「Heresy Nullity」「Pain Nullity」「Great Pain Alleviation LV6 (1 up)」「Night Vision LV10」「Clairvoyance LV9 (1 up)」「Evil Eye of Grudge LV7」「Evil Eye of Stasis LV6」「Evil Eye of Magnetism LV4 (1 up)」「Evil Eye of Extinction LV4」「Great Enhanced Five Senses LV3 (1 up)」「Perception Range Expansion LV7 (1 up)」「Divinity Area Expansion LV7」「Divine Magic」「Destiny LV4 (1 up)」「Body Flicker LV9 (1 up)」「Durability LV9 (1 up)」「Fortitude LV3」「Fortress LV3」「Idaten LV8 (1 up)」「Taboo LV10」「 $n\%I=W$ 」 Skill points: 4900 Title 「Gross Feeder」「Blood Relative Eater」「Assassin」「Monster Killer」「Poison Technique User」「Thread User」「Merciless」「Monster Slaughterer」「Ruler of Pride」「Ruler of Patience」「Ruler of Wisdom」「Drake Killer」「Fear Bringer」「Dragon Killer」「Ruler of Sloth」「Natural Calamity of Monster」「Conqueror」「Human Killer (new)」』

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter S23

Shun 23.

S23 Entering the Elro Great Labyrinth

We ride on the Light Drake for a whole day. We arrived near to the Elro Great Labyrinth. Because we pass over the forest and the mountain in a straight line, we arrive considerably faster than walking. We look at the entrance of the Elro Great Labyrinth at a distance with "Clairvoyance".

「As expected, the empire soldiers are there」

At the entrance of the Elro Great Labyrinth, countless empire soldiers are in the fort built there. The Elro Great Labyrinth is almost the only way that connects the continents. Therefore, if the Demons invade, they need to pass through this Great Labyrinth. The fort that can be seen with "Clairvoyance" at the front is the final defense when the Demons pass through the Elro Great Labyrinth.

However, it's almost impossible for the Demons to pass through the Elro Great Labyrinth. The Elro Great Labyrinth has a complicated structured labyrinth and has the wideness that a person will take a whole lifetime to escape from the labyrinth without guides. On top of that, numerous troublesome monsters inhabit in there, and the degree of difficulty is too high to invade with an army.

In the first place, the situation that the Demons invaded to the entrance of the Elro Great Labyrinth means that Kasanagara continent is almost in the Demons' control, so at that point, the Humans will be made to stand in a considerable crisis. In the current long history, there's no era when the Demons raged to that extent. Although I don't know what will happen in the future, I don't think that the Demons will rage immediately, so it's unlikely that the Demons will pass through the Elro Great Labyrinth.

Therefore, the fort's main role is to deal with the monsters that came out of the Great Labyrinth. In the Great Labyrinth, there are a lot of special monsters that inhabit only in there. It's the present fort's role to prevent the monsters to be free in the outside world.

There are the empire soldiers of another country that shouldn't be in the fort normally. There's only one meaning. It's the lookout to not let us enter the Elro Great Labyrinth.

「What should we do?」

I'm troubled to Katia's words. Front breakthrough is not impossible. But, that is the final means. If possible, I don't want to do it.

「Can't we sneak in and get pass them somehow?」

Sensei proposes it while looking at me. She must be expecting my skill, "Concealment" effect.

The "Concealment" skill is the evolved skill of "Camouflage". The effect is literally concealing something. Although the "Camouflage" skill is the same as well, the appearance don't change even if I use this skill. However, there's an effect that it becomes difficult to be perceived by the five senses of other living things. If I use it with "Stealth", it becomes even more difficult to be found.

And, the excellent point of this skill is I can choose the target to apply this skill. Not only myself, but I can apply it on other people and things. Furthermore, even the skills. I always apply the "Concealment" skill on a certain thing. That's the "Taboo" skill. With this, it becomes difficult to know that I have the "Taboo" skill even if I'm appraised suddenly. Although when it's found out, it will be found out, it's definitely better than nothing.

I shake my head to Sensei's plan, and deny it. The "Concealment" will be found out when it's found. If there's an opponent that has a higher perception ability than my "Concealment" skill, we will be found out easily. The elderly magician that we fought at the royal capital is a good example. That elderly person perceived our concealed figure that was far up in the sky. As expected, I don't think that there are so many of such people, but if Yuugo thinks that he seriously wants to obstruct our actions, it's not strange that such people are stationed in the fort. I thought that the simple infiltration that relies only on the power of skill was dangerous.

「I have an idea. Follow me」

We who became cornered, Hyrinth-san gives a new proposal. We can't think of other methods, so we follow Hyrinth-san's directions silently.

Hyrinth-san led us to a small village at the place close to the entrance of the Great Labyrinth. It seems that this village is a village made by the merchants and inns that deal with the people who enters the Great Labyrinth according to Hyrinth-san's teaching along the way. If I look from the outside of the village, there are certainly shops that sell necessary preserved foods and antidotes. I can also see big inns where even a large family can stay in this small village.

We move stealthily at the outer circumference of the village so that we don't attract public attention. There might be a person who's connected with the empire soldiers in the village, and above all, we are wanted people.

The place that we arrived after moving stealthily was one house that's at the outskirts of the village. It's quite large compared with the other houses. Hyrinth-san knocks the house door modestly.

「Coming. Who is it?」

The appearing prime of life has a surprised look when Hyrinth-san's appearance is seen.

「It has been a long time」

Hyrinth-san lowers his head. The prime of life look at Hyrinth-san's state, and look around the surroundings restlessly.

「For the time being, please enter inside」

We walk into the house as we are invited by the prime of life.

「This one here is the labyrinth guide, Goief-dono. It's a person who Julius and the others are indebted several times」 「I'm Goief. Nice to meet you」 「Goief-dono, this is Julius's younger brother, Shurein」 「I'm Shurein. Nice to meet you」

Everyone greets in accordance with Hyrinth-san's directions. Although Goief-san hears it while having a gentle smile, I can't make light of this person. Although it's hard to tell because it's hidden by the clothes, the body is considerably trained, and in the interior of the gentle eyes are narrowed like appraising us. I agree that Hyrinth-san be in such polite manner. It's a person who seems to be difficult to deal with.

「Then, Goief-dono. I will tell our matter without beating about the bush. We are accused of a false charge now, and we are in a position being chased by the empire. In order to put an end to this, we want to pass through the Elro Great Labyrinth and head to the Kasanagara continent, but the entrance is surrounded by the empire soldiers, so it can't be done. Can Goief-dono somehow make us enter the Great Labyrinth with your power?」

Goief-san ponders for a while to Hyrinth-san's words.

「I understand your circumstances to some extent. Because I thought that it was strange since I heard the story that Hyrinth-sama is planning a national overturn」

All of us are relieved to Goief-san's words. Apparently, Goief-san don't have the intention to oppose us.

「However, unfortunately, I can't help」

We are dejected by Goief-san's following words.

「Do something about there」 「I am sorry. Because my life and my living suffer from this. I can't help you all and get marked down by the empire. Even if it's fine for me, when thinking that the danger will reach my family」 「Is that so?」

Although the appearance is not seen, I realize that there are several presence including the child in this house. Goief-san also has a family. He can't be our ally to the extent that his family is involved. Although I understand, when I confront on the spot like this, I'm aware that the label called the national rebel plated on us is a serious thing. No, it should be better just by hearing our story like this. The worst, it's not strange that he will point a weapon at us when he saw us.

「What. If the coward don't want to guide, should I guide you all?」

An elderly person appeared while kicking the door, and says it to us who are depressed.

「Father!?!」 「Good grief. You coward. I wonder why are you scared of the empire when you have reached an appropriate age」

The elderly person who appeared with a sake bottle enters between us.

「I'm this coward's father, Basgas. I can be the guide in place of this guy, you know?」 「Wait, Father!」 「Shut up」

It's not loud at all, but Goief-san can't help but to fall silent to the powered voice. Basgas-san has a splendid body that can't be thought as a elderly person, and he wears a Haki that can be understood at a glance. I felt the strength that I want to appraise his status instinctively.

「If you okay with such a retired old man, I will guide you, but what do you want to do?」

Although Hyrinth-san is troubled, my intuition thinks that it's fine to entrust it to this person. I tell that briefly with Telepathy. On this occasion, I didn't miss that Basgas-san slightly reacted. This person can eavesdrop the Telepathy.

「Please help us」 「Leave it to me. Even if I say that, I can't do any great things」

That's a lie.

「Then, let's have a specific talk」

By Hyrinth-san's proposal, we discussed about the plans for the future after that. Goief-san seemed to give up on the way, and seems to back us up.

The preparations took one day, and we came to the coast. According to Basgas's information, there's a cave at the bottom of the sea that's connected to the Great Labyrinth nearby. It's not used because it's near the Water Dragons' habitat, so it seems to be a secret path that only a small portion among the guides know.

「Listen. Don't even try to fight when a Water Dragon appears. You will only be killed. The basic is to run away. The entrance of the cave is near after we dive, and once we enter the cave, the Water Dragon can't enter the cave because it's narrow. Head into the cave immediately after diving. Understood?」

We nod to Basgas-san's words. We who changed into swimsuits hardly have luggage. All the luggage are inside Basgas-san's space storage bag. It's a magic tool that has the power of the skill called Space Storage that can store things in a different space. Although it's uneasy to entrust everything we owned including the equipment to another person, now that it's decided to trust him, it's decided to trust Basgas-san to the end by entrusting everything.

「Well then, I will distribute the wind balls. Please don't crunch it even by mistake」

Sensei distribute the small balls at the size of putting on the palm. This is the ball that confined the air compressed by "Wind Magic". If this is held in the mouth, there's no need to worry about the air. It's something like a micro oxygen cylinder. However, like what Sensei said, when it's crunched by mistake, the compressed air that was confined will explode at that moment. While it's convenient, it's a very dangerous thing.

「Then, I will lead everyone, so follow me」

Basgas-san holds the wind ball in his mouth, and dives into the sea. Following the sequence, I dive at the end. When I enter the sea, there's little shoal, and it became deep suddenly. Is it because of the skills? I can see the underwater state clearly even without googles. I saw a calm and huge approaching figure at the end of the view.

Water Dragon Krag.

The level is 8. It has a figure like the Nessie which I saw in the dinosaur picture book. I shudder when I see its status. All the numerical value exceeded 3000. On top of that, the skills are improved that can't be compared with the monsters that I have seen so far.

This is bad. As for us, only Basgas-san who led just arrived at the entrance of the cave. The others still haven't notice the existence of the Water Dragon.

The Water Dragon stands ready. That's the preliminary movement of the breath!?

I move to the front of everyone immediately, and activate a magic. "Holy Light Magic". The magic obtained together with the Hero title.

My magic collides with the Water Dragon's breath, and a water current is generated by the aftermath. I'm sucked into the cave as I was wash away by it. I continue to be washed away while being careful not to bite the wind ball in my mouth while my body strikes many places.

A feeling of floating for an instant. And, I struck the ground in the next moment. Apparently, I have arrived at the end of the cave after being washed away.

「Is everyone all right?」

I take out the wind ball from my mouth, and look around the surroundings. Comrades who were grazed all over with the completely exhausted state are on the ground. It seems that no one is in danger.

However, leaving aside Sensei's loli figure, the swimsuits of Katia and Anna are torn in several places, and the exposure of skin has increased. In addition, the hair sticks to the body, and there's a slight sex appeal. It's very tempting.

「Ka! If it's like this from the very beginning, this is going to be hard!」

I agree to Basgas-san's shout in my heart. For the time being, I must treat the place that's grazed.

「Well, we were able to enter safely. Welcome to the world's hell, the Elro Great Labyrinth」

I started the everyone's treatment while feeling tired with the Basgas-san's exaggerated talk.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 156

Chapter 156.

156 It's the sea!

I view the sunrise from the top of the mountain. So, it's a story by all means. Although I thought that I will be impressed, there's no such feelings. As expected, a person will be impressed by such thing like viewing the sunrise because it's tasted together with the sense of accomplishment for climbing a high mountain. I have climbed thus mountain with a casual feeling, and in the first place, this mountain is not so high.

Leaving aside the sunrise, a certain thing can be seen from the top of the mountain. It's the sea. The beach of the feeling that's perfect for a summer vacation. The lapping waves. The sun that shines brightly. The Sea.

Speaking of the sea, the ground of the love story of the man and woman. Although I thought that "Riajuu die" in my previous life, there are no such flippant people in this world's beach. A private beach monopoly. There's no other choice but to go.

Thus, I start to descend the mountain and head towards the sea. The monsters run away and hide desperately probably because of the master of the mountain, the Wind Drake was defeated disappointingly and they became frightened by the Intimidation that I released. Well, to be frank, because the monsters here don't give much experience points even if I hunt every single one, it's not that I'm reluctant to overlook them though. My stomach is not so empty. Although they are more delicious than the monsters in the labyrinth, I feel that it's fine to overlook them if I think that the seafood is waiting in the future.

That's why, I descend the mountain without any interference. I secure a little fruits on the way and took some time, but I arrived at the sea in about one hour.

I go to the beach. The wave beats my feet. Cold. Ah. The current temperature is not so high. Seasonally, is it spring or autumn? It's not summer. Because of that, the water temperature of the sea is low. It seems to be hard to swim for a human.

However. I am the body that has already resigned as a human. There's no need to be afraid of cold now. Thus, Let's Go.

Splash splash.

Hmm? Un. I won't sink. What's with the buoyancy of my body? I can sink by taking advantage of power for an instant. But, I will return to the surface of the water immediately. I can float on the surface of the water without doing anything. And, if I do nothing, I will be wash away by the wave and return to the beach.

Crap. Can't the spider body swim? This is unexpected. I didn't think that I won't sink. Although I was not good at swimming in my previous life, I did sink. I never thought that it will become a feeling like a float is always attached to me. Like this, I can't dive and harvest shellfish.

Will I become able to sink if I acquire the "Swim" skill? No, but it seems that it will take a long time to acquire that skill. Although the Fire Resistance was the same as well, a considerably high amount of skill proficiency is needed to acquire the skills that the species is weak in.

By the way, how many points do I need to acquire the "Swim" skill? I try to look for it by the search of "Wisdom". Oh. 1000 points is needed to acquire "Swim". Expensive. This, I should give up.

I return to the beach while being slightly shocked by the fact that I can't swim. No, it's not that I can't swim, you know? It's only that I can't dive. Because I can float, I can just swim like that, you know? I'm never a hammer. Never.

Haa. It can't be helped. Let's fish with "Universal Thread".

I take out a little of the meat of the monster that was stored in the Space Storage. I attach it to the tip of the thread. Even if there's no hook, it's convenient that it sticks. I just hurl the thread far away. If it's a genuine angler, the person will bend the pole and hurl it far away, but in my case, I can easily hurl the thread far away easily with "Thread Manipulation". I confirm that the thread flew far away from the beach, and I waited for the catch to make a hit.

It hits without an interval to wait. Oh? It's considerably powerful. Fufufu. However, my physical strength is already the Dragon class. There's no way that I will fall behind a common monster.

I pull steadily. If it's my "Universal Thread", there's no need to worry that it will be discovered or cut. If I'm not mistaken, a monster that got caught in the needle once escape from the needle can be said as it's discovered, right?

Because the viscosity of my "Universal Thread" is effect more than stabbing with the needle, there's no problem. If it's not burnt by the fire, even the Dragon species can't escape easily.

The sign of fish that appeared in the shallows jumps. The opponent that continues useless resistance is launched quickly to the beach.

It was a shark that was caught. Accurately, it was a Water Drake that has the appearance of the shark. Because the level of the "Water Drake" skill is 7, it's pretty much a high rank Water Drake. It's high rank Drake that's close to the medium rank.

I give the decisive blow on the shark that still tries to resist on the beach quickly. Although it's different from the fish that I assumed a little, the shark is still a fish. Although I have not heard of a shark sashimi, is it delicious? Time to taste it.

The skin is hard!? I mean, when I thought that the skin was a normal skin, it has the "Dragon Scale" skill. It's scale. That's why, it's hard. Because the skin doesn't seem to be able to eat, let's peel it off.

Yosh. Time to taste it again. Itadakimasu.

Oh, ah, un. Delicious delicious. Although it's not to the extent that I'm impressed, it's delicious. I come to want soy sauce.

Come to think of it, the shark fin is a high-quality ingredient, right? If I'm not mistaken, isn't it the part of the tail? Ah. Certainly, it has a different taste from the part of the body. It's delicious.

In my opinion, I think that I'm not suitable for a food report. I can only say that it's delicious or bad. Although I retorted in the comment of the announcer when I see it on the television saying that "like that, it won't be transmitted", when thinking it now, the announcer is quite serious.

Fuu. Thank you for the meal.

Umu. Fishing is good. Let's catch more seafood steadily.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 157

Chapter 157.

157 Sea fishing

I throw a thread. And, fish. I throw a thread. And, fish.

What's with this sea? This is not a big catch. Besides, all are Water Drakes. Although there are all sorts of it in level, the pseudo fishes that are caught always have the "Water Drake" skill.

As for the monster of the sea of this world, is the "Water Drake" skill a default equipment? The sea is amazing. It's the paradise of the Drake.

No no. That's definitely no. What's with that unpleasant paradise.

If it's a dangerous sea where there's an enormous number of such Drakes, isn't it hard to set sail to catch fish? Even the crabbing is said to be risky in my previous life world, but isn't the degree of difficulty of fishery in this world is high? Possibly, aren't the people concerned with fishery are chosen elite group? The men of the sea who are more stronger than the recent knight class fight desperately against the Drake. Half-naked muscular men jump into the sea with a harpoon in one hand bravely. Crap, that's a little cool. Let's look for a fishing village when I'm done fishing. There might be a nice half-naked old man.

I throw a thread. As expected, the hooked rate worsened because they are cautious by the result of me who keep catching them. After all, it's not a fish. It's a clear monster. There's wisdom to that extent.

I take it easy while dropping the thread. Although it's amusing that it's a big catch, relaxing like this is not so bad either.

I think about the future while dropping the thread. It's decided to look for a fishing village. The problem is after that. What should I do after I found the fishing village?

Assuming that ogling at the men of the sea is decided, I wonder what should I do after that. At present, I don't have the intention to advance and ruin humanity. Leaving aside culling them to some extent, I think that slaughtering ordinary villager is different.

As expected, I think that I won't scorn of my actions after I fight with warriors or soldiers that have the resolution to die. Such people are trained to fight, so the experience points should be good. Then, is it the best to take on the subjugation unit that aims at me that will be dispatched someday? Ah, but I wonder how. I have gone out like this, and I have destroyed a fort, so how will the subjugation unit moves?

It's better if I wait for the attack in the labyrinth, but now that I have destroyed a fort, there should be information about me came out of the labyrinth. Then, won't the search party be formed earlier than the subjugation unit? But, even if things are done leisurely, well.

Rather, should I go to a big town and act violently there? If it's a big town, there will surely be a proper armed group. Ah, but what if the armed group is stronger than I expected? Hmm. Oh, well. The present me can't be defeated with just a blow, and if the opponent is too strong, I can just escape with Transfer.

For the time being, I will go on a tour of the world aimlessly. Rather than thinking about massacre, that seems to be me.

Well, there's the awareness that I'm doing something unusual. To get involved in this world to the extent that I turn down Gyurigyuri's warning, no matter how I think, this is not my character. But, I just don't like it. Un. I don't like it.

Even if I don't do anything like this, this world will surely give an answer in this world. And, according to the answer, the world will be ruined, so it's not other people's affairs. Even if I say that, that is a matter for the future. From the feelings encountering with Gyurigyuri, that person doesn't want the world to be ruined. Although I think that it's fine to abandon such a world, he's a good-natured person. Well, it's not abandoning, but it can't be abandoned. It's a hardship.

No matter how you fall, only misfortune will visit Gyurigyuri. Among the two choices, even if either is chosen, it's hell. In other words, Gyurigyuri has already been checkmated. Die with his beloved woman, or betray the woman to save her. Gyurigyuri has the intention of dying together at present.

But, I don't like that. Therefore, I obstruct him. You should do what you want to do. I act with the reason of I don't like myself. This feeling is my will that's not influenced by anyone without lie. I'm sure that D wished for me to advance on my own will. Then, I will do it.

When I'm thinking seriously, the thread is pulled. It's here! Kuo!? T-This power, it's not equal to the ones before!? It's the big-shot today. However, it's not equal to me! Pull.

The prey caught jumped greatly at a distance. It was a Water Dragon.

Release!

Impossible!? Something like catching a Water Dragon by fishing is impossible. No, I only have caught Water Drakes so far. I mean, the Water Dragon just now, don't it has the pride as the Dragon? Why is it fished?

Ah, I was surprised. I have released it unintentionally. But, it might be better to not defeat the Dragons anymore. I don't want to fight against Gyurigyuri if I defeat it unskillfully.

Or rather, really, what's with this sea? I guess I should try examine it. Well, the Skill Search of the Ruler authority. The target skill is "Water Dragon", search start.

The Skill Search of the Ruler authority is a convenient function that can search for the whereabouts of the guy who has the targeted skill. Because it accesses the system, there's no consumption of the MP or the divinity area. Well, but it becomes impossible to use for a while after it's used once. In addition, because the searched result is vague thing that shows "over there", the usability is not good. Because I link the map function of "Wisdom" and the result, it's considerably easy to use.

And, the searched result, what's this? Within the range of the sea that can be seen, there's a lot of Water Dragons. It was seriously a Dragon paradise. Nai wa.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 158

Chapter 158.

I changed Seizure to Snatch.

158 When I thought that it was a fishing village, it was a farm village

I walk on the beach looking for a fishing village. Fishing? Like I can fish in such a dangerous sea! No, well. What's with the sea where the Water Dragons can be fished?

Well, because the Water Dragon caught a while ago was a low rank Dragon with a low level, it's possible to win, but if I beat it badly, the Water Dragons seem to surge in great numbers. I even avoid the Earth Dragon trio, so the large crowd of Water Dragons is not a joke. This sea is more frightening than the labyrinth.

My belly is filled with the fished Water Drakes, so I withdraw the fishing and search for a fishing village now. The village where there are men who fight against the Water Dragon. Surely, there must be a wonderful old man. Muha! Wait for me, Nice Guy. I'm coming to ogle at you!

Although it's good that I'm enthusiastic about it, there's nothing that looks like a village. After all, I moved along the beach for a day, but it became dark without finding anything.

Hmm. I don't want to sleep at the beach. It smells of the sea. There's the Water Dragon too. Here, I think that I should return to the labyrinth after a long time.

Thus, I returned to the labyrinth after a long time with Transfer. Umu. There are no changes.

Although I understand it when returning like this, this labyrinth has a really comfortable air flowing inside. Although the outside is slightly cold, here is neither hot nor cold. Because there are no other monsters anymore, there's no sound. Although the smell is slightly bloody, I'm not bothered by it. Because there's no sunlight, I don't need to be bothered by the ultraviolet rays. Because of the "Perception Area Expansion" skill which is the higher rank skill of "Visible Range Expansion", I'm bothered by excessive things like the ultraviolet rays when I go outside. Because it can't be helped even if I mind it too much, I turned off the skill usually.

I slept well overnight in the comfortable space.

It's the morning. Probably. The only inconvenience in the labyrinth is that I don't know whether it's morning or night. Well then, let's look for a fishing village continuing from yesterday.

I come to the place where I came yesterday with Transfer. It's no use even if I walk along the beach like this, so I use the "Space Maneuver" a little to rise up to the sky, and look around with "Clairvoyance". As far as I can see, only the sea and the mountain. Oh, village discovered!

But, it's a little far from the sea. That doesn't seem to be a fishing village. Ships are not found either. Rather, isn't it a farm village? It looks like a part of the mountain is used to grow plants. Um. What about the men of the sea? Even though I looked forward to it, what are you going to do with this discouraged spider heart?

Oh, well. For the time being, let's aim at that village.

I arrive near the village while encountering a huge crab on the way. As expected, because it's impossible to enter like this, I go around the mountain and observe the state in the village. Hmm. Humans live like this, huh? If I think about it, this is the first time for me to see human living. A slightly fresh feeling.

The building of the village is made of wood. Although the style is like a log cabin, it's a raised-floor-style. Is it the tsunami measures? There's no store-like thing. This has the atmosphere of a remote village.

The people living there are Caucasian. Well, it's a race close to the Caucasian in the Earth. Besides, they are a little tanned to say as Caucasian. The color of the hair is generally light brown. Although it's a fantasy world, there's no one who has the showy color like red or blue. Because all of the recent knights wore helmets, I don't know that part.

Only by appraising, there's no one strong. Even the man who thought to be the strongest man in the village is less than 100 in status. He stayed alive with such weakness well. Well, I'm even weaker before. But, leaving aside the status is low, how about it when there are no decent skills? If it's a human, there should be knowledge to some extent, so isn't it strange that skills are not trained?

I guess it's not strange to that extent. Skills are not needed if it's only to live in a remote village normally. Although necessary skills are acquired, is it good if at least not dying? In addition, if they have the time to train the skills, then work. When it's a poor village in the Earth, children are even made to work. A hard life.

Hmm? The villagers start to be restless. Don't tell me that they noticed me? It's strange. "Tyrant" is turned off, and I should be difficult to be found because of "Stealth" and "Camouflage". There's no one who's excellent in perception, so I shouldn't be found.

Well, although there's no way that I'm found, something might have happened. It's troublesome if I'm found, so let's hide.

Incidentally, hunt monsters to fill my belly.

It's the night. Everyone falls asleep. What am I doing? Stealing.

Fufufu. I got the delicious things of this village. Specifically, the fruits cultivated here. As expected, the degree of difficulty to sneak into a private house and swipe the seasoning is high. I sneak into the farm like this at midnight and hunt for fruits.

Crime? I'm a monster after all. I'm not concerned with human law.

《Skill proficiency reached. Acquired skill 『Snatch LV1』》

Yes. The proof of the crime was carved here. I'm sorry.

Ah. What's this? It becomes easier to steal things? It's a skill with a strange effect. It might be useful for a thief. In the first place, I won't steal such things. Eh? The present situation? It can't be helped because it's for sweet things.

I steal the fruits of the farm only a little so that it's not known, and I fled.

Villager 「Somehow, I have a terrible chill」

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 159

Chapter 159.

159 Sneak thief > Bandits

I'm moving at the side of the highway that extends from the village stealthily. No, if I walk on the highway grandly, I will be found. Prevent unnecessary troubles. This is the adult's secret of success in life. Then, don't be a sneak thief? This and that are different.

And, this highway looks like it turns around the mountain and leads to the inland. If I advance along this highway, I should see the next town. If it's a big town to some extent, I can see the state and act violently. Well, it's only seeing the state, and if I think that it's fine to act violently here.

At present, nobody passes the highway. Well, if it's that remote farm village surrounded by the mountain and the sea, even the peddlers will not come here often. Rather, isn't this the road for the villagers to go the town to deliver the crops, and to buy things? There's no one who will go to that village specially. I feel admired that the highway is not covered completely with grass.

I pass through the mountain zone and reach the plain. Even if I say that it's a plain, there's quite a lot of trees, and it's like a half forest. In this case, I can move while concealing my figure.

I advance without change. The road joins other roads several times on the way, and the size of the highway gradually grows. At first, it was a small road that's like an animal trail, but there's a width now, and it becomes the road that the ground was hardened. If I see properly, there's the trace of the wheel. Is it the trace of a carriage or something passed? Though it can't be limited that it's the horse that pulls it.

A carriage, huh? After all, it's that. The science is not develop to that extent. I imagined it when the knights appeared though. The life in the village was also considerably primitive. Is this the fantasy world of the Middle Ages in Europe that's often the case? This looks like D's hobby. Well, although it's not that much, it seems to be better to think that science and technology are not developed in this world. Because the world is remade once, it's obvious.

Ah, I discover the carriage in front. Hmm? Hmmm? Somehow, it's busy? That. Bandits. They are being attacked.

The people who look like the guards are fighting with the bandit-like people. There are 4 guards, while there are 6 bandits. Hmm. If only by appraising them, either is almost the same strength, and in this case, the bandits are more advantageous with more people. I mean, all of the bandits have the "Snatch" skill. So, this was seriously a bandit skill.

Ah, one of the guards was defeated. What should I do? Intruding is troublesome. Having said that, I don't have the reason to overlook. Even if I kill the bandits, it's a waste to leave excellent things. But, then, won't that means that I saved that carriage along the way? How troublesome.

Why must I do such an act of kindness. Besides, even if I save them, I'm a monster. There's a possibility that blades will be pointed at me by the other party that I saved, right? Well, in that case, I won't show any mercy, but what's with that even though I saved them.

Rather, I should kill the bandits after the people in that carriage are annihilated. Isn't it a good idea? Then, there's no survivor, and there's no eyewitness information of me. There's no future trouble too. I'm happy, and the remaining is unhappy. Isn't it exhilarating that I can take everything?

No, huh? Haa. It can't be helped. Although I don't have the intention, I will save them.

I move quickly. Because the bandits are concentrated in the combat with the guards. they don't notice my existence. It's convenient. Probably, the slightly large man who's at the center is the bandits' leader. Because the status is the highest, it's probably the leader. I go around to his back, and pierce my sickle to the defenseless back.

The sickle pierces the body of the bandit disappointingly and skewers the heart. Ah, the death is decided at this point in time because the Deadly Poison is certainly set. I pull out my sickle, and the bandit that lost his support falls.

I swing my sickle sideways to the bandits on the left and right who can't understand the situation and are dumbfounded. Split in two. With this, it's half.

I fire "Soil Magic" through the head of one of the bandits. It looks like my aptitude of the soil is also high. The growth is better than the "Wind Magic" that was learned almost at the same period.

Remaining two people. The man who tries to run away. But, too bad. Your body has already been restricted with threads. I activate the Evil Eye to the two bandits who were not able to move. All of the HP, MP and SP are absorbed, and the bandits die.

Cleaning completed. With this, if I'm a Prince-sama or a Knight-sama, the girl inside the carriage will say 「Are you hurt?」, and I say something like 「I happen to be present on the site being attacked by the bandits unexpectedly in the middle of my travel」, and the flag is constructed. Ah, no no. Popular man is always this.

Ah. Let's make escapism to this much. I defeated the bandits. I saved the carriage. The guards' swords point at me. Here and now.

Oh, well. I understood it. I knew it. Rather, it might be better that they didn't attack me immediately. It's not that they are scared of me to the extent that they can't attack me. Surely they are doubtful that I saved them, and I'm sure that it's the conscience that attacking the monster suddenly is somehow. Although I will say it once again, it's not that they are scared of me to the extent that they can't attack me. I said no, then it's no.

Un? If I see properly, the guard that got defeated first is still alive. Ah, now that I have come this far, I will save you to the end.

I go near the person who's on the ground.. Even though I only move a little, the other guards back off exaggeratedly. ... It's a defeat if I mind it. I activate "Treatment Magic". Un. With this, he won't die.

Not only the guards, but the lady who watched the outside state from the carriage timidly is also surprised. If a monster saved you from the bandits and even apply "Treatment Magic", of course it's surprising.

Fuu. There's no more business anymore. As expected, recovering the bandits' corpses in this condition feels awkward, the spider will leave coolly.

And, the lady in the carriage gets off in a hurry. The guards are saying something to stop her.

But, such thing doesn't matter. My eyes were nailed on the person held in the lady's arm.

Negishi

Akiko

『Human Vampire LV1 Name Sophia Keren Status HP: 11 / 11 (Green) (Details) MP: 35 / 35 (Blue) (Details) SP: 12 / 12 (Yellow) (Details) : 12 / 12 (Red) (Details) Average Offensive Ability: 9 (Details) Average Defensive Ability: 8 (Details) Average Magic Ability: 32 (Details) Average Resistance Ability: 33 (Details) Average Speed Ability: 8 (Details) Skill 「Vampire LV1」 「Immortal Body LV1」 「Automatic HP Recovery LV1」 「Magic Perception LV3」 「Magic Manipulation LV3」 「Night Vision LV1」 「Enhanced Five Senses LV1」 「n%I=W」 Skill points: 75000 Title 「Vampire」 「True Ancestor」』

The baby who was held by the lady. There's too many parts to be retorted.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 160

Chapter 160.

160 Vampire Princess

What's this person? Because it's an important thing, I will say it one more time.
What's this person?

Um? I don't know where to retort because there's too many parts to be retorted. Yosh, I will retort in turns.

First of all, what's with that name? Why there are two names? No, well, the Sofia is probably the name in this world, and the Negishi Akiko is the name in the previous life. Negishi Akiko, was there such a person? She might be there. or maybe not. She might be there. Just not in my memory. In the first place, I don't remember more than half of my classmates' face and name.

I mean, when the person who has a previous life is appraised, the name of the previous life is displayed. Huh? Then, what about my "no name"? Is it a defeat if I think deeply?

Well, I understood that this baby is my classmate of the previous life. She has the 「n%I=W」 skill too, so it's certain.

But, what's with the Vampire? Moreover, the race displays both Human and Vampire. What does this mean? For the time being, I will appraise the Vampire race.

『Vampire: The night ruler who sucks the blood of others. A race that has high ability, but it also has a lot of weak points. Originally, it's mostly other races, and the prime field of the characteristic of the race is succeeded. In addition, the pure-blooded that's born as a Vampire is called the True Ancestor』

Ah. Well, is it roughly the same as the vampire in the Earth? Because D supervise it, it's probably the same.

Then, the next is the "Vampire" skill.

『Vampire: The special skill that Vampire possesses. The ability values rise by taking blood. In addition, the special effect is demonstrated according to the level. LV1: Blight Blood』 『Blight Blood: If blood is not taken, the person will be weakened』

It's a negative effect at the very beginning. Vampire is inconvenient. Un? But, this child is not weakened, right? Does it means that she drank blood?

Never. The mother's milk is said to be made from blood, so isn't it a substitute of the blood?

How about the title?

『Vampire: Acquisition skill 「Automatic HP Recovery LV1」 「Night Vision LV1」: Acquisition condition: Acquisition of the 「Vampire」 skill: Effect: The Vampire is added in the race : Explanation : The title presented to those who became a Vampire 』

『True Ancestor : Acquisition skill 「Immortal Body LV1」 「Enhanced Five Senses LV1」 : Acquisition condition : Inborn Vampire : Effect : Nullifies the Vampire's negative effects : Explanation : The title presented to those who are the Vampire ancestor 』

Ah, the True Ancestor is amazing. Getting rid of the weak points of the Vampire, it's a cheat. That explains why she can remain calm while the sunlight shines down brightly. The mystery of the Blight Blood a while ago was able to be solved with this.

Besides, it even comes with an rare skill called "Immortal Body".

『Immortal Body : All of the attribute resistances except the fire, light, and corrosion rise. In addition, you can survive with HP 1 only once a day no matter what kind of attack is received 』

An outrageous resistance function is added. It's a cheat. What's this person?

In addition, what's with that enormous amount of skill points? Isn't it impossible? It wins the points that I accumulated steadily so far by a wide margin. What is this? It's a cheat. What's this person?

I mean, no matter how I think, this is D's foolish act that the person born as a Vampire, right? She said that she distributed the reincarnation privilege suitably. As for this person, the "Vampire" skill was presented as the privilege. Why did she have to give such a land mine skill? Is she stupid? She might be stupid.

When I stare quietly, the Vampire child also stared at me. The spider that stares at the baby. The guards who watch it breathlessly. The lady who speaks to me about something. Ah, Madam, because I don't understand the language, it's useless. It's indeed a surreal spectacle.

I mean, judging from situation, this lady is the mother of the Vampire child, right? Appraisal. Hmm? Did she step back at the moment I appraise her? Oh, well.

Ah, her name is Seras Keren. Un. It's the same family name, so it looks like she is the mother of the Vampire child. But, this person is a normal Human. Although her status is slightly higher than normal people, her level is low and she don't have any combat skills, so she's a commoner. However, no matter how I look at her, she's a noble because she hire guards, she is well dressed, and above all, she gets on a luxurious carriage.

A Vampire is born in the noble's house. Uwa. It only smells of troubles. Fortunately, it looks like the fact that this child is a Vampire is not known yet, but it will be known sooner or later. What will happen at that time?

Troublesome. I don't want to be concerned with this. Good friendship of former classmate? There's no way that there's such a thing. Like I will take care of a total stranger's that neither the face nor the name are remembered. Thus, I run away. I didn't see anything. Ah, I will at least mark them just in case.

Then, farewell.

Although the lady Seras shouted something, I don't know. If you want to stop me, master Japanese. Then, I will think of it. It's only think to the end.

Although I have achieved the first encounter with a person who's reincarnated accidentally, it's troublesome. I should ignore the people who are reincarnated. I don't have a friend either, and it's not the feeling of a comrade. Rather, it's only a nuisance if the fellow feeling is held strangely because of that. Un. I will ignore if there's a person who's reincarnated. Let's do so from now on.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter S24

Shun 24. Kumoko's future is somewhat revealed.

I wonder when was my last break. Anyway, no chapters tomorrow.

S24 The Elro Great Labyrinth capture ①

The place that can't be known where. Huge space. One woman was there. The woman leaves only a part of the upper body, and most of her body blend into the space like disappearing. It was a very pitiful appearance. And, words are muttered mechanically from the mouth. 『Skill proficiency reached』 『Experience points has reached a certain degree』 『Skill proficiency reached』
..... 『It's painful』

I jump nimbly. I confirm the surroundings in a hurry. The faint lamp that lights. The illuminated wall is the natural rock surface, and the ground also has the hardness that can be understand even from a sleeping bag. The Elro Great Labyrinth Upper Layer.

I recall the place where I am and the situation. That's right, we came to this Elro Great Labyrinth to cross the continent. Today is the second day after we dive into the labyrinth. Because now is midnight, the lookout was changed, and I was taking my sleep.

I wipe off the sweats. What was the dream a while ago?

「Are you all right?」

Sensei looks into my face from the side. The lookout is changed with one set of two people. The present lookout is Sensei and Basgas-san. It seems that she call out to me worrying after seeing that I had a nightmare and jumped.

「I'm all right. It's only because my dream was a little bad」

I laugh to deceive it. It's actually the fact.

「That's a bad omen」

Basgas-san joins in to my words that I'm trying to elude lightly.

「Is it an omen?」 「Yeah. Do you know it? The story of the Labyrinth's Nightmare」 「No, I never heard of it」

The Basgas-san who usually has a loud voice, lowers his voice when the present state that the surroundings are sleeping. It's like talking about ghost story, a gloomy atmosphere is brought.

「I heard it before. If I'm not mistaken, it was the word that indicate the Myth rank monster that appeared suddenly in the labyrinth more than ten years ago」
「You know it」

Myth rank monster. It's said that those monsters are assumed to be impossible to deal by people with the Over S danger degree.

「The Nightmare is the living calamity of the Elro Great Labyrinth that's equal to the queen. To have a nightmare like this, it might be an omen of the Nightmare's appearance, you know?」 「But, if I'm not mistaken, wasn't the monster subjugated?」 「It's said so to the people」 「To the people?」 「Ah. Generally, it's said that it slaughtered an army, and in the end, it died after receiving a direct hit of the great magic without leaving any trace, but I somehow can't believe it. That monster won't die so easy. I think that it's surely alive now somewhere and it's waiting for a prey to come」 「You say it as if you have seen the real thing」 「Yeah. To tell the truth, the first discoverer of the Nightmare is me」

Basgas-san puffed up with pride for some reason. Well, if it's said as amazing, it is amazing.

「At that time, there's an incident about the abnormal generation of monsters, and I was the guide for the dispatched knight unit to investigate the cause and to cull the monsters. The cause was because the Nightmare drove out the surrounding monsters. And, we went into the Nightmare's base nonchalantly without knowing that. I still haven't forget about that time. When my eyes meet its eyes, I felt more dead than alive」

Did Basgas-san recall that time? Basgas-san trembled suddenly.

「You returned alive well」 「About that. The Nightmare has a strange behavior. If we don't attack it, it will overlook us. And, it even cure wounds」 「Huh?」 「Unbelievable, right? After that, the formed subjugation unit seems to incurred its anger and was annihilated. And after that, when it came out of the Elro Great Labyrinth, the fort is destroyed, it appears in the middle of the war and starts a massacre indiscriminately. It causes outrageous major incidents. And yet, it also help people like a whim, it's a monster that's said that the actions can't be understood」

What's with that irregular monster. Is that really a monster?

「Well, what can be certainly said about the Nightmare is that it's terribly strong. Lad, you look like you have confidence in your skill, but I won't say that it's bad. Change your thoughts before it's too late. I can somehow grasp self-conceit from Lad's fighting appearance. Although I won't say that having confidence in fight is bad, there's a top on the top.」

I startled. Certainly, now that it's mentioned, it's so. After I enter the Elro Great Labyrinth, I never had a hard fight. Although the monsters that appeared are certainly troublesome monsters if it's seen from the world in general, in my case, they are all small fries that can't defeat me. If it's said that there was self-conceit, I can only say there is.

「I'm sorry. I will be careful from now on」 「Ah. You don't have to be careful」

Even though I apologized obediently, such thing was said. As expected, I'm irritated with this.

「Why?」 「Lad, you're misunderstanding it fundamentally. What I'm saying is to see everything. Not only in this labyrinth. You ignored my warning when you enter the labyrinth, and appraised the Water Dragon, right?」

It was known. Sensei looks at me. This is bad. I heard from Sensei that when "Appraisal" is used on the other party, the other party will feel unpleasant, and it's enough to be hostile with that alone. In other words, the Water Dragon might have released its breath in anger because I appraised it at that time.

「Shun-kun, is that true?」 「Yes. I'm sorry」

Even if I deceive it here, it will only become more complicated. I apologize obediently.

「It's not only the Lad's fault that the Water Dragon release its breath. The Water Dragons don't forgive the other party who invades their territory」

I'm relieved at Basgas-san's words. Oh, it was not my fault.

「But, it doesn't change the fact that you didn't follow my warning and did a dangerous act. As a result, your comrades have experience danger. Fortunately, everyone was blown off into the cave, so it was good. However, a comrade might be left behind to fight against the Water Dragon in the sea if one step is wrong. What will you do if it becomes the situation?」

I had a feeling that I heard a sound that made my body became pale suddenly. That's right, what if someone is left behind in that place. If only Katia and Sensei who are left behind in front of the Water Dragon. There's no means to survive. And, there's no means for me who has been washed away to save them. I don't know whether the "Kindness" skill can be used or not. The probability that it can't be used seems to be higher.

「Do you understand? Lad, you don't have the thing called a little sense of danger. No matter what happens, it's all right for you. Such groundless confidence is transparent. I admit that Lad is strong among the Humans. I will say this on top of that. There's a top on the top. Even if it's not so, your comrades almost died just by one of your thoughtless action. Because of my line of work, I have seen a lot of people who died thoughtlessly like that. A good life that won't fall will fall just by a little carelessness and the loosening of the mind. Don't you think that there's no such ridiculous thing?」

I can't argue back. I might have gotten conceited before I know it. I might have too much confidence in my strength. The lengthened nose was just broken.

By my thoughtless action, someone of my comrades is sacrificed. I can't allow such a thing.

I slap my face with all my might to get fired up. My HP decreased. But, it's fine like this. From now on, I won't be careless and self-conceited.

「Thank you for the advice」

I lower my head in the prostrating style. Not only Basgas-san, but Sensei also seemed to be bewildered by this.

「Haan. I see. So, you will listen to an old man's nonsense seriously」 「No, thanks to that, I woke up. Certainly, it seemed that I have been naive so far. If this goes on, it will become an irreparable situation someday」

I mean, it has already become a considerably irreparable situation. Even in such a situation, naivety still remains. Of course I will also be said by Katia. The recent me is slightly strange. I just noticed it clearly. Here is not the peaceful Japan. I must be more conscious of it. If I have the sense of Japan forever, I might lose something more. I can't lose something any further.

「Hmm. You now have a face that was able to see to some extent」 「Thank you」
「And, this is a pure interest, but if Lad fights against the Water Dragon, can you win?」

I think a little to Basgas-san's question.

「I think that it's difficult」

Because it's no use even if I put on the airs, I say the honest force analysis.

「The physical offensive ability here falls remarkably if it's underwater. Having said that, the power of magic attack will be dropped by the Dragon species's peculiar magic obstruction skill. There's no way to win underwater」 「Then, if it's the land?」 「On the land, I will say that about 50%」 「I'm surprised」

Basgas-san mutters to the condition instinctively. Sensei turns the doubtful eyes to me. Huh? Did I say something strange?

And, an unpleasant feeling runs on my body. If I trace back the cause, Basgas-san grins broadly.

「I see, you're not necessarily bragging」

The one just now, "Appraisal"?

「Isn't it a breach of manners?」 「Don't be ridiculous. It's a part of the force analysis to get out of this labyrinth safely」

Isn't that "it's not what you say, but how you say it"? This person obviously peeped my status because he was interested. Then, I will return it.

I appraise Basgas-san. I'm surprised at the appraisal result.

『Human LV66 Name Basgas Status HP:933／933 (Green) (Details) MP:829／829 (Blue) (Details) SP:949／949 (Yellow) (Details) :901／931 (Red) (Details) Average Offensive Ability:903 (Details) Average Defensive Ability:887 (Details) Average Magic Ability:821 (Details) Average Resistance Ability:824 (Details) Average Speed Ability:902 (Details) Skill 「High-speed HP Recovery LV3」 「MP Recovery Speed LV9」 「MP Consumption Down LV9」 「Magic Perception LV9」 「Magic Manipulation LV8」 「Magic Combat Act LV5」 「Magic Granting LV4」 「Offensive Magic Power LV4」 「High-speed SP Recovery LV5」 「Great SP Consumption Down LV5」 「Great Enhanced Destruction LV4」 「Great Enhanced Blunt LV4」 「Enhanced Slashing LV3」 「Enhanced Piercing LV1」 「Great Enhanced Shock LV2」 「Enhanced Earth LV4」 「Enhanced Dark LV1」 「War God Spirit LV1」 「Vitality Granting LV10」 「Ability Granting LV1」 「Great Vitality Attack LV1」 「Earth Attack LV8」 「Poison Synthesis LV10」 「Medicine Synthesis LV10」 「Taijutsu Genius LV5」 「Sword Talent LV2」 「Cooperation LV10」 「Direction LV6」 「Throw LV10」 「Shoot LV10」 「3D-Maneuver LV9」 「Appraisal LV3」 「Concentration LV10」 「Thought Acceleration LV2」 「Foresight LV2」 「Parallel Will LV1」 「Record LV10」 「Accuracy LV10」 「Evasion LV10」 「Great Probability Correction LV3」 「Stealth LV10」 「Concealment LV7」 「Silent LV10」 「Odorless LV10」 「Danger Perception LV10」 「Presence Perception LV10」 「Heat Perception LV10」 「Motion Perception LV10」 「Soil Magic LV10」 「Earth Magic LV8」 「Light Magic LV4」 「Shadow Magic LV10」 「Dark Magic LV5」 「Treatment Magic LV10」 「Poison Magic LV3」 「Destruction Resistance LV9」 「Blunt Resistance LV9」 「Slash Resistance LV9」 「Pierce Resistance LV9」 「Shock Resistance LV9」 「Soil Resistance LV7」 「Dark Resistance LV7」 「Paralysis Nullity」 「Deadly Poison Nullity」 「Sleep Resistance LV8」 「Great Acid Resistance LV5」 「Great Faint Resistance LV3」 「Corrosion Resistance LV3」 「Fear Resistance LV6」 「Pain Nullity」 「Pain Alleviation LV3」

「Night Vision LV10」 「Clairvoyance LV3」 「Great Enhanced Five Senses LV7」
「Perception Range Expansion LV10」 「Destiny LV1」 「Magic Well LV9」 「Heaven
Motion LV1」 「Abundant Sky LV1」 「Fortitude LV1」 「Fortress LV1」 「Mage LV9」
「Amulet LV9」 「Idaten LV1」 Skill points: 50 Title 「Assassin」 「Monster Killer」
「Guider」 「Medicine Technique User」 「Gross Feeder」 「Monster Slaughterer」 「Rescuer」 「Natural Calamity of Monster」 』

What's with this old man!? He's stronger than Hyrinth-san!?

「A high level "Appraisal" holder, huh? It doesn't seem to be an appraisal stone」
「Do you have an appraisal stone?」 「Ah. It's an excellent level 8」

Such thing like a level 8 appraisal stone is a high-class item that's beyond the grasp of the commoner. To have such a thing means that he's not a commoner. The status and the appraisal stone, this person seems to be an outrageous person.

「I understood that Lad's status is high. If it's that status, the upper layer will be all right」

I receive an official guarantee from Basgas-san.

「That's if you never meet with the Remnants of the Nightmare」

However, I have an indescribable uneasiness when Basgas-san muttered the words at the end.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 161

Chapter 161. I changed Sofia to Sophia. I wonder why I translate it to Sofia. Either way, it's still a name, but I think it should be Sophia. Well, it's something unrelated.

161 Town

A little while after I saved the Vampire child and the mother. I arrived at a big town on that day. I mean, when thinking about the distance, it seems to be the town where the parent and child live. Although the castle is not built as expected, there's a huge mansion enshrined at the center of the town. I wonder if that mansion is the Vampire child's house. Something like born with cheats and the family is rich. I'm envious. Well, it can't be helped even if I ask for the moon.

Because I can't enter the town like this, I see the state using "Clairvoyance" in the forest nearby. It's big that it can't be compared with the recent farm village. The population is around 30000 people. This is the first time for me after coming to this world to see a proper town.

A lot of people. Several days can be spent just to look at them. But, well, let's search for the target first.

I look around the town briefly. Oh, fruit store discovered. No no. I'm searching for a different thing now. A-A confectionery!? Oh, great! So, even this world has proper confections. I want to eat it. No no. I'm searching for a different thing now.

I search for the target while looking aside. Found it. Soldier post. If it's a town with such a size, there should be soldiers for vigilance. The problem is how many is the number of soldiers, and how strong are they. There are nine soldier post in total. One at each end of the east, west, south and north, and there's big one that seems to be the headquarters at the center. The remaining four are at the midway point of the four directions' center.

Hmm. The number is around 40 people excluding the center. The center is around 100 people. When I include those who are not there because of patrolling, it's around 500 people in all. Is it a lot, or a little? Although I don't know that part, in my opinion, they are not delicious.

The soldiers train, patrol, do document works, and various things. When I see their training results like this, they don't look so strong, but I can't say anything about them unless I appraise them. It would be good if "Clairvoyance" can be used with Appraisal.

And, there are armed people other than the soldiers here and there. They look like the adventurers at a glance. And, such people are mostly in the same building. It's the building that's big next to the the mansion at the center of the town. Is this the adventurer guild that's essential in the fantasy world? Certainly not. No matter how I look at it, it's not a template organization to that extent. No, right?

But, when I look into the building where the adventurers enter, half of the first floor is a bar, and the remaining half is like the counter. It's the atmosphere like the town hall. The adventurers line up there, and discuss about something. There's a big board where innumerable papers are put up in the wall. The second floor and the third floor are like the working place of the company.

Ah. Un. This is the adventurer guild. Seriously. The adventurer guild really exists. This world is really a fantasy.

It's that. The adventurers accept the request, and fight against the monsters, right? At first, they start from the medical plants harvesting, exterminate the goblins that appeared in village A, and eventually, they will fight against strong monsters. No, well, I don't know whether there's a goblin or not in this world. It seems to exist. After all, it's D's supervision.

And so, when they became famous adventurers, they can go for a Drake extermination. Oh, isn't that the legendary Drake Killer adventurer! Like that. Ah, that's good. But, too bad. I'm at the extermination side.

I wonder will a extermination quest be generated if I become famous. Or, it might have already generated. I slaughtered the knights in the labyrinth, and destroyed the fort at the entrance of the labyrinth. Un. It's not strange even if a subjugation request is listed.

Huh? Isn't that convenient? That means that the adventurers who have excellent skills will come to defeat me, right? If it's the guys who want to kill me, it's fine even if I attack them back. I as the bait to lure the adventurers easily. Isn't it a good idea?

Then, shouldn't I settle down in a place somewhere? Umumu. Construct My Home in a place that stands out. Attack the adventurers there.

It might be good. I mean, isn't it fine here? The town is near. There are adventurers. There are also soldiers. Incidentally, because the Vampire child is probably there, I can do the follow-ups when something happened.

Ah. After all, I'm concerned about the Vampire child, huh? Hmm. However, I hate troublesome things. Although I hate it, abandoning her when I'm near when something happened is also. Hmm. Oh, well. That time is that time.

First of all, I will make My Home here. I will go with the course to change my residence when I found a better location while watching the state for a while. Ah, I wonder if I can secure food around here. Because there's a lot of people living in there, doesn't that means that there's not much monsters around here? That means there's no food. Ah. I guess I have no choice but to go to a suitable place, and catch it.

Although the insufficient things or the future things are uncertain variously, let nature take its course. Well then, let's make the home.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 162

Chapter 162.

162 Dear Sir or Madam, I moved

My Home completed! The My Home this time is the desire product that wrapped up the whole forest. I covered all the forest of around 100 meters in diameter with threads, and remodeled it into My Home. If it's seen from a distance, it might look like a huge white cocoon.

Although this was made in one evening, how's the reaction of the people in the town? As expected, if I make a nest of this scale, it should stand out. I see the state with "Clairvoyance".

Hmm? Hmmm? Hmm. I don't understand. They haven't noticed yet? But, it will be noticed soon, so standby until then.

Fuu. Because I made such a large-scale nest after a long time, my SP has decreased considerably. I take out the food stored in the Space Storage and eat. Yummy.

I think that I should make here as the base, and the one in the Elro Great Labyrinth as a disposal. Because it can still be used there, it's like a villa rather than disposal. If anything happens, I will escape there. Scary people will chase me, so it's better to make many bases.

For the time being, I will watch the state of the town while spending my time leisurely.

No one comes. Why? I understand that there's a slight uproar in the town. The hurried figure of the soldiers and the adventurers are seen. But, although they are hurrying, it's not the atmosphere that they will sortie. It looks like they are trying to enhance the monitoring system to wait-and-see. Why?

If such a dangerous monster settles down close to the town, it's obvious to think that it must be killed immediately, right? Why are they doing things slowly? Did they become a peace-loving idiot?

Ah, or if it's not that, did the yesterday's mother of the Vampire child say something strange? Was it lady Seras? That person and the Vampire child arrived at the town around the yesterday evening. And, they entered the biggest mansion as expected. The servants lowered their head, so it seems to be the residents of that mansion after all. That means she's the wife of the powerful man in this town.

Wife of a powerful man, high influential voice, saved by the impulse yesterday, I'm a spider, a cobweb appears obviously. Ah, ha. It's a association game. I can somehow see the outcome. She spoke eagerly when I leave yesterday, so there's a possibility that she said something to her husband to persuade him so that I won't be subjugated. It seems possible.

No. It's still not decided that it will be like that. I'm sure that now is just at the wait-and-see stage. It's the one called the preparation period. If I wait a little longer, I'm sure that the soldiers or the adventurers will come one after another. If that happens, Welcome. I will be exhilarated with the experience points.

It will happen, right?

Three days passed. As usual, there's no movement in the town. Why? The number of soldiers increased in the nearest station to my nest, and the adventurers also come to see the state sometimes. But, that's all. The soldiers don't take any further actions than watching, and the adventurers also come close to some extent and withdraw. Why they have to withdraw there!?

Because it can't be helped, I attacked the bandits nearby and annihilated them. Because there are bandits who attack wives and children here, it looks like the public order is not so good. There are some a little distant from the town. I look for such bandits with Detection, and raid the hideout. They were delicious. In experience points and my belly.

However, the taste was bad. They are smelly. Although the guy who has the "Odorless" skill was still better, the taste is still bad. Although the knights who I ate before should have been delicious, it seems that the human taste changes considerably according to the individual. Well, if it's me who got used to eating poison, I can endure the smell to some extent.

While I defeated the bandits, levels rose, and my skill points became 5000. With this, I can acquire a broken skill again! Even though I get worked up, the necessary skill points increased for some reason. It's strange. Even though the "Charity" skill should be acquired by 5000 points, the number increased to 6000 points before I know it. Was it my mistake?

By the way, the other broken skills don't seem to be within my reach. "Lust" and "Chastity" are 10000 points. "Wrath" is 15000, "Greed" is 20000, and "Kindness" is 11000. The funny ones are "Envy" at 50000, and "Humility" at 100000. Although it's not as much as "Immortality", it doesn't have the intention to let me acquire it. Ah, I can acquire a part if I have the Vampire child's skill points.

Well, as expected, it's tiresome to save to that extent. Therefore, I acquired the "Demon King" skill instead because it can't be helped.

『Demon King: Every status and every kind of resistance rise』

With this, I'm joining the Demon King. Yay. Well, even if I have this, it's only a skill, so it has no meaning.

It's meaningless if the Demon King don't have the Demon King title. The skill is only the slightly high ability strengthening skill. It looks like there are guys who have this skill here and there other than the genuine Demon King.

By the way, the status rose by only 100 each. Strange. No, it's probably because my base status is too high. Normally, it should be a considerably amazing skill to increase the all of the status by 100. Besides, the resistances also rise. If it's the normal, it's a cheat skill. The "Hero" skill that pairs up with it, might have the same effect.

From the humans' status that I have seen so far, the humans seem to be somehow weak. The highest one that I have seen so far is the middle-aged magician who was together with the knights, but only the magic status is in 4-digits. I have never seen a guy who have 4-digits in the status other than him.

When all status +100 comes there, of course it will change dramatically. Among the weak humans, that alone is enough to be outstanding. Moreover, if the skill level is raised, the status will grow more.

But, it's only to that extent. The effect that I think to be strange becomes an outrageous effect judging from the humans. It looks like I have become an outrageous monster before I notice it.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 163

Chapter 163. Changed a little of the Ruler title effect explanation about the rise of status.

163 Worship me, praise me

Why did it become like this? People praying in front of my home are reflected in my eyes. There are also people who put an offering among them. A lot of them are sweets.

Somehow, I'm worshiped. It looks like I'm treated as a Land God. Why did it become like this?

First of all, the bandit hunting was not good. Although I have hunted most of the bandits in this vicinity, I met the adventurers at that time accidentally. I think that they took the request of the bandit extermination. The fact that I'm doing bandit hunting have already been seen clearly. Thanks to that, I think that the rumor of the spider monster over there defeats the bandits has spread among the adventurers.

I have a thin thread in the town secretly. Although this thread is thin to the extent that it can't be seen, it's strong and hard to be cut. I pick up the sound of the town with this thread like a string telephone. I started to think that if I listen to a lot of conversations, I might understand the language in this world. Well, I still can't understand it at all though.

And, there was a word that's used in the conversation excessively and frequently transmitted from the thread. It's the one that's mainly said by the adventurers and the soldiers while looking at here. Perhaps, I think that the word indicates me. When I hear it, somehow, after my bandit hunting was witnessed, a strange respect or rather, it looks like they started to hold a feeling like belief. I felt that at this point in time was bad.

In addition, in the form of delivering the final blow, a certain adventurer party visited the town. When I thought that they look familiar, it was the people who I saved when they were attacked by the snake in the labyrinth. They heard that there's a huge cobweb near the town, and they came to me. Although my appearance should have changed to some extent after evolving, it looks like the adventurers recognized me somehow. After they said words like gratitude for a while, they gave me the Kurikuta fruit again that I swiped at that time. Of course I accept it with pleasure.

It looks like the rumor spread in the town. The adventurers sometimes come to feed me with sweet foods while I wonder if it's a test of courage. Of course I accept it with pleasure.

The decisive one was I treated a child. It seemed that the adventurers spread that I can use "Treatment Magic", and a mother who held an ill child came to me. The mother who cries and implores. Although I ignored her for a while, she keeps crying aloud the words of nuance endlessly, and I was fed up with it and I gave in.

When I appraise the child, the child was undermined by a considerably severe disease. It's a disease that can't be cured if it's only treated normally, In this fantasy world, of course there's no technology to cure a cancer. The child's disease was a liver cancer.

Can a child have liver cancer? Although I thought about that at first, I somehow guess it when I look at the child's status. There was the Gross Feeder in the title.

They might be poor. They might be troubled by the cost of their food, so they ate various things like poison. Although the digestive organ is protected by the effect of the title, I think that the liver was not able to endure the accumulated poison. The mother was also the same, her whole body is considerably worn-out.

Although there was no obligation to cure them, I cured both of them because I was free. Because it can't be cured just by applying "Treatment Magic" normally, it's a considerably forcible method. I made them sleep, hollow out the organs, and regenerate new organs with "Treatment Magic". It's a method that the medical people of the Earth seem to faint if it's seen. As expected of the fantasy world.

However, I did it with light feelings, and I regretted later. A lot of wounded people and sick people came to me for treatment purpose from the next day. I treated everyone because it has already come this far. It's strange. It's the exact opposite of the original plan.

As a result, I'm extremely worshiped.

But, this is quite good. The offerings are all my favorite foods. The sweet paradise that I saw in the dream was realized here. Ah, happiness.

Judging from me, treating is my odd job. Although I have a hard time with the serious illness people at first, it's not like I will lose something if I failed. Although sweet offerings might stop, because I didn't assume such a thing in the first place, it will only return to the origin. Well, because I succeeded in all of it, now I'm on a Land God boom.

Besides, I have a benefit properly. Although it was the charity that I began little by little, when I continued it, I acquired titles. 「Rescuer」 「Medicine Technique User」 「Saint」 「Savior」 「Guardian」. Somehow I acquired 5 titles.

『Rescuer : Acquisition skill 「Treatment Magic LV1」 「Light Magic LV1」 : Acquisition condition : Acquire a certain number of purgation : Effect : The effect of treatment rises : Explanation : The title presented to those who bring help』

『Medicine Technique User : Acquisition skill 「Medicine Synthesis LV1」 「Treatment Magic LV1」 : Acquisition condition : Use a certain amount of medicine : Effect : Enhance the effect of the medicine : Explanation : The title presented to those who use medicine』

『Saint : Acquisition skill 「Miracle Magic LV1」 「Holy Light Magic LV1」 : Acquisition condition : Acquire a certain number of purgation : Effect : The effect of treatment rises greatly : Explanation : The title presented to those who bring much help』

『Savior : Acquisition skill 「Charity」 「Hero LV1」 : Acquisition condition : Acquire a certain number of purgation : Effect : The elementary attainments of light attribute rise greatly : Explanation : The title presented to those who bring help widely』

『Guardian : Acquisition skill 「Impregnable LV1」 「Shield Talent LV1」 : Acquisition condition : Protect many people : Effect : Each ability of defense and resistance rise : Explanation : The title presented to those who are a guardian』

Whatever I say, the Savior title is amazing. Why is the broken skill in there? Moreover, the Hero. I'm a Demon King and a Hero. It's laughable. The 「Ruler of Charity」 came as an extra naturally. With this, it's 6 titles. Laughter can't stop anymore.

『Charity: n% power capable of reaching the Gods. Gives the effect equal to the Super-speed HP Recovery LV1 to everything that's recognized to be the ally around yourself. In addition, the W system is surpassed and the the right to interfere with the MA area is obtained』

『Ruler of Charity: Acquisition skill 「Miracle Magic LV10」

「Presentation」: Acquisition condition: Acquisition of 「Charity」: Effect: Every ability of MP, magic and resistance rise. A + correction whenever Ruler-type skill proficiency gained. The Ruler class privilege is acquired: Explanation: The title presented to those who rule charity』

Ridiculous! The "Miracle Magic" reached max level right away. Although this is the higher rank of "Treatment Magic", it's an outrageous recovery magic that's one step before the dead resurrection. I mean, the effect of "Charity" is also amazing. Although it's pointless because I'm a loner, if the commander of the army has this, the immortal army can be created easily. I mean, I'm glad that I didn't use my points for this skill.

Oh. Compassion is not for other people's benefit.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 164

Chapter 164.

164 The picky savior

A lot of titles. Well, that's because I have treated a number of people to that extent. Somehow, not only the residents in the town anymore, but it looks like people from the town in the vicinity come over after hearing the rumor of me.

But, when it become like this, should I say as expected or rather, there's even a nasty guy among them. The guy who tells to treat him in an arrogant manner. Ah, I don't understand the language yet. However, I somehow understand what they want to say by the atmosphere.

Of course I don't give any treatments to the guy who has arrogant attitude. Who will treat such an irritating guy willingly. A treatment shop started here before I know it, and it's not like I'm treating because I like it. The title can't be acquired anymore too, so to be frank, there's no benefit for me. Although I have the Savior title, I'm a worldly-minded person.

If it's a guy who pays respect to me properly, well, it's fine to associate. Because I don't have the experience of being pampered in my previous life, I don't feel bad. Fufufu. Praise me more and more.

But, the guy who come in contact with me equally is no thank you. Do you understand it? A massacre is easy depending on my feelings, you know? Why can you talk with an arrogant attitude? Are you an idiot?

Well, when there it's like that, I will either withdraw into my home quickly, or go to another place with Transfer. I don't want to be concerned with them. My anger gauge seems to accumulated just by being concerned. I want to kill them quickly already. But, it's hard to abandon this respect and worship state now.

Thus, this tolerant me will ignore it. I'm very gentle.

Despite that, there's a very persistent guy among them. The middle-aged man who still comes over incorrigibly and speaks to me arrogantly even though I continued ignoring him for a week. To be honest, it's annoying. Most of the guys who I ignored seem to be looked with cold eyes for some reason in the town, and on the next day, their attitude changed when they come again, but I'm troubled because there's also such a persistent guy.

Such a guy is only a powerful man or a very rich person. While it's a great annoyance to the people in the surroundings, no one can complain. If they say it, they don't know what will happen.

Even if they have power, money, and even violence, it's something that's insufficient judging from me. Power? That only has an effect on humans. I'm a spider after all. Money? Is it edible? I don't need it if it's not edible. Violence? Do you think that you can defeat me? If there's not at least 100 humans of the Drake class, you can't defeat me, you know?

Today also, I ignore the raving middle-aged man, and evacuate in the home. With the human's power, no matter how much effort you put, my present home can't be destroyed. But, fire is not good. If he's too persistent, he might really do it.

It will be an real nuisance to the people in the surroundings. As long as such thing is there, I will withdraw immediately. If there's a person who really looks forward to the treatment, treatment won't be received because of that middle-aged man. Well, it's not something concern of me though. The one who's to blame is not me, but the guy who irritates me. Because I cure free of charge, I should be allowed to be this selfish.

I confirm the middle-aged man's state afterwards with "Clairvoyance". He stamp his foot on the ground with a flushed face, and shout at his attendants to vent his anger. Wow. What a disgraceful adult. Do you not understand the cold glance of the surrounding people?

Ah, no no. I don't want to become such an adult. I mean, can I be said as a child now? Although I think that not even two years have passed since birth, the content is pretty much a former high school student. I mean, how much age is an adult for a spider monster? I don't know. In the first place, I don't even know whether there's a life span or not. I have the "Immortality".

I drive out the middle-aged man from my head with such feelings. Although it's good if it's a dandy middle-aged man, I'm not interested in a dirty plump greasy middle aged-man.

Night. Several people steal up soundlessly. Are they trained considerably? There's neither sound nor smell. Well, but still, they can't escape from my Detection.

They are black from head to foot. Although it's slightly different, it has a close resemblance of a ninja. The ninja group enters my home quickly. They use a tool to move the thread out of the way, made a gap and entered there.

How stupid. If such thing is done, even if you do stealth operation specially until here, the master will know the abnormality when the thread is touched. Although these guys might be excellent, it might be their first fight with a spider.

Fight. Yes, the ninjas intend to fight. With this me. Is it the middle-aged man's assassins? The scheme to make me hear him out by beating me up? Or, capture me and train me? Well, it doesn't matter.

Originally, I'm not so kind like a Savior. If they have such intention, I won't show mercy.

The ninjas who advance carefully in my home. Eight people in total. They don't notice my figure here. Although I can kill them in a surprise attack quickly, I will wait for the other side to attack first. Like that, I can insist that it's legitimate self-defense.

Thus, I show my figure magnificently. While activating the "Tyrant" skill that's turned off usually.

Oh. They are scared. Hmm? The leader-like man start to talk. But, I don't understand the language.

I incline my neck to the side. Although I don't know how the action was transmitted to the other party, the ninjas prepare to attack. Four people come here. The remaining four are preparing magic. Oh, four people constructing one magic. Union magic? Was there such a way to activate magic? It looks similar to the way that I usually use the "Parallel Will" to activate "Abyss Magic".

Well, I won't let you shoot such a thing in my house.

The four people who are preparing the magic are pierced by the spear of the soil. Although I was tormented badly by Alaba, in case of the opponent who can use the magic of the soil group, you must think that the ground is a lethal weapon and act. If you stop there to prepare magic, that's an easy target.

Eh? The remaining four people who came here? Such people have already suicide because they charge forward to the invisible Severing Thread that I spread in front of me. Ninja shall die. (TL note: Ninja Slayer reference. The original is Ninja shall perish) No mercy. Just kidding.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 165

Chapter 165.

165 It's a curse

Finish killing the ninjas, and now is the custom chewing. This is a different taste from both the knights and the bandits. Does a human's taste change depending on the job? Perhaps, isn't it delicious when it's a patissier?

Well, let's leave the stupid delusion. I must have him pay for this. Which fool dispatched the ninjas? It's that middle-aged man in all probability.

I wait and see the middle-aged man who stays in the town with "Clairvoyance". Even though it's at such a midnight, the light in the room is still turned on, and he's walking around restlessly. Did the attendant can't be indifferent? The attendant said something, and was shouted back. Ah, if you let out such a loud voice in the middle of the night, it's a neighborhood nuisance.

However, he's obviously behaving suspiciously, so he's definitely the criminal. He's the criminal, right? I'm neither a great detective nor a good person. There's also the pent-up anger so far, so even if he's no the criminal by any chance, isn't it fine? At that time, I can just find the real criminal, and kill the person.

I manipulate an invisible thread spread in the town. Because it's thin to the extent that it's invisible, it can enter the room easily from the gap of the window. I wrap it around the foot of the middle-aged man gently so that it's not noticed. Then, "Deadly Poison Attack" activate.

Normally, it's the poison attack that shows its best effect by invading into the body, but contact still has damage slightly. The middle-aged man's status is same as the commoner, or rather it's slightly lower than that, so if it's my very powerful "Deadly Poison Attack", even the contact damage is enough.

The middle-aged man falls suddenly. Without being defensive, a feeling like thud. Ah, from the back of the head. It seems painful. Well, he will no longer feel something like pain though.

The attendant who runs up to the middle-aged man in a hurry. The middle-aged man's body is shook desperately to wake him up. Unfortunately, that person won't wake up anymore. When the attendant is upset, I recover the thread that wrap around the leg.

Fufufu. I can't help but to say that it's a perfect assassination. I'm sure that not many people can find out that this is an assassination. Besides, no one will think that I'm the one who did it. It's certainly perfect. Perfect crime completed. It's beautiful even if I do say so myself.

Well then, the nuisance has disappeared, so let's sleep. Because I have the "Abnormal Condition Nullity" that has the effect of Sleep Nullity, I don't need to take a sleep, but it's the problem of the feeling. It's a happiness to sleep comfortably Eat and sleep. After all, a healthy mind dwells in a healthy life. Well then, good night.

Good morning. Umu. Because I finished a job last night, a fresh awakening. It seems that good things will happen today.

What happened after the middle-aged man died? I look at the mansion in the town that the middle-aged man made as a base. That middle-aged man used one room of the Vampire child's house in the center of the town. Although that means he has the power to that extent, if he dies, power doesn't have a meaning. Money, honor, and power will be lost if a person dies.

The state in the mansion looks busy. The man who seems to be the Vampire child's father give instructions to the servants while having a tired look. Perhaps, did this continue the whole time? Well, a mysterious and unnatural death case happened in his mansion after all. He woke up in the middle of the night and move around when he was on the verge of sleeping all the time. I appreciate your efforts.

I mean, there are people who have a pale face other than the town chief who have a tired look. It's that middle-aged man's attendants. A splendid pale face that seems to die at any moment. Incredible. Human's face can become pale to that extent. It's my first time to see such a human's face become pale like manga. Generally, the people who confronted me become pale, but it was not to this extent.

The master dies suddenly, and is he doubted as the criminal? It's wrong. If it's the attendant who was in that place yesterday, it can't be helped to doubt him, but the others are not in the room, so I don't know why everyone becomes pale. Do they think that the next one to die is themselves? Although that seems possible, because nothing happened even one night passed, it seems to calm down soon.

Whenever the town chief talks to them, they say something while feeling scared. Really, what have happened? If it's merely the master died, there's no way they will become so pale. I'm interested. But, because I don't know the language, I don't know the details. Mun. It's inconvenient when I don't understand the language.

It would be better if D made a language translation function. It's tough that what's translated is only the system. Well, if the system is even in the language of this world, I will be checkmated, so I'm thankful there.

Although it seems that I will come to understand it someday if I make wiretapping the town as a daily routine, I don't know when is that someday. Now I only understand a few words. It's mainly the name of the sweets and fruits though. With this condition, it seems to at least take years. Ah, I wonder one year of this world is equal to how many days in Earth. I don't even know that.

Hmm. Can I learn language quickly? It would be good if there's such a skill. There's no such skill.

When thinking about such thing, the voice of heaven is heard suddenly.

『Individual, Zana Horowa has unified with individual, Queen Taratect』

What?

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter S25

Shun 25. Changed Remains of the Nightmare to Remnants of the Nightmare.

S25 The Elro Great Labyrinth capture ②

The fifth day after entering the labyrinth. We have moved half of the labyrinth. Because it's only a small number of people and everyone's status are high, we took the shortest route at a considerably absurd pace.

Although I was worried that we will be ambushed by the empire soldiers on the way in the labyrinth, I'm told that it was impossible by Basgas-san. The empire is evading the labyrinth, and above all, ambush in the labyrinth is inefficient and the danger is great too. In the complex labyrinth like a maze, something like ambush can never be done because they might not know which route to pass.

That's why, only monsters can be said as an enemy in the labyrinth. The monsters also haven't become a big wonder at present. Although there are many kinds of monster that has poison in the Elro Great Labyrinth Upper Layer, most of our member can use "Treatment Magic". Because many monsters have low status and even if we received poison, it can be recovered immediately. In the first place, receiving attack itself is few.

Hyrinth-san who boast of his impregnable defense as the shield at the front, and Sensei who has high magic ability at the back. Furthermore, Katia and I who can be both a vanguard and a rearguard, Basgas-san sees the situation and move. Although it's an impromptu team, it can be said that it turned out well. Except one person.

「Stop for a moment. Let's take a break once soon」

Everyone who stops to my call. Basgas-san confirms the safety in the surroundings quickly, and open the luggage to be able to take a break. Among everyone who begins to relax, only one person, Anna who sits down while panting.

「I am sorry」

She whisper it to me with the voice that seems to vanish. I shake my head silently, and tapped Anna's shoulder gently.

Anna is an excellent magician. But, among the members gathered here, she looks inferior no matter what. In addition, because her status is inclined to magic, her physical strength is low by all means. If we don't take a break frequently like this, with Anna's stamina, she can't match our movement speed.

Because Sensei is also a slow-growing Elf, her physical status is low, but her body is strengthened by the excessive magic. Although she has a young child appearance, she can do well in close combat.

I wonder whether this is the difference between the pure Elf and the Half Elf or Sensei is special. Although I think that it's probably the latter, an obvious difference is shown to Anna, and she has been wreck physically and mentally. Originally, she was cornered by the strong pressure that she's holding back everyone, and it seems to become a burden mentally.

After all, it might be a mistake to bring her along. But, even if I leave her like that, as expected, it doesn't change that it's an anxious situation. Either way, I think that it was not the right choice.

Then, I who acknowledged to take Anna along must watch her with responsibility. Does everyone understand it? Nothing is said to me. Although Basgas-san doesn't know the circumstances, he's a professional who guides anyone. Even if the client's pace is slow, he won't complain. However, only Katia seems to have some dissatisfaction. I should talk to her indirectly later.

「Well then, now that we have reached half of the labyrinth, let's decide the route after this」

Basgas-san talks to me. And, I decide to leave Anna for a moment.

「There are several routes after this. The dangerous shortest course, the relatively safe detour course, and the course that dangers are not known. Although it's roughly like this, which will you choose?」 「Well, the dangerous shortest route, how dangerous is it?」 「There are two kinds of paths in the Elro Great Labyrinth. The normal narrow passage like here, and the other one is called as the large passage」

Then, the word ended once, and a drink is presented to me. I receive it gratefully.

「About the large passage, it's literally a wider passage than the normal narrow passage where we are now. Rather than a passage, it's already like a hall. And, it continues endlessly. Although I say that passing through the large passage is the shortest route, the large passage has strong monsters that can't be compared with the monsters in the normal narrow passage. It's a danger zone where there's a lot of C class monsters and sometimes even the A class monsters」

A class. It's the threat at the level that the army is dispatched. Generally, it's said that the limit of the monster that can be defeated by a small party is a B class monster. Human is inferior in status compared with the monster. In order to oppose it, skills are polished, form a group, rack the brains and cooperate. Like that, victory can be gained against the monster that's superior in status.

But, that can only be done up to the B class. The A class monster makes a clear distinction with the monsters before. First of all, it has high status, and it even becomes excellent in skills. It's equaled in the skill that's the human advantage. Among them, there are also individuals that have the special skill peculiar to the monsters, and such species is generally troublesome.

The representative example of the A class is the high rank Drake. Although the Light Drake enslaved by me is barely at this rank, that guy has become strong to approach me who's the master. If this continues, I might be surpassed.

「Then, how much is the difference in days between the safe detour course and the shortest course?」 「Well, when thinking about the pace so far, it's four days」

It's unexpectedly a lot. It seems to be a considerable detour.

「How about the last course?」 「Ah, There」

Basgas-san hesitates to say for some reason. When I'm waiting for the continuation, he scratched his head and opened his mouth.

「To be frank, it's the course that I don't want to go」 「That's too frank. Is there a reason?」 「It's the Nightmare」 「What?」 「That place is the area where the Nightmare made as its territory in the old days. That's why, guides don't want to approach the course there. Especially me who meet it directly. If possible, it's my real intention that I don't want to approach it」

The Nightmare. The Myth rank monster that was mentioned the other day. But, it shouldn't be there anymore, right?

「By the way, is that course fast?」 「It's a little slower than the shortest route. The shortest route should be slightly faster. The difference should be around one day」

The dangerous shortest course, the safe but a considerable detour course, and the unknown course.

「The Nightmare is not there anymore, right?」 「Ah, the main body of the Nightmare is not there」 「Main body?」

I inclined my neck to the side to Basgas-san's strange words. As if there's something that's not the Nightmare.

「We call it as the Remnants of the Nightmare」 「The Remnants of the Nightmare?」 「Ah. It's the monsters that have the appearance similar to the Nightmare. Although they are scattered in a wide range in the upper layer now, a lot of them inhabit in that course」 「Is the monster strong?」 「It's strong and troublesome」

A monster that make Basgas-san said that it's strong and troublesome. If possible, I don't want to encounter it.

「However, they also have the same behavior as the Nightmare. As long as we don't harm them, they won't attack us」 「What is that?」

An amazed voice came out. Is it okay to call such a monster that has a strange behavior as a monster? Monster should have an image of attacking without questioning.

「However, it spread invisible threads all over the place, and it will attack if the thread is cut」 「Thread?」 「Ah. Now that you mention it, I have said about it. The Nightmare is a spider monster. The Remnants of the Nightmare are also the same」

Spider, huh?

「The invisible thread that has powerful viscosity that when you are caught in it, you can't escape from it easily, and toughness. Even though that much is troublesome already, it's an absurd monster that the main body is also strong. Although there's a common sense of burning the cobweb when it's found in the old days, after the Remnants of the Nightmare appeared, it changed into 'when the cobweb is found, run away immediately'. It's the most nasty monster in the upper layer」

That's a terribly troublesome monster. While using the guard called the thread, the main body is also strong. As if it's a monster that has the human slyness. If possible, I don't want to encounter it.

Then, that course is rejected. The remaining ones are the shortest course and the detour course.

「Everyone. Should we advance the dangerous shortest course or the detour but safe course? I want to hear everyone's opinion」

I call out to the other members who are taking a rest. I was just warned by Basgas-san the other day. I can't choose the dangerous course by my own judgment only. Above all, I can't put more burdens on Anna who's near to her limit. The judgment was difficult for me. But, the more time we spend, the more the situation moves. While we are doing this now, Yuugo might be attacking the Elf Village now.

「I think that we should advance the shortest route」

Sensei's words. Katia seems to agree with her.

「But, isn't it dangerous? If there are several A rank monsters, even if it's us, it's difficult to deal with it」 「Ah, Be relieved because the A rank monsters will never be in a crowd. Even if we encounter it, it will be alone」 「Then, we can manage somehow」

Katia declares with confidence to Basgas-san's words.

「But still, I think that we should not take the risks」

Hyrinth-san picks the safe route. Well, originally, Hyrinth-san objected that I'm going to the Elf Village. Rather than the Elf Village, our safety probably have higher priority.

With this, it's two to one. Basgas-san keeps neutrality, so the remaining ones are Anna and me.

「What Anna thinks that we should do?」 「You may ignore my opinion」 「That's not going to happen. Anna is a comrade after all. It's fine to state your opinion without reserve」

I speak to Anna with a slightly strong tone. Anna shows a grateful appearance, and after she thinks for a while, it seems that she have decided it.

「Let's advance the shortest route」 「Is it okay?」

With the thought of 'can she catch up with us?', and 'is she all right?'.

「Yes」

It was a powerful affirmation that came back. Then, there's nothing that I can say.

「Let's advance the shortest route」

It was decided to advance knowing the dangers.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 166

Chapter 166. I decided to only bold the (new) skills and titles. because most of her skills leveled whenever the status is shown. Posting 5 chapters today. 166

Mother eating

《Status was unified》《Skills were unified》《Skill points were unified》《Titles were unified》

Oh, eh, ah, yes.

《Experience points has reached a certain degree. Individual, Zana Horowa LV18 has become LV19》

E-Eh? After that, my level rose at a ferocious pace, and it rose to 27. Isn't the rise too much? Is it the experience points of defeating Mother? Mother is amazing.

No no. Rather than that, what's unification? I understand that it's defeated, but unification? Is it that? Is it because the soul was consumed?

For the time being, let's confirm my status.

『Zana Horowa LV27 No name Status HP:31622／31622(Green)+1900(Details)(25611 up) MP:36618／36618(Blue)+1900(Details)

(20065 up) SP: 26097 / 26097 (Yellow) (Details) (22332 up) : 5665 / 26097 (Red) + 0 (Details) (22332 up) Average Offensive Ability: 29153 (Details) (25012 up) Average Defensive Ability: 29104 (Details) (24898 up) Average Magic Ability: 35280 (Details) (19541 up) Average Resistance Ability: 35107 (Details) (19432 up) Average Speed Ability: 34021 (Details) (23188 up) Skill 「Super-speed HP Recovery LV6 (5 up)」 「Magic Extremity」 「Magic God Act LV7 (3 up)」 「Magic Granting LV10 (1 up)」 「Magic Enchantment LV2 (new)」 「Great Offensive Magic Power LV2 (new)」 「High-speed SP Recovery LV10 (7 up)」 「Great SP Consumption Down LV10 (7 up)」 「Great Enhanced Destruction LV6 (new)」 「Great Enhanced Blunt LV7 (new)」 「Great Enhanced Slashing LV4 (new)」 「Great Enhanced Piercing LV6 (new)」 「Great Enhanced Shock LV6 (new)」 「Great Enhanced Abnormal Condition LV10 (7 up)」 「War God Spirit LV10 (8 up)」 「Vitality Granting LV10 (3 up)」 「Ability Granting LV7 (new)」 「Great Vitality Attack LV4 (new)」 「Divine Dragon Power LV7 (new)」 「Dragon Barrier LV2 (new)」 「Deadly Poison Attack LV10 (2 up)」 「Strong Paralysis Attack LV10 (new)」 「Corrosion Attack LV6 (1 up)」 「Heresy Attack LV8 (1 up)」 「Poison Synthesis LV10」 「Medicine Synthesis LV10 (1 up)」 「Shield Talent LV2 (new)」 「Thread Genius LV10 (8 up)」 「Impregnable LV2 (new)」 「God-weaving Thread (new)」 「Thread Manipulation LV10」 「Psychokinesis LV7 (new)」 「Throw LV10」 「Shoot LV10 (5 up)」 「Space Maneuver LV10」 「Kin Domination LV10 (new)」 「Spawning LV10 (new)」 「Concentration LV10」 「Super Thought Acceleration LV3 (1 up)」 「Future Vision LV3 (1 up)」 「Parallel Will LV9 (1 up)」 「High-speed Calculation LV10 (2 up)」 「Accuracy LV10」 「Evasion LV10」 「Great Probability Correction LV10 (9 up)」 「Stealth LV10」 「Concealment LV2 (new)」 「Silent LV10 (1 up)」 「Odorless LV1 (new)」 「Emperor (new)」 「Presentation (new)」 「Conviction」 「Hell」 「Degeneration」 「Immortality」 「Heresy Magic LV10」 「Wind Magic LV10 (3 up)」 「Storm Magic LV1 (new)」 「Soil Magic LV10 (3 up)」 「Earth Magic LV3 (new)」 「Light Magic LV2 (new)」 「Holy Light Magic LV1 (new)」 「Shadow Magic LV10」 「Dark Magic LV10」 「Darkness Magic LV7 (1 up)」 「Poison Magic LV10」 「Treatment Magic LV10」 「Miracle Magic LV10 (new)」 「Space Magic LV10」 「Dimension Magic LV7 (1 up)」 「Abyss Magic LV10」 「Hero LV1 (new)」 「Demon King LV8 (new)」 「Charity (new)」 「Patience」 「Pride」 「Rage LV2 (new)」 「Snatch LV3 (new)」 「Satiation LV10 (2 up)」 「Sloth」 「Wisdom」 「Great Destruction Resistance LV5 (new)」 「Blunt

Nullity (new)」「Great Slash Resistance LV5 (new)」「Great Pierce Resistance LV5 (new)」「Great Shock Resistance LV5 (new)」「Flame Resistance LV8 (4 up)」「Water Current Resistance LV1 (new)」「Storm Resistance LV4 (new)」「Earth Resistance LV5 (4 up)」「Lightning Resistance LV1 (new)」「Holy Light Resistance LV2 (new)」「Darkness Resistance LV5 (new)」「Great Heavy Resistance LV4 (1 up)」「Abnormal Condition Nullity」「Great Acid Resistance LV7 (new)」「Great Corrosion Resistance LV5 (new)」「Faint Resistance LV8 (1 up)」「Great Fear Resistance LV2 (1 up)」「Heresy Nullity」「Pain Nullity」「Sense of Pain Nullity (new)」「Night Vision LV10」「Thousand Miles Eye LV1 (new)」「Evil Eye of Grudge LV8 (1 up)」「Evil Eye of Stasis LV7 (1 up)」「Evil Eye of Magnetism LV5 (1 up)」「Evil Eye of Extinction LV5 (1 up)」「Great Enhanced Five Senses LV10 (7 up)」「Perception Range Expansion LV8 (1 up)」「Divinity Area Expansion LV9 (2 up)」「Divine Magic」「Destiny LV10 (6 up)」「Heaven Motion LV10 (new)」「Abundant Sky LV10 (new)」「Fortitude LV10 (7 up)」「Fortress LV10 (7 up)」「Idaten LV10 (2 up)」「Taboo LV10」「n%I=W」 Skill points: 164500 Title 「Gross Feeder」「Blood Relative Eater」「Assassin」「Monster Killer」「Poison Technique User」「Thread User」「Merciless」「Monster Slaughterer」「Ruler of Pride」「Ruler of Patience」「Ruler of Wisdom」「Drake Killer」「Fear Bringer」「Dragon Killer」「Ruler of Sloth」「Natural Calamity of Monster」「Conqueror」「Human Killer」「Rescuer (new)」「Medicine Technique User (new)」「Saint (new)」「Savior (new)」「Ruler of Charity (new)」「Guardian (new)」「King (new)」「Human Slaughterer (new)」「Drake Slaughterer (new)」「Natural Calamity of Human (new)」』

!? What is thiiiiiiissss!?

No no no no no! This is obviously strange!? Wh-Wh-What should I do?

Emergency meeting activate! "Parallel Will" assemble! [Okay, assembled] Who on earth ate the Queen!? {Hai, it's me!} Try and confirm your status. {Um, what is thiiiiiiissss!?!} I mean, what's happening on you now? {Um, I have taken over Mother's body} Are you serious? {Serious} O-Oh. Because of that, the status is the same as me? {It's the same} It was added without dividing it by 2.

{Seriously? I mean, when did you acquire "Immortality"?} It came along with evolution.
{Seriously?} I mean, you have taken over Mother's body means that you're now at the bottom layer as Mother? {Yeah} Seriously? How about the others and the remaining Queens? <It seems to end within one month> (I'm also almost done here) [Same here] 「Same as the rest」 [As expected, the Main is still not at all] That means you can unify with the four Queens within one month? {Crap, what's that? Scary} Isn't this means that there's no enemy anymore?

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 167

Chapter 167. The chapter title is probably a Code Geass reference because it's Hangyaku no Kumo. Anyway, what the Parallel Wills were doing all the time is revealed.

167 Spider of the rebellion

At first, I felt an uncomfortable feeling when I fight against Fire Dragon Rendo. I felt the Dragon to be hateful at that time. Although I had thought that it was scary, there was not a time that I felt the Dragon to be hateful until then. The start was when I have doubts on these feelings.

If I see my inside, the doubt was clear. Is it the effect of "Wisdom"? I was able to recognize my soul. There were two things that influenced the soul.

One is the Ruler skill. "Pride" and "Patience", the two skills has influence on my soul. But, this can't be helped. I can't tear off the skill, and I can only deal with it by being aware that I'm influenced.

The problem is the another one. That's the forced rule by the Superior. I received the influence even though it's a little.

Something like a thread that's connected to my soul. It's the line for the transmission that the Superior use to send the orders to me.

The fact that I only receive a little influence is because of the "Heresy Nullity" skill. But still, because the line is connected since I was born, the order of the Superior flowed into my soul. The content of the order is to become strong. It seemed that this is the reason why I greed for strength.

After I defeated Fire Dragon Rendo, I used the line oppositely, and started attacking the Superior. I dispatched the "Parallel Will" through the line, and the erosion of the soul by the wills started. If I were to compare it and say, it's near hacking. From the terminal called me, I invade the main computer and take over it. This was the identity of the attack outside of the system that D said.

When saying by my sense, it was similar to the act of eating. Eat the other party's soul. It was such a feeling.

I was able to identify the Superior who gave me the order immediately. Mother. My biological parent, and the Ruler of the Elro Great Labyrinth.

But, even that Mother was only a mediator. There's someone who rules Mother. Surprisingly, that person enslaved four monsters that are equal to Mother. I advance the erosion of Mother slowly so that it was not noticed by the true Ruler. Incidentally, I dispatched "Parallel Will" to the remaining four through the line, and start the capture almost at the same time.

Eating the soul was a quite hard work. After all, it's the thing that's called as the creature's core. And in addition to that, the other party is a far higher rank existence. If it's a normal physical match, there's no way to win. It can be said that it was possible to carry out simply because I have the defense of the soul that's near cheating called as "Heresy Nullity". The erosion of the soul only advanced slowly.

The turning point was when "Taboo" reached max level. After that time, my thoughts changed suddenly. It's also because I absorbed Mothers' soul little by little, but the truth obtained by "Taboo" brought me shock. At the same time, I decided it. I must take actions.

I was not able to say leisurely things like 'so that it won't be discovered'. That's why, I decided to erode boldly.

Of course it was discovered. But, if it's against my "Parallel Will" that has "Heresy Nullity", there's no way it can win in the fight through the soul. Because the other party understood it, it looked for my main body.

And, the spider army led by the Arch attacked me. It was my miscalculation regarding the other party, but I didn't die. I was stronger than the other party's thought.

However, still, I can't win if the main body of Mother and the true Ruler come. That's why, I didn't go to the place where Mother seems to go, and I pay close attention to Mother's movement. After all, I finished marking through the soul.

There was no problem because the true Ruler was far away. She doesn't have the "Space Magic". That's why, she can't come to me suddenly.

Then, it's only the fight with time. Will I eat them up first? Or, will they find my main body first?

As a result, I succeeded in consuming Mother.

Although it took a considerable long time, I understood that I can absorb the all of the other party when I consume the soul. The remaining four can be consumed within another one month. Then, I can oppose her. If things go well, I might be able to consume her.

If I go that far, it's not a dream to become an Administrator. My purpose will soon be achieved.

What kind of actions will Gyurigyuri take at that time? I don't know. But, I don't have the intention to stop. It's not that I have such refined thoughts like saving the world. But, if this stays the same, I can't settle down. I don't like it. That's why, I move.

I think that the Mother's Ruler is a terrible backlash. She never thought that such me is mixed in her kin. It's the end of the luck to have connected it with the "Kin Domination" skill.

In case of her, she probably let Mother to give birth suitably to increase the usable pieces and strengthen it, but she might have not imagined that an irregular was generated in that. Sorry. I will snatch both your intention and power.

Therefore, don't catch up with me. Present Demon King, Ariel-san of the Origin Taratect.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 168

Chapter 168. Kumoko understands the language now.

168 Write the things I want to memorize in the notebook and eat it like that

Mother eating ended, and status increases remarkably. The skills are also mach. Incidentally, another body obtained. What am I already?

It looks like I absorbed Mother's memory and knowledge as the side effect. To be specific, I came to understand the language of this world. This, just when I was thinking of wanting to hear the content of the story in the town. How timely.

Thus, let's eavesdrop on why the attendants of the middle-aged man become very pale.

Fumu. Guessing from the fragments of the talk, that middle-aged man was a big shot of another country. But, he was made to be a negotiator to win over me for his own country almost in the form of getting rid of a nuisance. The negotiation with the mouth failed. Well. I was able to understand the language just now. Even though I don't understand no matter what you say, negotiation is even impossible. I mean, either way, with that middle-aged man's attitude, I won't say yes.

The middle-aged man has already died even though he's asked about the crime of trying to hurt the Divine Beast-sama of the another country secretly. Is the Divine Beast-sama me? Nai wa. Generally, spiders don't have the image of the Divine Beast.

Ah, it looks like it's confirmed that the ninjas moved by the order of that middle-aged man. Incidentally, it looks like the town chief knows it. It seems that the attendant who received the investigation confessed easily. The ninjas didn't return, and the middle-aged man dies a mystery death. As for the death of the middle-aged man, it seems to be already recognized as my curse. No, although it doesn't change that it's my act, why is it known?

And. When I return to the talk, it might become a war by diplomatic issue. Haaan. So that's why, the attendants have such a pale face. Because of the master's thoughtless action, they have make enemies of me and this country. When I imagined that it might damage the mother country, of course they will become pale.

I mean, isn't that using me as an excuse? Although it becomes a feeling like a war is happening because of me, I don't know, okay? Why are you talking about me like I'm the country's holdings? I don't particularly have emotional attachment in this country.

Annoying. After all, it's the same as that middle-aged man. Rather, it's more wicked to use that as an excuse to start a war. It might be the right time to leave. It was pleasant to be pampered, and it was a happiness that sweets are offered, but there's no reason for me to be treated as a human tool. The likes of the human to look at me like that, your hubris is excessive. I see the state for a little more, let's move if I don't like it.

I keep picking up the sound transmitted from the thread. As expected, because I can't grasp all the sounds in the town, it's only a part. I hear multiple sounds using "High-speed Calculation" and "Super Thought Acceleration" at the same time. There's no way I can do such a thing without the skills. If Prince Shotoku existed, isn't him a monster?

Although the "Super Thought Acceleration" is convenient, it was necessary to practice a little to understand the words. Because the heard sound becomes terribly slow. 「Good Morning」 will be heard like 「Gggooooooooodd Mmmmoorrrnnniiinnnggg」. Although such phenomenon happens because my recognition of time was prolonged than normal, if I'm not accustomed to it, I won't understand what the other party says.

I keep picking up sounds at random with the implication of practicing to be accustomed, and information gathering. I was okay when I tapped the town chief because I only concentrated there, but when I pick up multiple sounds like this, there's a discrepancy that occurs to the recognition by all means. Thanks to that, I became quite accustomed. Well, still, it needs a great concentration though.

As a result of hearing the voice in the town, I have understood various things.

First of all, about me. It's confirmed that I'm called as the Divine Beast-sama. Well, this is something that I knew since the time I tapped the town chief. It looks like I'm worshiped by the citizens with the feeling of I'm the guardian deity of this town. As expected, it looks like the citizens are prohibited to approach here today because such thing happened.

Somehow, it looks like the start of me being worshiped is not only the story that I saved the town chief's wife and child. This town, or perhaps I should say, in the country with this town, it seems that the religion called Goddess Religion is active here, and it seems that in the Goddess Religion, the spider the messenger of Goddess-sama.

Ah, yes. I'm different from that one. I mean, that messenger is a Demon King now. I'm opposing her. Is it fine?

That's why, the situation where I'm respected as Divine Beast-sama because I saved people on a whim, and the spider was originally regarded as sacred. I see.

I understood a little of the middle-aged man who I killed yesterday. This middle-aged man seems to be a noble of the neighboring small country. Besides, his position is high. But, the person is incompetent in the lineage only. He was partly driven out of his own country by dispatching him as a goodwill ambassador of this country.

Although I don't know whether it's a lie or truth because it's the citizens' rumor, isn't it bad to entrust diplomacy to an incompetent person? Besides, that incompetent person caused a problem at the dispatch destination. Rather, isn't the central figure of the neighboring country also incompetent? If thinking from that middle-aged man's personality, it's obvious that he will raise a problem.

No, is that perhaps the aim? Let the middle-aged man to cause a diplomatic issue, and use that reason to raise a war. Is that the purpose? Certainly not. As expected, that's leaping too much.

Ah. I'm hungry. Even if I unified with Mother, my SP didn't recover to full. It can't be helped. Let's go a little hunting to fill my belly.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 169

Chapter 169.

169 No more tributes

Three days after killing the middle-aged man. After that, the number of people come to my place decreased. I mean, it was prohibited to come. That goes without saying because I have killed the middle-aged man.

The citizens' reactions are generally annoyed. There are people who say that the middle-aged man deserves to die without hesitating. Although they don't speak of it, it looks like most people think so.

But, among them, there are people who think that the spider is dangerous after all. Such people are usually glared by the people in the surroundings, and they correct what they have said in a hurry. Religion is scary. Actually, seeing from the citizens, I'm a very dangerous creature. But still, the worshiped faith. Those who believe will be saved. Judging from a Japanese sense, religion is hard to understand.

Well, such thing doesn't matter. The problem is the number of people that came decreased, and the tribute decreased. Even if it's prohibited, the people who come will come. Faithful people, and people who want the wounds and disease to be cured. But, such people come only in bit by bit. It doesn't come, the food doesn't come.

There's no sweet food. Uuuu. It's painful.

I was able to replenish my decreased SP relatively easy. Come to think of it, the complete recovery by level up disappeared before I know it. Well, I can somehow imagine the reason. I have exceeded the acceptable limits that can be recovered.

The complete recovery of level up comes from the " $n\%I=W$ " skill. Although it's something like an extra function that was set by D so that we don't die easily, the energy for the recovery is pumped out from the world. Although it would be good that a little amount of energy is pumped out when it's a low status, when I became this strong, an enormous amount of energy needs to be pumped out to recover. That's why, was it set that supply will stop when a certain point is reached? Or, did D tamper the setting in real time?

If I think about it, the shedding didn't take place even if I leveled up recently. Recently, because my HP didn't decrease when I level up, I didn't mind it, but I think that the recovery probably stopped from there.

So, I looked for prey to recover my SP that had rose greatly and irregularly to the maximum. Even if I say so, I have set an aim. Although I wander around aimlessly when I'm free to fill the map of this neighborhood, I discovered a considerably large-scale group of bandits at that time. I mean, they made a village. At that time, I didn't attack because the judgment was strange whether it's the bandits or it's a village made at a remote area. No, well, almost all of the villagers have the "Snatch" skill, so I think that they are obviously bandits from their appearance.

Because I became able to understand words, I confirmed whether the bandit village was really a bandit village or not. Well, should I say as expected? It was the bandit. It was confirmed that they are a large-scale group of bandits that move in organization, and attack village or town in the vicinity, travelers and moving merchants.

Now that I know that, there's no need to hold back. I annihilated them and eat them deliciously. There were quite strong as bandits, so the experience points were delicious. Thanks to that, my level rose by 3. The taste was not so bad because they made a village and they are clean.

So, the stomach is satisfied. But, this and that are different. There's always room for sweet foods. Even if my stomach is satisfied, my heart is not satisfied. Kuu.

Well, it can't be helped. I must think that it's better even if the offering is little. When I was in the labyrinth, I can never eat sweet foods. If it's compared with that, now is more luxurious. Ah, when I taste luxury once, I can't return to the origin. Desire is frightening.

Because it can't be helped even if I asked for the moon, I will pick up the sound in the town and eavesdrop today. The rumor of the war begins to appear among the citizens. Well. As expected, I think that there's no war. That's the scheme that make use of the diplomacy to raise the war. The other party is a small country too.

To be frank, the benefit obtained is lower than the cost. It might be good if there's at least one strong soldier who's matchless, but when I see the human's strength that I have seen so far, I don't think that there's a human who's matchless. Then, after all, it becomes a war of attrition, and the soldiers will be used until the end. There's also the consumption of the supplies, and there's also the post-treatment after winning. To be frank, even if they fight and win, it's a long way off to obtain any benefit.

Ah, but wait. This country is religious country. When it becomes a religious war, will it change? Ah, then it's not impossible. Judging from me who's secular, it's unbelievable that a war will start by faith. Even in the Earth's history, there's a lot of religious war.

The me who's used as the excuse of the war. Nai wa. I'm not such an exaggerated thing. Do I have to say "Stop, don't fight for me"?

Oh, well. If a war happened, that time is that time.

And, the one on my mind is the Vampire child. That child spends days peacefully for now. It looks like the people in the surroundings haven't notice that she's a Vampire. Rather, the person herself might not know about it either.

I didn't know about my status until my Appraisal level rose. As for that child who didn't have Appraisal, that means she doesn't even know her own race, right? Thanks to the True Ancestor title, there's no weak point as a Vampire, so there's no subjective symptoms.

Then, what will happen when she knows it? The noble's daughter is a Vampire. Uwa. It only smells of troubles. What should I do at that time? Although I don't want to be concerned with her, what should I do?

Well, at present, it doesn't seem that there's a human who has Appraisal in the surroundings, so isn't it all right? If there's a person who has Appraisal, it will be an uproar. Ah, if only Appraisal can be used with "Thousand Miles Eye". I can confirm the status of the people in the surroundings.

The "Thousand Miles Eye" is evolved from "Clairvoyance". Although it's simply the distance that can be seen increased, the distance is abnormal. I can see the Elro Great Labyrinth from here. I can see the distant scenery while being here as much as I like. It's an amazing skill.

At this time, I was absorbed to hear the sound in the town. I was a little careless. If I confirm it properly, I should be able to evade it.

My Home is blown off. An outrageous shock. Moreover, I was not able to perceive the magic formula means that the destruction is not by magic. It's either a pure physical attack or an attack by the skill.

「Finally, I found you」

I look at the person who brought the holocaust. The Demon King was there.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 170

Chapter 170. Meet the Demon King.

Changed Fallen Lewdness to Decadence. ~~Changed Great Demon King to Demon Emperor.~~ Changed Demon Emperor back to Great Demon King. 170 Demon King Ariel

This is bad. I was careless. I mean, I was in high spirit after unified with Mother. Why did I forget about this person's movement? A big blunder.

『Origin Taratect LV139 Name Ariel Status HP: 90098／90098 (Green) +99999 (Details) MP: 87655／87655 (Blue) +99999 (Details) SP: 89862／89862 (Yellow) (Details) : 89856／89856 (Red) +99567 (Details) Average Offensive Ability: 90021 (Details) Average Defensive Ability: 89997 (Details) Average Magic Ability: 87504 (Details) Average Resistance Ability: 87489 (Details) Average Speed Ability: 89518 (Details) Skill 「Super-speed HP Recovery LV10」 「High-speed MP Recovery LV10」 「Great MP Consumption Down LV10」 「Precise Magic Manipulation LV10」 「Magic God Act LV10」 「Magic Granting LV10」 「Magic Enchantment LV10」 「Great Offensive Magic Power LV10」 「High-speed SP Recovery LV10」 「Great SP Consumption Down LV10」 「Great Enhanced Destruction LV10」 「Great Enhanced Blunt LV10」 「Great Enhanced Slashing LV8」 「Great Enhanced Piercing LV9」 「Great Enhanced Shock LV10」 「Great Enhanced Abnormal Condition LV10」 「War God Spirit LV10」 「Vitality Granting LV10」 「Ability Granting LV10」 「Great Vitality Attack LV10」 「Divine Dragon Power LV10」 「Divine Dragon Barrier LV10」 「Deadly Poison Attack LV10」 「Strong Paralysis Attack LV10」 「Poison Synthesis LV10」 「Medicine Synthesis LV10」 「Thread Genius LV10」 「God-weaving Thread」 「Thread Manipulation LV10」

「Psychokinesis LV10」 「Throw LV10」 「Shoot LV10」 「Space Maneuver LV10」
「Cooperation LV10」 「Strategist LV10」 「Kin Domination LV10」 「Spawning
LV10」 「Summon LV10」 「Concentration LV10」 「Super Thought Acceleration
LV6」 「Future Vision LV6」 「Parallel Will LV4」 「High-speed Calculation LV10」
「Accuracy LV10」 「Evasion LV10」 「Great Probability Correction LV10」 「Stealth
LV10」 「Concealment LV10」 「Silent LV10」 「Odorless LV10」 「Emperor」
「Appraisal LV10」 「Detection LV10」 「Sublimation」 「Heresy Magic LV10」 「Fire Magic LV8」 「Water Magic LV10」 「Water Current Magic LV5」 「Wind Magic LV10」 「Storm Magic LV10」 「Heaven Storm Magic LV10」 「Soil Magic LV10」
「Earth Magic LV10」 「Ground Fissure Magic LV10」 「Thunder Magic LV10」
「Lightning Magic LV8」 「Light Magic LV10」 「Holy Light Magic LV2」 「Shadow
Magic LV10」 「Dark Magic LV10」 「Darkness Magic LV10」 「Poison Magic LV10」
「Treatment Magic LV10」 「Space Magic LV2」 「Heavy Magic LV10」 「Abyss
Magic LV10」 「Great Demon King LV10」 「Dignity LV5」 「Rage LV9」 「Gluttony」
「Usurpation LV8」 「Rest LV9」 「Decadence LV4」 「Physical Nullity」 「Flame
Resistance LV5」 「Water Current Nullity」 「Storm Nullity」 「Earth Nullity」
「Lightning Nullity」 「Holy Light Resistance LV8」 「Darkness Nullity」 「Heavy Nullity」 「Abnormal Condition Nullity」 「Acid Nullity」 「Great Corrosion
Resistance LV7」 「Faint Nullity」 「Fear Nullity」 「Great Heresy Resistance LV6」
「Pain Nullity」 「Sense of Pain Nullity」 「Night Vision LV10」 「Thousand Miles Eye
LV10」 「Great Enhanced Five Senses LV10」 「Perception Range Expansion LV10」
「Divinity Area Expansion LV3」 「Destiny LV10」 「Heaven Mana LV10」 「Heaven
Motion LV10」 「Abundant Sky LV10」 「Fortitude LV10」 「Fortress LV10」 「Heaven
Path LV10」 「Heaven Protection LV10」 「Idaten LV10」 「Taboo LV10」 Skill point: O Title 「Human Killer」 「Human Slaughterer」 「Natural Calamity of Human」 「Demon Killer」 「Demon Slaughterer」 「Natural Calamity of Demon」
「Fairy Killer」 「Fairy Slaughterer」 「Natural Calamity of Fairy」 「Monster Killer」
「Monster Slaughterer」 「Natural Calamity of Monster」 「Drake Killer」 「Drake
Slaughterer」 「Natural Calamity of Drake」 「Dragon Killer」 「Dragon Slaughterer」
「Merciless」 「Gross Feeder」 「Blood Relative Eater」 「Assassin」 「Poison
Technique User」 「Thread User」 「Puppeteer」 「Leading One」 「Conqueror」
「King」 「Ancient Divine Beast」 「Ruler of Gluttony」 「Demon King」 』

There's no way I can win!? I mean, the first Appraisal was obstructed. The result that I break through the obstruction using Wisdom-sama by force is this. It's impossible to win this in a frontal attack, right?

The Demon King who approaches slowly. Although the appearance is like a human girl, the inside is a complete monster.

Like I can fight against such monster. He who fights and runs away, lives to fight another day. Transfer.

Huh? Transfer doesn't activate. W-Why?

「Fufu. It looks like you're surprised. You can't run away. The "Great Demon King" skill that I have has the effect of preventing the other party's escape」

D! Is it your act!? This is that! 「It's impossible to escape from the Great Demon King」, it's this, right!? This is bad, bad, bad.

「Tch. As expected, a Ruler class, You obstructed the Appraisal, huh?」

Mu? Was I appraised? Well, because I have set the Appraisal to be always obstructed, there's no problem. Because I have Wisdom-sama, I can break through that.

「Never mind. After having come this far, I only have to kill you」

Awawawawa. What should I do?

「It's the first time for me to be cornered until here since the system construction. You can be proud there」

The Demon King activates "Summon". Ten boxes appeared. The figures of people crawl out from the boxes. I have doubt whether it can be called as the figures of people or not.

Puppets appeared. It's not the lovely one that's sold in the toy shop. It's the puppets for combat with a variety of armament.

My Appraisal see through the identity of the puppets. There are small spider monsters inside the puppets. Oi oi. The status exceeds the Arch though. She have such a hidden-ball play.

「Because the Queen is seized by you, it's not usable. You're really an outrageous monster」

I don't want to be said by you!

「Well then, die」

The attacking puppets. The status of each one of them exceed 10000 a little, so it's possible to deal with them. But, the cooperation is too good. I receive the attack in waves by the ten of them that has no chance. My HP reduced without being able to do anything.

Ugh, this is bad. My HP has reduced to zero. MP as well. If it's this speed, it will be reduced immediately.

「With this, the finishing blow」

The Demon King activates magic. It's the magic that I know, but I have not seen before. "Abyss Magic LV10" Rebellion Hell.

Countless jet-black inverted crosses rain down. The scene that it falls slowly was rather fantastic. But, the power is not a joke. The inverted cross hits my body. The part of my body disappeared.

With only one inverted cross, half of my body vanishes. Although it's reproduced by "Super-speed HP Recovery", new inverted cross falls more faster than that. The inverted cross that can't be avoided in the air. The symbol of destruction that rains down like snow that doesn't affect anything at all except me.

It's impossible to avoid and intercept it.

Hit. Reduce. Hit. Reduce.

Ah..this..is..re..al..ly..ba.....

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter S26

Shun 26. For those who don't know yet, I have changed: Fallen Lewdness to Decadence. Demon Emperor back to Great Demon King.

I think that I should wait until everyone to read it first before changing anything unless it's a translation mistake. Also, @arnold, please stop posting any spoilers in the comments. S26 The Elro Great Labyrinth capture ③

「From here on, it's the large passage. Brace yourself」

According to Basgas-san's guide, we set foot on the large passage in question. I was surprised when we enter the large passage. It's wide. Although I heard it from the talk, the wideness can't be compared with the narrow passage where we pass so far. I wonder is the width 100 meters. The height to the ceiling seems like that, so it's possible. As Basgas-san says, rather than a passage, it's like a big hall.

It's an instant that I was dumbfounded. I pull myself together immediately, and look around the surroundings carefully. There's no presence of the monster nearby. I start moving while being relieved at it.

The large passage is wide. But, there are considerably big rocks scattered around, and block the view. There might be something lurking in the shadow of the rock. I advance without dropping the pace while perceiving the presence.

When we advance for a while, Basgas-san stopped.

「What's wrong?」 「It's strange. There's no monster」

Impatience that can't be concealed is seen in Basgas-san's words and expression. Is this a very bad situation?

「Usually, are there more monsters?」 「Ah. It's strange that there's no monster at all even though we have advanced this far」

As if the time encountering the Nightmare. I feel nervous to that mutter.

「Is there a path that can lead to a different route?」

I should think that some kind of irregular situation has occurred. Then, we should take safety measures.

「There's a bypath in the place a little further. Let's change to a different route from there」

Basgas-san seems to agree to my opinion, and gives the plan immediately. Everyone also understood something from Basgas-san's state, so there's no dissenting opinion.

But, the judgment was a little late. Something is coming here.

It was a Dragon. It's a silhouette like a thin tyrannosaurus. However, only the hands are strangely big, and the each of the claws emit brightness like the famous sword by skillful craftsman.

「Earth Dragon. Tch! It's in the upper layer means that it evolved!？」

Basgas-san clicks his tongue. Everyone prepares for combat. I ready myself and appraise the opponent.

『Earth Dragon Ekisa LV2 HP:2808／2808(Green) MP:1312／1312(Blue) SP:3655／3655(Yellow) :2032／3645(Red) Average Offensive Ability:2498(Details) Average Defensive Ability:2455(Details) Average Magic Ability:1298(Details) Average Resistance Ability:2452(Details) Average Speed Ability:3600(Details) Skill 「Earth Dragon LV1」 「Reverse Scale LV4」 「Hard Shell LV1」 「Steel Body LV1」 「High-speed HP Recovery LV1」 「MP Recovery Speed LV1」 「MP Consumption Down LV1」 「Magic Perception LV3」 「Magic Manipulation LV3」 「Offensive Magic Power LV1」 「High-speed SP Recovery LV2」 「Great SP Consumption Down LV2」 「Earth Attack LV5」 「Enhanced Earth LV5」 「Enhanced Destruction LV7」 「Great Enhanced Slashing LV6」 「Great Enhanced Piercing LV6」 「Great Enhanced Blunt LV6」 「Space Maneuver LV3」 「Accuracy LV10」 「Evasion LV10」 「Probability Correction LV4」 「Danger Perception LV7」 「Presence Perception LV7」 「Heat Perception LV7」 「Motion Perception LV5」 「Soil Magic LV1」 「Destruction Resistance LV2」 「Slash Resistance LV5」 「Pierce Resistance LV5」 「Blunt Resistance LV6」 「Shock Resistance LV2」 「Earth Nullity」 「Thunder Resistance LV7」 「Great Abnormal Condition Resistance LV2」 「Corrosion Resistance LV1」 「Pain Nullity」 「Pain Alleviation LV4」 「Night Vision LV10」 「Visible Range Expansion LV5」 「Enhanced Vision LV5」 「Enhanced Hearing LV4」 「Enhanced Smell LV4」 「Constitution LV7」 「Magic Well LV1」 「Heaven Motion LV1」 「Abundant Sky LV1」 「Herculean Strength LV5」 「Solid LV5」 「Mage LV1」 「Amulet LV5」 「Idaten LV1」 Skill points:19500 Title 「Monster Killer」 「Monster Slaughterer」 「Dragon」 「Conqueror」』

High status. Especially, the speed is outstanding.

「Everyone, this guy is fast. Be careful!」

I shout. At the same time, the Earth Dragon kicks the ground. Hyrinth-san's shield stopped the swung claw.

「Gu!?!」

Hyrinth-san grimaces painfully. But, thanks to Hyrinth-san, the Earth Dragon's movement is stopped for a moment.

Basgas-san and I cut the left and right foot respectively without missing the chance. Furthermore, the magics of Katia and Sensei explode. Katia's "Flame Magic" burns the face of the Earth Dragon, and Sensei's "Wind Magic" blows off the body.

The Earth Dragon fall over while raising a cry of anguish. But, there are not much damage.

The right foot that I cut is cut halfway. But, the left foot that Basgas-san cut is hardly cut. The hard defensive ability was not able to be broken through. The Earth Dragon rises. There's no burn in the face even though "Flame Magic" hits the face directly.

「This is bad」

Basgas-san mutters with cold sweats. I was breathless without knowing the hard opponent's defensive ability unexpectedly. I intended to cut the foot off with that blow a while ago. But, the result is it only cut halfway. On the contrary, I almost going to let go of my sword by the resistance more than I thought.

Magic is not so effective too. The skill called "Reverse Scale" decreases the power of magic sharply. Both Katia and Sensei are the magicians of the highest peak as human. Even if it receives the both magics, the Earth Dragon remains calm.

However, it's not that there's no damage at all. It's not an opponent that can't be defeated.

The Earth Dragon flies up. Although it's wingless, it moves as if running in the air. The aerial movement using the "Space Maneuver" skill. The place it's aiming at was Anna who's in the rear.

Anna fires magic. The fired electric shock magic doesn't damage the Earth Dragon. The Earth Dragon possessed the "Thunder Resistance". It's too disadvantage that it already has a high magic resistance and a resistance to thunder.

Hyrinth-san enters between the attacking Earth Dragon and Anna. The shield stops the Earth Dragon's claw again. The scene similar to a while ago. But, the Earth Dragon doesn't stop like a while ago, and it retreats immediately.

The pursuit attack can't catch up with the speed.

「Because it has resistance to thunder, it won't work! Soil as well! Switch to other attributes! Katia, continue with magic as main! Basgas-san use restraint with "Darkness Magic"!」

I tell the resistances of Earth Dragon. Although it also has resistance to physical attack, this alone can't be helped. If Basgas-san's physical attack can't deal a significant damage, only I can inflict damage with physical attack in this place.

Hyrinth-san stopped the attacking Earth Dragon for the third time. Sensei activates magic waiting for the moment.

The vortex of wind wraps up the Earth Dragon's body. It's not a magic aiming at damage. It's the magic to restrain the opponent. It's a magic called Strapping Wind of the "Storm Magic".

The Earth Dragon struggles to break out of the wind restriction. There's the effect of "Reverse Scale", so it won't last long.

Katia's "Flame Magic" surges. It mixes with Sensei's wind, and a flame tornado wraps up the Earth Dragon's body.

The Earth Dragon that raises a painful voice. As a further pursuit, Anna fires the magic of the wind, and Basgas-san fires the magic of the dark. Hyrinth-san use this chance to apply "Treatment Magic" on himself. Even if the Earth Dragon's attacks are prevented by the shield, Hyrinth-san still receives damage.

The Earth Dragon's HP decreases rapidly. But, the Earth Dragon blows away the flame tornado. The shine of the breath lit in the mouth. I advance to the front of my comrades who catch their breath.

My magic clashes with the Earth Dragon's breath. The magic that I activated is the magic of "Holy Light Magic LV7". It's called Holy Ray that's a quite simple and uncool name.

But, the effect is high contrary to the name. The fired ray pushes back the Earth Dragon's breath, and it receives damage oppositely. The mouth is blown off, and the Earth Dragon's body falls down slowly. The Earth Dragon's HP became 0.

《Experience points has reached a certain degree. Individual, Shurein Zagan Anareich LV28 has become LV29》《Every basic ability rose》《Level Up Bonus:Skill Proficiency was acquired》《Skill points gained》

《Conditions met. Title 『Dragon Killer』 was acquired》《By the effects of the title 『Dragon Killer』, skill 『Destiny LV1』 『Dragon Power LV1』 was acquired》
《『Destiny LV1』 has unified with 『Destiny LV6』》《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Destiny LV6』 has become 『Destiny LV7』》

Apparently, I acquired a title by defeating a Dragon.

「Dragon Killer, huh? With this, we are joined the legend」

Katia says like a joke. Apparently, this title is not only acquired by me who deliver the final blow, but it's acquired by all of the members who fought.

「Fuu. Although I thought what will happen at a moment, I never thought that we will achieve Dragon killing」

Basgas-san approaches the corpse of the Earth Dragon carefully.

「I will keep this guy's corpse, but do you have any problem?」 「No. Please」

The raw material of the monster has various uses depending on the part. If it's a Dragon, the value is immeasurable. If it's Basgas-san who have the space storage tool, it's possible to carry even a huge corpse. The large build of the Dragon is sucked into Basgas-san's bag.

「Is this guy the most dangerous monster in the large passage?」 「Don't be ridiculous. Such big thing won't be here usually. The most troublesome one in the large passage is this guy's lower rank, the Earth Drake. This guy probably is evolved from an Earth Drake」 「Ah. Certainly, the level was low」 「Right? The reason why there's no monster here is probably because this guy ate everything at random」

Sometimes, the monster that accumulated experiences evolves. The level returns to 1 after evolving, and it becomes a higher rank. And, the monster just after evolution is very belligerent because it's hungry. The Earth Dragon had a low level, and the SP decreased from the beginning. It was the evidence that it hasn't been long since evolution.

「Dragon Killer, huh? The one I fought with Julius and the others was up to Drake. It looks like a good souvenir for the other world was made」

Hyrinth-san laughs with a complex expression.

「It's all because Hyrinth-san stopped the Earth Dragon's attack」 「The best I can do was only to stop it. But, I guess I was able to carry out my role as the shield」 「Yes. Thanks to that, there's no one wounded. Thank you」 「Don't thank me. It's my role after all. Besides, the one who delivered the final blow was you. You did well」

Hyrinth-san says so, and pats my head a little violent.

「Please stop it」

I escape from the hand while laughing. The relaxed air flows after defeating the powerful enemy.

At that time, a chill runs.

I turn around. My gaze crossed with that. The eight cold eyes that look down on us from the rock. That was the monster called the Remnants of the Nightmare.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? The Divine Word Religion and the Goddess Religion

The Religions.

The Divine Word Religion and the Goddess Religion

Author note: The Pope's point of view. -----
-----

「Then, the Nightmare perished?」 「Yes. Although the perpetrator is unidentified before, the place where the Nightmare made as its territory was blown off completely. The surroundings were searched secretly, but there was no monster that seems to be the Nightmare」 「However, it's said that the Nightmare can use Transfer. Isn't it early to conclude that it perished?」 「Yes. This is still an unconfirmed information, but there's a report that there are traces that "Abyss Magic" was used in the site」 「"Abyss Magic", huh?」 「If it receives a direct hit from the magic that's said that it can even destroy soul and return everything to nothing, even if it's a monster that can use Transfer, I think that evading from perishing is next to impossible」 「I understand. I don't mind that you move with the assumption of the Nightmare has perished. And, how is the movement of the Sariera country?」 「Yes. That country is advancing the war preparations steadily. It's the situation that the soldiers are gathered at the vicinity of the border now」 「Are they manipulated by us? Or, did they know our purpose and get manipulated? Either way, it's convenient, huh? According to the plan, send reinforcements to the Outsou country」 「It's already done」 「It's good that you are fast in work」 「It's because we can defeat the Goddess

Religion which is our longtime enemy in this war」 「You are right. The God of Divine Word will be pleased. Will you also join the line of battle?」 「Yes. I want to judge the heretic who's called the Goddess with my own hands before the God of Divine Word」 「I see. I expect from you. You may go」 「Yes. Then, excuse me」

My subordinate is sent out, and I sink my body deeply on the chair. How funny. The God of Divine Word should not hope for such a thing.

I look at the report. It's the document of the monster referred as the Nightmare that appeared suddenly in the labyrinth and repeated mysterious actions. The first eyewitness information was when the empire investigates the abnormality in the labyrinth by the request of Outsou country. The investigation team encounters the Nightmare, and withdraws. After that, the empire carries out the Nightmare subjugation operation by the elite unit. The result was miserable that almost everyone of the unit were slaughtered. Furthermore, it emerges to the ground in the form of following the guides who ran away. The fort protecting the Elro Great Labyrinth entrance is destroyed.

While repeating such slaughter and destruction, there are also the scenes of it saving people. At first, it saved the adventurers who were attacked by a monster in the Great Labyrinth. After that, it appears in the Sariera country, and save lady Seras Keren who was attacked by bandits. It makes a nest in the Count Keren's territory, and begin it's actions here. Furthermore, it exterminate the bandits in the Count Keren's territory. In that case, it was a serious wound that my manufacturing unit that I made them to disguised as bandits and lie hidden was annihilated.

It seems to be able to use considerably advanced "Treatment Magic", and it deals with the treatment of the people. From such action, the Goddess Religion says that it's the spider messenger of the Goddess, and it begins to be worshiped as a Divine Beast-sama in the Sariera country.

From the ability of the Nightmare that's pulled out from the confidential information of the empire, it's presumed to be Over S. It has multiple unknown skills, and the Appraisal was obstructed halfway.

If the information that the Appraisal was obstructed is true, it's a serious situation. Because it means that the born of a new Ruler, and it's a monster.

However, the Nightmare is considered to be perished from the report that I heard just now. The existence that uses "Abyss Magic" alone. The only one that comes to mind is the oldest Ruler. However, I don't understand the reason why she moved. The Nightmare is a spider-type monster. So that means, wasn't it her subordinate? Why did she have to crush her own subordinate that has reached the Ruler? She hid her figure all the time, and she should not have acted. Why did she move about this time? There's a lot of things that I don't understand.

The worst case, it's possible that she will intervene in this war. Then, it's hopeless no matter how the people struggle. The only one who can stop her is the Administrator.

Recently, there are too many uncertain elements. The details of the previous Hero's death is not understood either. The movement of the Demons becomes active. And yet, it's a young boy called Julius who was newly appointed as the Hero. The oldest Divine Beast that starts to move. The mysterious new Ruler that was killed by the Divine Beast.

The world is confused. Even if the information network of the church is excellent widely, there's a limit. What on earth is happening in the world?

「Excuse me. A visitor has come」

A voice is raised with the knocking.

「Ah, wait!？」

The door is opened before I answer, a woman who covered her head with hood enters. Although the secretary tries to stop her in a hurry, the woman gets into the room rudely.

「It's fine. You can withdraw」

I send a signal to the secretary, and the secretary leaves the room.

「So? What is your business, Potimas Hyphenath?」

The woman removes the hood. A beautiful face and pointed ears can be seen from there. It was an Elf.

「Despite this is a reunion after a long time, isn't it cold?」 「We are not in a relationship of renewing our old friendship. If you stand before me with the main body, I may welcome you warmly」 「That's scary」

Potimas who doesn't show the state of being perturbed even though my killing intent is pointed at her.

「So, what are you here for? I'm busy here. I don't have the time to care about an existence like you」 「Then, I will say it without beating about the bush. The two people who you are sheltering. I want you to hand them over to us」 「What?」 「I know it that you are sheltering the children that have the mysterious skill」

I fold my arms to Potimas's words. Certainly, I shelter two children who have the mysterious skill 「n%I=W」, and place a person under surveillance. Just when I became busy, the mysterious skill that appeared that's said that the effect is unknown and I'm troubled with the treatment, but why do the Elves want them?

「The reason?」 「For us Elves, those who have this skill can't be welcomed. Having said that, we can't kill them. Therefore, we decided to keep them till they die.」 「Do you know the effect of the skill?」 「Nothing more than a guess」 「Can you tell me the contents?」 「I may tell you if you promise to hand over the children」

Fumu. It's unnecessary to think.

「I refuse」 「No matter what?」 「I can't do thing that's good for you Elves. Know that there's no one who will give harm to the world any further」 「What a cruel remark. We only want to live peacefully」 「Which mouth is that to say such nonsense. How unpleasant. Don't you mind that I can even execute the moving body in this place?」 「That will be a trouble. Well then, excuse me. If you change your mind, you can come anytime」 「If there's a time when I will stand before you voluntarily, that time is the time to kill you」 「How scary」

I see off the leaving back figure of Potimas. You Elves who make the world as your food. Someday, I will destroy that barrier, and the Elves must be exterminated.

However, the first priority now is the Goddess Religion. That religion is dangerous. Because the recited legend is true. I want to smash it somehow while I'm alive. That is my mission as the Divine Word Religion Pope. Even though both the Divine Word Religion and the Goddess Religion worship the same God, it's a laughable.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 171

Chapter 171. Kumoko army?

171 Since when were you under the impression that I can't escape from the Great Demon King?

The eggshell broke. I re-reborn!

Ah, it was dangerous. Seriously. I was nearly about to die seriously.

Even though I tried to play dead after getting defeated suitably because I have "Immortality", the "Abyss Magic" is used. I got impatient. If I was a little late to cut the connection with the main body, all of the Parallel Wills were going to die.

At that time when I made to receive the Demon King's "Abyss Magic", I escaped by only pulling out my soul from the body by force. Although such a thing was my first time and I didn't know whether it's possible or not, I sent my everything like dispatching the Parallel Wills. The sent destination was the egg that laid by the experimenting "Spawning" skill in the Elro Great Labyrinth.

The "Spawning" skill is the skill that can produce my kin as eggs without copulating. Although it was the skill added after eating Mother, I return to the home in the labyrinth and tried this skill. As a result, the egg was able to be produced by consuming SP. Because the egg didn't hatch immediately, I left it there as it is, but I never thought that it will be useful in such a way.

The "Abyss Magic" is bad. Even I will die if I receive it directly. Something like "Immortality" and resistances are meaningless before that magic. Because that magic is the magic with the power of the quasi-Administrator class. A brutal magic that all the flesh and souls are thrown into the MA area. It's the only means that can kill me by the power in the system.

It was really dangerous. It was unexpected that there was a person who can use "Abyss Magic" other than me, and it's also unexpected that it was used as the finishing blow. Ah, although there are only relatively easy battles recently, why is the time when I fight with a formidable enemy like this is always life-threatening? I should have become strong enough to say that there's no enemy anymore. Why am I beaten one-sidedly?

Well then. For the time being, I was able to survive even though it's barely, let's confirm the present condition. First of all, status check. Bu!? I burst into laughter after seeing my numbers. All status 3. 3. It's not a mistake in vision, it's 3.

The word, 'Decreasing' is next to the status with the highest value which is the previous numerical value. Did the status fall temporarily because I changed bodies?

Well, it can't be helped. My present figure is the palm size after all. The size of the egg that was born by the "Spawning" is almost equal to the chicken's. The new body born from there is small. If it's the previous status with this size, the appearance is a fraud.

Although there's no change in the skills, with this status, direct combat is impossible. It might be better to stay hidden for a while until my status is recovered.

Ah, hello? {Yes} The Demon King might go there. {Also?} Un. Do your best! {Impossible impossible!} For the time being, you should escape in the similar way as me if it becomes a pinch. {I will}

I finish the meeting with Mother-in-charge. Should the attack of the soul to the Demon King be stopped once? No, but it's my bad that I have let her approach me off guard this time. If I make full use of Transfer and run around without being careless. Even if I said that, if it's my present status, I can't activate Transfer. B-Bad.

Therefore, everyone, stop the attack for a moment. 〈Aye〉「It can't be helped」

Un. Carry out the strategy to play dead. The "Abyss Magic" was the finishing blow, so that means there's no experience point. Because the experience point is a thing that's gained by absorbing a part of the defeated opponent's soul, if it's the "Abyss Magic", even that is collected. Because there's no experience point gained, there's no need to worry that the fact that I'm alive will be found out. Fuu. I was about to die because of the "Abyss Magic", and it's a strange story that I was saved thanks to "Abyss Magic".

However, what to do from now on? With this body, proper action is impossible. I mean, will the status really return? If it doesn't return, what should I do? Before that, what should I do about the meal? Can I hunt with this poor status?

Uwa. Isn't it dangerous in various ways? What should I do?

When I'm worrying, rustling sounds begin to sound from the surroundings somehow. Ah, that's right. I laid about 1000 eggs for trial.

My babies who break the shell one after another, and come out.

『Minimum Lesser Horo Neia LV1 Status HP: 3／3 (Green) MP: 3／3 (Blue) SP: 3／3 (Yellow) : 3／3 (Red) Average Offensive Ability: 3 Average Defensive Ability: 3 Average Magic Ability: 3 Average Resistance Ability: 3 Average Speed Ability: 3 Skill 「Magic Perception LV1」 「Magic Manipulation LV1」 「Poison Fang LV1」 「Spider Thread LV1」 「Night Vision LV7」 「Poison Magic LV1」 「Poison Resistance LV1」』

An? Somehow, it's a species that I have not seen before. Although my species is the Zana Horowa as it is, what are these guys? Besides, these guys have the "Poison Magic" by nature.

『Minimum Lesser Horo Neia : The new species produced by the Zana Horowa』

A new species! Is it D? Is it her act?

Never mind. Although these guys are weak, there's a lot in numbers, so they are usable. The "Kin Domination" seems to work properly, so if I give these guys an order to hunt, isn't it all right even if I don't do anything myself?

Kukuku. Yosh. Hey, My Babies! Bring food for me!

The 999 child spiders that begin to move all at once obeying my order. Uwa, gross.

What a parent to make the children who just born to serve the parent. Cruel.
Brute. Ahahaha. Do your best, my children.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 172

Chapter 172.

172 I let the children to pay the tribute

It was eight days later that the baby army returned. Come to think of it, the depopulation of the monsters in this area has considerably advanced, so monsters can't be found unless going afar. Thanks to that, I almost died because of hunger. There's only SP 3. I will die.

Because it can't be helped, I ate the thing in the vicinity that's the eggshell and stave off starvation. The eggshell is soft unlike the bird's egg, so it can be eaten. Something like eating the thing that I produced by myself is unpleasant, but needs must when the devil drives. I ate the shell that didn't have taste.

My status recovered a little only when I ate. Although it's a slight amount by time progression, it's recovering. If I take proper meals in this condition, complete recovery seems to be possible.

I stave off my starvation like that for eight days. The babies who returned at last have considerably reduced in number. About half? Well, they are weak. I was on the verge of dying by starvation. Rather, I have no choice but to say that half of them did well to survive.

Besides, somehow, the level rises overall. I mean, doesn't the status rose a lot? The status that should have been All 3 at level 1 has the status around All 50 at the average level of 5. The rising value of one level is around ten? Oi oi. My childhood rising value was 1 per level, you know? What's with these excellent brats.

The babies carry the preys that were killed by them. O-Oh. It's quite a lot. Ten corpses of monsters are carried. What's with these excellent brats.

Let me see, ah, the frog. Various monsters that I have seen before are exhibited. When I observe those guys, the whole bodies are entangled by the thread, and there are traces that they received "Poison Fang" from several parts. Why these guys cooperate to restrain the opponent with the thread, and drive in "Poison Fang" all at once? Come to think of it, the "Cooperation" skill is added in most of the babies. I don't have the skill though. What's with these excellent brats.

In addition, although only ten was able to be brought this time, it's obvious that these guys defeat the more monsters than that, right? Although it's probably to fill their stomach, otherwise, they will starve to death. There's no way these guys can become level 5 with only 10 monsters. How many monsters that these guys killed?

For the time being, it's the prey that they caught with great pains, so let's eat it. Un. Bad. Ah, I yearn for sweet foods. But, I can't say the luxury. I will endure until my status returns.

I wonder will it return immediately if I level up. But, my present level is 30. It won't rise with just a little thing. Here as expected, it seems to be good to wait the recovery slowly.

Thus, Babies! Go and get food again!

Although they don't complain because they don't have vocal organs, the babies march again. It's gross as usual.

After that, seven days later. My babies carried the preys again and returned.

Oi oi. There are some that become bigger here and there though? Among the child spiders of the palm size, there's a slightly big one around 30 centimeters mixed at the ratio of one to ten.

『Mini Lesser Horo Neia LV1 Status HP: 125／125 (Green) (Details) MP: 125／125 (Blue) (Details) SP: 125／125 (Yellow) (Details) : 120／125 (Red) (Details) Average Offensive Ability: 125 (Details) Average Defensive Ability: 125 (Details) Average Magic Ability: 125 (Details) Average Resistance Ability: 125 (Details) Average Speed Ability: 125 (Details) Skill 「Magic Perception LV4」 「Magic Manipulation LV4」 「Enhanced Poison LV1」 「Poison Fang LV4」 「Spider Thread LV3」 「Cooperation LV4」 「Night Vision LV8」 「Poison Magic LV2」 「Shadow Magic LV1」 「Poison Resistance LV4」』

Minimum evolved into Mini. Besides, it's probably the influence of the evolution, but the "Shadow Magic" is added. What's with these excellent brats.

The number doesn't decrease much this time, and the corpse of the monster brought back is 20. They return one day earlier than the last time, and the result is double. What's with these excellent brats.

I receive the preys gratefully. My status recovers considerably, and it becomes around 1000. My body grows bigger with it too. Because my species didn't change, it's not a change like evolution, but it looks like my body simply grows bigger. I who was palm size have grow to the size around 30 centimeters. It's the size almost the same as the Mini.

When the babies left the preys, they leave immediately before I order them. Eh? They can judge it by themselves already? Aren't their head unexpectedly good? What's with these excellent brats.

I'm glad that I gave birth to them. And, I don't have to simply eat because I'm hungry. No, I thought about it a little. It might be fine if I eat these guys. But, at the end, I didn't eat them for the reason that the thing gained is a lot if I use them until the end rather than eating them. The expectation hits the mark splendidly. Rather, it's more than expected. Mother is happy to have such excellent and brave children. Please pay the tribute to mother with that condition.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 173

Chapter 173.

173 Sponger

Ah. Children is convenient. Even if I don't say anything, they will work. Moreover, they are excellent. Even if I don't do anything, my life is supported. It's wonderful.

However, I can't do nothing either. The Demon King who was marked will reach the bottom layer soon.

After defeating my former main body, the Demon King head to the bottom layer of the Elro Great Labyrinth straight. I think that she went to confirm what happened to the Queen that was taken over by me.

Well, there's no way to win if I encounter her. Because it won't be a joke if the "Abyss Magic" is used again, I must prepare the escape route for the Parallel Will that took over Mother's body to escape.

Thus, "Spawning" begin. Because my body has shrink unlike before, it's difficult. A huge egg is produced inside my body in comparison with my present body. This is hard. I hold out for about half day. I finally give birth to one egg.

Ah, it was tiresome. But, with this, the preparation is done. Now, if she withdraw before receiving the "Abyss Magic", it's perfect. If possible, it's good if she can play dead without the "Abyss Magic" being used, but when thinking about the Queen's large build, the possibility of using the wide range annihilation magic is high.

When I'm waiting this and that, No.2 born from the egg as expected.

Good morning. {Good morning. Nai wa. That is impossible} Yeah. Did you understand my feeling? {Un. There's no way to win no matter what} For the time being, eat so that the body doesn't die. I left some foods just in case. {Thank you}

Therefore, although No.2 was newly added, I noticed something. The No.2's species remains as the Queen Taratect. At present, although the figure is the same as me when I reborn, will she return to that large build sooner or later? Assuming that she will return, how long will it takes?

Rather than that, I must pay attention to the Demon King's movement. Although I don't think so, she might suspect that we are alive and begin to search for us. I must watch her tightly so that it won't become like the other day.

The Demon King is still in the bottom layer. Although I don't know what she's doing, as long as she's in the Great Labyrinth, I can't be careless.

When I spend the time like this, the baby unit returned again. Ah, un. Although I half expected it, all have evolved. In addition, they acquired the Gross Feeder title. As expected, they haven't acquired the Monster Killer, if it's at this rate, it might be a matter of time.

Not only the title, but the skills increase steadily too. Starting from "Life", the every status strengthening skills, and the enhanced five senses skill of the "Enhanced Vision". These guys are really too excellent. How long do you think that I take to reach that stage?

Well, I have no dissatisfaction with the pieces being excellent. Rather, it's convenient. This time also, they carry the corpses of the monsters without fail.

The snake is there. Seriously? They became able to defeat the snake already? Amazing.

My children who put the corpses of the monsters and leave gallantly again. Somehow, it's becoming the atmosphere like the soldiers who have a long military record already start to march. To evolve in this short term, how long have they do a dark fight? It's scary that it's doesn't seem impossible that the next time they return, they have evolved further.

For the time being, eat. My status recovers when I eat. When my status recovers, the shedding occurs, and my body grows bigger. Although there was no shedding except the level up, the shedding is originally like this. The impression of the shedding by level up was too strong.

The size of my body returns considerably, around 80 centimeters. A little more. But, the status is still hard to say as complete recovery. Around 15000. If I recover to here, I won't fall behind an incompetent opponent, but if it's in the situation that the Demon King is near, I want to move as much as possible after complete recovery. It doesn't mean that I don't want to break out of the present lazy life. No means no.

Although No.2 eats and the status recovered a little, the size of the body becomes bigger faster than me. After all, because the origin is big, it's faster to become bigger. Even though she should be eating the same amount, where on earth does this difference come from? It's mysterious.

When I experienced the mystery of the monster, I think about the future. For the time being, I want to go to see the state of that town where the Vampire child lives once when I recover completely. Because I was worshiped as the Divine Beast, the people might be confused that I disappeared suddenly. There's also the war with the neighboring country, so I should go to see it to grasp the situation.

And, I think that I will restart the attack to the Demon King after seeing the state. If I don't meet her, I'm more advantageous. If I meet her, she's advantageous, and if I don't meet her, I'm advantageous. If I continue the attack while running around with Transfer, I should be able to win.

There's no way to defeat such a monster by a frontal attack, so I can only defeat her by underhand trick. And, I have the underhand trick. Then, no matter it's unfair or whatever, I will do anything to win. Kukuku. I will return the debt of being defeated. Wait for me, Demon King. After all, I have the "Hero" skill. I can't afford to be scared of the Demon King. Fufufu.

Ah, but please don't come from the front, really, please.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 174

Chapter 174. Look who's here.

174 Apprenticeship applicant

When I slack with No.2, there was a reaction in the Space Perception. Oh my, is it the Demon King!? Although I stand ready for an instant, come to think of it, the Demon King doesn't have Transfer. In addition, when I confirm the position by marking, it looks like the Demon King is going around the bottom layer thinking of something.

Then, who is it? The space disorder is big considering it's Gyurigyuri. If it's Gyurigyuri, he should Transfer more beautifully. The person who I know that can use Transfer, ah, there's one person.

The shadow of a person who Transfer across the space. The middle-aged man just before the elderly person. It's the magician who was with the knights before.

Eh? Why does this guy come to such a place now? Oh, well. My status has return considerably, if it's this guy alone, I can kill him quickly. He has trained his skills considerably, so he seems to be delicious in the experience points.

「O-Oh!?!」

The middle-aged man noticed me. Apparently, it looks like he don't know that I'm here, but what an amazing over reaction. Well, I defeat them completely after all. Ah, although my appearance is different from that time, did the middle-aged man recognize me?

「I-It's certain. Even though the appearance changes, that presence」

Ah, yes. It's me.

Hmm. So you know. Well, it doesn't matter. Then, I have you become my experience points.

「P-Please wait! I don't have the purpose of hostility! Please, please hear my story!」

Eh? What?

「Please make me as your apprentice!」

What?

Somehow, after that, the middle-aged man settled down.

「Although I gave this body to magic, I have fell in love to your "Magic Extremity". I would like to be your apprentice by all means. Since that day when I saw your vivid magic, my heart has been held tightly by that brilliance. The smoothness to the magnificence of that magic construction is like the artwork of the national treasure rank. And, the overwhelming presence like a magnificent mountain. The technique like a God that can't possibly be broken by human technique. The flowing magical power has a close resemblance as the flow of the large river, and the overflowing magic is like the sea. Exactly! The essence of the magic is nature together with the world. Gratitude can't stop because I was reminded of the root. In addition, the magic construction that doesn't rely on the skills. That technique that give up common sense. I was made to change my thought that I narrowed the magic possibilities. I was praised a genius, and I became senile too. The magic means to feel the world, and it's a technique to change the world. Despite that, I want to admonish the past me who followed the world rule obediently. Know the world, and change the world with this way. What an easy and difficult thing. I also want to use magic without skills.....」

The middle-aged man who began to talk at an amazing force. I was dumbfounded unintentionally, and I ignored the middle-aged man's story. Un. To be honest, I drew back. When I return to sanity, the killing intention disappeared somehow. Was I taken aback?

Even so, there's no way I can make him as my apprentice. In the first place, I can't talk. Mutual understanding is pretty much possible if I acquire the "Telepathy" skill. Although I have used most of the skill points that I get by unifying with Mother, if it's 100 points, I have it. But, I don't want to acquire it. But, I don't think that I will acquire it to communicate with this middle-aged man. After all, it's troublesome. This middle-aged man is considerably dangerous because he can make me draw back.

A communication with such middle-aged man? No, it's impossible. The hurdle is too high for me.

Thus, I decided to ignore him. Although this middle-aged man talks to me with the assumption that I understand the language, why can he have such expectation to a monster as the other party? No, I actually understand though. Usually, a person won't think that the monster can understand the language, right? Why did this middle-aged man skip that part? Isn't his head strange? Ah, it was obviously strange.

Although it's fine that I decided to ignore him, the middle-aged man didn't return. He keeps talking, and when he knows that I don't have any reaction, he observes me fixedly this time. What's with this guy?

At the end, he blazes up by setting a fire on his body with the consent of the day after tomorrow. He was about to die. The figure that laughed while on the verge of death is rather eerie. After all, this middle-aged man is crazy. Why do you attack yourself? Are you an idiot?

After that, the strange cohabitation life continues, I recover my status while being troubled by the middle-aged man's eccentric behavior. It begins with setting the fire, he made half of his body frozen, and he soars up high with wind in the air and drops. Sometimes, he meditate in the water ball made by himself until he's about to be drowned. Rather than meditation, isn't it straying? What does he really want to do?

But, there was benefit. Because the middle-aged man learned various magics, I observed the activation and I was able to learn some new magics. Especially the fire, water and ice that I didn't learned, so it was a profit. These 3 attributes have bad affinity with me and I was able to learn the skills just in case, but the level doesn't rise easily.

The middle-aged man seems to be able to use "Space Magic" fairly well and he brought preserved foods in the Space Storage, but it looks like it ran out after several days passed. He went somewhere with Transfer unwillingly. And, when I thought that he gave up, somehow, he killed a monster and returned. And, he ate the monster. That is the frog that has poison.

Of course, he has an upset stomach by the poison, and was in agony. What does he really want to do?

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Searching For Master

Searching for master.

Searching for master 3 thousand miles

I polish the magical power. This is not good. It's no good. Up until now, this was all right. However, when I see that person's magic, my Magic Manipulation seems to be a child's play.

Construction speed. Like the tortoise's walking. Construction dexterity. Like a house of cards. Magical power flow. Like the drainage that was covered with dirty mud. Completed magic. I can't endure to see it anymore.

What a thing. I have devoted this body to magic so far, and the complication that I have devoted myself is this? Was I satisfied with such unpolished magic so far? With the skills of such me is the empire's strongest magician?

I realize the limit of the Humans. The too low limit. Why was I born as the Humans? With such a weak race, I can't possibly catch up with that person's height.

I dragged such melancholic feelings. The Nightmare. That person was named so, and the me who failed in the subjugation of that person was given a penitence as the punishment, and I was confined in the mansion in the capital of the empire. Well, such thing like confinement can't restrain me who can use the Transfer magic. Because the higher-ups of the empire understand it, strict punishment is not given, and gave an easy punishment like confinement to temporize. The empire might have the purpose to not want to let go of me.

I don't think that the empire will let go of me who's the empire's strongest magician and also the "Space Magic" user that there's no other user. If I make a move that abandons the empire, the empire will detain me by all means. But still, if it's useless, an assassin will surely be sent. It should be the true intention that the empire doesn't want to lose a precious force. Then, the empire can't harm me quickly.

From what I heard, the summoner, Buirims who survived with me was thrown into the Magic Mountain in the border with the Demons territory in the name of replenish the lost familiar and the recruit's training. Strong monsters inhabit in the Magic Mountain, and it's a danger zone where the Demons occasionally surrounds with strategy. It's not a place for a man who suffers half-dead wounds and lost all of his familiars to go. Moreover, it's said that the followed subordinates are all quirky problem children. Although Buirims is an excellent enough general in the empire, a summoner who don't have his familiars is useless. Although I don't want the life that I saved with trouble to die pointlessly, only this is the power of the person. I can only pray for his safety.

When I spend days in melancholic feelings, I hear of a certain rumor. A Divine Beast of the spider appeared in the Sariera country. I know it immediately. It must be that person. The Sariera country is the immediate neighbor of the Outs country where the doorway of the Elro Great Labyrinth is. The distance and the taken days, both of the calculation matches.

Although the Outs country and the empire try to conceal it desperately, the rumor of a monster defeat the empire's unit and in the end, that monster was taken out of the labyrinth spread. Although it was not taken out, it's certain that person has gone out by some kind of method. The story about the fort that protects the doorway of the Great Labyrinth was destroyed is impossible to be concealed anymore. Appearing in this timing, and a monster that can destroy a fort. It must be that person.

And, the story about the Divine Beast that appeared in the Sariera country. From what I heard, it repulses the bandits, heals the people, and hunts monsters. Exactly a Guardian. The suitable achievements to be called as the Divine Beast.

I who can't endure to stay here, ignore the confinement punishment and went to the Sariera country. First of all, I transfer to the Outsuo country which I have went before, and travel the highway from there.

Although the Transfer that seems to be versatile, it has the fault that it can only transfer to the place that I have went before. Now that the previous Hero who's said to be a space magician better than me has passed away, the only one who can use it among the Humans is me. The reason why Transfer is not used on the march is because of such a reason. First of all, the biggest cause that the user is overwhelmingly few is because almost no one has the affinity with this magic. Whether there's even one in 10000 people or not. And, above all, the person must be able to handle complicated magic construction that can't be compared with the other magics. If these two points are not cleared, it's impossible to handle "Space Magic".

And, that person uses it very easily. Even I can't perceive most of the Transfer's omen. The too natural space tremor. It was a Transfer that seems to be beautiful.

I change the carriage, from the Outsuo country to the Sariera country. However, there was a trouble to enter the Sariera country from the Outsou country. It seems that some incident happened for some reason, and tension seems to run between the two countries. Really annoying. Even though I don't have the time to loaf in such a place.

Although I was somewhat stopped, I force my way through with the power of money in the end. Even though I'm at the present age, I'm an empire noble. Money is thick on the ground. Above all, I don't have a family. Something like money that's only used by me is meaningless no matter how much I have.

Like that, I finally arrived at the Count Keren's territory of the Sariera country where there's the rumor of the Divine Beast. However, the thing waiting for me there was something unexpected.

Divine Beast-sama was killed by the underling of the church. That's said.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Magician, Apprenticeship

Magician, apprenticeship.

Magician, apprenticeship

Author note: Ronant's point of view. -----
-----

It's a lie. I won't accept it. That person can't be defeated by the underling of the church.

However, it's in fact a hot topic in the town. The place where the Divine Beast was became a wretched state that can't be think that it was a small forest. As if the ravages of the destruction that seemed to be a barrage of great magic. The dregs of the dark magical power still remains. Apparently, the magic of the dark system is used, but even I don't know the details. "Darkness Magic", no, it can't be think that all these dark magical power still remains. Then, is it the "Abyss Magic"?

"Abyss Magic". The highest rank magic of the dark system that's assumed that it exists. I have not seen the real thing too. It was the first time for me when I saw that person has the skill. Then, is this dregs of magical power the traces of that person using the "Abyss Magic"? Although there's a weird feeling, the opponent must have been an opponent that the great magic must be used that left such influence like this. It's tinged with truth suddenly that person was defeated.

I left the town that boiled to avenge Divine Beast-sama.

Even it's such a person, it will die when the time comes, huh? This world is a wide thing. Compared with it, I'm a petty thing.

I lose sight of my aim, and the living vitality is falling rapidly. If I return to the empire, there might be some kind of punishment for breaking the confinement. Although it should not be a severe punishment, that is troublesome now. It might be fun to droop on a field somewhere, and die.

If I will die anyway, I suddenly think of isn't it better to die at the place where I met that person. It was a good idea. Now that it's decided, Transfer at once.

And, at the transferred destination, I meet that person again. Although the appearance changed, I won't forget the intimidating air. Although it split into two, my eyes can't be deceived. Both are real. What? ...As expected. I never thought that it can even split. It calmly accomplishes the things that I can't think of.

One of them is a white spider's appearance. Although it was black when I saw it before, it shrinks and the color changes too. However, the two sickles of its forefoot are there. The other one is a black spider. This one is slightly large. There's no sickle and it seems to be just like the normal Taratect species.

Although I'm interested in how it split, it's probably the method that's impossible for me who has a human body to imitate. Then, I should learn the things other than that. I applied for apprenticeship when I noticed.

I talked passionately for several hours. Apparently, it seems to be astonished. Oops! I lose myself and talk passionately too much.

However, with this, it's clear. This person understands the Humans language. Well, it's unthinkable that such a person can't understand words. Even though it understands my words, there's no reaction. Apparently, it won't accept me as an apprentice.

Having said that, it's not cruel. Although it turned a silent killing intent to me after Transfer, it vanishes now. For the time being, it seems that I won't be killed immediately. Although it doesn't welcome me, it doesn't eliminate me. It's like a stance of persisting abstention.

Then, I will observe this person's actions, and ascertain how this person reached the extremity of magic. I decide so, and the observation began.

A few minutes after the observation begins. I have the feeling that the world was overturned.

It's terrific. That's the word for it. When I met it at this place before, I notice it in a long distance. It's the same as that time that it multiple activate several skills. However, I understood that it's doing something aberrant with the body just by observing it carefully and closely than that time.

This person always activates the very small magic, and wears it in its body. In addition, multiple magics too. The ones that can be confirmed are dark, soil, wind, and light. These four kinds of magic is activated simultaneously.

A voice of admiration leaks out unintentionally to the too minute result of the magic. What a minute magic. Magic is the means for attack. That means power is demanded from it, and powerless magic is unneeded. Then, power is demanded for magic, and it's eternity that it becomes huge. The very small magic that breaks the common sense.

Normally, these kind of things have no meaning. However, I'm convinced. This is the essence of the magic. The ultimate secrets. There's no troubles if it's only making it huge. If I put my strength only on that, it can be done. However, how about making it smaller? It's no use to just reduce the power. The precise construction technique is needed to make the fragile and small construction. The magical power is poured into the fragile construction, and the delicate power adjustment demanded from the Magic Manipulation. The polished technique is there that it's impossible to reach with strength.

I imitate the technique immediately. At first, I experiment it with my forte, fire. The result is a failure. My whole body catches fire splendidly, and burns my body.

I extinguish it in a hurry, and laugh instinctively. What a difficulty. To carry out such an outrageous thing as if it's breathing!

Even though I tested various attributes after that, all the results were failures. However, there was a gain. Why I do such things? That's for the level raising of skills. Every time I fail, I was able to confirm that the level of the skill rose. Both the magic and the resistance. Yes, this act that seems to be useless is actually the act to raise the skill level.

I always shoot very small magic to the extent that it won't damage my body by myself. Who will think of such a thing? Even if someone think of it, who will put it into practice? There's always a new discovery when I'm with this person.

Because I didn't assume that it will become such a long journey, the foods seem to run out soon. Should I go back to the town once? No, I can't go back to the town because this is a once in a lifetime chance. Ha, that's right. Since I'm living with this person, isn't it fine that I take the same meal. The meal that this person takes. There must be something.

I have an upset stomach. It was poisonous. I thought that I was going to die. However, as expected, this person is magnificent. It's the first time that I hear of a title called Gross Feeder. I must thank it for giving me the opportunity to acquire the title. I will study on your side from now on.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 175

Chapter 175.

175 Revival!

Several days after the middle-aged man settled down. The babies returned with the preys again. On this occasion, because the middle-aged man was about to be attacked, I stopped them. After I stop them, I felt like it's fine even if I don't stop them, but oh, well. It's a pleasant middle-aged man who I don't get tired of watching him. Although it's not necessary to keep him alive, it's not necessary to kill him.

I mean, babies. If my eyes are not fine, is it an imagination that among the killed preys, there's a medium rank Earth Drake? It should be a monster that's approximately equal with the eel and inhabits in the huge passage with quite high status. Even though there's a violence of number, they have become able to defeat monster equal with the eel already. What's with these excellent brats.

But, as expected, there's no one who evolves this time. Well. If they evolve two stages in this short term, as expected, I will feel down. The time when I evolve for the second time was the time I defeat the monkeys, huh? There was such thing too. It's nostalgic now.

But, there are the guys who seem to evolve if they are dispatch another time. They might become strong enough to be able to defeat the snake alone. Of course the status is not equal to the snake, but because the skills are considerably improved, they really seem to be able to win against the snake. After all, the time when I defeat the snake was when I was weaker and my skills are also poorer. If they have the average man's thinking ability like me, the snake seems to be defeated easily if the babies make full use of the present status and the skills, but as expected, they are not that intelligent. Not, right? I will be slightly suspicious if they are that excellent.

Well, it's a good thing that the pieces are excellent. Thanks to that, I don't have to do anything, and I can slack. The babies put the preys, and left immediately again. Umu. Splendid.

{Hey, is it an imagination that they are more excellent than me?} It's an imagination. Just decide it to be like that.

Queen-in-charge became quite huge in these several days. When the middle-aged man came, she was only slightly bigger than me, but now, she has grow up to the Greater's size. If it's the border of the upper layer and the middle layer that's this place, the wideness is enough, but it doesn't seems that she can move with that size freely in the upper layer. Should she return to the bottom layer with Transfer when the Demon King disappears? But, the Demon King might return to the bottom layer with some kind of impulse again. What should I do?

Should I let her stay here like this? It's possible to live in this area, and if there are the babies, there's no problem in food. She can escape to the middle layer if something happened, so the location is not bad. That might be good.

Either way, we will stay here until complete recovery for the time being. I must cope with the adaptation to circumstances depending on the Demon King's movement.

Speaking of the Demon King, it seems that she have started a fierce battle with the Earth Dragon in the bottom layer. There are nine Earth Dragons that exist in the bottom layer.. It's certain because I confirmed it by the Skill Search. And, when I measure the rough strength from the Queen's memory, they are slightly weaker than the Queen. In case of the numerical value of the status, the weak one is 7000 in average. If it's a strong one, 18000 in average. It's considerably stronger than Alaba.

There are nine of such thing. Although I don't know why she is fighting with such party, it seems that a grand killing of the Earth Dragons and the Demon King is happening in the bottom layer.

The reason why I know it is because I peep with "Thousand Miles Eye". This skill is amazing. Although there should be quite a distance to the bottom layer, I can see it.

When I watch it with the "Thousand Miles Eye", Maou-sama is strange after all. It seems that the Earth Dragons cooperate somehow, make something like a barrier and shut the Demon King, but the Demon King breaks through it and kill the Earth Dragons one by one. As if 1 to 9 is nothing. There are no puppets that are used when fighting with me probably because the barrier obstruct "Summon", but still, she's overwhelming the Earth Dragons. It looks like the Earth Dragons can only gain time with the barrier. The Earth Dragons that gain time while escaping. And, they moved around the bottom layer.

However, the stalling seems to be over soon. The remaining Earth Dragons are three. Looking at them, they are big shots of the quasi-Mother class, but it can't win the Demon King. To be frank, the Earth Dragons have no chance to win. The status is too different. Rather, I'm admired oppositely that they managed to survive well against that monster. In the first place, I wonder why the Earth

Dragons oppose the Demon King. Instructions of Gyurigyuri? But, in that case, Gyurigyuri seems to intervene, but at present, there's no such state.

Well, it's no use even if I think about the things that I don't know any further. The important one is the Demon King is still confined in the bottom layer. Even though the Earth Dragons are nearing their limits, I consider that they can hold out for another two or three days. In other words, I will be able to move freely in about two days.

Fufufu. And, my status finally revived. My body size returns to normal. The Demon King is not here. I who completely revived. Then, there's no problem even if I move freely!

Thus, I will go out! {Aye} I will leave the house-watching to you! {Aye} Ah, take care of that middle-aged man too. {Isn't that fine to leave him?} Even though the middle-aged man repeated eccentric behavior, somehow, his skill level rises. Uncover the secrets. {No no. Even if I uncover the secrets, I don't want to do such a self-destruction thing} Well, that's true. Well, just take care of him suitably. {Suitably, huh?}

Then, at first, let's go to see what happened to the town where the Vampire child lives after that.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter S27

S27. The Remnants.

S27 The Remnants of the Nightmare

That is on the rock. The eight red eyes watch me coldly. The size is not very big. But, the presence is larger than any other monsters that I have seen so far.

I can't move. The others are the same too. We can't move even an inch at all like we hardened. It seems that our hearts have been tightly held by the figure of the white spider monster.

[Hero?]

Suddenly, a voice is heard. It's not as a sound. It was Telepathy. It's not something turned to me. I only tapped the Telepathy that's sent to someone.

[Hero]

And, that 'someone' was there before I know it. It was all over the place.

[Ruler?] [Ruler] [Ruler] [Impossible to appraise?] [Impossible to appraise]
[Impossible to appraise] [Ruler?] [Ruler] [Ruler] [Reincarnated people?]

[Reincarnated people] [Reincarnated people] [But, weak?] [Weak] [Weak weak]

The voice of Telepathy that sounds here and there. Before I know it, the floor, the wall, the ceiling, they were everywhere. Countless red eyes. As far as I can see, they are white.

My thought stops because of the overwhelmed scene. No, think. These guys make full use of the language with proper intention. There is an inexcusable word in those words.

「Do you know about the reincarnators!？」

I make up my mind and speak. Although I know that Basgas-san have his eyes opened wide, I must ask this by all means.

[I know it] [I know it] [There's no way that I don't know]

The answers came back. Mutual understanding is possible. These guys are not monsters without intelligence.

「Why do you know it?」

[Master] [Master] [Mother] [Mother]

「Is the Master a reincarnated person?」

[You will know soon] [You will know it soon] [You will know it immediately]
[You will know at once]

「What do you mean?」

[Declaration] [Sentence] [The beginning of end] [The world starts] [The world ends]

The white shadows gradually disappear.

「Wait! What do you mean!?!」

[There's no meaning to know it] [You will die anyway] [Everyone will die]
[Struggle and survive]

I felt that we were told so with the meaning of overlooking us till then. And, the Remnants of the Nightmare disappeared in front of us.

「You fool!」

Basgas-san's fist catches my face. I received the fist contentedly without resisting. Hyrinth-san pinions Basgas-san who was going to strike me.

「I should have said it! That Lad's comrades might die by your thoughtless actions!」

Basgas-san shouts his anger while being pinioned. It's the force that seems to break loose from Hyrinth-san at any moment.

「Now, now. Because it end up safe like this, isn't it fine?」

Sensei intercedes, and Basgas-san stops moving. Although it seems that his anger still haven't settled down, it doesn't seem that he will act violently any further.

「I'm sorry. I have something that I must ask by all means」 「Even if everyone dies?」

I'm stared. When it's said so, I can't say anything.

「It's fine if Lad dies by yourself. But, don't drag other people into it. If you want to suicide, do it yourself」 「Basgas-san, you're saying too much」

Although Sensei chided Basgas-san, Basgas-san is more right. For the reasons that I want to know, I took an arbitrary action against the other party who's the dangerous Remnants of the Nightmare.

Basgas-san pushes Hyrinth-san aside. Did he judge that he won't act violently anymore? Hyrinth-san released Basgas-san easily. Basgas-san lean on the rock in a slightly remote place, and sat down. If I see properly, his expression is bad. Basgas-san said that he encountered the Nightmare in the old days. The trauma might have been stimulated.

When I see the others again, Katia and Anna sit down, and Hyrinth-san has a slight pale face. Only Sensei who looked calm.

「Are you all right?」

I talk to Katia and Anna who sat down.

「I can't stand up」 「I'm ashamed」

They look up at me with the face that seems to cry. The goose bumps stood too, so they are very scared and it's unpleasant. Even though they have a relatively small build as a monster, being surrounded by big spiders is of course unpleasant. Even I felt unpleasant, so the woman group is all the more.

「How can Sensei keep calm?」 「No. I'm not calm, you know? Although the appearance is cute, the contents were slightly creepy」 「Cute....」

Ah, that was not a character making, but she really liked it. After all, Sensei likes strange things since the previous existence. Although I thought that it's a part of the character making, it seems that she seriously like something like spiders. It's unexpected.

「By the way, what do you think about what those children said?」

Many mysterious words that the Remnants of the Nightmare said.

「I don't know. There's too little information」

In the first place, what on earth are those monsters called as the Remnants of the Nightmare? Because they found out our information, it's certain that they have a high level "Appraisal" skill. In addition, the intelligence that can understand human speech. The stealth nature that gathered that much without being noticed by me. The cooperation between comrades making full use of the Telepathy. Even a fragment has such ability. What if it becomes a fight.... I don't think that I can win.

「The beginning of end. Everyone will die, huh?」

The nightmarish ominous words. Only that was stuck in my head and didn't leave.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 176

Chapter 176.

176 Spare body talks

I am Queen-in-charge. There's no name yet.

To be frank, rather than Queen-in-charge, I'm already the Queen. Does the main body realize this? Although I'm connected with the main body, I have become an almost different existence.

Not only me. The others of the Parallel Wills that attack the Queen and the Demon King through the soul are more or less producing the difference with the main body. Although I think that it's probably because we take the others' souls, the present us are different people from the main body.

Originally, we Parallel Wills didn't have the concept of a body. All Parallel Wills were the same, and there was no relation of the top and the bottom. Only the charge is different. Each one of us work as a different will while the root is completely the same. That was us.

That has changed now. It's decided that the will remained in the original body to be the main body, and the pyramid that the other wills became the lower rank was completed. Although I don't know whether the main body realizes it or not, we have fall low to the accessories of the main body. Well, there's no dissatisfaction with it. It's just that the existence called me has separated from the main body as the Queen. At present, there's no absurd order given by the main body.

The present main body has the right to order us. I mean, she holds our life and death. If the main body feels like it, we will be absorbed into the main body, and we will actually die. That's why, we can't go against the main body.

Well, at present, the main body doesn't seem to have such intention. She prepared my new body after all. To be frank, if it's only to recover me, she didn't need to prepare a body. Because I just have to let my soul to be absorbed by the main body's soul. In that case, the existence called me will merge into the main body and disappears. Did the main body avoids it instinctively?

Doing things like this don't have much difference with the Demon King. The Demon King created the Queen as her spare body. The Queen breeds and the species named the Taratect species was created. The Demon King rules over it. This is the true army of the Demon King. The pyramid that the Demon King was made as the top. The difference with us is whether there's a will or not.

The Queen is only a tool for the Demon King. Even though it's a powerful monster to that extent, it only has a weak will that was devoured by me. And yet, the intelligence is quite high. It's like a computer rather than a creature. Although the operation function is excellent, it's a living machine that has neither will nor feelings. The Queen was such an existence.

It lives mechanically, lays eggs to increase the pieces and leave the eggs. If they grow up to some extent, they will be placed under its control. It's a monster of the production line that follows the manual like some kind of factory.

And, the foreign substance that entered in it was me. Me, or rather, it's the main body.

The soul of the main body and me is still connected strongly just like the old days. But, with almost the same strength, she fuses with the other souls. In my case, it's the Queen. Thanks to the fact that the Queen's will is weak, there's no influence in thought. But, I as the existence is totally different from before already.

Well, therefore, nothing is wrong. At present, there's no harmful effect. However, did the main body judge instinctively that the Parallel Wills shouldn't be increased and mutate like this? Even if the skill level of the "Parallel Will" rises, there's no new will that appeared. She only use magic in the degree of using it unconsciously.

It looks like the idiot main body always shoot very small magics on herself for some reason, and the skill level rises. Unconsciously. In case of my guess, I think that it's the "Parallel Will" skill that can't be expressed as a will. If it's the present main body, can't the main body do the similar movement as me when I was the Magic-in-charge without separating the will?

I mean, I laughed when the middle-aged man have begun to imitate the main body. The middle-aged man destroys himself, and the main body says that guy is a fool unconsciously even though he is imitating her. Because it was interesting, I didn't tell the truth.

After the main body left with Transfer, the middle-aged man stays. Somehow, in these past several days, he seems to grasp something. When I see it, his magic construction becomes considerably precise.

In addition, the level of the "Magic Manipulation" skill rose as well. It considerably decreased to destroy himself thoughtlessly like the time when he came here. But still, he sometimes destroys himself.

Because I was also free, I decided to raise the skills. The skills of the main body link with me. If I raise my skills, the skills of the main body should rise too. Well, even if I intend to raise my skill level, I can't raise it immediately like the main body.

My skills are borrowed from the main body. The skills as the Queen have already been absorbed into the main body. It's not only the skills that were absorbed though. So even if I intend to raise the skill level, it doesn't rise easily because it's borrowed. But still, I can accumulate the skill proficiency.

I activate the very small magic like the main body, and wears it on myself. Mu. This is unexpectedly difficult. Although the main body always did this unconsciously, if it's me, it's difficult to deploy it always. I understood the reason why the middle-aged man kept destroying himself.

The middle-aged man looks at me who activates the magic with sparkling eyes. No, even if you look at me with such eyes, I'm not happy. Ah, my concentration breaks and the magic was disordered. I erase the magic before it explodes.

Shit. I activate the newly learned "Ice Magic" with full power like venting my anger. Although it's only a low rank magic that shoots ice, if it's my status, the power becomes outrageous. I keep the size of the ice as it is, raise the density of the ice and the shooting speed tremendously, and shoot it. Can the density of the ice changed? Although you will think like that, the ice generated in this world can do such a thing. The weight and strength increase equivalent to the raised density of the ice. By the way, because the generated ice will return to magical power by time progression, thirst can't be healed even if the ice is eaten. It's really fantasy.

The shot ice makes a hole in the wall of the labyrinth. Fu. It will even penetrate the former world's tank.

Now that my feeling is cleared, let's continue the skill raising. Ossan, don't give me such a hard look.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 177

Chapter 177.

177 Inside the Demon King

I am Maou-in-charge. There's no name yet.

Hello. I'm the spare body that's possessing the Demon King. Present? It's very bad.

The start was the present main body that's the Information-in-charge at that time, found out the existence that interfered our souls. Apparently, it seems that we are connected to the other party by the soul. Then, it's planned to rule from here oppositely using the connection. The method dispatched we Parallel Wills, and it was the method to erode the other party's soul.

I who was the Body-in-charge at that time, boarded into this strategy willingly. After all, speaking of Body-in-charge, a pitiful frame. My existence value becomes the maximum when peeling the scales. Pitiful me.

A once in a life time opportunity to escape from such a pitiful position. There was no way that I will miss it. But hold on. Then, I had a bad feeling when it became the step that who will be in charge of the Demon King that seems to be the most dangerous. Un. I was selected unanimously. Damn it.

And, I have begun to pick a fight with Mother who interfered us and the Demon King who's the top and the origin of the Taratect species secretly.

I wait and see what happens first without moving. First of all, I start from capturing the surrounding Queens. Although the Queens are under the control of the Demon King, she didn't give the Queens firm ego like us. Thanks to that, even if the Queens are eroded little by little, they didn't notice.. The erosion to the Queens continued steadily and quietly.

The situation changed after "Taboo" reached max level. The main body became enraged. Well, really. Although I understand her feelings, is it enough to be enraged to that extent?

It looks like only me who thought so. Although I understand it now, I think that the others including the main body except me, ate another person's soul and received the influence. Only I alone didn't attack the Demon King yet. I think that the main body received the influence by spare bodies' feedback. I think that at this time, we have definitely begun to separate from the main body.

And, finally, the time when I attack the Demon King came. Well, I was very scared. After all, it's the Demon King.

I start hacking the Demon King's soul. She found out immediately. As expected of the Demon King. Although it was a deduction that she didn't notice her subordinates, the Queens are being attacked, at the moment when she received the attack, she noticed my existence. Furthermore, it looks like she noticed the present condition of the Queens. Even though it's likely her first time to received an outside attack through the soul, the action was quick.

At first, the Demon King tried to eliminate me. The result is a failure. I'm a mind body of the soul. Physical attack doesn't have any significance in order to eliminate me, and it must be the ability to interfere the soul like the Heresy Attack. But, we have the "Heresy Nullity". The elimination of us is impossible with the attacks in the system.

I understood the impatience of the Demon King very clearly. But, we don't have the composure to that extent. Even though it's nullified, it doesn't mean that there's no way to attack. It's just that there's no damage, but the Heresy Attack has the effect to delay my actions. Because of that, the erosion advanced only slowly.

The Demon King went for the next action immediately. She can't defeat us who are mind bodies. Then, there's only one method. She has to defeat our main body.

The Demon King located the main body's location by the connection of the soul that we used oppositely. Fortunately, the Demon King was at a quite remote place from the Elro Great Labyrinth where the main body was. In addition, she can't use the Transfer magic.

Still, the Demon King starts moving. She was very fast. Although the main body was also confident in speed, the Demon King's speed was abnormal. I understood that the main body will lose if this is fought directly.

I erode while the Demon King moves. Thanks to that, I succeeded in linking some information. A part of the Demon King's memory, five senses, etc, come to be shared. Among that, there was the Demon King's status, and I recognized that this is bad.

The Demon King has come close to the Elro Great Labyrinth at last. But, apparently, the main body is not in the Elro Great Labyrinth anymore. Did she perceived the Demon King's approach, and run away successfully?

I also had the time when I thought so. The main body that I thought to have ran away, makes a base near the town somewhere, and seems to stay there grandly. This is bad. This is the Demon King attack event. I must inform it to the main body quick.

But, a problem occurred here. The soul of me and the Demon King fused quite deeply at this point in time. To be frank, it's a level that's already inseparable. If I separate it forcibly, either of the soul, or the worst, both souls will collapse. Besides, I'm always restrained by the Demon King, so I can't move freely.

It's the end. The main body showed her stupidity for not noticing the Demon King's approach, and was beaten completely by the Demon King just as I thought.

Although it looks like she manage to survive at the last moment, the situation is not good. The Demon King and I have fused considerably deep. In other words, if I disappear, the Demon King will know it. Even though the main body was defeated, I didn't disappear. The Demon King knows it.

The Demon King understood that the main body didn't die.

But, she didn't understand what kind of trick was used. For the time being, she go to eliminate the Queen that has been eroded. She enters the Elro Great Labyrinth. She reaches the bottom layer in no time, and kill the Queen very easily. Seriously a monster.

Up to there was the Demon King's assumption. Next, she looks like she's going to crush the new main body that seems to be in this labyrinth. Bad. Very bad. When the main body dies, we probably will die like a chain reaction. This is bad.

But, they stopped the Demon King who step forward. The Earth Dragons that stay in the bottom layer.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 178

Chapter 178.

178 Demon King vs Earth Dragon

「What are you planning? I think that it's an agreement violation that you interfere me」『That is the agreement exchanged between our master and you. We follow it if it's the master's life. Unfortunately, we are not told to not oppose you』

Kieeeeeaaaaaaaaa, it spokeeeeeeeeeeee!!!

No no. Is this guy serious? It spoke.

The Demon King and the Earth Dragons that face each other. The Earth Dragon that has the biggest physique and has the appearance of an old Dragon among them, made full use of the Telepathy and talked with the Demon King. I mean, it looks like the Demon King knew that the Earth Dragon can speak because she was not perturbed when it spoke willingly.

「Sophism, huh? So? What's the reason for you to oppose me to the extent that you go against your master?」『Don't you think that the old should be eliminated by now?』「What do you mean?」

I guess I'm treated as an outsider. No, well, that's obvious though. Someone, please explain it to me. What's the relationship between the Earth Dragon and the Demon King? Guessing from the conversation, they don't seem close. I mean, isn't it hostile relationship?

Fumu. I don't know. At such a time, I can only peep.

It's going to be a little rude. I invade the Demon King's soul a little. The soul and body trembles at the same time. Ah, sorry. Endure it a little.

I peep and see the Demon King's memory. Although she attacked me to eliminate me somehow, I was able to draw out the aimed memory. Because the erosion rate rose considerably, I came to be able to do things like this.

According to the drawn Demon King's memory, it seems that the Earth Dragons are Gyurigyuri's subordinates. Ah. Now that it's said, I can agree. When I thought why something like Dragon exist in this world, it was created as Gyurigyuri's subordinate.

Does the main body know this? She seems to know it. I only know about the outline of the "Taboo", so it's not strange even if there's a description about Gyurigyuri in that. After all, Gyurigyuri is the Administrator of this world. It's unthinkable that there's nothing about Gyurigyuri who's the Administrator of this world in the "Taboo" that's the matter related to the root of this world.

Muu. I feel that the feedback from the main body has decreased recently. I also have the awareness that I'm changing a little, so isn't this possibly bad?

『The new wind is blowing. Oldest Divine Beast, isn't it the time for us old ones to leave the world?』 「What a joke. Then, do you intent to entrust everything to the new ones? The result to entrust everything is the present situation, isn't it? They must at least be an old existence like me who butts in」

The Demon King floats a callous smile. Although I can't see the Demon King's expression because I can only see the Demon King's point of view, the Demon King at such a time is in a bad mood. After I possess this person, I intend to understand the Demon King's personality, but mostly, she's always displeased. Well, if a foreign substance like me clings to the soul, of course she will be displeased. Even if that is left out, this person's bottom of the feeling is always boiled.

The world is hated, endless anger.

It's the anger that I can't help thinking that why she don't have the "Wrath" skill. When I think that she kept this much anger in the bottom of her feelings since the old times, I admire the extraordinary patience.

But, finally, the patience was at the limit. That's why, the Demon King bestirs herself. I appeared there.

The Demon King have no choice but to move. She thought that she would act to the extent to incite the Demons while seeing the state for a while, but the existence called me didn't allow it. Even if she abandons everything, she must eliminate me. And, at this place visited as a part of the action, she received the Earth Dragons' interference for some reason.

『Oldest Divine Beast, we don't understand why are you aiming at a person. We don't, but we can guess that you are cornered. Is that person cornering you? Or, is it just our wrong guess?』

The Demon King's displeasure increases. Like venting her anger, I mean, I'm the person concerned, the attack becomes stronger.

『That person is a strong person who defeated our brethren. It is not an existence that you can harm easily now』 「That's why, the Dragon species is always like this」

The Demon King grumbled as she was disgusted.

『The strong person is a precious existence to that extent. That person especially, reached to the extent that it can defeat our brethren in a short time』

Precious? Me?

「Nai wa」 Nai wa

Hmm? The Demon King and I who become speechless. After a while, The Demon King scratched her head hard.

「So? After all, you don't have the intention to withdraw, right?」 『Of course. We are included in the old ones that should be perished. Stop the Oldest Divine Beast. There is no better stage than this』 「Just be carried away as you please. I will only bite and tear everything」

The Demon King moves. The Dragons also move at the same time.

The Dragons activate the skill. "Divine Dragon Barrier". The powerful unrivaled absolute defense skill that has the effect of the magic obstruction of the Dragon species and the physical wall. The most troublesome point of this skill is, let alone magic, but the effect of all skills is negated. In order to destroy this barrier, there's nothing but to either use pure physical ability to break it or hold down the obstruction with the power more than that. In other words, either way, the only method is to overpower it. It's an extremely outrageous skill that it won't even be a match if the power to break this barrier is not owned.

Besides, the barrier activate now is not an ordinary barrier. It's an original barrier that has "Space Magic" mixed in it. The multiple barrier by the combined skill that the Earth Dragons newly think out.

The Demon King's "Space Magic" level is low. In other words, she doesn't have the means to break the "Space Magic".

In addition, the Earth Dragons don't attack assertively, but retreating like escaping while keeping a fixed distance. Hey, the escape prevention "Great Demon King" skill is not working. Ah, the escape obstruction of the "Great Demon King" only shows its effect when the opponent leaves more than the fixed distance or when the opponent tries to Transfer. I see. That's why, the Earth Dragons are keeping a fixed distance.

I mean, isn't this a great chance? Yosh. Let's advance the erosion before it's too late. Prepare yourself, Maou. Know that the true enemy is not the Earth Dragons, but me.

It was decided.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 179

Chapter 179. Gluttony.

179 Demon King of Gluttony

The Demon King runs after the Earth Dragons. The Earth Dragons obstruct the pursuit. The Demon King runs after the Earth Dragons while breaking the barrier generated by the nine Earth Dragons. The Earth Dragons reconstructs the destroyed barrier, and nine of them make an exquisite rotation and confine the Demon King.

Although it seems to be equal in offense and defense, the result is decided. The Earth Dragons have no way to win in this match. That's why, the perfect confinement. Stalling. And, a detour suicide.

The Earth Dragons are strong. Especially, the individual that seems to be the leader who talked with the Demon King with Telepathy, is terribly strong. Every kind of the status numerical value are approximately 18000. It's the result that I see by using the Demon King's "Appraisal" skill without permission. It the strongest monster that I have seen so far.

The remaining eight are strong too. After all, 5 out of the 8 have the status average of more than 10000. The remaining three have the status more than 10000 partly, and they are not weak. The average status of the weakest individual is around 7000 after all. To say this as weak... But still, they can't win.

Against this Demon King.

Among the nine Earth Dragons, six of them have the "Divine Dragon Barrier" skill. The remaining three only have the "Dragon Barrier" that's the deteriorated skill. So these six become the center, and are in charge of the barrier of the Demon King surrounding. To be frank, the low powered "Dragon Barrier" can't even confine the Demon King.

The role of the three that don't have the "Divine Dragon Barrier" is to make walls by "Soil Magic". With this, the Demon King can be stopped even a little. But, the effect is not so favorable. The Demon King penetrates the generated soil walls very easily, and charges forward.

What's with this nonsensical creature? Although she has the human figure, she's completely a monster, right? A woman t*rminator? I'm not surprised even if the insides are made of metal. When I think of the present feeling of the Earth Dragons being chased by it, namu.

And, I'm interested since a while ago, what happens to the MP or SP of this person? Although the number displayed in the status is ridiculously high, the stock is added more than usual. The unique skill, "Gluttony" that's probably the final evolution of the "Satiation" skill that my main body has. By the effect, the Demon King's HP, MP and SP have an outrageous +stock value. What's with the +99999? There's no way such a numerical value can be reduced no matter how a person struggles, right?

But, this is not the thing that I'm interested in. Her SP doesn't decrease at all. On the contrary, it's even increasing. If it's the HP and MP, there's the automatic recovery skill, so it's not strange. But, the SP should only recover by eating.

The secret is because the SP recovers whenever the Demon King moves her mouth. When the Demon King move her mouth like chewing something, a part of the Earth Dragons' barrier vanishes. Rather than vanish, it's better to said that it's shaved off. And, she chews. Whenever she swallows, her SP recovers. The secret is in the effect of "Gluttony".

『Gluttony : n% power capable of reaching the Gods. It becomes possible to devour everything, and it can be stocked as pure energy. In addition, the W system is surpassed and the the right to interfere with the MA area is obtained』

『Ruler of Gluttony : Acquisition skill 「Abundant Sky LV1」

「Sublimation」 : Acquisition condition : Acquisition of 「Gluttony」 : Effect : Each ability of HP, MP and SP rise. A+ correction whenever status strengthening-type skill proficiency gained. The Ruler class privilege is acquired : Explanation : The title presented to those who rule gluttony』

In other words, the Demon King eats the Earth Dragons' barrier using the effect of "Gluttony". And, it's converted into energy, and restores the SP.

Although all the Sin-type skills have broken abilities, among that, this "Gluttony" is outrageously terrific in combat. After all, it's similar to the pseudo perpetual motion.

The weakest Earth Dragon that got impatient releases the breath. The breath of the power that seems to destroy everything. If the opponent is not the Demon King, the attack would surely be effective. That's if the opponent is not the Demon King of Gluttony.

The Demon King opens her mouth. The Earth Dragon's breath is sucked into the Demon King's mouth. Chew. And, she swallows it as if nothing happened.

It's like this to eat everything. The level as a skill is different from my "Satiation". Not only food, but even the stone, soil, and metal are eaten, and even eats the opponent's attack. Every one of them return as energy. That's the power of "Gluttony".

Let alone the offense and defense, but it has the worst ability to make up for sustainability. If it's seen as the pure combat ability, it's a more frightening skill than my "Pride".

The tag of the Demon King and the Earth Dragons restarts. Thanks to the "Divine Dragon Barrier", stalling can be done. Even if she has the "Gluttony" skill, the "Divine Dragon Barrier" can't be broken quickly. But, the Earth Dragons that maintained the barrier and restore it whenever it's broken, are exhausted steadily. On the other hand, the more the Demon King eats, the more she recovers. There's no way they can win against such a cheating opponent.

Generally, the difference with the original status is too much.. The Earth Dragons are strong. The dreadful status that even veiled the Earth Dragons. The ridiculous status that's about 90000 in average.

The Demon King's manipulated thread pass through the gap of the eaten barrier and coils one of the Earth Dragons. The Earth Dragon is the individual with the lowest status. It was the individual that had the highest status that the thread aimed. It jumped to the front of the thread by itself to protect it.

The thread takes the life of the Earth Dragon mercilessly. Even though it was the weakest in this place, the Earth Dragon that's the leading big shot in this labyrinth died very easily. The remaining Earth Dragon is 8. They still challenge the fight that can't be won.

Sorry. It seems to be impossible to take over the Demon King while you guys are doing your best.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 180

Chapter 180.

180 Spare body moves

Well then, although the main body went out triumphantly, the situation is not good. Although I don't know why the bottom layer's Earth Dragons oppose the Demon King, I don't think that they can win the fight against the Demon King. I who inherited the Queen's memory, grasp the ability of the Earth Dragons to some extent because I was the resident of the same bottom layer. Although the leader of the Earth Dragons is strong, still, it's not equal to the Queen. Even if it comes in crowd, it's meaningless before the overwhelming Demon King's status and the cheat-like skills.

Somehow, the Earth Dragons challenge the Demon King to a fight while understanding that. Otherwise, there's no way that the proud Earth Dragons will take a withdrawing strategy that's clearly a stalling. But, I don't understand why the Earth Dragons are stalling. What are they waiting for?

Gyurigyuri? No, even though the Demon King is moving this showy, I think that man will not participate because he still hasn't appear at this point in time. It's hard to think that Gyurigyuri who has the Administrator's authority don't grasp the state of his own subordinates. I think that he leaves them while knowing that.

Then, it means that the reason the Earth Dragons attack the Demon King is their own judgment. The Earth Dragons that stayed in the bottom layer for a long time have challenged the Demon King who's a far higher opponent. I don't know the intention.

it's no use even if I think about the things that I don't know any further. I will also move ignoring the main body's intention like the Earth Dragons that move arbitrarily ignoring Gyurigyuri's intention.

Ah, test test. Can you hear me, ladies? 〈Loud and clear, over〉 (Same here, over) [Same here, over] 「Same here, over」 Un. As expected, there's no response from the Maou-in-charge. 〈Eh? What happened?〉 The Maou-in-charge is continuing the attack to the Demon King. On the other hand, the Demon King fights back desperately. To be frank, I think that she don't have the time to communicate with us. [Seriously? I mean, what about the playing dead strategy?] Ah, that, huh? Probably, the Demon King already knows the fact that we are not dead. (That's bad!) Otherwise, I don't know why the Maou-in-charge attacks arbitrarily. 「When it comes to that, should we also move?」 Un. Because the main body is in high spirits after reviving, I contacted instead of her. (Roger. Then, I will begin to act) How's everyone's erosion rate? 〈I guess around 85%〉 (A little over 80%) [Around 70%?] 「Um, around 60%」 Low. 「It can't be helped! I'm the last one who got generated after all!」 Well, yeah. Can you make it as fast as possible? [I'm doing it fast so far, you know?] With that in consent. (You are fairly impatient. Did something bad happen?) Although this still don't have any positive proof, the Demon King and the Maou-in-charge are having a considerable close fight unlike us. And, she is eroding the Demon King somehow, but there's a feeling of being taken oppositely. 〈That's bad!〉 Although I don't know which one will fall first, she might be taken in the worst case. (This is bad. When it becomes like that, the cheating direct soul attack can't be used) [Then, will it become a serious match with the Demon King?] 「With that?」 Yeah. I want to raise the forces of the main body even a little now. That's why, I want you all to take over the Queens as fast as possible. [All right. I understood the situation] 〈I will begin it immediately〉 My best regards.

Fuu. With this, the other Queen-in-charges have start to move. As expected, the main body knows that it's too dangerous to move in a weakened state, but now that she has revived, she shouldn't fall behind easily except the Demon King. Because she's in high spirits after reviving, she might make a blunder at an unexpected point though. Let's pray that she don't make any blunder.

Is there anything that I can do? The best would be waiting for the status recovery quietly with the meaning of strengthening the forces. After all, even though it's borrowed, I have the same strength as the main body. If I revive, the forces will simply double with that alone. This is big.

However, my recovery is considerably slower than the main body. Although my body grows bigger pointlessly, the essential status doesn't recovers to that extent. It seems to take more time until complete recovery.

Then, I shouldn't move unskillfully. It's better to make a blunder rather than moving forcibly in a weakened state. I decided to wait for the recovery quietly. Now, I can only pray that the main body and the spare bodies to do well.

Especially, the Maou-in-charge is considerably important. The future development will change completely by the Maou-in-charge's success or failure.

If possible, I have the feeling of wanting to help the Maou-in-charge, but I can't do it. I from the start and the other Queen-in-charges have already fused with the Queens more than half, so it's impossible to move easily with only the soul like before. The reason why I was able to move to the egg is that I moved together with the existence called the Queen.

I did an incarnation. I can't exist as a soul anymore. I have changed like this.

Then, in order to assist the Maou-in-charge, the main body must generate new Parallel Will. But, I expect that the main body will not produce any Parallel Will anymore. I think that the present state is a last-minute line. It's possible to split while remaining intact with the main body's soul.

To produce Parallel Will means nothing but splitting the soul. When more Parallel Will is produced, the main body's soul will wear out steadily. Because the soul of the Queens and the Demon King have been absorbed by the influence of the skill, the main body's soul becomes a distorted condition. If she produce more Parallel Will any further. The worst case is the soul will collapse. In other words, it's death. Even if she has the "Immortality" in the system, she can't revive if the soul collapses.

It's tough that I can only wait. Please, everyone.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter S28

Shun 28. I might not be in home for a few days. Not sure yet but if there's no chapters tomorrow, it might be no chapters for a few days.

S28 The Elro Great Labyrinth escape

After encountering the Remnants of the Nightmare, the course after that advanced surprisingly well. It seems that the Earth Dragon that just evolved preyed on other monsters, and there's hardly a monster remained in the large passage. Thanks to that, the combat frequency ended with a little, and we didn't even encounter a big shot.

I think that it's probably not only the Earth Dragon's influence. The Remnants of the Nightmare. Because there's that existence, either the monsters ran away or they are all eliminated.

After that, Basgas-san's words have decreased. He set up his nerves without speaking unnecessary things. Although he speaks of necessary things, he ceased to laugh cheerfully like before. The appearance is like the warrior who goes to the battlefield.

We were inspired by Basgas-san's state, and the conversation decreased among us. As the exit is getting closer, it became remarkable. The tension of being in the dangerous labyrinth and the tension to get out of this labyrinth and stand on the real battlefield. They mixed, and everyone's face becomes severe gradually.

「Well then, the exit is close by now that we come this far」

Basgas-san began to talk at the camp that would become the last.

「About the exit, there's only one bypath in this side」 「Then, does it mean that we will use the bypath?」 「Yeah」 「Is it a dangerous place after all?」 「Ah」

Basgas-san nods seriously.

「In the first place, if the bypath is safe, there should be more people using it, right? There's no one using it means that either it's not known or it can't be used because it's dangerous. Only one of these two.」

Basgas-san takes out a map.

「Look. We are now at here」

The place that Basgas-san points at. There was already close to the exit. When I recognize the place where I am now clearly, a real feeling of having coming this far at last arises.

「And, the bypath that we must break through is here」

The place that Basgas-san indicates. There became a large space.

「It's a pit. There are several of it in the Great Labyrinth, and it connects the upper layer to the lower layer. And, this pit also connects to the ground. If we climb here, we can reach the ground」

The pit. I heard it that it's a huge hole that connects the upper layer to the lower layer called the untrodden danger zone. It's said that most of the adventurers who went down there didn't return. But, this time, we are not going down. We will climb it oppositely. And, Basgas-san said that it's dangerous. There's a dangerous reason.

「What kind of danger exists in the pit?」 「Ah. First of all, before the pit, we must pass through the danger zone that's here」

At the place of the map that Basgas-san indicates, there was a wide space opened before the pit.

「It's the nest of the Elro Ferect」 「Elro Ferect?」 「It's the insect-type monster that has a lot of feet. Although each one of them is weak, there's a lot of them and they use the abnormal condition of paralysis anyway. Because they are also fast, it's the end if you are caught. You will be paralyzed and they will gather in swarms」 「Ugh」

Did she imagined the scene? Katia leaks a small groan.

「The only way deal with it is to annihilate them all at once with wide range attack」 「I see」

Certainly, it's dangerous normally. But, this party should be all right. After all, most of the members can use the wide range annihilation magic. If Katia, Sensei, Anna and I activate the magics, a considerable range should be able to be covered. Even if we miss it, there's Hyrinth-san's impregnable defense and Basgas-san's covering. It might be good.

「First of all, that is the first barrier」 「The first, so that means there's still something?」 「The second barrier is the nest of the Finjengoath」

We wait for Basgas-san's next words.

「Although the Finjengoath is a monster that also inhabits in places other than the Elro Great Labyrinth, the one that inhabits in the Elro Great Labyrinth makes the nest at the pit, and act based on there. Somehow, most of the pits have the Finjengoath's nest. Finjengoath is a flying insect-type monster that has poison stinger. Although the danger degree of one is assumed to be D, generally, it's led by the evolved individual and form a platoon. They will cooperate and attack. In order to reach the exit, we must climb the vertical wall while dodging their attacks」

It didn't seem that the Elro Great Labyrinth will let us out easily.

「Hiiiiiiii!」

A scream leaks from Katia's mouth. Although she was not that good with insects since the previous life, after coming here, I feel that she have become excessively bad at it. Well, it's not that I don't understand her feelings. If I see this scene, I will feel unpleasant even if I'm not bad with insects.

In my point of view, the swarm of insects jostled each other. It's the insect monster that has the similar figure as the centipede of the former world. They wriggle in a heap all over in my view. It can't be helped even if a scream comes out.

We intended to mow down the swarm of monsters by shooting wide range magic in turns as planned originally. But.

「Hiiiyaaa! No no nooo!」

Katia goes mad and fires magic at random. The number of the centipede-type monsters reduce very fast by the magic shot one after another.

「Um, isn't it dangerous to use fire in the cave?」 「It's probably all right because the magic fire in this world doesn't burns oxygen and produce carbon dioxide」 「Eh? Is that so?」 「Yes. Although I didn't checked in detail, it's something vague like causing the phenomenon called the fire. When the magic skills are inexperience, the carbon dioxide seems to be generated, but I don't know the detailed condition. I think that if it's Katia-chan's skill, carbon dioxide won't be generated, so there's no need to worry」 「It sure is mysterious」 「It's mysterious. In the first place, it's a mystery that how fire can be generated without the combustion of carbon, and I don't understand the mechanism that carbon dioxide will be generated if the skill is inexperience. It seems to be different from the combustion of hydrogen. Well, if I begin to say such a thing, it will become what is magic to begin with. As a body came from the world that science exists, it's impossible to understand it, but it might be not good if I don't think so」

While we are talking pointlessly, Katia has burnt the swarm of monsters alone exhaustively.

I look down at the bottom. The darkness of the bottom that can't be seen opened the mouth big there. I look up at the top. There's a little sunlight, and innumerable shadows flew between the light.

It's the bee. The figure is quite similar to the former world's bee. However, the size is incomparable. The length is nearly twice of me. The huge monsters flies around innumerbly.

Although Katia who hates insects looks pale again, she doesn't have the energy to rampage like a while ago. Fortunately or unfortunately, Katia only looked at the swarm of bees without having the energy to rage.

「Well then, this is the time to show our skills」 「Yeah」

Hyrinth-san and I lead. Running in the air. It's the aerial run by the "Space Maneuver" skill.

Although the "Space Maneuver" skill is convenient, the acquisition is difficult to that extent. Only Hyrinth-san and I can fight using the "Space Maneuver". Although Katia also has the "Space Maneuver" skill, because she is considerably exhausted by the magic barrage a while ago, this time, she's in the rear.

The strategy is very simple. Intercept the attacking monsters by making full use of the "Space Maneuver", and the other members climb the wall at the chance. It's a hard work to climb the wall, and it's considerably tough for Hyrinth-san and me to keep activating the "Space Maneuver" in the meantime. It's not a simple strategy as it's said. Although I'm worried about Anna, because Basgas-san is on her side, I want to believe that it's all right unless something great happens.

Several bees flew at once towards here. When I see it near, it considerably big. Six bees. Strong power can be felt from one of them. Apparently, the individual is the leader.

My sword cuts the leader bee. Although I swung it lightly with the intention of testing it, I was able to defeat it easily. Apparently, each one of them doesn't seem to be significant.

But, when more than two of them attack at the same time, it's troublesome. Hyrinth-san and I kill each bee surely as if protecting each other.

When we killed the last one, the next swarm arrived.

「There's no time to rest, huh?」 「Yeah」

I reduce the number before they approach with "Holy Light Magic". But, apparently, the bee have recognize us to be an enemy, and a large quantity of bees surge all at once.

Even if I reduce the number with wide range magic, because there's a lot of them originally, it's not so effective. Even if we intercept with magic and sword, several of them get through.

Those were shot down by Sensei's magic of wind.

「Please don't mind the back! If it's a short time, I can handle with magic!」

There's Sensei's covering, so Hyrinth-san and I devote ourselves to bee extermination. We handle the attacking swarm of bees one after another mechanically. When it becomes pretty hard to maintain the "Space Maneuver", the end was seen at last.

It's the exit.

Basgas-san climbs up first, and pulls Anna up. Next is Katia, Sensei, and when I saw Hyrinth-san is heading toward the exit, I shoot the last wide range magic aiming at the approaching bees, and jumped into the exit.

The sunlight that I see again after several days. It's already in the evening, and the sky has been dyed into madder red.

Without losing time to be absorbed in deep emotion, we go away from the exit. The bees might chase us if we are here, and there might be the ambush of the empire. At present, there's no figure of the empire soldier, but we can't be careless.

「I have a hideout in this side too. Let's go there today」

We decide to get on Basgas-san's suggestion. Like this, we succeeded in escaping from the long labyrinth life.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 181

Chapter 181. I'm back. Back to normal speed. And, I'm at outside now, so I can't update the TOC yet.

181 It becomes something terrible

I transfer from the Elro Great Labyrinth. Because they will probably be confused if I who have died appear suddenly, I transfer to a position far from the town this time. I see the state of the town with "Thousand Miles Eyes" for the time being.

Hmm? Somehow, isn't the number of soldiers little? The number of adventurers is also little. It has decrease by half. What does this mean?

Oh, well. The Vampire child is the same as before. She's growing quickly and healthily in the mansion. My Babies grow faster though. It's not good to compare her with that.

Huh? The town chief who's the father of the Vampire child is not there either.

Hmm. Neither the soldier nor the adventurer are there. The town chief as well. But, the town's function is working properly.

Is there even a war happening somewhere?

If a powerful monster appeared and must be subjugated, the town chief doesn't need to leave. The town chief was quite strong as far as I have seen. As a human though. Then, it's possible that the soldiers and some adventurers are led by a person who's has the commander-like position, and depart. Although it's possible, in that case, the possibility that it's a war rather than a monster subjugation is higher.

Did it possibly become a war with the country of the middle-aged man who I killed? There was such a conversation before receiving the Demon King's attack.

But, is that really serious? Although I certainly thought that it was a threat to the extent to make diplomacy advantageous, it was serious. Religion is terrible.

However, it's still a guess. It's not confirmed that the war really started. In order to confirm it, I want to gather information a little in the town.

New skill, "Concealment" activate. Although this skill is evolved from "Camouflage", it looks like it has the effect of removing the things that I want to hide from the other party's recognition. In other words, if I use this skill on myself, my figure won't be recognized. Up until now, because of the Fear Bringer title, the stealth-type skills that have become half dead, finally, were able to revive. The Fear Bringer title's effect is to give fear to those who saw my figure. In other words, if my figure is not seen, it won't show the effect. I have already confirmed that not recognizing = invisible. With this, I can act secretly to my heart's content.

I turn on the "Concealment" and the "Stealth", and turn off the intimidation-type skill like "Emperor" and the other skills that I activate always. I break through the town's defense network easily, and the invasion succeeded without being noticed by anyone. I eavesdrop on the resident's conversation while moving along the roof of the house.

Yes, outbreak of war confirmed!

It's already a hot topic in the town. If I walk a little, war, war. Rather, there are fewer people who speak of other things.

It seemed to have become a war with the country named Outs country. As expected, the Outs country is the country of the middle-aged man who I assassinated. Besides, it seems to be the country where the exit of the Elro Great Labyrinth is there. It's hostile with the Sariera country for many years because of the difference of religion, and the monster that destroyed their fort is worshiped as the Divine Beast in the enemy country. Of course, that's not amusing judging from the Outs country.

The Outs country is the religion called Divine Word Religion. The Sariera country is Goddess Religion. As the scale, it looks like the Divine Word Religion is believed worldwide, but the national power of the Sariera country is much higher than the Outs country. In the balance of the strange power relationship, I appear.

Judging from the Outs country, it would be a vexing problem. There's the prestige as the country, and they want to eliminate me who's the monster that smashed the fort somehow. But, I was worshiped as the Divine Beast in the enemy country. In order to eliminate me without being offensive, they must first win over me to the country. Therefore, that middle-aged man was selected as the negotiator.

This is probably fine even if the negotiation turns out well or fails. The Outs country's higher-ups only want to use me as an excuse to cause the war. Otherwise, they wouldn't appoint such an incompetent middle-aged man as the negotiator, and if that middle-aged man does a goodwill ambassador regularly, the problem will raise eventually. If the Sariera country declares war because of that, it's a godsend. It's possible to cause war under the name of defense. It's just as planned.

Because I killed the middle-aged man this time, both countries became strange. The Sariera country blames the Outsuo country for trying to harm the Divine Beast illegally. The Outsuo country blames the Sariera country that the Divine Beast killed their diplomat. In the end, it settled down in a draw, but then, I disappeared.

Besides, it seems that it's decided that the one who killed me is the underling of the Divine Word Religion. Actually, it's wrong because I was killed by the Demon King, but there's no way the people know about such thing. Although I don't know which camp spread the fake information, it looks like at least the Sariera country is thinking about the war. When I eavesdrop on the resident's story, there's a lot of the contents like "We have to take revenge of Divine Beast-sama". They are deceived successfully.

Ah, although I don't know what's the motive of the country's higher-ups, at least, it's confirmed that both countries are itching to start the war. I'm used as the excuse, huh?

It's irritating. Why they get excited when the person in question is absent? Besides, my intention is disregarded. If you want to start a war, you should just start it without minding the cause. Don't use me as the excuse.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 182

Chapter 182.

182 Battlefield inspection

Now that I have come this far, let's go to the battlefield. I don't even know what kind of situation it's in now. It's possible that it was already over when I reached the battlefield. After all, it took quite a lot of days until I recover. Although I don't know how long is it to start a war, if it's a fantasy world where magic exists, it's not strange that the military movement is faster than the former world.

Well, if it's over, that's all. Anyway, let's go to the site.

I knew it relatively easily that where I should go. Although this town is connected to a lot of roads, there was a road that seemed that it's obvious that a lot of people used it. The innumerable footprints and the trace of the wheel that seems to be a carriage were made a while ago. Although the other roads also have those, there's a lot of non-humans' footprint. Did they even tame a monster and enslave it?

I advance the highway with "Concealment" activated. Oh dear! Because my status skyrocketed, an outrageous speed is released when I run even a little. The feelings are the feeling of riding a roller coaster without safety device. Hahaha. Although my speed was high originally, it rose even more after unifying with Mother. If I train steadily by level up, it might be fine, but, I'm troubled that when it rose all at once like this, there's a gap between the consciousness and body.

Well, I have the cheating skill called the "Super Thought Acceleration". Even if I accelerate physically, it's rather just right for me that everything becomes slow. I will fly, yay. I might be a person who will change character at the moment I grasped the steering wheel when I drive a car.

I let my speed do its thing, and reached. Apparently, the border's vicinity is around here. It looks like a real combat hasn't start yet. Both armies glare at each other on the excessively wide plain. I mean, there's a lot of them.

From the result of Wisdom-sama's Detection, this side that's the Sariera country army is approximately 42000. On the other hand, the Outsuo country side is 53000. Huh? Wasn't the Outsuo country a small country? Why there's so many people? I mean, there are more people than expected.

Is this true? Is this the fight that I was made as an excuse? The atmosphere of an all-out war with the dangerous mind is flowing though. Ah, I feel that my stomach is starting to feel pain. I don't know whether the spider has the organ equal to the stomach or not.

Uee. It's a several times scale of the battlefield that I imagined. Even though I imagined a more cozy skirmish, it's this when I look at it. What should I say? I plan to break into the battlefield if possible, but if I do that, it's like I can't read the situation. What should I do?

I mean, why the small country, Outsuo country has more people? I try to look at the Outsuo country army. Hmm. This, it's that. The so-called allied forces.

Apart from the army that seemed to be Outsu country's soldiers, there's clearly the army of the soldiers that seemed to be a different power. And, there's several. The army that stands out the most was overall coordinated in white. Their appearances stands out considerably with a lot of people next to the Outsu army unit.

The second one that stands out is took their position on the opposite side of the white army. They looks like the knights who I encountered in the Elro Great Labyrinth. I mean, it's probably the soldiers of the same country. This one has almost the same number as the white army.

In addition, there are various armies mixed in there. Although the others don't have a great number of people like the white army and the tentative name knight country, if trash piles up, something can be done. It becomes the number of people more than the Sariera country whole army with only the main force, the white one and the knight country, and another power joins in there. As a result, a large army that greatly exceeds the Sariera country is completed.

Judging from the appearances, both battle formations are simply lining horizontally on the plain. The place is also a common plain, so it doesn't seem that there's a geographical advantage. Both armies neither have battle formation nor the geographical advantage.

Then, the outcome of the battle is decided by the difference of simple forces and the ability of the commander, but in this case, the ability of the commander is only in the range of error. In other words, the difference of the simple forces connects to the victory or defeat.

At this rate, the defeat of Sariera country is inevitable. If there's a person of the strength matching for a thousand people class in the Sariera country, it's different. After all, in this fantasy world, I can't say that such a person doesn't exist. Judging from the human's strength who I have seen so far, if the status exceeds 1000, it's strong enough. Then, if there's at least 3000 in status, it's not a dream to be matchless. If it's at least 3000, it's not strange that it exists. Do I think so because I myself have an inflation feeling? But, as a real problem, it's certain that even if there's a human like that, it's not strange. It's not only in the status, but a guy who makes full use of the skills and fight equally.

Well, that's not only to the Sariera country, but it's also possible to say to the Outsou country allied forces. If there's such a non-standard existence on the other side, there's no way the Sariera country can win. Because they already lost in the number of people.

How will the individual difference of forces appear? As for the human's strength of this world, the upper limit is about 1000 in status. As for the lower limit, it's only one-digit. There's a considerably gap in strength.

Among them, the strongest one is unfortunately, the middle-aged man who I left in the labyrinth. After all, if I look at his magic-type status, it's around 1500. In exchange for that, the physical-type status was around 300. Even that 300 is quite high for a human.

When I think from the human's status that I have seen so far, an ordinary soldier is around 200. If it's an elite, it's about 300. And, the elite on top of that is around 500, is it? When thinking from there, exceeding 1000 is considerably strong.

Huh? Then, isn't that middle-aged man an elite even in the physical? R-Ridiculous. Oh, well. Let's forget about the middle-aged man who looks like a pervert once.

The problem is how much is the difference in soldiers of both armies. If one side is 200 on the average and the other side is 300 on the average, it seems possible to push back the disadvantage of the number. However, just by looking at both armies in a glance, it doesn't seem that there's so much difference. Rather, the Sariera country side has a lower quality of soldiers, and it might be at disadvantage.

The white army and the knight country army seem to have high skills even if I look from a distance. Although if it's the Outs country including the other armies, they seem to be judged as the victor, the two armies clearly differentiate. Although it's the Sariera country if it's in all, it's the Outs country allied forces if it's the prominent.

It's a difficult point, but the Sariera country is disadvantageous. I mean, I think about things on the Sariera country side. Hmm. What should I do?

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 183

Chapter 183.

183 People are trash

While I was troubled on what I should do, the situation changed. One person who looks like a commander steps forward from the Outs country side. It's not a gallant horse, what's that? Kirin? Well, jumping to the space where both glare at each other in the battlefield on such a monster.

「I am the king of the Outs country, Gushiisuku Emera Outs!」

Oh. His voice is loud. Although it might be the effect of some kind of skill, the king of the Outs country named himself with a loud voice to the extent that it echoes in the entire battlefield. It's a little exciting that it's like the one scene of a movie.

「You respect the monster as the Divine Beast that brought calamity to our country, and in addition, your devil deed by offering our country's brethren to the monster! Evil believers, your sins deserve a certain death!」

Huh? What? That middle-aged man is decided to be the sacrifice to me? No, I understand that it's far-fetched. Is that middle-aged man's interference ignored completely?

It was a short statement, but it's a loud voice that sounds even in the bottom of the stomach and the effect is outstanding. The soldiers on the Outsue country side get excited. Although they yell severally, unfortunately, because there's a distance and the large group raises a war cry without unity, I can't grasp what are they saying. I don't think that I want to grasp it though. In the first place, it's a mystery that whether they are yelling meaningful words or not. To be frank, I think that most of them are simply yelling.

And, like cutting the Outsue country allied forces' excitement, one commander jumps out of the Sariera country side. This one also rides a monster, but it's different from the king of the Outsue country. The white coat of hair and the opened wing. I mean, it's just a Pegasus. As expected of D. The point suppressed is being suppressed.

「I am the king of the Sariera country, Jigis El Sariera!」

The king who gives his name is young! What's with the young noble who looks very good with that white horse? Although the king of the Outsue country gives an impression of a stern and honest soldier, the king of the Sariera country looks like a prince who's in a story. Umu. When I have to pick either one of them, I prefer the king of the Outsue country.

「Servants of the Divine Word! The arrogance that curses us in your narrowed view as heresy! The sin to hurt the sacred Divine Beast-sama who heals us, and passing the judgment that its a brutal sinner! Even if the merciful Goddess-sama forgives you, on behalf of her, we will give the iron hammer of judgment!」

Aaah. I had enough of such thing.. I don't wish for such thing.

「Ridiculous! The mind that worship the monster is evil itself! Obeying the origin of the Divine Word's spirit of the God, you should start over again from the afterlife」

Really? Saying such thing. Hmm.

「You are addicted to the deception called Divine Word without knowing Goddess-sama's merciful heart! Aren't you the heretics!？」

Oi oi.

「Nonsense! The world only has one God which is the Divine Word God! Something like the Goddess is nothing more than a fantasy! Have you heard the Goddess's voice before!？」「No! However, Goddess-sama's spirit always watch over us! To answer the spirit is our mission of the Goddess Religion!」「That is to be equal to the monster!？」「They are good neighbors! What is wrong with believing the neighbors!？」「This is because it's a monster!」「Then, what is the one that you are entrusting your body to now!？」「This is a tool!」「That is nonsense! Humans and monsters work together, and one day, together with the descended Goddess-sama, the Demons will be destroyed! That is the promised holy war! It's Goddess-sama's salvation!」

What?

「The Demons and the monsters, both belong to the devils! There's no way we can understand each other!」「The Demons and the monsters are different!」「It's the same! They harm us, Humans! Arguments more than this are unnecessary! Everyone, judgment to the pitiful heretics!」「Attack the people manipulated by the false God with Goddess-sama's mercy!」

Both armies begin to advance while raising a war cry.

Ah. It can't be helped. Un. I understood it. Although I understood it, when I see it like this, it goes beyond anger and I'm dumbfounded.

The Goddess Religion, there's no way the Goddess wish for such a thing. Descend and destroy the Demons? Such thing can't be done, and it's impossible that she will do it. Because the Goddess continued struggling to save even the Demons until the end.

The Divine Word Religion is hopeless. I studied a little about the Divine Word Religion when I gathered information in the town. In short, it's a religion that believes that the voice of heaven is the voice of God. And, in order to hear the voice of heaven numerously, it should teach the people to raise a lot of the skills and levels.

I can understand the origin. Because someone long ago raised the level of the skills, that was made as the religion. That someone surely believes in God more than anyone else.

But, from what I can see just now, the faith is distorted. It's the evidence that it denies the Goddess Religion completely. The purpose of the person who caused this war can be seen through. For the Divine Word Religion, the Goddess Religion was obstructive. Therefore, it's decided to smash it.

Why? It's obvious. It's because a part of the Goddess Religion is right. The Divine Word Religion doesn't want to spread that right part. Because it will make them inconvenient.

Fuu. Trash. Knowing that it's like that, and giving priority to oneself. What can you call it other than trash?

The Goddess Religion that forgets about the Goddess's hope. The Divine Word Religion that gives priority to oneself, and carry out the erasure of truth. Both are trash. Well, it's decided that which one is more of a trash.

The Outsou country is a calamity. Because I'm used as the excuse to crush the Goddess Religion, and it becomes a war without I knowing it. Well, it might be the consequences of one's deeds caused by their stupidity. If it's a nation, he should lead the country properly. If it's the small country, I guess not to have things on one's way. Then, I sympathize you.

Although I sympathize, I won't show mercy. The Divine Word Religion might be necessary evil to the world, but I don't like the existence. That's why, I will smash it.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 184

Chapter 184. Added a donation button. Donate to motivate me. I will post more chapters than usual depending on the donations.

184 Now, pray to God

Taking advantage of the confusion that both armies will clash, I also start my action. Aiming at the white group. Judging from the clothes, it put on the airs of a clergy, so I think that it's the Divine Word Religion's main force.

The people who have been sent to such a battlefield are fools believing in the Divine Word Religion seriously without knowing the intention of the higher-ups, but I'm not concerned. Although I'm not concerned, it meets the requirements as the target of my anger, and I want them to think that there was no luck and give up.

I prepare the activation of magic while moving. I move in the air while looking down at the battlefield with "Space Maneuver". I will use a slightly bold move.

I arrive at the sky of the white group. At the same time, the prepared magic is completed. I activate without hesitation.

"Darkness Magic", Darkness World.

If the "Abyss Magic" is excluded, it has the highest offensive ability and area of effect among the magics that I can activate, the wide area annihilation magic. Although the offensive ability is a little inferior to the Hell Gate of the "Abyss Magic", the range is almost equal of about 200 meters in diameter. That range is engulfed in darkness. It's an instant. But, after the darkness vanished, nothing remains. Neither people nor things were there.

If it's the present me, I can use this kind of magic relatively easy. This is because I use the "Parallel Will" as the arithmetic unit without the ego. If it's the present me, I can even activate the "Abyss Magic" with composure.

The white group is almost annihilated by the single blow. The wide hole is completed in the battlefield. Although the sound of the war cry and weapons clashing echoes at a distance, only this area is strangely silent.

A tremendous amount of level up notifications came. I hear the voice of heaven all the time since a while ago. If my level rises so easily, should I just destroy one or two towns without minding anything? Oh, well. Even in this place, it's possible to recover enough.

A second Darkness World bursts to the silent Outsou country allied forces. Like making everything disappear, such an unreasonable scene spreads. In the battlefield that falls silent again, I get down to the ground. If I see the front, a group of faces that seemed to despair. If I see the back, a group of faces that seemed stiff. Both are awful faces.

A courageous soldier came to slash me. Rather than courageous, the soldier is probably already confused. I intercept the soldier with a suitable magic. The soldier's head bursts open. The soldier of the Sariera country.

Aaah. I have done it. Even though they are distorted, I intended to overlook the Goddess Religion because they are more reasonable.

I look at the Sariera country's army. The state that the understanding has not caught up yet that a soldier went mad and attacked me, and I killed the soldier. But, if the understanding catches up, I will be recognized to be an enemy. Even if they praise me as the Divine Beast, if they understand that I'm harmful to them, they will change their attitude. Human is such a thing. Human always betrays. Even if the person is the benefactor.

As I thought, the soldiers of the Sariera country shoot magics aiming at me. The Outsou country also attacks me like they conspired. You guys are on good terms. Is it that? When a powerful common enemy shows up, they can't help but to joint struggle reluctantly.

Unfortunately, I'm not interested in such false friendship. Even if they form a temporary truce and fight together, they can't beat me. There's no reason that they can win.

I erase the magics with "Divine Dragon Power" and "Dragon Barrier". It would be better if they are of the Drake class or even higher rank, but if it's the magic manipulated by humans, I won't receive any damage even if I don't do anything. I shoot the magic of the counterattack at the same time to both armies. It's the new magic that I learned by seeing the middle-aged man using it in the Great Labyrinth. The flash of thunder flickers from my left and right.

I'm weak in fire and ice. Next is water, and the light is almost the same as it. But, thanks to the 「Rescuer」 「Saint」 「Savior」 that I acquired by hypocritical actions, the light attribute became my forte now. The thunder seemed to have a good affinity with light, and after the titles are acquired, the affinity rose when I checked it. Originally, because I'm not so weak in thunder, it has become my best attribute following the dark now.

So I intend to strengthen the magic skill of thunder with the light. Something like deliver the final blow with light and dark to the people who believe in God, isn't it a good taste? Is this the divine punishment? Or, is it the devil's curse? Which one do they see?

The light flickers, and the thunder scatters flash. Life scatters without the friend and foe relations each time.

That's right. When thinking about my present status, this situation is right even though I was beaten completely by the Demon King, I'm really strong. The Demon King is only too non-standard. Such a person is a cheat. It's impossible to win.

But, it can also be said to me. The people in this place must have tasted the despair similar to me when I confront the Demon King. The monster that's invulnerable to any attacks, and uses a lot of advanced magics. Huh? Aren't I the strongest? Why I can't beat the Demon King? Mysterious.

I continue the massacre while thinking something useless. Although the Sariera country and the Outsuo country have already cooperate to attack me, I'm not wounded at all. I crush the great attack ahead of time after all. Although it's not a big deal even if I receive it, I can't accept that the precious experience points will decrease by that. That's why, if there's a group that prepares a great magic that seems to have a wide effect, I will crush them first.

Again a person comes to try to slash me. Un? It's the fastest one so far. A child?

「Monster, I'm your opponent!」

Eh, why is a child in such a place?

The question was understood when I appraised the child's status. The child's name is Julius Zagan Anareich. Title, Hero. Well, after the Demon King is the Hero.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 185

Chapter 185. Becoming an Arachne.

185 The small Hero

No no no. Whatever the circumstances may be, this is impossible. Certainly, the Hero's status is higher than a common mob. But, whatever the circumstances may be, don't bring such a child to a battlefield. There's a limit to be inappropriate.

Aaah. If I see him properly, he's trembling. Poor thing. Eh? The cause of trembling? It's me, what about it?

I mean, seriously, why is the Hero in such a place? Although it's surprising that the Hero is such a small child, in the first place, it's impossible to be in such a battlefield. Is it that? Is it like showing the death of people since childhood by letting him to observe the battlefield?

Is it possible? Normally, only the winning battlefield should be inspected, but did it change like this because I appear in the battlefield? Hmm. Because I don't know this Hero-kun's personality, I can't say definite things.

Hero-kun swings down the sword. I mean, because the sword is bigger compared with his body, there's only either swinging it down or being swing. I dodge it by chance.

This Hero-kun has common-sense strength unlike the Demon King. Only the age is slightly absurd. Well, he is promising to that extent. Then, it would be a waste if I crush him here.

It's absolutely better to wait for him to grow up more and mature. The more he grows up, the more favorable to me. To be chosen as the Hero in young means that his future is promising to that extent. It's too wasteful to crush him now.

Thus, Hero-kun. I will overlook you. Instead of you, I will take the miserable trembling adults behind you.

Ah, I perceive a preparation of some big magic. Ge. This will even swallow Hero-kun up! What are you thinking!?

Obstruction...won't be in time. Although I'm entirely all right even if I receive it, Hero-kun is severe. It can't be helped. I will Transfer him.

I construct the Transfer magic hastily while dodging the desperate Hero-kun's sword lightly. Ugh, the other party's construction is faster than I thought. This is bad, they already shot it.

The flame that burns down in a wide range hits. Although I reduced the power by "Divine Dragon Power" and "Dragon Barrier", still, the flame burns down the whole surroundings. Me together with Hero-kun who was near with me.

I didn't make it in time for an instant. I activate Transfer in the scene where flame spreads explosively.

The silence that the noise of the battlefield until a while ago is like a lie. I returned to the Elro Great Labyrinth with Transfer. Recovering Hero-kun.

I confirm the Hero-kun's condition quickly. His HP decreases to some extent, and he fainted, but it doesn't seem that he will die. Apparently, the clothes worn is quite a quality goods, so his defensive ability is equivalently high. Ah, but only the white muffler burns more than half.

For the time being, treatment. It's a waste to let the future special food to die. Incidentally, I will improve the muffler a little.

I cut off the part that was burnt, connect new threads, and knit it with "Thread Manipulation". Umu. It's a good quality even if I say so myself. Because the Hero wears it, the thread used might be a good thread, but his defensive ability is further increased because it's reinforced with my threads. I'm sure that it can prevent decapitation.

「Mu! This boy, the Hero!?!」

The magician middle-aged man noticed us who transferred. Oh, come to think of it, this middle-aged man has the "Appraisal". So, he noticed that this child is the Hero.

Ah, I thought of a good thing. Let's force this Hero-kun to the middle-aged man. I also want the middle-aged man to go back already, and if he take Hero-kun along, it's killing two birds with one stone. The nuisance can be driven out gently, and I can return Hero-kun, so it's a good thing.

Let's do that. Now that I have decided so, let's take communication. In order to communicate, I must be able to talk.

My present level has exceeded 50 thanks to the massacre a while ago. In other words, I can finally evolve.

Thus, take care when I'm evolving. {Aye}

I entrust the things in the future to the Queen-in-charge.

《Individual Zana Horowa evolves into Arachne》

Although it was long until here, I can finally become an appearance close to the human-type. Ah, but wait a minute. The Arachne has the upper body of the human and the lower body of the spider, right? Won't the eyes decrease? Ah! Oh no! The eight Evil Eyes festival becomes impossible!

No. Rather than that, I'm a female, right? Come to think of it, I'm convinced that I'm a female, but I don't know the difference of the spider's sex. Although I think that I'm a female because I can lay eggs, male might be able to lay eggs with the power of the skill. I won't turn into having the upper body of a muscular man after evolving, right? Ah, that might be alright. Alright, huh?

Ah, crap, the evolution started. Uo!? My body is creaking!? Although my appearance didn't change much so far, I will change a lot this time. Agagagaga. Thanks to the "Sense of Pain Nullity", it's not painful, but it's an amazingly strange feeling.

My body becomes slightly larger. It's not the level that can be said as creakily anymore, but conspicuously. How am I getting bigger without shedding? That part is the fantasy world, so is it a defeat if I think about it?

The enlargement of my body ends, and this time, my head begins to itch. Something is growing. Un? Somehow, it's a strange feeling. It's like my consciousness is divided into two even though I didn't use the Parallel Thought.

And, the construction of something that grew is completed.

《Evolution completed》《Became the Arachne species》《Every basic ability rose》《Level Up Bonus:Skill Proficiency was acquired》

And, I completed the evolution.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter S29

Shun 29.

S29 Offer

「Thank you for all your help」

We lower our head to Basgas-san. We escaped from the Elro Great Labyrinth, and we lodged in Basgas-san's base for one night. And, it's decided that we will leave immediately to the Elf Village in the morning of the next day. We are parting with Basgas-san here.

「Ah」

Basgas-san says so and nods.

「However, is it really okay for me to take all of the materials of the Earth Dragon? It's a fortune if you sell it, you know?」 「Yes. This is a hurry trip, so we can't take it. Please consider it as reward for helping us」 「Then, I will take it without reservation」

Basgas-san smiles broadly.

「Basgas-san. If」 「Lad, I'm a humble guide」

Basgas-san says so interrupting my words. It was the answer to the words that I was going to say.

Basgas-san is an experienced warrior. I was able to understand it enough in the Elro Great Labyrinth. In addition, he also has excellent judgment that comes from his experiences. To be honest, I want this person to come along with us.

But, Basgas-san's word denied it.

「As for the guide, guiding is the work. Even more, I'm already retired. There's no place for an old man to butt in any further」

Basgas-san who says so and laughs. But, he stops the laughter immediately, and begins to talk with a serious face this time.

「Lad. Although this is my intuition, I think that a huge incident will occur in the near future. There's no grounds, but I always have an anxiety that can't be cleared for these past few years. The riot that Lad got involved might be the harbinger」

Certainly. It's not only the matter of Yuugo. The large-scale war with the Demons. Taking over the Hero. The world movement these days is very active.

「Because I have guided you all, I will pray that the world change to the better way. Then, the guides will be blessed than we deserve」

Basgas-san hold out his hand.

「I will do my best so that it will become like that」

I grasped the hand firmly, and shook a firm handshake.

Two days after we part with Basgas-san. We move by riding on the Light Drake's back. The place we are heading is the country called Sariera country where the transfer magic circle to the Elf Village is concealed.

The Sariera country places the original religion called the Goddess Religion as the state religion that's different from the Divine Word Religion, and it's a radical nation that fought against neighboring nations when we are babies. The national power dropped considerably in the war, and they stay hidden after that, so it's not understood that what will happen in this country. We advanced while being cautious enough.

「Offer the skills! Then, you will be saved!」

When we enter the town to buy foods, etc, there were people shouting such words everywhere.

「The Sariera country is the nation that worships the Administrator Sariel. Therefore, let's try not to be concerned with them as much as possible」

I also agree to Sensei's low voice. It's doubtful whether the shouting man is sane or not. If this is the act of the Administrator, it's not a good feeling.

「What's offering skills?」 「It's said that there are two meanings. The first one is erasing the skill by the skill called 『Skill Erasure』」 「Can such a thing be done?」 「Yes. 『Skill Erasure』 is a skill that can be acquired without skill points, and it erases skill by taking a few days. Because it won't stop until all of the skills disappear when it's activated, it's impossible to erase the targeted skill alone. Of course the disappeared skill won't return. If a person trains again, the skills can be acquired back」 「Is there a meaning to do that?」

From what I heard so far, I don't understand the meaning of such a skill. It's only a disadvantage to lose the skills. Even if the skills can be acquired back if a person trains again, the time taken until then will not return, and if there's the paid skill points, it's wasted. It's like throwing away the thing that you accumulate until then purposely.

「In other words, it's transferred as power to the Administrator」 「Ah」

I see. In other words, the power that's cultivated by the people is offered to the Administrator. That's the essence of the 「Skill Erasure」 skill.

「Come to think of it, Sensei have erased Yuugo's skills once」 「Yes, but that's something like a trick. Erase the others' skills instead of paying a big compensation. Although I say it because it's now, when I activate it, some of my skills are lost, and I slept for many days after that. Because it's a dangerous method that both me and the opponent can die, I don't want to use it again」 「I see」 「I thought that it was the best at that time. If the skills are lost, I can remonstrate Yuugo who became arrogant. I believed so. Even though the important one is to regain his own mind as a person properly after that, I have neglected it. And, the result is this. I'm disqualified as a teacher」 「It's not Sensei's fault」

Although I thought that it's an unskillful comfort, I can only say that. The bad one is Yuugo who actually took the action.

「Thank you. But, this is the distinction as the teacher. It's the last education that Sensei can do to the former student who's on the wrong path」

Sensei's eyes that filled with dark determination. I was not able to say anything to it.

「And, what's the second one?」

I change the topic.

「I don't know the second one well. Something like offering the skills to reach the God」 「That's like the words of the religion」 「Yeah」

The clergy who shouts in the town. I wanted to get away from this place that has a dark atmosphere as soon as possible.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 186

Chapter 186. Thank you all for donating. Expect extra chapters tomorrow. Can't make it for today. Anyway, the Arachne is here.

186 Arachne

Evolution is completed. Unfortunately, there's no additional skill by evolution. In addition, because I unified with the Queen, my skills have become considerably high level, and I feel that the skill's level up is a little when compared with before. Well, this can't be helped. There's a lot of skills that have reached max level, so the skills have already entered the final stage.

And, the evolution this time changed my appearance the most. First of all, my body became one size bigger. Although it's still smaller than the adult Taratect that I saw when I was attacked by the Arch, I grow bigger than the compact size so far.

But, to be frank, such a change doesn't matter. The first change is probably the part that grew on my head. A human's upper body has grown there.

A strange feeling like having two consciousness. It seems similar to the "Parallel Will" but also different. Like thinking about things at the same time with two brains, or rather, it might be so.

Two view existed. One is the same view as before that got a little higher because my body become bigger. The other one is the view of the position higher than it.

I look around restlessly from that view. Amazing. Because my neck was connected to my body up until now, I have to move my body to look around. And, a wide range of view can be secured just by moving my neck.

The Queen who's reflected in the view. She became quite huge. The middle-aged man. Why is he praying? Hero-kun. He hasn't wake up yet. Because it will become complicated if he wakes up, I want him to continue to sleep.

I look below. It's a breast. Apparently, I'm a female. There's no way a male will have such a swollen chest. I mean, I'm suppose to be about two years old or somewhere there, but I'm an adult.

I hold out my hands before my eyes. Five fingers attached, it's the human's hand. I grasp lightly, and open. I try moving it one by one. It's moving properly.

I bend down a little and try to look at the bottom. I'm connected to the spider's body around the waist. The joint can't be seen because it's hidden in the spider's body hair. I move the hair out of curiosity and try to see it. Nothing interesting in it, and I was connected normally. Because my present body is very white, I merged with the body of the white spider without any uncomfortable feeling.

I bend down even more. The spider's eyes and the human's eyes met. I can do such a skillful thing like matching my own eyes without a mirror.

There are eight spider's eyes as usual. Adding it up with the human's eyes, it's ten in total. It was the pattern that my eyes increase rather than decrease. The worry before evolution has decreased with this.

However, white. My human part is extremely white. Although I was white in the previous life, I think that I have the more healthier white. Right now, my skin is as white as man-made plaster. Because my hair is pure white thoroughly, I'm even whiter. By the way, my hair is considerably long.

Among that, only my eyes are red. Because my lips are pale, the redness of the eyes stand out. A white body with red eyes. Human, but it's not human at a glance.

However, this is that. This human-type body is just like me of the previous life. It's just like me but not without change. The color is white and the eyes are red too. Some parts of the face have changed too.

I wonder what. Although my previous life becomes the base, the feature that I have seen before somewhere is mixed in it. Hmm? Ah. This is the Demon King. The Demon King's face has mixed with my face of the previous life.

Ah. Come to think of it, I'm something like that person's descendant, so it's not strange even if the face is similar. A clone feels more right than saying that I'm her descendant. But, then, it's a mystery that my previous life's face mixed in it.

Well, it's a defeat if I think deeply about that. Something like the face reproduced from my memory mixed with the genetic information face, it might be the result that science and occult slightly mixed.

「B-Beautiful」

The middle-aged man mutters in a subdued voice. Ah, yes yes. I'm happy even if it's a compliment.

Ah, now I'm stark naked. Although I don't mind it because I don't lose anything even if I'm seen, I might acquire the exhibitionist title if this continues. There's no such title though. Well, because wandering around naked feels like it's over for my female level, let's do something about it.

With the meaning of experiment, I put power into the new human hands. A white thread extends from my fingertip. Un. Not only from the spider's buttocks, but it looks like I can produce thread from my fingertip. I mean, after evolving into the "God-weaving Thread", I can produce thread whenever I want from anywhere of my whole body. But, after all, producing it from the buttocks is better in the consumption efficiency.

Although producing it from the fingertip has bad efficiency in such a meaning, this is quite convenient. After all, the thread produced from the buttocks can't move freely and it's quite inconvenient. If it's from the finger, it seems to be able to do high movements by moving the fingertip, so it seems that there's a lot of uses.

For the time being, I knit something like clothes with threads produced from the fingertip. For now, a makeshift is enough, so I will just make something like a bra to cover my breast. Un. Completed. I'm skillful even if I say so myself.

Incidentally, I tie my long hair in braids collectively. Somehow, the hair is also treated like the thread, and it's possible to manipulate it with "Thread Manipulation" easily. Although it possibly unified with the "God-weaving Thread" as a skill, I might be able to do Severing Thread if I intend to do it. Let's experiment it the next time.

Well then, finally, let's talk to the middle-aged man. Will the voice come out properly? I will do a little vocal exercise lightly.

「Ah, ah」

Un, it came out. Perfect.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 187

Chapter 187.

187 Communication ability

Well then, how should I speak? I mean, can I speak? Well. When was the last time I talked to a person? Gyurigyuri? But, that's the Telepathy, so can't it be said as talking? Strange.

Crap. I'm getting nervous. How do you talk with a person? Rather, how do words spoken?

Ah, the middle-aged man is looking at me fixedly. Wh-What should I do? What should I say? That's right, at first, isn't the basic to start a conversation is to talk about the weather? Something like the weather in the labyrinth is unrelated!

Awawa. Seriously, what should I do? Calm down. I should count prime numbers at such a time. Prime numbers are lonely numbers. 1, 2, 3, da! No! In the first place, 1 is not a prime number!

The weather is not good. Something, is there something!? That's right, greeting! The greetings are basic! Yosh, first of all, it's hello. I will say it. I will say it. I will say it after counting for another ten seconds. 10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2, 1.

「Ko...Ko」 「Ko?」

Da! Impossible! Only the hoarse voice comes out because my mouth is dried!

I moisten my mouth with saliva. The voice comes out. However, only to say the word "Konnichiwa". It's not difficult. It's not difficult. It's not difficult. Yosh. I can do it. A countdown in the heart once again. 10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2, 1.

「Konnichiwa」

I said it! I was able to say it! Good me! I'm impressed of me.

「O-Oh. Thank you for calling out to me」

The middle-aged man who lowers his head from the praying posture. The pose is a dogeza.

「I will introduce myself properly. I'm Ronant who belong to the Rengzant Empire magic division. However, If you give me the permission to serve under you, I'm prepared to abandon the nation. I will ask once more. Could you make me as your apprentice?」

O-Oh. Wait a minute. Don't talk with such a long sentence all at once. Because I'm thinking what I should say next.

Um. Err. Well. For the time being, the apprentice is not good.

「No」

Un, no no.

「Please, somehow!」

No. Impossible impossible.

But, even if I say it, the middle-aged man doesn't seem to give up, and he has the atmosphere that he will follow me all the time. That's troublesome. I must somehow have him return volubly.

Appearing here is Hero-kun. It's that. I must think about a good excuse to let Hero-kun to return safely and the middle-aged man doesn't return.

This Hero is sent back, and raise him into an admirable adult. If he's taught by others, he will surely see the things that he was not able to see naturally. He will make this as the task from me. If he accomplishes it splendidly, I will think about making him as my apprentice.

Un. A perfect strategy even if I say so myself. Now, I just need to convey it. Convey it only.

Such a long sentence? Err, impossible. If I speak that much, I will die. What should I do? I might have been checkmated. The biggest pinch ever.

Calm down. It's not necessary to say it all at once. It's fine to convey it little by little even with a word.

In addition, I can talk, but because this world's word pronunciation is difficult, I can only talk a few words. Even word by word, or rather, I can only say a word.

Yosh, I will say it. Suu, haa. Yosh.

「This」

I say it while pointing at Hero-kun.

「Return」

Yosh. First of all, was it conveyed to return Hero-kun? Next is.

「May I ask? Although I suppose that this boy is the Hero, why is he with you?」

Ah! Don't question me back! The words that I prepared for the next can't be used now! Well, what should I do? How should I answer?

Because I barged into the war, I picked him? Although it's not wrong in general, how should I explain it?

「Picked」

Un. This is the straightforward one and the closest.

「Wh-What?」

Ah, un. You don't understand, right? Sorry. Further explanation is impossible.

「Together, return」

I say it while pointing at the middle-aged man and Hero-kun. The middle-aged man thinks a little. Please, guess with this.

「In other words, you are trying to say that you want me to send this Hero to the country?」

Good! That's right! I nod.

「Then, if I sent this Hero back safely, will you make me as your apprentice?」

No! Why does it becomes like that!? No no. I shake my head.

「Master」

I say it while pointing at the middle-aged man.

「Apprentice」

I say it while pointing at Hero-kun.

「Teach」

How is it!? With this, do you understand? Although I think that it's a miracle if he understands, how is it?

「You want me to raise the Hero?」

Close! But, he's right. I nod.

The middle-aged man thinks about something for a long time. Although I don't know what is he thinking, my broken words might be expanding his imagination variously. I hope that it's not a weird imagination.

「Yes. I understand. Although I can't foresee your profound thought, it surely has a deep meaning. This mission that you gave to me, I swear that I will accomplish it splendidly」

Oh! Very good! The middle-aged man is reasonable! Good.

「Well then, although I don't want to part, I can't leave the Hero like this no matter what the reason is. I will leave at once. Hopefully, I can meet you once more」

The middle-aged man who lowers his head deeply. Un. You don't need to meet me anymore.

The middle-aged man who leaves carrying Hero-kun with Transfer. Come to think of it, the first one that I talk with in this world is that middle-aged man, huh? Somehow, I feel a little lost.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 188

Chapter 188.

188 I'm hungry

The middle-aged man and the Hero left. In other words, there are no others.
Ah, loner is splendid.

{I want a detailed explanation by now}

Ah, because the Queen was there, I'm not a loner. For the time being, I tell the details that I barged into a war after going out of the labyrinth lightly.

{Oh, Jesus}

Somehow, the Queen grieved. If it can be held in the head, it's on the crouching level. Why?

{Hey, main body} What is it? {Do you understand your situation?} Yeah. {If you understand it, why are you increasing the troublesome things other than the Demon King!?!} O-Oh. It can't be helped-nen. I was irritated-nen. I flown into rage, and have done it-nen. {Stop that "nen", fool!!} I'm sorry. {Haa. For the time being, what's done is done. So, is there any possible problem that you actually barged into a war?} Nope. To be frank, if it's my present strength, no matter how many people attack me all at once, I can repel them with composure. {Well, from what I heard, that seems so} Un. That's why, I can do anything with violence no matter how the humans' country is thrown into confusion. Power is everything. It has become a good era. {No, it's not the end of a century of somewhere. The order is pretty much maintained properly. If the harmful animal of somewhere don't rage} I wonder which harmful animal is it. {That means the only problem now is the Demon King, huh?} Yeah. Gyurigyuri never come in contact even if I cause such a turmoil. {About the Demon King, do you notice?} Ah, un. That has mixed considerably. {What do you think will happen?} I don't know. To be honest, I can't expect it. {Is it all right?} It's not. It's a big problem. {Oi} No. Seriously speaking, even if Maou-in-charge wins or loses, she has mixed considerably and changed, so I think that she won't be as before. And, I can't imagine what kind of action that Maou-in-charge will take in the mixed condition. I don't know the Demon King's personality too. The worst case, she may be hostile. {Right} If that happens, there's only one way left for me. I gain experience points in somewhere to be even a little stronger while avoiding direct confrontation. And, reach the Administrator class. {Can you do it?} Un. I mean, I think that I'm one step to there. {Although this is something I did on my own, I gave permission to the other Queen-in-charge to advance the erosion} Nice. If the Queens are unified, the goal comes into view. {What should I do from now on?} For the time being, wait for recovery. If the Demon King moves, make full use of the Transfer to run away. {Roger}

The Demon King is still fighting against the Earth Dragons in the bottom layer. Although the Earth Dragons are holding out, it seems to end soon. Whether they can last for another day or not. However, because the Demon King can't use the Transfer, even if the Earth Dragons are defeated, it won't become dangerous immediately. Time is needed to rise from the bottom layer. If I think including that, I still have a few days left. I want to do what I can do in the meanwhile.

And, there's something that I must do now. My SP has decreased considerably by the evolution influence. Because I was waiting for recovery before evolution, there were not so many stores of the SP. The stock of "Satiation" empties, and has decreased to about half of my maximum SP now.

I must eat. But, I don't want to take the food in the home now. The food here is the Queen's food, so it's better to have her eat. So, it's necessary to go to secure food by myself.

Hmm. Because I evolved into the Arachne, I have two mouths that are the human mouth and the spider mouth, but which should I eat with? If it's as before, it's the spider mouth, but I'm interested that what will it be if I eat with the human mouth. I mean, this human is not a papier mache, right? The digestive organs are there properly, right? It seems that I have the five senses properly, and because I can think even in the human, I might have the internal organs properly.

Speaking of the five senses, will the taste change if I eat with the human? I don't think that the sense of taste in the spider and the human are the same. In order to confirm it, I must get foods.

If possible, I want to eat sweet foods, but I can't go to the town anymore. Because I have done it. Although the report probably has not reach the town yet, I won't be worshiped as Divine Beast-sama in the future. Although I saved them thoroughly, I have returned the harm that was about the same as it. When thinking about that, that means I have received the reward of doing it for free. It's even. Well, even if I think so, the other party will not think so. I'm sure that they are thinking that they are betrayed.

I will pass on going back to the battlefield. If I return to the battlefield unexpected after this and continue the massacre, the position of Hero-kun who returned might worsen. There are still many parts that are doubtful that he disappears with me and returned safely. Although I don't know how will the treatment to Hero-kun, let's have expectations in the abilities of the middle-aged man there. I wonder can I have expectations. I became uneasy.

Well, even if Hero-kun dies, it's not a hard blow on me, and if it's like that, it can't be helped. It's wasteful if I'm forced to say.

Well then, let's go to procure food. Fortunately, I have something to rely on. The three huge meats that I marked it and left it all this time.

Well then, let's go for a revenge match. Aiming at the Earth Dragon trio, Transfer.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 189

Chapter 189.

189 Body function verification

I move to the lower layer with Transfer. In front of me is the three Earth Dragons. Kaguna, Geere, and Fuito.

As I check them with Appraisal, their level never rise. There's almost no growth in the status too. Only two or three status rose by 1. Although a lot of days have passed since the last time I checked them, they only grow to that extent. There's no change in the skills at all.

Rather than saying that the Earth Dragons growth is slow, my growth rate might be abnormal. Although I thought that I don't have any other cheat-like skill than the "Idaten", it might be quite a cheat in growth.

Well, that's why, although I ran away from the Kaguna and Geere duo before, if it's the present me, I can win even if Fuito joined and became a trio. I mean, it's easy.

The main reason why I ran away from these guys before is because I lack of firepower and defensive ability. I lack of firepower and I hardly inflict any damage to Kaguna. Because I lack of defensive ability that it's dangerous to even receive one hit, I'm forced to retreat before the duo of the defense Kaguna and the speed Geere. But, I evolved after that, and by unifying with the Queen, my status has rose tremendously, so if it's the present me, there's no losing factor.

That's why, I won't use magic this time, and I think that I will fight against the three Earth Dragons in a hand-to-hand combat. It's not that I'm underestimating them. My present body that evolved into the Arachne is different from the complete spider-type. With the intention of the trial run, it's necessary to grasp what kind of thing it is. Well, it can also be said that I'm underestimating them though. If I don't grasp the difference from before properly with a lower rank opponent, I will be uneasy when I fight against an opponent who's equal or higher than me. In order to evade that, I must verify the Arachne's body in a combat properly.

Then, there were only these three Earth Dragons. The Earth Dragons in the bottom layer are fighting against the Demon King. The Demon King is out of question. As for the other small fries, the opponent will die before I can try it. Although the Water Dragon is worthy as an opponent, because it's a fight at the special environment called the sea, it's not suitable for the verification. Therefore, concerning the opponent who has the ability to some extent, and is not influenced by the environment, they were chosen.

The Earth Dragons stopped moving as having bewildered by me who transferred, and they get into fighting stance like having prepared in the end. Erm. Although they understand that they can't win judging from my presence, still, I can feel the intention to confront me. Although Alaba was the same too, I feel that the Earth Dragons are full of the samurai code of chivalry. I can't understand it.

Kaguna at the center, Geere as the vanguard, and Fuito as the rearguard. They move to the position. Geere who excels in speed and has steady strength is place as the physical attacker, Kaguna who specializes in defense becomes the wall, and the variously half-way Fuito turns to support. With this, if Fuito has a complete rearguard strength, the balance would be good. Although Fuito is the same all-rounder type as Alaba if I see in the future, it looks like the jack-of-all-trades and master of none feeling is stronger if it is its present strength.

Geere jumps out first, and swing the blade that grew from its hand at me. Un. Although it is fast, judging from my present status, it's the speed that I can avoid with composure. Combining the "Super Thought Acceleration" and the "Future Foresight", it seems to stop.

I dodge the single blow that aims at the human part without difficulty. I think about the purpose this time, and it's not dodging at the last moment, but to release my serious speed to some extent and dodged it with composure. Then, the human part shook.

Oh. The body is pulled on contrary to the direction of movement at the accelerated moment, and it shook by the reaction at the same time as stopping. Ugh, this is unpleasant. Ah, this is no use if I don't straddle properly when moving. Failure failure.

Kaguna's breath approaches me who's reflecting. This time, I move by putting power to the part where the human and the spider is connected. Un. I was able it move properly this time without the body shaking. Although I stretch both hands sideways to keep the balance on this occasion, from the feeling just now, it seems that I can keep the balance even if I don't do it.

Geere catches up with me desperately, and attacks. Geere's speed is 4123. It can't be compared with the monsters everywhere, but it can't catch up with my speed that's one digit difference. I draw the approaching blade at the very limit this time, and evade it. No problem.

The returned sword that aims at the neck of the human part is dodged just by having the human part to bend down. Un. The human part is considerably flexible. Although I don't know whether it's the same level as a ballet or a gymnast, it seems that the body is soft that it can move without any inconvenience on the spider body. If I feel like it, I can make the human body to lie on the spider body looking upward. If it's that condition, it seems that I can move the body similar to the complete spider body. Well, that will kill the advantage as the Arachne.

I stop Geere's blade with the hand. The so-called the serious catching the sword with bare hands. I just entrust to power and break the blade.

I produce threads from the fingertip and entwine Geere that stops moving like being surprised. I swing Geere that was not able to move, and throw it. Throwing it to Kaguna. The two Dragons clash with each other like being entangled, and fall over.

I approach Fuito that can't do anything so far before the two Dragons revive. The immature Dragon can't react to my speed, and the spear hand pierces the body deeply. Fumu. The spear hand has the offensive ability to even penetrate the scale and inflict damage.

Further from there, I produce threads in Fuito's body. The threads destroy Fuito from the body, and take the life. This is nasty. It's convenient.

Geere who struggles without being able to break out of the threads and Kaguna who gets up. I wind the threads around Kaguna. I pull the threads that has the slash attribute as it is. Ugh, hard. As expected of a defense specialized. But, that's only a little hard, and the threads cut the scale slowly, reaches the flesh, and finally, Kaguna's body was cut up.

I knocked down the remaining Geere that can't move with a fist. One-two punch. Right straight. Hook. It died when I realized it.

Un. Conclusion. When there's a hand, it's convenient in various ways. I was able to discover the fault that I must straddle when moving with full power, so it was a very significant verification result.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 190

Chapter 190.

190 Cuisine

As for me who was satisfied after defeating the Earth Dragon trio, I search for further satisfaction and I'm currently scale peeling. Troublesome. Because my status is high, it's relatively easy to peel it off, but it's simply tiring to repeat the simple work. Mentally and physically. Did the former Body-in-charge that's the present Maou-in-charge do such a troublesome work all the time? The value of that person comes to light at this point.

Finally, I have finished peeling off the three Dragons' scale. It takes more longer than the combat in the sense of time. But, it's big that I can handle minute work with the human hand that the previous clumsy spider body can't do. Thanks to this hand, I should have been able to shorten the time considerably.

Well then, now that the obstructive scales have been peeled off, let's taste it at once. First of all, I will try eating it with the spider body as before. U-Umu. Strange. It's just a tough meat. Although there's no bad smell, it's like eating the rock as it is.

I try to eat it with the human next. Un? Oh, I see. Conclusion. The sense of taste of the human is sharper.

Because I have the "Enhanced Five Senses" skill, the spider should have sharp sense of taste, but the taste can be understood more deeply by eating with the human. This is a discovery. From now on, I will eat not-so-delicious food with the spider body, and the delicious food with the human body. That way, the delicious food will be more delicious, and I can endure to eat bad food.

And, the "Fire Magic" was learned through the middle-aged man with much efforts, so let's heat it lightly and eat. Something like Dragon steak sounds wonderful with only the words. It seems that I can somehow power up just by eating it. It's impossible though.

I activate the "Fire Magic". I'm weak in the manipulation of the fire attribute similar to the resistance. Even though it's the same magic construction, I think that there's a difference because of the correction of the system's attribute affinity is received. Because I make such a part devotedly, I'm troubled.

Even if I learned the "Fire Magic", the skill level is low and the accumulation of the skill proficiency is also slow. It can't be used in the combat. Well, if I say that, because the other attributes serve their purpose if there's the dark attribute, it doesn't seem that I will use it much in the combat other than gaining skill proficiency. Although the soil and the wind have become the level that they can be used together with the dark soon, the dark usability is too good by all means, so I will give priority to that. If there's the dark, I can manage it generally.

So, if I take that I will use the fire, I will only use it in the place that's separated from such combat. The construction speed is also slow, a lot of magical powers necessary for activation are required, and when the magic is activated, the power is weak. It's not suitable to use the magic that has bad affinity. Well, it's fine because I can bring out the heating power that can at least roast the meat with my high status.

Although the control is more difficult than the other attributes, I will somehow adjust it to a good heat level and roast the meat. The area is filled with the smell that the meat is roasted. But then, there's no monster that's tempted by the smell. There's no monster that will step into the territory of the Earth Dragons that reign over the lower layer purposely, and there's the me who made the Earth Dragons dead now. If it's not an outstanding daredevil, there's no fool that will step in. The Detection caught the figures of the monster that were tempted by the smell, came closer, and quickly returned several times.

And, the roasted Dragon steak without any hindrance. I sprinkle it with the salt that I made by evaporating the seawater that I collected when I went to the sea. Although it slightly smells of the beach, it's the only seasoning that I have. It's the thing that I put it in the container that I created with "Soil Magic" and store it with Space Storage.

Then, first of all, I eat it with the spider body as the foretaste. Because there's no problem, I eat it with the human body. Umu, hard. The hardness doesn't change much even if I roast it. Rather, I feel that it became a little harder. Although I can bite it by using my status, if it's a normal human, it's too hard to the extent that the chin will die.

The taste is close to the pig, I wonder? It's light and plain. The salt's beach smell, and it slightly smells of soil. Because it's the Earth Dragon, it tastes like soil. What the hell.

Although it's difficult to judge, I think I prefer to eat it raw that's dripping blood. I accept the objection. To be frank, I recommend to roast it and eat if you are a human.

Although I noticed it when I got the offering in the town, it looks like I have both the human's sense of taste and the monster's sense of taste for some reason. The thing that the human thinks that it's delicious is usually eaten deliciously. But, there's also thing that's delicious as a monster.

Specifically, it's raw meat and blood. Wow, I'm a carnivore. Although the monsters are not delicious generally, there's delicious monster once in a while. I mean, the monsters that inhabit in a place other than the Elro Great Labyrinth are considerably delicious.

But, humans don't eat such raw meat. Well, that's obvious. That's why, my preference of taste is my preferences based on the memory as a human, and the preferences as a monster.

I sprinkle salt on the raw meat for trial and try to eat it. Un, this is good. This deliciousness probably can't be understood by humans. Well, in the first place, it can't be eaten because it's too hard.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Elf Village 1

Elf Village 1.

Elf Village ①

A cave that opened quietly in the heart of the mountain of the Sariera country. Sensei activates the Transfer magic circle in the hidden room.

「This Transfer magic circle connects to the Elf Village. Are you ready?」

I nod to Sensei's question. Sensei who confirmed it, activates the Transfer magic circle.

My view is distorted. That's only an instant, and when the distortion returned, I caught sight of a different scenery from a while ago. From a small cave into a building somewhere. It's a circular building that looks like a hall, and there are many Transfer magic circles on the floor.

However, the building doesn't matter now. It was the innumerable point of swords that greet us who transferred. We were surrounded by the Elf soldiers.

「Firimes, I think that it's a violation to bring outsiders」

Among the Elf soldiers, the man who seems to be the captain talks. The language used is not the Human language. It's the Elf language. I'm glad that I learned the Elf language in the academy.

「They are Cooperators. I should have told the circumstances with Distant Communication, isn't it?」 「We should have also said it. That, although we understand your circumstances, we can't invite the Humans into the village」 「Now is not the time to be particular about the Humans. Please pull your swords」 「Never. If you leave at once, we will spare your lives. Turn back right now with the transfer circle」 「This won't end. Please call Potimas」

An intense atmosphere flows. I calm Katia who almost became attack mode instinctively by a gesture. I stand quietly in front of Anna who seems to tremble, and I protect her from the point of the swords and the eyes of the Elves.

「That's enough」

A man's voice sounded. Although it has already many years ago, I have met this man once. Potimas Hyphenath. It was the man who was the patriarch of the Elves.

「I'm sorry for the violent welcome. All the Elves, let's accept the Hero and his comrades」 「Is it fine?」 「I don't mind. If they manage to break through the barrier by any chance, it's better to have more forces」

A disturbing sign mixes in Potimas's words. Somehow, I can't have a good impression of this man. Although there's also the fact that he appraised me suddenly in the first meeting, he has the eyes that seem to look down on anyone other than himself.

「Come. Although it's small, let's give a welcome banquet」

The Elf soldiers put the swords away. Potimas walks quickly. I follow his back in a hurry.

「Potimas, how's the situation?」 「It's not too good. I will tell you later」

Potimas answered Sensei's question coldly. Even though the situation is not good, is it okay to do a welcome?

「Um, saying that the situation is not good, is it all right?」

I asked so instinctively.

「It can be said that it's all right, and it can also be said that it's not all right. However, it won't happen right now. There's the time to at least to have a meal. I will tell you in detail at that time」

Since then, Potimas look ahead and begins to walk. That back refused any further questions.

We go out of the building that has the Transfer magic circles. The forest where huge trees that should be several thousand years old spread there. The hugeness that the diameter of one tree is 10 meters. The root of the huge tree is hollowed, and it's used as a house. If I looked back, the place that I thought that it was a building where the Transfer magic circles are there is the inside of the huge tree. The Elf Village, rather than existing together with the forest, it was the forest itself.

The glance of the Elves fly from the inside of the tree house and the branch. I understood it well that we are not welcomed by the glance. It's said that the Elves are exclusive, but I didn't think that the swords were pointed suddenly, and we will be exposed to such an uncomfortable glance.

I look at Anna's state. Although she looks firm, I understand that her hands are slightly shaking. The Elf Village is a place full of bitter memory for Anna. Surely, she must have been exposed to this glance since the time when she lived here. I make sure to be close to Anna as much as possible.

Before long, Potimas enters the house of a tree. The inside is like a conference room, and a round wooden desk was placed in the center. We sit down on the seat as we were urged. Cuisine has been carried there.

「Although it's the Elves' cuisine, it should also match the Humans' taste」

I try the cuisine by Potimas's offer. Although it's quite bland with the vegetables at the center, the taste of the ingredients are drawn properly to that extent. Certainly, it's delicious. There's also the tiredness of the travel, so we ate up the cuisine silently.

「Well then, let's get to the main point」

After the Elf waiters clear the tableware, Sensei began to talk so.

「Yeah. I will explain the present condition」

Potimas starts explaining.

「The enemy has already arrived outside the Elf Forest. They are stopped by the barrier now, and the march stopped. The enemy is mainly the empire army, and the force is approximately 80000」

I'm surprised at the number. In the present situation that the fight with the Demons is taking place, is the defense all right to mobilize this much soldiers? Does Yuugo not put this in the outlook?

「The troublesome one is that the church is sending a considerable number of soldiers. When the fake Hero called Yuugo is announced officially, it seems that the person who connects the empire and the church is considerably strong」

As expected, I should consider that the church has been conquered by Yuugo's brainwashing ability.

「Although I think that you know that there's a barrier at the Elf Village, it seems that the church's magician is constructing a large-scale magic formula. From the scout's report, it seems to be an unknown magic formula that can't be analyzed. It's likely to be a magic to destroy the barrier. It's a large-scale magic formula that it needs several days to prepare」 「Needs several days!? Is it fine to not stop it!？」 「Rather than wanting to stop it, it can't be stopped. The barrier set up at the village is powerful, and we can't even pass through it. In order to arrived at this village, we have no choice but to use the special Transfer magic circles. It's a powerful thing that can even block the normal "Space Magic", and repel skills like Telepathy. Now, the number of Elves taking actions outside is 6000 people. It's not the force that can fight against an army of 80000」

I see. The barrier has the thing that Sensei boasted, and it seems to be unexpectedly powerful.

「Um, how do you contact between the outside and the inside?」 「We used the technique called sign language. Although even the voices can't pass through the barrier, it doesn't block the view」

I see. There's sign language in this world. It's probably different from the one in the Earth though.

「It was a prediction that the completion of the magic formula will take a bit longer in the report from the outside. Therefore, as long as the barrier destruction magic is not completed, this village is still safe. That's the reason why I said that it's all right, but it's also not all right」 「Will the barrier break?」 「I don't know」

After that, we are said that we are tired from the long journey, the room was lent, and we sleep. If the barrier is destroyed, the fight will start at that time. Until then, I must recover the lost physical strength.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Elf Village 2

Elf Village 2. Sensei is really....

Elf Village ②

The next day, Katia and I were taken along by Sensei, and we went to a certain place in the Elf Village. Actually, I don't want to part with Anna in the present state, but because Hyrinth-san said 「Leave it to me」, I have decided to depend on the kindness. If possible, I wanted to go to the place where we are heading now with Katia only. The place we are heading now is the place where the reincarnated people are sheltered.

Because similar trees grow in abundance, the scenery that doesn't change continues.

「It's a considerable walk」 「Yes. The Elf Village is wide after all. The vicinity of the center of the forest called the Garam Large Forest is approximately the same as Tokyo's 23 wards in wideness」 「That much!？」 「Yes. Because there's the agriculture ward, the population density is not so high though」 「Rather than a village, it's a country」 「That's right. Here has the natural fortress called the Large Forest, and double defense called the barrier that boasted of its impregnability for a long time. If you exclude that the Elves are exclusive, I think that it's the safest and easy-to-live place in the world. I thought of it before」

Sensei sighs.

「If the barrier is really destroyed, the safety can't be guaranteed. Because there's a distance from the outer circumference to the village, there won't be dangers in the village immediately after the barrier is destroyed, but it's likely to become a severe fight」 「Does Sensei think that the barrier will break?」 「It's just a possibility. Just because it hasn't broke even once so far, it can't be said that it won't break in the future. Overconfidence is a taboo」 「The barrier never broke before, huh? By the way, since when the barrier is put up?」 「I don't know. Even the eldest Elf except Potimas was told that the barrier was there since birth」 「By the way, that person's age?」 「I think that it was about 480」 「The scale is different」

While talking so, we arrived at the destination. The enclosure of a small field and livestock, and the people who plow the field and take care of the livestock. One of them notices us.

「Sensei, welcome back」 「Yes, I just came back」

A cold greeting. Sensei's expression is somewhat firm.

It was one girl who approached. Her age is probably the same as me. Because the words that she speaks are Japanese, I understand it. She is a reincarnated person.

「So, are those two people the new victims?」 「They are not victims」 「That will be a difference in consciousness. At least, I think that you are the assailant though. Well, never mind. So, what are your names? Ah, not your present names, but your former names」

The girl turns her gaze here with a serious atmosphere.

「I'm Yamada Shunsuke」 「Ooshima Kanata」 「Eh? Ooshima-kun?」 「That's right」 「Uwa」 「What's with that reaction. Who are you?」 「I'm Kudo Sachi. Well, as the people who are abducted, let's get along well」

Kudo Sachi. It's the girl who did the chairperson of the class. Our relationship was not so good, and speaking clearly, although she has a lot of enemies because of her personality, she also has a lot of allies. Because of her personality, she comes into conflict with Yuugo several times.

But, what's on my mind now is Kudo-san's attitude towards Sensei and many disturbing words. The relationship between Kudo and Sensei should have been good because Kudo is the chairperson and she has a lot of chances to come into contact with Sensei. She is glaring at Sensei like seeing her parents' enemies.

The reason is probably the word "abduct" that came out from her mouth.

「Sensei, what does she means by abducted?」 「You two are not abducted by Sensei?」 「We came here to stop Natsume」 「Natsume-kun? Is he here?」

Kudo-san frowns. I also frown seeing her state.

If it's this state, that means that Kudo-san doesn't know that Yuugo is invading the Elf Village. I look at Sensei wondering what is this. Sensei shakes her head silently. Is it not to say unnecessary thing?

「Kudo-san, Natsume is trying to invade here now leading an army」 「What?」

Katia tells the truth. Ignoring Sensei's glance.

「Sensei, sorry. After seeing such a condition here, I can't trust Sensei after all」

Katia who folds her arms and says so with a sigh.

「From what that can be heard in Kudo's story, the people here are all abducted and brought along to here, right? Moreover, after being brought, they are left to support themselves」 「No!」 「Not wrong. I was separated with this world's parents and was brought here, and the others are almost the same」 「That's what she says. Besides, you isolate them so that they don't receive any information, right?」 「Yeah. The life here is almost self-sufficiency. Although the Elves will bring anything insufficient if we ask, that's only the minimum. Get up in the morning, plow the field, take care of the livestock, cook it and eat it. That ends a day. Because the Elves are monitoring us, we can't escape, and because the Elves don't speak of any unnecessary things, we don't know anything about the outside」 「No, the purpose of self-sufficiency is to develop your self-support ability!」 「Even though we can't get out of here? Is there a need for such thing like self-support ability in such a keeping-until-death condition?」 「That's」 Sensei hesitates to say. Everyone stopped the work and looked at the state.

「Yamada-kun and Ooshima-kun come here because I want to ask a lot of questions」

Leaving the silent Sensei behind, Kudo-san begins to walk. Katia follows her without hesitation. I glanced at Sensei once, and pursued the back immediately. Sensei looked down with the face that seemed to burst into tears.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Elf Village 3

Elf Village 3.

Elf Village ③

It was a house of the tree that became like a big dining room where we are guided to.

「Here is the dining room as seen. Basically, everyone eats all three meals here」

I look around the dining room. Somehow, I recalled the camp school that I went when I was in junior high school.

In the interior of the dining room, the four boys and girls that seemed to be former students were cooking in the kitchen part. Their hand stop when they see our figure.

「Kudo-san, who?」

The boy who speaks with a dubious voice. Well, Katia and I are armed, and if some strangers appear suddenly, of course he will be cautious.

「It's Yamada Shunsuke」 「Ooshima Kanata」

So, we say our names quickly. That will be understood.

「Eh!? Shun and, Kanata!?!」

The other three people also turn their eyes to use to the boy's voice. Especially, towards Katia.

「Say, no need to guess, I'm the only one who changed in sex?」 「Yeah. There's no one in here who had their sex changed」

Katia who's shocked by Kudo-san's words. Well, um, what. Do your best.

「Oi oi. It's been a very long time!」

The first boy who called out, approaches while taking off the hat. Although his appearance has changed, I feel a deja vu in that smile.

「Is it Ogi?」 「Yeah. You knew it well」 「A guy who has such a sultry smile can only be you」

I laughed lightly. Ogiwara Kenichi. It's a friend who belongs to the soccer club. By the way, the reason why I called him Ogi from his family name instead of his given name is because it would be the similar to Yuugo's previous life, Natsume Kengo name.

「However, Ogi is in charge of cooking? If it's you, the work outside that uses stamina suits your nature more」 「Ah. About that」

The reflexes of Ogi who belonged to the soccer club was good. Then, I thought that the outside farming is more suitable for him.

「At the beginning, we changed the management in rotation, but because we understood what we are good at and bad at, the management was fixed. Although Ogi-kun was able to do anything skillfully, I have him turn to be in charge of cooking because there's only a few people」 「No, although I did cooking for the first time in this world, I'm surprised in my talent」

Ogi who has a triumphant look and puffed up with pride. Kudo-san's retort "Don't get carried away" enters there.

「Actually, when it's cooking for this number of people, it considerably a heavy labor. That's why, we are saved to have Ogi-kun who has stamina」 「The taste is fairly limited though」

Ogi who's being modest while being embarrassed. Because there's still work to do, Ogi returned to the kitchen.

We sat on the seat again, and exchanged information mutually. About Yuugo invading here from us. The background. And, the world situation.

We had Kudo-san to tell the life here. There are 14 reincarnated people here. In the story that we heard from Sensei in the old days, it was 12 people, so it increased by 2 people. We had her to tell everyone's name.

The life here is just as what Kudo-san said a while ago, it seems to be a self-sufficiency life. They eat the vegetables and the livestock that they brought up by themselves, and the thing that can never be procured is gotten from the Elves. The daily necessities must be arranged by themselves as much as possible, and the Elves only give the things that really can't be obtained by themselves.

「This desk and the chairs are all made by our hands」

I looked at the chair that I'm sitting right now instinctively to Kudo-san's words. It's a simple chair that's made by cutting the tree.

In addition, we had Kudo-san to tell us about the details of living in the Elf Village. It seemed that Kudo-san was brought into this village when she was young and she can hardly speak yet. In that case, it's said that Kudo-san's parents let go of her while crying. Kudo-san said that she was bought with money.

「After all, the family where I was born seemed to be extremely poor. Although I was not able to talk, I was able to understand the contents of the conversation. It seems that I was sold with a price that's considerably higher than selling to be a slave normally」

Kudo-san who ridicules herself and smiles wryly. Although the others seem to be much the same, there's the guy who was brought here almost like being abducted when he tried to live as an adventurer among them. Mostly, when they are young.

It's said that when they young as the baby, as expected, the Elves have to take care of them. After that, when one of them can work, they were made to take care of the field and livestock that comes with the Elves' assistance, and when they grew bigger, the Elves stop providing assistance.

I hear that it was only difficulty in the beginning. Both farming and livestock raising are heavy labor for the childish body. That alone was their very limit every day. It's said that it was just recently that they have more time. The body grew up to the extent that it looks like an adult, they acquire some know-how, and work became efficient. Thanks to that, it's said that a little time was created.

「It's a problem about what to do during the free time though.」 「What do you mean?」 「The Elves don't want us to acquire the skills. That's why, the monitoring and this living」

Even though it's their very best to live, the skills of the reincarnated people in here don't improved much. Excluding two people.

The two people brought here later seemed to live as an adventurer. It's said that they might be late to be caught by the Elves because they moved from place to place. Because the two people have been an adventurer, their skills are high.

「We have choices. The way that we train the skills stealthily, and the way to spend days in this birdcage in the same manner as before」

Either way, I still want time to think. But, Yuugo might attack soon. Kudo-san's troubled to the information.

After that, we ate together with every reincarnated people. We enjoyed talking in the reunion after a long time. We had a long talk to celebrate the reunion alternately in the dining room for almost a day.

But, Kyouya was not among them.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Because I am a teacher

Sensei. Sensei's circumstances.

Because I am a teacher

I am a weak human. Ah, because I am an Elf now, it's a weak Elf. Anyway, I am weak.

I was a teacher in the previous life. It was my dream to become a teacher since childhood. I wanted to become the teacher who can laugh with students.

I didn't spare the effort for that purpose. I have dabbled in all the things that the children seemed to be interested in the generation. Game, manga, novel, and I even searched the internet. I studied hard of the things that seemed to become the contents of the talk. Though I was seriously addicted to it slightly.

Like that, I changed my tone, make a character, I'm called as a strange and slightly regrettable teacher, and I became a person who was easy to befriend. Although the regrettable part is because it's the part of my true nature, it turn out all right in the end.

But, I thought at the same time. Is this really good? Was it really my dream to laugh together with a false self? But, I was scared that exposing my real self will break the position that I built until then. That's why, every day passed while depending on the present conditions.

And, I reincarnated into a different world.

I became panic. The last thing that I remembered was teaching. The memory beyond there broke off, and when I realized it, I became a baby. Besides, the people who looked at me, all have long and sharp ears.

That is the living thing called the Elf, and I understood it immediately from the Otaku knowledge that I accumulated until then. And, my present state as well. Different world reincarnation. I got involved to the thing that became a boom in the internet.

I am weak. I can't even live my second life with a defiant attitude like the protagonist who's suddenly thrown into a different world, and live strongly in the novel, I was not able to abandoned the fact that I am me.

Like that, it was the thing called teacher that I clung with a confused head. I am a teacher. Then, I must think about the students first. That was my idealized image of a teacher. And, I had the convenient skill naturally.

『Student List』

It's probably the unique skill that only I have in the world. The effect is the present, past and future of the former students who are reincarnated are written down roughly. If I close my eyes, the list will rise from the depths of my heart. If I open the list, the previous life names are written in the order of the attendance number, and if I remind of the name strongly, I can inspect the information of the name's owner.

However, only really simple information that can be inspected by this skill. The past, this is the record at the moment they are born. Born somewhere. Only that is recorded.

The present, the present state of the name's owner is expressed with a word. Healthy, sick, fatigue, etc. The present location, etc., are not known.

And, the future. In here, the time when the student dies and the cause of the death are written roughly. Apparently, the time is assumed to be 0 when I was born and it's written down that 365 days as one year. And, I was shocked seeing that time.

Most of the students died within 20 years.

When I saw it, I lost consciousness without being able to endure it. I could not accept the fact, and I escaped from reality while trembling for a few days.

But, the reality doesn't change. Time passes even if I can't look straight at it. And, I noticed. The student that has the earliest death time which is written that the student will die when it's a baby, disappeared silently before I know it.

The blank space in the list. I had to resolved myself for it after seeing it. Among the remaining students, 10 people's death times were within two or three years after birth.

I relied on the thing called skill. The "Student List" is also a skill, so if it's this world that has such a mysterious power, I thought that there might be a thing that can do something like Telepathy. The Otaku knowledge that I searched during my previous life was useful. I hear the Divine Word comparatively easy, and I succeeded in acquiring the "Telepathy" skill.

Fortunately, my father was Potimas who's the Patriarch of the Elves. In addition, normally, a person will doubt the daughter's sanity if his own daughter speak about the previous life, but Potimas believed in my story easily. Somehow, it seemed that Potimas has thought that I was different from the beginning. Although it was a dangerous bet, I won the bet, and Potimas promised the protection of the reincarnated people.

It went well there. From the past description, I know where the students were born. If I search around there, it should be fine. The Skill Search in the Ruler authority that I obtained afterwards was useful. Unfortunately, there were students who died, but most of the students' well-being were able to be confirmed.

Sometimes, it was settled with money, and sometimes, I did something not much different from kidnapping. That is a clear crime. But, the Elves didn't hesitate to carry it out.

The Elves also have their own circumstances. The Elves are aiming at the world without skills as much as possible to oppose the Administrator. And, the reincarnated people somehow have a large amount of skill points from the beginning, and they seemed to be born with a powerful skill. If such reincarnated people polish the skills, they will catch the Administrator's attention, and they might be used for the Administrator's good.

There was credibility in the story. The death reason that's written down in the "Student List".

『Death by skill deprivation』

It's still written as the death reason of Shun-kun and Katia-chan. This reason was written on most students. By making them living in the environment that can't develop the skills in the Elf Village now, the death reason decreased. The future item changes relatively frequent.

But, the one sentence that "this skill was deprived and die" was not changed. And, the time that it occurs was all the same. It's this year.

And, there's no future description after that. The description other than the students dying this year becomes blank. I become scared when I think what it means. My name is not in the "Student List". It's obvious. Because I am a teacher. I don't know about myself. But, it's like that.

The students that died by deprivation of skills are students with a lot of skills. And, I also have many skills. Probably, I will die at that time too. Because I will die, I think that I don't know what will happen after that.

I am scared. I don't want to die. I also thought about "Skill Erasure". But, I can't let go of the power of the skill until I do something on Yuugo.

In addition, if I erase my skills with "Skill Erasure", I don't know what the Elves would do. "Skill Erasure" means surrendering the power to the Administrator. If I give power to the hostile opponent, the Elves might become an enemy. It's not strange even if Potimas purges me without changing his expression. If it's only that, it's fine, but it might bring harm to the protected students. The Elves don't protect the reincarnated people with good will.

Then, there's only one way. Perhaps, make the opponent that comes to deprive the skill to defeat the Administrator. Although I don't know whether such thing can be done or not, I have no choice but to do it.

Before that, it's Yuugo. It's my responsibility as a teacher that he has turned out that way. I must take the responsibility.

I open the "Student List" by the name of Natsume Kengo. It's written as death in action in the Elf Forest. I swallow saliva. I will kill a former student after this. Although I have prepared for it, still, I come to have a pain in the stomach, and feel nauseated.

Why did it become like this? I only wanted to become a teacher who can laugh together with the students.

Kudo-chan's cold glance recalled in my mind. I understand it. It became like this because I don't explain properly. Although I might not be forgiven even if I explain it, still, I think that a one-sided hostility was not directed to there.

But, I can't do it. The "Student List" that saved the life of the students. There's one restriction there. Students' inspection prohibition. It's a curse-like restriction that I can't tell the information of the "Student List" to a student. No matter how I explain it, I can't say anything about the "Student List". It's obvious to spill the existence carelessly. Besides, the frightening part of this restriction is that it will bring harm to the students who heard it and not to me who said it. Although I think that it depends on the degree, the worst case, it's a serious penalty that brings death. Although I have not tried it, I don't intend to try it. I can only remained silent.

Rather, I want to tell everything. The "Student List" is not perfect either. When Katia-chan was brainwashed, I was not able to perceive the abnormality, and Shun-kun's death that was displayed was evaded when we rescue Leston-kun without incident. Although I don't know what exactly cause the deviation, I suspect that the Ruler skill might be related.

Then, if it's Shun-kun who has the Ruler skill, isn't it fine to tell him? I have also been driven by the temptation. But, I can't tell him after all. I can't let him to shoulder unnecessary risk.

At present, the problem is I am only hated. It's not to the level that everyone's dissatisfaction will blow up yet. Then, it's one of my work that the teacher is hated by the students. I will accept it contentedly. This much is nothing.

It's a lie. I am sad. I am weak. I am scared. I don't want to die, and I don't want them to die. Am I right? Is it not wrong? I don't know. But, there's no one who I can talk with. The Elves can't be trusted. I can't tell to the students.

Am I being a teacher properly? Someone, please tell me.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 191

Chapter 191.

191 Tsuchigumo

I'm digging now.

What am I doing? I told you that I'm digging.

I come to the town late at night now, and I'm digging a hole secretly in a suitable vacant land. It's good to be able to dig a hole without getting the hands dirty by using the "Soil Magic". I keep extra soil in the different space of the Space Storage magic once. I dig the hole of the size that I can go in, and I dig until the underground deeply. When I dig to some extent, I expand the inside. Like that, an underground room of the size of a small room was completed.

Umu. The result is quite good even if I say so myself. Next, I close the place that becomes the entrance with soil, and if it doesn't look weird from the outside, it's completed. In that case, I make holes of the size of the ant's nest that my threads can pass through. Other than letting the threads pass through, it also has the role as air hole.

However, because I can't be relieved if it's such a small hole, I dig the hole sideways this time. I connect it with the ground in a place quite far away from the town. The size of the hole is made to the extent whether a person can pass or not.

With this, the secret basement was completed.

If you ask why I made such a thing, there are several reasons. One of it is for information gathering. I don't know what happened to the war after I rampaged there, so I think that I should gather information usually. With such meaning, I thought that I should make familiar town's basement as the base after all.

As for the second reason, making the shelter to escape from the Demon King. The effect of the Demon King's escape prevention skill somehow has an effective range, and if I don't enter the effective range, I can escape beforehand. I'm absolutely more advantageous because I have Transfer and Marking. But, I might make a blunder one day if I run around haphazardly. So, I made several simple bases like this that become the refuge, and I think that I will run from place to place.

The third. Although this is an extra thing, it's to see the state of the Vampire child. The Vampire who was born in the house of a big shot of the country that's under war now. With that phrase only, I can already expect an eventful life. Although it's fine to even abandon her, when she's in the range where I can reach her, I'm somehow interested. Well, it's a feeling of to see her incidentally because I'm interested.

The fourth. This is the most important.

I inhale greatly. I put strength into my stomach. I straddle. It's coming.

It's not dirty. It's the egg.

Yes, I will lay eggs in this place. It has been confirmed that the egg that this me laid becomes the last shelter when I fight with the Demon King. If it's really hopeless, if I have this egg, I can revive again. It's the thing that secures my immortality more than the "Immortality" skill in a certain meaning. It's crucial to set up an egg in somewhere as the last insurance.

I after this, intend to set up eggs in the several bases similarly. Then, it's next to impossible to smash all the eggs. Even if someone carry out a base crushing using human-wave tactics, if there's one base remains, I can revive. Main body is immortal, and even has the revival. In addition, if it becomes a pinch when escape prevention is not used, I will escape with Transfer. What's that, scary. I don't even know how to defeat myself even if I say so myself.

I thought of it. As a result, I understood it. The way to defeat the Demon King will disappear at the moment when Maou-in-charge falls flat. No, that is really impossible. Seriously speaking, as long as I don't reach the Administrator class, that can't be defeated.

Then, what would you do if you can't defeat it? The idea of the reversal. It's fine even if I don't defeat her. And, I should just become an existence that can't be defeated. Therefore, I activated the plan of making me immortal.

Normally, immortality is impossible at this point in time, but I can do it. I felt that even if the Demon King says that I'm a monster, it can't be helped.

I intend to deploy ten eggs in one base for the time being. Because they will hatch if I just leave them, it's necessary to collect it regularly and deploy it again. Even if it takes the trouble, I want to prepare the numbers for the eggs always. It's the last stronghold after all.

Should I throw the hatched babies into the Elro Great Labyrinth? Their seniors are evolving smoothly, and if I let them join, it should be fine.

Next, I think that I should store a little food. It's painful if there's no food when I hatch from the egg. The status falls immediately after revival, it's impossible to wait until recovery without eating or drinking. I should put the preserved food of the amount that can recover to the extent that Transfer can be used.

Now that it's decided, I think that I should go to catch Water Drakes and make them into dried fish. If it's rotten to some extent, it still can be eaten, but if I want to eat, I prefer eating delicious things.

For the time being, after I make another two or three bases, let's go to overfish the Water Drakes. Let's do that.

However, if I revive this time, what will happen to my appearance? Palm-sized Arachne? Or, at first, I will be the spider form and when I grow up, the human form grows.

In case of being a mini Arachne from the beginning, will the babies be the same? Then, will it become another species with the babies that are already in the Elro Great Labyrinth? That seems interesting, and I'm looking forward for it. It's better to not use the revival, and these eggs should hatch normally.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 192

Chapter 192.

192 Sea fishing part 2

It's the sea. It's fishing. Swim? I won't do it. I don't do it. It's not that when I try to do a crawl, my spider body overturned and was almost drowned. No is no.

It's frightening that I can't sink. I want you to imagine it. The state of having a float attached to your waist, and you get into the water upside down. Besides, the float can't be removed. Even if you let your feet struggle, you are only cutting the sky.

I thought that I was going to die. I'm immortal though. Ah, no, it's different. In fact, I didn't almost die. Surely, it's your hallucination. There's no way this magnificent me will drown in the sea and was about to die. Ahahahaha.

Well then, let's forget the unhappy incident and fish. I attach a suitable bait similar to the last time, and throw a thread into the sea. Hit. Caught it, caught it. As usual, the fish in this sea bites at every cast.

A heavy response. This is a big one! Huh? The big one in this sea is bad, right?

As I thought, it was the Water Dragon that I caught. It seems to be level 23. It seems to be almost the same strength as the Earth Dragon Geere. That's fished by me with a thread, and was pulled to the beach.

Ah, ah, un. Certainly, the level is high, and the ability value is also high. It also has a lot of skills, and about the same strength as Geere. It's considerably strong. However, if it's the present me, even if I fight directly, I can win with composure. Even if I fight directly.

The Water Dragon can be said as the dragon of the water. As it inhabits in the sea, the combat ability in the water is high. What happens when it comes ashore?

The answer is it will writhe on the beach.

This Water Dragon seems to be an underwater specialized type. It can't adapt itself on the land. It's just like the aspect like the whale on the land. Even if I leave it alone, it seems to die before fighting against me. Is that fine for you, Water Dragon?

The Water Dragon that I caught in the same way before is an amphibious type though. It looks like the type changes depending on the species that the Water Dragon evolved. The Earth Dragons didn't have anyone other than the same species, so the Dragon might be the only one. Well, even if it's not so, if I see the Earth Dragons, I understand that they have a lot of types. Then, it's not strange even if the Water Dragons have a lot of types. Among the many types, it's not strange even if there's a species that completely adapt itself underwater and didn't adapt itself on the land.

Rather, it might be a lot. All the monsters of the Water Drake types that I caught last time were monsters made with the base of the creature in the sea of Earth. Naturally, they can't adapt on the land. Aren't there a lot of Water Dragons that evolved from there that can't adapt on the land?

If it's underwater, they will show a matchless strength, but they are powerless on the land. If the Earth Dragon is the strategy specialized type that has outstanding status, the Water Dragon is the environment specialized type that uses the field called the sea.

When I think of something useless, the Water Dragon became more bad. It seems that it doesn't have the energy to jump around, and it's twitching. Its HP decreases considerably too. If this goes on, it will die in another several minutes. Is it that? Must it use its gills to breath?

Un. I didn't see it. Well then, let's continue fishing. I throw a thread into the sea again as if nothing happened.

The one caught was the pseudo-blow fish that the summoner summoned before. Ah, because this guy also has the "Water Drake" skill, it's a Water Drake. However, it has poison, huh?

Wait. Before this, I can't do minute things, so I ate the poisonous organs, but now that I have the human hand, won't I be able to take out the organs only? You'll never know unless you try, so let's try it.

At first, I cut the stomach with the sickle thinly. I put the human hand into the cut, and expand it. I scrape out the insides. I don't know which organ has the poison in the blow fish, for the time being, I take out all of the organs. Isn't it good?

I try to eat the separated meat for trial. Oh, this is good. There's no peculiar bitterness like the time I ate the poison. It's a fresh taste.

Ha. Oops. Because it was delicious, I ate the whole thing unconsciously. The purpose of making preserved food has changed into secret eating.

Oh, well. There's no need to be in a hurry.

The Demon King is still battling against the Earth Dragons. I think that it will probably end by today. In other words, I still have time today. It will take several days to crawl out of the bottom layer, and if I make full use of Transfer and continue escaping, there's no problem.

Let's spend the day fishing peacefully.

However, what should I do with these organs? Because I have the "Abnormal Condition Nullity", there's no problem even if I eat it, but eating something that I know that it taste bad is.... Umumu. But, leaving behind is against my principle. It's different when it's a part that clearly can't be eaten like the scales, but poison is pretty much edible. Although I think that poison is not a food, because I have continue eating poison from the moment I was born, it's too late.

Yosh. Let's eat it. Ue, bad. The blow fish's poison is said to be strong after all. Although the poison in this world is different from the one in Earth, it has the "Deadly Poison Attack" skill at level 4, so it doesn't change the fact that it's a considerably strong poison.

「Is it your hobby to eat poison voluntarily?」

I don't have such hobby. This is only because I don't want to leave behind any leftovers.

Hmm? Who are you?

「It's been a long time」

When I looked back, Administrator Gyuriedistodiez stood there.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 193

Chapter 193. Lol. Kumoko....

193 The Administrator complains

Gyurigyuri throws the dying Water Dragon casually to the sea. How should I say..., the way he handle it is rude. The Water Dragon seemed to resume breathing, and it just swam and left.

Gyurigyuri sits down next to me.

「It seems that you have act violently very much」

Startled. Crap, is he angry? To be frank, if the opponent is the Demon King, I can use the egg revival, so a situation that I can't die is created even though it's not 50-50. But, this man is different.

Administrator Gyuriedistodiez. This man is the resident of the same area as D who's this world's strongest existence. In other words, God. It's not a metaphor, but truly a God. The cheat of cheat that can interfere the system partly.

Recently, I'm starting to grasp vaguely what kind of existence is the God. When it becomes like that, I understand well how dangerous this man and D are. If the Demon King is a tank, Gyuriedistodiez is a nuclear weapon. It's the problem before winning or losing because it ends when it explodes. He's such an existence.

He's at the second place that I must not make him angry following D. The second place that wins the Demon King in the third place by a wide margin. I see, here's my place to die, huh?

「Thanks to that, I'm having a headache」

Gyurigyuri lets out a big sigh. Ah, un. Rather than he's angry, it's like the atmosphere that the boss who held an apology festival because the subordinate's mistake. Although he's not angry, he's only feeling tired.

Gyurigyuri distort the space, and takes something out. Bottle?

「Do you drink?」

When he remove the cover, a mellow smell drifts. It was alcohol. Gyurigyuri takes out two glasses from the different space, and pours alcohol. One of those has been handed to me by force.

「Accompany me. I'm allowed to exhibit this much power」

Ah, yes. Although I didn't drink alcohol before because I'm minor, because it's scary if I decline in this situation, I will accompany you.

Gyurigyuri drinks up the alcohol in a single gulp. Good drinking manner. This person must be drinking considerably usually.

Although I don't understand about alcohol, for the time being, I will enjoy the smell. It's a strange feeling that the smell mixes with the smell of the sea. One gulp like that. Ah, it's slightly sweet, and it's delicious.

「There's a lot of it. Drink it without holding back」

I drink up the alcohol in the glass as I accept the offer. Gyurigyuri pours another helping without a moment's delay. I enjoyed the alcohol that I drink for the first time in my life.

「Good grief, the trash Potimas confined himself indoors. Although I have placed the minimum nail, I'm sure that he's thinking of something worthless. Even though that is already a hopeless trash, Sariel says not to kill him. If those words were not told, I will tear him apart and beat him down into the Hell. Neither Ariel and Dustin listen to what a person is saying. Especially, Ariel. Even though I told her many times to not interfere, what kind of thoughts does she has to jump into the vortex. Ah, I understand her circumstances, but then, if she consulted me, I could at least mediate for her. Although I think that the guy is at least my companion, this means it's my own complacent. Well, it suits me who's a stray Dragon. Loner, loner」 「Uhehe. The world is shining」 「It's probably not shining. Such a world, if Sariel was not here, it would be abandoned long time ago. Although I can't forgive what the other Dragons did, the people in this world are all fools and trashes. It's a good evidence that not even a person is liberated by the purgation system. Everybody only accumulates crime points, and it won't even decrease. How much evildoing must be accumulated until they are satisfied. And yet, they babble something like subjugating the evil Dragon, and challenge my subordinate that I entrust the area's management. Which one is the evil one, huh? Good grief」 「Ah, happiness」 「I'm unhappy. The future is very bleak. However, it can't be helped. This is also the weakness of falling in love. I want to grant her wish. Even if she will die because of that, if she smiles in her last moment, I will endure anything. However, I'm not concerned with the future things after she dies」 「Ui」 「You are also you. Not enough just by picking a fight with Ariel, you even interfere in the human's war. What are you trying to do? Ah, no. I understand your reasons and your feelings. I also thought a lot of times that I want to tear them apart. Speaking honestly, it's true that I feel a little relieved. The Divine Word Religion has terrible corruption, and the Goddess Religion has become quite different from the normal teachings. In the first place, Even though they have no rights to believe in Sariel, they are shameless. Know shame. Shame」 「Kill everyone」 「As a matter of fact, that's the quickest. Unfortunately, because Sariel hates that the most, cleaning up is impossible. And, because I can't betray this Sariel's feelings, cleaning up is impossible. It's something that I can't have it on my way. If I don't drink alcohol, I can't do it」 「Alcohol is delicious」 「Good drinking manner. Drink more」 「Yay」

Good morning. Huh? When did I sleep? Somehow, yesterday's memory is vague halfway. I drink alcohol with Gyurigyuri, and hears his complaint. What happened? Although I feel that I heard Gyurigyuri's complaint for a long time, I can't recall it in detail.

Gyurigyuri is not here anymore. He only come here to drink in frustration? He only wants me to hear his complaint? What's with that God?

For the time being, I understood one thing. Alcohol is delicious.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 194

Chapter 194. Ariel POV.

194 The Demon King talks

『Splendid』

The Earth Dragon Gakia falls down.

「That's my line」

It was splendid. In defiance of the overwhelming force difference, the Earth Dragons led by Gakia confined this me. If I exclude the special opponent that's fighting against me now, it was a very long time to have a hard time in a direct confrontation.

『It's my desire』

Light disappears from Gakia's eyes. The Dragon that lived for a long time finished its life.

I look at the corpse of the fallen Gakia. It's not that I particularly have any exchange with Gakia. But, in the fact that the Dragon that exist for a long time perished, I feel a thing like the indescribable sentiment. Another one, old existence disappeared and. Because it was done by my hands.

I shake off the worthless sentiment. There's something that I must do now. First of all, I will eat the corpse of Gakia, and after that, I must also eat the other eight bodies. Because they moved around in the bottom layer, the corpses of the Earth Dragons scattered here and there. Although it's troublesome, I must recover them and eat them without fail. Leaving behind is against my principle.

Wait. Strange. Did I have such principle? Hmm? Oh, well.

No. Not good. This is not good.

There was a harbinger. But, this is the first time that the thought changed plainly to here. Since when? No, it's obvious. It was when I received the Earth Dragons' restriction.

The opponent that I fight against now. It was a threat that's experienced for the first time in my life so far.

I live long. I should live long next to Sariel-sama and Gyurie in this world. In the long life, I experienced many death-like experiences. I was not superior to that extent, and I barely lived in a life of life-or-death until I was picked up by Sariel-sama. After I was picked up by Sariel-sama, I always half-dead, and I'm merely lucky to be able to survive.

In the early days when the system was made, I encountered dangers many times. I was almost killed by the monster called enemy created by the system, I was almost killed by the Humans and the Demons, and I was also chased by the Elves. I overcome those dangers, and I became the oldest Divine Beast before I know it. It's said that the more you fight, the more stronger you get by the favor of the system.

I think that it's ironical. Among my comrades, the weak me has the power of the strongest class in the world now. But, I only did the fight that corresponds to gain the power all the time.

Even if I looked back on my combat experience, the enemy this time was different. It clings onto the soul directly, and devours it. That's as if the act of God that I heard it from talk. I thought that it was only Gyurie who can do such a thing in this world.

There was an uncomfortable feeling. I felt that my subordinates' state were a little stiff. But, I ignored it. After all, they are just my pieces. Even if they are a little stiff, it's fine if they are usable. I thought so.

It was recently that Gyurie brought the talk of the reincarnated people from a different world. They are victims, and there's also the intention of Administrator D, so if possible, don't interfere with them. At this time, I didn't think that it will affect me to this extent. The reincarnated people are still young, so I thought that there was a postponement of several years even if I reach the point to get concerned with them.

I was naive. I didn't think that there was a person who tried to take over my subordinates among the reincarnated people. And, that aim of attack was even turned to me.

When I noticed it, my soul has already been possessed. And, I'm gradually eaten.

An attack that I have not experienced so far. The discomfort that my existence is eaten completely. Even if I resist, I can only delay the attack because I'm not used to the battlefield called the soul.

I have fought against the "Heresy Magic" user several times. That's the magic that acts on soul. But, then, it's possible to deal with it. If I kill the user physically, it should be fine. But, this person is different. In the first place, the main body is not near.

I searched for this person's main body. Using the connection that possessed my soul reversely. It's the first time for me to do such a thing, and there's no such ability in the skills. Therefore, I was not confident. I only felt that it's there somehow. I head to the Elro Great Labyrinth for that reason only.

As a result, I heard a rumor of a spider monster called the Divine Beast on the way, and I confronted that person. Because the soul was connected to me, I predicted it. That person is my kin, and it was the individual that evolved abnormally that's not intended.

Why did such an irregular generate? Ironically, because the erosion of the opponent who possessed me advanced, I was made to understand. It's a reincarnated person from a different world. Besides, the Administrator D is related.

It was the worst. It's the other party that Gyurie said to not to interfere. Having said that, if I stand and watch without interfering like this, I will be eaten.

And, I killed that person.

I should have killed it. And yet, that person still clings to my soul. And, I sensed that the main body of that person was not dead from the connection of the soul vaguely.

Without understanding what to do, I get rid of my former subordinate that was taken over that the whereabouts is clear first. I should have gotten rid of it. And yet, even that person seemed to revive at another place without dying.

I don't understand it at all. Although I lived for a long time, as for such an unreasonable opponent, it's my first time. Without understanding what to do, the pursuit of the Earth Dragons when I feel like crying. And, it reach the present.

The situation is near the worst. I don't even know whether I can keep myself properly or not anymore. And yet, I don't become too uneasy. Well, only carefree thought of "I can manage it somehow", comes into my mind.

Finally, my personality might have changed by the erosion. I might be only bothered by myself and have already been eaten completely. But still, the me who thinks "Oh, well" is frightening even if I say so myself.

It's no use even if I think. Somehow, it seems that there's no choice of not eating the Earth Dragons in me. I'm actually hungry, and when thinking about the effect of "Gluttony", it's a fact that I should eat. Then, there's no need to hesitate.

「Itadakimasu」 「Don't eat」

There was an answer in the monologue. When I looked back, Gyurie stood there with a serious look.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 195

Chapter 195.

195 Changes

「So, who are you now?」

I think to Gyurie's question.

「Seeing from Gyurie, which one do you see?」

After I thought, I asked back in return. Although it's in a form of returning a question with a question, it can't be helped. Because I myself don't know the answer to Gyurie's question.

「I see both of you, but also not. The present you have mixed too much to the extent that it's impossible to say that you are either one of you. However, apparently, your consciousness is close to Ariel」 「Ah, as expected. I see」

I scratch my head while smiling wryly. Although I was able to expect it, it becomes the feeling that "I see" again when it's pointed out from another person.

「Your tone seems to be close to that」 「Yeah. Incidentally, I feel that the thought is also close to that」

Otherwise, I will not have such optimistic feeling. Before this, I'm a careful coward. Experiencing that I will die at present, and it was a good evidence that I haven't died mentally.

「And so, what will you do from now on?」 「I don't know」

I really don't know. In the situation that the soul has mixed to here, even if I defeat the opponent's main body, it's probably too late already. And, the biggest problem was that I can't think of a way to defeat that main body. On top of accomplishing the mysterious revival even if I defeat it, it can't be easy to catch it because it has Transfer in the first place. I met it before was only because I was lucky, and the main body is an idiot.

Even if I chase it, I can't catch it. Even if I caught it, I can't defeat it. Even if I can defeat it, I probably can't return to my former self anymore. There's not even the guarantee that the erosion won't advance any further. I'm cornered.

「To be honest, I have already been checkmated. Whether I will remain as me or not is about 50-50, but can that me be called as me? It can be said that the existence called Ariel has already changed and disappeared in such meaning」

I don't say that I died. Both the memory and the thought as Ariel remain in me. But, the way of thinking is different from the old days. Can that really be called as me? It's a difficult problem that it's hard to give an answer.

「Why didn't you consult me until it become like this?」

Gyurie asked with a slightly sorrowful face.

「No, what can I consult with a guy who drinks with my opponent?」

Although he came over with a serious look, you can't deceive my sense of smell. Gyurie drank alcohol. Besides, from the faint smell in the air, it seemed that he come in contact with the main body of the opponent that I'm fighting against now. Somehow, because there's a smell of a human in addition to the smell that I smelled before, there's another person there.

「I only come in contact with her as an Administrator」 「I understand. That's why, I can't consult you」

Gyurie is an Administrator. When you manage this world, you must not take sides with someone on your own convenience. Therefore, even if I'm on the verge of death, I can't rely on Gyurie. Because that is not fair.

「But still, even if I can't get involved directly, I can at least mediate between you two」 「Isn't it uncool to beg in tears from the beginning?」 「And, this is the result of having your own way」 「When you said so, well」

Because I have really lived for a long time, my pride might have become higher. If I rely on Gyurie from the beginning, this would not happen. But, regarding it, I don't regret it.

「Seeing from Gyurie, was it a problem that can be solved if you mediate between us?」 「At least, a cease-fire should have been possible. The position that you and that are aiming is similar」 「I see」

It's good only to be able to hear that. Even if the existence called me disappears, there's an existence that inherits my will. If I'm eaten by that opponent, it's not meaningless for me to disappear.

「And, it's not too late even if it's from now, you know?」 「Hmm. I will pass. Now that I have come this far, I will confirm the ending by myself」 「I see」

Even if the existence called me remains or disappears.

「Seeing from Gyurie, what's the possibility that I will remain?」 「Half-to-half. The separation of the soul has already reached the level that I can't do anything with it. Either way, the existence called you will remain in some form, but I can't even imagine what kind form will it be」 「Yeah」 「Anyhow, it seems that the side that possessed your soul can't stop the fusion on its own will. Which thought will come into surface is also not understood. Perhaps, in the end of mixing, there's even the possibility that you will become a completely different thing」

Let's pray that it won't become like that. I will fight against it as much as I can because I have the feeling to want to remain if possible.

「For the time being, I will chase the escaped main body. After that, I will think after meeting it」 「I see. As for me, I want you and that to reconcile if possible」 「Did your feelings boil after having a drink with it?」 「I think so. I can agree why D likes that. That is a very pleasant existence」

Gyurie answered so to the question that I asked jokingly. How unusual. For this man to leak such an impression of the other party who's totally unrelated to Sariel-sama. It seems that he likes it very much.

「Cheating?」 「It's absolutely different. Although it's interesting to look at that, it's a very troublesome existence if I get close to it. I can't have love feelings to such person」 「Ah, yeah」

Is he praising it, or speaking ill of it? If I had to say then, it's speaking ill of it.

「Then, I will do my best so that the three of us can drink alcohol in the future」
「Ah. Be strong」

Perhaps, I exchange the greetings that might be the final farewell. When Gyurie tries to leave with Transfer, I noticed it.

「Hey, leave the Earth Dragon」 「I refuse」

Gyurie says it coldly, and leave together with the corpse of the Earth Dragon with Transfer. After that, although I look around the bottom layer, the other Earth Dragons were collected. Damn you. The next time I meet you, I must avenge myself. Therefore, it becomes impossible to disappear here.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Before the war

Before the war. Changed one sentence in the 【???】part, where the Natsume is.

Before the war

【Shun】

「Yo. I heard that Natsume is attacking here」 「Tagawa and Kushitani-san, huh?」
「We are the few reincarnated people who have combat ability here. So, if the barrier breaks, we will also participate」 「I actually want to hide though」 「You two have act as adventurers, right?」 「Yes. This idiot says something incomprehensible that it's a royal road to become an adventurer if you are reincarnated with cheats」 「And, I distinguish myself since the days when I'm a rookie adventurer, I raise my rank at a dash and attract attention, and someday, I will leave my name in this world!」 「Ah」 「See, he's an idiot, right?」 「You two are childhood friends?」 「Yeah. Even in the previous life and this world. It can be said as an inseparable relationship」 「What's with that. Aren't we in a relationship?」 「Shut up!」 「Err, are you dating?」 「Yes!」 「Little by little」 「There's no need to be embarrassed」 「Shut up!」 「Ah, well, may you be happy」 「What's with that lukewarm eyes?」 「It's because you are an idiot」 「Isn't it harsh?」 「I think that it's an appropriate evaluation though」 「I love such cold Asaka」 「Aren't you stupid?」 「Um, because it looks like I'm a hindrance, I will return」

【Firimes】

「What's wrong? You looked depressed」 「Hyrinth-san. No, it's nothing」 「That's not the face that it's nothing. What's wrong? Did something happen?」「I have been hated by everyone of the student」「What do you mean?」

「Fumu. I see」「I'm sorry to have you to hear such complaints」「No. Oka-san has been holding this alone all along without being able to talk to anyone, right? It's important to speak out like this sometimes」「When you say so, I feel ease a little」「However, the "Student List", huh? I have neither heard nor seen such a skill before」「That's right. Shun-kun's "Divine Protection of Heaven" is also the same, but the skills that we, reincarnated people have, are unique ones that are not seen normally. The reincarnated people who are being protected here mostly have either high rank skills or other unique skills that no one has it」「The skills by nature, skill points, and the knowledge and mind of the previous life. Certainly, if there are such factors, it's possible to become an owner of the world eminent power if it's trained since young」「Yes. As for the reincarnated people who was not able to be protected here, all of them have considerable power」「Then, the uneasy one is the words "death by skill deprivation"」「I don't know exactly what does it mean. But, I think that it's certain that something will happen」「And, that "something" is not understood, huh?」「Yes. Because only the reincarnated people who have a lot of skills have the description, it's a reincarnated person who have the strength more than a certain level like Shun-kun and Katia-chan who are aimed」「And, Oka-san protected the reincarnated people in order to prevent that, and gave them an environment that's hard to raise the skills」「Yes. But, there's probably also the Elves' circumstances」「Elves' circumstances, huh? Is there a chance to win against the Administrator?」「I don't know. At any rate, it's a fact that the reincarnated people are being protected by the Elves. Leaving aside whether they can win or not, I must protect them」「Even in this fight, huh? It would be good if the barrier don't break」「From my judgment, the barrier will probably break」「The reason is?」「Yuugo will die in this fight. It's written as "death in action" in the "Student List"」「I see. If the barrier breaks and it doesn't become a fight, it can't be a death in action. However, the existence with the Ruler skill may overturn the prediction of the "Student List", right?」「Yes. That's why, I will kill Yuugo with my hands」「Don't brood over it so much. Oka-san is too responsible」「Not at all. I am a useless teacher who can't even take the responsibility」 「Such part is what called brooding over. Let out the tension, and relax. I can at least give advice」 「Thank you」

【Potimas】

「Patriarch. The preparation for that thing is completed」 「Well done」
「However, is it necessary?」 「Ah」 「Then, the barrier will break?」 「Well, the army's magic at the outside can't break the barrier. However, it's my intuition after living for many years. The barrier will break」 「Haa」 「Am I hard to understand because I judge with a vague thing called intuition?」 「Ah, no, never」 「There's no need to gloss over it. I find myself ridiculous that I need to rely on such an uncertain thing」 「Then, why?」 「It's something that I understand after living for a long time. The world is not necessarily according to the theory. And, there's also thing that can be seen at the point beyond the theory」 「Haa」 「Anyhow, I have a bad feeling. So, I thought that I should use all the means that I can use」 「However, when those are used, I feel that it's an excessive forces」 「I am a timid person. I will be very careful even if it's crushing insects」

【???

「Free time, huh?」 「It can't be helped」 「Because you are free, make me laugh with a gag」 「What an absurd swing」 「You can't do it?」 「I can't do it even if you said it suddenly」 「Tch. How incompetent」 「Then, can you do it?」 「Ha! Why should this me make such lowly person laugh?」 「You can't, huh?」 「It's not that I can't, it's just that there's no meaning to do it」 「Yeah yeah. So, who will kill Natsume-kun?」 「Do as you please. I'm not interested in such small things」 「Oh, really. I also don't care though」 「Make them to add the experience points」 「Well, depending on the situation」

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 196

Chapter 196.

196 Rather than the spider, it's the ant

I dig the hole diligently.

Because I drank with Gyurigyuri, a day was wasted pointlessly. After I was dead drunk, I noticed that the fight of the Demon King and the Earth Dragons was finished. The Demon King who wander around in the bottom layer for a while, starts moving upwards afterwards. As for the route, it seems to clash with Queen-in-charge. Because I have already told it to Queen-in-charge, she will escape skillfully. Queen-in-charge has already recovered to the extent that she can use Transfer.

That's why, I restarted making the preserved food after being interfered by Gyurigyuri while paying attention to the Demon King's movement. The sea fishing.

Did Gyurigyuri warn them? After that, I was not able to catch a Water Dragon. I was able to catch the Water Drakes in large quantities though.

Oh, yes. Although I only caught Water Drakes and Water Dragon so far, when I catch it in large quantities again, there are pure marine products that are not Water Drakes among them. Somehow, it's only that the Water Drakes bite the lure frequently because they are carnivores, it seems that there are also normal fishes. The number of hit is considerably low though.

Like that, I made full use of the "Fire Magic" and smoked the large quantity of foods. Well, I only soak it into the seawater suitably, and smoked it. It's a fake smoking. I have not done any smoking before, and I don't know the way to do it too. So, I only do something that feels like it.

Yes, and. What I should give priority more than the taste is the preservability. In addition, if it last to some extent, I won't get an upset stomach by the effect of the Gross Feeder title. If it starts rotting, I can just exchange it each time. Thus, I placed the completed pseudo-smoked foods in the bases suitably.

The number of bases has already exceeded two digits. It's seven places that I have dig various places suitably. One under the town. Three in the Elro Great Labyrinth.

As for the Elro Great Labyrinth, with the idea of it's darkest under the lamp post. Although I chose the town because there's a reason, the others are really simply chosen. I dig and made it into a base with the feeling "around here is fine".

And, in order to increase the number of bases even more, I'm digging now. However, this time, I'm a little interested in something, so I'm not digging suitably.

The place where I am now, is the place advanced straight all the way after going out of the Elro Great Labyrinth. With the purpose of base making and expanding the range of action, I try to go to the place where I haven't gone so far. And so, although I searched for a good place to be made as a base, something strange was caught in Detection. There was a space in the underground

There's a considerable depth, and the length seems to be quite long somehow. Because it's beyond the soil, as expected, even the Detection doesn't grasp it very well. I who was driven by interest, dig a hole heading towards that hollow.

However, the Detection is convenient again. Although I'm heading to a hollow this time, can't I dig up a hot spring depending on how I use this? Ah, that might be good. Although I didn't mind it when I was a complete spider, I am driven by the desire to want to take a bath now that the human was added.

When you say why am I saying this is because I smell it. Although there's no such smell from the spider body, there's a smell from the human body. Perhaps, I think that the ways of metabolism are different between the spider and the human.

That's why, I didn't mind it so far, but I feel a little of wanting to take a bath. I didn't think that the Enhanced Smell was useful in such a place. Although there's also a smell from the spider body, it's a smell different than the human body. Although a normal human will not know what smell is that, if it's an owner of the sense of smell at the same level as a dog, it might know the difference.

Well, that's if I can find it though. There's no way that a hot spring will be here conveniently. Now, let's go to the mysterious hollow. Even if I say that, I already arrive.

I penetrate the hole that I dug, and connects it with the hollow. The inside was a circular tunnel approximately 3 meters in height. And so, the innumerable eyes that pierce me who appeared from the ceiling.

It's the ants.

Well, I knew it though. While I was digging, I understood that there's something by Detection. Apparently, here is the nest of the ant monsters.

The ants approximately 2 meters in length looked up at me. As the appraisal result, apparently, these guys are the species called Efejegoath. It's a name that make me recalls the bees that were in the Elro Great Labyrinth. If I'm not mistaken, the bee's name was Finjegoath, is it?

The status is somehow similar. However, these guys have neither the "Poison Stinger" nor the "Flight". Instead, they have the skill called "Acid Attack". In addition, they seem to be able to use "Soil Magic" impudently.

Well, so what. Even if they have geographical advantage and the numbers, their strength with me is too different. If such thing appears on the ground in large quantities, it will be a pinch for the humans.

Quick annihilation, and suppression completed. Although there were evolved individuals like bodyguards and the queen ant in the depths of the nest, I clear them up all at once. While snitching food occasionally, I decide to use this place as one of the bases as it is because I obtained a large quantity of food here. I stuff the corpses of the ant into the wide space where the queen ant was, and lay eggs there. With this, there's no need to worry about the food here.

There's no need to make a base by myself purposely, and both food and experience points are obtained. Rather than killing two birds with one stone, it's killing three birds with one stone. If I happen to find a similar ant's nest, I will attack it assertively.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 197

Chapter 197.

197 The treasure is buried underground?

After taking over the ant's nest, I decided to strengthen the underground Detection when moving. I was encouraged by the initial success. In a double meaning.

The ant was very delicious. It's sour probably because it has the "Acid Attack". That sour was also exquisite. I can say so because I have the "Acid Resistance" skill, and if I don't have the resistance, it seems to damage just by eating it.

And, the larva was slightly sweet and was delicious. There was no chrysalis probably because it's a monster. Probably, when the larva evolves, it becomes the ant's figure suddenly. Although there were the eggs, because they seem to become food again if they hatch, I wrapped it with threads and left it. I will keep them alive now as food when my eggs hatched, If I wrap it with threads, they can't move freely even if they hatch out, so with this, it's safe even if they hatch earlier than my eggs.

It's excellent as a base, and it's delicious as food too. Perfect. That's why, I think that I will find the hot spring by strengthening the underground Detection while searching for the ant's nest incidentally.

The movement was going well. I avoid the town and the highway of the Humans as much as possible, and because I advanced the trackless path, I was able to expand my range of action without a particularly big trouble. I killed the monster on the way, and annihilated something like the bandits. Thanks to that, the map of "Wisdom" became quite wide.

If it's this wide range, I can escape with Transfer as much as I like. If I don't let my guard down, it can be said that there's almost no need to worry that I will be caught by the Demon King. Even if I was caught, it won't become the worst situation because there's the egg insurance.

However, it becomes impossible to escape forever. The connection with Maou-in-charge has cut. That means Maou-in-charge has been defeated by the Demon King, and was taken over oppositely. Maou-in-charge, I won't forget your scale peeling.

Then, that means all of the soul takeover plans have become nothing while I was escaping. The only chance to able to defeat the Demon King in the present condition disappeared. Then, there are two future actions that I can take.

The first one is to continue escaping like this. Although the Demon King defeated me again, the Queens' erosion is still continuing. Because the erosion of one Queen has ended recently, the remaining Queen is three. The three will be completed soon. The erosion seemed to rise probably because I evolved. Although I can't defeat the Demon King now yet, I can bring it in to equal if I unify with the remaining Queens. It's plan 1 to devote myself to escaping until that time.

The second one is to negotiate a cease-fire with the Demon King. My immortality is outstanding even in the present condition. Although I can't defeat the Demon King, I only can't defeat her, and it's impossible for the other side to kill me. I can't defeat the Demon King, and the Demon King can't kill me. Both are deadlock.

In addition, the Demon King repelled my soul attack. The urgent threat can be removed. In that situation, if I withdraw from Queens and apologize obediently, there might be a possibility of forgiving me. Because the Demon King was attacked by me and received it, if I apologize with sincerity saying "I won't attack you. I'm sorry. Please forgive me.", and somehow works well. Such a wishful thinking.

Actually, both the Demon King and I are hopeless any further. Even if I finish unifying with the Queen, when it's said whether I can defeat the Demon King or not, to be honest, it's a strange line. In the first place, that Demon King, if she's not an Administrator, isn't the most she could do is to take a draw? (TL note: I don't know this part. Not sure whether it's a reference or not)

To be frank, I don't want to fight against the Demon King anymore. The risk is too huge. Although I must do something to the world as fast as possible, I want to spend the rest of my life peacefully and leisurely if I finish it. I want to eat delicious foods, and live idly. Who will fight against such a large and ghastly monster willingly?

However, in case that the Demon King has a vindictive personality, I may be aimed from now on. When thinking about it, I want to become stronger by unifying with the remaining Queens, and compete with forces. I want to think that it's not too late to even apologize after that.

Well, that part depends on the Demon King. Although I might need to put an end to this in the worst case, I want to decline it if possible. That's why, I will choose the escape of plan 1 for the present, and when the time comes, I will activate the plan 2.

Now that I decided the future plans, I found an underground hollow. There's a hole at a considerably deep position. It's the depth that my Detection is on its limit to even barely perceive the ceiling in the effective range.

Isn't this looks like the ant's nest? But, it's too deep for it. In addition, the ceiling seems to be made very firm, and it's like a man-made object.

I have a bad feeling. A man-made object in such a deep underground. Judging from the cultural level of the Humans that I have seen so far, a question comes into mind whether there's such technology to dig the until this deep in the underground and even the technology to build man-made basement there.

In addition, the place where I am now is in the forest without people. The depths of the deep forest where even the adventurers don't come near. Will a person make something in the underground of such a place? Can a person make it?

I must check this. If my thought is correct, it's necessary to confirm this mysterious underground facility no matter what it takes. Perhaps, my expectation is right. The problem is whether it's alive or not. Although I don't think about it, in case that it's alive by any chance, it's necessary to stop it by all means. No matter the what dangers are.

I made up my mind, and began to dig the soil.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 198

Chapter 198. This is probably the hardest chapter to translate in this series. Or maybe it's just because of the skill name.

198 Underground ruins

I dig a hole, and push my way through deep in the underground. A layer of the different feeling of material appears clearly so far there. That can't be natural by all odds, and it was the man-made object.

There's no reaction at all even if I use the "Soil Magic". While the "Soil Magic" is called the soil, the range that it affects is considerably wide. Even if it's soil or metal, if it's a big solid body that has a shape, it has function on anything. Alaba constructs the bridge instantly, and I can dig the hole smoothly is because of such a reason.

And, that "Soil Magic" was repelled by the wall at my feet. In other words, it has resistance to magic. I appraise the details of the wall with "Wisdom".

『Impossible to appraise』

Although it's not that I didn't expect it at all, I was not able to appraise the wall. Because I know that it has resistance to magic, it's probably impossible to break it with magic. Having said that, when it's said whether it can be destroyed with physical strength or not, I can do it, but when I do it, I don't know what will happen.

I decide to make full use of Detection and grasp the whole aspect of this underground facility reluctantly. It was no use. Although the Detection passes to some extent, it becomes dim in the hollow part, and the Detection can't be activated well. It seems that there's a jammer.

This is slightly, no, considerably bad. Although it's good if the jammer is from the wall, if some kind of magic is activated inside, this underground facility is alive. That's a big problem.

Should I inform Gyurigyuri? Even if I say so, I don't have the way to inform him.

I have no choice but to get in, huh? I found a thing like the entrance of this facility with Detection. I dig the hole along the wall, and advance to the entrance.

In the wall that broke off on the way, a square space of one side about 5 meters filled up with soil appears. But then, the inside is filled up with soil. I move the soil with magic. And, the appearing door.

The door is made of heavy metal, and it seems to be the type that slides from the left to right to open. There's no thing like a knob. Well, that's obvious. It's clearly different thing from the civilization above. It's a mechanical door that was clearly made to open automatically. This square space might have been an elevator originally.

I put my hands on the door that's unbecoming in the fantasy world. The door that's buried in the soil for a very long time didn't open automatically. I reluctantly force it open manually. Heavy. Although it can be opened because of my status, this is too heavy. But, such an impression becomes trivial immediately.

Ahead of the door that I broke open forcibly. The emergency light that emits faint green light. I'm shined by the light, and the inside of the underground facility appears faintly. Well, I have the "Night Vision" though.

An unbelievable thing was put there. A metal puppet of the height about two meters. In a word, it was a robot. In addition, it was made with considerably advanced technology. That's aligned on both sides of the wall.

No no. I did expect it, you know? Although I did, what's with a robot in the fantasy world? Moreover, this robot is a combat type no matter how I look at it. Thank you very much!

The worst one is these robots are still alive. In the evidence, the robots begin to start together with a noisy siren. Although a voice of something can also be heard with the siren, unfortunately, because it speaks in a different language from the one that I learned from the Queen's knowledge, I don't know the contents. Well, at any rate, I think that it's the announcement that an intruder came, so intercept it.

Intruder, in other words, it's me. I'm intercepted. Damn it.

The robot stands up. It was a four-legged robot. There are four arms too. Although two of that are reproduced from the human's arm, and the weapon like the sword combined with the gun is attached on the other two instead of the hands. Is it the 2 guns 2 swords style? The normal arm also grips a heavy large caliber gun. Is it the 4 guns style? There's no head, and a small muzzle is attached instead. Is it the 5 guns style?

Approximately 100 robots of such world tearing outlook. Approximately is because "Wisdom" doesn't activate well in this facility. Somehow, the Detection jammer is not from the wall, but it seems to be the magic obstruction activated in this building. Even if I try to activate magic, it doesn't go well as if the construction is being obstructed by something.

This is bad. I'm in a pinch plainly. As long as I'm here, I can't use the skills. I can only rely on simple hand-to-hand combat.

Magic obstruction, that's according to the name, it obstructs the activation of magic. In other words, magic can't be used. And, in fact, most of the skills are magic.

The skill's identity is a simplified thing that assist so that the magic can be activated easily using the power of the system. The power of the soul of the skill's owner forms as plain power. Whether my thread or my poison, everything was the product by magic.

And, naturally, resistance is also included in it. The "Physical Nullity" that I have. This one always sets up a barrier on my body to the powerful physical attack. In fact, I myself don't nullify the physical attack. Furthermore, despite saying nullity, if I'm hit by the power that exceeds the barrier's defensive ability, I will receive damage normally. If I'm hit seriously by an alien who was born in the super vegetable planet, I will break into small fragments. [TL note: Dragon Ball reference. The super vegetable is basically Super Saiyan(as how Toriyama pick the name from vegetable/yasai) and the vegetable planet is Planet Vegeta]

The resistance is the magic that always deploys a defense barrier to the attack and the neutralizing function. Because the magic is obstructed naturally by the magic obstruction, the present me is in an origin state without any resistances.

Furthermore, my status is also done by the magic called Enhanced Body and Cover Enhanced Destruction(被破壞強化 TL note: ???) The offensive ability is only reinforced with hitting muscle strength by magic. I only raise the muscle strength corresponding to it to move quickly. Because I activate it in the body, the magic obstruction has a small influence. It doesn't mean that it's not only small.

Regarding it, it's good if the defensive ability is inside the body, but the surface skin receives the magic obstruction directly. In other words, one thin skin is almost the state without defense. Although I can still endure it in the body, when the thin skin tears off, the defense of the place that torn off falls. And so, if it's pierced, it will become a fatal wound sooner or later. Something like gradually torn off from the skin, what's with that torture.

The army of 100 robots vs. I who's without skills and my status is weakening. Ah, this is seriously bad.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 199

Chapter 199. Posting it a little early today. 199 Robot army

For the time being, let's confirm the one that can be used in the skills on hand. Although I said that I'm without skills, it doesn't mean that everything can't be used. The skills that act in the body is effective. The "Super Thought Acceleration" can be used without a problem. Otherwise, there won't be time to think leisurely like this.

The "Super Thought Acceleration" can be used. But, the "Future Vision" can't. The "Evasion", "Accuracy" and "Great Probability Correction" can be used, huh? Although these skills are skills that automatically make slight modifications to the action by the power of the system and make the best movement in the situation, in short, it's the correction skills that make the amateur to be able to evade or hit like a skilled warrior. Because it's the skills that raise my basic techniques, I don't seem to receive the obstruction. For the same reason, the "Throw" probably can be used. Although a part of the golden evasion combo can't be used, still, I can secure the evasion power fairly well.

The magic-type is annihilated. The things that affect the outside like "Psychokinesis" and "Shoot" are useless. It's painful that "Space Maneuver" is useless. The Evil Eyes are also annihilated. The creation-type like the "Poison Synthesis" and "Medicine Synthesis" is also useless. Because the thread belongs to the creation-type, it can't be used.

Because every kind of enhanced attack skills is the things that are assisted with power bonus externally against the attribute that the system judged, I think that it probably can't be used. Because this part is slightly complicated, I also can't say a certain thing.

The status strengthening skills of "Magic God Act" and "War God Spirit" are partly possible. It's working properly other than the one thin skin. The "Divine Dragon Power" is the same except that the magic effect negation can't be used. The "Dragon Barrier" is useless.

Although I thought whether I could oppose the magic obstruction with magic effect negation of the "Divine Dragon Power" and "Dragon Barrier", it didn't went well. The magic obstruction set up here seems to be considerably advanced, and I was easily overcome.

Only the skills that strengthens the body can be used. In other words, I have no choice but to raise the level and hit it physically in the end. Although it would be good if the "Super-speed HP Recovery" activates, I can't expect it.

On the other hand, the robot army is fully armed, or rather, the existence itself is a weapon. After all, they don't receive the magic obstruction, so I'm overwhelmingly disadvantageous. In the first place, these guys are operating by the technology that drove the world to ruin before the system construction. As expected, I won't lose if there's no magic obstruction, but I should think that everyone of them has the power of the Dragon class.

And, there's 100 of them.

What should I do? I can't leave here. But, can I win? Should I withdraw once, and inform Gyurigyuri?

No. Because I can do the egg revival in the worst case, it's better to act violently as much as possible. If it's the egg revival that can even escape from the Demon King, even the magic obstruction shouldn't be able to prevent it. Fortunately, I have made a lot of refuges. It's not painful even if I consume it here. Although my status falls temporarily, even if I receive the Demon King's attack before revival, I can just do another egg revival.

If I alone can suppress here by any chance, I might obtain that, outwitting Gyurigyuri. I don't think that this facility that lived so long doesn't have that. I want it by all means. If I obtain that, I might be able to push forward my plan ahead of schedule. Even if it's necessary to revive, it's worth doing it. At any rate, Gyurigyuri will only clear up here even if I fail.

Thus, I finish the very long thinking, and switch to combat. The robots get up and try to prepare the weapon here. Even if I think for a long time, the opponents just got ready for combat. Thanks to "Super Thought Acceleration".

Now that I can't use magic, I can only do close combat. It's bad if a distance is kept with the opponent that has the gun. I draw near to the robot that was the nearest with a dash.

My speed doesn't decrease so much, huh? But, somehow, my feet hurts. I hit the robot's body hard with the running momentum while enduring it.

The robot blows off. Hard!? Ouch!?

Uwa. The skin of the fist that I used tears. Come to think of it, the defense of the thin skin disappeared. Even the damage of my own attack's recoil is received, huh? It's probably because of this that I have a pain in my feet. If I don't have "Sense of Pain Nullity", I would be flinched with that alone. Because I have the "Sense of Pain Nullity", I can ignore it while feeling pain.

It doesn't recover. Although it looks like it recovered a little, the appearance is almost unchanged. Although it's just at the scratch level, it seems to take more than one hour to complete recovery. It seems that I should think that there's no recovery.

I add a pursuit to the robot that blew off while thinking about such a thing. To be exact, I was going to add it. The other robots fired the gun, and interfered. Although the evasion was delayed a little more than usual because I don't have the "Future Vision", I escape from the line of fire before the opponents fire the gun.

The bullets pass at high speed to the extent that whether I can even perceive it barely or not. Seriously? I hardly saw it even if I have the "Super Thought Acceleration" and "Enhanced Five Senses". If I'm aimed by that, I can't avoid it.

It's obvious that I will become a beehive like this. And, what's worst is that the gun that the robots hold is rapid-fire like the machine gun type. It's only a nightmare that it can rapid-fire at that speed.

I approach the robot that fell immediately. It's approximately simultaneous that I make the robot as the shield and the simultaneous shooting attacked. Innumerable bullets pierce the robot that was made as my shield. A part of my body that was not able to hide is blown off by the bullet. Not pierce, but blows off. What power is that!? And, in addition, what has become of the enduring robot's armor!?

But, as expected, the robot's armor is damaged too. If this goes on, it will be pierced sooner or later.

I snatch the gun from the robot's hand. Although my arm is hit by the bullet and hollowed out on this occasion, I can't mind it now. I shift the gun from the right hand that's half torn to the left hand. I put the muzzle from the gap of the robot's body, and pull the trigger.

A terrible recoil was transmitted to my hand. I'm glad that I shift hands. If I pull the trigger with my right hand, my right hand will torn off completely.

I fight back against the robots' shooting. But, here is 1 and the other side is approximately 100. Although it would be around 10 robots that attack me because of the area of the building, still, it's 10 times. There's also the remaining quantity of the bullet, so it's obvious that I will lose soon.

I advance with the robot made as the shield while pulling the trigger. Although I almost stumble by the shock whenever the bullets hit the robot, still, I advance while enduring the pain.

And, I throw myself into the robot group that unite as a troop together with the robot that I made as the shield. I throw the shield robot that can't maintain its model anymore, and I make the next robot in front of me as the shield. When it comes to this, I will die honorably with the resolution for revival seriously.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 200

Chapter 200.

200 Loot

I pretend to bring in a melee, and I abduct a robot and withdraw quickly. If it's a melee, they will stop shooting because they are afraid of friendly fire, but such thing is only when the opponent was a living flesh human. If it's the opponent is the emotionless opponent, it will shoot me together with its allies without hesitation. Moreover, even though I receive a large damage just by one shot, it's only to the extent that the robot's armor scratched a little. I'm at disadvantage to die honorably with a suicide attack.

I made the newly abducted robot as the shield, and I observe the robots in order to destroy the present condition desperately. To be exact, it's the analysis of the magic set in the robots. The countermeasure for the magic obstruction that's tormenting me.

The robot army acts calmly in the magic obstruction. They have the defensive ability to the extent that it's impossible, and it's clear that magic is used. The answer is because the magic to neutralize the magic obstruction is built into the robots. The magic that obstructs the magic obstruction further.

I analyze it, and intend to defeat the present condition by imitating it. Because it's a considerably complicated construction and it's concealed skillfully, it takes a considerable time for the analysis, but if the analysis is completed, I should be able to reverse the formation at once.

I devote myself to evasion, and advance the analysis at the same time. Even if I use the "Super Thought Acceleration", I can't evade the bullets by seeing it. I look at the robots movement, predict the trajectory of the fired bullet, and I must evade it from the trajectory beforehand. I won't make it if I avoid it after it was fired. If there's only one opponent, I have composure, but it doesn't mean that my processing power can't make it in time. In the first place, the bullets fill up the space to the extent that there's no space to avoid. But still, I move around everywhere toying the robots in order to minimize the damage.

I turn my brain fully after a long time. Evasion and analysis. Thanks to that, my head seems to explode.

My head seriously exploded. llii wwwaaasss ssshhhooottt! The human head is taken away beautifully. Fool! That's also the main body!

Oh. Bad bad. The human brain can't be used, and the processing speed drops sharply.

In this environment that I can't expect the recovery, it was a serious wound that's not strange to die normally. Well, I have the "Patience" and "Immortality". Even the magic obstruction was not able to stop these two skills. As expected of the skills of the broken ability. Despite that the magic obstruction set up around this place is an advanced thing that can even reduce my ability remarkably, I can activate the broken skills without a problem at all. As long as the body maintains the model, there's no difficulty in actions. Because the human head is crushed, if even the spider is destroyed, it might be a little dangerous.

I can't afford to take things easy anymore. Because I can't use the human brain, the evasion has become sloppy. The right arm that was half torn is blown off. Several feet were taken away too. The bullets graze the body of both human and spider.

As expected, this is already bad. When it becomes such step, the analysis is completed at last. I deploy the imitated magic based on the analysis result extemporaneously. To see through the opponent's magic formula while fighting in this short time, I'm a genius.

The effect was outstanding. As expected of a magic made extemporaneously, the power is lower than the genuine one built in the robots, but at least, it made my status recover to some extent. From there, it was comparatively one-sided.

The bullet that scrapes off my flesh just by grazing it until then, didn't become a fatal wound even if it hits me directly. Although it doesn't mean that there's no damage at all, it was to the extent that I don't need to make the robot as the shield. The recovery of the wound also began gradually.

After all, although I was not able to use magic, I was able to knock down the robots. I hit it, cut it with sickle, and threw it. Like that, I annihilated the robot army. Although I was prepared for the revival, I managed it.

The robots are annihilated, and I canceled the magic obstruction that was set in this facility. I only destroyed the machine that generated the magic obstruction though. Immediately after that, my damaged body starts recovering. The human head that was blown off is cured as before, and the right arm grows too.

Ah, it was tiresome. But, I did it. Fufufu. After this, it's fun time. Like that, I checked all over the facility

The robot that repairs the robot. The air cleaning system function maintenance. And so on. And, in the deepest part of the facility, I discovered that which I searched for.

A huge machine. The energy in there was an extraordinary size. Despite that, the energy increases whenever time passes.

MA energy generator.

That machine is the main source that produced the greatest taboo. The thing that the existence itself can't be allowed that leads the world to collapse. I never thought that it's still running.

I destroy the device, and recover the ball of the palm size that saves the energy called the core. With this, this device can't collect energy anymore. But, the energy that has been saved so far is concentrated in this core.

I put the core in Space Storage for a moment, I retrace the way where I came while destroying the facility. And, I return to the place where the ruins of the robot army piled up, and I began the dismantling of the robots.

The aim is the core built in the robots. Although the capacity is smaller than the core that's in the MA energy generator, the core should have been built into these robots. The core of the aim was in the body, and I recovered the core from each body.

I put the recovered cores on the floor. Among those, there were the ones that got damaged in the combat and the energy came out, but still, I have collected a considerable number of cores. When I add the energy of all cores, it becomes outrageous. If it converts into simple fracture energy, this whole area will blow off. It should become the energy that can cause a natural disaster lightly.

The energy that the ancients of this world create in order to satisfy their own desire. The energy that can be said as the vitality of this star.

Fufufu. It's this. This. I broke through the disadvantageous situation by force just for this. I have the right to secure this as a loot!

If Gyurigyuri is here, he will absolutely take it away. Well, it's impossible to leave such dangerous materials, right? But, that Gyurigyuri is not here. The chance to be able to defeat the robot army was low, and there was the possibility that Gyurigyuri will interfere in the middle of fighting. That's why, I thought that it's a godsend to obtain it, but for it to go this well. Thank you, God! Ah, D, it's not you, okay?

If all of these energies unify with me, I can expect a considerable level up. The "Taboo" knowledge included the method to absorb this energy. Although it's a suicidal act to absorb all of these energies if it's a human, I should be able to endure it. If it went well, I might surpass the Demon King with this.

Thus, I apply magic to the collected cores. The core and me unites magically, and the energy that dwelled in the core is poured into me. There's not much changes. Strange. I absorb the energy of all the cores while thinking so.

Un? Huh? Strange. Although I thought that there was a level or whatever change if I absorb the core. There's nothing.

Did I fail? No no. The magic formula should have been perfect. In fact, the energy of the core is empty. It should be certain that it was transferred to me.

When I had begun to learn impatience slightly, it happened suddenly.

《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Divinity Area Expansion LV9』 has become 『Divinity Area Expansion LV10』》《Conditions met. Apotheosis starts》

The shock to the extent that it's unendurable overflows from my inside. And, I let go of my consciousness easily.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Elf Village Battle 1

Elf Village Battle 1. Start of the battle.

Elf Village Battle ①

【Elf camp outside the barrier】

When you ask what is the most dangerous mission for the Elves, most people will answer the patrol outside the barrier that protects the village. The barrier set up around the village is the absolute defense that has never been broken in the long history. However, just because of that, they can't afford to not be cautious. The Elves placed soldiers for the patrol outside the barrier even in the peace time, and performed a patrol whether there was any suspicious part or not.

The reason why this mission is the most dangerous for the Elves is because of a certain monster inhabiting outside the barrier. The name of the monster is Queen Taratect. The monster with the power of the Myth rank that's said that there are five of it in the world. One of those.

The Queen Taratect made this forest as it's house. In addition, it's close to the Elf Village.

The Queen Taratect gives birth to the subordinate monsters by the "Spawning" skill. Those monsters aim and attack the Elves obstinately. In case of a lower rank one, the strength is not a big deal. However, as for the monster of the species called Taratect, the strength skyrockets by evolution. The Taratect species that evolve and became an adult, is a brutal monster that's equal to the Dragon species.

In the forest outside the barrier, such evolved individuals of the Taratect species lurk. Even the lower rank individual makes the nest sometimes, and when someone got caught in the nest, even a skillful Elf will die without being able to escape. Although it's safe in the barrier, when they go out, it's the spider's hunting ground. The most dangerous place for the Elves.

However, a threat different from it has gathered outside the barrier now.

The allied forces of the Humans. It's the army led by the Rengzant empire. In the place where the Taratect species strode usually, the Humans formed a formation and standby.

The figure of the Taratect species is not seen. The Elves predict that it probably have been exterminated by the army. Although they don't think that the Queen can be defeated, the Queen rarely moves by itself. It seems that it's abandoned. The existence that have threatened the Elves so far was defeated by the existence that threatened the Elves now. Only the kind of the threat changed, and either way, it was a situation that can't be welcomed for the Elves.

The Elf observers observe the state of the army. What should be paid attention is the existence of the magic division that has been advancing the preparations for the large-scale magic all the time in the firm defense for several days. As for the Elves who have long life span and deep intelligence, it's obvious that they have the knowledge of the skill more than the Humans. And, even if they compare it with the knowledge, there's no magic that corresponds to it. It was an unknown magic construction.

The hugeness of the construction exceeds the strategy class magic called great magic lightly, and it takes pride twice of the magnificence. The preparations for several days is also abnormal. It can't be predicted what will happen if such a huge magic is activated even if they have the Elves knowledge.

The Elf observers considered to somehow interfere when there's a chance. However, it was not put into practice.

The basic strategy in the Elf Forest is climb the tree, and showers magics and arrows to the opponent on the ground from the top. Because this Garam Forest is made of large trees, the space between the trees is wider than normal forest, but still, because it's a forest, it's a narrow and complicated terrain compared to the plain. It's a place where it's considerably difficult to move the army, the march becomes slow by all means, and the formation of the army is disordered to avoid the trees which are the obstacle and becomes sparse. If they are attacked from the top, they will be helpless.

The Elves strategy is the guerrilla strategy, they are familiar with the forest, and they receive the training specialized in the combat. They cooperate and corner the opponent while moving individually and separately. The observers also spread out and observed the army from various angles.

The observers' heads fall approximately at the same time. Without knowing what happened. Without realizing that they died.

「Haa. To be taken from the back this easily, aren't the Elves not a big deal?」

It's a boy who decapitated the Elves. If a viewer sees him, the boy will be called a ninja. Black clothes and a katana at the waist. The katana probably decapitated the Elves.

「That damn old man pushed such a troublesome thing」

The boy who scratches his head in the way that the bottom of his heart is troublesome. The state that the magic made spending several days activates is reflected in the eyes.

「Well, it's the best to do it suitably. It's a farce anyway」

The boy who annihilated the spread Elves at the same time alone. He sees the magic crashes into the barrier, bends, and breaks unnaturally, and he smiled wryly. It looks just like the barrier broke only because the magic hits. But, the boy doesn't miss the unnaturalness. Something that was different from the magic destroyed the barrier. The boy was able to see so, and in fact, the boy knows that it's so.

「Well then, let's go. Although it's bad for Ken, my own life is more precious」

The boy looks down at the state of the marching army. Like despising, and like looking down.

「Here was done well, so the others will do well. I mean, can this not go well?」

The boy disappears in the forest with a carefree state.

And, as subsequent to the boy, the monsters that lurked in the darkness have begun to wriggle.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Elf Village Battle 2

Elf Village Battle 2. A translation mistake. Just a name. Kushiya → Kushitani

And, it seems that Kumoko (I mean the novel) is going to become a light novel. The scheduled release date is 10 December. Because it's a light novel, Kumoko will be illustrated. Elf Village Battle ②

【Reincarnated people's residential area】

「Will the barrier seriously break?」「What are you dreaming? Come on, let's go」

Several hours before the barrier breaks. In the residential area of the reincarnated people, the two former adventurers advanced the preparations for departure. Tagawa Kunihiro, and Kushitani Asaka. Of course there's the name in this world, but Kunihiro and Asaka call each other by their previous life's names. This is because they are used to that.

Both have the parents of a certain mercenary group. Although it seems that they stay at a place and settle down there to some extent when both of them are babies, when both of them come to be able to walk, they moved from place to place. If there's a war, the mercenary group will go there. If there's a request of escort, they will follow. If the monster appears, they will go to exterminate it. Because they traveled around various places, they end up marching the continent without the whereabouts being pinpointed by the Elves. Being a reincarnated people was one of the cause that they can walk earlier than normal children.

Although both of them were childhood friends in the previous life, they grew up as childhood friends even in this world. It was already the level that looked like a family, and it was natural to be close to each other for both of them. Because of that, when Kunihiko said 「I will become an adventurer!」 and rushed out of the mercenary group, Asaka follows him afterwards like it's natural.

Like that, both of them become adventurers, and they move from place to place again. During that time, there were excellent adventures, and both of them attracted attention as the existences that surpassed the others among the young people. Because of the attention, it can be said that they are in this place now. The obtained fame flows to the Elves as it is, and both of them end up being brought into the same place as the other reincarnated people like this.

When they were brought, they were pleased with the reunion with the old friends who met after a long time. However, after that, they ask what kind of life in the Elf Village, and the flippant feeling sank in an instant. They were made to shrink back in the situation like keeping-until-death.

Kunihiko has begun to get tired of the life without dream and romance immediately. On the other hand, Asaka thought this life is acceptable. Although she was pulled by the unprecedented Kunihiko, Asaka is a relatively normal girl. The life as the adventurer was dangerous, and as for Asaka who's stability-oriented, a modest life seemed to suits her even if there was neither dream nor romance.

Starting with chairperson Kudo, the reincarnated people who are in the Elf Village seem to be dissatisfied with the life here. Asaka also understood the reason well after she actually starts living. Get up early in the morning, work and sleep at night. Life without pleasure. In addition she perceived that the Elves monitored secretly. It was the honest impression of Asaka that it's inevitable that the stress will be accumulated.

However, judging from Asaka who knows the danger on the outside, it was not unendurable. Asaka who traveled around various places possessed the thing called adaptability without choice. If she don't have it, she won't survive, and even if she has it, she can die easily if she's unlucky. That's the outside, or rather, it's the common sense in this world.

Judging from Asaka, the Elf Village where safety is guaranteed can't be considered as a terrible environment. Even if that's said, most of the people here don't know the outside fact including Kudo. Although she speak of the outside dangers in the present life indirectly, their dissatisfaction was not canceled.

She sensed that Sensei is hiding something, and her actions are all for the former students. Asaka understood it because she live as an outlaw adventurer for a long time, and the ability to judge a person was developed. But, nevertheless, because she felt that following up the abducted people is wrong, she leaves as it is. Asaka has the peace-at-any-price principle unlike Kunihiko.

On the other hand, Kunihiko doesn't hide his true intention. He says the things that he thought, and says the things that he heard.

If it's a boy, the word "adventure" is an attractive word by all means, and it was a natural flow to hear it from Kunihiko who has real experience. And, Kunihiko talked about the previous adventures as he was asked.

The first time defeating a monster. Level up. Like that, the boys who listened attentively to the adventure story swung from joy to sorrow. Although most boys turned an admired look to Kunihiko who realized the man's dream, there were those who understood the outside severity after hearing Kunihiko's story.

Both of them entered the Elf Village gave influence to the other reincarnated people for good and bad. And, it shook. Do you demand the safe present life or the dangerous freedom?

Of course it's not a problem that can be solved at once. But, the time when such choice is done may come someday. They were chased by the daily life while being at loss.

And, the Elf Village was on the verge of danger without being able to decide it and the power to take actions.

「I begged you. However, don't act recklessly」

The permission to participate in the interception war was given to both Kuniko and Asaka who had the power to fight. All of the reincarnated people who remained see off the two people. Kudo sent the words of encouragement representing everyone.

「Yeah. Wait with the intention to board a large ship」

Kunihiko laughs cheerfully, and changes his eyes to cold at the next moment.

「So, Ogi, will you tell me your real intention that you tried to serve poison to us before we leave?」

The glances turns to Ogiwara who's in charge of cooking all at once. Ogiwara received the glances, and he can only be flustered.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Elf Village Battle 3

Elf Village Battle 3.

Elf Village Battle ③

【Reincarnated people's residential area】

Ogiwara got impatient. Even though he should have mixed poison in the dish of the two former adventurers, they looked fine. He suppresses the impatience in the heart, and sees off the two people with an innocent look. It's already hopeless for Ogiwara now that it became like this. Although the mission failed, the implication of the insurance is strong, and he have no choice but to entrust it to the people on the site.

Fortunately, the two people don't seem to notice that it was poisoned. It probably was resisted unconsciously because the Poison Resistance was high. He thought so.

「So, Ogi, will you tell me your real intention that you tried to serve poison to us before we leave?」

By Kunihiko's words, Ogiwara's color of blood draws right away. It was noticed.

「Wh-What do you mean?」

He plays innocent.

「Don't play innocent. I already know that you're the one who did it」

A firm intention that evasion will not be allowed was felt. Ogiwara gave up in making an excuse quickly. He don't say such stupid thing like "Where's the evidence?". Becoming innocent if there's no evidence only works in the constitutional state. Here is the different world, and there's neither the police nor the lawyer. Ogiwara was already guilty in Kunihiko, and a poor excuse will only worsened the position oppositely.

「Aaah. It would be good if you become impossible to move by the poison」

The surroundings react to the words. Seeing the state, Kunihiko and Asaka are half convinced that this is the action that Ogiwara took alone. Although it's not certain yet, the reaction of the surroundings is seriously surprised, and the two people who pass through bloodshed as adventurers knew the feelings and gesture of the people very clearly. And, judging from the experience, they consider everyone to be innocent excluding Ogiwara.

「That's too bad. Should I have you tell me the circumstances slowly after I hit you once?」 「Well, wait. Although it's certain that I served poison, this is something that I did thinking of you, you know?」

Kunihiko who tries to step forward. Ogiwara who restrains him with words. Ogiwara thinks desperately for a reversal while not showing the feelings of impatience.

「What do you mean?」 「It's simple. If you two go, you will die」

Kunihiko moves one step closer. Ogiwara take a step backward according to it. The eyes pass by Kunihiko and is turned to the several Elves who came to guide Kunihiko and Asaka. In addition, he search for the presence of the Elf who hides and watches this residential area.

From here on, it's gambling.

「Natsume acts recklessly and dispatched the army here. What Shun said is not wrong, but only half is correct. Natsume's army is in disguised, the original purpose, the annihilation of the Elves starts」 「What!?!」 「Surprised? I'm an infiltration member who leaks the information to the outside from the inside. In this strategy, most of the Elves will be killed. Because it's planned that they won't interfere here, I recommend that you don't go to the battlefield」

Kunihiko's movement stops. Casting a sideways glance at him, Asaka thinks whether Ogiwara's words are true or not.

It's slow that Ogiwara was brought here among the reincarnated people. However, unlike Kunihiko and Asaka who were brought just approximately one year ago, it's said that Ogiwara was brought approximately ten years ago. Although it's slow among the reincarnated people, it's not slow to the extent that it's unnatural.

What did Ogiwara do during the short period before he was brought into the Elf Village? He is brought into the Elf Village, and he can contact the outside even though there's the barrier. Ogiwara confessed those questions easily.

「I'm affiliated with the church, and I received the training for information gathering when I was young. The unique skill that I have is 『Infinite Calling』 that's a skill that can use Telepathy without limitations. It can pass through the barrier, and it can't be tapped unlike the Telepathy. I contact the outside all the time with this. Ah, of course I conceal it with "Concealment". The Elves probably think that the 『Taijutsu Genius LV1』 is my inborn skill」

The Elves' action on Ogiwara who exposed it was fast. They activate magic to restrict the body. It's the magic that wears wind on the target's body, and seals the motion.

Ogiwara evaded it. Kunihiko and Asaka who were active as adventurers took in that the ability is on the level that can't be called as an amateur from the movement. But, it's far from the first rank. But still, if it's assumed that he acquire this movement in the several years before coming to the Elf Village, he has accumulated considerable training.

「It's already over for the Elves. Would you like to die in vain for the Elves, or survive here? Which one will you choose?」

The reincarnated people are upset to the words. There are no good feelings for the Elves. Having said that, it was hopeless even if such a thing was said suddenly.

Ogiwara thrown the words to the former adventurers, Kunihiko and Asaka. He judged that there were prospects of victory if he can bring these two people into this side. But, Ogiwara forgot it because of the impatience. That he has already done a hostile act called poisoning.

Asaka holds down Ogiwara on the ground. Ogiwara didn't know what happen for an instant.

「Elves. This person's treatment will be decided by us. Interference is unnecessary」

Asaka declares in a cold voice. The Elves are overwhelmed by it.

「I will have you to tell me the full story」

Ogiwara is pulled by Asaka, and is thrown into a nearby house. Although the Elves try to follow after her, Kunihiro blocks the path.

「You are too careless」

Asaka who applied soundproof, draws closer to Ogiwara.

「Saying such a thing, if you oppose the Elves here, what about the others who can't fight?」

Ogiwara can't answer Asaka's cross-examination. The mission ordered to Ogiwara is to make sure that the reincarnated people to be quiet. Without choosing the means in that case.

「And, the one that you come up with is poison? That's too poor」 「It can't be helped. I was not able to leak information carelessly because there were the eyes of the Elves」 「Then, isn't it fine if you use your boasted "Infinite Calling"?」 「Ah」

Asaka sighs to Ogiwara who looks foolish that he just noticed it.

「For the time being, I will torture you」 「What?」 「And, the eyes of the Elves will turn away even a little」 「Eh? It's a pretense, right?」 「It's unnatural if there's no wound, right?」

Ogiwara's scream echoes in the house where the soundproof was purposely canceled. Of course it reaches the everyone's ears on the outside, and they became terrified.

Ogiwara receives really light torture, and spits out everything to Asaka. With the information, Asaka and Kunihiro begin to move. Not to go to fight, but to survive.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Elf Village Battle 4

Elf Village Battle 4.

Elf Village Battle ④

【Ronant】

The barrier is broken, and the army begins to advance. However, the way the barrier breaks has a sense of incongruity.

「Teacher, what's wrong?」 「Umu. How do you see the way the barrier breaks just now?」 「As expected, did Teacher also feel unnatural?」 「There's no way that I can't see through it when you can see through it」

Even my foolish apprentice had the sense of incongruity, so it's certain. That doesn't seem to be destroyed by the great magic prepared by here. Although that great magic was an advanced magic formula that I don't even know, the abilities of the magicians who handle it are poor. Although it's said that they are the magicians of the church, I can only see that they are swung around by the magic with that skill.

However, then, what cause the barrier to break? At the moment when the magic hit the barrier directly, a different shock seemed to be added to the barrier. If that's the case, is there something that's acting as well as us? The purpose? Is it the Elves' feint to pretend so? If that's the case, it's dangerous to continue marching, but, fumu.

「We will take separate actions than the main army from here. Come」 「Eh!? Wha-, Teacher!?!」 「Don't worry. That idiot Yuugo doesn't see the whole. Even if we take separate actions, he won't notice it」 「Is it such a problem!?!」 「I think I will at least leave a messenger」 「There!?!」

My intuition is saying it. I must confirm the mysterious existence that destroyed the barrier. Then, there's no need to hesitate. From the way the barrier breaks, I calculate backward the approximate position. We began marching to there.

However, we receive continuous the attacks from everywhere in the forest, and we were confined quickly. The Elves shot magic and arrows from the gap of the trees.

「I see. Even though our footing is bad and the march can't advance, they can have the upper hand by using the trees. This means that the whole forest is a huge trap」 「Teacher, don't feel admired, and please do something!」

The apprentices fight back to the Elves' magic desperately. The progress of the battle is equal. Although there's damage here, there's no dropouts among the foolish apprentices. I'm slightly disappointed.

「Elves are only to this extent, huh?」 「Teacher? Do you hear what I'm saying?」

If the Elves are excluded, the world's strongest magician. Although that's my present evaluation, I'm made to realize that the evaluation was wrong after looking at the Elves actually. It's a good evidence that they can only fight with the foolish apprentices at an equal degree. Elves are not my enemy.

「Hmph」

I construct magic. Activate. A Elf is shot through by my magic, and dies.

「Are you satisfied with this?」 「Y-Yes」

I annihilate the Elves, and begin to walk in the silent forest again.

「What speed of magic construction」 「Although there's that too, is it possible to create that amount of magic instantly?」 「No, in the first place, that magic should not have the function of pursuit. To apply additional effect in the magic, that person is a genius after all」

It's deplorable that they are excited about a child's play of this level. Mu?

I prevent the flown magic. I see. Quite a power. The dexterity is different from the Elves who I annihilated just now. Reinforcement, huh? I confirm it with "Thousand Miles Eyes". Similar to the Elves just now, the strategy that makes the trees as the shield and attack from a long distance is unchanged.

This is a slightly intense opponent for the apprentices. Well. Let's get a little serious.

I construct magic. The number is ten times of just now. The power is double. Because there's a distance, I raise the pursuit function. Although I understood that the Elves hold their breath, there's no reason to show mercy.

The magic that I shot pierce the Elves' bodies. Although some of them deploy defensive magic, they are pierced together with the magic. Although some of them shoot magic to offset it, it's pierced without being able to offset it. Although some of them try avoid it and escape, they are caught up by the pursuing magic.

I Transfer. In front of me who transferred is the only one among the Elves who prevented my magic. However, it was not completely prevented, and the body was covered in blood.

「Even the Transfer is mastered, you monster」 「I'm not a monster. You are only weak」 「Bullshit」

The Elf exerts his last strength and constructs magic. Slow. The activation of my magic that starts after that was faster, and the Elf dies easily.

「It's splendid」 「Nonsense. Even if you defeat an opponent of this degree, there's nothing that can be boasted」 「It's the Elves, you know? It's said that they far exceed the Humans if it's the magic skill. It's only the Teacher who can slaughter easily like this」 「If it's that person, they can be killed more easily. If it's this, the recent Hero is more stronger」 「Teacher, why did you withdraw at that time?」

I think a little to the apprentice's question. Certainly, like my apprentice sees through my mind, I might win if I use all my power. Although if it's me alone, the winning rate is half, if I match with my apprentices, we might be able to win. However, I didn't intend to make that bet.

I'm also naive. I didn't want to see the appearance of my apprentices dying. And also, the appearance of the Hero dying.

I have one apprentice. The apprentice who I was not able to finish bringing up with this hand because of the political thing and various ties. The period that we were together is only 13 days. An owner of talent that might develop more if I put him nearby. Although that fought mainly with a sword, if I had to say, that had talent in magic. That's why, if I raise him with this hand, he might not be defeated by the Demons.

All of these are not assumptions. There was hardly anything that can be taught in 13 days. But still, the previous Hero Julius is my best apprentice without a doubt.

It's a fact that I'm told to teach him by that person. However, after I begin to teach people, I feel that I have found something important. Did that person foresee this to come? I don't know. I can't foresee that person's real intention.

I was able to confirm that the younger brother of my ex-apprentice grew up splendidly. And, if one were to say that the feeling of guilt that I didn't lead Julius properly fade, it's different, but there was an emotional thing. That's why, there was no choice of fighting in that place.

「It's a whim」 「Haa」

I evade it suitably to deceive the real intention. Well, if I meet with that Hero the next time, it might be good to train him a little serious. Although a defeat is certain if it's pure power, if I'm not obsessed with winning, there are many ways to do it. I could be able to teach him that there's also a way to fight without losing. Although I don't know whether we will meet again or not. For the time being, the first thing to do is to survive this battlefield.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Elf Village Battle 5

Elf Village Battle 5.

Elf Village Battle ⑤

【Firimes】

I was alone in the front line. Shun-kun and Katia-chan are the rear forces. Shun-kun is too kind. If I say it badly, he's too naive. Surely, even if he can defeat a monster, he can't kill a human. That's why, I have him to be in the rear unit.

The persuasion was entrusted to Hyrinth-san. He also understood Shun's naivety, and accepted my plan. I'm thankful to Shun-kun. I might not be able to return to the Elf Village by passing through the Elro Great Labyrinth with my power alone. But, from here on, it's the teacher's work. I can't borrow the power of Shun-kun and the others.

The barrier was broken. To be honest, I was half in doubt, but the barrier was really broken. But, the shock that the other Elves received was more than me. The defensive wall that should be called absolute that has never been destroyed since they were born, was broken. Coupled with the threat of the monster that's outside the barrier, the shock that they lost the heart's support is immeasurable. Although I assumed such a situation, they must have thought that the barrier will never be broken.

「Everyone, please calm down」

I tell the panicking Elves.

「The barrier was broken. However, the device that generated the barrier was not broken. We should hold out until the the barrier restores again」

I am the daughter of the Patriarch. In addition, I am a reincarnated person and my ability is high, and I have a strong right to speak among the Elves. If I'm seen from the Elves who live for a long time, I am a young girl even if I add my age of the previous life, but no matter what they think, they will follow my words. Now also, they hear my words, and they seem to regain calmness little by little.

「In addition, here is in the forest. It's like the garden of we, Elves. The human army can't defeat us. Let's teach them that it's stupid to challenge the Elves in the forest」

I tell strong words to inflame the fighting spirit a little. In truth, the situation is not so kind. Although there's the advantage of the terrain called the forest, as for the total number, the other side is overwhelming. On top of that, the opponent is the Rengzant empire's powerful army that's experienced in combat that continued to fight against the Demons for many years. It was obvious that it will be a severe fight.

Although the prudent Elves can understand it, the thing called the atmosphere of the place is important. The Elves nod powerfully and silently, and start the march. We who advance quietly in the forest are like the assassin rather than the warrior. It's might be not necessarily wrong.

We jump from tree to tree, and finally, we found the army advancing in the forest. Thanks to the terrain called the forest that doesn't suit for a march, the formation is disordered. The front is held up, it becomes dense, and it's prolonged when they try to move to the side to resolve it.

I declare the start of attack by Telepathy. Magics and arrows rush into the army that has trouble with the march.

They are trampled down without being able to do anything by the attacks from the overhead. It's probably the unit that originally didn't assume a combat in such a forest. Although the knights who held the shield in the front row defended it somehow, the long distance unit in the back row and the charge unit in the middle row fall down without being able to do anything against our attacks.

It's not good to have crowded to the extent that it's impossible to move freely. Even if they are at the position where they can move, the natural obstacle called the forest doesn't permit freedom. If this is a plain, the result will probably be totally different. The attacks here are defended by the shield unit in the front row, worn us out with the attack of the long distance unit in the back row, and as a finishing blow, the charge unit in the middle row approaches and cut us down.

But, that's only when it's the plain. The forest is the field of we, Elves. The terrain that they can't move properly, and the attack from the overhead that they are not used to it. The counterattack doesn't reach us who made the trees as the shield.

Although there were soldiers who try to climb the tree, they are shot down before they finish climbing it. Even if they finish climbing it, all of the Elf soldiers have the "3D-Maneuver". Although there are not many Elves who have the "Space Maneuver", that alone is enough to move in this forest freely. On the unstable tree's footing, there's no way that the Elves can be defeated by the humans.

However, the opponent is the experienced powerful army. They won't keep on being attacked forever. They give up in maintaining the formation, the shield unit and the long distance unit reform into a two man cell. They return fire while hiding behind the shield.

The other soldiers who don't receive the shield's defense head to the tree while dodging our attacks. The number that was shot down is many, but we were pushed by the violence of number, the place where we are forced to do combat on the tree increased.

I observe such a progress of battle, and order retreat without overdoing it at the disadvantageous place. Although my personal purpose is to take my former student's head, the purpose as the whole Elves is the stalling until the barrier restores. If I think about the opponent's number and the advantage in terrain, I think that it's the best to wear out the opponent while retreating slowly.

However, in the communication from the detached force, there's a report that they are being overwhelmed by a non-standard magician. There's also the unit that the communication was cut off before I know it. My unit is doing well, as a whole, it can be said that we are overwhelming them, but a part seemed to be overwhelmed. However, as expected, I have my hands full about my own unit. I will entrust that to Potimas who's in the base.

Despite being my father, that man's true character can't be known. Surely, he has prepared one or two hidden-ball play.

Like that, I continued commanding, and I finally found the figure. Yuugo Van Rengzand. My student who has the name called Natsume Kengo before. The former student who has strayed from the right path, no, the former student who I have let him to stray from the right path.

I can't say anything about Shun-kun. I am not resolved yet at the last moment. Surely, if I kill him, I will definitely be disqualified as a teacher. Although I might be disqualified as a teacher now, it's certain that I will exceed the last line.

But, I must do it. That's the last thing that Sensei can do to Natsume-kun as a teacher.

It might be my ego. I don't say to forgive me. But still, I will kill you.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Elf Village Battle 6

Elf Village Battle 6. Oka vs Natsume. Yuugo's Seven Sins skill.

Elf Village Battle ⑥

【Firimes】

I throw away the hesitation. I shoot the magic of the maximum firepower aiming at Yuugo. The magic of "Heaven Wind LV4", 「Dragon Wind」

This magic is a magic that generates a tornado if I say it. Although it might seem to be plain when it's heard so, the thing called tornado is actually a natural disaster in Earth. There was not so much tornado damage in Japan, but it's a frightening phenomenon that blows off the house in America.

People, etc, are easily swallowed by the storm. If it's a person that's as strong as Shun-kun or a brutal monster that's more than the danger degree A class, it might be possible to prevent it. However, Yuugo loses all the skills once, and his status also falls. Although years passed since that time, he can't regain his former strength even if start over again.

I know that he has the Seven Sins skill. But, the skill that Yuugo has is 『Lust』. According to the Elves' record, the "Lust" skill has a brainwash ability. It seems to give a strong brainwash to the extent that it's dreadful, but it's not a direct combat skill. Although his status might increase to some extent by the title, that's all. He can't endure my magic.

The tornado swallows the soldiers, and even their lives are swallowed. And, I approach to Yuugo's front.

「U, raa!」

It was dispersed by Yuugo's sword.

What!? That magic should have the highest power among the magic that I can use! My magic offensive ability exceeds 1500, you know!? That, how?

「Oka-chaaan! I wanted to meet you, you know? Though I didn't think that you're here」

Yuugo shouts. The voice is like he has gone crazy somewhere, and I feel madness.

「Even though I actually thought to greet you after destroying your hometown, snatching Sensei's important, important students, and pushed you into the depths of despair. Why are you here?」

I shoot magic again without answering the question. This time, it's a bullet of wind that aims at Yuugo alone. However, that's also repelled by Yuugo's sword.

「Ahahahaha! Like such shabby magic will work! Say, do you think that I will stay weak forever after my power is deprived?」

I judge that magic is ineffective, and I hold the bow. I can also handle bow as a minor one of the Elves. I endow "Wind Magic" to the arrow and shoot it. The arrow that's endowed with the power of wind, accelerates and flies like a bullet. It's like the bullet of wind just now that has an entity.

However, he avoided it this time.

「Mysterious, right? Do you want to know it? The reason why I became this strong!」

Yuugo kicked the ground casually. He shorten the distance between me with one step instantly.

I nock an arrow again and shoot it while retreating. Yuugo avoided it without knocking it off with the sword a while ago. That means he can't knock it off with the sword. Although it becomes a wishful thinking, I think that he felt that it's dangerous if he hit it directly.

As I thought, Yuugo shift sideways from the arrow's line of fire, and evades it. His advancing speed becomes slow to that extent, and the distance with me opens.

「Don't run away!? Isn't this the relationship of me and Oka-chan!」

I shoot an arrow. At the same time, the Elves who spread in the surroundings attack Yuugo all at once.

「What a joke!」

Yuugo blew off the showering magics and arrows. This is slightly unexpected. I order the surrounding Elves to retreat with Telepathy. It's very unlikely to stand a chance against Yuugo with odd power.

「Let's continue the talk! I am thankful to you, you know? Because I have writhed in agony to the extent that I would go mad, the present me exist!」

It's not that you would go mad, but you have gone mad! No, I have no obligation to say it. After all, I was the one who drove Yuugo mad.

「Because of that, this power is obtained! You know one of it, right? The 『Lust』 skill, The best power that makes the opponent to move at will!」

I shoot an arrow. He avoided it.

「And, another one! I have the power to become the strongest! That's the 『Greed』 skill! It's the highest power that deprives a part of the defeated opponent's power! What do you think that why I'm in the front line? Because that way, I can kill a lot of enemies, and make those powers into mine!」

I was upset and my movement has stopped for an instant. The 『Greed』 skill. It's one of the Seven Sins skills, and it has the ability to deprive a part of the power when the owner kills others, The ability that can be deprived is random. It can be either status or skill or even skill points. As for the skill, it doesn't deprive the skill of the opponent as it is, but it should deprive it in the state that the level fell. Even if a level 9 skill is deprived, it should fall to level 1.

That's why. The reason why Yuugo continue to chase me without using a long distance attack while having the status to dodge my magic easily is because. Not because Yuugo don't use long distance attack, but it's probably that he can't. Even if he deprive a magic skill, it would return to level 1. The level 1 magic is not significant, and even if he use it, there's hardly any effect.

No. Such a thing is not important now. The important one is that Yuugo acquires the power more than before, using the skill.

How many lives did he take? How many crimes did he repeat to regain such power?

It's an instant that I stopped moving. But, Yuugo shortens the distance in that instant, and brandishes his sword.

「Here!」 「Ku!?!」

The swung sword penetrates the armor of wind that I always wear, and slashes my arm shallowly. I spark an explosion of wind between Yuugo at once, and take distance by the recoil. Although I also receive damage, I am disadvantageous in close combat.

「Not bad」

On the other hand, Yuugo has no remarkable damage. I shoot an arrow without minding it. Yuugo avoids it easily.

However, the preparation was completed. I didn't shoot the arrows without a plan. If Yuugo is conscious, he would understood that I run like drawing a circle.

The arrows that stick on the ground are the origin that generates the barrier. Although the output is lower than the one that covered the village, it's the barrier that I imitate the ancient technique that can't be reproduced by the skill.

Yuugo is left behind in the barrier. I didn't just shut him. Air comes out of the inside of the barrier rapidly. To manipulate wind means that to move air. And, although I tend to think that this world is variously different from the Earth, the thing called oxygen exists properly. The law of this world is not different from the law of the Earth that we know, and by the having the new laws like magic, skill, etc added to the law, it just looks different.

Therefore, it's the same as the Earth that a person can't live without air. Although the barrier doesn't change form, the atmospheric pressure will change suddenly if the inside air comes out. The human body can't endure the change, and even if it's endured, the person will die sooner or later by lack of oxygen. This is the original magic that I developed individually.

Although Yuugo tries to destroy the barrier desperately, it's useless. Even though the output is low, it's the reproduction of the barrier in the ancient time. I can't activate it if I don't be reckless, but it's the end if I activate it, and the barrier will never break.

I won. Yes, I have been careless.

The thunder pierced me from the side.

「Ka, ha!？」

My consciousness flies for an instant. At the same time, the maintenance of the barrier becomes negligent. Yuugo didn't overlook the chance.

「Hahaha! That was close! That was really close, you know!? Nice, Yuri!」

Yuugo destroys the barrier, and praises the opponent who used the magic of thunder to me. Yuri-chan who smiled was there. When Yuugo was announced as the Hero, she was also announced as the Saint. If it's the Saint who's the Hero's attendant, it's not strange even if she's in this place. Rather, it's unnatural for her to not be here.

I was careless. I only pay too much attention to Yuugo, and became negligent to the surroundings. With this, I can't make light of Yuugo.

Yuugo swing down the sword without mercy to me who stopped moving because I became numb by the thunder. Although I somehow dodge it barely, the part of my stomach is cut deeply without being able to dodge every swing.

It hurts! It hurts! It hurts!

「You sure give me a hard time. But, it's my win. Kukuku. I won't kill you. Because after this, I must have the downfall of the Elves burnt into your memory! What should I do with the people in our class? If they want to cooperate, I can add them into my subordinates though. Should I torture the one who resist in front of Oka-chan? I'm sure that you will have a nice face at that time, right? Ahahahaha! I'm looking forward for it, oi!?」

Please stop it! I must stop him. But, my body doesn't move properly because of the pain. Yuri-chan pushes down my body to the ground.

「What a good state. It's opposite to that time. How is it? The feeling of crawling on the ground? You're uneasy about what's going to happen after this, right? It's hopeless, right? I won't brainwash you. I will push you down into the depths of despair while you're sane and torment you until your heart breaks!」

It hurts. I am scared. It's already no use. I can't stand it anymore. I can't endure it anymore. Someone, please help me. Someone, please save me.

Yuri-chan who got on me blew off. The shadow that slashes at Yuugo. Yuugo withdraws to the back at once and evades it.

In front of me, the man who held a shield stands in the way. In front of Yuugo, the boy who held a sword stands in the way.

「I was late, Sensei」 「Leave it to us」

At the end of the words, I fainted.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Elf Village Battle 7

Elf Village 7.

Elf Village Battle ⑦

【Potimas】

「Did it come?」「Y-Yes」「Intercept them. Take that out」「Understood. The number?」「All」「Pardon?」「Take out all」「All?」「Yeah. Scatter that in every direction except the vicinity where Firimes and the Hero are」「However, isn't that excessive forces?」「The cause that the barrier was broken is unknown. And, if my thought is right, it's lack of forces oppositely」

【Ronant】

「What is this?」

I said so instinctively. There was a strange thing there.

『Impossible to appraise』

This is the second time in my life that the "Appraisal" failed. The first time is that person. However, at that time, it was not 『Impossible to appraise』, but it should have displayed 『Appraisal was obstructed』. In other words, this one in front is an unknown thing that's the first time in my life to encounter.

Several things like destroyed metal armor fell down in front of me.

"Like" is because it was the shape that clearly doesn't assume a person to wear it. There are four arms and four feet. At this point, it's strange. Ha!? Eight feet!? Does it respect that person!?

No, that's no. Such boorish thing can't express that person's beauty. If this imitated the figure of that person, the contempt is extreme.

However, what on earth is this? Although it's destroyed, did it move before it was destroyed?

It's said that the 「Puppeteer」 title comes to be able to manipulate puppet at will using the "Telekinesis" skill, etc, but is this one kind of the puppet? The title called Puppeteer itself is rare, and because I have never seen the real thing, I can't say a certain thing.

However, the things that were destroyed like this scattered here means that there's someone who passed through here earlier than us. The person must be the one who destroyed the barrier. Although interest boils to the puppet that I have not seen before, we should hurry to pursue the person now.

It was really only a chance that I was able to avoid it. No, I didn't avoid it. I only changed my feeling and stood up from the posture of sitting down and looked at the puppet. I was only saved by the movement accidentally.

At the moment when I stood up while bending my waist, something passed through the front of my stomach. My body blows off to the back just by the shock. The position that the something passed was the place where I sat just before, and it's exactly aiming at the head.

「Teacher!?!」 「Withdraw!」

I roll on the ground with the blown off momentum. The voice that urge withdrawal is also in vain, and my subordinates blow off while bursting blood. It was exactly a scene according to the word "burst".

My subordinates' limbs blow off, and the bodies become hollow. Whenever something mysterious that can't be seen passes through, my subordinates die miserably.

I look at the point where the something will come flying. There was a thing similar to the puppet just now that had not been destroyed yet there. The something seems to fly out from the strange cylinder shape that's equipped on the puppet's arm.

I shoot magic towards the puppet immediately. I don't go easy at all. However, the puppet evaded the arrow of fire shot by me easily.

This is bad. That puppet is clearly stronger than me.

「All members, withdraw!」

I shout only that somehow. Although I don't know how many subordinate survived, anyway, the damage will become more serious than now if we fight that puppet directly. Although they are foolish apprentices, I want many of them to survive even one person.

And, I will destroy that puppet that took the lives of the apprentices even if it costs this life.

I construct magic. The foundation of magic that I continued to polish earnestly after I met that person in my lifetime. Because it's the foundation, it's the secrets. The created arrow of flame is dozens. I place all of those under control, and shoot it.

The arrows of flame that come flying at high speed. However, the puppet dodge more than half. And, the remaining ones that hit directly don't seem to deal a significant damage.

The defensive ability is high precisely because it imitates the armor. In addition, the mobility that moves at high speed. The mysterious attack that's invisible to my eyes. Strong. It might be strong next to that person among the one that I fought so far.

Transfer. I go to the puppet's back.

I construct magic immediately. I freeze the puppet's feet. And, the shock wave by the "Wind Magic" of pursuit.

The frozen Puppet's feet half break. Still, it's half. But, it's half. With this, the mobility should fall considerably.

The puppet's arms turn back like it ignores the movement of the joints. At the moment I got startled, I kick the ground and jump sideways. Because it's a puppet, something like joints can be tampered in any way. It can't be understood until I see it with my own eyes.

The price is my right arm and both legs. I was not able to finish avoid it.

However, I won't be defeated for free. I endure the pain, and construct magic. I complete the magic before the puppet points the cylinder at me again.

"Hell Flame Magic LV4", Heat Haze. The small fireball of the size approximately of the fist. It hits the puppet's body. The effect is instant. But, the flame burns down everything.

Heat Haze is the magic that compressed the power of enormous flame to small. The highest rank magic that's my best forte. The tough body of the puppet is burnt before the Heat Haze, melt and is destroyed completely.

I did it. The smile that I had was drawn in the next moment.

In my view, I saw the several same puppets moved.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Elf Village Battle 8

Elf Village Battle 8.

Elf Village Battle ⑧

【Shun】

There was a sign that Sensei lost consciousness at the back. Although the wound is deep, it should not be a fatal wound.

「Anna, Sensei's treatment」 「Understood」

Because I rushed in a hurry, Anna who pants seem to be worsened, but it can't be helped. I observed the state of the front line with "Clairvoyance". And, when I saw Yuugo appeared, I rushed immediately. Although it's a selfish action disregarding the Elves' instructions, killing Yuugo here has a big meaning. And, I want them to cancel my arbitrary act because of that. In addition, I thought that only Yuugo who I must bring it to an end by my hands.

「Hyrinth-san, please protect Sensei and Anna」 「Understood」

Hyrinth-san consents briefly. Usually, he would stop me if I fight with the enemy's general alone. But, I can't yield only this time. I think that Hyrinth-san understood it.

「Then, I will be Yuri's opponent」 「Katia, Yuri is」 「I know it. She's the same as me before. I won't kill her」

Complicated feelings were able to grasped on Katia's face. The anger towards Yuugo. The pity towards Yuri. Not only that, but Yuri's appearance might be seen as her former self. As the body that has been brainwashed by Yuugo. If something was different, it might be just reverse that stood next to me.

Katia should have an extraordinarily strong thought against Yuugo. But, she suppressed it, and handed it over to me. I won't waste that will.

「Ah ah ah. Not only Oka-chan, but you're also here」 「Ah, In order to defeat you」 「Ha! How funny. You? Me? There's no way you can!!」

The pressure that seems to rule this place gushes out of Yuugo's body. I appraise Yuugo while holding the sword.

『Human LV61 Name Yuugo Van Rengzand Status HP:3169／4831 (Green) (Details) MP:1542／1711 (Blue) (Details) SP:2577／2577 (Yellow) (Details) :2663／3255 (Red)+0 (Details) Average Offensive Ability:3889 (Details)+400 Average Defensive Ability:1255 (Details)+400 Average Magic Ability:998 (Details)+200 Average Resistance Ability:2384 (Details)+200 Average Speed Ability:2939 (Details)+400 Skill 「Automatic HP Recovery LV6」 「MP Recovery Speed LV2」 「MP Consumption Down LV2」 「SP Recovery Speed LV7」 「SP Consumption Down LV7」 「Magic Perception LV3」 「Magic Manipulation LV2」 「Magic God Act LV2」 「Magic Granting LV2」 「Offensive Magic Power LV1」 「Enhanced Destruction LV4」 「Enhanced Slashing LV4」 「Enhanced Blunt LV2」 「Enhanced Piercing LV1」 「Enhanced Shock LV1」 「Heresy Attack LV4」 「War God Spirit LV2」

「Vitality Granting LV2」 「Vitality Attack LV5」 「Sword Genius LV4」 「Throw LV2」 「3D-Maneuver LV2」 「Cooperation LV2」 「Command LV4」 「Concentration LV10」 「Thought Acceleration LV3」 「Prediction LV1」 「Calculation Processing LV1」 「Memory LV1」 「Accuracy LV8」 「Evasion LV8」 「Stealth LV3」 「Silent LV1」 「Odorless LV1」 「Appraisal LV10」 「Conquest」 「Stupefaction」 「Water Magic LV1」 「Thunder Magic LV1」 「Grudge Magic LV1」 「Heresy Magic LV2」 「Demon King LV1」 「Dignity LV2」 「Rage LV4」 「Overeating LV3」 「Greed」 「Lust」 「Destruction Resistance LV1」 「Blunt Resistance LV2」 「Slash Resistance LV2」 「Abnormal Condition Resistance LV3」 「Heresy Resistance LV4」 「Pain Resistance LV7」 「Enhanced Vision LV3」 「Enhanced Hearing LV2」 「Enhanced Smell LV2」 「Enhanced Taste LV2」 「Enhanced Touch LV2」 「Divinity Area Expansion LV3」 「Destiny LV10」 「Magic Well LV2」 「Agility LV5」 「Endurance LV5」 「Herculean Strength LV8」 「Solid LV4」 「Magician LV2」 「Protection LV2」 「Dash LV9」 「Taboo LV9」 「n%I=W」 Skill points: 217 Title 「Monster Killer」 「Ruler of Greed」 「Ally Killer」 「Human Killer」 「Ruler of Lust」 「Human Slaughterer」 「Merciless」 「Monster Slaughterer」 「Master of Frenzy」 「Conqueror」 「Leading One」 「King」 』

Irregular status. Although it's low overall, there's a lot of skills. The skill points of the halfway figure with odd amount. This is the power that Yuugo scraped up by "Greed". The partly strong skills are probably acquired by the effect of the title. The skills acquired by the Ruler of Lust and Greed titles would be powerful, and there's a title called Master of Frenzy that I have never seen before.

And, the one that catch my eyes is the "Demon King" skill. The "Demon King" and "Hero" skills can be acquired either by using a large amount of skill points or by skill proficiency. Because Yuugo calls himself as the Hero, I don't think that he will acquire the "Demon King" skill purposely. In other words, Yuugo acquired the "Demon King" skill by skill proficiency.

Even I don't know how to gain the skill proficiency to acquire the "Demon King" skill. However, it's said that the "Hero" skill might be acquired if a person take the action that seems like it. In fact, Hyrinth-san said that he acquired the "Hero" skill by skill proficiency. In other words, the "Demon King" skill that pairs with the "Hero" probably has the same condition as the "Hero". And, Yuugo achieved it. He has achieved it.

I raise my status by activating "War God Spirit" and "Magic God Act", and I focus on Yuugo. In that face, there's a smile that went mad. It seems that it's impossible to go back anymore.

I pointed the sword to such a former classmate calmly.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Elf Village Battle 9

Elf Village Battle 9.

Elf Village Battle ⑨

【Katia】

The magic of thunder that Yuri shoots. But, even so, it doesn't reach me too. The Dragon Killer title that I obtained when the Earth Dragon is defeated in the Elro Great Labyrinth. The skill called "Dragon Power" by the title has the effect of raising the status and obstructing magic when it's activated. Although it's inferior to the magic obstruction effect that a genuine Dragon has, it's enough to prevent low rank magic.

And, at this moment, Yuri mainly uses the low rank magics that have fast activation to prevent my approach. Yuri's status should be high as she became the Saint, but if it's said, I should be considerably strong among the reincarnated people too. I seem to have the advantage as there's the advantage of the "Dragon Power" skill.

Yuri's choice is not wrong. I'm the versatile type that can handle close combat despite being close to magic whereas Yuri is a magic type. If she allows the approach, my victory is decided. That's why, she abandon the magic with power that has long charge, and she choose the rapid firing for stopping me. But, that only makes the match prolong, and it doesn't become the factor to overturn my advantage.

I neutralize the approaching thunder with "Dragon Power", and come through it almost unhurt. The magic of thunder that's difficult to evade and defend would be a considerable threat without "Dragon Power". Although I didn't feel lived when I encounter the Earth Dragon in the Great Dungeon, because I acquired such a skill thanks to that fight, the result might be good.

Towards Yuri who's preparing to shoot the next magic, I shoot the return magic. As expected, I can't use the fire that's my good attribute in the forest. It's serious if it catches fire. The magic that I shoot is "Light Magic".

The light ray pierces Yuri's shoulder. Although it's a low rank magic with low power similar to the magic of thunder that Yuri uses, Yuri who doesn't have the defense of the "Dragon Power" can't prevent it.

Yuri who frowns in pain. In that expression, surprise is included. Did she think that she can win if she doesn't allow me to approach? I'm a versatile type that's close to magic, you know? I didn't train with Shun just for show since childhood. Yuri should know it.

But then, the me who Yuri knows is during the time we spent time in the academy. Although it's a short period, I come through many fights during the time, and become strong. Although the "Dragon Power" is the power acquired in that way, I feel that I got used to fight is big. There was always the existence called death nearby that can never be tasted in training in the Elro Great Labyrinth. And, the experience that came through it is the present me and present Yuri, and it might be the difference.

「Why!？」

Yuri shoots the magic of thunder while shouting. I neutralize it with "Dragon Power", and recover the damage received immediately.

「Even though you betrayed Yuugo-sama, why do you stand in my way!?!」 「I didn't betray him. I only returned」 「Don't say things that don't make sense!」

I myself have received Yuugo's brainwash. I realize extent of the effect. It's not a level that can be canceled by word persuasion. That's why, I decide to make her silent with ability.

The light ray pierces Yuri's body again. The light ray that flies at the speed of light is a very difficult magic to avoid it similar to the thunder. I fired it into Yuri's foot.

Yuri who's foot is shot, and falls down to the ground. Because Yuri can use recovery magic, it's insufficient in damage, but she can't regain the interval when she fell down no matter what.

I shorten the distance instantly, and pierce Yuri's body with the rapier of my favorite sword. Although it looks like a fatal wound at glance, I can stop it as I take her consciousness by the effect of the 「Hold Back」 I give Yuri the treatment of the extent that she won't die, and restrict her.

If I chase Yuri who escaped, a considerable distance will open with Shun and the others. Let's return immediately.

And, at the return destination, Yuugo fell down, and there was the figure of Shun pointing the sword at the front of his eyes.

Ah, as expected. There's no way Shun can be defeated by the power of the fake no matter what.

In contrast with Yuugo who's full of wounds from head to foot, Shun doesn't have a wound. He's really a cheater. Come to think of it, Shun was unhurt even when we fought against the Earth Dragon in the Elro Great Labyrinth.

「Did it end?」 「Ah」

Ah, using the man words has become troublesome by now.

「Still, still, it's not over, yet!」 「No, it's over. You can't defeat me」

Yuugo tries to move the body that doesn't seem to be able to move well, and falls down to the ground again weakly. Although I acknowledge the tenacity, it can be said that he doesn't know when to give up.

「Shun, give the decisive blow. You have the right to do so」

Speaking honestly, I want to give the decisive blow on this man. I was deprived variously by this man. Those will never return. I want to vent the anger of the loss on this man.

However, Shun lost more than me. If it's giving the decisive blow, Shun is more suitable than me.

「No. I won't take your life」

And yet, Shun says an unbelievable thing.

「What?」

Ah, my original words came out unintentionally. But, such thing doesn't matter.

「What do you mean by that? Don't tell me that you intend to keep this man alive?」 「A-Ah」 「Don't joke with me!」

Although I thought that this person is very naive, I never thought that he's this much!

「Even if you keep this man alive, there will be a hundred harms and not a single gain! He's a harm just by being alive. He should be killed immediately」 「Sorry, Katia. I understand Katia's feelings, and I don't have the intention to forgive Yuugo. But still, I will keep this guy alive. Live and make up for his sins until death」

Shun's eyes look straight to my eyes. A solid will was felt there. It's useless no matter what I say.

It can't be helped. Possibly, I might be hated by Shun with this. But, Yuugo must not be kept alive. I start to construct the magic in order to give the decisive blow on Yuugo.

「As expected, you're really too naive」

A roaring sound. A shock. I protect my face with my hand instinctively, and my whole body is covered in something. I understood that it was Shun's body. E-E-E-Embraced!

When the shock passes, Shun separates with me immediately. Ah.

「Who?」

At the point that Shun look at, the man who trampled Yuugo was standing there. Yuugo lost his head, and was trampled by the right foot of the man. Something like a small crater is created at the man's feet, and created the shock.

Where on earth did this man come from? Guessing from the situation, did he fly from somewhere?

No, such a thing is not the problem now. The problem is the man's identity. There's two horns on the man's forehead. Although he has the similar figure to a human, he's not human. Probably, an Oni. The higher rank species of the Ogre-type monsters. It's a dreadful species that has the wisdom similar to the human, and the power as the monster.

But, even that doesn't matter. I look at the man's face, and open my eyes wide in surprise. Surely, Shun also has the same look.

「Have I been forgotten after a long time?」

I, no, we know the man's face. Although the entire atmosphere changed, the look remains properly.

「Kyouya」

Shun says the name. It was nothing but our close friend in the previous life, Sasajima Kyouya.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Elf Village Battle 10

Elf Village Battle 10.

Elf Village Battle ⑩

【Sophia】

What should I do? Kyouya-kun has rushed out.

「Ojou-sama, what will you do?」

I want to ask that. But, I should say something here, right? After all, Kyouya-kun has gone arbitrarily, and I'm the highest in the position, isn't it?

Ugh.... The pressure makes my stomach.... Let's go with the strategy as usual here.

「Merazofis, I entrust it to you」

The leaving all to somebody else. Although I was actually planning to leave all to Kyouya-kun, he has gone.

Really. What kind of thing is it to leave me after his friend was found? There's no way I can command the army alone.

「What will Ojou-sama do?」

I answer Merazofis's question after leaving a space in a relaxed manner. Actually, I think about a good excuse in the meantime.

「The Hero is there. It's rude if I don't go to greet him as the Maou-sama's retainer, right?」

What the hell. I said it myself, and I draw back that this is slightly impossible. To go and greet the enemy expressly, which evil Four Heavenly Kings is that. (TL note: Not sure which reference is this. 悪の四天王)

「Indeed」 「Oh? You don't like it?」 「Never. Everything is Ojou-sama's optional」

Merazofis who lowers his head respectfully. I was able to deceive him somehow. Then, let's chase after Kyouya-kun.

I begin to walk slowly. I walk on the battlefield where the Humans fight against the Elves elegantly. Nobody notices such me.

While I walk, I confirm the present war situation. After seeing it with "Thousand Miles Eye", the central vicinity in the battlefield is in deadlock. The Hero is also around here. The right-wing and the left-wing are, ah, the Humans are almost annihilated by the Elf's robots. It can't be helped. If that robot is the opponent, the normal Human can't win.

Oh? That old man is incredible. The robot is being defeated. Oh? What is Master doing? Is the old man an acquaintance?

Well, if it's Master, there's no problem. Oh? Kusama-kun is defeated by the robots and is withdrawing. Well, Kusama-kun is not so strong, and just surviving after fighting against the robot is a godsend. Or did the Elves overlook him on purpose because he's a reincarnated person? Thanks to the "Ninja" skill, he's fast in escaping, so the possibility of escaping by himself is high. I can't say either.

Oh? Merazofis marches. Well, I wonder if it's a good time. Most of the Humans except the center are useless. Although I wanted them to do their best a little more, if the opponent is the robots, it can't be helped.

Then, from this point, it will become the three-corner fight of the Demons army, the Humans army, and the Elves army. Actually, because the Humans army is sandwiched between the two army will exit immediately, it's the Demons army vs. the Elves army.

Is Merazofis all right? Although he has the title of the Commander of the Fourth Demon King Army, he's real strength is considerably inferior to us. Although he's stronger than the other decoration Commanders, still, I think that it's severe if the opponent is several robots.

I will support him a little. Skill, "Undead King" activate. There's a lot of bodies just right, and I can't expect it as a force, but it can at least be a harassment.

The corpses everywhere in the battlefield get up slowly after receiving the power of my skill. Zombie. The movement is slow, and there's no ability when it's alive. If it's seen in ability, it's the lowest. However, because it doesn't have a soul, it won't stop until the body is destroyed completely. Even if it's stopped, experience point is not obtained because there's no soul. It's really an unpleasant ability. It stinks. It's disgusting.

I set the zombies' target as the Elves, the Humans, and the robots. I fix that those who die in the battlefield after this to become zombies automatically. With this, it's good. It will at least be a meat wall.

Oh? Kyouya-kun has killed Natsume-kun. Well, it's fine though. Won't the Humans who are broken from brainwash be a chaos now? Well, at any rate, Dustin-ojisama will do preparations behind-the-scene so that there's no confusion.

Well then, I have come near to the Hero, so shall I erase my presence and watch the development?

「Kyouya, is it really Kyouya?」 「Yeah. The real Sasajima Kyouya. It's been a long time, Shun, Kanata」 「Why are you here?」 「Un? Isn't that obvious? It's to destroy the Elves」 「Wha-!?!」 「Rather, as for me, I don't understand why Shun and the others side with the Elves. Anyway, you're probably deceived by the Elves' cajolery」 「What do you mean?」 「The Elves are the harm of the world, you know? It's insane to protect them. It's not too late even from now. Can you withdraw?」 「There's no way....」 「Kyouya, tell me in detail」 「Okay. But, Kanata, you have become very cute. I mistook you」 「Thanks」 「Ahaha. Somehow, it seems like talking with different person」 「I can't be the same in reality. The past and the present, the world where I live and the appointed circumstances are different. I think that it's abnormal to not change」 「Certainly. Oops, let's return to the talk」 「!! Wait! Who!?!」

Oh? Was I noticed? As expected, he's a Hero even if he's corrupted. Then, let's decide to appear splendidly here.

「How do you do?」「Who are you?」「Oh? Isn't it courtesy to give your name first when you ask a person's name?」「I'm Shurein」「It's good that you are obedient. I am Sophia Keren. Please to make your acquaintance」「It's Negishi Akiko」「Wha-!?!」

Why this man reveals my previous life's name without lightly!? I will knock you down!?

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Elf Village Battle 11

Elf Village Battle 11. The final part of the battle. The identity.

Elf Village Battle ⑪

【Shun】

Kyouya who appeared suddenly. And, Negishi Akiko named Sophia. Why these two people are together? The two of them should not have an interaction particularly in the previous life. Then, the two of them meet somewhere in the present world, and acted together.

「I am Sophia. I threw away my old name」 「It will be found out someday anyway, so isn't it better to not be pretentious?」 「Don't give me directions」

Former Negishi, Sophia who glares at Kyouya. Certainly, the impression is very different in Negishi of the previous life and the present Sophia. The previous existence that was taciturn, always looked downward, and brought on a eerie atmosphere. The present that has an arrogant tone, faces the front properly, and has Haki. Perhaps, if it's not said by Kyouya, I wouldn't know that it's the same person. There was no look called Rihoko in the shadow in the previous life at all.

「Ah」

Magic is shot towards Kyouya and Sophia. It's the Elves' magic. Both Kyouya and Sophia prevent it easily.

「Salvo!」

The man who seems to be the captain of the Elves shouts. In response to it, the surrounding Elves start attacking all at once.

「Please wait!」

My voice doesn't reach. Although I wanted to say that they are not the enemy, Kyouya has declared that he came to destroy the Elves clearly. Seeing from the Elves, he was a clear enemy.

「Hindrance」

Sophia swings her arm. The Elves' attacks are cleared away, and a red liquid is scattered from the arm in the surroundings. The liquid wriggles as if it has a will, and attacks the Elves at high speed. When I thought to stop her, it was too late, and the Elves who touched the liquid begin to melt while giving off a stench.

「Ku!?!」

When I turn around to the voice, I catch sight of Hyrinth-san caught the red liquid with the shield. The red liquid clung to Hyrinth-san's shield, and seemed to try to cover the shield completely. Anna and Sensei are over there.

「Stop it!」

I swing the sword at once towards Sophia. Kyouya stopped it.

「How light. Do you seriously think that you can cut someone with such a sharp sword?」

I'm sent flying by Kyouya lightly. It was the evidence that his offensive ability status greatly exceeds me clearly.

「Sophia. Isn't the one who fall at the back Sensei?」 「Oh? Is it?」 「Probably」 「Then, it can't be helped. I will stop it」

When Sophia snaps her finger, the red liquid withdraws from Hyrinth-san's shield quickly. And, the liquid scattered in the surroundings coils around Sophia's arm, and it disappeared as if it's being absorbed into the body.

I have neither heard nor saw such a skill before. What is it?

「Leaving aside Sensei, how about the Half Elf there?」 「I don't know」 「Then, there's no problem even if I kill her」

I have wariness towards Sophia who says a dangerous thing. I hold the sword.

「Ah, Shun has got angry. What are you going to do with it?」 「Are you saying it's my fault? I won't do anything. If he's hostile, I will just smash him up to the extent that he won't die」 「He's more or less my friend, you know?」 「Then, try persuade him. I don't care either」

Aside from Kyouya, Sophia is dangerous. This composure in addition to the unknown ability. I should think that she has a considerable strength. In addition, my "Appraisal" didn't work in both Kyouya and Sophia.

『Appraisal was obstructed』

I have seen the message only once. When I used "Appraisal" on Sensei for the first time. Sensei said that it was the Ruler authority. In other words, it means that the two people in front are Rulers.

Because I was cautious of Sophia, I was not able to mind the surrounding state. By a short shout, I knew that the situation changed.

At the point that I turned around, innumerable Elves attacked Hyrinth-san. All of them are the Elves who were half melted that were defeated by Sophia some time ago.

「Ah」

Sophia leaks a voice. It's this person's ability!? Shit. Although Hyrinth-san wards off the swarming Elves with the shield and slashes with the sword, the effect is small.

A sword is swung down to me who was going to support him in a hurry. Ahead of the stopped sword is the figure of Yuugo who lost the head.

『Zombie: The existence like a golem that moves by the ability to manipulate corpse of living thing. As long as the body is not destroyed completely, it will continue to move』

When I appraised him, the status is not displayed and only the explanation is displayed. Zombie, the identity of the thing that attacks us now. It seems to be meaningless even if we smash the head because the headless Yuugo is moving calmly. In order to stop the movement, it seems that we have to destroy the body completely. What a troublesome ability.

I blow off the zombie of Yuugo with magic. Katia burnt down the whole zombie of the Elves with flame on the side too.

I try to go to support Hyrinth-san.

「Ah」

An arrow pierced Anna's chest deeply who treated Sensei. The arrow that the Elf zombie shot, pierced Anna's heart.

Anna who's HP decreases very fast. It's dangerous if treatment is not given at once. But, the Elf zombies stand in my way. Hyrinth-san and Katia can't move because they are obstructed by the swarming Elves.

「Get out of my way!」

I cut them down, and reach Anna. At the same time, the fallen Anna's HP becomes 0.

I activate the "Kindness" skill without hesitation. I won't let Anna become a zombie.

《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Taboo LV9』 has become 『Taboo LV10』》
《Conditions met. Activating the effect of Taboo. Installing》

Something flows into me who succeeded in Anna's resurrection.

「Guaaaaaaaaaaa!?!」

My head hurts. My head seems to break by the excessive headache. But, when I writhe, those flowed into my head without mercy.

Katia burns down the Elf zombies, and runs up to me. Hyrinth-san holds the shield to protect us.

Although Kyouya and Sophia seem to talk about something, I can't understand what is it because it's impossible with the headache.

「Shun! Hold on!」

Katia gives me "Treatment Magic". But, it's useless. This is not a pain that can be relieved with treatment.

《Installation completed》

At the same time as the Divine Word's message, someone transfers. The person who transferred beside Kyouya and Sophia. I know that person.

It was a white girl. There's no way I will forget it. Julius-niisama's last opponent who Hyrinth-san showed to me.

But, why didn't I notice at that time? No, I can agree if I see the figure. Although it's hard to understand, the power of the recognition obstruction is applied in that person's surroundings. Such magic that makes people to only have the impression of white.

I didn't understand it to that extent in the image shown by Hyrinth-san. But, when I actually saw the real thing, I broke through the magic of the recognition obstruction and the identity rose clearly.

「Wakaba-san」

That was none other than the reincarnated person who should have died, Wakaba Hiroyuki. And, my consciousness was reaped by the headache, and I sank into the deep abyss.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 201

Chapter 201. Changed Ogre to Oni(鬼). While the Ogre(オーガ) is kept the same.

201 The Demon King and the Queen

The passage that connects the upper layer and the middle layer in the Elro Great Labyrinth. I was waiting there. I who's the Queen-in-charge, my present body grew up considerably. I'm no difference with the former Queen just by the appearance. Thanks to that, the passage that should be wide feels narrow. When I think about such a thing, the expected visitor came.

「Yo」

The Demon King said so and greeted lightly. Although I was told 「Because the Demon King is coming, run away」 by the main body, I judged that I should try to talk with this Demon King once. And, the Demon King who came over changed completely from the time when I met her before, and greeted friendly. Because I was killed without arguments when we met before, it's a great difference.

Ah. Oops. I can't talk. Ah, I forgot about it because I usually do a telepathic communication with the main body through the path of the soul. Although I had a feeling that calmness was added after fusing with the Queen, it looks like the carelessness is not cured after all.

『Ah, I see. If it's not Telepathy, the words can't be exchanged. Sorry, sorry』

The Demon King speaks with the Telepathy as if she saw through my thought. Did the Demon King have the Telepathy? Oh, well. If I can speak with Telepathy, it's convenient.

『So, which one is you now?』

It has been known that the connection with Maou-in-charge severed from us. In other words, the Maou-in-charge lost in the tug-of-war of the soul, and as a result, the Demon King acquired the initiative of the consciousness. It's thought so. But, the presence that I feel from the Demon King since a while ago is close to the Maou-in-charge. I was not able to judge whether the Demon King won or the Maou-in-charge won when I see the real thing.

『I'm both. That's the closest answer』 『What do you mean?』 『It's the meaning as it is. I feel that the consciousness of Ariel is pretty much strong, but I'm aware that I myself is the Maou-in-charge. In other words, the state that we mixed and melted together』

Seriously? Demon King Ariel has mix with the former Body-in-charge. No, I did expect it. It was not really unexpected, and I thought that there's such a possibility. But, when I actually see it, well.

『Too bad that you became the Demon King』 『Isn't that harsh!?!』

It's actually so. Where did the charisma when I met you before go? Ah, come to think of it, it's strange for me to speak with another person normally like this, huh? When I think so, it can't be think that it's another person.

『So, what will you do from now on? If you want to pick a fight with the main body, it's better that you stop. Because she is working immortality now』

『What's with that frightening work?』 『Keep laying eggs to mass produce the evacuation site』 『Ah. So that's the reason why she revived calmly even though I killed her before』 『Ah, oops』

The Demon King didn't know about this information. Damn.

『Ah, it's fine because I don't have the intention to be hostile anymore』 『Ah, is that so? If so, it's good』

Safe. Well, it's hopeless because it's already almost impossible to do something about all the eggs even if she know it.

『Un. Rather than being hostile, isn't it better to joint struggle?』

The Demon King smiles. I feel a freezing deep anger in that smile. Such a place is the Demon King, huh?

『I see. Well, isn't it fine? The main body thinks that she must do something to the world』 『Don't you agree? Although it looks like Gyurie doesn't notice it because he doesn't have the interference right, the world collapse will start soon. That must be evaded no matter what it takes』 『Yeah. Well, because the main body seem to have annihilated some army at a considerable momentum, it might be delay a little』 『What's that? Can you tell me in detail?』

Blah-blah-blah. I tell the story that the main body plunged into the war and massacred.

『Good Job!』 『Is that fine for you? It's the religion that worships you and your Master』 『It's fine. The Divine Word Religion is more decent than such people who lost sight of the essence』 『Is that so?』 『Yeah. The Divine Word Religion's Pope has maxed the level of "Taboo"』 『Seriously?』 『Seriously. Therefore, that can't be said as an ally, but that probably have the same thought as us to some extent. Well, Because that acts with the Humans survival as the top priority, That might not come to an agreement with us in the final point』 『Hmm? The way of speaking sounds that it's fine even if the Humans perished?』 『It's fine』 『Is it fine? I think that your Master will be sad if it's done though』 『I'm resolved. I seem to have changed considerably after mixing with a part of you. My way of thinking changed considerably』 『Ah, I see. I don't know whether it's good or not though』

For the time being, the action of the main body doesn't seem to have any problem for the Demon King. Rather, it seems to be a good job.

『That's why, I want to meet the main body for the cease-fire and joint struggle, but how is it?』 『Let me see. Wait for a while. I will confirm...』

Un? Um, this, don't tell me?

『Hmm? What's wrong?』

Ah, seriously? Main body, finally. I mean, this is unexpected.

『Sorry. I will disappear』 『What?』

There's no time to explain it, huh? Apparently, I will be absorbed into the main body by the main body's apotheosis. When it's this condition, the other Queens are the same too, huh?

Aaah. Well, it doesn't mean that I will die and I will only return to the original sheath, but will the existence called me disappear? Although I don't know what will happen to this body, does it mean that it will die when the soul comes out?

As for the Demon King, the connection disappeared, so she will be safe. If I had the time, I can guide her to the main body with Transfer. I'm sorry, but please locate the main body by yourself. I will cope properly at that time.

And, I was pulled by the main body, and I was extracted from the Queen's body.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 202

Chapter 202.

202 God

《Skill is reduced》《Status is reduced》《Title is reduced》《Skill point is reduced》
《Experience point is reduced》《D carefully made 『Basic Course of God』 is installed》
《Apotheosis finished. After this, you will not receive any system support. Thank you for your use》

The change happens in me slowly. That's the phenomenon called apotheosis that's fundamentally different from the evolution so far. The strength guaranteed by the system is lost, and reincarnate into the world only with my own power. Instead of that, it also means that the limited strength by the system is released.

My soul that became miscellaneous mixes slowly by my will. My soul divided by the skill called "Parallel Will" is collected into one again. A part of the Queen and the Demon King's souls, and the things acquired by experience point, those impurities are slowly digested and absorbed as me. That's not the state that's patching sloppily so far, but it's the absorption in the firmly true meaning.

All of them end, and it's reborn to the true me who lost impurities. And, my consciousness surfaced from the deep sleep.

I open my eyes. It's a white wall that comes into view. In a word, it was something like a cocoon. When I touch it, it loosens and collapses. Apparently, this was made of my threads. It looks like I shut myself in the cocoon while I'm unconscious.

When the cocoon loosens, it was the underground facility that's same place where I fainted. I stand up from the cocoon.

Huh? When I think that it's strange, I walk with two legs. Is it the influence of apotheosis?

I create a mirror with the feeling like the extension of the "Soil Magic". I look at the figure reflected in the completed mirror. The upper body doesn't change so much. The eyes only became strange.

In the red eye, there are four small eyes. What is this? I try to move each one. It moves just as wanted. And, in the eyes reflected in the mirror, many small eyes move around. Gross. Let's close my eyes usually. After all, if I use Fluoroscopy, it doesn't change even if I close my eyes.

Leaving aside the eyes, the problem is the lower body. I have become a complete human-type from the spider-type so far. Although I think that this is alright, I have lived as a spider all the time, so it's somewhat lonely when it disappears.

When I think about such thing, the lower body broke. Rather than broke, it changed. The two legs become eight, and the spider-type appeared. However, the eyes disappear. When I think about it, I return to two legs again. It seems to be a variable type. To be equipped with transformation function, I'm not bad. When I repeated transformation in amusement, I heard an amazed voice from the side.

「How long do you plan to play?」

Hello, Gyurigyuri.

「It seems that you really have reach the rank of God. I'm really amazed that you do it in this short term」

Well, I wonder if it's to that extent. However, what should I do? I can't talk even if I become a God because I have a community disease.

A smartphone fell with a plop.

『Hello. It's the Evil God D who loves everyone』

It appeared. It's the worst offender for pleasure. I understood everything after apotheosis. This person's personality is the worst.

『Apparently, Kumo reached the God, congratulations. Saying this incidentally, because you have become a God, I can't read your mind anymore. So, with that in your mind』

Seriously? Alrighty! With this, the human rights violation will decrease, Hyahha! Ah, but the 「Basic Course of God」 is very helpful. Thank you.

The 「Basic Course of God」 has the basic knowledge about God according to the name. With this, I who have just finished making the debut as God can name myself as one of the Gods.

「D. Did you guide her?」『Although I only gave a trivial help, it's her own power that reached God. I don't particularly do anything』

Yes, a lie! Even though this person interfered very much, she uttered a lie calmly.

『It's not a lie. I really did nothing but trivial things. It's hard even to survive, and to reach the God from there is more than my imagination. That's why, it's interesting』

Ue!? Wasn't my thought can't be read!?

『I can't read it, but I can at least predict it』

What the heck.

『By the way, why don't you wear clothes?』

Ah, that's right. I'm stark naked now. I produce clothes using the threads. I put on the underwear, and for the top, I made a robe-like clothes. Because the lower body flutters, I can transform myself into the spider-type immediately.

『It's white. How about decorating it a little more?』

Troublesome. Although coloring is probably possible, the default is white when I produce a thread.

『Because you're a girl, it's a loss when you don't care about fashion, you know?』

Well, it's troublesome.

「Assuming that fashion, etc are trivial, what will you do from now on?」

Yeah. To be frank, the aim of becoming a God was accidental, but it has been accomplished. In other words, I'm equal to the Administrator. Still, I probably can't win even if I challenge Gyurigyuri to a fight. Even if we are equal, the length that we lived is different, and the accumulated experience is different.

The "Appraisal" is impossible. I'm already the existence that's disconnected from the frame of the system. I converted all the power of the skills into the power of the original soul, and have absorbed it. Therefore, the skills can't be used. Well, I can reproduce the thing similar to the skill by magic though. Because the "Appraisal" has a strong affinity with the system, I probably can't do it unless I hack into the system once.

That's why, I don't know what's my present strength. It's certain that I became strong to the extent that I can't be compared with the existence in the system by freeing myself of the system. With this, even if the Demon King comes, I can win. Hyaffuu!

「That talk, can I join?」

When I thought so, the Demon King really appeared.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 203

Chapter 203.

203 Uninhabited area

「Yo yo. Newborn Maou Shoujo Ariel-chan visit!」

Oi, someone retort her. The smartphone, silence. Gyurigyuri looks away quietly. I decided that I never saw it.

「Huh? Did I fail?」

Yes. A big failure.

Crap, this is really crap. Although Maou-sama has become slightly unexpectedly pitiful, how do you intend to take the responsibility? Me? No no no. I have nothing to do with it. I'm innocent.

「Oi, what would you do with that?」

Gyurigyuri-san, don't ask me. And, D, say something.

「Huh? I wonder what's wrong. Somehow, I feel that I'm being treated incredibly rude even though I just appeared」

Silence

「That's enough. Don't speak anymore. Just by you speaking, something in me complains of sadness」 「Isn't that harsh!?!」 「The harsh one is you!」

Gyurigyuri who weakened from the knee suddenly, and begins to do orz. Isn't he seriously crying? Well, when a person of the old friend relation changes into such pitiful state... I understand the feeling.

When I understand it alone, the revived Gyurigyuri grabs my head. Wha-, it hurts, it hurts!?

「This is something you did originally, right? How do you intend to take this responsibility?」

I give up! I give up! No matter how I take it, nothing can be done!?

「No, Gyurie, aren't you completely denying the present me inadvertently?」

「That's not it. It's just that I was only a little upset that the degree of pity is more than expected」 「I would be happy if you can use an indirect expression a little more though」 「The result of using indirect expression is the present words」 「Aren't you harsh!?!」

I who's thrown away. Gufu! My face was grazed hard. That hurts. Ah, because I don't recover automatically, I must recover manually.

「And so, why did you come here?」 「I thought that I should make up with Kumo-chan over there」

Eh? Ah, come to think of it, on the last time we met, she did say something about a joint struggle. Ah, that is the memory as the Queen that was in the Elro Great Labyrinth. Because the apotheosis has begun at that time, the conversation with the Demon King ended halfway.

Huh? That reminds me, why is the Demon King here? There should have been a considerable distance from the Elro Great Labyrinth to this underground facility. Did she learn Transfer? Ah, I'm also interested what happened to the Queen's body after that.

「Ah. Even though the half was the same person, when I face the real thing like this, I don't know what she's thinking」

How rude. I always repeat difficult considerations variously.

『Kumo's thought no.1, why is the Demon King here?』

OOI!? D, you really are not reading my mind, right!? The truth is you're reading it, right!?

「Hmm? What do you mean?」 『In Kumo's subjectivity, she talked with you in the Elro Great Labyrinth as the Queen is the last, but after that, when she woke up, it seems to be strange that the Demon King appeared here who was far away』 「Eh? Ah. She just woke up」 「Ah. Just now」 「Kumo-chan, it's already 47 days ago that I talked with the Queen in the Elro Great Labyrinth, you know?」

What? Seriously? That means, it takes that much time for apotheosis? Oh. It's not equal to the evolution.

「By the way, this is the first time that I talk like this. Nice to meet you, D-sama. I am Ariel who act as the Demon King of this generation」『Nice to meet you. Although I don't know whether there's a second time or not』

Un? The Demon King and D didn't met before?

『Thought no.2, what happen to the Queen's body? Thought no.3, is this the first meeting of D and the Demon King?』

Un. You definitely can read my mind, right?

「Well, the Queen is pretty much alive after that. However, because it's like a husk of soul, I only feel that it's living. It should be usable if you insert a substitute soul into it」

I see. Although I certainly thought that it will die, it's alive, huh?

「It's only me who have met D in this star. Even Sariel hasn't met」『By the way, he at that time shook like a newborn fawn』 Gyurigyuri frowns. That means, it's true, huh?

「There's not much chance for a low rank God like me to meet a high rank God like you」

Um, is D seriously a considerably great God? I certainly thought that she was a crazy, can't be understood, and mad God.

『Divine Punishment』

Goha!? Guoooooooo. Although it's unknown that what was done, it's certain that I have received an outrageous damage. Very painful. Even if I were to say where, I'm troubled that where hurts, but somewhere super-hurts. What's this? Is this the attack of God? D-Dreadful.

「Why this girl writhes suddenly?」『It can't be helped because her head is pitiful』

Oi. Why do you have a convinced face, pitiful Demon King?

「The talk doesn't advance at all」 「Yeah. I want to do a serious talk by now, but Kumo-chan don't want to make up with me?」

No no. If possible, that's OK. Originally, the reason why I pick a fight with the Demon King is because I thought that I might be ruled by the "Kin Domination" skill sooner or later. Although I have the "Heresy Nullity", there was an influence to some extent that there was a change in the mind. Now that I surpassed you even in power after the apotheosis that the connection of the soul completely disappeared, I don't think to fight forcibly. Thus, I nod to affirm it.

「That means yes, right? Then, don't you have the intention to joint struggle with me?」

Ah. You said such a thing in the conversation with the Queen. That's right.

I shake my head to it.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 204

Chapter 204.

204 Easy

「Eh?」

The stupid voice of the Demon King who didn't think that I would refuse it. Oh, well. Even though I put out an atmosphere that a favorable answer seems to be heard, it's a refusal when hearing it. It's like receiving an interview with a good feeling, and when the announcement of the interview is seen, it's a fail.

「W-Why?」

Well. Well, after all, I who became God don't have to be particular about this star anymore.

The reason why I aimed at the Administrator desperately is because this star will become bad soon. Because it seemed that every star will end up dying if I don't do something, I aimed at the Administrator position that can do something. But, when I actually became a God, I noticed that it's fine even if I didn't need to be particular about this star. If I feel like it, I can escape from this star anytime by using the space magic.

Yes, I can do it. Although such a thing was impossible by the Dimension Magic so far, that's the story with the limited frame called the skills. Like how the previous Hero and Demon King did so, it's possible to even to return to Earth by crossing the dimension if I develop the Transfer magic. Although it will take quite a number of days to complete the magic formula, at least, it will be completed earlier than this star collapses.

When thinking so, there's no need to use my body purposely to stop this star's collapse. Although there's the part that I think of the people in this star, if everything collapses, it's refreshing. Although I'm interested in the Vampire child or the other reincarnated people, there's no obligation to save them purposely.

Is this the influence of apotheosis? The anger to the people of this star that I had, decreases. Perhaps, the foundation of that anger flowed from the soul of the Demon King who's in front of me. Because everything was digested by the apotheosis and drank up, I think that the present me can judge without idle thoughts. Does it mean that I become closer to the former self at the moment I was born?

But then, it's not that I don't have any anger at all. There's the feeling of being annoyed. But, rather than saying it as the person concerned, it's like seeing a villain in the movie. The anger felt in the villain over the screen. It's a feeling of that extent.

Although I'm sorry that I throw it into confusion thoroughly so far, I will leave this star coolly!

『Kumo's thought no.4, I will leave the star and live freely now that I became a God』

Yes. My feeling is good-bye.

「You should give up」

And yet, Gyurigyuri warns me with a serious look. Why?

「The thing called star is mostly managed by the Gods. This star was originally managed by the Dragons, but they abandoned it. D is supposed to manage this star for convenience now. The jurisdiction of D who's the highest rank God means that the other Gods won't come to interfere, but the effect is lost if she leave this star. If we assume that the independent Gods migrate to the star where intellectual creatures can live, they will be repelled by the local Gods」

What? In other words, every stars have Administrators, and if I invade the star without the permission of the Administrators, I will be attacked?

『By the way, the Earth is my jurisdiction』

Ah, is that so? Then, it's the most comfortable to let me live in the Earth.

『I don't mind that you return to the Earth particularly, but there's about two conditions』

Uwa, I can only feel a bad feeling.

『The first one is to become my kin』

Yes, never! Never. If I become the kin of such ill-natured person, I'm sure that I will experience something frightening than death.

『I will say this just in case. Becoming my kin is considerably an extraordinary condition, you know?』

Is it? I turn my eyes to Gyurigyuri with a little doubt.

「D's kin, with that alone, your personal safety is guaranteed. Doing something to her kin has the same meaning as opposing D. There's no fool who will make a move on D's kin unless the person is an outstanding daredevil. D's influence is strong in the God's world to that extent」

Seriously?

『In addition, you may do as you please as long as you abide some rules. However, you must obey my order sometimes』

Hmm. When you said it like that, it's not a bad condition unexpectedly, huh?

『The second one is to cooperate with that Demon King』

Un?

『I want to see this story until the end. That's why, this is the first order rather than a request』

Ah. I see. What should I do?

The advantage when I accept D's proposal is the supporter called D is made. According to Gyurigyuri, this seems to be considerably big. The disadvantage is that I have to be under the supervision of the extremely troublesome existence called D. Even if I don't hear Gyurigyuri's speech, she constructs the system and her status as God is clearly far higher than me. To be frank, I can't win. Although it's my way of life up until now to escape with every effort if I can't win against the opponent, I don't have the confidence to be able to get away from this person. Then, it's better to jump into it, huh? But, it's D.

「Kumo-chan, if you cooperate with me, I will let you eat delicious things to your heart's content, you know?」

Un. Un. Un. Yes, with pleasure!

Well, please present that condition from the beginning. I will do my very best. Motivation max. Delicious things. Uhehehehe.

「Is this all right?」 『It's not all right. It's a big problem』

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 205

Chapter 205.

205 The Demon King who's accompanied by God

Yosh. Now that it's decided, strike while the iron is hot. Let's massacre both the Humans and the Demons.

「Wait. What are you trying to do?」

Don't stop me, Gyurigyuri! The paradise is waiting over there!

『Ah, she attempting to exterminate both the Humans and the Demons quickly』

「Do you think that I will allow that?」

Ah, yes. I'm sorry. Therefore, could you stop putting out the serious God aura?
That's severe for me who's a beginner God.

「Good grief. Ariel, can you really grasp this bridle?」 「Ahaha. I don't have confidence a little」

The Demon King who puts on a serious look suddenly after laughing.

「To be frank, as for this, I'm honest to myself for good and bad. I will do the things that I want to do. I won't do the things that I don't want to do. If it's the situation that my life is not concerned, I will achieve the things that I want to do by all means」 「Even if it's extreme, huh? How troublesome」

Um. Could you stop saying it like I'm a calamity? I can understand the words, you know?

『Although the words can be understood, you're a strange creature that mutual understanding is impossible』

Isn't that harsh!? No no. Why the Demon King and Gyurigyuri nod strongly there?

「It can't be helped. I will accompany her too」 「Is it okay?」 「There's no other way. It's only me that can stop this kind of people in this star. If she act violently as she pleases in the place that I don't look, it's a disaster. Because I don't even know when she will explode, I can only watch her always」

Therefore, ah, never mind. Troublesome.

「Yossha! I get two Gods as subordinates!」 「I'm not a subordinate. I'm a watchdog」 「Fine, fine. However, May I make Gyurie and Kumo-chan as my subordinates for convenience?」 「I don't mind」

I nod.

「Osshi. Then, I will explain briefly about the future plans. First, we will go to the Demons area and gather Demons」 「Do you have something that can be relied on?」 「Of course. I often contacted them after I inherit the Demon King title. For the time being, I have talked lightly to the veteran called Agna and the boy called Balto who gather the Demons now. Well, at the moment when I was going to appear in the front stage as the Demon King, someone of somewhere attacked me, so the progress stagnates」

I wonder who did such a troublesome thing. Really, I wonder who.

「Uwa, a lot of eyes are swimming. I'm feeling bad」

As expected, let's close my eyes usually. Let's do so.

「Returning to the talk, because I have said to prepare the Demons' armaments when I come out for the time being, when the preparations are done, I guess a war with the Humans」 「Is it a thing to the extent to start a war? On the other day, thanks to this person did it grandly, the number of the dead should be able to be secured, isn't it?」

A-Ah. Gyurigyuri doesn't know, huh? Come to think of it, the Demon King did say such a thing.

「Gyurie, the present MA area energy filling rate is only 3%」

Gyurigyuri opens his eyes wide to the words of the Demon King who has a serious look unusually.

「Impossible!?!」 「Even though it accumulates steadily so far and recovered to 71%, it has decreased completely. The cause is probably the previous Hero and Demon King」 「If the timing is seen, it's like that. But, is it possible? If such a large quantity of energy is consumed, even I who lost the interference right should notice it」『That's if the energy is used in this star』「Indeed. I see」『Yes, it's connected to the story of the reincarnated people that I told you. The previous Hero and Demon King remodel the Dimension Magic, calculate me who's the final person in charge of the system, and set up an attack. The MA area is destroyed, and the energy is used』

Un? Isn't what you saying now is different from before? Didn't you say that the MA area is pierced when they opened the dimension? When it's the present way of speaking, it's as if it's set that they will do so beforehand.

『In all probability, they consumed the energy aiming at me intentionally. They might know that the system will continue even if I die. If things go well, they might have thought of depriving my authority. But then, their greatest miscalculation is that the System Administrator was this me. Either they thought that they can seriously kill me by such an attack or they didn't know about me. It's probably the latter』

Aha. This person, she call the attack that used the energy more than half as such an attack. This seriously is not a joke.

「There's only one person who will do such a thing」「Yeah」

It seems that the Demon King and Gyurigyuri know the criminal.

「Potimas!!!!」

A terrible aura rises from Gyurigyuri's body.

「To what extent must it rot for him to be satisfied!？」 「Moreover, he's a Ruler. In addition, he has established the authority. If we kill him in the present state, the hole that became empty will accelerate the world collapse. If we assume that he calculated it to that extent and took actions, I have no choice but to admit that his guile works」 「Damn!」

The two people of the anger max state. Oh, scary scary.

「Well, that's why, an immediate reorganizing is necessary. Fortunately, because it should be replenished to some extent by the matter said a while ago, there's only a little delay. I will train the Demons by using the delay. And so, we will go to have a flashy decisive battle with the Humans. It's better to have a lot of sacrifices」

To the Demon King's freezing smile, Gyurigyuri had a difficult look and fell silence.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Oni 1

Oni 1. Start of Kyouya's story

Oni 1 Sasajima Kyouya

I had the inflexible personality than other people from the old days. I carry out the things that I thought that it's right. Although I have been said that I have pride or I have resolution in a good meaning, I think that I'm irritating when seeing from most people.

At the kindergarten, when the older children were trying to occupy the playground equipment, I fought alone and was trying to protect it. It's because they come later and tried to drive us away even though we were playing first. I resisted desperately, and made an older boy cry. After all, the fight was settled when the Onee-san who's the nursery teacher entered to stop us. Naturally, I was scolded.

Why I who did a right thing got scolded? I at that time was not able to understand that. Although I understand it now, the children who played together with me got involved and were hurt because I fought. There was the child who had cried.

The bad one comes later, and it's the older children who were going to seize the playground equipment by force. That's not wrong. But, was it right that I fought with the children? I still don't have the answer. However, I think that I understood that the right thing doesn't necessarily become absolute rightness vaguely at this time. I at that time only understood it vaguely.

After that, I brandished my rightness wherever possible. Literally, brandish a fist. I stopped bullying in the elementary school. I turned the tables on the extortion in the junior high school. It's endless when I give a small example.

I didn't particularly learn any kind of martial arts. But, I was invincible and undefeated even though it can't be imagine from my appearance of a low height. I was good at moving the body as I imaged it whether I had that kind of talent or not. Still, I might not be able to defeat an opponent who really learned martial art, I was not defeated by an amateur opponent. That was not good.

When I graduated from the junior high school, I was isolated from all around. I even got an unfavorable nickname, 「Imp」 I didn't intend to do a wrong thing. But, I think that it was not right consequentially. Well, it might be unrelated to the rightness when I depended on the fist as the solution in the constitutional state, Japan.

At that very moment, I'm at the puberty climax. I had a melancholia that what is rightness. Because I was already isolated in my hometown, I take the test of the high school in a little far place.

Then, I spent my time to not stand out as much as possible. Fortunately, the Heishin High School where I would go to has a calm school tradition, and there was no excessive thing like bullying, etc. Although there were people who spoke ill of Negishi-san behind her back like Real Horror Child, the person herself was not harmful directly. Rather, it might be a problem that some girls cursed Wakaba-san in an ostentatious way. However, because Wakaba-san herself doesn't seem to mind it, I was able to endure it.

The people who can be called a friend were made, and I was invited to the thing called online game by the two people. Although I didn't know much about the thing called game until then, it was fun to play with friends and I was completely absorbed in it immediately. The things that I did in the game are the vanguard attack and blacksmith.

I make our weapons with blacksmith, and fight with the weapons that I made. I made various kinds of weapons and changed the equipment frequently. Although I was told to unify the weapons by Shun and Kanata who I played together, there was a new discovery to use various weapons, and it was fun.

But, there's also unforgivable thing on the back of the fun thing after all. Ill-mannered players. The bulletin board that my feeling worsens when I see it. Such evil existed. It was not possible to be settled with a fist like in the junior high school.

I understand it. When I become a high school student, I at least know that there's not only right things in the world. But still, anger boils. I vent my anger in the game. I persuade myself in that way. Still, something like an unpleasant feeling remains in the depth of my heart. I'm really inflexible.

Like that, the high school life that I spent without brandishing a fist. If I knew that it will end quickly, would anything change? I don't know. Either way, I died. Although I don't know the cause of my death, I can understand that I died. Because I'm reborn.

To be honest, I was not able to accept it first. I knew the reincarnation in the light novel that borrowed from Kanata. When what I experienced would be the reincarnation in the corner of my head, I understood it while it's unrealistic.

But, understanding it and consenting it are different. Moreover, if it's a reincarnation in a different world where it's clearly not the Earth, it's all the more.

Apparently, the world where I was reborn is the so-called fantasy world. It's the world where the Goblin appears. Although I don't know about the civilization level, it's probably not so high, isn't it? In addition, there seems to be magic. I witnessed the moment using the magic, and I think that it's probably genuine magic if it's not a trick.

The several days of me who was born thought about such a thing vaguely, and spent it. Speaking frankly, I can't live on if I didn't sort the situation like every other people. In other words, escape from reality. But, I must accept it soon.

Simple houses can be seen in the surroundings. It's a small village, and the structure of the house is plain. The villager who comes and goes there. Well, not human though.

The body that's lower than human. Green skin. Pointed ears. Sharp cuspid. No matter how I look at it, it's the Goblin that appears in the game. Here is the Goblin's village.

And, I who was born in the Goblin's village. If I lower my eyes, green skin. Ah, un. I'm also a Goblin.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Character Introduction

Character Introduction. Not so sure about the Monkey and Huge Monkey part.

Character introduction ※ Spoiler warning In addition, the explanation may not be right because a lot of personal interpretations are included. -----

【Elro Great Labyrinth Upper Layer】

Kumo/Spider (Even this, it's the protagonist) The variously 'that' spider that explanation is not needed. There's no name yet.

Frog Kumo's first victim. The grand story of the frog won't start from here.

Centipede A lot. Gross. Scary.

Snake The first boss. Small fry now. Poor thing.

【Elro Great Labyrinth Pit～Lower Layer】

Bee Buzz-buzz. With the special effect to Kumo. Thud!

Earth Dragon Alaba The first despair. Like an encountering a secret dungeon monster at low level.

Greater Taratect Spider evolution form. Huge. Strong. Absolutely.

Monkey Troublesome guys who come out in large quantities while saying "What!? You wanna fight!? I'll beat you up!?".

Huge Monkey Troublesome guys who come out with the monkeys sometimes while saying "I'm troubled. You have done it in our territory. It's wrong to do a mischief."

Earth Dragon Kaguna The second despair. Raise your level and come again.

【Elro Great Labyrinth Middle Layer】

Seahorse The muscle-brain. It's not can win or not, but it's do it or not. But, pardon me from too strong guys.

Catfish. Mouth is big. Taste is delicious. slurp.

Eel Body is long. Taste is delicious. slurp.

Fire Drake Mid-boss in the middle layer. Because it's the mid-boss, there were not much highlights. It's not too delicious. Too bad.

Fire Dragon Rendo. Last boss in the middle layer. Because it's the last boss, it's strong. The Dragon that fought directly for the first time.

【Elro Great Labyrinth wandering】

The middle-aged man of the labyrinth guide (Basgas) A veteran labyrinth guide. He's actually quite strong. A cool nice guy.

Captain Knight A noble son without the succession right. Comparatively desperate because there's no succession right. But, because he's a green young man, he's ignorant about the common sense of the world.

The adventurers who are attacked by the snake The adventurers who were about to be annihilated by the snake. After they were saved by Kumo, they kept doing propagation.

Earth Dragon Geere Kaguna of the hardness, Geere of the speed. When they form a duo even the individual is troublesome, the troublesome-ness don't just doubles.

Arch Taratect Spider-type monster with the power of the Dragon class. Ridiculously strong. And yet, it sinks by the trap technique. Namu.

Earth Dragon Alaba. Revenge. As expected, you were strong.

The middle-aged man of the magician (Ronant) P-Please wait! Please show it more!

Buirims

Summoner

The summoner who enslaved the Four Gods(lol). The person himself is classified as strong among the Humans, and the Four Gods(lol) should be strong usually, but the opponent was too bad. Even though he returns alive with will-power, he's demoted to a remote place.

【Outside】

Seras

Lady

The lady who was attacked by the bandits. Mother of the Vampire child. Pious Goddess believer.

Town Chief The lady's husband and father of the Vampire child.

The middle-aged man with bad attitude The middle-aged man with bad attitude. The fool who sent the assassins if he's ignored after ordering in an arrogant manner. As for the result, he was assassinated in return.

Queen Taratect Kumo's mother. Eaten. Such a mysterious relation.

Babies What's with these excellent brats. The children who cared for their useless mother gallantly.They were made to work like a carriage horse immediately after they were born. Labor Standards Act, do your work.

The Earth Dragons in the bottom layer Confine the Demon King at the risk of their lives. Man among men.

Hero (young) The Hero who was in the battlefield somehow. Although the muffler that was worn around the neck was made from spider's thread, the person in question doesn't notice it.

Earth Dragon Trio The trio of Kaguna, Geere, and Fuito. As a result of raising the level and having come again, they were beaten up. Pitiful.

【Demon King Army】

Ariel

Demon King

The oldest Divine Beast. Kumo's ancestor who's the Origin Taratect. She lives before the system construction. She feels the world crisis, and bestirs herself. Immediately after that, Kumo who should be her kin rebelled, and after many twists and turns, she class change into a pitiful Demon King.

Balto The person in charge of practical business who moves the Demons substantially. The worldly-wise man who's swung around by the Demon King.

Agna The First Army Commander during the Human-Demon war. A Demon veteran who can be said that it's not strange even if he becomes the Demon King. It's said that he was connected to the Elves.

Sanatoria The Second Army Commander during the Human-Demon war. The Succubus of Balto's childhood friend. She tries to have a connection with the Elves secretly.

Kogou The Third Army Commander during the Human-Demon war. A Demon of Giant. The moderate opposition to the war

Merazofis The Fourth Army Commander during the Human-Demon war. A man with pale face. Calls Sophia as Ojou-sama.

Darado The Fifth Army Commander during the Human-Demon war. The General who's serious and obstinate. Pledged absolute allegiance to the Demon King.

Hyuui The Sixth Army Commander during the Human-Demon war. Child-faced magician. Because he's a Demon that have a long life, he's older than his appearance.

Blow The Seventh Army Commander during the Human-Demon war. Balto's younger brother. He has a rude personality unlike his older brother. He doesn't like the Demon King.

Wrath The Eighth Army Commander during the Human-Demon war. It seems that there are various problems.

Kuro The Ninth Army Commander during the Human-Demon war. A man of jet-black appearance. The identity is Administrator Gyuriedistodiez.

Shiro The Tenth Army Commander during the Human-Demon war. A girl of pure white appearance.

【S series】

Sue The half younger sister of Shun. A genius who's equal to Shun who's a reincarnated person. A Brocon of a little Yandere.

Anna. Shun and Sue's exclusive maid. Half Elf magician.

Clevea. Shun and Sue's exclusive maid. Act as a knight unlike a woman.

King Shun and Sue's biological father. Although he's a good person who's thick in emotion, he's ordinary as a politician.

Palton Son of the knight. He becomes the same group as Shun in the academy's extracurricular activity. Pledged allegiance to Shun who's the prince.

Oriza-sensei A magic-type teacher who don't have much motivation. Led Shun and the others in the extracurricular activity.

Leston The half older brother of Shun. The third prince. He cooperated with the Elves secretly.

Cyris The half older brother of Shun. The first prince. A man who has high pride. He's obsessed to become the king.

Goief A veteran labyrinth guide. Basgas's son.

Basgas The labyrinth guide who retired. He returned active to guide Shun and the others. A considerably strong man among the Humans.

Earth Dragon Ekisa The Earth Dragon that had just finished evolving. Because it had just finished evolving, it was in the upper layer.

Remnants of the Nightmare The monsters that have the appearance of the white spider. Issue words by Telepathy. They have a strange behavior that if here doesn't make a move on them, they won't attack. Very powerful monsters.

【Previous Hero party】

Julius Shun's older brother born of the same mother. Hero. Although he has average strength as the Hero, he's kind and had high will.

Hyrinth Julius's childhood friend. The Hero party's shield and vice-leader.

Yana The Saint who has been dispatched to follow the Hero by the church.

Jiskan. A former adventurer. He's the oldest in the Hero party, and contributes to the party by making use of the experience as a former adventurer.

Hawkin A former thief. He reformed himself, and joined the Hero party. He's well-informed about the back circumstances.

【Reincarnated People】

Shun

Yamada Shunsuke

Real name, Shurein Zagan Anareich. The fourth prince. Born as a royalty, and brought up in a blessed environment without inconvenience. But, he inherit the Hero title with his brother, Julius's death as a start, he's despised by Yuugo's scheme.

Katia

Ooshima Kanata

Real name, Carnatia Seri Anabald. The transsexual reincarnated person who was born as the eldest daughter of the Duke house. Is Shun's friend from the previous life, and a relation like childhood friend.

Firimes

Okazaki Kanami

The former teacher who reincarnated into an Elf. Alias Oka-chan. After reincarnating, she makes efforts for the students.

Yuri

Hasebe Yuika

Although she was an orphan, the rare talent was expected by the church and was protected as the Saint candidate.

Yuugo

Natsume Kengo

Born as the prince of the empire. Has the cheat ability as a reincarnated person, and hence he becomes arrogant. Rampages to the end.

Hayashi Kouta Dead (?)

Kogure Naofumi. Dead (?)

Sakurasaki Issei Dead (?)

Wakaba Hiroyuki Dead (?). A person like her appears before Shun in the fight of Elf Village.

Kudo Sachi. Chairperson. Protected in the Elf Village. Has dissatisfaction towards it.

Ogiwara Kenichi The person in charge of cooking protected in the Elf Village. He's actually a spy who infiltrated.

Kunihiko

Tagawa Kunihiko

A former adventurer, and was protected in the Elf Village just recently. He and Asaka are childhood friends and they are dating in both the previous life and this world.

Asaka

Kushitani Asaka

A former adventurer, and was protected in the Elf Village just recently. She and Kunihiko are childhood friends and they are dating in both the previous life and this world.

Sasajima Kyouya The previous life friend of Shun and Katia. Born as a Goblin. He appears before Shun in the fight of the Elf Village suddenly.

Sophia

Negishi Akiko

The gloomy girl who was backbite in the previous life as Rihoko. Born as a Vampire in this world. She appears before Shun in the fight of the Elf Village together with Kyouya.

【Other Key Figures】

Gyuriedistodiez One of the Administrators in the world. Dragon. Worldly-wise man.

Sariel One of the Administrators in the world. Goddess.

D Self-proclaimed, the worst Evil God. It seemed that she was in the same classroom as the reincarnated people. She's the ringleader who cause the reincarnated people to die, and she reincarnated them feeling the responsibility. However, she has the malice worthy of the Evil God.

Potimas The Patriarch of the Elves. Various dark stories don't stop.

Pope The person who settles the church. Hostile to Potimas. Taboo has reached max level.

The previous Hero and Demon King Both are Dimension Magic users. They modified the Dimension Magic, and set an attack towards D. The aftermath of the attack explodes in the reincarnated people's classroom, and the story begins to move.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 206

Chapter 206. I feel very tired today. Manage to translate 2 chapters only. Going to sleep after finish posting these two chapters. Don't worry, tomorrow will be 3 chapters as usual. I don't intend to take a whole day rest when it's so close to the raws.

206 Black and white

Author note: The Demon King's point of view -----
-----

Seeing Gyurigyuri who understood my action while has a difficult face, I'm relieved. As the persuasion of Gyurie was the first problem when I take action, it's a big progress to have succeeded in it like this. It's big that Gyurie became my subordinate even though it's only the form from the flow of the talk. With this, I can make Gyurie to work like a carriage horse under his agreement. Although his mental state in the heart is probably complicated, he will cooperate reluctantly now that he understood the necessity.

It can be said that I succeeded in winning the most troublesome enemy over to my side in a certain meaning. I was prepared that I might fight against Gyurie in the worst case. In that case, my defeat is inevitable. Still, there was the thought of "Oh, well", but if possible, I wanted to live and fulfill my responsibility.

I have only done passive action so far. I let the Queen Taratects in every place to produce subordinates, and let them cull it suitably. Otherwise, I placed a subordinate around the Elf Village and intimidated them to prevent them from having strange mind. In fact, it ended uselessly. I can't break through the barrier set at the Elf Village. Potimas understood it, and didn't even put the teeth on me. I fully realized it by this matter.

I was quiet for the excuse called to obey Sariel-sama's order so far while my former brethren made efforts for the world and died. This power that I took a long time to accumulate it. The time to pay the tab that I ran around so far without looking at the reality. I thought that if I'm defeated by Gyurie, that can't be helped, and if this power returned to the world, that's alright.

I didn't think that the another worst enemy contributed to the evasion. I look at the former worst enemy for an instant. A white girl expressionless from beginning to end. The beautiful features like it's artificial. Because she close her eyes midway whether she doesn't like the creepy eyes, there's the atmosphere that it's more artificial.

Hmm. Bishoujo. In the subjectivity as my former Body-in-charge, I don't have the self-awareness that I was such a bishoujo, but now that I have become another person like this, she's a beautiful girl when I see her again. Because there are some of my present features, she doesn't look exactly the same as the previous life, but still, an outstanding bishoujo. Why was there no awareness in this? It's mysterious even if I say so myself.

And so, even though I'm half of her existence originally, to be frank, I can't read what she's thinking. Her expression doesn't change, and she doesn't speak at all. What is she thinking? Or, She's not thinking anything? I don't even know that. When I thought that she's thinking about detailed things, she would be thinking nothing at all. The wave is too intense, and the prediction is impossible. Because she's faithful to desire basically, there's no problem if I tempt her with foods for a while. Well, Because of this unpredictable condition works, Gyurie accompany me, so it turned out all right in the end, is it?

「Then, we will begin to act, but for the time being, we will return to the Demons territory」 「Ah, sorry, but I will leave for a little while」 「Hmm? Why?」 「I will check the star again to every corner whether there's a surviving facility like here or not」 「Ah」

Certainly, that should be done. I also never thought that such a facility survived. I thought that most of such place were smashed at the time when the system operates. As expected, I don't think that there's another facility that survived similarly, but it's better to search for it.

「Then, I entrust that to Gyurie」 「Umu. When you leave here, you should destroy it completely」 「Yeah」

It may become troublesome if the Humans discovered it. Was it good or bad that Kumo-chan discovered it? Muu. Maybe I should stop calling Kumo-chan by now. After all, we're more or less comrades from now on.

「Then let's go. Wakaba-chan, or should I call you Hiiro-chan?」 「I hate both」

Hmm? She spoke!? Eh, oh, un? Ah, no, of course she can speak. It's not that she can't speak. Un un.

But, why does she hate being called by her name? She shouldn't have particularly any unpleasant memory about her real name though.

「Then, what should I call you?」 『How about Shiraori?』

D who remained silent till then breaks in.

『You're pretty much my kin candidate, so I named you the name as God, but how is it?』

After Kumo-chan thought for a while, she nodded slowly. Although I don't know what she thinks about it in her heart because her expression doesn't change, it seems that she have consented by the name.

「Then, may I call you Shiro-chan?」

Assent. When it's Shiraori-chan, it sounds awkward.

「Ah, then, Gyurie is Kuro-chan」 「Why it becomes like that?」

Gyurie answers what I said on a whim back as amazed.

「Tsk tsk tsk. Gyurie is pretty much the Dragon God that became the legend, right? Although your real name doesn't remain in the legend much, you don't know when you will be found out, so you should at least falsify your name」

I make up a plausible reason. Gyurie thinks about it for a while, and nodded slowly.

「Well, if that's the case, I don't mind」

Ah, he only gave up because this already become troublesome. Such part being weak in pressure is not good. That's why, he always become only the disadvantageous role, and as a result, he only fails. He does seem so though.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Chapter 207

Chapter 207.

207 Start

「Then, I will destroy this facility. You don't mind taking separate action after that, right?」

「OK. But, how about the time when we meet again?」

「You're at the Demons territory, isn't it? Then, I will go there. I will leave the preparation for the acceptance to you」

「Aye. I prepare even only the appearance when Kuro-chan came」

The conversation of the Demon King and Kuro is completed.

Waiting the time for it, and a voice is emitted from the smartphone.

『Then, I will also leave. Because I still will watch you as a mere spectator after this, please do your best to amuse me, okay?』

She says so, and the smartphone disappears with a poof.

Although it's a scene that I saw several times, I'm dumbfounded again by the Transfer that breaks the common sense after becoming a God.

Even though she transfers one smartphone, what an advanced technique she used.

If I try to do the same thing, don't I need to be devoted to the magic construction for about 10 minutes?

But then, the analysis of the magic might take years.

When seeing from the present me, I don't know what is it because it's too advanced.

With that alone, I understand well how high D is as a high rank God.

I'm marked by a troublesome person.

Speaking honestly, I don't like it very much that this me have to be under the supervision of someone.

Because the Demon King is only the form, it's fine, but a complete hierarchical relationship is completed regarding D.

I hated it.

Although I hate it, when it's said whether I can evade it or not, I can't help saying that it's difficult.

The status of D as God is higher than me.

In addition, it's a wide margin.

Even if the present me fight seriously, there's no chance to win.

I recall the time when I met with the Earth Dragon Alaba for the first time.

I at that time was weak to the extent that it can't be compared with the present.

Let alone fighting against the Earth Dragon Alaba, it's impossible even to run away properly.

The present situation is similar to it.

If there's a difference, then it's Alaba completely ignored me, but D has locked on to me solidly.

I don't think that joy-type transcendence heinous Evil God will let go the prey that she marked once.

If that's the case, the route left for me to survive is nothing but to do as D says.

It's really unpleasant in the extreme.

But, if I compare life and pride, it's obvious that I will pick the life.

Well, I'm still a kin candidate now, so she will not interfere to that extent.

I will do as D says until I can't endure it by all means.

「Yosh. Then, Shiro-chan, let's go」

I nod to the Demon King's word, and leave the facility.

After we escape from the facility, an earth tremor occurs, and the hole connected to the facility that I opened was blocked.

It seemed that Kuro begin the destruction of the facility.

When I think back, I spent a considerable amount of time here.

Because I'm unconscious by the apotheosis, there's no such thing like an emotional attachment though.

Come to think of it, the Demon King did well to know that I'm here.

Did Kuro contacted her?

Oh, well.

She's not an enemy anymore, so there's no need to mind it.

「Do you want to walk and return leisurely? Or, do you want to return running in a hurry? It's possible to go sightseeing if it's leisurely. There's money. After all, it will take reasonable time for Kuro-chan to finish the world check」

Mumu?

That's an attractive suggestion.

It's not bad to travel while enjoying the local fine food in this world.

The advantage when returning in a hurry is I can indulged in every possible luxury by the Demon King's influence.

Although it's also hard to throw that away, the gourmet tour is good.

Even if I came out of the Elro Great Labyrinth with great efforts, I haven't entered a town where people lives in magnificently after all.

If it's the spider appearance, it's impossible to buy and eat immediately.

This world's food that I have eaten properly is only the offering.

Ah, come to think of it, what happened to the Vampire child in that town?

More than one month passed since the time when I checked her, right?

I'm interested in the outcome of the war too, so let's peek at it a little.

The Clairvoyance is, err, was it like this?

I open my eyes and adjust the view.

Now that the assistance of the system is lost, it's necessary to do what the skill has done by myself.

I try to zoom up the view while remembering the sense of the Thousand Miles Eye skill.

Oh, this is good.

I extend the view all the way as it is.

Although it doesn't reach the speed of light, the view flies far at a terrible speed.

Because it arrived at the target town's vicinity, I stop it once there.

Huh?

Isn't it burning?

I move the view slowly in the town.

The people who run about trying to escape.

The armed men who pursue them.

The soldiers who attacked back, and are repelled oppositely.

Ah, an invasion.

Oufu.

Although I don't know what kind of situation it is in detail, does this mean the war still continues?

The equipment of the invading one is good things that can't be compared with the bandits.

I mean, it's a united armor appearance to some extent.

Is it the soldiers of a country somewhere?

Ah, well, such thing doesn't matter.

Is the Vampire child alive?

That girl is that town's town chief's child, right?

Judging from the invader, I think that the defeat priority is considerably high.

I look for the Vampire child.

Ah, there she is.

She's still alive.

Hmm.

Although it's fine if she drop dead in somewhere I don't have concern with, if I let her die after witnessing her like this, as expected, the aftertaste is bad.

It can't be helped.

Let's save her.

「Eh? What?」

I grab the Demon King and transfer together.

Ah, Transfer is difficult.

Although I succeeded, this need practice.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Blood 1

Blood 1. Start of the Blood series.

Blood 1 Negishi Akiko

I hate myself. Well, isn't it so? My appearance is ugly, and there's no merit that seems to be a merit too. I'm poor at sports, and I can't study well too. Although my family can't be said as poor, the economic condition that's a little lower than the average. With this, I don't have a special characteristic that I can say that I like myself.

Especially, my appearance. I hate this to death. Pale skin. Very thin body. If I looked at the mirror, the face like a dead person who's cheeks sank and had vacant eyes that looked back at me. If I open my mouth, the bad tooth of the uneven row of teeth. Only the cuspid asserts itself excessively in that.

Because of the zombie-like appearance and the long cuspid, the nickname given to me is Vampire. I was made fun since the elementary school by the boys, and I seriously came to consider people as nuisance in the junior high school. Bullying began from trifling harassment. The bad-mouthing intentionally to let me hear, and the backbiting that's whispered. If it's one by one, it can be endured, but if those accumulate, it will corner a person.

In my case, it turned into anger. Even though I'm like this, why are the people who have proper appearance like that? I feel anger in the born difference, and feel anger and jealousy to the people who bullies using that as a shield. That very dark feelings piled up in my heart.

That's why, it was inevitable that the incident happened. Judging from the group who bullied me, there might be no intention of bullying at all. However, they do it because it's interesting. Only that light feeling. The people themselves don't know how many people they hurt. After all, they didn't understand what will happen when it returns to them until they knew it with their own body.

The start was probably caused by the usual trifling bullying. A dust cloth was thrown at my face during the cleaning time. If I'm not wrong, it was such a thing. The thing that the pool that accumulated in me bursts at the moment. Rebuked as Vampire, I bit him as they requested.

I don't remember well the things after that. The boy bitten by me went to the hospital, and he attended the school bandaged the next day. It seemed that he would be dead by cutting the artery if one step was wrong. Fortunately, there seemed to be nothing in the place where I bit, so it was not a serious wound.

I was called by the teacher individually. In that case, the teacher's attitude was the attitude that doesn't even conceal the aversion like touching a swelling. I didn't have a penalty even in such a situation. For the school side, I think that they don't want the scandal that the victim counterattacked on the assailant at the end of bullying to spread. The boy bitten by me didn't make noise in particular. I mean, I don't know well about the things later.

Because an informal decision had already decided on Heishin High School at this time and I met the points for graduation, I didn't go to school after that. Although it might be not good in reality, the school side said nothing to me. And, I graduated from the junior high school without participating the graduation ceremony.

Let's make a fresh start from the high school. Although I decided so in my mind, the reality is not so sweet. My personality that I cultivated until then doesn't change easily just by the environment changed. The servile personality that I hate myself as usual.

There's no change in appearance too. It's only in 2D that ugly people can become beautiful by effort. Or, the foundation to become beautiful. In my case, I was not able to expect it no matter how hard I work. It can only be done with plastic surgery.

I have an unchanged zombie-like appearance whereas the surrounding girls grow up, and refined. I knew that I was called as Real Horror Child, in short Rihoko behind my back. Although I didn't mind it because I was more modest than the time of the junior high school, still, there was the thing that boiled in the depths of my heart.

It's Wakaba Hiroyuki who irritates my heart the most. She hardly takes communication with others in the same way as me. And yet, she receives the exact opposite evaluation from the surroundings with me. The difference is the difference of the appearance.

Some girls didn't seem to like it, and rant covered with jealousy. Whenever I saw it, it's like a mirror was shown and I hated it. Am I also ugly like those people? The answer is obvious. As for me, not only my appearance, but my inside is also ugly.

But, it's not hopeless. Then, what should I have done? Would my life be different if my face is good? The thing that my life was a mistake from the moment when I was born. Because the appearance is ugly, the inside is not ugly. Because the appearance is ugly, there's the environment that makes the inside ugly. The guy who says that "I don't mind the appearance" is merely a hypocrite. That's the conclusion that I gave.

I want to be reborn. To a proper appearance this time. It doesn't need to be a beautiful woman. I want to become a common appearance at least.

I didn't even think that such escapism was realized.

I'm weak in the morning because of low blood pressure. I often can't wake up for the first hour of the school's class . I couldn't support my sluggish body on that day, and fell on the desk. I hear the voice reciting Okazaki-sensei's classical literature like a lullaby. Okazaki-sensei is a good person who pays attention to me unlike my class teacher in the junior high school. I let go of my consciousness while hearing the voice.

When I woke up next, it was an unknown ceiling. It's not the school's classroom. It's not the school infirmary either. Although I fall down several times by anemia and have visited the school infirmary, it's different from the ceiling there.

When I try to stand up and look around the surroundings, it was impossible to do it. My body doesn't move as I want. There's no power at all. In the situation that anything can't be understood, there was something that jumped into view suddenly.

It's the hand. It's a small, small, hand. It's totally like a baby's.

I was confused.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Blood 2

Blood 2. Life as a baby.

Blood 2 Redo

I reincarnated. I was reborn. Although I was confused and didn't understand the fact at the beginning, I accepted the reality after a few days.

At the beginning, I thought that it was a dream. I become sleepy immediately, and the consciousness is fluffy to consider it as the reality, so I can't calm down. Therefore, I thought that this is the event in the dream that I was dozing off during while in class. But, as expected, there's no way that a dream that continues for a few days.

The present me is a baby. I sleep, wake up, and eat, and I release it, cry and sleep again. Such a life.

I observed the surroundings at the interval, and tried to understand my present situation. First of all, here is not Japan. It's certain. Moreover, it doesn't seem to be the Earth. There's no black hair and eye in the surroundings, and there's no electrical appliance at all. Although it's an atmosphere like Europe in the Middle Ages, the era like there are electrical appliances if it's not a remote place in Africa nowadays, and it's strange that there's no convenience of civilization even if it's the countryside of Europe.

Is this the one called different world reincarnation? The dead person is reborn with the memory of the previous life in a different world. Although I didn't think that such a thing happens to my body, it's no use even if I grieve that it happened as the reality now. Rather than grieving the things that happened, it's more constructive to think about the future.

In addition, I welcomed the present situation. After all, I was reborn. My new life that was released from that previous appearance. It starts. I can't help but to be glad.

I encourage myself that my parents are beautiful. As for my mother, it feels like has an Ojou-sama atmosphere. As for my father, it's the atmosphere opposite with such mother, a competent man atmosphere. Although both are unique, both are beautiful. If I have such beautiful two people as parents, I must be beautiful.

And, apparently, my parents seem to be the people who have high status. The room where I am is considerably wide. If it's only the wideness, it's absolutely wider than the cheap apartment that I lived in the previous life. And, there are some attendants. It looks like it's not the king, but it seems to be certain that they are nobles.

God must have given a reward to me who had a hard time in the previous life. A happy smile overflows naturally when I think about the life in the future. Seeing that, maid and mother who take care of me are attracted and smiled. I was happy.

The baby's sleeping time is long. Although it's long, of course, there's the time when I wake up. And, if it's the baby, I don't have anything to do. Somehow, I'm a nocturnal person, and the time I woke up was more in the night. As expected, I don't want to cry at night with the body that was a high school student in the previous life. Although I can't help but to be obedient to physiological desire, I hesitated to wake up my family and the attendants only for the reason that I'm free.

I use such free time to practice magic. There's magic in this world. There's a man who could use the magic of the fire among the attendants, and I witnessed that the person set fire to the lamp.

The boys in the elementary school and the junior high school imitate the manga and at that time, I thought that these guys are idiots, but I think that I understand the feeling of the boys at that time a little. If there's magic, I want to use it. I began practicing magic in order to satisfy the desire.

Even if I say that, I don't know how to use magic. I did various trial and error in the short time when I could stay awake while groaning. As a result, I came to understand the thing called magical power somehow.

《Skill proficiency reached. Acquired skill 『Magic Perception LV1』》

It was approximately simultaneous that I grasp the feeling of magical power and the voice was heard. Although not much time has passed to called it as nostalgic, the Japanese that's heard for the first time in this world. I look around restlessly, but there's no one. Even though there's no one, I feel eerie to the mysterious voice that I heard, and I can't fall asleep easily on that day.

The identity of the voice seems to be the voice of God. The thing called skill exists in this world, and voice of God seems to be audible when someone acquires it or the level rises. As a result of connecting the conversation that I heard in fragments and inferred it, such an information was obtained.

But, there's a sense of incongruity that the voice of God is Japanese. The conversation of this world that I heard is not Japanese. It's not English too. It might be this world's original language. From the fact that it doesn't sound like Japanese at all in fragments, when people other than me hear the voice of God, it should be the normal language here. If that's the case, why only me who hear it in Japanese? The one that be thought is the owner of this voice is the God that reincarnate me in this world. Then, it's not strange even if Japanese is spoken. I gave thanks to the voice of God that can be heard in my heart quietly.

Like that, I grew up slowly. Because it's inconvenient that I can't move, I began practicing the crawling early. Although I came to be able to do it comparatively immediately, because they will have doubts even if I began to move too early, I make sure that I don't move as much as possible in the presence of others.

I learned the language. Although it's hard to say that I learned all, I can understand the contents of conversation to some extent. I eavesdrop on the conversation, and understand this world little by little. The religion called the Goddess Religion. Culture and history. The status of this family. I learn them little by little. Both the way of thinking and the common sense are different from Japan. I compare it in myself somehow while feeling bewildered to the difference.

And, in the calm time, I enjoyed the life as a baby. The incident happened in such a time.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Blood 3

Blood 3. Meet the spider.

Blood 3 Encounter with the spider

It was the time when I gone out of the town for the first time. I was protected carefully because I'm the eldest daughter of the town chief, and have not gone out of the town before. It's decided to take me along under the pretext of showing me to the grandparents in the mother's home in the countryside.

The outside world for the first time in my life. However, it's not so far to the target town. One day of being jolted in the carriage. I arrived at the town slightly smaller than the town where I was born and raised, and met my grandparents for the first time there.

They are young to be called as grandparents. Well, mother is considerably young too, so the marriageable age might be early in this age. My grandparents were the nobles who governed the town too. Like that, we spent several days with my grandparents, and we got on our way back home.

On the way back, the incident happened.

We were attacked by the bandits. The number of the other party is six people. Because the number is little to attack the wife and the daughter of the feudal lord of the town, I can expect that it's an attack without plan. It's a simplistic attack that they attacked us because the carriage that happened to pass looks good.

The problem is we can't deal with such a simplistic attack. The number of guard here is four people whereas the number of the other party is six people. Although I heard that such bandit activity is becoming active from the rumor, I didn't think that they will attack in the middle of such a highway. I realized that here was the world with the common sense totally different from Japan with my body.

Even though the guards fight hard, they begin to be gradually overwhelmed by the difference in number. And, one person was cut by the bandit.

「Merazofis!？」

Mother shouts instinctively in the carriage. The cut guard is the butler who serve mother since childhood. They seemed to be the relationship like the childhood friend, and his loyalty to mother is high. Because mother is an natural airhead, she might not notice it, but Merazofis loves mother as the opposite sex. The feeling is changed into loyalty and he served mother.

Such a loyal retainer was cut. Blood spreads on the ground. The man who moved until a short time ago falls down and stops moving. The blood that began to flow looked like Merazofis's vitality.

Gulp

My throat sounds for some reason. I think that it's probably the fear that death approaches closely. If the guards are annihilated, next is us. Because mother is still young, she might be kidnapped. Because I'm a baby, I might be disposed quickly. Although they might make use of me for the ransom, I think that it won't turn out good.

Even though my second life is starting from now on after being reincarnated specially, will I die in such a place? No. I'm scared. I don't want to die. I still want to live. Someone, help!

Although it doesn't mean that it heard the shout of my heart, it appeared suddenly. One of the bandits fell while dripping blood suddenly. A pure white spider was there. A spider that's about 1 meter that's unbelievably big in the Earth.

I heard it from the talk. There's monster in this world. I thought that it was not strange even if such a thing exist because there's magic. But, the one that appeared in front gave me a realistic fear unlike the one that I heard.

Dumbfounded in the same way as me, the body of the bandits split in two beautifully with a swing of the spider's arm. The entrails scatter, and a ghastly scene jumps into my eyes.

Gulp

My throat sounds again. That should be the part that I feel nausea. I retort myself.

While doing that, the spider monster defeats one bandit with some kind of magic, and the remaining two were taken care quickly. I can expect that the Soil

Magic was barely used. Because something brown flew at high speed, and shot through the bandit's head. But, I don't know the remaining two. When they tried to run away, their movement stopped suddenly, and they fall down like that. I don't even know what it did.

The spider turns here calmly. Tension ran among us. Next is our turn. We who seemed to be defeated by the bandits. And, the monster that annihilated the bandits in an instant. There was no possibility to survive.

The guards point the swords to the spider. Their bodies tremble with fear little by little. They should also understand it that they can't win. But still, they try to accomplish their duty as the guards until the end.

The spider doesn't come attacking at once, and seemed to see our state. The cold red eyes look around the surroundings. The eyes are fixed to Merazofis who fell down.

The spider that approaches Merazofis. Immediately after having thought what it will do, the spider activates magic, and heals Merazofis's wound. Treatment Magic.

「Don't tell me, Messenger-sama?」

Mother goes outside the carriage in a hurry. Carrying me.

「Seras-sama! It's dangerous!」

Although the guard urges mother to return to the carriage, mother ignores him and approaches the spider. The spider turns around. I feel the illusion that all the eight eyes seemed to concentrate on me.

Chill runs through my whole body. I'm scared. What is this? Is it fine for such a creature to exist? The presence that seems to scatter fear just by being there. Does such a monster come out frequently in this world? If that's the case, I might have reincarnated into an outrageous world.

「Are you Messenger-sama?」

I remember the word in my memory to mother's words. Messenger, if I'm not wrong, was it the existence that serve the Goddess as the attendant in the Goddess Religion that mother believed in? The Goddess is accompanied by attendants of various races like the deep wise man or the green guardian remain in the myth with chuunibyou nicknames. Among that, there's the spider that sewed the clothes of the Goddess. Seeing from mother who believed in the Goddess Religion, does this spider that saved them looked like the Messenger?

I think that this ominous presence is the exact opposite with the sacred Goddess-sama no matter how I think. Somehow, this spider seems to be settled as the Messenger in mother. In addition, mother who give thanks and the scripture of prayer. The spider pays attention to such mother.

「Appraisal?」

Mother reacts in surprise, and mutters so. Is it the name of the skill? It seems to be convenient, so can I learn it?

《Currently you have 75000 skill points. The skill 『Appraisal』 can be acquired by spending 300 skill points. Do you want to acquire it?》

The voice of God is heard suddenly. While I lost consciousness for an instant there, the spider has vanished. Although mother shouted 「Please wait!」 to the back of the spider that ran off at a terrible speed, as for me, I prefer it to go away as it is. My body loses strength after becoming stiff by the fear.

《Skill proficiency reached. Acquired skill 『Fear Resistance LV1』》

Like that, I was able to survive safely. But later, because the spider settled down close to the town where I lived, a disturbance will happen again.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Oni 2

Oni 2. The Goblins.

Oni 2 Goblin

Approximately one year passed since I was reborn into a Goblin. One year in this world seems to be longer than the Earth, 400 days and a little more. However, because there was no convenient thing like the calendar, I didn't know the date well in the Goblin's village.

The growth of the Goblin seemed to be fast, and I have grown up into a kindergartner saying it as human at around 1 year old. However, that's only the appearance, and the inside is not according to it. I still only understand the conversation of the Goblins in fragments, and I feel that the moving ability is weaker than the appearance.

But still, it's certain that the growth is more faster than human. If it's a 1 year old human child, it's still a baby, but in my case, I can walk by myself. I think that this is a big advantage.

The first thing that I did after becoming able to move is search whether there's a former human of the same circumstances as me or not. I don't know what's the cause of my death. How did I die? Why did I reincarnate? Because I didn't know it, I thought that there might be a comrade of the similar circumstances.

But, it was a light expectation. Although I tried to search for the Goblins that were born almost the same period as me in the Goblin's village haphazardly, what I understood from the result was there were no reincarnated people similar to me in this village.

Well, it's not completely a fool's errand. Although I hardly talked with the child Goblins, there are various things that I understood by running around in the village. I knew that one year is about 400 days from the adult Goblins' conversation.

First of all, the Goblin's growth is fast, but the intelligence develops slow to that extent. Although the child Goblin that's about the same as me is a human kindergartner if it's only the size, there's no great difference in the inside with the baby. There was no child Goblin who could talk. Meanwhile, I who can speak even the baby talk seem to be thought to be a genius by the adult Goblins.

However, I'm not so happy. Because the thing demanded in the Goblins is combat ability, and the head is not demanded so much. Unexpectedly, the Goblin in this world seems to be a genuine combat species.

When it's my image, a Goblin was supposed to be weak, stupid, and dirty, but the Goblin here breaks such an image completely.

Weak. This is not necessarily wrong. Just the Goblins are weak and the life seems to also be short, and they seem to die immediately. That's if it's an ordinary Goblin. The concept of level seems to exist in this world. In addition, there are skill and magic too. Although it's totally like a game, it seems to be the common sense in this world. And, the monster who reached a certain level can evolve.

The Goblins are not an exception too. As far as I can see, there are the Hobgoblins of one size bigger than the Goblin in the village other than ordinary Goblins. When one evolve into the Hobgoblin, the life span extends until then, and the strength rises too.

Both male and female of the ordinary Goblins raise level in order to evolve. It seems that the method to raise the level is only to defeat other monsters. That's why, naturally, the Goblins becomes a combat species. This is because it can't live long with the short life span and the weakness if it doesn't evolve.

The next is the image of stupid. This also is not necessarily wrong. The Goblins are a combat species, and they are not interested in study so much. I think that it's probably me who's the smartest in this village. Rather than probably, it's certain.

However, it's not because it's simply stupid. They fight using refined strategy regarding the combat, and they know the way of efficient hunting well. However, it's only because there's no chance to learn, and their head itself is not so bad.

Rather, they who seemed to attain enlightenment like a certain training monk make me to feel the sacred air somehow when I see them. (TL note: Not sure about this reference) The stupidity and the inviolable loftiness that I can't ridicule there.

Dirty has a double meaning. The meaning called the body is purely dirty and mean. The Goblins that I imaged were weak, and even though it's stupid, it's cunning. But, the Goblins here are rather the opposite. They were the soldiers who retained noble honor on their chest.

A day of the Goblin starts with a prayer. Thank the world, thank the Goddess who protects the world, and thank for the daily bread. After giving the prayer, they are assigned to each work. The Goblins who haven't evolve polish themselves, and the evolved Hobgoblins engage in developing the junior's training. And, the hunting group with the power that can go hunt leaves the village.

This village is in the steep mountain range, and it's a dangerous place with severe environment and a lot of strong monsters inhabit. Among the Goblins of the hunting group, it's only half that managed to return. But still, the reason why the Goblin's village can continue is that the Goblin's fertility is high. Only this was according to my image.

The Goblins who returned are met, and hold a funeral for the victims. And, they give prayer to the food that they brought back at the risk of their lives with thanks.

The Goblins proceed to the death in order to keep the village alive. The Goblins left in the village hand the pressed flower to such Goblins. As a substitute for amulet. The thought of "please return safely" is put into there.

They depart for a life-threatening trip and return without forgetting the thought. To live. To keep it alive.

There were neither justice nor evil that I minded in the previous life. But, there was something that transcended it. I looked at the Goblins who left, and there was something filling my heart. I shed tears without knowing it. There was something at their back that made me do so.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Blood 4

Blood 4. Appraisal-sama RETURNS!!!

Blood 4 Countdown to despair

『Vampire』

I stiffen to the Appraisal result.

At that incident, I knew that I could acquire the thing called skill using the thing called skill points accidentally. I acquired the Appraisal skill immediately, and tried it in various ways. As a result, I understood that Appraisal couldn't be used.

Although I appraised the things that were within my visible range one after another, the words displayed were the words I knew if I saw them, like 『Bed』 『Wall』 『Desk』. Moreover, I had a light headache by appraising once. If I don't appraise continuously, it's a headache that won't cause any problem, but when I finished appraising most of the things in the room, I had a dull pain like having a high fever.

On top of it, there is almost no meaning to activate it. The penalty called headache occurs when activating it. Although I think that it's because the skill level is 1, I don't think that I want to do my best to raise the level either. It was a failure skill. The result I got from appraising my hand was 「Vampire」 at the end while I sighed.

I feel like I took a very long time before I understood the meaning. I think like it's some kind of mistake, so I appraise it many times again, but the result is the same. Why? Why is it? Only those words race in my head round and round, and I can't think of the things further.

「This is bad! Ojou-sama!?!」

I seemed to have a considerably bad complexion, and the maid who saw my state called the doctor immediately. I appraised the maid in secret, and the result was 「Human」. I also appraised Father and Mother, who rushed to hear my condition in a hurry. Both were 「Human」. In other words, I'm not a Vampire because my parents are Vampires. It is only that I have been born as a Vampire by mutation.

So, if I'm seen by the doctor, it may be found out that I'm a Vampire. I feel that I grew more and more pale. I don't know whether blood flows in a Vampire properly or not though.

「No, wait」 「Dear?」 「You noticed it too, right? This child probably activated Appraisal」

It was good to be dead tired oppositely. If I was energetic in this, my body would react.

「Whether it's a coincidence or a prank of God, this child seems to have the Appraisal skill. This symptom is probably the appraisal drunk. Although this is only my prediction, this child may not be able to turn off the activation of the skill arbitrarily」 「If that's the case, isn't it dangerous!?!」 「It's dangerous, but it's not a problem that a doctor can solve. We should have the doctor examine her just in case, but we have no choice but to pray for this child to control the activation of the skill by herself」 「No...」

I hear the conversation of Father and Mother and the attendants talking in whispers behind my back, and it seems that they misunderstand my symptom. Because half is correct. It's not completely a mistake. I mean, they understand that I used Appraisal, huh? The failure degree rose again.

The doctor arrives and I receives an examination. I can't resist. I'm at the mercy of the doctor while I feel like fainting from the tension at any moment.

「As heard from the talk, it's the appraisal drunk. She seemed to do an impossible thing and her body became stiff. However, after seeing her, the activation of the skill seems to have stopped. Her condition will not grow worse any further」

The parents are relieved. Still, I can't be relieved, and my body remained stiff.

「You should watch her without taking your eyes off for one day just to make sure. Please call me again if there's anything wrong」 「Doctor, thank you」

The doctor leaves the room without saying anything particularly further. I can't be careless. It's possible that the doctor will talk to my parents secretly after this. But, apart from the strained tension, my consciousness felt like a haze covered it. It seemed that the body of a baby can't endure the prolonged tension. While resisting the drowsiness that was hard to fight against, I wanted to know the result of whether the doctor returned without noticing it or not.

《Skill proficiency reached. Acquired skill 『Sleep Resistance LV1』》

There was the power of that skill too, so I was able to stay up slightly. But, after all, I fell asleep before I knew it, without being able to endure it until my parents return.

When I woke up, my parents were not by my side. I thought that because it's that anxious Mother, she would stay by my side all the time, but she was not there. I understood the reason from the conversation of the attendants immediately. Apparently, the spider monster back there seemed to have spread its nest close to the town. Because of that, the people in the town are confused, and both Father and Mother seem to be pressed correspondingly.

I feel relieved. For the time being, being alive didn't become the worst end. Although the problem is only delayed, I think that me being a Vampire might not be noticed. Legally speaking, it's troublesome, but only this time, I thank the spider that clouded the problem.

As for thinking, why was I born as a Vampire? I believe that I have reincarnated, but I don't understand why. Don't tell me that the cause is because I was called Vampire as a nickname in my previous life? If my precious second life is out of order by such a stupid thing, I can't live on.

But, the fact that I'm a Vampire can't be changed. If someone appraises me, it's the end by one attempt. Although I don't know how Vampires are treated in this world, I think that they don't get treated well. I must absolutely make sure that I won't be found out.

But, being found out is only a matter of time. There's an event of the high society debut called the appraisal ceremony for the nobles' children. The child is appraised grandly in the public, and it's an event to show each other how great their child is. It's like advertising that I'm a Vampire if such a thing is done. I must evade it by any means. But, how can I evade it?

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Blood 5

Blood 5.

Blood 5 Survival strategy

My actions after I knew that I'm a Vampire was fast. I'm a noble, my appearance will probably become beautiful, and what I thought to be life winners have turned into the critical point suddenly. I must conceal the fact that I'm a Vampire by any means.

For that reason, I must rethink about the thing called skill that I don't mind it so much up until now. Because I have a few yearnings in magic, I practiced a little, but I was not interested in the other skills so much. At the degree that if there's something that seems convenient, it's very good. I was born as a noble, so even if I don't have the skills, it seemed that I can live on.

But, such a thing can't be said anymore. I must acquire a skill that can falsify that I'm a Vampire by any means. Because there's the Appraisal skill, there should be a skill that obstructs the Appraisal.

The problem is how to acquire that skill. Although I tried whether I can acquire it by consuming the skill points or not like acquiring the Appraisal, it was impossible to do it. Somehow, in case of this method, God doesn't seem to react if the exact name of the skill is not guessed right.

But, I don't know the name of the skill. Although I tried appraisal obstruction, obstruction, etc, there was no hit. I have to examine the name of the skill. Anyway, I want information.

For that reason, I need books. Even if I eavesdrop on the attendants' conversation, I won't obtain a significant information. Only the spider's topic. Although I'm bothered by it when it's said whether I'm bothered by it or not, now is not the time for it. Although it's fine to eavesdrop on the conversation to gather the current affairs, it's better to rely on books to acquire knowledge.

I firmly establish the policy, and decided to act in midnight when everyone are sleeping. I can't take a strange action in daytime because the attendants are constantly attending me. But, if it's the originally nocturnal me, doing something sneakily in the night is my forte. The Sleep Resistance skill is plainly effective too.

When I think, the reason why I was nocturnal is because I'm a Vampire. When I think back so, my consciousness was fluffy and I was sluggish in daytime, and my throat sounds when the bandit's corpse is seen, so there's a considerable occasion that comes to mind. However, I have not drunk blood since I was born, and even if I bask in the sun, I don't become ash. I wonder if the Vampire in this world and the Vampire in the Earth have a different ecology? If there's a book about Vampire, I must read it.

I sneak away from the room stealthily. Although I have not show it before in the presence of others, I can stand and walk already. It's easy to open a door that's not locked.

Because it's a large mansion, I don't know where's the study room. In addition, not everyone is sleeping for the guard at night. I move stealthily so that I won't be found. I check each room carefully to search for the target study room. I retrace my steps when I become tired, and I return to the room and sleep with an innocent look. I repeated it for several days.

Because I continued such a thing for several days, I acquired the skill called 「Stealth」. I wonder if it's a kind of skill that makes the presence thinner? It's very welcome for the present situation. Besides that, the 「Night Vision」 rose up to level 3. Is it inborn? Or, I just didn't notice it? Although I don't know which is it, it seemed that I have the Night Vision from the start.

And, at last, I found the study room. From there, I keep going to the study room every day, and read widely. Although I had a hard time being not able to read the character at first, I became motivated when I think that my life depends on it. If I decipher the law of the character that looks like a code from the start, it would take a lot of time, but fortunately, there are books oriented towards children put in the study room, and the character of this world was learned comparatively easy. Because it's a considerably old picture book, it might be the book that father read in childhood. There were a lot of books that are oriented towards boys.

Like that, the Night Vision became level 6 and the Sleep Resistance became level 2 while I'm learning the character. The Stealth becomes level 3, and the Silent and Presence Perception skills are newly acquired. I'm gathering the assassin-like skills steadily.

I decided to read the books one after another from there. The title is not written on the book in this world. Because of that, I don't know what kind of book is it at a glance. I have no choice but to continue reading until I found the target book.

Thanks to that, the skills called Concentration, Memory, Calculation Processing and Parallel Thought were acquired. No matter how I think, it's strange that a baby has this much skills, right? I have the feeling that I have done it. But, it can't be helped because it's to survive. If I can conceal the fact that I'm a Vampire at the appraisal ceremony to the end, I must at least endure to be conspicuous in a bad way to some extent.

Like that, I continued the life of spending my daily daytime suitably and shut myself up in the study room. Because of the spider's riot and there's a lot of big shots of somewhere who came to stay in my house recently, it becomes difficult to reach the study room. If the population increases, the danger of being found increases to that extent. Occasionally, I have to give up to reach the study room, and retrace my steps. What a spider that's a nuisance to other people.

But, that spider weighs on my mind recently. Its actions are very human. Even though it annihilated the bandits mercilessly, it gives treatment to the residents in the town. Although mother says that it's the Sacred Beast, judging from me who saw the real thing, it feels like a wicked monster that has the human's will.

Don't tell me that it's the same reincarnated person as me? That won't be. No matter how I put it, that's leaping too much of the delusion.

《Skill proficiency reached. Acquired skill 『Prediction LV1』》

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Blood 6

Blood 6.

Blood 6 Sudden change

When I became accustomed to a life that includes the existence of the spider, as usual in midnight, I stayed indoors in the study room and look through the books. I predict the time when the sun begins to rise and sneak away from the study room quietly.

Because I continued living like this, my skills have rose altogether. And because the level of Sleep Resistance rose, I can stay up all night long if I do my best. Although it may not be good for my body growth, it's fine if I sleep the equal time during the day. Although Mother and the attendants were worried that I kept on sleeping during the day at first, eventually, they assumed that because I'm a child, they left me like that.

There's a person who is caught in Presence Perception. It's Merazofis. Merazofis goes out to the garden while holding a fake sword. After that incident, Merazofis trained like this almost every day early in the morning. It's either because he's very frustrated that he was cut by the bandits without being able to do anything, or because he thinks he must become able to protect Mother properly next time. It's the latter when I think about Merazofis's personality. Mother is absolute to him. He will do anything in order to protect Mother's happiness. He's such a damn serious guy.

It doesn't mean that Merazofis is weak. However, he's not strong either. Judging from the people who are staying in my house recently, I think he neither passes nor fails as a human. Although I think he's good enough as a butler, if the person himself doesn't agree, I can't say anything.

I return to my room while hearing the sound of practice-swinging.

Then, the incident happened. On that day, I didn't go to the study room. Although there was a disgusting middle-aged man who ogled at Mother for a long time, it's because that middle-aged man stayed up until midnight. I wanted him to get out quickly because he's disgusting and annoying, and I get sick of it because a guy like him will stay long.

If he opens his mouth, he complains. He troubles our attendants by saying half-truths things. He even speaks complaints with such extreme pretexts that makes me want to say 「What!？」 instinctively among that. He smoked a day before, and in the next day, when he said 「This room stinks of cigarette. It's not suitable! Drive out the fool who smokes in here from the mansion right now!」, I almost said "Then, go out" reflexively. Even though the middle-aged man's attendant told him that he was the one who smoked indirectly, he got angry reversely saying "Like there's such thing". The pitiful attendant didn't come the next day. In fact, if I think of the thing after this, it might be better that the attendant left.

The middle-aged man died. Easily. Although I stayed up at that time, I didn't notice it at all. There was no reaction in Presence Perception, and I only knew that the middle-aged man fell suddenly.

There was an uproar in the mansion even though it was late at night. It was good that I didn't go to the study room. If I went there, I would have been found.

The cause of the middle-aged man's death is unknown. It's whispered that it's the Sacred Beast's infuriated divine punishment. Apparently, the middle-aged man seemed to have meddled with that spider.

Father gathers the middle-aged man's attendants, and ask the circumstances. Even though it seems like my five senses are excellent because I'm a Vampire, as expected, I can't hear the conversation in the office, where Father is, from my room. Won't that spider use this as an opportunity to invade this town? The noisy night passed as such anxiety rose.

Three days passed without that spider making any move, in contrast to my anxiety. I don't know in detail how that middle-aged man's death will affect the diplomacy. But, somehow, it seems like it has been expected that the middle-aged man would cause a problem in this country. Although it's vague, from what I eavesdropped on the attendants' conversation, I concluded with such a guess.

If I predict further from there, I think that a war might happen before long. Somehow, Father has the part that moves on the assumption of it. He visits the people of the army often while being cautious of the spider's movement. Although it's not decided that it will happen, it might happen.

While holding such vague anxiety, I dozed off because it's daytime. Then, because of the explosion and the earth tremor that sounded suddenly, I woke up forcefully.

While I was panicking, wondering what happened, I was embraced by Mother. On her side, Merazofis watches the surroundings with a serious look. We prepare so that we can evacuate immediately. But, the explosion and the earth tremor calmed down in the meanwhile, and silence returned.

The attendants begin to investigate the cause of the situation while being cautious. Father gives instructions, and everyone acts quickly. I see it while being embraced by Mother.

The cobweb was destroyed completely, and the report that the spider became missing was reported to the mansion immediately.

From there, the development was like surging waves. The Divine Word Religion announced that they defeated the fake Divine Beast that look root in the Sariera country towards the whole world. The Sariera country is this country where I was born. The Divine Beast is probably that spider.

The Sariera country protests against this strictly. In addition of using military force without permission in their country, they demanded a compensation since they harmed the Divine Beast which the country was protecting. The reply was "because we subjugated the monster, hand over the reward". It was a too selfish complaint.

It's clear that the Divine Word Religion has picked a fight. On the other hand, the Sariera country was fully motivated for it. Although I want them to stop it personally, there's nothing that I, who's a baby, can do. I pray that we will win at least, and the army, led by father and dispatched from the town, was seen off.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Blood 7

Blood 7.

Blood 7 War

The war was unsettled. Father's army who returned is worn-out. When I see the appearance, it's like they returned because they lost, but they turned back because it's not the time for a war.

The cause is that spider monster. It seems that it didn't died in the recent riot, and it appeared suddenly in the battlefield. And, it massacres without the distinction of the enemies and allies, and at the end, they succeeded in exterminating it by shooting a great magic to the place where Hero-sama stopped it.

But, it seems that both armies have a considerably severe damage, and the continuation of the war is impossible. I hear that both armies cease-fire once and withdrew. Although I feel relieved because father returned safely, the anxiety to the present condition that's only postponing the problem at the same time.

It seems that Hero-sama who was thought to be hit together with the spider was protected in secret by the empire's great magician. I hear that he can use the Transfer magic, and he rescued Hero-sama barely just before the great magic hitting directly.

Leaving that aside, the country is confused. Because the army was destroyed partially by the other party who was worshiped as the Divine Beast. Originally, this war is the revenge of the Divine Beast on paper. Actually, there's probably the friction with the Divine Word Religion over many years. But, in this matter, the spider worshiped as the Divine Beast is just as the Divine Word Religion said, and it has been proven that it's a dangerous monster. A just cause was lost here.

Then, the Divine Word Religion is more reasonable. That's very bad. It means that the chance to take advantage of the Sariera country is given to the Divine Word Religion.

Thanks to that, father moves around hurriedly after returning. The war didn't end with this. Rather, I think that the future is the real thing. The Divine Word Religion considers the Goddess Religion as an enemy, so I don't think that they will miss this chance. As expected, it will take quite some time to reorganize the army that has been destroyed partially, but the opponent is a large organization that has great influence in the Humans society. It can be think that they will prepare the army besides the army that participated this time.

In contrast with that, the Sariera country only has the national power higher than the country around there. But, the state of being isolated and helpless, and the army is in the state of partial destruction. If I were to say whether there's a winning chance or not in that state, I who's an amateur can also answer "no".

This war was a losing battle from the beginning. Although if it's only the Outs country that takes the lead, the Sariera country is absolutely more advantageous, at the point in time when the Divine Word Religion is on their side, the wining chance becomes thinner. In addition, if the even the empire supports the Outs country, it was too strong as a push.

But still, not withdrawing is the scary point of the religious war. Although it's impossible to understand for me, there was no choice of not fighting for the Sariera country. This was the one to decide the victory or defeat with the fight of army vs. army. And, the Sariera country surrenders without producing any damage to the commoners. Although the army is wasted, I think that there was an ulterior motive called it will end by compensating for a loose condition by surrendering in the state with reserve strength and national power.

But, it has collapsed by the intruder who appeared in the battlefield. Both armies' damage is enormous. And, the conclusion is vague. The war will continue. That's also a bad condition for the Sariera country.

From here on, it won't become a clean war that decides the victory or defeat in the battle. (TL note: Heavy Object?) It will become a battle of the marsh. That would cause damage to the town.

And, the first one to be targeted is this town. It's close to the border with the Outs country, and it's the place where the spider monster in question spread its roots.

Father tried to advance the residents' evacuation from early. But, the time and the condition were bad.

First of all, the problem of time. It was a problem that it has just entered the harvest season. The territories that centered on the town where I live owned the vast fields that's also the farming ground. The harvested crops reach the town from the highway that extends around the town leads to each farm village. Furthermore, it's transported from the town to the whole nation of the Sariera country.

The harvest can't be abandoned for the Sariera country. Therefore, the evacuation of the people assigned to the work can't be done. Although the transporters were able to evacuate at the transported destination, the people engaged in other works were in the situation that evacuation can't be done even if they want to evacuate.

And, the another one, the condition was bad. The Sariera country's government decided that this town will be made as a sacrifice.

In short, they decided to let the enemy to attack this town in this war, and surrender it. This war can't end unhurt. Then, the intention of the country that said to make the wound as slight as possible. Along with it, the evacuation of the crops and goods as much as possible, the evacuation of only excellent personnel, and the evacuation of the other commoners was not accepted. In other words, they were presented as slaves to the opponent.

And, father who governs the town and his family.

Father was making great effort to somehow let mother and me escape. But, that didn't come true. Although my grandparents tried to make preparations in secret somehow, that also seemed to have been crushed by our own country.

Perhaps, the dealing between our own country and the enemy has already been established. If it's not so, the movement is too limited.

The time overlaps with the harvest season, and anyhow, it's too unlucky. Because the separation of farmers and soldiers was firmly made in this country, there was no big serious wound in the harvest, but nevertheless, I can't help but to say it's unlucky. If the enemy forecasts all these and moved, it can be said that it's the Sariera country's complete defeat.

The approaching enemy army was seen as death.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Blood 8

Blood 8. This chapter is confusing. Especially the talking part.

Blood 8 Decision

「Dear」 「Sorry. It's my lack of ability」 「No. You made efforts for us 」

Mother embraces father gently to support father who hangs his head.

「Sophia, I wanted to be on your side until you at least become an adult. Please forgive this worthless father」

Father holds me up in his arms gently. This might be the first time as far as I can remember to be held by father. But, father's love has been transmitted properly. I receive a kiss from mother while being held by mother.

Speaking honestly, the thing called parent and child love was thin. Because I have the memory of the previous life, the feeling of true parent and child was thin in me no matter what. That's why, there was guilty somewhere in my feelings when they pour love to me like this. But, when thinking that this is the end, I regretted it oppositely. I should have fawn on them more.

I still haven't return anything to them as their child. Because I have the memory of the previous life, I think that I took a fairly cold attitude. If I fawn on them much more, the contact of these people with their child might be more assertive. Then, we might have become true parents and child. But, that's already too late.

「Merazofis, Noiria. I entrust the future to you」 「Yes」 「Yes」

Merazofis and Noiria straighten up to father's voice. Both of them changed their clothes to the clothes that man and woman wear in the town generally from the usual attendant appearance. Taking advantage of the confusion that the enemy invaded, both of them act as a married couple in order to let me escape. If it's as a ordinary baby of the town, I might be able to escape. It was the last resort that the cornered father gave.

Besides that, there's no one who remains in the mansion. Everyone are mixed with the crops transporters, and they are made to evacuate from the town. But, there's a severe watch on mother and me by all means. In order to escape, we have no choice but to take advantage of the confusion.

And, leaving aside that I'm a baby, there was no chance to escape for mother who had many exposure and her face is known. It's a matter of luck whether I can escape or not. And, my father and mother won't survive. It was the final farewell.

The people who remain in the mansion now are many aged attendants who were resolved to follow such father and mother. The young attendants were driven away by father forcibly to a distant place. And, both Merazofis and Noiria said to remain here until the end. That's why, it can be said that the important task of letting me escape was entrusted to them.

I think that father knew that Merazofis adores mother. On top of knowing it, I think that he trusted him. Merazofis understood it, and served father on top of that. Because I have not experienced love, I don't understand both father and Merazofis's feelings well. However, there was a certain mutual trust.

「I will definitely protect Ojou-sama」 「Ah. I leave it to you」

Mother who embraces me and Noiria while shedding tears. Father who hand over me to Merazofis gently. That hand trembled faintly.

And, I bid farewell to my parents. The farewell that we can never meet again.

When we go out from the back door of the mansion stealthily, the flames had already reached the vicinity of the town's entrance at that time. We slip into the wave of the escaping people successfully. We follow the people's flow like that, and head to the outside of the town. But, the soldiers of the enemy country had already taken a stance at the gate that continues to the town's outside.

「We will escape」

Merazofis pulls Noiria's hand, break the people's flow forcibly, and rushes into the back alley. Then, my Presence Perception worked.

「Wait」 「I will have you to wait」

The shadow that appears at the back alley before we know. The inner part of the alley, and the side of the alley. Four people block us in each of it.

Should I consider this that we were marked at the moment we gone out of the mansion? It was a desperate situation.

But, somehow, the state is strange.

「Who are you!？」 「There's no obligation to answer. The protection of the baby」
「The target is the baby! Defend her to the last!」

The men in the side and the inner part of the alley run simultaneously towards here. Although I don't know the circumstances, the four people in the side and the four people in the inner part are from different organizations? It might still be possible to escape by taking advantage of this confusion.

Such light expectation falls apart because Noiria cut the approaching man from the inner part of the alley.

「Noiria!？」 「Hand over the baby!」

The point of sword that approaches Merazofis is stopped by the man on the opposite side. At the same time, Merazofis's body is pulled. Merazofis uses the power and rams the man oppositely. He tries to run through the back alley with the power. But, that body fall down on the alley.

He make sure that I'm not crushed even though he fell. An anguish expression is on the face of Merazofis who fell sideways. When I try to look at him, a dagger was pierced deeply on his back.

The combat of the mysterious men continues in the alley. Noiria lies down at their feet. Overflowing blood and vacant eyes. It was realistically seen that she had already died.

At this rate, Merazofis won't survive either. I pull out the dagger pierced on his back desperately with my young hands. The fresh blood that begins to overflow. At this rate, he will die. If Merazofis dies, next is my turn.

The way to reverse from here. There's only one possibility. But, if I do it, my life as a human ends. In addition, I don't even know whether it will succeed or not. I don't know whether something can be done in this place or not even if it succeeds.

I look at Merazofis who seems to die at any time. I see the grand feelings like cursing his powerlessness in his eyes.

「Ojou-sama, I am sorry」

The voice that gets hoarse. I made a decision. I stabbed my fangs to the fallen man's nape.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Oni 3

Oni 3. Unlimited blade works?

Oni 3 Weapon creation

I became two years old. To be an adult and accepted to be able to go out to hunt is from four years old. The human will be surprised if the adulthood is at four years old, but it was enough when thinking about the speed of the Goblin's growth. Rather, when seeing from the Goblin who has the life span of ten years, it might be slow oppositely.

The Goblin's life span is ten years in this world. When I convert it to the Earth's years, it's about 11 years. Even if it can live long, it's about 13 years. That's the grace period given to the Goblins. They must evolve before their life span comes to an end.

In order for the Goblins to evolve, they must raise the level to 10. Moreover, it doesn't mean that they will evolve into the Hobgoblins because of that. When the Goblins become level 10, it's possible to evolve into any of the three kinds of Goblin Fighter, Goblin Ranger and Goblin Shaman. It becomes the choice of which to evolve. But, it seems that the further evolution is fixed by the status at that time.

Strong in close combat, the most basic and faithful, Fighter. The quickness is high, dexterous fingers and assistance oriented, Ranger. Strong magic-type and can handle magic, Shaman.

The most popular one is the Fighter. Rather than saying the Shaman is unpopular, the number is little because there's a lot of Goblins who don't have the aptitude. And, the Ranger is unpopular. It can't endure the hunting, and it's said that the Goblin's further evolution is the one that takes part in the domestic affair of the village in the future.

Actually, I don't think that the Ranger is inferior to the Fighter and Ranger. However, I think that it's unpopular because it's for expert by all means when compared with the other two easy-to-understand kinds.

Through the further evolution of these three kinds of evolution, raise to level 10 again, and finally, it's possible to evolve into the Hobgoblin. If it evolves into the Hobgoblin, there's no need to worry about the life span anymore. I hear that it can live roughly the same length as the human.

But then, the Hobgoblin who dies before reaching the life span in this severe environment is quite a lot. Even if it evolves, it doesn't mean that the fight called living ended there.

There's a lot of Goblins of the same age as me. Even though they are children, there's no time to let them to play, and when they become able to work to some extent, they will help their family. In my case, it was field work.

Even in this village in the mountain range where the sunlight is weak, there are plants that grow up more or less. They raise the vegetables with strong vitality. This was severe for a child's body because it's a considerable heavy labor.

First of all, the soil must be managed so that it doesn't freeze. Because the soil freezes at once if it's neglected, it's necessary to warm it regularly. The fire is applied to the exclusive farming tool, and plow the soil little by little while making sure that the root of the crops is not damaged. It needs power, and it also needs the nerve to do delicate work. And, there are the works of harvest, sowing seeds, normal plowing, etc. Because the grown crops are a species of monster, when the harvest time is mistaken, we might be eaten oppositely, so it's necessary to check it carefully. It was quite a heavy labor. Thanks to that, my physical strength rose, and I acquired some skills.

Such a field work marks the end easily on a certain day.

The start is when the meat captured by hunting went up to the dining table. It was the time when I wished that I want a knife in my mind to cut the too hard meat. A flash burst in the narrow house, and at the next moment, a knife was gripped in my hand. Although it was something more shabby than the one I imagined, it was certainly a knife.

Dad took up the knife from the hand of the dumbfounded me. And, he went out of the house. Dad who returned after a while brought the village elder along.

The village elder as its name is the one who lives the longest in the village. It was one of the very few Goblins who had reached the age that was able to be called aged. And, that elder handed something over to me.

It's an appraisal stone. The magic tool that the skill called Appraisal dwells in it that's the only one in the village. If someone use the appraisal stone, it's said that the person can understand his own skills. I confirmed my status with the appraisal stone as told to me.

『Goblin LV1 Name Razraz Status HP: 69／69 (Green) MP: 4／35 (Blue) SP: 66／66 (Yellow) : 51／66 (Red) Average Offensive Ability: 68 Average Defensive Ability: 66 Average Magic Ability: 33 Average Resistance Ability: 31 Average Speed Ability: 65 Skill 「Magic Perception LV2」 「Magic Manipulation LV1」 「SP Recovery Speed LV3」 「SP Consumption Down LV6」 「Concentration LV3」 「Prayer LV8」 「Blunt Resistance LV2」 「Wind Resistance LV1」 「Ice Resistance LV6」 「Enhanced Vision LV7」 「Enhanced Hearing LV6」 「Enhanced Smell LV4」 「Enhanced Taste LV2」 「Enhanced Touch LV3」 「Life LV9」 「Magic Amount LV4」 「Agility LV7」 「Endurance LV7」 「Powerful LV9」 「Sturdy LV8」 「Magician LV3」 「Protection LV2」 「Dash LV7」 「Weapon Creation LV1」 「n%I=W」』

The one that strikes on is the Weapon Creation skill. When I report it to the elder, I was told to examine the skill with Appraisal.

『Weapon Creation(武器錬成): Create weapon by consuming MP. The quality of the created weapon depends on the skill level and the consumption of MP』

It's this skill without a doubt. The knife just now was created by this skill's ability.

After that, I became in charge of making weapons by making full use of this skill. Only simple weapons and armors can be made in the Goblin's village. It's because there were neither proper equipment nor materials.

At first, I can only make useless ones. This is because my MP is low, and the skill level is also low. But, the skill level rises gradually while using it continuously, the amount of my MP also increases, and the MP Recovery Speed was acquired.

There was a limit on the weapons that can be created by the Weapon Creation skill. First of all, I can't create it if I can't recognized the thing as a weapon. Although I can almost create edged tools, when it's the blunt weapons, I sometimes can't create it.

Armors can't be created. Somehow, only the shield seemed to be an exception because I can create it.

Machines can't be created. Even the guns can't be created.

In other words, I can only create primitive swords and spears. But still, it's useful in the Goblin's village that doesn't have proper weapons, and I created weapons as long as my MP lasts.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Blood 9

Blood 9.

Blood 9 Attendant

I suck Merazofis's blood. The instinct as a Vampire teaches me how to do it. The sweet moisture passes my throat that I had not tasted before. I suppress the urge to want to drink up everything and send in power. Merazofis's body twitches greatly, and he's accepting my power. The body regenerates newly.

《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Vampire LV1』 has become 『Vampire LV2』》

《Conditions met. Title 『Originator』 was acquired》《By the effects of the title 『Originator』, skill 『Kin Domination』『Abnormal Condition Resistance LV1』 was acquired》《『Sleep Resistance LV4』 has unified with 『Abnormal Condition Resistance LV1』》《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Abnormal Condition Resistance LV1』 has become 『Abnormal Condition Resistance LV3』》

I pull out my fangs. At the same time, Merazofis who has a pale face stands up slowly. The wound on his back has been healed before I know it.

One of the men who noticed our state comes running. The dagger that swung downwards. Merazofis stopped it with his arm. Piercing the flesh and crushing the bones, the blade penetrates Merazofis's arm.

Merazofis strikes the man's face without minding it. Merazofis's fist catches the man's face, and he struck the wall as it is. The man's head covered with the hood is crushed being sandwiched between the wall and the fist. At the same time, Merazofis's fist also breaks without being able to endure his own power.

Merazofis lifts the dead man with the broken hand. He bites the nape. Although I can't see it because his back is seen at my position, the men who attacked us might have saw that blood is swallowed by Merazofis.

In a strange atmosphere like being overwhelmed, movement stops. In such situation, the only person, Merazofis moves only. Is his stomach satisfied? He throws the man's corpse away.

And, he roared.

It was a shout that makes people to have the creeps that can't be think as a human. The men clearly have a scared look.

Merazofis charges to the stiffen men while roaring. The man who's the nearest come to his senses, and intercepts. The man's sword cuts up Merazofis's stomach.

But, he doesn't stop. Merazofis struck the man's face while his stomach is cut up. The man's body blows off, and collides with another man intensely. That neck turned in an impossible direction, and the struck part is miserable.

But, that's all. Merazofis still faces the men even though his stomach is cut up and both fist are crushed.

「How long do you want to play?」

Merazofis's body danced in the air. It's probably the magic of the wind because magical power worked. It was the act of the woman who appeared newly wearing a hood similar to the men in the inner part of the alley. Merazofis's body that was blown off with a terrific shock rolls near me while striking the ground intensely.

Even if he's changed into a Vampire, Merazofis originally has ordinary ability only. Although he has the power as an attendant to some extent, he's inferior by all means when compared with the man who makes combat as an occupation. Even if he trains by practice-swinging every day, the real ability is different. The real ability called level.

Merazofis who's an attendant has few chances to fight with the monsters unlike the adventurers and the soldiers. Because of that, his level is low. No matter what training he accumulates, the difference of level can't be filled, and there's a difference of combat experience too. Above all, Merazofis's main job is an attendant, and the combat is out of his area of expertise. Even if the man of the main job has the same level, it's unlikely to be able to win.

Even if he changed into a Vampire and do a suicide attack without taking consideration of his own body, the result didn't overturn.

My eyes meet with the fallen Merazofis. Merazofis's eyes were empty. My appearance reflects in the vacant eyes. The appearance of me who looked awful being afraid by fear.

Merazofis who shows a surprised expression. Vitality gradually returns to the eyes. He made the tattered body to stand up with willpower only.

The newly appeared woman made the half number of men beside her and the men on the side of the alley faint.

「Vampire, huh? It seems that she just started and her status is low, but if she grows up, it's troublesome」

The woman speaks in a dry voice that doesn't have feelings.

「The originator is the baby over there, huh?」 「What should I do?」 「Kill her」

《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Fear Resistance LV1』 has become 『Fear Resistance LV2』》

I trembles to the words shot easily.

「Is it fine?」 「I will tell to Oka that we didn't make it in time because we were dragged into the war. It will become a troublesome thing if a Vampire is kept alive」 「Understood」

The men sidle up to Merazofis. It should be Merazofis's limit just by standing.

「I won't let you touch Ojou-sama」

And yet, this man stands in their way.

「I would let you die comfortably if you are obedient. Why do you do that much for that lass? That's the Vampire who will bring calamity to the world, you know?」

The woman asks.

「Such a thing is unrelated. I have promised to protect her. Yes, I was entrusted by them」

Merazofis answered promptly.

「Foolish」 「No no. Aren't you a man who has quite a spirit?」

The voice like thinking that's it's foolish from the bottom of the heart and not feeling anything. Following it, the cheerful voice that's unsuitable for this brutal place.

「Yo yo. Maou Shoujo Ariel-chan visits the beauty little girl and the attendant's pinch magnificently!」

The atmosphere froze to the appearance of the too inappropriate and strange woman.

Kumo Desu ga, Nani ka? Blood 10

Blood 10.

Blood 10 Strange woman and dangerous woman

「Ariel, huh?」 「I'm saying that I am. Why you end the word with a question?」

The hood woman confronts the strange woman. It seems that the men can't decide what to do with the intruders who appeared suddenly, and send glances to the hood woman. The hood woman doesn't care about that, and be silent.

My body floated lightly. To be exact, I was lifted from the back by someone. When I turn around, my eyes didn't met with the person who lifted me.

Why, why is Wakaba Hiroyuki here!? I mean, why is she white? Why she shut her eyes? Didn't she die? Or, did she reincarnate similar to me? Then, why is her appearance the same as before?

Leaving aside the overflowing questions, Wakaba Hiroyuki lifts me with her eyes shut. Even though her eyes are shut, it seems that she's staring at me fixedly. Moreover, a mysterious sense of danger attacks me. Although I don't know what happen to this person, she's dangerous.

《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Fear Resistance LV2』 has become 『Fear

Resistance LV3』》

Although my skill level rose, it was a little slow. Although Wakaba Hiroy's eyes are shut, her glance goes to the part between my legs. Although her complexion didn't change, it seems that she has sensed something. I was lowered to the ground gently.

Merazofis breaks in between Wakaba Hiroy and me while limping. He glares at Wakaba Hiroy exposing his wariness. Wakaba Hiroy approaches such Merazofis casually, and gave recovery magic.

「What?」

The surprised Merazofis. I was surprised too. Merazofis stands only by vitality and willpower, so the wound was terrible. That recovered completely in an instant.

「You are not an enemy?」

Wakaba Hiroy nods silently to Merazofis's question. But still, Merazofis's vigilance was not removed.

「Fumu. It's painful that I can't use the Appraisal with this body. I can't judge whether she's real or fake」 「I'm the real one. Rather, I don't want to be said by a fake who uses another person's body」 「This is making my ears burn」

There was movement between the hood woman and the strange woman.

「And so, Potimas-kun, no, now is chan, huh? Why are you here?」 「Well, I wonder why?」

The hood woman plays dumb. At that moment, the atmosphere changed.

「Spit it out quickly」

I can't understand what happened. I shut my eyes at once when a sudden roaring sound and shock blow violently. When I opened my eyes after that, the men were gone. There's only the blood stains that seem to belong to the men.

「Real, huh?」 「You know it from the beginning, right? Now, spit it out」

A strong sign is released from the woman's body that the foolish atmosphere a while ago is a lie. A mean and brutal sign that can even cause nausea just by seeing it.

「Apparently, the root have not changed. Although I don't know what turn of events that make you play such a fool, this is somewhat disadvantageous」
「Now that you understand, can you spit out your purpose without any pointless resistance? Or, do you want me to make you spit it out?」 「I refuse both」

The incident that happened next exceeded my imagination. The hood woman blows off her own head with magic. The corpse of woman who lost her head and falls in the alley.

「Tch! He do as he pleases because it's another person's body」

The strange woman spits out. But, when she turns around, the overwhelming presence had disappeared.

「Well then, are you safe?」

The strange woman who talks casually. However, Merazofis doesn't remove the vigilance.

「Ah. You don't have to be cautious. In the first place, it's useless to just be cautious」

A sweet smell that tickled my nasal cavity is smelled. At the same time, sleepiness attacks me. I stop breathing in a hurry. This smell is the magic that causes sleep!

Although I can endure it for an instant because I have the Abnormal Condition Resistance, Merazofis can't endure it and falls on the road. The sleepiness that attacks intermittently even if I stop breathing. Although I resist it desperately, my body is losing strength steadily.

《Skill proficiency reached. Skill 『Abnormal Condition Resistance LV3』 has become 『Abnormal Condition Resistance LV4』》

The skill level rises, and it recovers only a little. But, that only extended the time to be able to resist it slightly, and my consciousness darkened gradually.

When I wake up after that, I was in the forest. There's a tent, and the open-air fire is done.

「Oh, you woke up」

It's that strange woman who jumped into my view. Wakaba Hiroyuki is sitting beside her. When I look for Merazofis, he sat down next to me.

「I will introduce myself again. I'm the present Demon King, Ariel. My best regards from now on」

The strange woman began to say something strange. Ah, because it's strange, it's the strange woman. Is she strange because she's a strange woman? Or, is she a strange woman because she's strange?

「Ahahahaha! Shiro-chan, look, look. Her eyes are turning amazingly」

No, that person shut her eyes. Although she nods, can she see?

「How is it, Merazofis-kun? Did you feel like trusting my story a little?」 「I can't believe in you suddenly」 「Then, let's ask the person without delay」

The strange woman stares at me.

『Hello?』

